RENICK, MRS MARION (LEWIS). Skating today; il. by Raymond Vartanian. 171p $1.75 Scribner
45-3739

"Story intended to instruct younger readers in the rules and technique of hockey and the beginning of figure skating. Secondary interest in use of a microscope is dragged in to attract readers with a scientific bent." Library J

"While there are no Skating Today signs around at this season, the story is a grand one anyway. Carol and Joe are real people and the predicaments their small brother, whom they call the Worm (because he's little and squirmy), gets himself into will keep any reader breathless."
+ Book Week p19 Je 3 '45 130w

"Ice hockey is made clear and interesting through a real game, and good standards are upheld. . . Hockey addicts will find inaccuracies—and the drawings, while having some decorative value lack charm."
+ — Kirkus 13:222 My 15 '45 150w

"Very little plot, some humor and a mild brand of excitement. Less adequate than some of the author's other sport stories, but may be wanted because of scarcity of fiction concerned with skating for this age group." E. D. Briggs
Library J 70:492 My 15 '45 70w

"Non-skaters will find the instructive parts of the story pretty slow-going, but 9 to 12 year old devotees of the blades will find it helpful." E. L. B.
N Y Times p18 My 13 '45 150w
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 3 '45 120w
Wis Lib Bul 41:87 Jl '45

RENNIE, MRS YSABEL (FISK). Argentine republic. 431p il $4 Macmillan
982 Argentina—History 45-2874

Political and economic history of Argentina, covering the period from the close of the war for independence to the summer of 1944. The work was based on two years' residence in Argentina (1941-1943) made possible by a traveling fellowship from Radcliffe college. Selective bibliography. Index.

Booklist 41:320 Jl 1 '45
Bookmark 6:10 N '45
Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 28 '45 450w
Cleveland Open Shelf p18 S '45

"Apart from a few very minor errors of fact and certain limitations in the author's scope, her story leaves little room for improvement. This book is in my opinion the most illuminating contribution to date towards the understanding of the present Argentine situation." J. M. Byrne
+ Commonweal 42:120 My 18 '45 1500w

"The author of this most timely volume has sought, in large part successfully, to give an objective and comprehensible interpretation of the last century of Argentine history. She treats economic and social questions as essential components of the political picture, and as a result that picture makes sense as has almost no other recent work on Argentina. There is a good selective bibliography."
+ Foreign Affairs 23:702 Jl '45 50w
Geog R 35:683 O '45 780w

"This is an investigatory job rather than an interpretative one—background book for current history."
Kirkus 13:53 F 1 '45 230w

"The first half is a confusing narrative of political intrigue. The later chapters dealing with recent events and contemporary conditions are very enlightening. . . Recommended to large libraries." F. L. D. Goodrich
+ Library J 70:305 Ap 1 '45 100w

"The author points out that the new society, intended to be Catholic and corporate, is Falangist. Nationalist conceptions strongly favor industrialization as a means of 'de-colonializing' the country. The church is held to be only reservedly sympathetic to this new regime, which signifies the end of government by and for the estancieros. This view is in the main well expressed, though it is impossible not to believe that it is a hazardous oversimplification. . . The earlier parts of the book are of very great value, particularly the two chapters on the land. In fact, despite the reservations made above, it must be said that Mrs. Rennie's book is a quite superior one and deserves to stand beside the Felix Weil volume recently reviewed here." Ralph Bates
+ — Nation 160:548 My 12 '45 300w

"This ably written history of Argentina is a useful background study to what has happened in that country during the last two years."
+ New Repub 112:598 Ap 30 '45 110w

"It is a scholarly and challenging work, with considerable liveliness and color. . . Its strength lies in its care and preparation, its excellent organization and presentation, which will make it highly valuable to interested followers and students of Argentina and Latin America." Ray Josephs
+ N Y Times p4 Ap 8 '45 1100w

"A thoroughgoing and intelligent history of Argentina, the product of two years' research in the field by a very young American with no come-with-me-to-picturesque-Argentina nonsense about her."
+ New Yorker 21:84 Mr 31 '45 80w

"This reviewer who had occasion to see the Castillo government and the present fascist regime at work, does not hesitate to declare Miss Rennie's book about the most intelligent interpretation of the Argentine situation which he has read, an amalgam of keen observation, penetrating insight into social forces and endowed with a sure touch of realities. For a young woman—born in 1918—this is an amazing achievement." Karl Loewenstein
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 5 '45 800w

"Because of its scholarly approach to the subject, this book will be useful to the historian as well as to the general reader. Of special value are the clear portrayals of the personalities who molded Argentine thought and action from 1853 to 1943, and the backgrounds which produced them."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:29 Je '45 200w

"Here is the book for the new men in the State Department to mull over as they undertake to get Argentina back into the American family. It is the book for radio commentators intent upon explaining all. It won't persuade any of them to love Brother Perón, but it will help to introduce Pérón's great-grandmothers —always the most important people in any analysis." Hubert Herring
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ap 15 '45 750w
Wis Lib Bul 41:83 Jl '45

"Mrs. Rennie's book on Argentina is the most delightful and trenchant contribution on that troubled land. It is history written with scholarly competence and human insight. . . It is also an excellent book for college students who would understand what makes one land in South America behave so strangely." Hubert Herring
+ Yale R n s 35:177 autumn '45 220w

REVES, EMERY. Anatomy of peace. 275p $2 Harper
341 Peace. War. Sovereignty. World war, 1939—Peace 45-5476

"The purpose of this book is to demonstrate that as long as the human race continues to be divided into separate and independent states, there can be no enduring peace. According to Mr. Reves nothing can abolish war except a genuine world government with power to establish a system of universal law and limit national sovereignty; and since the statesmen of the United Nations have refused to recognize this fundamental truth, all their attempts to organize peace by means of a league or security organization can lead only to new international conflicts. Mr. Reves argues that 'war takes place whenever and wherever non-integrated social units of equal sovereignty come into contact.' At different periods in the past there were wars between rival tribes, cities, feudal principalities, and religious organizations. In each case peace was established as soon as sovereign power was transferred to a larger or higher unit. At the present day wars between rival nationalities can be prevented only by the same process. Unless this can be accomplished by the democratic method of delegating power to a new world government, then wars will continue until one power has subjugated all its rivals." (Weekly Book Review) No index.

REVES, EMERY—Continued

Reviewed by H. J. Morgenthau
Book Week p4 Jl 1 '45 540w

Booklist 41:333 Jl 15 '45

Bookmark 6:10 N '45

"Mr. Reves's book will be a big help to the thousands of puzzled men and women who are seeking to understand their way through the labyrinth that is this shrunken, chaotic, and numbed world of 1945. To those who are convinced that true peace and true freedom are possible only under the aegis of world law it is virtually required reading." H. M.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 13 '45 500w

Reviewed by Noel and Violet Rawnsley
Churchman 159:15 Ag '45 550w

Reviewed by George Jaffin
Columbia Law R 46:163 Ja '46 450w

"In the 'Anatomy of Peace' Mr. Reves has produced a tremendously effective political pamphlet. When we remember the effect of such works upon the history of the West, we may perhaps be forgiven for hoping that this latest contribution in a great tradition of polemics will have its practical effect. For the thesis it argues is basically a sound thesis, and the argument is presented with freshness and clarity and burning interest which should make it accessible to any reader, from the most unspecialized to the most learned. Here is a book no one could call obscure or difficult, although it does possess considerable originality of thinking and presentation."
+ Commonweal 42:217 Je 15 '45 1200w

Foreign Affairs 24:158 O '45 60w

Kirkus 13:194 My 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by Ralph Bates
Nation 161:209 S 1 '45 390w

Reviewed by R. N. Kelly
— New Repub 113:108 Jl 23 '45 600w

"This is strong meat—and no ration points. It has to be dealt with because Mr. Reves is intensely in earnest, presents a good many undeniable facts and pursues a method that, though maddeningly repetitious, is sternly logical. The reader who does not wish to go the whole way with him will have to examine every premise carefully before he accepts it and pay close attention to the meaning of words. . . Within the limits of Mr. Reves' powers it seems to this reviewer that Mr. Reves has taken on a dreadful responsibility. To the extent that he is successful he will contribute to the failure of the United Nations movement. In the long run he might have a cleaner bill of health if he accepted it for what it is, an attempt, a beginning, a hope, and labored inside its framework for his own lofty ideals." R. L. Duffus
N Y Times p5 Je 24 '45 1500w

Reviewed by Hamilton Basso
New Yorker 21:64 Je 23 '45 430w

"Some readers of this book are going to feel that the author has failed to stress the social revolution aspects of this war. Others who subscribe to the currently popular notion of multiple causation, might well be annoyed by his translation of all historical phenomena into one single datum. But the real trouble with a book like this is that it may not have enough readers." W. S. Lynch
Sat R of Lit 28:13 Je 23 '45 1150w

"The theory of a world state, a United States of the world, is of course not new but Mr Reeves supports his case most brilliantly. His analysis of the causes of war is a beautiful piece of closely-knit thinking. The semiscientific style of the book, and its logical method of development carry force and there is a savage sincerity which cannot be denied whether or not one agrees with his conclusions. Provocative and stimulating, it should be of fascinating interest to every student of international affairs." R. S. Ullery
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 15 '45 950w

"The book is designed for general popular reading; the style is pungent, and there are many quotable passages."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:44 D '45 220w

"Mr. Reves presents his case with an admirable force and clarity, and his argument, in its main outlines, is unanswerable. Unfortunately the difficulties of creating a world government in this epoch of history are more complex than Mr. Reves recognizes. . . Mr. Reves's book deserves to be widely read and carefully studied. It will prevent its readers from cherishing any dangerous illusions about the post-war settlement. But we must recognize that many changes must be brought about before proposals for a world federation have a serious chance of success." H. B. Parkes
+ — Weekly Book Review p8 Je 17 '45 1200w

REVIEW index; a quarterly guide to professional reviews for college and reference libraries; ed. by Louis Kaplan and Clarence S. Paine. v 1- Dec. 1940- $5 per year Follett

050 Books—Reviews

"According to the introduction in the first issue, Review Index is planned as a book selection guide. The list of 62 leading scholarly journals, increased by March 1944 to 70, was selected from three lists recommended for college libraries respectively by Hilton, Lyle and Shaw. 'Only professional journals are included. Journalistic reviewing mediums, already adequately indexed, are excluded. Any professional periodical, the majority of the reviews of which are already satisfactorily indexed, is excluded.' In view of this statement of the scope of the periodical, as well as of an examination of its content, the subtitle, A Quarterly Guide to Professional Reviews . . . is something of a misnomer. Review Index is actually a guide to reviews in scholarly and professional journals. . . Four issues, covering a one-year period, comprise a volume. Volumes 1 and 2 were arranged alphabetically by author or other main entry. The final issue in each of these volumes is a cumulation of the three preceding issues with a subject index." Subscription Bks Bul

---

"Since most of the subject headings were very broad, as mathematics, philosophy, the subject index consisted of rows of item numbers, frequently exceeding 100 in number. That its shortcomings were realized by the editors is evidenced by a complete change in arrangement. Beginning with volume 3, titles are classified under some 60 subject headings arranged alphabetically from aeronautics to youth. An author index in each issue is both usable and useful. . . There is no indication of the length of reviews nor that reviews of the same work were cited in earlier issues. A more serious difficulty . . . the lapse of time between the publication of the book and the publication of the review, cannot be considered a criticism of Review Index, but it certainly limits its usefulness as a book selection tool. This time lag serves to emphasize the difficulty of using so-called scholarly journals as book selection aids. . . Review Index, within the modest limits set for itself, does a creditable job. Like several other services in the same field, it demonstrates the need for a prompt, comprehensive book evaluation service for college and reference libraries. Despite its limitations as a book selection tool, it is useful for reference purposes to supplement Book Review Digest and Technical Book Review Index in assisting librarians and patrons to judge the authority of books in library collections and in making bibliographical lists. For these purposes it is recommended."

+ — Subscription Bks Bul 16:8 Ja '45 600w

REY, HANS AUGUSTO (UNCLE GUS, pseud). Look for the letters; a hide-and-seek alphabet [il. by the author]. [56p] $2 Harper

Alphabet book for children just beginning to learn to write. On one page are the letters themselves; on the second page the letters are incorporated into pictures, so that the child can play a game of locating them.

Book Week p6 N 11 '45 180w

"This is definitely a picture book with letters as integral parts of the pictures,—amusing, gay, postery type of pictures with lots of humor."

+ Kirkus 13:491 N 1 '45 90w

Wis Lib Bul 41:129 D '45

REY, MRS MARGRET ELISABETH (WALDSTEIN). Spotty; with pictures by H. A. Rey. [30p] $1.75 Harper

45-9836

A fable on tolerance for the very young in the form of a picture-story book about two families of rabbits, each with one odd member.

"A delightful picture book for any age from three up. There's plain delight in story and pictures—and a moral if you want it."

+ Kirkus 13:491 N 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by E. T. Dobbins

Library J 70:1191 D 15 '45 80w

N Y Times p8 Ja 6 '46 70w

REYHER, REBECCA. My mother is the most beautiful woman in the world; a Russian folktale retold; pictures by Ruth Gannett. [39p] $1.50 Howell, Soskin

45-8326

Russian folktale about a little peasant girl, lost in the wheat fields, who tried to describe her mother as the "most beautiful woman in the world." None of the beautiful women who were summoned proved to be her mother. When an exceptionally ugly woman claimed the little girl, they remembered the proverb: "We do not love people because they are beautiful, but they seem beautiful to us because we love them."

Book Week p4 N 11 '45 130w

Booklist 42:80 N 1 '45

"There is an understandable warmth in the conclusion that love makes homeliness lovely." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 21:452 N '45 60w

Kirkus 13:524 D 1 '45 90w

"A most refreshing story of Russia is the charming My Mother is the Most Beautiful Woman in the World. . . The pictures of the peasant faces in their kerchiefs are delightful." M. C. Skinner

+ Library J 70:950 O 15 '45 140w

"A truly distinguished book, best for reading aloud to seven- to ten-year-olds." F. W. Butler

+ Library J 70:1027 N 1 '45 80w

"The writing is not quite up to the story, but the spirit of this charming Russian folk tale has been caught beautifully in Ruth Gannett's colorful illustrations and decorations." M. F.

+ — N Y Times p18 N 11 '45 90w

New Yorker 21:127 D 8 '45 60w

"It is a Russian folktale, they say; Becky Reyher's mother told it to her when she was a child. But though its people are Russian peasants a long time ago, and though Ruth Gannett has brought them to us in brilliant, convincing pictures, there is not a little listening child to whom it is read that will not claim it for his own. These are just the right pictures for a story told in just the right way." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 O 7 '45 360w

REYNARD THE FOX. Scandalous adventures. See Owens, H. J. Scandalous adventures of Reynard the fox

REYNOLDS, MILTON. Hasta la vista; sketches by Josie St Hill. 167p $2 Greenberg

918 Latin America—Description and travel

"The book is composed of letters or bulletins written in informal style. Together they present a picture of the most entertaining (and some of the least entertaining) sights of South America, as well as an account of the living habits of the continent's varied groups. Among the major cities included in the trip are Bogota, Lima, Santiago, Valparaiso, Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro." Springf'd Republican

"Reynolds got his 20,000-mile chance by invitation of the Brazilian government, which wanted his expert appraisal of Latin-American retail methods. He took to some of the 'back roads' by plane and river boat. Even on the main line he saw things—trifles, maybe, but good reading. He isn't irritated when ways are different, but interested, or amused—and maybe at himself. If you want to travel vicariously, he's a good guy to travel with. And I'll bet he's a darned good salesman." Ellwood Douglass

+ — Book Week p10 Jl 22 '45 200w

Reviewed by J. E. English

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 3 '45 330w

REYNOLDS, QUENTIN JAMES. Officially dead. See Smith, C. D.

RHODE, JOHN, pseud. See Street, C. J. C.

RHYNE, CHARLES S. Airports and the courts; a complete coll. and analysis of all reported court decisions involving acquisition, operation, maintenance and zoning of airports, together with an analysis of federal, state and local legislation in the airport field; the air space rights of landowners, aviators and airport operators are analyzed in the light of applicable legislation and legal principles. 222p $5 Nat. inst. of municipal law officers, 730 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C.

347.7 Airports 44-8355

"This little book is a manual for the use of specialists and practitioners in the field of commercial aviation. As its title indicates, the book is designed primarily for the use of lawyers. . . The eight chapter headings mark the scope of the book: Airport Acquisition—Condemnation of Property for Airport Purposes—Airport Leases—Regulations Governing Use of Airports—Taxation of Airports—Damage Claims against Airport Owners and Operators—Airspace Rights of Aviators and Landowners—Airport Approach Protection. The mold of each chapter is the same. The subject-matter is carefully subdivided topically; the leading cases on each point at issue are cited, with the relevant cases collected in footnotes; and each chapter ends with summary conclusions. At the end there is an elaborate index (it fills thirty-one pages) which completely breaks down the field of study. The whole work is fortified by references in the footnotes to the literature of the subject, and these citations are linked with the story of the cases." Am Pol Sci R

"It is written broadly and clearly, with a minimum of legal vocabulary. It should prove a valuable guide to state and municipal administrative officers who have to deal with the governmental problems of public transportation by air. Much wise advice is contained in it." P. T. Fenn

RHYNE, C. S.—Continued
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1222 D '44 450w

"The volume will be most useful to the lawyer interested in airport law, but it is also worth-while reading for the municipal administrator and the social scientist." C. C. Rohlfing
+ Ann Am Acad 238:220 Mr '45 270w

RICE, CRAIG (MRS LAWRENCE LIPTON) (DAPHNE SANDERS, MICHAEL VENNING, pseuds). Lucky stiff. 251p $2 Simon & Schuster
45-3448

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p6 Ap 15 '45 90w
Booklist 41:270 My 15 '45

"Best of the week."
+ Boston Globe p17 Ap 25 '45 50w
Kirkus 13:97 Mr 1 '45 90w

"The wildest series of adventures that Craig Rice has yet put on paper." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p16 Ap 15 '45 100w

"The book is tough and expertly plotted."
+ New Yorker 21:92 Ap 14 '45 80w

"Extra good!"
+ Sat R of Lit 28:32 Ap 21 '45 30w

"After mature (or fairly mature) deliberation, this department herewith awards to Craig Rice all the toughie mystery honors in sight—not forgetting her several male rivals in the field. Few bafflers can match her for good fun, either, as she demonstrates in this new story featuring Jake Justus, his beautiful and accomplished wife Helene, and that fascinating if sinister lawyer John J. Malone, all deducers in different ways." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 15 '45 230w

RICHARDS, IVOR ARMSTRONG, and GIBSON, CHRISTINE. Learning Basic English. 116p $2 Norton
428.25 Basic English 45-5554

"A practical handbook for English-speaking people." (Subtitle) Contents: An over-all view; The vocabulary; The rules; The simplification of grammar; Translations into Basic; Interpretation; Appendix: Basic English word list; International words; Lists of words for special fields; Special lists. Index.

Reviewed by H. P. Vincent
Book Week p7 Jl 1 '45 310w
Reviewed by Horace Reynolds
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 26 '45 700w
Springf'd Republican p4 Ag 27 '45 420w

RICHARDSON, BEN ALBERT. Great American Negroes; il. by Louise Costello. 223p $2.50 Crowell
325.26 Negroes—Biography 45-9710

Sketches of the lives and careers of: Duke Ellington, William C. Handy, Fats Waller, Dean Dixon, William Grant Still, Marian Anderson, Paul Robeson, Katherine Dunham, Joe Louis, Jesse Owens, Mordecai W. Johnson, Mary McLeod Bethune, George Washington Carver, Charles Drew, Langston Hughes, Adam Clayton Powell, Sr., Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., Walter White, Crispus Attucks, Benjamin O. Davis, Sr., and Benjamin O. Davis, Jr.

Booklist 42:158 Ja 15 '46

"Unpretentious, interesting."
Kirkus 13:318 Jl 15 '45 90w

"Despite some errors of fact and interpretation, material is not readily available elsewhere and will be useful with junior high school students." E. W. Turpin
+ — Library J 70:753 S 1 '45 90w

RICHARDSON, HENRY BARBER. Patients have families. 408p $3 Commonwealth fund
616.8 Medical social work. Family SG45-110

"This book is based in large part on the Family Study conducted cooperatively by the faculties of public health, medicine, and psychiatry of Cornell University Medical College, the New York Hospital and its Social Service Department, and the family service and department of educational nursing of the Community Service Society. The comprehensive project . . . sought a better understanding of the family as a unit in medical care and the implications for treatment. . . Dr. Richardson tells in non-technical language of characteristic family patterns that appear in connection with different illnesses, and indicates their significance to the physician in diagnosis and treatment. He demonstrates the advantages of pooling the various services of the hospital and of the community to get a complete picture of the patient and his family, and shows how such cooperation can improve medical practice and enrich medical education." (Publisher's note) Glossary of psychiatric terms. Index.

Reviewed by Oswald Hall
Am J Soc 51:81 Jl '45 650w
Reviewed by Niles Carpenter
Am Soc R 10:805 D '45 1450w
Reviewed by J. M. Morse
Nation 160:282 Mr 10 '45 490w

"This book will be welcomed by all who are engaged in professional services connected with illness. Not only will it lead to clearer thinking about family relationships and illness and stimulate effort toward coordinated medical and social treatment, but it will also help physicians, nurses, and social workers to understand each other better in all phases of their work." H. M. Bartlett
+ Survey 81:126 Ap '45 400w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:44 Je '45 140w

RICHARDSON, MRS MYRA REED. Mule skinners; il. by Louis Glanzman. 203p $2 Viking
45-8458

When the recruiting officer told Tim that the age of twelve was too young for enlistment in the Coast guard, Tim was furious. He had to get into the war, he thought. On his uncle's farm, where he went to spend the summer, Tim found two friends, Jock and a donkey named Pal. Eventually Tim and Jock and Pal got into the local Boys' Troop, which was right in line for the army.

Booklist 42:61 O 15 '45

"The riotous adventures of Tim and Willie and the donkey in the Connecticut countryside, will bring countless chuckles from readers, young and old. Louis Glanzman's drawings are as funny as the story." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 21:454 N '45 100w

"Perhaps a little too sweet once in a while, but a good story with a welcome change in animal heroes—this stubborn, likable mule who goes off to the Army to do his part."
+ — Kirkus 13:339 Ag 1 '45 150w

"While lacking somewhat in vigor, this can be used as a contemporary story with boys of ten and eleven." E. W. Turpin
Library J 70:1092 N 15 '45 70w

"Good entertainment for boy and beast, as Tim's contemporaries will agree—and they will rejoice with him when Pal upholds the military tradition of the family." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p34 O 28 '45 140w

"One of the funniest and nicest stories of the year."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:60 N 10 '45 40w

"I wouldn't mind reading this book twice. Indeed, I have; if you give it to a small boy he'll probably read it over and over. . . I hope it stays a long time in print." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 S 16 '45 350w

RICHTER, MISCHA. This one's on me! (Whittlesey house publication) [154p] $2.50 McGraw
741.5 Humor, Pictorial. Caricatures and cartoons 45-7998

Collection of cartoons by a Russian-born artist, who was educated in this country. Most of these have appeared in such magazines as The New Yorker, Collier's, and the Saturday Evening Post.

Kirkus 13:417 S 15 '45 50w

"His touch is always deft—and devastating. Historians of the next century (who will certainly turn to The New Yorker's cartoon battery to fill in the gaps) may find that this Kharkov-born Russian had more to say of our life and times than many a Pulitzer Prize pundit." C. V. Terry
+ N Y Times p7 S 9 '45 230w

"His flights into fantasy frequently end in forced landings, and his satire sometimes is blunt and unsuccessful. This book could have done with a little weeding out, for Richter at his best is genuinely comic. And he draws very well. With a few broad strokes he manages to suggest a neighborhood, a room, or a shade of expression. A real gem is his portrait of an executive beaming as he listens to his own voice playing back on his dictaphone. Richter's drawings seem to have been dashed off, a nice effect whether it happens to be true or not." Ray Duncan
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:26 O 20 '45 230w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p5 D 2 '45 200w

RICHTER, WERNER. Re-educating Germany; tr. by Paul Lehmann. 227p $3.50 Univ. of Chicago press [21s Cambridge]
370.943 Education—Germany. Reconstruction (1939-)—Germany A45-774

"Can Germany be re-educated to take part in a democratic world community? And if so, how? In this book the writer aims to provide positive answers to these questions." (School & Society) "The author was an undersecretary in the Prussian Ministry of Education during the Weimar Republic, a close associate of Carl Heinrich Becker. . . A philologist by training, Dr. Richter since 1939 has been teaching philosophy at Elmhurst College, Illinois." (Sat R of Lit)

"Professor Richter's book, brilliantly translated by Paul Lehmann, is a solid, scholarly contribution written by a man who had extensive experience both as a university professor and as an undersecretary in the Prussian Ministry of Education prior to Hitler. He believes that Germany can be re-educated, and his conviction is based upon an intimate and responsible knowledge of German life and education. . . Every educator and student of Germany should ponder Dr. Richter's profound and pertinent conclusions." J. K. Pollock
+ Am Pol Sci R 39:371 Ap '45 450w

Reviewed by Frederich Roetter
Book Week p2 F 4 '45 430w

Booklist 41:192 Mr 1 '45

"It is the work of a sane, penetrating intellect. Certainly Richter's experiences as a professor in a German university and as undersecretary in charge of universities for the Prussian ministry of education give him unusual qualifications for writing this book. Emigré though he is, he is not bitter or nostalgic. He retains affection for his homeland and a growing feeling for democracy and liberalism, all of which strengthen and give purpose to this book. Unfortunately, the book's style will tend to withhold from it the large audience it deserves." Garland Downum
+ — Christian Century 62:682 Je 6 '45 950w

"It is regrettable that the work which treats of an urgent subject, is presented in a style so involved and philosophical that it will probably have only a fraction of the readers who would otherwise evaluate it. Dr. Richter regards German youth much as a juvenile court judge regards repeated young offenders. He sees hope only through giving them every chance, while yet protecting the world from further crimes at their hands. He says that one cannot teach democracy at the point of a sword, although he shows himself not by any means blind to the problems involved." M. J. T.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 F 2 '45 650w

Reviewed by S. B. Fay
Current Hist 8:248 Mr '45 220w

"When he writes of what he knows best, he speaks informatively and persuasively. As history, this book is certainly calculated to open eyes as to the magnitude of the Republic's problem and to engage generous hearts in appreciation of the heroic efforts made educationally to prevent what has subsequently happened in Germany—happened to education and to all else of rational worth. The reader, however, who would see and feel these things may betake himself to the book itself. Upon the problem now before the world, the book is less decisive though certainly not unhelpful." T. V. Smith
+ — Ethics 55:228 Ap '45 1000w

Foreign Affairs 23:696 Jl '45 50w

New Repub 112:565 Ap 23 '45 150w

Reviewed by Heinrich Fraenkel
New Statesman & Nation 30:28 Jl 14 '45 850w

"For 200 pages Professor Richter discusses the responsibilities of the Allies to Germany, her moral and political rights and the minimum terms on which she will consent to cooperate in the reconstitution of a better world. There is virtually no mention of the concessions or sacrifices which Germany might make for—let alone owe to—the common welfare of Europe. Whatever the merits of the various arguments over German responsibility for the present war, not even the position of Vansittart, for example, can compare with this declaration of German independence from all responsibility." E. W. Fox
— N Y Times p12 Ap 22 '45 1400w

Reviewed by Robert Pick
Sat R of Lit 28:7 F 10 '45 1100w

Discussion by Lewis Mumford
Sat R of Lit 28:5 Ag 11 '45

School & Society 61:63 Ja 27 '45 40w

"The reviewer would do less than justice to this book if he did not include a word of appreciation for the able work of the translator, Professor Paul Lehmann, of Wellesley College. It was obviously a labor of love, for translator and author share a common point of view, which Professor Lehmann has expressed in the words: 'It is this task which makes the problem of the coming peace primarily a problem of educational aim and educational method.' " H. S. Ficke
+ School & Society 62:111 Ag 18 '45 1050w

Reviewed by R. B. Browne
School R 53:370 Je '45 1050w

Reviewed by Sigmund Neumann
Survey G 34:415 O '45 450w

Times [London] Lit Sup p183 Ap 21 '45 950w

"The book is the result of wide knowledge, close observation, and statesmanlike thinking. Neither its interpretation of the past nor its vision of the future will command universal assent, but it deals with a matter of the highest importance for all peoples, and it deals with it with learning, courage, honesty and imagination. It is one of the books capable of stimulating real progress in planning the new world." W. A. Neilson
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 4 '45 950w

RICKARD, THOMAS ARTHUR. Romance of mining. 450p il maps $3.75 Macmillan
622.09 Mineral industries [45-1008]

"Mr. Rickard, a Cornishman, is an old hand at mining, and he came from a family of mining men. His first job was at a mine in Colorado, and after that he ranged into many parts of the world. He has edited mining publications, written books and lectured extensively. He speaks with authority and with restraint. This book is a long one and yet, so vast is the subject, it is little more than a summary of the history of the quest for precious metals. Here are the stories of Sir Martin Frobisher's ill-fated expeditions, the searches along the Amazon and the Andes, the discovery of gold in California, the development of mining in Colorado, the great Copper Queen Mine in Arizona, the Australian diggings, the diamonds of Kimberley and the almost incredibly rich Rand field in South Africa." Weekly Book Review

RICKARD, T. A.—Continued

"On the whole the book is a valuable collection of essays on early mining activities in various parts of the world, particularly in precious metal mining and in placer mining." H. A. Innis

+ Canadian Hist R 26:202 Je '45 360w

Library J 70:532 Je 1 '45 30w

"T. A. Rickard is a British mining engineer who has roved the world in the practice of his profession, keeping his eyes and ears open. He has kept too a schoolboy's fascinated interest in the discovery of treasure, ancient and modern. He brings technical knowledge and modern reasoning to bear on the old tales, with results that are diverting and plausible." N. B. Baker

+ N Y Times p16 My 13 '45 270w

"A satisfying, well documented mass of hard facts and indisputable details." Stanley Walker

+ Weekly Book Review p4 My 6 '45 400w

RIDER, BRETT. Death stalks the range. 249p $2 Macrae Smith co.
45-2149

Western story.

Booklist 41:210 Mr 15 '45

Kirkus 13:7 Ja 1 '45 40w

Wis Lib Bul 41:85 Jl '45

RIESENBERG, FELIX, 1913-. Man on the raft. 192p $2 Dodd
45-7646

Adventure mystery story for older boys. It involves a Liberty ship and her crew, some of whom are traitors, on a secret mission to Japanese infiltrated islands in the South Pacific.

Booklist 42:80 N 1 '45

"Boys will go for this credible, well-documented story."

+ Kirkus 13:341 Ag 1 '45 80w

"Will be popular with the twelve-year-old boys as well as those older. A good story in a well-made book." A. M. Wetherell

+ Library J 70:824 S 15 '45 80w

"A book for boys a man could read without losing face. . . The reader may be assured that whatever he guesses in advance he will probably be surprised before the end and that Lieutenant Riesenberg proves that well he knows the sea and life on shipboard."

+ Weekly Book Review p18 N 11 '45 310w

RILKE, RAINER MARIA. Letters, 1892-1910; tr. by Jane Bannard Greene and M. D. Herter Norton. 399p $3.50 Norton

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
45-8069

A selection of the letters written by the Austrian poet during seventeen years of his early adult life. "While the letters in this volume have been chosen principally for their intrinsic beauty or wisdom, others have been included because they are psychologically revealing in a more personal sense, or because, like those of the very young Rilke, they contain a first statement of characteristic themes, or because they give the continuity that helps to make of the collection a kind of spiritual autobiography." (Introd)

"His letters, in this edition finely translated and expertly annotated, are a record of his quest; they foreshadow and illumine his poetry. Yet a reader need not know Rilke's poems to enjoy and to value the letters for their eloquence, their universal application, and their narrative." Eleanor Ruggles

+ Atlantic 176:145 O '45 200w

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy

Book Week p6 S 16 '45 230w

Booklist 42:75 N 1 '45

"A literary item rather than a popular one, for the Rilke cult, a small but constant following."

+ Kirkus 13:125 Mr 15 '45 130w

"The letters' exquisite beauty of style make them fascinating reading even to those who know nothing of his poetry. They are the stuff from which his poems grew; his thoughts about life, art, nature and people; his philosophy of living developed through painfully deep thinking and experiencing. Rilke lived with his friends as realistically in letters as in personal contacts. As a result, we have the autobiography of a great and sensitive artist through his most formative years." H. R. Forbes

+ Library J 70:586 Je 15 '45 90w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries

Nation 161:466 N 3 '45 1850w

"As the editors state, many of these letters have an artistic validity of their own. Rilke had a genius for exact and significant detail, and there are unforgettable passages: the meeting with Rodin, the horrible little story of the student who broke down before his examination, and the descriptions of Prague and the fountains of Rome. The metaphysical disquisitions, on the other hand, are often precious rather than profound. And along with much that is beautiful, there is a good deal of sentimentality." H. C. Hatfield

+ — New Repub 113:325 S 10 '45 600w

"I have never read a collection of letters by a genius so specialized which have so much interest for the general reader. The translation (I have no recourse to the original) seems excellent. Rilke is, even in his prose, knotty. Perhaps in felicitating the translators, we should quote him: 'Time passed in the difficult is never lost.'" Robert Hillyer

+ N Y Times p3 S 2 '45 1650w

"The tendency to make a religion out of Rilke has been strong. Reading these letters, one can understand from what sources this tendency springs. For Rilke, far ahead of his time (see, for example, his analysis of Cézanne, written in 1907), recognized certain focal points of modern neurosis and unease. He understood disintegration because he himself had very nearly disintegrated. He sought unity, insight, composure, and patience because he had seen these qualities work cures. His search corresponds to our modern search, and contemporary poets who approach Rilke in seriousness and gifts unanimously agree that it was, and is, a kind of religious hunger that activated Rilke and makes modern man uneasy." Louise Bogan

+ New Yorker 21:83 S 15 '45 950w

"This brilliant and rewarding collection of letters reflects admirably the world of art and literature as it flourished in Europe before the deluge of 1914. Rilke's correspondence often resulted in descriptive set-pieces or critical essays rather than in mere communication with his wife and friends. Consequently the collection should be considered both as an integral part of the Austrian poet's work and as documentation for the times." T. M. Purdy

+ Sat R of Lit 28:36 O 6 '45 600w

Reviewed by C. K. Bausman

Springf'd Republican p4d S 30 '45 550w

Reviewed by John Erskine

Weekly Book Review p3 S 23 '45 950w

"On the quality of the translation readers' judgments will differ. Factual misconstructions of the text are rare. The translators evidently aimed at as literal a rendering of Rilke's words as the English language permits. In doing this, they have sacrificed much of the rhythmical charm of his very intimate prose, replacing the caressing rustle of its soft silken flow by a rough and knotty texture. Whereas Rilke's studiedly casual prose moves with an effortless ease to its destination and conceals the intricate subtlety of its mazes, the English rather underpunctuated version not infrequently stops the reader in his tracks by ambiguities that make him lose his way in the labyrinth of qualifying clauses. Sent back to the beginning for a fresh start he often succeeds in clearing the hurdle. Sometimes the fault is Rilke's, and the English version serves to point up genuine obscurities in the original." H. J. Weigand

Yale R n s 35:368 winter '46 1200w

RILKE, RAINER MARIA. Rodin; tr. by Jessie Lemont and Hans Trausil. 75p col il $3.50 Fine editions

B or 92 Rodin, Auguste 45-7775

"In 1902, when Rainer Maria Rilke was just beginning to make his reputation, he was commissioned to write a monograph on Rodin, then secure in fame and power. . . Embarking on the project with a rather pointed self-assurance, he began, with his introductory letter, as well as a correspondence that was to last for eleven years, a close and persuasive personal assoication. . . This translation [of the monograph] is a reprint of an edition which appeared in 1919. Miss Lemont (who has published several volumes of translations of Rilke's poems) seems, with Mr. Trausil, to have captured with skill the actual flow of Rilke's ardent lyricism." N Y Times

"When misunderstanding and destruction seem pressing us on all sides, this little book comes to us as something very good. For it is the understanding and appreciation of a great man's work, born out of a great friendship. Whether or not one likes the work of Auguste Rodin matters little. One will certainly appreciate Rodin and every other honest artist after reading Rilke's monograph." Sister Mary of the Compassion, O.P.

+ Cath World 162:91 O '45 350w

"It is Rilke's conviction that the least of Rodin's pieces expresses a tremendous life force. Though Rodin is no longer regarded as the king whom Rilke saw, this appreciation might easily return one to the sculptures with a new interest and a certain wonder. If the statues he writes about often seem to have been as much if not more in his own mind than in Rodin's, the works take on, at least temporarily, some of the blaze of his imagination. We would like to believe with Rilke that Rodin was indeed an artist of monumental proportions." Gertrude Buckman

+ N Y Times p8 N 4 '45 440w

RIMINGTON, CRITCHELL. This is the navy; the navy in action—on sea, on land and in the air; introd. by T. L. Gatch. [189p] il $2.75 Dodd

359 U.S. Navy—Juvenile literature. Photographic books 45-6651

A collection of photographs illustrating various phases of Naval equipment, activities and personnel. Accompanied by brief descriptive text, the photographs are alphabetically arranged from Aircraft carriers, Ammunition, Blimps, and so on to Waves, Victory, and Zeros ("one of the principal adversaries of the Navy's air arm").

Booklist 42:40 O 1 '45

Kirkus 13:253 Je 1 '45 150w

Reviewed by K. H. McAlarney

+ Library J 70:753 S 1 '45 60w

Sat R of Lit 28:74 N 10 '45 30w

"Critchell Rimington, whose 'Fighting Fleets' has become gratefully known as 'the poor man's Jane,' has fulfilled a purpose quite as important in extending the same sort of information to boys from fourteen on, by means admirably adopted to claim their attention, inform their minds and store their memories. This is a happy blend of clear text telling just what they want to know—which is, in general, all about everything in the Navy—and large photographs notable for interest and authenticity."

+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 20 '45 400w

RINEHART, MARY (ROBERTS) (MRS S. M. RINEHART). Yellow room. 248p $2.50 Farrar 45-6796

Mystery story.

"Every mystery author, even the best, should study 'The Yellow Room' for a style polished but not slick, for sentiment as opposed to sentimentality, to watch the care in building to a climax and the quick twist of ideas which ever avoids an ensuing anticlimax. Every mystery fan will read 'The Yellow Room.'" D. B. Hughes

+ Book Week p15 N 4 '45 350w

Booklist 42:77 N 1 '45

Kirkus 13:350 Ag 15 '45 80w

New Repub 113:654 N 12 '45 130w

"Mrs. Rinehart has lost none of her skill in weaving an intricate web of mystery. The unraveling of that web, on the other hand, leaves something to be desired. So many factors are involved in the events with which the story deals that the reader's patience is strained to the utmost." Isaac Anderson

+ — N Y Times p32 O 28 '45 180w

"Not up to 'The Circular Staircase,' but impeccably plotted and with enough of that old Rinehart touch to show us why her imitators keep on being imitators and nothing more."

+ New Yorker 21:107 N 3 '45 90w

"Rewarding."

+ Sat R of Lit 28:37 O 27 '45 40w

"'The Yellow Room' is a must on every count, easily the event of the season so far." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p23 O 28 '45 300w

RIPPY, JAMES FRED, and PERRIGO, LYNN. Latin America; its history and culture. 425p il maps $1.76 Ginn

980 Latin America—History. Latin America—Description and travel 44-6533

"The authors have interwoven the geography and history of Latin America. Many geographical facts are told as the reader is taken on an imaginary trip throughout these lands. Latin America, Its History and Culture is divided into nine units. The second is largely devoted to geography. . . The pre-Columbian days are dealt with in the third unit. . . In unit four the story of the Conquistadores and the history which follows up to the independence movements is told. . . Unit five gives a clear and interesting picture of the independence movements. . . The story of the various Latin-American dictators is told in unit six. . . In unit seven the authors give an unbiased opinion of the 'Yankee Peril.' . . The recent changes in Latin America are discussed in unit eight. . . The present relations of the United States and our neighbors to the south is told in unit nine. . . After each of these units there are aids which will help to make the study of each unit more interesting. In the appendix there is a guide to pronunciation of Latin-American terms and names, bibliographies for student and teacher, folklore, and audio-visual aids." Social Educ

"Rippy and Perrigo's book will appeal to the youth of the Americas because it is written in a pleasing and popular style. It will also be of interest to adults who have little or no knowledge of Latin-American countries. This history book is written in such a manner that the reader finishes the book wishing that there were more." Leona Weier

+ Social Educ 8:378 D '44 600w

"Of the many recent texts on Latin America examined by this reviewer in the last two or three years this one seems to be one of the better ones designed for use at the secondary level. The authors are distinguished scholars.

RIPPY, J. F.—Continued
The materials incorporated in this book are authoritative, informative, and interestingly presented. The book is well-illustrated and contains 20 maps, all of them clear and useful. Each chapter is followed by stimulating questions and some excellent suggestions of activities to supplement the reading and discussion of the text. The authors have included an extensive bibliography, a useful, self-pronouncing glossary of names and terms, and a very thorough index."
+ Social Studies 36:42 Ja '45 180w

RISTER, CLAUDE (JAMES MARSHALL, pseud). Santa Fe; the railroad that built an empire. 465p il $3.75 Random house

385 Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad

A long, detailed history of the Santa Fe railroad, written by a West Coast newspaper man. An appendix gives a year by year chronology. Maps. Index.

"How the Santa Fe came to be built is a good enough tale, and [the author] who has plainly had access to all the company records he wanted, presents the best of it in interesting fashion." R. E. M. Whitaker
+ Book Week p10 Ja 13 '46 700w

"Excellent railroad material which has glamor, color and breathless pace."
+ Kirkus 13:356 Ag 15 '45 210w

"Will be especially popular with men and those readers who want 'westerns'. Recommended also for its Americana value." E. H. Crowell
+ Library J 70:820 S 15 '45 70w

"[The author] has given us a readable story of how two streaks of rust on the Kansas prairie became a great railroad system. It is told in terms of the common denominator of the men and women, from president to track walker and Harvey girl, who made it great. The dry statistics—and there are a few of them—are mercifully interred in an appendix where those who want such things can find them." Hoffman Birney
+ N Y Times p4 Ja 13 '46 700w

"A good book it is—fascinating enough to the general reader and a must for all railroad fans, of which there seem to be a great many. [The author] obviously has a great affection for railroading, and for the Santa Fe in particular, and the result is pleasant from first to last." Stanley Walker
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ja 6 '46 1100w

RIVES, FERN (MRS ROGER M. JONES). You can't stop living. 246p $2.50 Putnam
45-2266

Story of a comfortably well-to-do family living in California during the war years. Materially at ease, various members of the group are emotionally and psychologically uneasy and wartime conditions bring about several tragedies before a comparatively peaceful conclusion is reached.

"Well, maybe we can't stop living, but we can always stop reading." E. R.
— Book Week p8 Ap 8 '45 270w

"A woman's book—of more substance than usual—that makes the most of emotional-psychological entanglements, and which uses the war to highlight the issues."
+ Kirkus 13:41 F 1 '45 150w

"The story is engaging but too diffuse to drive any one point home. It's a psychological novel diluted to popular-magazine consistency." Beatrice Sherman
— + N Y Times p28 Ap 1 '45 160w

Reviewed by Ander Hartshorn
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 1 '45 190w

"These people are always seeing themselves as if in mirrors, figurative as well as real. Their thoughts are reflections of each other's thoughts, and their emotions are the reflected surfaces of what the author says they feel. In the end, the effect is unhappily artificial. Reality is lost in the procession of posed situations. The Lady of Shalott turned away from the mirror at last, but Fern Rives never seems to manage it." Lisle Bell
— Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 1 '45 450w

ROANE, MARIANNE, pseud. (MARIANNE STEIFF [FINTON] MEISEL). Years before the flood. 296p $2.50 Scribner
45-8444

The life in a small South German town in the 1920's when the Nazi movement was in its infancy forms the background for this first novel. Friedrich Rant, owner of a toy factory, is made aware of these faint stirrings by the arrival of a cousin on a visit from America, and later by the hanging of one of his workmen. When the younger Rant goes back to America, Friedrich joins him.

"No suggestion is given that the solution of the Rants' personal problem is one available to other Germans. 'Years Before the Flood,' a first novel, would be impressive as a fifth or 10th. Though the Rants may not serve as a complete microcosm of the woes of Germany just before it fell into step with Hitler, a great deal of the nation's unhappy story is woven into the book's texture without disturbing the credible fabric depicting German home life, the whimsies of childhood and the individual concerns of the people involved." Jack Conroy
+ Book Week p9 Je 3 '45 400w

"A remarkably mature piece of work for a young woman who did not begin writing until 1943." W. K. R.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 11 '45 600w

"Miss Roane is evidently an admirer of Katherine Mansfield. For her readers' sakes, we should suggest some perusal of Maugham or Bromfield. After all a novel is supposed to be a narrative, and even Henry James founded his subjective intricacies on solid objective plot material. If you feel intellectually energetic enough for the ransacking of some dusty mental attics, then 'Years Before the Flood' will fit into your literary spring cleaning, but if you are looking for a pleasant vernal excursion into light fiction, this is a chore not recommended." E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 42:220 Je 15 '45 500w

"I must confess that I cannot imagine any market for a book of this kind. The only reason for its being is that—perhaps—it embodies an authentic reflection of a type and period in Germany immediately before the dominance of the Nazis—the type of the rootless, hopeless middle class shorn of faith and ideals. . . In style the book is cryptic, awkward."
— Kirkus 13:73 F 15 '45 170w

"While there is some fine description of details and milieu, main characters often not convincing and whole picture not really balanced. Although there may be ephemeral success leading to temporary demand in libraries, not a book of lasting value. Recommended only for big public libraries." H. H. A. Bernt
Library J 70:414 My 1 '45 60w

"I took up Miss Roane's book from the random pile of new novels on my desk with little hope of pleasure. After a bad opening page, however, it began to grow upon me that here was one of the most charming and gifted novels, certainly the most charming and gifted first novel, I had come across as a reviewer. Warm, witty, lively, resourceful, with an admirably relaxed taste and intelligence, this story of life in a small German town in the year 1927 is the sort of surprise I had almost stopped looking for—a novel which is not at all great nor was for a moment intended to be (a matter I bring up only to forestall the disappointment of those readers who in their search for greatness are always being taken in by the pretensions of the profoundly mediocre), but which introduces a new and beginning writer in a modest, thoroughly enjoyable literary performance. That it is an unfashionable performance is, for me, a large part of its merit." Diana Trilling
+ Nation 160:628 Je 2 '45 1100w

Reviewed by Kenneth Fearing
N Y Times p8 Je 3 '45 500w

"Miss Roane, who has received one of the Avery Hopwood awards, writes rather better than the majority of the winners of these prizes, but that, unhappily, is only mild praise for this young novelist."
New Yorker 21:78 Je 2 '45 80w

" 'Years Before the Flood' is not yet a novel. It is an interesting first instalment, a fine sketch, an excellent collection of raw material —but not yet an integrated work." F. C. Weiskopf
+ Sat R of Lit 28:35 N 24 '45 400w

Reviewed by V. H. Fuller
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 10 '45 650w

" 'Years Before the Flood' will give no comfort to any who may think that the Germans will have ended this second war with a sense of guilt or wrong-doing. If Miss Roane's picture is correct, the relatively prosperous 1920s saw a twist in German thinking and feeling that could only lead to some kind of explosion. The book is convincing because many of these people are such as one might have known or been, but with a skew like first faint symptoms of madness." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p4 My 27 '45 1050w

ROARK, ELDON. Memphis bragabouts; characters I have met; il. by Frank L. Miller. (Whittlesey house publication) 224p $2.50 McGraw 45-10089

Collection of articles about unusual Memphis characters by a columnist on the Memphis Press-Scimitar. Among them are the boy who thought he could lift a bull—and did; the professional chicken thief; the woodpecker expert; and a twenty-five-year-old rooster.

"Roark writes simply. The charm of his vignettes is in the straight-away recital of the characters' idiosyncrasies and adventures, rather than in any special literary style." Dale Harrison
+ Book Week p22 N 25 '45 360w

"Not really important but regionally entertaining."
+ Kirkus 13:331 Ag 1 '45 170w

"A book of humorous, lightweight sketches. . . Best of all was the story of the Arkansas A. and M. football team which played for the sport of it, with a coach who only took the job when the school promised not to expect any games to be won. Now, that is really a 'bragabout!' " N. K. B.
+ N Y Times p8 D 23 '45 270w

"An amusing little book, about curious but nice people, it will tell you more about the South than a dozen novels about Marse Henry and the old plantation." Thomas Sugrue
+ Sat R of Lit 28:20 D 15 '45 310w

Reviewed by Lorine Pruette
Weekly Book Review p2 Ja 6 '46 800w

ROBEQUAIN, CHARLES. Economic development of French Indo-China; tr. by Isabel A. Ward; suppl: Recent developments in Indo-China: 1939-1943, by John R. Andrus and Katrine R. C. Greene; issued under the auspices of the Int. secretariat, Inst. of Pacific relations. 400p $4 Oxford
330.959 Indo-China, French 45-885

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Reviewed by A. C. Bunce
Am Econ R 35:695 S '45 1300w

Reviewed by T. E. Ennis
Am Hist R 50:805 Jl '45 490w

"An invaluable work." L. A. Mills
+ Am Pol Sci R 39:393 Ap '45 340w

Reviewed by A. E. Kane
Ann Am Acad 238:206 Mr '45 550w
Foreign Affairs 23:521 Ap '45 40w

Reviewed by Helen Mears
New Repub 113:53 Jl 9 '45 850w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
N Y Times p29 Mr 25 '45 850w

"One of the most interesting studies ever published on Indo-China's economic development, covering numerous aspects of Indo-China's development under French rule—population, transport, investment, agriculture, industry and commerce. Professor Robequain is not content with giving the reader a great wealth of information but he also interprets the facts behind the figures and shows how the Indo-Chinese people have profited and, on the whole, progressed under French rule." Gaston Rueff
+ Pacific Affairs 18:107 Mr '45 550w
Times [London] Lit Sup p292 Je 23 '45 60w

"Professor Robequain's study, technically complete and accurate, is well written and makes easy, pleasant reading. He outlines with insight and courage a policy deduced from all the experience, successes, and blunders of the past. At a crucial moment of the history of the Far East, when facts and ideas are more malleable than ever, one wishes that such studies could have a growing influence on the planning of tomorrow." Jean Gottmann
+ Yale R n s 35:371 winter '46 850w

ROBERTS, DOROTHY JAMES. Durable fire. 408p $2.75 Macmillan
45-5349

Character study of a queer introspective girl whose life was blighted by the loveless married life of her parents. Her father was an intelligent man, very much in love with his pretty, frivolous wife, but after a year or two of useless quarreling theirs became a marriage in name only. The sensitive little girl became her father's companion, and when he died her life became more wretched than ever. At eighteen Glee moved out to the farm her father left her, but misfortune overtook her there too.

"Undoubtedly Miss Roberts has a facile talent for fiction. She belongs among our better present-day woman writers." George Wiswell
+ Book Week p4 Jl 29 '45 400w

"Though amplified with detail, there is still lack of any conviction of reality."
Kirkus 13:227 Je 1 '45 170w

"Introspective, detailed and long, but absorbing and well written." Lucy Kinloch
+ Library J 70:355 Ap 15 '45 80w

"Miss Roberts has an abrupt matter-of-fact rendering of characterization which spares us the explicit 'why' and gets on pleasurably with the 'how.' We are thus able to meet her fictional personalities on terms of friendly illusion." Isabelle Mallet
+ N Y Times p12 Jl 8 '45 400w

Reviewed by C. M. Sauer
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 8 '45 450w

"As a social document, 'A Durable Fire' suffers because of Miss Roberts's apparent inability to realize that it was Glee Vanny's deep-seated neuroses that led her from disaster to disaster. Miss Roberts is never quite fair in judging the conventional folk who quite naturally failed to understand her protagonist, and one cannot always share her implied conviction that because Glee was 'different' she was necessarily superior to every one around her. There are, in fact, many instances in the first half of the book when the reader shares the exasperation which Glee's family felt toward her. In spite of this weakness, however, 'A Durable Fire' is a book which will linger long in the memory." Marion Wescott
+ — Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 8 '45 650w

ROBERTS, HENRY W. Aviation radio; with an introd. by Lee de Forest. 637p il $5 Morrow
621.3841914 Radio in aeronautics 45-3155

"This book is an account in non-technical language of the part played by radio in aviation. It is of interest to pilots and radio technicians as well as to laymen. After a brief review of the basic principles of electricity and radio communication, the author discusses

ROBERTS, H. W.—Continued
radio aids to navigation and the manner in which the pilot avails himself of these aids. A final section describes the construction, installation and servicing of radio apparatus which is carried in airplanes. The appendix includes tables of aviation radio frequencies, principal power supply in foreign countries, and aeronautical 'Q' signals." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 41:265 My 15 '45
Library J 70:532 Je 1 '45 110w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:12 Ja '45
Scientific Bk Club R 16:2 My '45 120w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:56 S '45 200w

"It is notable for its completeness (except, of course, for some war-time developments on which full details have not yet been released) and at the same time it is written so clearly that no technical background, either in aviation or radio, is required to understand it." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p20 S 16 '45 180w

ROBERTS, KENNETH LEWIS. Kenneth Roberts reader; introduction by Ben Ames Williams. 460p $3 Doubleday
45-9881

Excerpts from Kenneth Roberts' novels, Northwest Passage, Oliver Wiswell, and Arundel, and essays from Trending into Maine and For Authors Only.

Reviewed by E. D. Branch
Book Week p4 N 4 '45 450w
Christian Science Monitor p17 D 8 '45 350w

"Roberts may occasionally try to be another Thackeray (as Bernard De Voto has already commented) and divide a novel like 'Northwest Passage' into halves, one superb, the other slow-paced and fair-to-middling, or consistently weaken an entire novel like 'Wiswell.' But he will always be more than redeemed by such solid writing as constitutes that first half of 'Northwest Passage,' and, in particular, the part dealing with the return of Rogers' starving, depleted band from the Indian village of St. Francis." William Kehoe
+ — N Y Times p8 D 16 '45 1050w

"The introduction by Ben Ames Williams leaves the reader who expects a collection of historical sketches puzzled. The footnotes by Nelson Doubleday, the author's friend and publisher, are in the mood of offside reminiscence. It is only after one is well into the packed and flavorsome pages that one realizes that the book is a portrait of an author through his work rather than a representation of his work. Students of Kenneth Roberts as historical novelist would do well to seek his full-length novels for in these selections he will find about as much of that phase of Roberts as he'd find about the institution of American marriage in Sinclair Lewis's recent vigorous romp in the hay, 'Cass Timberlane.' " John Farrar
+ Sat R of Lit 28:12 O 27 '45 1100w

"This collection will undoubtedly add to Mr Roberts's already large reading public, for after reading 'The Prison Hulks at Chatham' he would be blase indeed who could keep from getting a copy of 'Capt Caution' to see whether Marvin and his companions succeeded in escaping." C. K. Bausman
+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 30 '45 480w

ROBERTS, WARREN ALDRICH. State taxation of metallic deposits. 400p $4.50 Harvard univ. press [19s Oxford]

336.228 Mines and mineral resources—U.S. Taxation, State A44-3831

"[This work] is divided into three parts. The first has four brief chapters on the economic principles and political problems of taxing mineral deposits. Part II contains a general chapter on the western prospectors and eight chapters on the states using other than the ad valorem tax. . . Part III is devoted to a detailed discussion of those states using the ad valorem tax. . . The book is broader than the title indicates. It is a case study of political history and pressure groups in the principal mining states, particularly Arizona, Colorado, Michigan, and Minnesota. Interesting sidelights are given on the early prospectors; the paternalistic attitude of a few later mine-owners toward local mining towns; and the dislike generally of taxes for state purposes." Am Pol Sci R

"The book is a good one—carefully written, but difficult reading. It needs an index." W. L. Bradshaw
+ Am Pol Sci R 39:605 Je '45 500w

Reviewed by G. C. Blakey
J Pol Econ 53:382 D '45 500w

"It will be evident that the study deals with principles of taxation methods rather than the details of tax procedure, and is a correspondingly welcome addition to the literature of mine taxation, which, heretofore, has dealt chiefly with the specific effects of laws recently passed or in contemplation, or the methods of their application. A serious drawback of this otherwise excellent work is that it has no index." T. T. Read
+ Pol Sci Q 60:480 S '45 210w

ROBERTSON, ALEC. Dvorák. (Master musicians; new ser) 242p $2.50 Dutton [6s 6d Dent]

B or 92 Dvořák, Antonin

A biography of the Czech composer which is also a critical study of his musical compositions. Contains a catalog of works, a bibliography, and an index.

Booklist 42:167 Ja 15 '46
+ Manchester Guardian p3 My 11 '45 60w
Times [London] Lit Sup p224 My 12 '45 350w

ROBERTSON, ARCHIBALD THOMAS. Slow train to yesterday; a last glance at the local; il. with drawings by F. Strobel. 189p $3 Houghton

385 Railroads—U.S. Travel 45-7489

"This is a book written by a man about his hobby—the almost abandoned, independently owned, dinky, short-line railroads and everything connected with them, including stories, jokes, personalities, customs, the bordering communities and their old bowl-and-pitcher hotels." (N Y Times) Contains a glossary of short lines by states, with details of their passenger runs.

Reviewed by C. W. Morton
Atlantic 176:149 O '45 300w

Reviewed by R. E. M. Whitaker
Book Week p3 Ag 26 '45 400w
Booklist 42:32 O 1 '45
Bookmark 6:5 N '45

"This is a collection of stories about out-of-the-way people and out-of-the-way places in America. It centers about narrow-gauge and short railroads in rather quiet, somewhat backward valleys, woods, and mountains. The book goes at a slow pace, as do the trains it describes, and affords en route delightful reading. At least, it was delightful to me. I am afraid too delightful. I feel somewhat ashamed for enjoying it so much." R. H. M.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 S 1 '45 850w
Kirkus 13:238 Je 1 '45 130w

" 'Slow Train to Yesterday' makes pleasant reading that may stir in the casual reader an appreciation of what absorbs the enthusiast. The mechanical details of railroad equipment are described from the human standpoint—and these pages, too, should interest the general reader, though, for the mechanically minded, more of this material might be welcome." M. T. Martin
+ N Y Times p6 Ag 26 '45 550w

"Old railroad addicts will probably want to quarrel with some of Mr. Robertson's statistics, but anybody who quarrels with his anecdotes and his picture of America in the pre-streamlined age of travel will be ungrateful indeed."
+ New Yorker 21:75 S 1 '45 80w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 9 '45 480w

"A book of multiple enchantments which is going to be an absolute must for railroad fans and historians and an incidental delight to many a less specialized but still perceptive reader whose taste runs to the simplicities of obsolete Americana." Lucius Beebe
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ag 26 '45 750w

Wis Lib Bul 41:109 N '45

ROBERTSON, FRANK CHESTER. Noose hangs high. 219p $2 Dutton
45-2057

Western story.

Booklist 41:238 Ap 15 '45
Kirkus 13:97 Mr 1 '45 50w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 8 '45 180w

ROBERTSON, FRANK CHESTER. Round-up in the river. 12p $2 Dutton [7s 6d Collins]
45-7849

Western story.

Booklist 42:111 D 1 '45
Kirkus 13:406 S 15 '45 140w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p24 D 9 '45 60w

ROBERTSON, JOHN KELLOCK. Atomic artillery and the atomic bomb. 173p il $2.50 Van Nostrand

541.2 Atomic bomb. Atomic energy
45-10176

"Assumes no technical background. Tells what atomic energy is, how it operates, and research culminating in the final unleashing of the energy of matter. Partly based on author's Atomic Artillery [Book Review Digest, 1937]. Gives significant developments since 1937 in particular to the discovery of uranium fission and of possible chain reactions and dangers of radioactive products." Library J

"Although Robertson avoids flowery language, presenting his subject in a logical, clear-cut scientific fashion, he holds your interest right from the beginning, so that you want to read his book in one sitting. Containing exactly what the mathematically untrained layman wants to know and can readily understand about the atom bomb and its background, Robertson's book completely outclasses heretofore published popular accounts of the subject. In my opinion, it is now the only one worth reading." Rufus Oldenburger
+ Book Week p6 Ja 6 '46 550w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 71:57 Ja 1 '46 80w

"At last we have a good popular book on the atomic physics that underlies the making of atomic bombs and the future harnessing of atomic energy." H. M. Davis
+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 2 '45 600w

"It is indeed a pleasure to read a book about the atomic bomb which is accurate. In this respect Professor Robertson's book is virtually unique among those which have already been published on the bomb since Smyth's War Department report was issued. Professor Robertson has written what seems to be a rather elementary textbook designed for a mind in its early adolescence, politically as well as scientifically. For this purpose it is a completely satisfactory book." A. K. Solomon
+ Weekly Book Review p12 Ja 20 '46 850w

ROBESON, ESLANDA CARDOZA (GOODE) (MRS PAUL ROBESON). African journey. 154p il $3.50 Day

916 Africa—Description and travel. Africa—Native races
45-6978

The wife of Paul Robeson, who is an anthropologist and very much interested in the Negro question both in Africa and America, took a trip thru parts of South Africa with her young son in 1936. This is an account of her trip on which she endeavored to learn for herself something of the problem of the "native" in the land of her ancestors. Illustrated with photographs.

Reviewed by Bucklin Moon
Book Week p10 Ag 19 '45 310w

Booklist 42:36 O 1 '45

"Dignity. That word, perhaps, expresses the main impression left by the reading of this book about the Negroes at home in Africa. Mrs. Robeson took a great many photographs, wherever she and Pauli went. Looking at these, one is delighted by the faces of these people, by their beauty, their intelligence. Take, for example, those of the Mukawa of Toro and of his young wife in one of these photographs. Such people count in this world. In the future, they will undoubtedly count more. Mrs Robeson clearly has made her case for the people of Africa, through this method of able reporting." Margaret Williamson
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 22 '45 550w

"This is a much better book than is apparent at first reading. That is to say, it is not all mere travel gab, no mere Cook's tour stuff. Mrs. Robeson has seen America and Europe, she knows something of the ways of the strong with the weak. . . Taken all together, what she has seen and what seems to move her thinking, here is my 'prediction': There is a lot of ground to be covered, but when an American Negro woman can go to Africa on her own money and get her views printed in a pretty decent looking book, brother, the race is rising!" George Streator
+ Commonweal 42:555 S 21 '45 600w

Kirkus 13:235 Je 1 '45 210w
Library J 70:587 Je 15 '45 30w

"She has taken some beautiful and unusual pictures, and though ill part of the time and though her son who accompanied her was ill, she has written a very interesting book—the first, I think, of its kind, and one which should make the white South African wonder sometimes, if he never did before, what those whom he calls his servants think of him. 'African Journey' is biased—biased in the favor of the black man. But almost every other African book, including 'Congo' by John Latouche and Andre Cauvin is biased in the favor of the white." Stuart Cloete
+ N Y Times p5 Ag 12 '45 750w

"Eslanda Robeson's journal appears at exactly the right moment. . . In this warmly personal account she has foreshadowed the mounting crises in formerly remote regions now vital in the post-war world pattern. The informal nature of Mrs. Robeson's style helps lighten what might otherwise be a rather grim business, since the Negro's status in Africa—socially, industrially, and economically—is insecure and unfair even in the most hopeful locales. The majority of the books dealing with this subject are either technical reports or are so impregnated with religious or political slants that they fail to awaken sympathy and interest in the average reader. Mrs. Robeson escapes both categories and achieves a result that is provocative and enlightening." John Latouche
+ Sat R of Lit 28:11 Ag 25 '45 650w

"There is much useful information here and various quotations from authorities who agree with Mrs. Robeson on the status of the colored races and what should be done about it. One of the longest is from the writings of Julian Huxley on the sort of education that the African people should have. There is well-written geography here, as well as descriptions of the living habits, economic, and cultural customs of many tribes."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 S '45 300w

ROBESON, E. C.—Continued

Springf'd Republican p4 Ag 18 '45 650w
Time 46:102 Ag 13 '45 600w

"Unfortunately, Mrs. Robeson has allowed herself to be forced into an attitude of race consciousness the emotional character of which has the effect of reducing the potential value of her very acute observations for bringing about an improvement in the conditions which cry out to be remedied. Nevertheless, her book remains of value to all who are interested in the right of self-determination of peoples, and the condition of African peoples today."
+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 1:50 D '45 240w

"Mrs. Robeson is not a poetic writer. She has the style of the aggressive first person singular journalist, pleased, as she may well be, with the personal welcome given her and the child to whom she shows the past, and the portended future of his race. She is busy driving home facts, derived both from first-hand observation and from authoritative works like the Hailey Report, and the several books of Leonard Barnes, E. D. Morel and others. . . For many her book will be not merely a travel book about Africa—it is an excellent tourist account as well as a treatise on the color line—but the starting point of real study of that continent, with the bibliographical path well mapped. The many photographs taken by the author are an important addition to the record." Ernestine Evans
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ag 12 '45 1200w
Wis Lib Bul 41:126 D '45

ROBEY, JOHN BRETT. The innovator. 292p $2.75 Doubleday [10s 6d Faber]
Jesus Christ—Fiction 45-1829

A story dealing with the last week in the life of Christ. Tho the climax of the tale is the trial and condemnation of Christ, the author deals chiefly not with Christ but with the men who plotted against him.

Reviewed by J. O. Supple
Book Week p8 Mr 4 '45 230w
Booklist 41:197 Mr 1 '45

"Mr. Robey's approach is wholly imaginative. His treatment is wholly contemporary; only two characters are permitted to suspect the truth that Christ is indeed the Son of God, and one of them appears to dismiss the thought even as it comes to him. 'The Innovater' may be described as an experimental historical novel whose success or failure must be judged by each reader for himself."
Boston Globe p6 F 21 '45 270w

"I found it dull—pretentious—and lacking in the moral values which provide the 'message' and the 'uplift' that have made other similar books box office successes. . . The fact that this is a new treatment may appeal to a new audience. But the manner is such that it lacks the emotional appeal of such books as The Robe, The Emperor's Physician, etc."
— Kirkus 12:538 D 1 '44 260w

Reviewed by Emily Garnett
Library J 70:117 F 1 '45 80w

"The characters of the separate members of the council are drawn with a sure mastery and full justice is done to their individual conceptions of the situation; and the whole narrative is permeated with a profound understanding of the universal significance of the issues involved." Wilfrid Gibson
+ Manchester Guardian p3 O 6 '44 120w

"This gospel according to John Brett Robey retains interest despite major flaws. The characters—described rather than created—never achieve the stature required to sustain a novel. The repeated analyses of their motives become tedious. And the climactic trial scene very nearly falls flat." Richard Match
+ — N Y Times p6 F 11 '45 500w

"A rather skillfully done story of Jerusalem in the five days that preceded the Crucifixion. . . A book for the politically minded rather than the pious or dogmatic."
New Yorker 20:83 F 10 '45 70w

"This story of Jerusalem at the time of the Crucifixion was written while Mr. Robey was a prisoner of the Japanese in Hankow. Its detailed scholarship, its elaborate assortment of types and characters, its studious psychology would be remarkable had the author written it with the resources of the Bodleian or the British Museum or the New York Public Library; to have written it in the conditions of an internment camp is an amazing example of pertinacity, memory, and the skilful use of the old notes which Mr. Robey had with him. It would, then, be a pleasure to say that 'The Innovator' is a first-rate or very readable book; but truth prevents that. The novelist's learning is too much in evidence, and too lavishly displayed." R. E. Roberts
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:26 Ap 28 '45 550w

Reviewed by John Hampson
Spec 173:368 O 20 '44 260w

"These portraits of Annas, Caiaphas, Matthan and Porphirios—and minor figures in Mr. Robey's elaborate and subtly woven tapestry of sophistry and mob appeal—are lifelike and convincing. The pace of the narrative is occasionally slow, but the sense of an inexorable conclusion is never absent."
+ Weekly Book Review p6 F 18 '45 380w
Wis Lib Bul 41:48 Ap '45

ROBINSON, pseud. See McKee, R.

ROBINSON, HENRY MORTON. The perfect round. 280p $2.50 Harcourt
45-9226

A fantasy of the struggle between good and evil in modern life. The hero is a returned soldier, just freed from hospitalization, after a long struggle with battle fatigue. In a remote section of the Hudson river country O'Reilly attempts to reestablish a broken-down merry-go-round. Evil enters his little paradise, but O'Reilly struggles manfully against it, and finally marries his Olivia, and regains his faith in the Catholic church.

"The book would be magnificent despite its escapist direction and rather unlikely dialogue (the four-letter Anglo-Saxon words notwithstanding), if the plot had not taken trite turns now and then." Olive Carruthers
+ — Book Week p11 S 30 '45 90w
Booklist 42:129 D 15 '45

"This is no book for the squeamish. In the background is the foulness of Catswyck County symbolizing, all evil, but especially the moral evil in our post-war world. . . In solving O'Reilly's problems Mr. Robinson has written the Catholic novel for which literate Catholics have long been praying. It is the glory of the book that it is also a catholic novel. It is, moreover, a perfect round of accomplishment. In spite of its weight of substance, it is expert entertainment. The strands of interest are braided together with the hand of the seasoned craftsman. There are no loose ends. The characters live, breathe and are good to know. The style is a feast of precision, freshness, and urbanity. Here are no broken arcs. The circle spins with singing power." Sister Mariella
+ Commonweal 42:603 O 5 '45 300w

"Whether ephemeral or earthy, I found it all rather dull."
— Kirkus 13:404 S 15 '45 150w

"The author distributes literary allusions freely in his descriptions of Catskill folk ways. While this gives a certain piquancy to the style, a sense of unreality sometimes intrudes. This feeling is increased by such curious episodes as a bout between the hero and a large man-eating dog, and by some of the author's weird and bloodthirsty characters, exhibited as typical residents of the Hudson River valley. A straightforward presentation of O'Reilly and his problem without all the fantastic adventures would have produced a more convincing book." F. W. L.
N Y Times p37 N 4 '45 200w

"A love story made into a little parable so explicit that even the dullest must get the idea that goodness will prevail in the end. . . Mr. Robinson starts off gaily enough and his dialogue is often extremely entertaining, but the story gets so bogged down in sentimentality, whimsy, and just plain foolishness that it comes to no good end. Evidently there is something about a merry-go-round that brings out the worst in a writer."

— + New Yorker 21:85 S 29 '45 130w

"While one may have many lofty theories of the novel, there are two very sound theories that will forever be true: the story ought to be entrancing and the style ought to be literate. Mr. Robinson has both. I liked 'The Perfect Round' in spite of some patent absurdities. I think most readers will also like it." H. M. Jones

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:27 O 13 '45 800w

Reviewed by R. E. Morgan

Springf'd Republican p4d N 25 '45 420w

"No account of 'The Perfect Round' would be complete without a word about its style. Where Wilder, Nathan and Prokosch, in the fantasies to which Mr. Robinson's book is somewhat comparable, achieve a distilled limpidity of language, the author of 'The Perfect Round' rushes gurgling and chattering along his uneven course, carrying a debris of needless verbiage, strained repartee and far-fetched similes. But the tale holds its charm and of the many adventures of Mr. Robinson's modern Galahad, there is one which achieves an undiluted dramatic effect, though a more unlikely scene could scarcely be conceived. It is a battle, staged for the local yokels, in which O'Reilly has been forced to fight a wolf dog." Virgilia Sapieha

Weekly Book Review p4 O 7 '45 800w

Wis Lib Bul 41:113 N '45

ROBINSON, JESSIE. Things to make from odds and ends; il. by [the author]. 88p $2 Appleton-Century

680 Handicraft 45-6367

The "odds and ends" include waste paper, scraps of material, pine cones, seeds, and other treasures from nature's grab-bag; the "things to make" range from papier maché animals to potholders and guest towels. Simple instructions are illustrated with line drawings.

"Directions are easy to follow and there are plenty of diagrams and illustrations. This would be fun to use at any gift-giving occasion when youngsters want to make their own presents. Recipes are included for making papier-mache and homemade finger paints." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 S 9 '45 140w

Booklist 42:23 S '45

"This how-to-do book can be used by parents—or teachers—with small children, and by third and fourth graders themselves. Excellent selection of articles."

+ Kirkus 13:160 Ap 1 '45 150w

"Teachers and scout leaders will find this a most useful aid. Boys and girls will be delighted with the many things they can make for themselves." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 70:753 S 1 '45 50w

"Many happy hours are spent by children 'making things,' and this little volume, which contains nearly 100 suggestions of things to make for which the materials are easily obtainable, will serve as an excellent first aid to keep boys and girls entertained on a rainy day." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p28 Ag 12 '45 130w

ROCHESTER, ANNA. Capitalism and progress. 111p $1.25; pa 40c Int. pubs.

330.15 Capitalism. Progress. U.S.—Economic conditions 45-5678

"This book shows how, in developing from earlier relationships, capitalism has marked new progress for the human race and why it has at the same time included serious maladjustments and poverty and crises. Here is also a discussion of further possible development within the capitalist framework. Americans want steady jobs and a high standard of living. Can these be achieved for all and maintained year in and year out under capitalism as it is today?" (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by L. L. Pelletier

Am Pol Sci R 39:1053 O '45 250w

"Needless to say, nowhere does one find in the volume any attempt to document its statements from the record of economic history or statistics. While numerous volumes of evidence have been produced by the National Bureau of Economic Research and other organizations indicating the relative course of wages, prices, productive capacity, capital employed, and the like, nowhere does Miss Rochester make a single reference to such or any other notable statistical studies. Nearly half the volume is given to a highly meager sketch of the economic history of exploitation from feudalism to the present. . . Perhaps unsophisticated repetition of portions of Das Kapital is all that one needs for economic salvation. On the other hand, there is considerable reference to such hackneyed topics as the fortunes of John Jacob Astor, Andrew Mellon, and the House of Morgan." T. J. Kreps

— Ann Am Acad 241:186 S '45 600w

"If you can believe all, . . . that is contained in this little book, your background is very different from the reviewer's. It is not true that all exchange values are created by the workers, nor that almost all wars are imperialist wars, nor that the Soviet democracy is the kind of a democracy the United States should adopt. Our system has its weaknesses, and they are neither small nor few, as Anna Rochester shows, but its strengths are larger and more numerous than she would have you believe." P. L. Gamble

— Springf'd Republican p6 Je 20 '45 360w

RODALE, JEROME IRVING. Pay dirt; farming and gardening with composts; introd. by Sir Albert Howard. 242p $3 Devin-Adair

631.87 Compost Agr45-366

"Details and techniques of making and using composts, a mixture of animal and vegetable waste to restore fertility to the soil and for protection against erosion. Author, a leading soil biologist, contends that artificial fertilizers have been detrimental to soil and crops and have caused agricultural problems." Library J

Booklist 42:124 D 15 '45

Kirkus 13:466 O 15 '45 90w

Library J 70:1091 N 15 '45 50w

"Rodale hauls up short of claiming that properly composted plants are free of insect and disease attack. He simply says that healthy plants, so grown, are less likely to be stricken. . . To others who mean to go, as Rodale went, back to the land, Rodale says cheerfully, in effect, that the less you know, the better off you are. In the view of this author, at least, most of the established teaching and practice in American agriculture has been disastrously wrong. There is a great deal of truth in that. But do not allow Mr. Rodale or anyone to persuade you that proper farming is really very simple. It may be on paper. It never is on the land." Russell Lord

N Y Times p5 D 16 '45 1250w

Reviewed by Russell Lord

Sat R of Lit 28:28 N 24 '45 550w

"Mr. Rodale's stimulating book makes sense —impressively valuable sense, in the main. In some of its implications, especially with respect to the insect-resistant qualities of compost-grown plants, it may be a bit extreme on the basis of existing evidence, but that is no detriment to the story as a whole. The main point, after all, is that here is an open door to far more successful gardening for all who care to enter and, in their individual little spheres, make direct contributions to their own welfare and to the restoration of our most essential natural resource." R. S. Lemmon

+ — Weekly Book Review p22 N 25 '45 360w

Wis Lib Bul 41:125 D '45

RODEN, HENRY WISDOM. One angel less. 216p $2 Morrow
45-3350

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p10 Je 3 '45 90w

"Much better than good."
+ Boston Globe p17 My 9 '45 60w
Kirkus 13:97 Mr 1 '45 70w
N Y Times p16 My 6 '45 160w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 22 '45 210w

"If this third Roden whodunit hardly matches the pace of its two predecessors, it is still a treat for addicts who want them earthy, ribald, toughish and all like that." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p14 Ap 22 '45 80w

ROGERS, FRANCES, and BEARD, ALICE. Birthday of a nation—July 4, 1776; with drawings by Frances Rogers. (Stokes bk) 229p $2 Lippincott

973.3 Declaration of independence—Juvenile literature. U.S.—History—Revolution—Juvenile literature 45-2768

Dramatic account of the Continental congress of 1774, and the events leading up to the Declaration of Independence. For grades seven and eight.

Booklist 41:257 My 1 '45
Bookmark 6:16 Ag '45

"History of the time highlighted; a valuable book for supplementary reading in Junior High, and for public and home libraries."
+ Kirkus 13:136 Mr 15 '45 130w

"Good background material. Attractive format. Recommended." R. O. Bostwick
+ Library J 70:416 My 1 '45 70w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 22 '45 60w

"What makes the book useful and keeps it vigorous is that the conflict it so clearly reveals is less between foreign government and native population than between the two elements in this population—conservatives and radicals. This makes every step of the way a seesaw of eager debate, and the course of the story a series of successive efforts at compromise and realizations that compromise is becoming impossible. . . One historic character comes in after another; one skirmish after another brings the climax closer. The effect is to give a young reader with any imagination an impression of having been there at the time." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 15 '45 310w

ROGERS, JOEL TOWNSLEY. Red right hand. 219p $2 Simon & Schuster
45-4234

Detective story.

"This is one of the most unusual books you will encounter this year. It is the highly emotional and subjective account (told in the first person) of one man's reaction to being in the center, to being in the pivotal position, in a hunt for a maniacal killer." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p10 Je 3 '45 130w
Kirkus 13:116 Mr 15 '45 80w

"It is a strange and terrifying story and the solution of the mystery, while perfectly logical, is not at all what one is led to suspect." A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p19 My 13 '45 130w

"The makings of an excellent story are here, all right, but the reader's hackles would rise a good deal higher if both plot and style were simplified."
New Yorker 21:92 My 12 '45 90w

"Good job."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:28 Je 2 '45 40w

"We personally know scads of people who will be gripped by this item, no fooling. It's woozy, but different." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p12 My 13 '45 140w

ROGERS, PATRICK. Father Theobald Mathew, apostle of temperance; with an introd. by David Mathew and a foreword by Father James. 166p il $2.50 Longmans [10s 6d Browne & Nolan]

B or 92 Mathew, Theobald 45-1464

Biography of a Roman Catholic priest, who was born in Dublin in 1790 and died in 1856. Father Mathew's chief claim to fame was his work for the Irish poor, and his instigation of the total abstinence league, to which he is said to have drawn some seven million persons. Index.

"Dr. Rogers has painted a figure of heroic moral stature against an accurate background of historic fact. There are few readers who will find no inspiration in the story of this unpretentious, zealous, unselfish priest who brought blessings to countless multitudes."
+ Cath World 161:188 My '45 180w
Kirkus 13:59 F 1 '45 190w

"This biography is brief yet definitive—a most readable book about an appealing personality. Valuable as a treatise on temperance." M. H. Zipprich
+ Library J 70:117 F 1 '45 40w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 29 '45 700w

ROGERS, SAMUEL. You'll be sorry! 224p $2 Harper
45-7302

Detective story.

Kirkus 13:146 Ap 1 '45 110w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p28 Ag 19 '45 130w
Sat R of Lit 28:38 S 22 '45 40w
Springf'd Republican p4d S 2 '45 240w

"Sounds juvenile in spots but gets there just the same." Will Cuppy
+ — Weekly Book Review p17 Ag 19 '45 130w
Wis Lib Bul 41:127 D '45

ROGOW, WILL (JEFFREY VICTOR, pseud). Train book [pictures by John English]. $1 Madison Square pub. co, 2 E. 23d st, N.Y. 10

"Its covers shaped like a train engine, its pages filled with pictures of all kinds of railroad cars, this book is . . . for those who have caught the train fever, which seems to infect American boys at a very early age. There are brief paragraphs, easy to read aloud and easy to understand, describing the uses of the different kinds of cars, the jobs of the people who work on trains and on the railroad, and even pictorial directions on how to take a train trip." N Y Times

Reviewed by Naoma Zimmerman
Book Week p21 N 11 '45 90w
Kirkus 13:434 O 1 '45 50w

"The pictures are bright in color, drawn with crisp lines and a general air of gaiety to gladden the hearts of the very young." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p35 S 30 '45 100w

"On each page is something about a subject that to most small boys and many small girls is the most fascinating in the world—railroads. . . It is hard for an adult not to spend some of his working time setting it up on his desk, and quite impossible for a small child to keep off the floor with it, as it pushes as well as it stands up. The way to settle this is for an adult to bring it home to a small child." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 O 14 '45 130w

ROJAS, RICARDO. San Martín, knight of the Andes; tr. by Herschel Brickell and Carlos Videla; introd. and notes by Herschel Brickell. 370p $3.50 Doubleday

B or 92 San Martín, José de 45-3952

"A life of Don José de San Martín, the great South American liberator and emancipator who worked in loose collaboration with Simon Bolívar to free the countries of Latin America from the Spanish stranglehold. The book, ably translated and annotated by Herschel Brickell and Carlos Videla, was first published in Buenos Aires in 1933." (New Yorker) Index.

"The author is to be congratulated on having shunned the technique of fiction, as meretricious when employed in biography as superimposed coloring is in an etching, but his book would have been far more vivid had it been less crowded with irrelevant detail. While somewhat lacking in objectivity, it contains much valuable material and is obviously the work of a scholar. It can be recommended to all who are interested in the history of South America and the great men it has produced." Ralph Korngold

+ — Book Week p4 My 6 '45 750w

Booklist 41:285 Je 1 '45

"A brilliant blend of history and poetry." J. F. Thorning

+ Cath World 162:182 N '45 300w

Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 14 '45 850w

"This is a standard short biography by an Argentine of José de San Martín, liberator and founder of Argentina, Chile and Peru. A life of San Martín by an Argentine is like a life of Washington by a North American: it is apt to be worshipful and uncritical. So with this one, published in Argentina in 1933, and now translated literally, into awkward English. Its unfortunate, verbose style, plus what for me is an excess of anecdote and detail gleaned from every source, make the book tedious reading. Nevertheless, it is worthwhile for anyone interested in that place and time, or in what made the American revolutionaries tick, from Argentina to the United States." George Doherty

— + Commonweal 42:221 Je 15 '45 650w

Kirkus 13:54 F 1 '45 150w

"Worthy candidate for the 'Saludos Amigos' stack." E. F. Walbridge

+ Library J 70:218 Mr 1 '45 110w

"Turgid and uneven book. . . The translators, Herschel Brickell and Carlos Videla, are to be congratulated on their skill in quieting purple passages and rendering tortuous prose into readable English." Mildred Adams

Nation 160:576 My 19 '45 550w

Reviewed by N. B. Baker

N Y Times p4 Ag 26 '45 900w

"Dr. Rojas, a prominent literary man in the Argentine, treats San Martín—an extraordinary figure about whom historians have quarrelled for a century—with ecstatic awe and comes into court a very special pleader. He tells the full story as he sees it, heightening (if that's the word) his narrative with an interpretative mysticism that may be a little rich for the northern palate. When you get down to the man himself, however, you find a practical if idealistic military genius, an ascetic who hated war, a man of superior intellectual gifts—a man, in brief, whom you can understand and admire without the mantle of his myth."

New Yorker 21:90 Ap 21 '45 160w

"In Mr. Rojas's turgid prose he emerges as a 'lay saint,' 'purified like the noblest metals,' 'bathed by the light of a sublime virtue,' 'paladin,' and 'agent of destiny.' One could only wish that somewhere among the superlatives, the defenses, and the praise that showers with monotonous regularity something more of the things that make a man real and understandable had been found by the biographer. Those who believe that humanity is—after all—human can only suspect a work that makes a soldier and a genius into a shadowy saint." Robert Okin

Sat R of Lit 28:28 Ap 28 '45 850w

"On every count, theme, intention and execution, it is an important book, to be classed with such works as Domingo Sarimento's 'Facundo' and Euclides da Cunha's 'Rebellion in the Backlands' as self-revelations of the drama of the Latin-American spirit. Like them, it is charged with the excitement that comes when the spirit challenges force and the pen the sword." B. D. Wolfe

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ap 22 '45 1350w

ROMAINS, JULES, pseud. (LOUIS FARIGOULE). Wind is rising; tr. from the French by Gerard Hopkins. (Men of good will, v12) 559p $3 Knopf

"This combines two volumes—Part I—The Gathering of the Gangs—Part II—Offered in Evidence. The period portrayed is France about 1928—with our old friends Jallez and Jerphanion coming into both parts, and—retrospectively—analyzing and surveying their sense of disappointment and disillusion in their roles as arbiters of fate during the growing sickness of Paris. New emphasis on the stories of Francoise Maieul and her friend Margot, students at the Sorbonne, who give insight further into bourgeois Paris, of Jeanne Coislon and Nodiard and Douvrin. The second part is more introspective, philosophical and has less action than the first—but leads one on to a modicum of curiosity, as Quinette, dying, demands a confessor for the story of his great crime." Kirkus

---

"This almost superhuman detachment, buttressed by amazing industry and an unflagging sense of direction, has enabled [Jules Romains] to continue his work undisturbed through the recent years of upheaval and exile. Enkindled by creative genius, it would have made 'Men of Good Will' the greatest epic in modern literature. Lacking that spark, it seems to me of considerable documentary interest, but artistically null, and also, alas! very nearly the world's greatest bore." Arthur Meeker

— + Book Week p17 O 28 '45 600w

Booklist 42:95 N 15 '45

Reviewed by Virgilia Sapieha

Commonweal 43:206 D 7 '45 420w

Kirkus 13:346 Ag 15 '45 130w

Reviewed by Andre Maurois

N Y Times p6 O 21 '45 800w

"While it is not quite up to some of its predecessors in the cavalcade, it is certainly something that you won't want to miss if you are, as you should be, among the author's persevering followers."

+ — New Yorker 21:110 O 20 '45 50w

"It is increasingly evident that M. Romains can go on like this as long as his health and the paper supply hold out. He is a competent craftsman and his books are always readable. Often they reflect admirably the treacherous currents of European life—but so do the files of any major newspaper." T. M. Purdy

Sat R of Lit 28:9 O 27 '45 600w

Time 46:106 O 22 '45 750w

"The hints of incest, nymphomania, and indiscriminate pawing with which the chapters on Nodiard are larded, not to speak of the other chapters in which a young girl and her would-be modern mother carry on a semi-indecent, wholly improbable conversation, and Jallez, for whose trained mind we have learned so much respect in past volumes, day-dreams about the female body, together present a picture of sex much more coarsened and much less perceptive than anything in the series thus far. Here and there in 'The Wind Is Rising,' M. Romains plucks a vibrant string. . . But these echoing notes are too scarce. An enterprise like 'Men of Good Will,' demanding, as it does, almost as much patience and faith from the reader as from the author himself, must, in the last analysis, justify these demands. A work of fiction on such a scale cannot be merely an obituary: it must be a cenotaph of the times." Virgilia Sapieha

— + Weekly Book Review p6 O 21 '45 1100w

ROMMEL, ERWIN. Infantry attacks; tr. from the German by G. E. Kiddé. 265p il $3 Infantry journal

356.18 Infantry drill and tactics. European war, 1914-1918—Personal narratives, German 44-9514

This book describes a number of World war I battles which the author experienced as an Infantry officer. "This book is a translation of Rommel's Infanterie Greift an, which was published in Germany in 1937. It is written in a style familiar to readers of Infantry in Battle, with the difference that it is a continuous narrative rather than a compilation of separate sections. . . The main theme em-

ROMMEL, ERWIN—Continued
phasizes the importance of the basic principles of training, of security, of prior planning, and of the vital need for initiative and hard work on the part of all junior commanders." (Foreword by the Translator)

"The book's value to Allied military leaders and men must be considerable. Many a non-military reader should find it not only instructive but of more than average interest." W. F. Morse
Book Week p9 S 24 '44 160w
Foreign Affairs 23:331 Ja '45 20w

ROMULO, CARLOS PENA. My brother Americans. 212p $2.50 Doubleday
917.3 U.S.—Description and travel. World war, 1939—U.S. 45-5977

An account, personal, anecdotal, at times humorous, of the author's lecture tour around the United States, undertaken at the request of MacArthur and Quezon to awaken Americans to the reality of the war in the Pacific.

Reviewed by Claire Danziger
Book Week p8 Jl 1 '45 400w
Booklist 41:338 Jl 15 '45
Reviewed by Randall Gould
Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 30 '45 550w
Reviewed by W. F. Sands
Commonweal 42:339 Jl 20 '45 600w

"Frankly, this seems to be a scissors and paste job, done to fill a gap before he can write a 'Return to the Philippines'—and riding to reasonable popularity on Romulo's personal eclat. . . An unimportant book which keeps a popular Filipino before the public eye."
— Kirkus 13:175 Ap 15 '45 170w
"Recommended." A. R. Eaton
+ Library J 70:634 Jl '45 120w
Reviewed by F. S. Adams
N Y Times p4 Je 24 '45 900w

"It's hard to believe that we're as grand as the General seems to believe, but since he feels as he does and is so extravagant in his praise, it's just as hard to keep from thinking that he is pretty grand, too."
New Yorker 21:59 Je 30 '45 90w
Reviewed by H. N. Oliphant
Sat R of Lit 28:13 Jl 7 '45 1100w

"This volume has neither the force of General Romulo's 'I Saw the Fall of the Philippines' nor the profundity of his 'Mother America.' But it does tell something of America as she appeared to a sensitive and perceptive friend in one of the most critical periods of her history." H. W. Baehr
+ Weekly Book Review p12 Je 24 '45 500w
Wis Lib Bul 41:83 Jl '45

RONDILEAU, ADRIAN. Education for installment buying. 70p $1.85 Teachers college
658.883 Instalment plan. Consumer education A45-727

"This study was undertaken to develop principles and techniques of education for installment buying which would be based primarily on a thorough, objective analysis of consumers' installment buying knowledge and practices. Installment selling is a controversial subject. . . This study does not participate in this controversy; it is not partisan. It is not concerned with arguing the case for or against installment selling, either from the broad theoretical viewpoint of installment selling's function as a credit process in a profit economy or from the standpoint of the general advisability for the individual of buying on time. Such questions will be decided by individuals and society on the basis of experience over many years, with various degrees of central control, and through all kinds of national vicissitudes." (p. 1) Bibliography. No index.

"The summary of results reveals nothing which anyone who has taught high school or college students or adults does not already know. . . Likewise the sketchy recommendations for educational procedures neither set forth anything new nor raise any new problems. . . This study, therefore, is a great disappointment in that it contributes nothing to either of these needs." J. V. Coles
— J Home Econ 37:235 Ap '45 250w
Library J 70:638 Jl '45 70w
School & Society 60:384 D 9 '44 10w

RONY, GEORGE. This, too, shall pass away. 274p $2.75 Creative age
B or 92 45-4678

This autobiography begins with an account of the massacre on Black Sunday in St Petersburg in 1905, the day the author was born. After a youth spent in Revolutionary Russia the author went to Berlin in 1928, escaped from Germany and fled to Paris in 1936, and escaped again from Paris in 1940, eventually reaching America.

"George Rony writes exceedingly well and his life has been quite adventurous."
+ Commonweal 42:78 My 4 '45 70w
Kirkus 13:177 Ap 15 '45 110w

"Doubtless George Rony is a truthful man, besides being an internationally eminent cinema producer and director. But he couldn't have chosen a less convincing way of showing it than writing his autobiography. It is a book rigorously devoid of false modesty, full of blithe international improbabilities (and Rony amours) that make for interesting, if not always credible, reading. . . Mr. Rony is a man who works his fairy godmother overtime." Richard Match
— N Y Times p13 Je 3 '45 270w

"The book is a tour de force. However, covering as it does the chaos of 1918-1940, 'This, Too, Shall Pass Away' offers a kaleidoscopic survey of the stew that has been Europe, and in truth or fiction Rony's account is a graphic recital of national and individual deterioration. If he writes on a hysterical tabloid level, let it pass. Possibly no other style is quite as suitable to reveal the inside of Europe." L. S. Munn
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d My 6 '45 550w

"The fact that Mr. Rony's profession was film-making had sometimes furnished him with ringside seats at the events described and occasionally allowed him the opportunity of securing pictures of the famous or infamous. Despite this, the most appealing parts of the book concern the smaller and more personal details of the author's own career. He writes better about the street accident which consigned him to a German hospital, about the dog which accompanied him on his flight from France, about the endless search for food in Leningrad in the days of his youth, than he does about the larger canvas of contemporary history." Iris Barry
Weekly Book Review p23 My 6 '45 270w

ROOS, KELLEY, pseud. of AUDREY KELLEY and WILLIAM ROOS. There was a crooked man. 180p $2 Dodd
45-3500

Detective story.

"Satisfactory and enjoyable."
+ Boston Globe p13 My 23 '45 70w

"Since there are more suspicious characters than one could shake a stick at, this is an uncommonly baffling crime puzzle. And even the worst of these characters are amusing—until one begins to discover how evil they are." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p17 Ap 29 '45 130w
"O. K."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:32 Ap 21 '45 40w

"Killer is well concealed, even if Jeff's explanation isn't so awfully convincing. Haila, the team's narrator, appears to operate rather at random, with plentiful use of light dialogue for not too serious customers." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 29 '45 90w

ROOT, WAVERLY LEWIS. Secret history of the war. 2v 645;632p $10 Scribner

940.532 World war, 1939—Diplomatic history 45-634

"Not military history or espionage, but a narrative of purportedly unknown or little-known political motives and actions and diplomatic transactions and personalities behind the developments of the war from September 1939 through December 1942. Somewhat in the nature of an exposé although some of the material has been revealed in other books and magazines; valuable because it ties together and elucidates in one readable narrative some of the complexities of the international situation. The author is a journalist with many years' experience in Europe." Booklist

"It is unfortunate that Mr. Root allowed himself to indulge in this overpretentious title. Quite apart from being unjustified, it is also unnecessary in a work with so much in its favor. The book contains comparatively few real secrets, and many of those are of dubious authenticity. The stress which the title lays on this aspect serves to emphasize the faults rather than the true merits of the work, which is a useful if somewhat heterogeneous collection of material that is not readily available elsewhere to the general reader." Edgar McInnis

+ — Am Hist R 51:100 O '45 950w

Reviewed by John Cournos

Book Week p1 Ja 14 '45 1350w

Booklist 41:183 F 15 '45

"Despite the numerous and often grave objections that must be raised against the author's treatment of contemporary history, he must, in all fairness, be credited with having done a workmanlike job in gathering little-known facts and presenting them in a manner that is sure to hold attention." E. S. P.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 19 '45 400w

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja '45

"Mr. Root's title is a trifle sensational, since it would seem that he has done little more than collect the journalistic gossip of our day. Almost nowhere does he give a source for his information. Yet what he has done possesses a certain utility, since it knits together strands we are likely to have forgotten in the turmoil of recent news. He thus presents us with an overall picture which may be inaccurate but at least is a picture."

Commonweal 41:453 F 16 '45 110w

"An exciting and absorbing book—released with little warning or fanfare—and packing a wallop. . . It's a book to skim—and then to return to for closer, and continually revealing reading and study. Don't overlook it."

+ Kirkus 13:32 Ja 15 '45 150w

Reviewed by Ralph Bates

Nation 160:161 F 10 '45 360w

New Repub 112:565 Ap 23 '45 390w

"Waverley Root's 'Secret History of the War' might have an impact on America comparable to that of Zola's 'J'accuse' on France. But 'J'accuse' was one page long, and 'The Secret History,' compressed into two huge wartime volumes, contains enough words to fill four ordinary volumes and sufficient material for half a dozen separate books and articles; and one can only hope that it will prove to be an exception to the rule that there is no safer place for explosive political material than the pages of a very long book." E. W. Fox

N Y Times p6 Ja 14 '45 1650w

"What Mr. Root has done—and done very well—is to write a sort of 'Only Yesterday' of the war. His book, on this plane, is both valuable and interesting."

+ New Yorker 20:66 Ja 20 '45 270w

Reviewed by E. G. Sisson

Sat R of Lit 28:9 Ja 27 '45 1400w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 28 '45 1350w

"In general, the book is a journalistic account of recent political and diplomatic history. It is well indexed, and contains many valuable clues to events of the war down to the invasion of North Africa."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:30 Je '45 160w

"The existence of insatiably curious men, uncowed critics such as Waverley Root, must be a pain to Foreign Ministers and Secretaries of State. But their existence is likewise a healthy symptom of democracy. One may not wholly share Mr. Root's buoyant confidence in his sources of information; one may wish that a stern editor had cut down his volumes to half their size. Nevertheless, his interpretation of international goings-on through 1942 is sufficiently revealing and thought-provoking so that we can hope he goes ahead with his projected secret histories of 1943 and 1944." Marcus Duffield

+ — Weekly Book Review p3 F 4 '45 1500w

Wis Lib Bul 41:46 Ap '45

ROPER, WALTER FREDERIC. Pistol and revolver shooting. 256p il $2.49 Macmillan

799.31 Pistols. Revolvers. Shooting 45-6539

"Author, an inventor and marksman of note, has written a practical book with latest information on pistols and revolvers. History of small arms, especially 1920-1940. Chapters on cleaning handguns, accessories, handgun stocks, learning to shoot, rules, customs and methods of scoring and ballistic data of ammunition. 97 photographs." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 42:34 O 1 '45

Kirkus 13:234 Je 1 '45 140w

Library J 70:687 Ag '45 60w

RORICK, MRS ISABEL (SCOTT). Outside Eden; drawings by Constantin Alajalov. 157p $2 Houghton

45-10119

Further chronicles of the delightful Mr and Mrs Cugat and their gay friends. The Cugats are a little older but their adventures in wartime are tinged with the same Cugat flavor. The book closes with twins for George and Liz.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 D 16 '45 360w

Booklist 42:129 D 15 '45

"Mr and Mrs. Cugat, whose experiences you may have followed in various magazines or in the first volume about this happily married couple, go merrily on and on. And the surprising thing about this new book of their adventures is that it continues to be so amusing. I suspect that Mrs. Rorick, who writes with a bright humor, is herself happy in her marriage and bases on actual events many of the incidents that keep the Cugats' days lively. Her writing is decidedly feminine, at times downright cute, but never objectionably so; and frequently Mrs. Rorick wins a series of chuckles with her pert observations." P. T. Hartung

+ Commonweal 43:362 Ja 18 '46 330w

"When for some time one has been yearning audibly for 'another Mr. and Mrs. Cugat', it is too often disillusioning to have the wish granted. But this time Isabel Rorick has done it again! She has given us flurries to fiascos bordering on domestic dissolution which are very gay and just as beguiling as the first episodes in the conjugal career of the couple."

+ Kirkus 13:440 O 1 '45 180w

Reviewed by Beatrice Sherman

N Y Times p24 D 9 '45 400w

"The people are slightly older now, and proportionately less active, but still superior to most of their comic counterparts in detective stories. Since twins arrive in the final chapter, this is probably the last time the Cugats will be this unfettered."

+ New Yorker 21:106 N 24 '45 80w

"There is something so foolish, fantastic, and cheerful about Mr. and Mrs. Cugat that it is difficult to criticize their creation on any sternly rational grounds." M. S. Douglas

+ Sat R of Lit 29:23 Ja 19 '46 230w

"Happily for the reading public and thanks to Mrs. Rorick, the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Cugat is still in the groove. . . Of course, the

RORICK, ISABEL—Continued
Cugats and their circle are intrinsically—and delightfully—make-believe. Imagine having friends who own a pure white station wagon, driven by a colored chauffeur in a beret!" Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p8 D 9 '45 300w

ROSAIRE, FORREST. East of midnight. 372p $2.50 Knopf
45-1696

Psychological novel which tells the story of two artistic young people, who fall in love, are married, and eventually destroy each other. The seed of their destruction lies in their childhood, glimpses of which are introduced into the story.

"Despite overintensifications and overelaborations, and despite a rather tiresome tendency to conceive most conversations between lovers as taking place solely in terms of endearment, Rosaire's novel is worthy of some considerable regard. It is filled with structural flaws, due, it would seem, to the author's penchant for essaying the difficult. . . It lacks pace, since the author shuns an inference where an exhaustive explanation can be made. But Rosaire has compassion for human beings and a very real recognition of the forces that shape their personalities." R. J. Bender
+ — Book Week p6 Je 10 '45 450w

"Not pleasant reading."
— Kirkus 13:95 Mr 1 '45 170w

"Exceptionally fine first novel, well planned and well developed. . . Written frankly, book treats the beauty and the ugliness of their tense existences with equal care and skill, both sides being completely necessary for the whole structure." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 70:415 My 1 '45 80w

Reviewed by Gertrude Buckman
N Y Times p16 Je 10 '45 270w

"Mr. Rosaire writes with considerable perceptiveness and his record of the warped and twisted childhood that induces the heroine's homicidal mania would probably stand up under the scrutiny of a psychiatrist. A certain softness which pervades the author's style does not too seriously impair the effectiveness of the book."
+ New Yorker 21:78 My 26 '45 80w

Reviewed by V. H. Fuller
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 3 '45 360w

"Disillusion in love is no new theme in fiction, but Forrest Rosaire in his psychological novel, 'East of Midnight,' brings to it a fresh approach. . . Mr. Rosaire has a highly sensitive hand in portraying the disturbing and confusing world of adolescence. The boy emerges in an awakening which is completely romantic; the girl, product of an environment of emotional insecurity, has no standards other than those of self-protection and escape. . . Mr. Rosaire handles his difficult material with a great deal of ease. He is inclined to be sentimental and to indulge a bit in extravagant writing, but these faults do not mar the real work of his novel." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p2 My 20 '45 550w

ROSENBERG, BERYL DAVID. Special delivery; the expectant mother's handbook; il. by Gladys McHugh. 96p $2 Ziff-Davis
618.4 Birth. Obstetrics SG44-273

"This book begins where most books for expectant mothers end. It discusses the mechanics of labor, obstetrical analgesics, what happens during the puerperium and lactation and includes a delightful chapter on hospital routine. In the chapters dealing with the mechanics of labor the author has not been able entirely to avoid the use of a good many technical terms, such as 'position' and 'presentation,' but the excellent drawings will serve to clarify the meaning for the better educated mother." Am J Pub Health

Reviewed by J. M. Bierman
Am J Pub Health 35:165 F '45 130w

"The author of 'Special Delivery' has set out to show that childbirth is a mechanical procedure which does not deserve the fear and dread with which many expectant mothers approach it. In this task he has succeeded admirably." J. P. Greenhill
+ Book Week p6 O 1 '44 320w

ROSENMAN, MRS DOROTHY (REUBEN). Million homes a year. 333p $3.50 Harcourt
331.833 Housing 45-4120

Documented analysis of the problems relating to housing. "Mrs. Rosenman probes the complex that is 'the housing problem' from many angles but singles out three paramount questions for special treatment—redevelopment of slum areas, government assistance for the lowest-income families, and the expediency of home ownership. She speaks with authority and out of varied experience in the field culminating in the chairmanship, since 1941, of the National Committee on Housing, Inc." (N Y Times) Bibliography. Index.

"It is amazing how much ground Mrs. Rosenman has covered in three hundred pages. Her chapters are pithy, and her tone is lively. . . This book should serve a most useful purpose." C. S. Ascher
+ Ann Am Acad 240:183 Jl '45 400w

Reviewed by Robert Lasch
Book Week p9 My 20 '45 230w

Booklist 41:264 My 15 '45

"Dorothy Rosenman, by reason of her background and her present position as Chairman of the National Committee on Housing Inc., is well qualified to write a valuable, up-to-the-minute book on the subject, and she has done just that." Margaret Macleod
+ Canadian Forum 25:98 Jl '45 420w

"This is solid, mandatory reading for present-day home-owners, who mistakenly fear that postwar building will outmode their existing investments overnight; and for would-be home-owners who think to rush blindly into postwar markets with little thought for the responsibilities of home ownership." W. C. H.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 30 '45 650w

"A judicious, informed and substantiated presentation of the problem in its various aspects."
+ Kirkus 13:178 Ap 15 '45 80w

"There are many stimulating and informative passages in the book, particularly its defense of the public housing program, but it leaves unanswered the big current question, which even the government has dodged: 'Where do we go from here?' " Charles Abrams
+ — Nation 160:724 Je 30 '45 500w

"The layman need not be alarmed. Technicalities are deftly handled; the book is written in a simple and straightforward yet colorful style, easily comprehensible to the uninitiated; the whole problem is treated with clear-headed wisdom, moderation and realism." A. D. Gayer
+ N Y Times p5 My 13 '45 1100w

"This book will be of service to anyone concerned with the broad aspects of housing, the need for planning on a large scale, and also to one who assumes that wishful thinking can hurdle the very difficult and sensitive relationship of land values, labor costs, materials, building codes, taxes and maintenance charges, and finally, return on an investment." E. J. Kahn
+ Sat R of Lit 28:16 Ag 25 '45 500w

"Mrs. Rosenman's conclusions, when stated, are sound; and where she indicates that a sound conclusion is still to be sought, the author has so presented the pros and cons as to help substantially in such search. . . If we shall actually meet the urgent post war need of a million or more homes a year, Mrs. Rosenman's book will have helped to put firm foundations, physical and financial, under many of these homes—and well-planned neighborhoods around them." H. S. Buttenheim
+ Survey G 34:296 Je '45 300w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:39 S '45 80w

"The book's content cannot be summed up succinctly, nor can it be digested in reading without thought and application, but it is well worth the effort involved." H. W. Baehr

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 29 '45 550w

Wis Lib Bul 41:65 Je '45

ROSENSTEIN, JUDA LOUIS. Scientific selection of salesmen. 259p $3 McGraw

658.8 Salesmen. Employment management 44-47249

"This book has for its purpose the description of a technique for the selection of salesmen. . . It is intended to show to sales executives how, by following the procedures described, they may build for themselves a practical and scientifically valid system that will fit their own organizations and manpower needs." Pref

Booklist 41:335 Jl 15 '45

Library J 69:1003 N 15 '44 30w

"The value of Dr. Rosenstein's book lies largely in its provision, in nontechnical terminology, of a background for construction and evaluation of psychological test batteries and the weighted application blank. Hardly laudable, however, is the author's uncritical acceptance, both explicitly and by implication, of these devices as 'scientific' techniques to replace 'undependable and unprofitable' human judgment."

+ — Management R 34:66 F '45 70w

ROSINGER, LAWRENCE KAELTER. China's crisis. 259p $3 Knopf

951.0425 China—Politics and government. China—Economic conditions. World war, 1939—China 45-6040

"China at war has presented a bewildering kaleidoscope, stimulating, partial and one-sided treatment. In 'China's Crisis,' for the first time, the story is given in full, with all its facets equally shown. The writer speaks out clearly on the burning issues, but with a realism and restraint that have too seldom been achieved. He recognizes the operation in present-day China of forces that have long been effecting a revolutionary transformation in all phases of Chinese society, and he does not believe that it is possible to call a halt to the processes of change. Artificial efforts to block the advances being achieved will merely prolong the crisis and increase the cost of the necessary and inevitable reshaping of China's old society." (N Y Times) Index.

Reviewed by G. N. Steiger
Am Pol Sci R 39:1227 D '45 380w

"A very accurate, honest, and useful book, beautifully bound and printed." H. S. Quigley

+ Ann Am Acad 242:170 N '45 500w

"If Rosinger has done nothing else he has raised the problems that we face in the future with relation to the China of today. As the war goes into a new phase in the Far East, I can suggest no more enlightening book to read than 'China's Crisis'." Ernest Von Hartz

+ Book Week p6 Jl 15 '45 750w

Booklist 42:14 S '45

"Chungking will not be especially pleased by this volume; but it contains a great many solid facts, some not generally known in this country, and its attitude is constructive although by no means soft, toward elements regarded by the author as detrimental to China herself or to the Allied war effort. . . Some will find Mr. Rosinger a little too sure about matters still subject for honest differences of opinion." Randall Gould

+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 26 '45 650w

"It is heartening that serious students are emerging in the United States who are beginning to study Asia, the vast majority of the human race, and are trying to understand Asia rather than to pontificate, as though knowing all the answers. Nobody knows all about China. . . Mr. Rosinger does not claim to. He claims to be a student, a recent beginner, since he only started his study after 1930; but he is a true student. He began by studying the history of the peoples themselves whom he was trying to understand, and what he could get in the short period in which he has been at it, of the highly complex language medium through which they express their thought. That approach is truly a blessed relief in the troubled sea of partisan and doctrinaire literary output which threatens the validity of that American public opinion out of which public policy must flow, in an ordered democracy." W. F. Sands

+ Commonweal 42:432 Ag 17 '45 950w

Foreign Affairs 24:170 O '45 50w

Kirkus 13:155 Ap 1 '45 170w

Reviewed by M. S. Stewart
Nation 161:209 S 1 '45 300w

"Mr. Rosinger is no pallid neutral whose attempts to be above the battle end by infuriating everybody, but his tone is so reasoned and reasonable that China's Crisis is certain to be valuable in helping the average bewildered American make up his mind about a matter that has such great bearing on the future of the world." Richard Watts

+ New Repub 113:138 Jl 30 '45 1950w

"To Americans baffled by the complexities of wartime China, this clear-cut statement of events and issues offers the best orientation yet supplied. It is distinguished by penetrating judgments, the careful marshaling of fact and an easy readability. For his work the author has drawn upon years of specialized research, most recently as the Far Eastern expert of the Foreign Policy Association. . . Under Mr. Rosinger's skillful treatment the complicated elements are reduced to an orderly coherence, but the struggle between the old and the new is the thread of his story, the factor which gives meaning and continuity to the whole." T. A. Bisson

+ N Y Times p4 Jl 29 '45 600w

"'Mr. Rosinger goes over the usual ground—China's military, political, and economic position—but he turns over the good earth with much more than the usual skill. His analysis of China's place in the world and its relations with the powers that have come to be known as the Big Three, alone makes his book worth reading."

+ New Yorker 21:68 Ag 4 '45 70w

"There's nothing like a liberal dose of factuality to settle arguments. Of no part of the world is this more true than of China, and Mr. Rosinger in his present slender but close-packed volume has provided a spirited soundly-based statement of his own coupled to approximately equal space for essential documents." Randall Gould

+ Pacific Affairs 18:287 S '45 800w

Reviewed by Robert Okin
Sat R of Lit 28:17 Ag 11 '45 900w

"This is an honest book, by a student who has the gift of writing interestingly without stepping out of the role of narrator and interpreter. No other recent writer has been so successful in relating the particular incident to the picture as a whole, in clarifying the complex situation without oversimplification, in pointing a way out of China's immediate predictament without understating the alarming outcome for the whole world if the country's unity is allowed further to deteriorate." Bruno Lasker

+ Survey G 34:348 Ag '45 450w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:44 D '45 120w

"Mr. Rosinger's mind is not easily thrown out of gear by sudden shifts and changes. He learned, in this country, enough Chinese to be able to read contemporary source material. He has never been to China, and a number of minor weaknesses in his book can be traced to lack of experience on the spot; but he has excellent training in method and a sharp, analytical mind. . . The core of the book consists of facts, checked by the best information available in America. The facts themselves are then subjected to analysis, and on the strength of the analysis the author's own opinions are presented. The line of derivation from facts through analysis to opinion is nowhere hidden or subjected to the sleight of hand which dis-

ROSINGER, L. K.—Continued
figures political writing of the emotionally partisan kind. The book is therefore ideal for the reader who wants both to have the opinion of an expert and at the same time to be free to form his own opinion." Owen Lattimore
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 15 '45 1350w

ROSINGER, LAWRENCE KAELTER. China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. [issued under the auspices of Int. secretariat, Inst. of Pacific relations]. 133p $2 Princeton univ. press [10s Oxford]

951.0425 China—History. World war, 1939—China. China—Politics and government
A44-5407

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"Some sixty pages of narrative, written for the 'educated citizen,' and sixty-five pages of documents likely to be serviceable to the specialist. Although so little space is given to textual matter, a fact which will be regretted by readers of the author's well-informed and trenchantly-phrased 'Reports' in the series of the Foreign Policy Association, the main trends of China's recent political development are traced with clarity and scholarly detachment." H. S. Quigley
+ Am Pol Sci R 39:198 F '45 300w

Reviewed by P. H. Clyde
Ann Am Acad 238:204 Mr '45 450w

"Amid all the welter of charges and countercharges concerning the shape of Chinese politics, this book is a welcome relief. Factual, objective and documented, it presents in small compass a picture of the balance and tension of political forces in China."
+ Foreign Affairs 23:342 Ja '45 40w

Reviewed by P. H. Clyde
Pol Sci Q 60:144 Mr '45 150w

Reviewed by E. M. Gull
Spec 174:458 My 18 '45 190w

Times [London] Lit Sup p207 My 5 '45 300w

"This book is one of the few dispassionate accounts of current Chinese politics to appear in English in recent years. Having a knowledge of the Chinese language, the author was able to utilize accurately current Chinese writings; and having a sound training in history, was enabled to view contemporary Chinese developments in perspective. It is noteworthy that so much useful information about contemporary China could be packed into so little space, and in such readable form."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:37 Mr '45 160w

"Mr. Rosinger's 'China's Wartime Politics, 1937-1944,' is much more limited in scope than Dr. Rowe's volume, but, within that scope, equally successful." Laurence Salisbury
+ Yale R n s 34:751 summer '45 130w

ROSS, DIANA, pseud. See Denney, D.

ROTH, ANDREW. Dilemma in Japan. 302p $2.50 Little

952.033 Japan—Politics and government. Reconstruction (1939-)—Japan 45-8030

Written late in the spring of 1945 this book sets forth what the author believes should be the United States' policies in dealing with a defeated Japan. One chapter in particular voices severe criticism of the State Department and ex-Ambassador Grew, who, the author asserts, is anxious to keep some members of the old ruling classes in power.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 S 23 '45 470w

Booklist 42:54 O 15 '45

"There can be no argument on the author's final conclusion—that our great cost in war should be balanced off by something better than a brief cessation of hostilities. . . Methods of doing this must for a long time remain subject to debate, but this book provides one of the sources on which we may draw for some of the facts and for concrete suggestions." Randall Gould
Christian Science Monitor p14 O 4 '45 600w

Reviewed by W. F. Sands
Commonweal 42:600 O 5 '45 1050w

"Such a book may be hard to take by people who think of all Japanese only in derogatory terms, but if Japan is to be more than a bad liability and a threat to world peace, we must consider Lt. Roth's viewpoint."
Kirkus 13:328 Ag 1 '45 170w

Reviewed by Tsuyoshi Matsumoto
Nation 161:436 O 27 '45 900w

Reviewed by T. A. Bisson
New Repub 113:473 O 8 '45 1450w

Reviewed by F. S. Adams
N Y Times p4 S 16 '45 700w

"Mr. Roth, who has recently become pretty well known for his attacks on what is called the 'Japan Crowd' in the State Department, is a proponent of the anti-Emperor school and his argument is impressive. He gives the record of liberalism and anti-militarism in Japan before and during the war and discusses the democratic element that exists in the country today. If his book gets the circulation it deserves, it should help equip the American public to enter the portentous debate with some idea of what the whole thing is about."
+ New Yorker 21:89 S 15 '45 160w

"By the time 'Dilemma in Japan' reached the scheduled publication date some of it was pretty much water under the bridge. V-J day—official and unofficial—had come and gone, Mr. Grew had resigned from the foreign service, and General MacArthur seemed to be getting 'order,' 'stability,' and his own way in postwar Japan. That way did not, of course—could not—please everyone everywhere, but some of it ought to find favor with Mr. Roth." H. C. Wolfe
Sat R of Lit 28:28 S 22 '45 850w

Reviewed by Harry Hansen
Survey G 34:414 O '45 900w

"A onetime Naval intelligence lieutenant—now under federal indictment for a suspected part in departmental leaks—26-year-old Author Roth is a passionate, informed, biased and frequently angry witness. A large chunk of his book is given over to a savage recapitulation of the 'naive' prewar Tokyo policies of ex-U.S. Ambassador Joseph Clark Grew."
Time 46:100 S 17 '45 950w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:45 D '45 230w

"Mr. Roth has a very definite point of view and he writes vigorously and well in expressing it. His book is extreme in some of its implications. It does not appear to take into as full consideration as it might what the Japanese people as a whole may have to say in regard to the future form of both their political and economic system. But in spite of its lack of objectivity, it is an important contribution on a topic on which the American people must be fully informed if they are to play an intelligent part in the determination of national policies that may make for war or peace in the East." F. R. Dulles
+ — Weekly Book Review p5 S 16 '45 1200w

Reviewed by Gunther Stein
Yale R n s 35:340 winter '46 1000w

ROTHENSTEIN, JOHN KNEWSTUB MAURICE. Augustus John. See John, A. E.

ROUAULT, GEORGES. Georges Rouault, by Edward Alden Jewell. (Hyperion art monographs) [48p] il $3 Duell

759.4 Rouault, Georges. Paintings, French
45-10484

The book is made up of an introductory chapter on the artist, forty-four plates, a few of them in color, and a short bibliography.

"The text is certainly not brilliant, but the illustrations are admirable and are large enough really to tell their story." H. L. Binsse
+ Commonweal 43:293 D 28 '45 30w

Reviewed by Huntington Cairns
Weekly Book Review p10 Ja 6 '46 200w

ROUECHE, BERTON. Black weather. 185p $2.50 Reynal
45-5979

A psychological horror story. "Taking a mildewed (and horror-ridden) rooming house as his scene, a Poesque landlady as his villainess, and a neurotic young couple as his victims, [the author] has constructed a Freudian shocker." (N Y Times)

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock
Book Week p3 Jl 8 '45 360w

"Absorbingly told, but unpleasant reading, this portrait in pathological perversion and violence, offset effectively by the commonplace, the inadequate in the people against which it is directed."
+ — Kirkus 13:166 Ap 15 '45 170w

"Well written, convincing, it is a terror tale of ordinary people which builds up to two successive jolting climaxes. Recommended." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 70:586 Je 15 '45 70w

"Mr. Roueché has written, with security and skill, an absorbing study in abnormal psychology." Elizabeth Huling
+ New Repub 113:28 Jl 2 '45 360w

"Sometimes we are reminded that the novelist (who is also a New Yorker editor) has absorbed the style of that magazine through all his pores: the general reader may find that his people resemble ectoplasm rather than humans. But the expert in psycho-thrillers should find 'Black Weather' very much his meat. Once he has made contact with its baleful magic he is not likely to emerge until he has wrestled it out with 'Mrs.' Pew on her own home grounds." C. V. Terry
+ — N Y Times p16 Jl 1 '45 280w

"Mr. Roueché handles expertly the tensions that grow out of his characters' increasing uncertainty and he leads up quite convincingly to a situation as hopeless as it is inevitable. A quiet but successful first try."
+ New Yorker 21:58 Je 30 '45 180w

"This is the first novel of Berton Roueché of The New Yorker. In it he has caught commonplace people in the toils of a perverse situation, and he has given us a story that by interest will win from most of its readers the tribute of being read at one sitting. The mounting suspense is of the type that keeps people from going to bed and the frenzied ending will keep them from going to sleep." W. S. Lynch
+ Sat R of Lit 28:16 Je 30 '45 850w

"Mr. Roueche handles his grim plot with skill, and one feels that he has a future." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 15 '45 350w

ROUGEMONT, DENIS DE. Devil's share [tr. from the French by Haakon Chevalier]. 221p $2.50 Pantheon bks.
216 Good and evil. Devil 45-3337

Discussion of the Devil and his influence on society today. The author uses the term the Devil to connote Evil, for says he, "We believe in a thousand evils, fear a thousand dangers, but we have ceased to believe in Evil." "His lesson is, in substance, simply the old Christian lesson that good and evil are opposing forces in the heart of every man and woman, but it is good to have this lesson restated so earnestly, so sincerely, and so well." (New Yorker)

"This brilliant little book, superbly translated by Haakon Chevalier, is a study of the diabolic element—the Devil's share—in our society." Dudley Fitts
+ Book Week p3 F 4 '45 600w

"A volume which is the best thing sui generis I have read for a long time and a work of genius. The most amazing characteristic of The Devil's Share is its soundness from the strictest Catholic viewpoint as attested by a Catholic theologian and philosopher of world fame." F. S. Campbell
+ Cath World 160:564 Mr '45 650w

"It is impossible to convey the 'definiteness' of this study—or its amazing finesse in psychological syllogism, in a brief review. It must be read if one would get even slight insight into the author's contention." T. F. Opie
+ Churchman 159:16 My 1 '45 180w

"This book is a little masterpiece of witty restatements of many truths that we have neglected and forgotten to our peril. It is all the better for saying nothing new, for there is nothing new to say on the subject of sin (as Mr. Coolidge eloquently pointed out!) But how Mr. de Rougemont can write—his wisdom is distilled from experience, not experiment, and of all the admirable sixty-six chapters, perhaps the most wholly excellent is the one on the meaning of words, and of their relation to the Word." Anne Fremantle
+ Commonweal 41:497 Mr 2 '45 1500w

"The book is sheer delight, a mixture of humor and satire, and an excellent translation by Haakon Chevalier makes it pleasurable reading."
+ Current Hist 8:442 My '45 50w

+ Kirkus 13:63 F 1 '45 100w

"Translated, not too smoothly, by Haakon Chevalier." K. T. Willis
Library J 70:68 Ja 15 '45 80w

Reviewed by Reinhold Niebuhr
Nation 160:188 F 17 '45 700w

Reviewed by Mark Schorer
N Y Times p7 Mr 4 '45 650w

"A brilliant and original book."
+ New Yorker 20:70 Ja 27 '45 180w

"M. Rougemont is spirited in style as well as thought, and the Chevalier translation, despite one or two slips that are apparent even without reference to the original, is a pleasantly readable text." B. R. Redman
+ Sat R of Lit 28:16 Mr 3 '45 1350w

Reviewed by C. D. Kean
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 22 '45 750w

Reviewed by Albert Guerard
Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 18 '45 500w

ROWE, MRS ANNE (VON MEIBON). Fatal purchase. 219p $2 Mill
45-4222

Mystery story.

"Pleasant and logical."
+ Boston Globe My 31 '45 60w

"Feminine, flossy, but readable."
+ Kirkus 13:167 Ap 15 '45 80w

N Y Times p28 Ap 29 '45 110w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 29 '45 210w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p15 Je 3 '45 60w

ROWE, MRS ANNE (VON MEIBON). Up to the hilt. 218p $2 Mill
45-9491

Detective story.

Kirkus 13:407 S 15 '45 60w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p20 D 2 '45 130w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p20 N 18 '45 100w

ROWE, DAVID NELSON. China among the powers. 205p $2 Harcourt
330.951 China—Economic conditions. China—Foreign relations. Natural resources—China 45-1826

"A sober attempt to estimate China's potentialities as a great power in the post-war

ROWE, D. N.—Continued
world. The author's thesis, which he presents in straightforward, readable prose, is that the vast riches China is supposed to have are to a large degree illusory, that it will be many years before the country can be industrialized, and that she cannot, by herself, become a threat to other Asiatic nations or prevent the resurgence of Japan. Only the Big Three, Mr. Rowe says, can help China to gain the position in Asia that is rightfully hers and enable her to become strong enough to do her proper part in maintaining peace in the Orient." (New Yorker) Three maps; two on end papers. Index.

Reviewed by H. S. Quigley
Am Pol Sci R 39:601 Je '45 750w

"Of all who have talked and written on the subject of China's hard-earned restoration to sovereignty, and its apparently short-lived accession to membership in the Big Four, Dr. Rowe alone has taken the trouble to analyze critically, and relatively exhaustively, the physical and nonphysical readiness of the Middle Country to essay the role of a great power. Writing unemotionally and without marked sympathy for or adverse criticism of China, the author approached his task as a realistically minded American, interested primarily in the security of the United States in the postwar era." H. F. MacNair
+ Ann Am Acad 240:153 Jl '45 310w

Reviewed by Ernest von Hartz
Book Week p4 Mr 25 '45 400w

Booklist 41:192 Mr 1 '45

Bookmark 6:5 My '45

Boston Globe p15 Mr 14 '45 310w

"Scientific in method and in temper, the author presents valuable data, and then draws attention to the serious consequences for the United States which may result from a mistaken policy toward China. Even for our own sakes China must be restored; but this cannot happen unless foreign aid is generously bestowed and prudently supervised."
+ Cath World 161:189 My '45 100w

"The book provides a wholesome corrective to a good deal of sentimentalism about China. . . . The principal limitation of the book, in my opinion, lies in the author's uncritical assumption that China must follow the road to power which other nations have taken. True, she is today attempting to go down that road. The idea that this may be not the road to power but the broad way that leads to destruction seems never to have occurred to Mr. Rowe. But it has occurred to many Chinese and the questions they raise are a part of the revolutionary ferment which is seething in China. Incidentally, he hardly mentions that ferment. However, whether one accepts his definition of what constitutes power or not, this book brings together as no other has yet done the complex of factors which will affect any future China may have. And since Machiavellian power politics is riding high everywhere today, it is the part of wisdom to see just what developments it holds in store for the world's most populous nation." H. E. Fey
+ — Christian Century 62:680 Je 6 '45 1050w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 27 '45 450w

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Mr '45

Reviewed by W. F. Sands
Commonweal 41:549 Mr 16 '45 490w

Foreign Affairs 23:700 Jl '45 70w

Kirkus 13:46 F 1 '45 170w

"Clear, concise reasons for China's absolute dependence upon foreign aid with any program for modernization after the war. Essential." J. M. Brittan
+ Library J 70:117 F 1 '45 140w

Reviewed by T. A. Bisson
Nation 160:255 Mr 3 '45 350w

Reviewed by Helen Mears
New Repub 112:757 My 28 '45 2350w

"David N. Rowe of Yale University has written a closely reasoned and provocative analysis of China's potentiality as a great power. It is remarkable for its brilliant organization of facts and figures concerning economic, social and political forces, encompassed with clarity and brevity. Evaluating China's limited resources and the difficulties of integrating their development for military purposes, he presents a detailed estimate of her present and probable future position among the powers." Edgar Snow
+ N Y Times p8 My 20 '45 700w

"Although it is heavily weighted with economics and sociology, the book is worth reading for its comprehensive analysis of a very complex situation."
New Yorker 21:80 F 17 '45 130w

Reviewed by L. K. Rosinger
Pol Sci Q 60:300 Je '45 650w

"This is political science as it should be written, a true contribution of learning to action, a sincere and honest challenge to statesmanship on both sides of the Pacific." A. W. Griswold
+ Sat R of Lit 28:27 Ap 7 '45 700w

"The Yale Institute of International Studies, organized in 1935 to promote research and training in international relations, adds another distinguished volume to its list. This book on China has a research associate of the Institute as author, a man who was born in China and lived there for many years. His training has been in the field of international law and relations, and he writes with authority."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 F '45 400w

"Mr. Rowe's scholarly analysis is both timely and important." Frederick Rein
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 4 '45 850w

Reviewed by Harry Hansen
Survey G 34:131 Ap '45 400w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:30 Je '45 240w

"If there are Americans who still fear that China may become 'another Japan' and an imperialistic threat to Asia they will be vastly reassured by this scholarly and elaborately documented little volume on China's position in the post-war world, for its author is convinced that for many years to come China will be too weak militarily to become a threat to other Asiatic nations." Eleanor Lattimore
+ Weekly Book Review p16 F 18 '45 850w

Wis Lib Bul 41:37 Mr '45

"Dr. Rowe's 'China among the Powers' is a volume which should be read by those who wish to gain an appreciation of the difficulties which confront China economically and politically now and for the future. Certainly anyone who contemplates some form of association with China after the war should not overlook this book." Laurence Salisbury
+ Yale R n s 34:751 summer '45 1000w

ROWE, FYNETTE. Chapin sisters. 238p $2.50 Current bks.
45-9779

Portrayal of the lives of two sisters, living in a large, aging mansion in an upstate New York town, almost a century ago. The little things of life were all they had to live for; and work in the library on week days, and church on Sunday were almost their only outlets. Neither was successful in her pursuit of a husband. So they grew old and lonely and bitter.

Reviewed by Marion Strobel
Book Week p2 N 18 '45 310w

"The writing is good, the author successfully creates a gray mood, handles the characters expertly. But she lacks the psychological penetration that might redeem it."
Kirkus 13:404 S 15 '45 130w

"With the exception of a lurid and unconvincing ending, the book is a faithful study of two, small, unexciting lives. But as the sisters drearily grow old, some readers may wonder if such persistent defeat is worth such explicit telling—and (while admitting the reality) may also wonder just why the 'girls' were unable to do more about their half century of poisonous discontent." F. W. L.
+ — N Y Times p35 O 28 '45 160w

New Yorker 21:102 N 3 '45 120w

"One of the achievements of the book is that the period is done with great naturalness and no feeling of showing off at all, so that the reader gets a clear picture but does not trip over information." R. C. Benét

+ Sat R of Lit 28:9 N 3 '45 750w

" 'The Chapin Sisters' is a study of arrested emotional development, of the blighting of the lives of two young women by the chill winds of a social propriety they were helpless to deal with. Mrs. Gaskell would have enjoyed telling the story of the Chapin sisters, or possibly Miss Jane Austen. But Miss Rowe, with her distinctive literary gifts, has done very well by it herself." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p5 O 28 '45 1000w

ROWSE, ALFRED LESLIE. English spirit; essays in history and literature. 275p $2.75 (12s 6d) Macmillan

942 Great Britain—History. English literature—History and criticism [45-1603]

"A collection of essays, on various aspects of English life, literature, and history, by a man who is in love with his country and doesn't care who knows it. Mr. Rowse, a Fellow of Oxford's All Souls College, dwells on Shakespeare, Swift, Winston Churchill, Oxford in wartime, and, over and over again, the English landscape." New Yorker

---

Booklist 41:320 Jl 1 '45

Reviewed by Harold Hobson

Christian Science Monitor p12 D 30 '44 850w

"The volume is mainly a collection of incidental pieces, but it has quality throughout and a surprising coherence. The Tudors naturally figure conspicuously, but from them we are led on to Clarendon, Swift, Froude, Carlyle, Macaulay, and many others. If sometimes Mr. Rowse was set going by a book sent him by an editor his mind preserved its continuity, so that the volume has unity and solidity." B. I. Evans

+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 27 '44 350w

Reviewed by Keith Hutchison

Nation 161:559 N 24 '45 480w

Reviewed by V. S. Pritchett

+ New Statesman & Nation 28:339 N 18 '44 1850w

"Apparently slight sketches, but sketches conveying a tremendous amount of reference and suggestive detail. A full mind spilling a few words on this or that person or event in English history is the impression this author gives you; but by the time you have finished the book you realize he is an artist." Clare Howard

+ N Y Times p6 S 30 '45 900w

"[The author's] affection is apt to seem excessive to those not quite so enamored of England and the English, but his prose, despite its over-polished donnishness, is a pleasure."

+ New Yorker 21:79 F 17 '45 80w

"Though his really charming book is 'history at its ease,' so to speak, a collection of lectures and reviews of almost studied informality, Mr. Rowse quite clearly is in the top flight of the writers of the new school. Certainly he had no difficulty in holding the interest or dispelling the congenital torpor of this reviewer. Naturally, the book has the desultory quality of any collection of fugitive pieces. But Mr. Rowse rightly claims a genuine unity for it, for, whatever his subject, what he calls the English spirit is never absent from his thought." Leonard Bacon

+ Sat R of Lit 28:12 F 24 '45 950w

"Professor Rowse's ardent patriotism is never offensive—partly because of his style, which is finished and yet with a deliberately rough texture, like good tweed, and partly because of his humor."

+ Time 45:94 F 5 '45 800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p577 D 2 '44 1200w

Reviewed by H. S. Commager

Weekly Book Review p6 D 30 '45 650w

ROWSE, ALFRED LESLIE. Spirit of English history. 158p maps $2 Oxford [7s 6d Cape, J.]

942 Great Britain—History [A46-655]

Compact outline of the history of England from prehistoric times to the present. Contains a chronology of important events and an index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 O 21 '45 180w

"A notable synopsis of the great movements and tempers that have made the British people what they are. This is not so much a narrative as an examination and a study, and it is well worth reading." Harold Hobson

+ Christian Science Monitor p13 F 26 '44 50w

"To record all that one needs to know of English history in thirty thousand words is a remarkable achievement. Before reading 'The Spirit of English History' one could have hardly believed it possible. Here it all is, compact indeed, but fascinatingly readable, a triumph of restraint and artistry. This is the perfect book to give to a foreigner, or even to an intelligent child, who seeks for a brief, convincing outline of English history." A. J. P. T.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 10 '43 150w

N Y Times p16 O 28 '45 100w

School & Society 60:96 Ag 5 '44 20w

"How can every event and factor in England's evolution be rendered in 128 pages? Especially when a historian is no longer content to deal in reigns and campaigns only, but wishes to honour Hooker, Harvey, Hogarth, and Handel? Mr. Rowse has managed this feat because his scholarship is not merely organised but canalised. It springs into channels so natural in appearance that the art of their arrangement is concealed. He may pack seemingly half a century into a paragraph, but then we find that was only a political summary; next comes a piece of the essential economic changes of the time, then an array of religious, literary, scientific, architectural interpretation."

+ Spec 171:586 D 17 '43 340w

"The present volume is little more than a brief resume of English history, with emphasis on trends, influences and causes rather than on isolated or superficially exciting events. As such it should be a moderately useful little book, but it is difficult to decide for whom it is intended. Too brief to be of much value to people ignorant of the course of English development (and who probably wouldn't read it anyway), it can offer the moderately well-informed reader merely a brisk gallop over familiar territory." W. H. H.

Springf'd Republican p4 O 27 '45 280w

Times [London] Lit Sup p577 D 4 '43 650w

Reviewed by H. S. Commager

Weekly Book Review p6 D 30 '45 650w

"Mr. Rowse's pervasive and complacent nationalism will prove a trifle tedious to American readers. . . But he does manage to put into the shortest of short histories of the English people a great deal of varied information about English living and work without making it a manual or a textbook. Mr. Rowse is at all times readable. . . Many of [his] literary judgments would be disputed. But these are small matters." Wallace Notestein

+ — Yale R n s 35:347 winter '46 380w

ROYAL INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS. France and Britain; a report by a Chatham House study group. 110p $1.75 (6s) The institute

327.42 Great Britain—Foreign relations—France. France—Foreign relations—Great Britain [46-12090]

This small volume contains a summary of discussions of a group of experts on Anglo-French relations conducted under the auspices of the Royal Institute of International Affairs. Contents: Basis of Anglo-French co-operation; Alternative policies open to France; Conditions of Anglo-French co-operation; Britain, France, and security; Anglo-French economic relations; The role of culture in Anglo-French relations. Conclusions.

ROYAL INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS—Continued

"The moment is well chosen for the publication of this report, which is intended to strengthen Anglo-French understanding and co-operation; unfortunately, the report does not meet the needs of the moment. . . Altogether this is a very disappointing production by so august a body as Chatham House."
— Spec 175:498 N 23 '45 360w

"There is an inherent dilemma in the production of all such impersonal and anonymous reports. The members of the group must be chosen for their diversity of interests and views if the discussions are to be fruitful: but the more diverse their views, the more care must be taken to find the most cautious phraseology in the report, the greater is the temptation to frame the balanced sentence rather than the incisive judgment, and the more colourless and inconclusive becomes the whole report. This report suffers greatly from the series of compromises which has been adopted to evade this dilemma."
Times [London] Lit Sup p483 O 13 '45 850w

RUE, FLORA CLARK. Cocoa dancer; il. by Gladys Rourke Blackwood. 26p $1.25 Whitman, A.

How Ebby practiced to be a cocoa dancer and became the best one of all; and how his sister, Dodo, earned most of the fifty pennies needed for buying Ebby's required long white pants.

"Colorful and unusual."
+ Book Week p4 N 11 '45 180w

"Excellent reading aloud material. We wish the illustrations which are too much in the old blackface minstrel tradition, had been more native in feel. They make effective display, but may offend some readers who would like the simplicity and vitality of the story."
+ — Kirkus 13:471 O 15 '45 80w

"Slight but pleasing little story. . . Will be enjoyed by children from eight to ten because of its large print and vivid full-page pictures by Gladys Blackwood." A. M. Wetherell
+ Library J 70:1092 N 15 '45 70w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 20 '46 80w

RUML, BEARDSLEY. Tomorrow's business. 238p $2.50 Farrar

338 Business 44-51555

"Exercise by individuals of responsible freedom, which is the issue of the war we are fighting, is the standard to which all private governments must conform. Business, as one of the rule-makers, along with the family, the church and the trade union, can and must make its particular contribution to this freedom for those who are subject to its rules: customers, suppliers, employees and stockholders. Interesting proposals for change in corporate organization, and relation of fiscal policy to business are likewise considered." Library J

Reviewed by Paul Haensel
Ann Am Acad 240:171 Jl '45 650w

"The book will not be manna to the New Dealers. The propriety of government action is not its central thesis; the propriety of business action is. As an apology for business, the book is as skillful and shrewd as any that has been written. But it will take more than Ruml's willingness to accept government spending to endear him to those whose affection for business is at best secondary. And Ruml's approach to business will not reduce the disaffection with it. . . Tomorrow's Business has been recommended to businessmen. It deserves an unlimited audience. Even if you do not read this book, you will not be able to avoid the issues, ideas, and proposals so skillfully presented." L. M. Cherne
+ Atlantic 175:133 Mr '45 420w

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Ja 21 '45 1250w

Booklist 41:164 F 1 '45

"Beardsley Ruml offers a timely and specific chart for steering American business through the rough water ahead. He believes we can come through without veering leftward; but to do this we must revise our notions of what business is. . . This new picture of business—actually a new philosophy of business—is to my mind the most important part of an important book. It bids fair to swing the science of economics from a new pivot." W. E. Hocking
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 F 20 '45 1050w

Eng N 134:127 Mr 8 '45 650w

Foreign Affairs 23:694 Jl '45 50w

"His philosophizing on freedom in the first few paragraphs make this a somewhat difficult book to get into, but once under way he gets down to the practical application. Should appeal to those who are interested in 'tomorrow's business.' "
+ Kirkus 12:527 N 15 '44 180w

"Recommended for its thoughtful treatment of the relation of business to government." Walter Hausdorfer
+ Library J 70:32 Ja 1 '45 110w

Management R 34:158 Ap '45 40w

"A noteworthy feature of Dr. Beardsley Ruml's 'Tomorrow's Business' is its avoidance of the clichés and platitudes which drip from the pens of most business men—or their ghost writers—when they undertake the defense of private enterprise. This is not just a matter of style, for Dr. Ruml has done his own thinking and has produced an analysis of the structure and functions of business which is decidedly stimulating. Moreover, he is a man who realizes that business must justify itself by works as well as faith, who can discuss the question of the union shop without working himself into a lather, who has read and digested Keynes and Hansen, and who can contemplate an unbalanced budget with a calm calculated to shock the Wall Street Journal profoundly." Keith Hutchison
+ Nation 160:76 Ja 20 '45 400w

"Mr. Ruml has written a transparent panegyric to management, it is a defense of what the latter now possesses and a blueprint of what it wants. Mr. Ruml especially shows his hand when he pontificates on the union movement in America. . . Ruml repeats all the hoary and by now discarded clichés about unions in a disturbingly persuasive voice. . . These attitudes, and the loud demands for tax revision favorable to business, are surely indicative of the carefully concealed hopes of the business community. Its spokesman may very well be charged with a kind of deception that augurs ill for postwar America." B. B. Seligman
— New Repub 112:266 F 19 '45 400w

"Author of pay-as-you-go taxes, his 'Ruml Plan' for post-war taxation has attracted wide attention. In the present book he ranges further afield and gives us his reflections on the should-be shape in general of economic things to come. They are well worth heeding: challenging is the word for this book. Thoroughly readable, it raises most of the basic problems of the perplexed and perplexing new world that confronts us, all in very brief compass. Indeed, one wishes he had been less sketchy. Consistently urbane, reasonable and sophisticated, and at heart genuinely liberal, he passes over several crucial issues for which this reviewer, for one, would have liked to have more precise prescriptions." A. D. Gayer
+ N Y Times p3 Ja 14 '45 1550w

Reviewed by W. E. Spahr
Pol Sci Q 60:617 D '45 850w

"Mr. Ruml is one of those rare and fortunate men who can find time in a strenuous business career to reflect upon broad social problems, come to firm conclusions, and present them to the public in simple, lucid English. His influence upon our Federal tax system is well known though not universally appreciated at this time of year. His views on post-war taxation are a subject of lively controversy in many quarters. In 'Tomorrow's Business' he has given us a calm, good tempered, clearly written book covering a range of problems where calmness, good temper, and clearness are all too frequently absent." P. M. O'Leary

+ Sat R of Lit 28:12 F 3 '45 850w

Reviewed by Ordway Tead
Survey G 34:298 Je '45 300w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:21 Je '45 280w

"Mr. Ruml is an educated, thoughtful, and successful business leader who knows why the American system of liberty, free enterprise and high standards of living has worked heretofore; and who knows why and how that system should and will continue to function. First and foremost, holds Mr. Ruml, we want freedom. To achieve freedom, among other things, we must have responsibility on the part of business and responsibility on the part of government. The development of the second and third ideas constitute the burden of his present book." L. M. Hacker
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ja 14 '45 1400w

Reviewed by Ray Morris
Yale R n s 34:556 spring '45 900w

RUSH, WILLIAM MARSHALL. Yellowstone scout; decorations by Ralph Ray. 184p $2 Longmans
45-8918

A story for older boys. The hero, Kean Conrad, is a Yellowstone Park scout interested in saving the park for the people when unscrupulous land grabbers are intent on getting hold of a part of it.

"Though the story is straight adventure, there's fascinating material on the park and on conservation problems."
+ Kirkus 13:299 Jl 1 '45 110w

Reviewed by H. M. Brogan
Library J 70:1094 N 15 '45 70w

"Plenty of violent action and a fine sense of the wilderness more than compensate for a blunt style and a simple plot."
+ — N Y Times p8 Ja 6 '46 80w

Sat R of Lit 28:68 N 10 '45 40w

School & Society 62:239 O 13 '45 20w

Social Studies 37:43 Ja '46 80w

"Kean is a very human, likable fellow and the story rings true from the first to the last page." E. B. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 70w

RUSSELL, BERTRAND RUSSELL, 3d earl. History of western philosophy; and its connection with political and social circumstances from the earliest times to the present day. 895p $5 Simon & Schuster
109 Philosophy—History 45-8884

"My purpose is to exhibit philosophy as an integral part of social and political life: not as the isolated speculations of remarkable individuals, but as both an effect and a cause of the character of the various communities in which different systems flourished. This purpose demands more account of general history than is usually given by historians of philosophy. I have found this particularly necessary as regards periods with which the general reader cannot be assumed to be familiar." (Pref) Index.

Reviewed by Will Durant
Book Week p36 D 2 '45 750w

Booklist 42:103 D 1 '45

Reviewed by D. J. Sullivan
Commonweal 43:313 Ja 4 '46 1200w

Reviewed by Sidney Hook
Nation 161:586 D 1 '45 2100w

"Nothing that Bertrand Russell does can be ignored. His work is not original, despite its air of novelty. It is not profound. It is, without a doubt, one-sided and sometimes childishly iconoclastic and unreliable. But it does deal with fundamental issues. It is readable, witty, incisive, challenging, paradoxical." Paul Weiss
New Repub 113:762 D 3 '45 1200w

"Bertrand Russell is a provocative writer. This latest book of his will provoke the average intelligent reader to delight, and the average scholar to wrath. The general reader will be right, and the scholar wrong." J. H. Randall
+ N Y Times p3 O 21 '45 1800w

"My first impulse, after having wrestled with this erudite leviathan, was to call Mr. Russell the rich man's Will Durant and let it go at that. For what he is doing, on a much more intelligent plane, is not altogether unlike what Mr. Durant did in 'The Story of Philosophy.' . . I am not well enough acquainted with most of these men to say how much justice, or injustice, Mr. Russell has done them, but I feel sure that many professional philosophers will want to quarrel with him on almost every page—in particular the Neo-Thomists and the modern subjective philosophers. I don't think, however, that this need make any difference to the rest of us. Nor can I think, although my prejudice against books of this kind hasn't been lessened any, that Mr. Russell, or anybody else, could have done a more thorough, careful, or better job." Hamilton Basso
+ New Yorker 21:106 O 20 '45 1000w

Reviewed by Julius Kraft
Sat R of Lit 28:16 N 10 '45 2650w

Springf'd Republican p4d N 11 '45 600w

"When all is said and done, this is a remarkable book. For a man more than seventy years old it is an amazing exhibition of sheer vitality. The old sparkle is there, too. Any one who has met Mr. Russell knows that when he enters a room every one and everything lights up. Something like that has happened in this book. I suppose the volume is addressed primarily to the layman. Mr. Russell respects his subject and his reader too much to be condescending; he makes no pretense that difficult matters are easy. Yet, subject to the demand of integrity, Mr. Russell has done almost everything to bridge the chasm between philosopher and public." Raphael Demos
+ Weekly Book Review p3 N 4 '45 1900w

RUSSELL, MRS CHARLOTTE (MURRAY). No time for crime. 205p $2 Doubleday
45-4607

Detective story.

"Good clean fun."
+ Boston Globe p13 My 23 '45 50w

Kirkus 13:97 Mr 1 '45 50w

"Readers of Charlotte Murray Russell's other stories need not be told that the Edwards family can always be depended upon to provide good entertainment." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p17 Ap 29 '45 130w

"Jane Amanda reconstructs a double crime with her usual success after working overtime on clews comic and grim." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 29 '45 90w

RUSSELL, JOHN. British portrait painters. (Britain in pictures) 48p il $1.25 Hastings house [4s 6d Collins]
757 Portrait painters, British [A45-2950]

"The surprisingly accurate reproductions of famous paintings in this enlightening introduction to British portraiture serve a double purpose to the general reader. They are chosen also with a view to the importance of the subject. Thus, we have Augustus John's portrait of David Cecil and Rothenstein's of the young Augustus John; Millais shows John Ruskin beside a waterfall and Isaac Newton is portrayed by Godfrey Kneller. There are groups like that of Lely's family or the bewitching daughters of Gainsborough—and all these illustrate a sound text." Weekly Book Review

Manchester Guardian p3 F 23 '45 100w

"When Mr. Russell says that Stendhal had so trained and prepared himself in his earlier life that when at last he came to begin 'La Chartreuse de Parme' he appears able 'to improvise the whole of its vast structure,' he, waiving 'vast structure,' unconsciously suggests one of the attractions of his own essay. It has the character of an improvisation, of something written from memory rather than from recent study of the subject. This helps to explain, as it atones for, some oddities in the writing. The impression given is that Mr. Russell wears his acquaintance with British portrait painters so lightly that he can afford to enjoy himself in his own style."

RUSSELL, JOHN—Continued

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p61 F 10 '45 1050w

+ Weekly Book Review p23 Mr 25 '45 90w

RUSSELL, JOHN DALE, ed. See Institute for administrative officers of higher institutions. Higher education in the postwar period

RUSSELL, WILLIAM HENRY. Jesus, the divine teacher. 468p $3 Kenedy

232 Jesus Christ—Person and offices. Jesus Christ—Teaching 44-51197

"This book is not intended as a complete exposition of all the teachings of the Master. The emphasis is rather on Jesus Himself and the place His Teachings and His Methods should occupy in present day pedagogy. . . It provides not only background but interpretation, clarifying methods which are timeless and applicable today on all levels of Catholic education." (Publisher's note) The author is a member of the Department of religious education of the Catholic University of America.

"The special merit of Dr. Russell's treatise lies in his able, detailed discussion of Christ's methods of teaching. . . An adequate index and a brief but excellent bibliography will be welcomed by the student of this scholarly volume." B. L. Conway

+ Cath World 160:566 Mr '45 450w

"If not the 'genuinely profound work' its jacket proclaims, this is at all events a diligent setting forth of truths that bear resaying as to the purpose of a pedagogue Who is both God and man." H. G. J. Beck

+ — Commonweal 41:429 F 9 '45 260w

Reviewed by P. W. Wilson
N Y Times p12 F 4 '45 450w

RUTLEDGE, NANCY. Blood on the cat. 252p $2 Farrar
44-41885

Detective story.

Book Week p4 F 4 '45 90w

"It makes a neat puzzle once it is all fitted together, but it takes a lot of fitting." Isaac Anderson

+ — N Y Times p24 F 25 '45 130w

"Agreeable."

Sat R of Lit 28:34 Mr 3 '45 40w

"A humble yarn that doesn't pretend to be the season's best, with home talent touches here and there." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 4 '45 130w

RUTTKAY, GEORGE. Chopin; his life told in anecdotal form; il. by Andre Dugo. (Hyperion bk) [40p] il $1.75 Duell

B or 92 Chopin, Frédéric François—Juvenile literature 45-4844

Series of stories and biographical notes about Chopin, with colored sketches depicting the high points of his life. For boys and girls.

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 21:275 Jl '45 20w

Kirkus 13:201 My 1 '45 60w

"Interesting material for young music-lovers. Might stimulate girls and boys to read more complete biographies of favorite musicians." E. M. Gordon

+ Library J 70:534 Je 1 '45 60w

"Easy, pleasant reading." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p18 Je 10 '45 30w

New Yorker 21:138 D 8 '45 20w

Reviewed by Maria Cimino
Sat R of Lit 28:39 Je 16 '45 110w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 5 '45 60w

RYAN, JESSICA. The man who asked why. 221p $2 Doubleday
45-10157

Detective story.

Kirkus 13:382 S 1 '45 70w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p12 D 16 '45 180w

"Some entertaining deductive teamwork by a San Francisco cop named O'Shaughnessy and a rather endearing new amateur detective named Pavlov. . . The story, which comes close to incoherence at times, has to do with a dope fiend, a murder, politics, music, and subversive activities. You'll like Pavlov a lot more than the plot."

+ — New Yorker 21:108 N 3 '45 70w

"Good—but too wordy."

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:56 N 17 '45 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p20 N 4 '45 150w

S

SABATINI, RAFAEL. Birth of mischief. 308p $2.50 Houghton

Frederick II, the Great, king of Prussia—Fiction 45-6992

"Mr. Sabatini is dealing with the rise of Prussia, from the heyday of Frederick William I, through the first years of his son's accession." N Y Times

Reviewed by R. J. Bender
Book Week p5 S 2 '45 500w

"Now and again a page gleams with the old Sabatini fire. . . For the most part 'Birth of Mischief' is a straight rehash of dates and intrigues and not-too-noble names, barren of dramatic focus. The visiting Jacobite is far too pale a knight to hold the stage. . . Even the ending misses fire completely. Scaramouche, one may be sure, would have cut—not talked—his way from the royal bandit's clutches." C. V. Terry

N Y Times p12 Ag 5 '45 500w

"If this bombastic muddle of famous names and historic occasions is a fair sample of the old Sabatini magic, then it is hard to understand what the adventure-story addicts of a generation ago got so excited about. . . Mr. Sabatini makes the most of an almost unlimited opportunity for historical parallels, but that is about all you will get from this high-flown story."

New Yorker 21:62 Ag 25 '45 100w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p16 S 9 '45 140w

SACHANEN, ALEXANDER NICHOLAS. Chemical constituents of petroleum. 451p il $8.50 Reinhold

665.5 Petroleum 45-8243

"This work for specialists in petroleum chemistry is primarily concerned with structural and chemical data on various types of hydrocarbons that have been separated out of petroleum. There are chapters on physical and chemical methods of determining hydrocarbons in petroleum distillates, after which groups of petroleum products are treated in such chapters as: Hydrocarbons of synthetic distillates, Petroleum wax, Sulphur and nitrogen compounds, Resins and asphaltic oils. The pertinent literature is cited in extensive bibliographies appended to the chapters. There are author and subject indexes." N Y New Tech Bks

"It is relatively easy to write a large book on a small subject; with the assistance of several library searchers (not always acknowledged), but it is much more difficult to put together all the essentials of a large subject in small compass. The present volume bears all the earmarks of the author's own personal knowledge and wide experience." B. T. Brooks

+ Chem & Eng N 23:2147 N 25 '45 550w

Reviewed by J. R. Callaham
Chem & Met Eng 52:263 D '45 220w
Library J 70:892 O 1 '45 100w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:38 Jl '45

SACKETT, BERT. Hurricane treasure; the secret of Injun key; il. by Clayton Knight. 298p $2 Random house
45-6556

Jed Strong searching thru the Everglades to obtain legal claim to his father's property is aided by his Seminole Indian friend. The seventeen-year-old boy has a fight with a devilfish, nearly loses his life in a hurricane, and then has a narow escape from mysterious enemies, before he finally succeeds in his quest. For older boys.

"Thrilling story."
+ Horn Bk 21:353 S '45 160w

"Interesting mostly for its Everglades setting. Pretty soggy going otherwise. But a good looking book."
Kirkus 13:342 Ag 1 '45 70w

"Plot winds through a wealth of information about the Seminole Indians, the Everglades, the ways of hurricanes and the uses of mahogany in naval shipbuilding. For boys of twelve. Good regional background but doubt its popularity." K. H. McAlarney
+ — Library J 70:753 S 1 '45 70w

"Sometimes it seems as if even Superman could not survive such a rugged week, but Jed did, and was able to deliver valuable defense material to the Government. His is a rousing story, a trifle obvious perhaps, but one to set the armchair adventurer trailing through the Florida jungles with all the happy enthusiasm of a beagle." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p20 Jl 22 '45 150w

"The story is absorbing and exciting enough for any boy. While Jed's difficulties in retrospect seem just too numerous, and the lengths to which his enemies go too appalling, the story is told so convincingly that one does not question while he is reading. The background of the Everglades and the Florida Keys and the Bay, the description of the storms and the hurricane are very vivid. Among mediocre drawings the illustrator has included a good descriptive map of Florida Bay." R. A. Hill
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:46 O 20 '45 240w

"The style is practiced, characters convincing and action rapid." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 2 '45 200w

SAFEGUARDING civil liberty today; lectures by Carl L. Becker [and others] and an address by Edmund Ezra Day. 158p $2 Cornell univ. press [9s Oxford]
323.44 Liberty 45-5140

Lectures delivered at Cornell university in 1944. Contents: Political freedom: American style, by C. L. Becker; Freedom: image and realty, by Max Lerner; Freedom of speech and the press, by J. L. Fly; Civil liberty and public opinion, by R. E. Cushman; Civil rights and the federal law, by Francis Biddle; Freedom to learn, by E. E. Day.

Reviewed by W. F. Dodd
Am Pol Sci R 39:1204 D '45 450w

"As always, what Carl Becker writes is worth reading—clearly thought and persuasively presented. Robert Cushman's analysis of the relation between civil liberty and public opinion is peculiarly searching and suggestive. Max Lerner of PM writes brilliantly and earnestly, and with disturbing truth." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 Jl 8 '45 100w

Reviewed by Zechariah Chafee
Harvard Law R 58:1093 S '45 2800w

"Most rewarding of the essays in this volume is Dr. Becker's wise and judicious discussion, but all of the speakers represented performed the service of reminding us that our civil liberties would remain secure only so long as we were actively concerned about them. They discussed aspects of the general problems with vigor and learning." F. S. Adams
+ N Y Times p3 Je 10 '45 550w

"The book is thought provoking from beginning to end. It is worthy of most careful reading." C. B. Swisher
+ Pol Sci Q 60:621 D '45 600w

"It is of course inescapable that, in appraising the great conflict between a declining and emerging order, interpretations should proceed from selected evidence. These lectures on the whole select the obstacles presented by the resistance of entrenched power. They miss a whole world of more hopeful evidence lying under the surface which would have made the series a more fruitful and stimulating contribution to the literature of democracy." Roger Baldwin
Sat R of Lit 28:26 Je 16 '45 800w

Reviewed by R. S. Ullery
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 17 '45 650w

"The lectures are stimulating, and all are designed to remind the reader that vigilance and concern are the principal safeguards of civil liberty in a changing democracy."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:45 D '45 200w

SAGARIN, EDWARD. Science and art of perfumery. 268p il $3 McGraw
668.5 Perfumery 45-11368

"Written for the nontechnical reader. Perfumes and odors including the scientific, commercial and popular details of the industry. Book includes history of perfumery, raw materials used, art of the perfumer and relationship to odor and flavor as well as production details." (Library J) Index.

Library J 70:1091 N 15 '45 50w

"Edward Sagarin's book deals entertainingly with perfume as an industry in which science and artistry are blended. It will enlarge your knowledge in the realms of botany, chemistry, geography and ancient history. Of much interest is a chapter called 'Oils for Body and Soul,' which links the subject to medical practice and religion, and there is a comprehensive summary of books in many languages for those who seek further information."
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ja 20 '46 180w

SAHYUN, MELVILLE, ed. Outline of the amino acids and proteins; contributing authors: Henry B. Bull [and others]. 251p il $4 Reinhold
547.8 Amino acids. Proteins 44-51376

"A brief outline of the essentials of the chemistry and biochemistry of amino acids and proteins. Intended primarily for the use of biological science students, the volume represents the work of fourteen experts in the field. Among the topics covered are: discovery of the amino acids, occurrence, structure and hydrolysis of proteins, analysis, isolution and metabolism of proteins and amino acids, relation of amino acids to immunity, amino acids and proteins in nutrition. There is a bibliography at the end of each chapter, and an appendix lists United States patents issued on amino acids and related organic compounds." N Y New Tech Bks

"Although the book as a whole does not entirely meet the purpose intended, certain of the chapters are competent vignettes of the status of special subjects, are well-written and lucid, and as such are separately useful for limited introductory studies. These are chapters 1, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, and 11. There are notable omissions, even in these chapters, but inclusiveness was not intended. The use of photographs with brief biographies of noted protein chemists is an ornament to the book." J. P. Greenstein
+ — Am Chem Soc J 67:885 My '45 450w

SAHYUN, MELVILLE—Continued

"Carl L. A. Schmidt indicates in the foreword that the book is an attempt to provide an elementary text to serve as an introduction to the chemistry of proteins and amino acids. Unfortunately, the book fails to fill the need for which it was written. . . Despite these criticisms of the book as an elementary text it has several admirable features. It is well printed and remarkably free from errors. The historical development of protein chemistry is presented in a very readable, stimulating manner. An excellent up-to-date bibliography is given at the end of each chapter and the list of U.S. patents issued on amino acids and related organic compounds will be of great value to some workers, particularly the industrial protein chemist." D. M. Doty

+ — Chem & Eng N 23:278 F 10 '45 400w

Reviewed by M. B. Jacobs
Chem & Met Eng 52:223 Mr '45 400w

"This comparatively small volume contains a surprising amount of information and is highly recommended as an introduction to or a brief survey of the field. Eleven people, in addition to the editor, have contributed material, and each speaks with authority in his particular field." W. M. Sandstrom

+ J Phys Chem 49:407 Jl '45 300w
Library J 70:34 Ja 1 '45 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:64 O '44

ST GEORGE, THOMAS RICHARD. Proceed without delay. 181p il $2 Crowell

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 45-6654

Further adventures of the author of c/o Postmaster (Book Review Digest, 1943) during his travels in Australia, New Guinea, and the Southwest Pacific. Illustrated with cartoons by the author.

"St. George writes with a gay and facile pen. In spots he is solidly funny. He views the vicissitudes behind the lines with a gay, appreciative eye. I suspect that 'Proceed Without Delay' is a book that will be enjoyed particularly by all G.I.'s who have served in the Australia-Hollandia sector. And the pictures are cute." Dale Harrison

Book Week p4 Jl 22 '45 230w
Booklist 42:14 S '45

"Here's your road map—with its dull stretches, its sparkle of recurrent humor, its realness. But—for this reader at least—it doesn't measure up to its predecessor, nor are the sketches as spontaneous and funny."

+ — Kirkus 13:215 My 15 '45 210w

Reviewed by Thelma Brackett
Library J 70:635 Jl '45 80w

"Without trying to diminish the authentic humor and good narrative equipment which St. George brings along I nevertheless have the feeling that this is not exactly the time for chatty, 'garrison' humor treatment of the war. 'See Here, Private Hargrove' hit the nail on the head when it made laughs out of an American Army in training four years ago. But Hargrove's funny men long ago became Mauldin's Joe and Willie. And, though St. George's story closes on the really grim business of the Leyte operation, it is largely a funny book about the rear area behind the combat zone." Saul Levitt

N Y Times p6 Jl 29 '45 500w

"I am sure that even readers who liked 'C/O Postmaster' will be disappointed by 'Proceed Without Delay.' Sgt. St. George would do well to reconsider his role as a writer and attempt to find his level here as ably as he has located his niche as a cartoonist. Should he continue, however, to essay humorous Army writing he would be wise to read carefully the pages of 'Artie Greengroin, Pfc.' " Maurice Basseches

— + Sat R of Lit 28:17 Jl 21 '45 400w

"Although it is painful for a fervent admirer of the first book to say so, the sequel is a disappointment. 'C/O Postmaster' was refreshingly funny and gave promise of an army humorist of not inconsiderable stature; 'Proceed Without Delay' is forced, strikes true humor only in isolated spots, and seems to have been written in an entirely different mood than its predecessor." R. F. H.

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 8 '45 500w

Reviewed by George Conrad
Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 29 '45 230w
Wis Lib Bul 41:111 N '45

ST JOHN, JOSEPH F. Leyte calling . . . as told to Howard Handleman. 220p $2 Vanguard

940.542 World war, 1939—Philippine islands. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 45-1606

The personal story of a young American soldier who escaped when the Japanese conquered the Philippines and lived with the natives on Leyte and Mindanao for more than two years. In his account the native loyalty to the Americans is emphasized, and also the good accomplished by their guerrilla warfare, in which Lieutenant St John joined.

"A book in the vernacular by a hero who doesn't think of himself as one because the experience was so full of discomfort. His story is told with complete candor and a wry humor. The reader will get from it not only a comprehensive, colorful picture of that secret two-and-a-half year war, but an enhanced understanding of the islanders themselves." W. F. Morse

+ Book Week p2 F 18 '45 650w
Booklist 41:207 Mr 15 '45

Reviewed by G. C. Bartter
Boston Globe p6 F 21 '45 480w
Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '45
Foreign Affairs 23:693 Jl '45 20w

"This is straightforward, unembellished, and youthful."

+ Horn Bk 21:210 My '45 110w

"Verve and vivacity in the telling—and an interest-compelling record. Not 'literature' but good reading."

+ Kirkus 13:23 Ja 15 '45 180w

"A good addition to the current books on our war with the Japanese. Young people will like it. Mothers might object. Recommended." M. E. Clark

+ Library J 70:163 F 15 '45 40w

"One of the first eyewitness books on the war in the Philippines and a particularly entertaining narrative of a dramatic American war experience." Barrett McGurn

+ N Y Times p6 F 18 '45 600w

Reviewed by G. B. Coale
Sat R of Lit 28:28 Mr 10 '45 850w

" 'Leyte Calling' is a vivid insight into one man's experience in three years of Jap occupation, a tribute to the loyalty and other good qualities of the Filipino and, not least, an evening of fast-stepping, entertaining reading. There is a freshness in the narrative style and the subject matter reminding one of Mark Twain's frontier life in 'Roughing It.' " G. W. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 4 '45 700w
Time 45:100 Mr 5 '45 30w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Weekly Book Review p5 F 18 '45 800w

SALMON, EDWARD TOGO. History of the Roman world from 30 B.C. to A.D. 138. (History of the Greek and Roman world) 363p maps $5.50 Macmillan [20s Methuen]

937 Rome—History A45-1024

"The series forming a full 'History of the Greek and Roman World' has now reached its sixth volume, and remains to be completed by the publication of the initial volume on the early age of Greece. The present volume, originally promised from the pen of the late Robert Longden, has been written by Dr. Salmon, Professor of Ancient History, in McMaster University, Ontario." Times [London] Lit Sup

"Dr. Salmon quite rightly admits that his book can make no claim to originality; it is sound—and completely uninspired. He apologizes for having produced a work in which the personalities of the emperors may seem to have been given undue attention, but if he had taken the trouble to endow his emperors with personality, he might have been cheerfully forgiven by his readers. Furthermore, there is included in the book very little that one might not find in an ordinary textbook. If Dr. Salmon's reputation as a scholar were not already well established, he might be suspected of having consulted only the meager bibliography which his book contains." T. B. Jones

Am Hist R 50:786 Jl '45 480w

Reviewed by Lettice Fowler

Spec 174:130 F 9 '45 250w

"It is a wartime production, with signs of haste in its writing, and in its misprints; it is to be regretted that Mr. Longden, whose chapters on Nerva and Trajan in the Cambridge Ancient History were of rare promise in historical scholarship, was not able to write this volume; but Professor Salmon has done his work well and his volume lives up to the standard of the series."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p178 Ap 14 '45 950w

SALOMONE, ARCANGELO WILLIAM. Italian democracy in the making; the political scene in the Giolittian era, 1900-1914; introductory essay by Gaetono Salvemini. 148p $2.50 Univ. of Pa. press

945.09 Italy—Politics and government. Giolitti, Giovanni 46-148

"A history of Italian political currents and parties from 1900 to 1914, a period dominated by the controversial figure of Giolitti. The general reader, attracted by the title, will find little to guide his opinion on the political and democratic problems which now face Italy. The work is an historical interpretation made for the specialist. With scholarly resourcefulness the author accounts for the sharp antagonisms and deep undercurrents of indifference which make the years preceding the World War I so difficult to appraise." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

"An especially well written and interesting account of a neglected period of Italian political history." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Ja 6 '46 20w

Reviewed by G. D. McDonald

Library J 70:1025 N 1 '45 110w

SALTZMAN, ELEANOR. Stuart's hill. 142p $2 Ackerman

45-3912

Simply told story of an Iowa rural community, in which the life of the settlement centers around the chapel planned and erected by the people.

"Her story is true, and truly told. I have known such Iowa neighborhoods, and can testify that Miss Saltzman's knowledge is sound, her understanding unfailing. There is more rural sociology in this short novel than in many textbooks. . . Miss Saltzman's style in 'Stuart's Hill' is highly individual, marked by simplicity and restraint genuinely in harmony with the life story of the community and the church which was its heart. As a whole this novel is an individual and illuminating portrayal of a little-recognized phase of our Midwestern social background, a book which many readers will enjoy quietly but deeply, and prize in memory." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 My 6 '45 270w

"Eleanor Saltzman's writing has a beauty and delicacy which is peculiarly adapted to this tale of a chapel." H. J. Sloan

+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 13 '45 180w

SAMSON, ERIN. Claire; a portrait in motion. 249p $2.50 Harper

45-5905

A novel of French family life during the first two decades of the twentieth century. The chief character is the French-American girl, Claire, who gives up a career as a dancer to become the wife of an invalid French aristocrat.

"Exquisite is the single appropriate word to attach to Erin Samson's 'Claire: A Portrait in Motion.' To this novel of a woman of distinction against the background of French family life, Miss Samson brings the fastidious clarity and delicately intellectual penetrations of her French and the freshness and vitality of her American sources. Her medium is something akin to molten crystal congealing into beautiful fragilities that simulate in their icy perfection the lovely soft rondeurs of the living flesh." F. H. Bullock

+ Book Week p4 Je 24 '45 650w

"Claire tries 'not to pull the (small) incident out of proportion,' but the reader will feel that at times the author does this very thing, producing a tedium of detail. However, there is a spirit of matureness and poise about the story which is restful."

Cath World 161:523 S '45 200w

Reviewed by R. S. Myers

Churchman 159:15 S 1 '45 150w

"A somewhat protracted woman's story, tremulously played out."

Kirkus 13:186 My 1 '45 120w

"If Miss Samson had worked her considerable first-hand knowledge of prewar French family life into a simpler narrative, she might have turned out an interesting novel."

New Yorker 21:69 Je 23 '45 100w

"A first novel which possesses a luminous beauty as well as a tolerantly amused appreciation of human foibles." L. S. Munn

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 24 '45 300w

"This is a quiet, leisurely book, lit by the charm of the woman about whom it revolves. It has warmth and distinction. For American readers it is a particularly felicitous reminder of the France we have known and hope to know again." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Je 24 '45 550w

SANDAGE, CHARLES HAROLD. Radio advertising for retailers. 280p $4 Harvard univ. press [22s 6d Oxford]

659.14 Radio advertising. Retail trade A45-1308

"A detailed 'report based on a national study of the actual use of radio advertising by retail stores and services and by regional manufacturers.' (Title page) It is a study of local or regional advertising in which 382 advertisers, radio stations, advertising agencies, and allied businesses were surveyed. The analyses made cover which retailers used the radio, what kinds of programs were used, how successful they were, and the reasons for success or failure. The information will be valuable to local retailers and to radio station operators. The study was financed by a research grant made by the Columbia broadcasting system." Booklist

Booklist 41:335 Jl 15 '45

Library J 70:532 Je 1 '45 80w

SANDOZ, MAURICE YVES. Fantastic memories; il. by Salvador Dali. 128p $5 Doubleday

44-41882

"The fifteen narratives in 'Fantastic Memories' use familiar Dali material in a somewhat chastened form. They are not short stories, but tales at their fullest and anecdotes at their slimmest; most of them are preoccupied with death and all of them strive for effects of mystery and of the macabre." N Y Times

Kirkus 12:420 S 15 '44 160w

SANDOZ, M. Y.—Continued

"These 'memories' have no pretentiousness whatsoever, but are simple, even matter-of-fact, written in a lucid and unembellished prose. . . These anecdotes have a kind of charm, evanescent and of the surface, to be sure, like the charm of all efforts which are intended merely to divert. Since no greater claims are made for them, one can not fairly object that they have nothing to say on the subject of human life, sometimes thought to be the concern of literature. But to Dali's illustrations—signed, through some inexplicable crotchet of guile, with his wife's name—one may protest for exactly this reason, that they struggle to suggest a depth of content which they do not contain." Mark Schorer

N Y Times p5 Ja 28 '45 800w

"Dali has been so successful with these sketches that it is a temptation to believe that his metier is illustrating. The discipline of following another man's imagination seems to be good for him; he is limited in his symbology to the facts of the story, and what he tries to convey is more easily apprehended by the reader, who has something to go by. For this peculiar man, who might be termed a clairvoyant who registers his impressions in pictorial symbols, has been handicapped by the subjective nature of his language—his symbols are peculiar to himself and not classifiable by any known system. Thus the meaning of his art is pretty much guesswork for every one but himself. In the matter of these present tales, however, the case is different. Sandoz received the impressions, and Dali transferred them to pictures in an objective manner, adding only the impression of life in motion, the delineation of attributes operating as personality—selfishness, terror and longing." Thomas Sugrue

Weekly Book Review p4 D 31 '44 850w

SANDOZ, MAURICE YVES. The maze; il. by Salvador Dali. 110p $2.50 Doubleday

45-35233

A macabre story of an ancient castle in Scotland, over which a strange curse had hovered for two centuries. At a house party in the early part of the twentieth century the mystery was finally solved.

"Dali's drawings are marvelously vigorous and satisfying in a manner reminiscent of the cartoons of Tiepolo. They are done in line and wash and, far from being surrealistic, are directly representational. . . These physical factors, when taken in conjunction with the extraordinarily rococo quality of the story, constitute a rather haughty tour de force in the realm of book-making. As such 'The Maze' is something unique." R. J. Bender

Book Week p23 N 18 '45 380w

Booklist 42:111 D 1 '45

Kirkus 13:378 S 1 '45 90w

"A glum little tale. . . It is a model of imperfect exposition. The illustrations make up this lack, however, making 'The Maze' an item which, in the words of the jacket 'should please the most discriminating collector'—particularly if the collector should be fortunate enough to come by a copy signed by both the author and the illustrator." Russell Maloney

N Y Times p7 N 18 '45 340w

"It is well told and so well translated from the French that it sounds as if it had been written in English; but, so far as one can tell from this translation, it is of no serious literary interest. It is not a first-rate horror story. . . Nor is it credible as an explanation—though it comes close to explanations that have been proposed—of this most curious and fascinating of all authentic mysteries: the shut-off rooms of the great castle; the secret which, for generations, has been told only to the eldest son the day that he comes of age and which is always supposed to sober him profoundly. The illustrations by Dali are not of his best." Edmund Wilson

+ — New Yorker 21:100 N 24 '45 200w

"This is the second book Mr. Sandoz has produced with the assistance of Mr. Dali as illustrator. In the first, 'Fantastic Memories,' the author was bested by the artist; the text turned out to be a commentary on the Dali drawings. This time Mr. Sandoz has turned the tables on his friend; he has contrived a mystery story which will have the readers whizzing by the pictures with hardly a look. 'The Maze' is artfully contrived, with just enough puzzlement, no false clues, and a highly satisfactory and horrendous ending." Thomas Sugrue

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 6 '46 500w

SANDY, A. H. Dictionary of engineering and machine shop terms. 153p $2.75 Chemical pub. co.

621.7503 Machine shop practice—Dictionaries. Engineering—Dictionaries 45-3356

"Compiled in this volume are the definitions of many important terms used in machine shop industries, and engineering literature, written for engineers, students, and foremen." Chem & Eng N

Chem & Eng N 23:197 Ja 25 '45 30w

"Elementary, limited in scope, omits such words as centigrade, Fahrenheit, clutch, force fit, lock washer, wrench, using instead British word spanner, uses British threads, omitting U. S. threads. Has some words difficult to locate elsewhere."

Library J 70:221 Mr 1 '45 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:6 Ja '45

SANSOM, WILLIAM. Fireman Flower, and other stories. 236p $2.50 Vanguard [8s 6d Hogarth]

45-5348

A volume of twelve short stories, fantastic allegories, reminiscent of the Austrian writer, Kafka. Contents: Through the quinquina glass; The peach-house potting-shed; The forbidden lighthouse; Difficulty with a bouquet; In the maze; The witnesses; The long sheet; Pansovic and the spiders; The wall; The inspector; Saturation point; Fireman Flower.

"All of Sansom's writing is characterized by a deliberate and contrived objectivity coupled with an overintense absorption in detail. Consequently, the reading of his work is like examining each thread of the strand that holds a button in place on a coat. One encounters an almost intolerable torturing of small ideas as if the python of over-intellectualization were squeezing the life out of the small rabbit of narrative. Sansom has a very real power to discern what there is in life, but he is apparently so preoccupied with stylism that he seems to be the victim of a strong fear that he may enjoy what he perceives." R. J. Bender

Book Week p4 Ap 8 '45 650w

"The eerie, the erotic, the exaggerated in blend—for esoteric tastes."

Kirkus 13:92 Mr 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by Charles Marriott

Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 17 '44 80w

Reviewed by Isaac Rosenfeld

New Repub 112:682 My 14 '45 480w

"The first impression, and one which survives to the end of the book, is that Mr Sansom writes extremely well. His style is thoughtful, versatile and free from cliché—at times a little voulu, at times a little lush, but a positive and excellent style of his own. . . Mr. Sansom lacks his master's emotional profundity. Where Kafka wrote in symbols which expressed the deepest and most tormented regions of his own soul, his pupil's symbolism is far more directly allegorical, more external and therefore more superficial. . . We know that Kafka wrote not as a literary man, but as a tormented human being. Mr. Sansom, on the other hand, has selected Kafka's method as the one most appropriate to his literary talent. It is clear that he has chosen well, and if the result is more cerebral and less spontaneous than Kafka's, the very possibility of a comparison proves him an exceptional writer." Philip Toynbee

+ — New Statesman & Nation 27:128 F 19 '44 550w

"In these days of exhausted naturalism, it is good to find a talented new writer turning to allegories. In purpose, as in method, Mr. Sansom's short stories are in the purest American tradition: the allegory of Hawthorne, the evil of Moby Dick, the ambiguity of Henry James. He need not have adopted Kafka's ambiguity, therefore, nor have taken over the European symbols of frustration—prisons, mazes, bureaucratic machinery—in order to represent the inescapable cell of life, society and the neurotic self." Marjorie Farber

+ — N Y Times p4 Ap 1 '45 400w

"In the face of the superlative recommendations on the dust jacket by Miss Eudora Welty and a battery of English reviewers, it may seem merely eccentric to suggest that Mr. Sansom's allegorical narratives are no more than a great bluff. The intention of allegory is apparent, but, especially in the title story, it is so contrived and derived that the studiedly artless props (borrowed directly from Kafka) are also apparent and the reader never for a moment becomes involved either emotionally or intellectually in the fortunes of the symbolic characters. Mr. Sansom may, however, develop into an important writer if he will cut himself a pattern that is both genuine and his own."

— New Yorker 21:89 Ap 7 '45 140w

Reviewed by John Hampson

— Spec 172:228 Mr 10 '44 260w

Times [London] Lit Sup p101 F 26 '44 480w

"To this reviewer Mr. Sansom emerges as part mystic, part philosopher, part satirist, enamored of intellectual exercise and enamored of words. With few exceptions, the tales move heavily and ponderously through a plethora of words designed to hold profound philosophical concepts." Rose Feld

Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 25 '45 850w

SANTAYANA, GEORGE. Middle span; v2 [of] Persons and places. 187p $2.50 Scribner

B or 92

Continuation of the author's story of his life begun in Persons and Places (Book Review Digest, 1944). This volume covers his years of study in Germany, his early visits to England—the country he loved best, his various returns to Spain in his young manhood, and his thirty years as teacher at Harvard. Index.

"The Middle Span is written with the self-satisfaction of egotism and the cool breeze of serenity. It is also written with a command of English which would be pre-eminent at any time. One can only surmise when the notes for it were first begun; I suggest that some of these pages are the distillation of work begun twenty years ago. . . . It is the exaltation of the private life, the classic isolation of the ivory tower." Edward Weeks

Atlantic 175:129 My '45 600w

Reviewed by Wendell Johnson

Book Week p3 My 6 '45 550w

Booklist 41:254 My 1 '45

Reviewed by H. H. Yeames

Cath World 161:274 Je '45 700w

Cleveland Open Shelf p22 N '45

"George Santayana continues to write as if everyone he ever knew were dead and he himself were dead; as if he looked at himself and saw himself quite dead and not extremely interesting. And at the others also as if, like himself, they were interesting but not too intensely so. And therefore he has to compensate for the dreary spectacle of all that is past with a great deal of wit and an immaculate style. Of course when a man does that he becomes quietly ferocious. Vastly entertaining but ferocious."

Commonweal 42:96 My 11 '45 500w

"Figuring in these reminiscences are personages such as Henry James, William James, Eliot, Norton, Phelps—finely drawn portraits. But Santayana, the man, seems always remote. . . . This second volume has the distinction of the first, but in lesser measure, it seems slighter in substance. . . A sure item, however, for your customers who bought Volume I."

+ — Kirkus 13:77 F 15 '45 170w

Reviewed by Newton Arvin

Nation 160:548 My 12 '45 400w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley

New Repub 112:591 Ap 30 '45 1700w

"His generalizations are always interesting because he can scarcely be banal or dull, and his reflections are fascinating facets of the play of his mind on such 'essences as swim into his ken.' . . There has not in this generation been a similar stray spirit or such fusion of poet, mystic, monk, philosopher, cynic, and Tory. One may prefer the Santayana of his less personal books where the mystic, poet and philosopher are predominant, but this book rounds out the picture; it is, of course, seductively written, and with cool, almost pitiless, honesty." Irwin Edman

+ N Y Times p5 Ap 15 '45 1950w

"'Persons and Places' is an autobiography with a metaphysical plot: it stands somewhere between Proust's great novel and 'The Education of Henry Adams,' less dramatic and intense than the former but much richer in wisdom than the latter, and with more of humanity in it, with much more of the color of life and the understanding of human beings than the 'Education' of Adams included. If his book, in the long run, proves inferior in interest to either, it will be because Santayana, always an exile or an alienated native, has had no intimate and painful experience of the life of any social group, as Proust had of the decadence of France or Adams had of the big-business era in America. But he has furnished one of the highest examples of flexible international intelligence in a period that needs it badly." Edmund Wilson

+ New Yorker 21:83 My 5 '45 1400w

"With all the exciting quality of the work he has produced, a curiously unexciting personality emerges from his autobiography of which the second volume, 'The Middle Span,' has just been published. A personality too balanced as only the Latins can be balanced, and, despite the severity of his strictures on professors and on the lack of knowledge and disinterestedness in the academic world, what he himself remains is a man of that world. He can be at ease in other Zions, but still, whether in actual teaching or en retraite, it is the academic world that is his, and it is the persons of that world who are most attracted to him. Nevertheless, wherever he is, he is always the artist—he is the artist-scholar, the artist-philosopher, the scholar-poet, a not uncommon combination in universities, but rarely of this quality." M. M. Colum

Sat R of Lit 28:8 Ap 21 '45 1650w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon

Springf'd Republican p6 My 12 '45 700w

"It is less interesting and important than Volume I, which described brilliantly the conflict between Latin and U.S. cultures as sensed by an uncommonly perceptive youth. But Santayana's extraordinary mind and masterly prose could not produce a dull or unimportant book. He writes about the great figures of his time the way other biographers write about eccentric family servants."

+ — Time 45:98 Ap 23 '45 1150w

"Always Santayana seems to have missed attaining in fact what most commanded his esteem. But seldom has failure of a sort been productive of more solid fruitfulness in literature. There has been no such intellectual autobiography as this since 'The Education of Henry Adams.'" G. F. Whicher

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ap 15 '45 1150w

Wis Lib Bul 41:82 Jl '45

"While the portraits, whether of places or of persons, are both vivid and reflective, this volume on the whole lacks the warmth and color of the earlier instalment." Raphael Demos

Yale R n s 35:149 autumn '45 1100w

SARGENT, DANIEL. Mitri; or, The story of Prince Demetrius Augustine Gallitzin, 1770-1840. 327p il $3.50 Longmans

B or 92 Gallitzin, Demetrius Augustine 45-6086

A biography of this Russian nobleman who became a Roman Catholic and spent forty-five years as a missionary priest in the frontier settlements of Western Pennsylvania.

Booklist 42:75 N 1 '45

Christian Century 62:1011 S 5 '45 210w

"Sargent builds his biography on a solid basis. Unfortunately he is not very methodical in tracing the origin of his knowledge. While he points in his footnotes to many already well-known sources, I find several surprising statements for which he does not give a source. Therefore one is not always sure whether the author keeps strictly to the facts or does some fictionalizing. The best part of the book is the story of Gallitzin's priestly labors in the Alleghanies. . . It seems to me that one must understand young Gallitzin's development as resulting from a desire for simplicity and absoluteness in contrast to the high-flown verbosity of his mother and her circle of intellectuals. . . Abhorring the thin atmosphere of the European salons, with their philosophizing and discussions he chose a vigorous, stout-hearted Catholic life among American pioneers as the proper field of his vocation. I think that with such a psychological analysis Sargent's presentation of Gallitzin's work in the Alleghanies would have been still more convincing. But this does not prevent my saying with emphasis that Sargent's book is a valuable contribution to the story of both American pioneer life and early American Catholicism and most readable, though certainly not the definitive biography." Max Fischer

+ — Commonweal 42:386 Ag 3 '45 1250w

Kirkus 13:60 F 1 '45 250w

"Although begun in an irritating style, this biography of an 18th-century Russian prince who became the first Catholic priest trained wholly in the United States holds much of interest. . . Book shows American pioneer life from an unusual angle. Also gives picture of aristocratic Russian characters, the mother especially, an intellectually brilliant woman. Good bibliography; original sources exhaustively used." Thelma Brackett

+ — Library J 70:414 My 1 '45 110w

"Mr. Sargent is an admiring, but not uncritical, biographer of the prince who became a backwoods legend. His book is well proportioned, smoothly and sometimes wittily written, and fitted with enough documentation to make it acceptable to the scholarly but not enough to hobble it." J. S. Kennedy

+ N Y Times p16 S 23 '45 490w

"If Daniel Sargent had set out to write a work of fiction, he could not have given us a more fascinating tale than his latest biography. This is partly because the character he chose for his subject led a life that was full of adventure, and partly because Daniel Sargent has now the habit of producing some of the most interesting biographical writing being done in America today." T. S. Hanrahan

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 22 '45 360w

SASSO, JOHN, and BROWN, MICHAEL A. Plastics in practice; a handbook of product applications. 185p il $4 McGraw

668.4 Plastics. Plastics industry 45-5243

"Plastics in commercial applications, electrical, electronics, building, aircraft, automobile, refrigeration, furniture, toys, novelties, lighting, personal goods, industrial parts, marine, medical packaging and footwear. Facts on how and why plastics are used with probable future uses. Physical properties of plastics, choice of materials, methods of fabrication, design and cost factors." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 41:335 Jl 15 '45

"Plastics producers and molders, as well as designers and fabricators, will find these case histories of interest and value for solving similar or related problems."

+ Chem & Met Eng 52:232 Jl '45 150w

Library J 70:532 Je 1 '45 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:27 Ap '45

SATURDAY EVENING POST (periodical). Funny business; a new collection of cartoons; ed. by Marione P. [!] Derrickson and John Bailey. (Whittlesey house publication) [152p] $2.50 McGraw

741.5 Humor, Pictorial. Caricatures and cartoons 45-9013

Collection of cartoons by various artists, all selected from the Saturday Evening Post.

"Occasionally here there is real fantasy and freshness. The drawing is ordinary, and most of the gags are the standard derivatives commonly used to break up solid type, or to lure readers into the back advertising pages of magazines. The comic strip influence is too often present here. . . There are several Richters here, and they're the best in the book." Ray Duncan

Sat R of Lit 28:28 O 20 '45 500w

"Seventy-six artists are represented with a riotous medley of style, of humor and of artistic merit."

+ Springf'd Republican p6 S 20 '45 360w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p5 D 2 '45 40w

SAUNDERS, LYLE, comp. Guide to materials bearing on cultural relations in New Mexico. 528p $5 Univ. of N.Mex. School of inter-Am. affairs

016.9789 New Mexico—Bibliography. Indians of New Mexico—Bibliography. Mexicans in New Mexico—Bibliography 44-53707

"The core of the Guide is a detailed 95-page 'Dictionary-Guide,' indexing the contents of 263 selected titles which bear most closely on cultural relations in the state. Although compiled primarily as a reference work in the field of sociology, the volume should be of value to historians, ethnologists, archaeologists, economists, educators, librarians, and other specialists, since it includes references to much material oriented specifically in their fields of interest and touching only incidentally on problems of acculturation." School & Society

Reviewed by K. H. Wolff

Am Soc R 10:448 Je '45 600w

Reviewed by M. B. Ferguson

Library J 70:217 Mr 1 '45 230w

"As one who only profits from guides such as this, I would prefer not to look a gift horse in the mouth. Writing for an anthropological journal, I would praise without stint; the book well deserves a 'good review.' But it seems appropriate in a library journal to judge the work in terms not of how much better it is than nothing but of how far it falls short of an ideal. What seems to me fundamentally weak in the 'Dictionary-Guide' approach is its unsystematic character. The categories alphabetically listed are empirically, almost haphazardly, determined. If, instead, the compiler set himself the task of outlining a subject matter independently of the materials being indexed, he would have the basis for a more coherent and, I think, much more useful work." Sol Tax

Library Q 15:174 Ap '45 1300w

School & Society 61:239 Ap 14 '45 90w

SAVERY, CONSTANCE. Emeralds for the king; il. by Victor Dowling. 270p $2 Longmans

45-3234

A thirteen-year-old boy is the hero of this lively tale of England in the days of the troubles between Charles I and the Roundheads. Austin was a royalist; his twin stepbrothers Miles and Giles were loyal to Cromwell. All three were looking for a treasure in emeralds, supposed to be for the king. Altho held prisoner in his brothers' Cornwall home, Austin managed to gain possession of the jewels. For ages ten to fourteen.

Booklist 41:258 My 1 '45

Bookmark 6:16 Ag '45

"The story is so well written that it carries the reader along, in spite of a certain incredulity it arouses."

+ Horn Bk 21:197 My '45 60w

"A well-written yarn, warm personal relationships are well-drawn, there's a good bit of humor—and the reader is spared the 'period-piece manner' which slows up so many historical adventure tales."

+ Kirkus 13:65 F 1 '45 170w

"Book gives a vivid picture of England during this period and introduces Charles I himself. Recommended for grades seven to nine." Elizabeth Burr

+ Library J 70:416 My 1 '45 70w

"Constance Savery writes well; her tale has atmosphere as well as a capably handled story and her youthful plotters take on reality and substance for the reader. Victor Dowling's spirited drawings are in keeping with the tale." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p22 Ap 29 '45 180w

"A fast-moving, exciting tale. The characterizations in the story are of quite as much interest as the plot, the background is interesting and convincing, and there is abundant humor." R. A. Hill

+ Sat R of Lit 28:37 Je 16 '45 270w

School & Society 61:239 Ap 14 '45 20w

Social Studies 23:236 My '45 10w

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 24 '45 110w

"It gives the young reader much good adventure. The breath will be held a good part of the time. The mystery, as usual in Miss Savery's excellent historical romances for the teens, is as much involved in character as in events." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 29 '45 310w

SAVILLE, MALCOLM. Spy in the hills. 244p $2 Farrar

45-8893

A group of English children, spending the war years in a remote section of the country in the Shropshire hills, find themselves with a mystery and spies on their hands. For ages eight to twelve.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p7 Ja 6 '46 170w

"Real atmosphere, fine feeling for the country, excellent family relationships and a surprisingly good yarn for the age level. A real adventure and mystery plus good everyday exploration and animal interest."

+ Kirkus 13:341 Ag 1 '45 90w

"Recommended for ages ten to fourteen." S. J. Robinson

+ Library J 70:1140 D 1 '45 60w

"The twins make so many bright remarks one grows weary. The book does not look readable either, being in very fine print. The children from 8 to 12, who are expected to like it, will, I fear, take one look and say 'Dull.'" Phyllis Fenner

N Y Times p23 N 18 '45 100w

"Adventure stories for twelve-year-olds with contemporary scene, convincing characters and genuine adventure are still rare enough to note a newcomer. . . A story better than most of its kind for adults, because it is not machine-made."

+ Weekly Book Review p22 N 11 '45 380w

SAWDON, B. M. Son of Normandy. 288p $2.50 Curl

45-7204

A novel of life in provincial France in the late 1930's. The chief characters are Pierre de Montargis, hard working younger son of a noble Norman family, and the young English artist with whom he falls in love. Pierre's wife refuses to divorce him and tho a way is finally found out of his dilemma, his story and Margaret's ends in tragedy.

Booklist 42:38 O 1 '45

"Story and situations are unremarkable; the picture of rural France on the eve of war is well indicated."

+ Kirkus 13:257 Je 15 '45 130w

"The love affair of Pierre and Margaret is not a sordid one. It seems as inevitable as does the tragedy which brings it to a close. The characters and the background of this first novel are drawn with a loving hand that gives evidence of the author's abiding affection for France and its people." I. A.

+ N Y Times p30 Ag 5 '45 180w

"A serious, well-told first novel."

New Yorker 21:70 Ag 11 '45 100w

"The narrative catches the rhythm of living close to the soil, and conveys the deep sense of family and respect for tradition, but the hero's revolt against these ties has a touch of middle-aged tepidity." Lisle Bell

+ — Weekly Book Review p22 O 28 '45 90w

SAWYER, ROBERT THOMAS. Modern gas turbine. 216p il $4; text ed $3 Prentice-Hall

621.433 Gas turbines 45-1123

"First up-to-date American book on the principles of the modern gas turbine, construction and operation and its uses as a supercharger and prime mover, including jet propulsion. History of invention and recent developments in use of the gas turbine in Diesel engines and in aircraft. Operation of jet propelled plane which Admiral Ramsey predicts will speed as fast as sound, upward of 700 miles an hour. References." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 41:193 Mr 1 '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '45

Library J 70:34 Ja 1 '45 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:8 Ja '45

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:52 Je '45 160w

"Mr. Sawyer's book will be an invaluable manual to any one who wants to keep abreast of this work. Starting with fundamental principles and the early attempts, he comes to a discussion of modern uses in industry, marine service, on locomotives and in the air. Though there are formulae which will make the book useful to the engineer who wants something practical, the greater part of the book should be intelligible to the person lacking a specialized training." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 6 '45 220w

SAWYER, RUTH (MRS A. C. DURAND). This is the Christmas; a Serbian folk tale. [43p] $1.50 Horn bk.

Christmas stories 45-9579

Marko was found by Father Janovic. It was after a terrible storm. The Janovics fed him and as he grew older let him tend the sheep; but because he was of the Cigani—the gypsies—Marko could never be accepted by the Valley folk and he was not permitted to worship in the church. But Marko grew in beauty of spirit as well as in stature and in spite of his blindness learned to pipe beautiful music and to make friends with all the animals. On the Christmas when he was twelve a miracle occurred and the good priest realized that true blindness was theirs, not Marko's.

"This little book is surely the most charming Christmas story of the season." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p62 D 2 '45 270w

"No more fitting format can be imagined for Ruth Sawyer's lovely story than this in which it now appears as a book. . . Here is a little treasure, not only for Christmas time, but for a year-long reminder of the miracle of love." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 21:451 N '45 100w

SAWYER, RUTH—Continued

"Here is a lovely story. . . Ruth Sawyer has given it a perfect rendering in the traditional form of a story to be told or read aloud by the Christmas fire." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 21:446 N '45 60w

Kirkus 13:492 N 1 '45 110w

"Miss Sawyer's Christmas story of Serbia, published last year in the Horn Book and now brought out in a beautiful little book designed by Beulah Folmsbee is a must for all libraries. Decorated with designs adapted from peasant embroidery." J. D. Lindquist

+ Library J 70:1191 D 15 '45 50w

"Has the austere beauty of a winter landscape." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p42 D 2 '45 130w

"This is a Serbian legend, beautifully told by Ruth Sawyer who has recorded and told so many good stories. It is a small book, very well designed and printed." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:43 D 8 '45 300w

SAXON, LYLE, comp. See Writers' program, Louisiana. Gumbo ya-ya

SAYERS, MICHAEL, and KAHN, ALBERT EUGENE. Plot against the peace; a warning to the nation! 258p $2.75 Dial press

940.531 World war, 1939—Peace. Propaganda, German 45-4107

"Uncovers Nazi Germany's secret plans for a Third World War. The book reveals how the behind-the-scenes clique which really rules Germany, is plotting to undermine the peace, split the United Nations, and convert military defeat into actual victory." (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 Ap 29 '45 650w

Booklist 41:267 My 15 '45

Reviewed by G. C. Bartter

Boston Globe p15 My 2 '45 420w

"It is a familiar story, told here with incisiveness and completeness, and overlooking no opportunity to raise shudders. The authors make no attempt to indict the German people, though their chronicle brings the story down to the spring of 1945. . . Many readers, while profiting from the knowledge of facts related in this book, will wish to continue their analysis a little farther." C. M.

+ — Canadian Forum 25:121 Ag '45 290w

Christian Science Monitor p14 My 3 '45 550w

Reviewed by Bromwell Stephens

Churchman 159:18 Je 15 '45 300w

Foreign Affairs 24:159 O '45 20w

"Good reading, not over-dramatized but challenging."

+ Kirkus 13:178 Ap 15 '45 90w

New Repub 112:652 My 7 '45 700w

"Highly recommended book." Daniel Schwarz

+ N Y Times p4 Ap 29 '45 750w

New Yorker 21:90 My 12 '45 200w

"The danger here exposed is a real one. Messrs. Sayers and Kahn do not exaggerate it, nor do they need to do so. They have set down the facts, almost without comment. The facts speak for themselves, and eloquently." Waverley Root

+ Sat R of Lit 28:11 My 12 '45 800w

Springf'd Republican p4d My 13 '45 600w

SAYRE, JOEL. Persian Gulf command; some marvels on the road to Kazvin [il from paintings by Bruce Mitchell]. 140p $2 Random house

355.34 U.S. Army. Persian Gulf command. World war, 1939-1945—Transportation. Persia—Description and travel 45-7860

Describes the trials and accomplishments of the Persian Gulf command, that section of the United States army which was responsible for getting war supplies to Russia thru the heat and across the dreaded terrain of Iran. Some of the material appeared in the New Yorker.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 S 2 '45 500w

Booklist 42:34 O 1 '45

Christian Science Monitor p14 S 19 '45 300w

"Sayre writes with understanding and appreciation of the great contribution made by the men of the P.G.C. to the winning of the war. But his principal purpose is to recall and tell with a light and humorous touch the anecdotes that went the rounds of the camps. More little books like this one should be written about the other war theaters." W. G. B.

+ Eng N 136:160 Ja 10 '46 410w

"Not for all readers; he-man stuff."

Kirkus 13:287 Jl 1 '45 150w

"Completely ignoring foxholes and the Infantry, Joel Sayre has written very nearly the liveliest—and certainly the most adult—war correspondent's book to appear so far. . . [The book] is perhaps too jovial and high-spirited to indicate the full measure of boredom and misery the rear-echelon troops in that 'land of romance' endured, but men formerly stationed in the Persian Gulf area say that on the whole Sayre is as accurate as he is readable."

+ New Repub 113:325 S 10 '45 180w

"The author devotes much of his book to the history of this ancient land and to its present, as well as its past, religious customs. Too much importance, I think, is given to this historical background and not enough to the actual deeds of the enlisted men, to whom the real credit belongs for accomplishing a gigantic task under almost unbearable conditions. For while much has been written about the combat soldier, very little has been said about the service troops. One might have hoped that in this book about a supply route, these forgotten truck drivers, stevedores and railroad men, would receive their due credit." James Winchester

N Y Times p5 S 2 '45 1050w

New Yorker 21:76 S 1 '45 80w

"It is the first good record of an orphaned supply command. The record is never phonily presented as an epic, but the epic tone is there." Al Hine

+ Sat R of Lit 28:35 S 1 '45 600w

Time 46:103 S 10 '45 1300w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:8 D '45 120w

"This little classic is stuffed like a sausage with anecdotes and characters. I never liked a Western film better than the story of Corporal Harry Slick, fireman on the train that ran away in the Zagros Mountains. Read and hold your breath. . . Joel Sayre has an ear for sound. Go with him to see the whirling men, Iran's prize athletic diversion; laugh at what the censors found in love letters back home to ladies who wanted tales of Japs and pillboxes; laugh again at the up-and-out critics of U. S. O. shows, and see what a first-rate writer can do in description of a train dispatcher's life." Ernestine Evans

+ Weekly Book Review p3 S 2 '45 1150w

SCHACHT, ALEXANDER. GI had fun; composition and spelling by Murray Goodman. 136p $2 Putnam

940.548173 World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American 45-5549

"The veteran clown of baseball, more famed for his pantomime than his pitching, went overseas as a one-man show and entertained troops first in North Africa and later in the South Pacific. . . In this modest chronicle he tells of his experiences. He discovers that most of the boys knew more about batting averages and baseball history than he remembered, that one of their ambitions when they get home is to buy a farm or a jeep, and that the pin-up girl business is just press-agent stuff." Weekly Book Review

Book Week p4 Jl 1 '45 180w

"Amusing incidents rather than lines of gags, told by a guy who did it for the boys he loved."

+ Kirkus 13:176 Ap 15 '45 170w

Weekly Book Review p10 Jl 1 '45 130w

SCHALDACH, WILLIAM JOSEPH. Currents and eddies; chips from the log of an artist-angler [il. by the author]. 138p $5 Barnes, A.S.

799.12 Fishing Agr45-101

A former associate editor of Field and Stream writes about fishing, mainly in the country not far from New York. The book contains much autobiographical material, recalling the author's fishing experiences from boyhood fishing trips, to his adult adventures with elaborate fishing equipment. Illustrated in color, and in black and white.

Booklist 41:318 Jl 1 '45

"There is lots of good sound advice on tackle and equipment, on the hows and whys and whens. But the charm of the book lies in the anecdotal quality—good tales of good fishing. Perfect gift."

+ Kirkus 12:561 D 15 '44 80w

"Here and there he discusses the various types of equipment and their uses—but for the most part he dwells lovingly on the mere joy of fishing. His beautiful illustrations, some of them in full color, enhance the value of the book to those who may find in it something to remind them of their own happy days with rod, reel and line." I. A.

+ N Y Times p29 Ja 14 '45 240w

New Yorker 20:71 Ja 27 '45 70w

"It's a grand book." L. E. Bigelow

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 28 '45 300w

Wis Lib Bul 41:28 F '45

SCHAUFFLER, ROBERT HAVEN. Florestan; the life and work of Robert Schumann. 574p il $3.75 Holt

B or 92 Schumann, Robert Alexander 45-7949

This biography of Robert Schumann is in two parts. Part one, written in popular, entertaining style, traces the course of his life from his unhappy childhood to his last days in an insane asylum. Part two contains critical discussions of Schumann's musical works.

"A full biography of Robert Schumann has been long overdue. The Life by Frederick Niecks, which appeared just after the First World War, has stood alone these many years as the only adequate one in English. Many will be grateful to Mr. Schauffler for choosing a subject which so asks for retelling, for brushing off old bones in his own inimitable way, and for applying to them his readable, breezy, and unblushingly colloquial style." J. N. Burk

+ Atlantic 176:136 S '45 360w

Reviewed by Felix Borowski

Book Week p6 S 2 '45 300w

Booklist 42:55 O 15 '45

Bookmark 6:14 N '45

Reviewed by L. A. Sloper

Christian Science Monitor p14 S 1 '45 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45

Reviewed by Margaret Byard

Commonweal 43:149 N 23 '45 260w

"Mr. Schauffler has obviously been conscientious in his research, but he makes the great error of trying to fathom Schumann's neurotic personality at a distance of a century or so and with the dubious assistance of musicologists and other theory-makers who have already furnished each bit of Schumanniana with countless exaggerated significances." M. A. Schubart

N Y Times p12 O 28 '45 500w

"Like Mr. Schauffler's other books on musical subjects, 'Florestan' is written in semi-popular style, but his writing here has a quality of sensitivity not evident in his earlier biographies. Wisely, he has quoted liberally from Schumann's magazine articles, his letters and those of Clara, as well as parts of her diary. As a result, the reader clearly sees the gradual development of those noble traits of character which endeared Schumann to those around him, and which are so strongly revealed in his music. . . The second section of the book is devoted to a detailed consideration of much of the music. Obviously written to stimulate the musical amateur, some of the comments will undoubtedly serve their purpose. One cannot but feel, however, that these pages are somewhat cluttered by the search for the paternity of what the author calls 'source motives,' a search which frequently descends to the level of the 'Tune Detective.'" Lee Pattison

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:13 S 1 '45 1200w

"If the provocative Schumann has caused Mr. Schauffler to be provocative in turn, even irritating at moments, I am ready to cheer. This is a stirring book, made the more useful by a list of Schumann's recorded works, and by separate indexes of his instrumental and vocal compositions." John Erskine

+ Weekly Book Review p2 S 2 '45 1500w

Wis Lib Bul 41:99 O '45

"Mr. Schauffler's enthusiasm for Schumann and his music results in a long discursive book filled with anecdotes, allusions, quotations, metaphors, and pedantic analyses, all of which tend to smother the facts his research has assembled. A book half as long would retain all that is valuable, and sacrifice nothing of importance." Richard Donovan

— Yale R n s 35:353 winter '46 650w

SCHENCK, EARL. Lean with the wind; a novel of the South seas; il. by [the author]. (Whittlesey house publication) 338p $2.75 McGraw

45-8176

Novel based on the author's sixteen years in Polynesia. The Durands of Papeete were part Breton-French, part native, with a dash of Scottish blood. The tale is filled with their gay, lusty lives, a shipwreck, buried treasure, and a son married to a native princess who saves the family from bankruptcy in the very split second of time.

"'Lean With the Wind' is, by all odds, one of the best books yet written about Polynesia. Its author lived 16 years on the islands with an eye for sunlight and shadow and his book is vivid, exciting and—most important—accurate. He does not glamorize Tahiti, nor does he write with a deliberate emphasis on tragedy, as did Nordhoff and Hall." Ralph Peterson

+ Book Week p16 S 23 '45 310w

Booklist 42:95 N 15 '45

"Good entertainment value."

+ Kirkus 13:275 Jl 1 '45 210w

"A good 'escape' tale." J. L. Ross

+ Library J 70:820 S 15 '45 70w

"As unashamed romance, this book's obvious weakness is its lack of a love-interest capable of elevating sluggish blood pressures. For high-octane amatory involvements, plus an even richer helping of South Sea island magic, the reader is advised to see Mr. Schenck's non-fiction account of his own Polynesian meanderings, 'Come Unto These Yellow Sands,' published some years ago. The present volume's romantic deficiency is serious, but nothing that a few visual aids (like Technicolor and Dorothy Lamour) won't overcome when Mr. Schenck's vehicle reaches Hollywood." Richard Match

N Y Times p7 S 16 '45 650w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue

Sat R of Lit 28:58 O 13 '45 750w

Reviewed by R. E. Morgan

Springf'd Republican p6 O 9 '45 390w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p22 O 28 '45 130w

SCHERF, MARGARET. Owl in the cellar. 203p $2 Doubleday

45-9575

Detective story.

Kirkus 13:325 Ag 1 '45 60w

SCHERF, MARGARET—Continued
Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p26 S 9 '45 150w

"Begins well, has plenty of action, numerous wacky characters, and ample local color—but end is a state of collapse. Average."
Sat R of Lit 28:38 S 22 '45 50w

" 'The Owl in the Cellar,' at any rate, is one of the funniest whodunits we've perused—too good, really, to be classified as screwball, considering all that dubious bracket signifies." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p16 S 9 '45 110w

SCHLESINGER, ARTHUR MEIER, 1918-. Age of Jackson. 577p $5 Little

973.56 U.S.—Politics and government—1783-1865. Jackson, Andrew 45-8340

"This is not merely a history of a Presidential administration, it is an exhaustive inquiry into Jacksonian democracy as an intellectual as well as a political-philosophic movement. As Mr. Schlesinger sees it, the real struggle of the Jacksonians was not so much between them and Hamiltonian conservatism; it was, rather, an inner one in which the Jacksonians strove, often unconsciously, to reconcile their philosophy with the Jeffersonian philosophy of anti-Statism they inherited—the 'Jeffersonian myth,' the author calls it, which pretended that an active, aggressive liberalism did not need a strong government to carry out its reforms. Mr. Schlesinger believes that a backward glance at the battles and victories of Andrew Jackson is important to American democracy in these years of swift social changes." (New Yorker) Bibliography. Index.

" 'The Age of Jackson' is one book that today's students of government should not overlook. For they can hardly have a full appreciation of today's social, economic and political problems without it." M. P. Akers
+ Book Week p10 S 16 '45 700w
Booklist 42:54 O 15 '45

"This is an interesting and thought-provoking story, told in a style which at times can be brilliant. The author is widely read and has brought to light much new fact. He is particularly apt in characterizing people, and has sketched many notable portraits, particularly of men less well known. His main fault is the strength of his enthusiasm; Jackson's opponents never get a break. Conservatives are as inevitable as liberals and, some would maintain, just as useful." R. F. Nichols
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 S 24 '45 650w

"The Age of Jackson is richer than a novel, more illuminating than a biography. . . A scholarly work, doubly valuable because it is so well-written." C. T.
+ Current Hist 9:457 N '45 700w

"A thoughtful and scholarly book, substantially documented, but not for popular reading."
+ Kirkus 13:290 Jl 1 '45 300w

"This book is a triumph of historical scholarship, analysis, and interpretation. It is richly documented. Its author has examined with profit a wealth of manuscript material, public records, the writings of major figures in our national history, and out-of-the-way pamphlets and books of obscure figures who prove to be not so minor after all. This abundant labor throws much new light on a host of Americans, well-known and less well-known, who come to life in remarkable portraits that are both brilliant and sensitive." Merle Curti
+ Nation 161:406 O 20 '45 750w

"At a time when such a heavy proportion of second-rate or downright shoddy historical writing is being widely praised and widely read, it is a pleasure to report on a book like this and find oneself part of a general chorus of approval. Mr. Schlesinger's book is a major contribution to American historiography." Richard Hofstadter
+ New Repub 113:541 O 22 '45 950w

"Crisply written, full of pungent comment and quotation, and abounding in vivid thumbnail sketches of important figures, Mr. Schlesinger's book possesses unflagging interest. Parts of it will excite dissent. It perhaps overemphasizes the East as against the West; equal attention to Western utterances and opinions would furnish a different view. It is excessively hostile to Whig leaders and Whig ideas, the caustic treatment of Daniel Webster and Horace Greeley seeming especially unfair. It sometimes rides its thesis a bit too hard. But it is a remarkable piece of analytical history, full of vitality, rich in insights and new facts, and casting a broad shaft of illumination over one of the most interesting periods of our national life." Allan Nevins
+ — N Y Times p1 S 16 '45 1850w
+ New Yorker 21:89 S 15 '45 160w

"The book's double focus on the man and the age makes it as much social history as party battles, economic interpretation as historical inquest. Most of it is interestingly and some excitedly presented—a style which hides the patient research, shrewd analysis, and weighing of evidence which preceded the prose. Adequate footnotes and bibliography reveal the scaffolding of scholarship. The example of the fine social history of the author's father, and the early professional training of the son, laid the foundations for the present volume." G. F. Milton
+ Sat R of Lit 28:10 S 29 '45 1100w
Time 46:103 O 22 '45 1350w
Times [London] Lit Sup p589 D 15 '45 3500w

"The Age of Jackson will delight the advanced student of American history, but its plenitude of detail and its author's interest in ideologies may weary the general reader."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:34 D '45 320w

"With this book Mr. Schlesinger, now in the Army and still a year or two short of thirty, emerges as a challenging historian. A short review can establish no point of view from which sufficiently to indicate the richness, the brilliance, or the pioneering novelty of 'The Age of Jackson.' It overturns fundamental historical ideas—the most conspicuous though not the most important of the revisions is the book's demonstration that the ideas, the strength and the leadership of Jacksonian democracy mostly developed from the social conflicts of the industrial East, not from the individualism of Turner's frontier. But Mr. Schlesinger's revisions are on the whole less valuable than his innovations." Bernard De Voto
+ Weekly Book Review p1 S 16 '45 1800w
Wis Lib Bul 41:126 D '45

SCHMITT, BERNADOTTE EVERLY, ed. Poland. (United nations ser) 500p il maps $5 Univ. of Calif.

943.8 Poland—History. Poland—Civilization A45-933

Symposium on the development of Poland during her years of independence—1919 to 1939. Includes chapters on historical background, geographical factors, people, economic and social development, etc., by authorities in each field. Selected bibliography. Index.

"This is a symposium in the 'United Nations Series' of which Professor Robert J. Kerner is general editor. Thirteen of the authors are Polish scholars and nine are Americans. Professor Schmitt, the editor of this volume and author of a chapter on the rebirth of Poland after World War II, has done an admirable job in knitting together these various contributions into a unified whole. The volume should prove to be the standard handbook on Poland, even if that country appears headed for a fate similar to that it suffered after the Napoleonic Wars." R. L. Buell
+ Am Hist R 51:113 O '45 1100w

Reviewed by Paul Honigsheim
Am J Soc 51:170 S '45 700w

"The editor's judgment as to the relative amount of space devoted to various subjects in the book and his decision as to which topics should receive treatment and which should not, may be questioned; and the unevenness in the quality of the various contributions may be deplored. Nevertheless, this and its sister volumes do represent a systematic attempt to provide comprehensive treatment for a given nation or area, descriptions of constitutional, political, diplomatic, and economic behavior being supplemented with adequate discussions of cultural phenomena, and the whole being prefaced with an outline of historical development. Whatever limitations they may suffer from, these volumes would have been highly regarded by those responsible for the 'area' programs of various recent military training curricula, and they may well find a considerable field of usefulness in civilian curricula." A. J. Zurcher

+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:606 Je '45 450w

"The present volume has, on the whole, eminently succeeded in its prime objective. It is well planned and organized, critical, objective, and relentlessly accurate. . . Though the spirit of cool intellectual detachment permeates the entire book, one can hardly resist the impression that, unbelievable as it may seem, it is the contributions by Polish scholars that are marked by severest restraint and most pronounced tendency to hew close to the line. Their deliberate preference for fact-finding, statistical and analytical method, makes their contributions look perhaps somewhat less revealing in comparison with those of their American colleagues, but it also makes them less debatable." Thaddeus Mitana

+ Ann Am Acad 240:155 Jl '45 850w

Booklist 41:207 Mr 15 '45

"The story of Poland through the centuries and a picture of Poland today are so complicated and controversial that a balancing of the views of various competent and disinterested specialists is helpful. This book promises to be one of the most useful that has appeared on this subject." R. H. Markham

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 F 13 '45 600w

Foreign Affairs 23:519 Ap '45 20w

Geog R 35:690 O '45 130w

"Sound, scholarly study, invaluable to the student of Polish affairs, but somewhat weighty for the general reader. Recommended for college and larger public libraries." G. W. Wakefield

+ Library J 70:68 Ja 15 '45 130w

"By a judicious choice of collaborators Professor Schmitt has produced a highly scholarly and timely volume on the political, economic and cultural life of Poland between the two wars. An exemplary typographical presentation combines with clarity of style and an objective approach to make the reading of the volume as agreeable as it is profitable at a time when the Polish question—and the difficulties that have attended its solution—occupies world attention." Hans Kohn

+ N Y Times p21 My 6 '45 420w

Times [London] Lit Sup p289 Je 23 '45 4900w

"From the point of view of the American reader, the two chapters dealing with American-Polish relations are especially welcome. On the other hand, it is regrettable that Polish history prior to the first World War receives relatively scant treatment, particularly since this subject has not been fully covered in English. But in spite of unavoidable shortcomings, Poland should be of interest to the wide strata of readers interested in international affairs and their historical background."

+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 1:31 Je '45 240w

SCHNEIDER, ALICE. Mother Goose tells time. See Mother Goose

SCHOEN, MAX. The understanding of music. 187p $2 Harper

780.1 Music—Philosophy and esthetics. Music—Psychology 45-872

"The discussion opens with a chapter on what art is, followed by an examination of the place of music among the arts, and then an exposition of what constitutes the musical hearing of music. These three chapters prepare the ground for investigating the possible methods of procedure for the cultivation of the musically esthetic response." (Pref) Index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45

"Schoen's ambiguities, while certainly not unusual, are particularly unfortunate, since his book is primarily concerned with music, which is at once the art of 'surface' and the art of 'emotion,' par excellence. . . I do not wish to imply by the above strictures that Professor Schoen's book is without merit. Although the first chapter is not particularly new or original, the subsequent chapters, which are concerned with musical esthetics and education, are often illuminating and suggestive. Particularly is this true of chapter three, in which Schoen discusses with insight the different levels of musical perception. . . Schoen's book is decidedly worth reading, particularly by those critics, educators, and lovers of music who wish an empirical and sensible introduction to musical esthetics. For them, more perhaps than for professional estheticians, it will provide a challenging experience." Henry Aiken

+ — J Philos 42:161 Mr 15 '45 1500w

SCHOENFELD, SEYMOUR J. The Negro in the armed forces; his value and status—past, present, and potential. 84p $1.10 Associated pubs.

325.26 Negroes as soldiers 45-6572

Brief history of the part played by Negro soldiers and sailors in all of the wars in which this country has been involved. Bibliography. No index.

Cath World 162:94 O '45 180w

"The result is unsatisfactory, even though Henry Wallace says that 'it is the duty of everyone who believes in the Declaration of Independence to read this book.' The issue for the future of American democracy involved in our handling of our colored service men is a major one, but this is not a book that will do much to help settle that issue."

— Christian Century 62:861 Jl 25 '45 80w

Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 29 '45 120w

SCHOLZ, JACKSON VOLNEY. Goal to go. 218p $2 Morrow

45-6471

A story about football at Annapolis.

"Not a slow page, plenty of football and a serving of sound American philosophy."

+ Book Week p14 N 11 '45 130w

"Though the Annapolis background is interesting and accurate, the story is undistinguished, as are the characters."

— + Kirkus 13:341 Ag 1 '45 40w

"The old, familiar school story has been written smoothly, honestly and against an Annapolis background so that it turns out to be one of the best football stories in some time." Ruth McEvoy

+ Library J 70:824 S 15 '45 60w

"Readers may grow impatient with Jeff's self-absorption and the nursing of his resentment. It does seem a bit overdrawn for an otherwise normal boy. But interest in the story is held by the colorful background of the Naval Academy and by plenty of good football well described." R. A. H.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:64 N 10 '45 270w

SCHRAG, OTTO. Sons of the morning. 353p $2.75 Doubleday

45-10358

Two American veterans return to their New England village after World war II and land in a mess of suspicion and ill-will the meaning of which they cannot grasp at first. When the French girl engaged to one of them arrives from France, and a conscientious objector comes out of jail and joins them, things really begin to happen. It takes a fine American girl to straighten out the tangle.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy

Book Week p1 N 18 '45 1350w

"Realism that's not for delicate palates."

Kirkus 13:405 S 15 '45 180w

SCHRAG, OTTO—Continued

"'Sons of the Morning' has atmosphere, pathos and suspense. But Otto Schrag has somehow got the whole picture out of focus. . . There may be a town somewhere in the United States as uniformly ignorant and also luckless as Schrag's fictional Cedarville, but probably there is not. Fortunately for the central characters, though perhaps less so for the novel, most of the machinations remain in the gossip stage. The menace gradually lessens, despite all the macabre rumor and grisly talk." Kenneth Fearing

— + N Y Times p26 N 25 '45 360w

"The whole thing is about as distant, in both insight and observation, from its New England setting as anything you could imagine. The book does have its moments, and makes a tolerably eloquent plea for tolerance. But no one who has ever watched the true Yankee bigot in action will be taken in by the town meeting described here. As for the ending, full of embraces, forgiveness, and rainbows, New England was never like that."

— + New Yorker 21:117 N 17 '45 160w

"Mr. Schrag has so well created the vicious and destructive force of his characters that the sudden conversion and promise of amity in the end comes as a bit of a shock and is not wholly convincing. He has in careful detail demonstrated to the reader every shade of ill-will operating and then, in conclusion, demands that an almost complete reversal of individual and collective behavior be accepted at face value." G. G. Bates

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:14 D 29 '45 700w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 30 '45 420w

"This is one of the first 'post-war' novels, a story not of a brave new world of triumphant democracy and scientific achievement, but of plain people—those who went and those who stayed—struggling to recover from a shock that had upset familiar ways, thrown habits and emotions into new alignments. There is much that is disturbing in this sensitive and unpretentious story, and with it wisdom and beauty in the author's insight into individuals and their impacts on one another." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p8 N 18 '45 900w

SCHRODINGER, ERWIN. What is life? the physical aspect of the living cell. 91p il $1.75 Macmillan [6s Cambridge]

574 Life (biology). Biological physics 45-6254

"Professor Schrödinger is a world-renowned specialist, a physicist who shared with Paul Dirac the Nobel Prize for physics in 1933. Recognising the dilemma we are all faced with owing to the fact that the sum-total of our knowledge today exceeds the capacity of any single mind 'fully to command more than a small specialised portion of it,' he has here presented a synthesis of human knowledge as regards life. . . In order to make this synthesis he has been at pains to try to assimilate all the material made available by specialised biological research up-to-date." Spec

"I hope this little book will be read not only with the respect due to its author, the illustrious discoverer of wave mechanics, but also with warm sympathy for the attempt made here towards the kind of synthesis of which we are so much in need to-day." M. Polanyi

Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 26 '45 300w

Reviewed by Martin Lebowitz

Nation 161:342 O 6 '45 630w

"The title will secure, no doubt, a big sale for the book; and, as it is a well-informed and accurate work, that might be all to the good. But it is so specialised and technical and inevitably so full of scientific terms for which there are no alternatives in established language, that it will certainly disappoint more serious and intelligent non-scientific students than it will gladden or enlighten. Had the title page shown the sub-title only—'The Physical Aspect of the Living Cell'—all would have been well, and this scholarly and important little book would have found, as one hopes it will still find, its way into the hands of those who can appreciate it." Harry Roberts

New Statesman & Nation 29:146 Mr 3 '45 600w

"This I take to be one of the most valuable books ever issued by the Cambridge University Press in its importance to educated men and women." W. J. Turner

+ Spec 174:84 Ja 26 '45 1000w

Times [London] Lit Sup p44 Ja 27 '45 1150w

SCHUCKING, LEVIN LUDWIG. Sociology of literary taste [tr. by E. W. Dickes]. (Int. lib. of sociology and social reconstruction) 78p $2 Oxford [7s 6d Routledge]

809 Literature—History and criticism. Literature—Philosophy 44-9598

Study of the various factors which determine the reputation of a literary work of art, and an inquiry into the subject of the influence of these works and their expression of the spirit of the age. Contents: Contemporary taste and the spirit of the age; The sociological medium of literature in the past; Shifting of the sociological position of the artist; Literature and public; The start of new trends of taste; Means of selection; Public recognition. The book was published in Germany in 1931. Index.

Reviewed by David Daiches

Am J Soc 51:78 Jl '45 450w

"The book is rather a provocative essay, illustrative and anecdotal, analyzing the relation of taste to the economic and other non-aesthetic forces. Most sociologists would have very little quarrel with the principles here enunciated. Many of us could cite studies in the fields of the arts which could have profited greatly from the lesson here advanced. Since this essay lies in the twilight zone of two more or less autonomous fields of learning, it may be pondered most seriously by those who need it the least. The original German work was published in 1931. The translation, with the exception of a few expressions, is an excellent one." J H. Mueller

+ Am Soc R 10:448 Je '45 650w

Manchester Guardian p3 Je 30 '44 100w

"This analysis is probably more gloomy than the facts warrant. Moreover, it is defective in concentrating exclusively upon the purely mechanical elements in literary success without attempting to relate them in a more fundamental way to the findings of either psychology or esthetics. Yet the book is important, not only for the richness of historical reference with which it is ornamented—as might be expected from a literary historian of Professor Schücking's eminence—but also for underlining once more those points at which popular literary judgments are most vulnerable and at which, accordingly, these judgments are most likely to entrap the literary historian disposed to take them seriously.". D. F. Bowers

+ — N Y Times p10 Mr 11 '45 1050w

Times [London] Lit Sup p322 Jl 1 '44 550w

SCHULL, JOSEPH. I, Jones, soldier [poem]. 62p $2 Macmillian

811 World war, 1939—Poetry 44-40317

"Joseph Schull was born in South Dakota, but has lived most of his life in Canada. 'I, Jones, Soldier' is drawn from his experiences with the Canadian armed forces. The soldier of the poem waits, with the platoon he commands, for zero hour. . . Thematically, there is the recurrent question: Soldier, what seek you? Soldier, what do you here? The answer, as near as he can come to it, is that the search, by a generation brought up on hatred and lies, is for Truth." Weekly Book Review

"The writing is rather facile, though there are fewer clichés than one might expect; there is the usual sandwiching of nostalgia and narrative; there is a good deal of the spineless and flaccid rhythm of too easily written free verse, and a certain amount of blather. But there is a very real sincerity, and much of the readability and continuity which sincerity on such a theme is likely to give." N. F.

+ — Canadian Forum 24:166 O '44 280w

"In addition to loose character motivation and murky imagery, the main reason for Schull's lack of clarity is that of form. The form is diffuse and derived more from radio technique than verse technique. That is, the line follows the rhythm of conversation rather than the rhythm of a verse pattern." J. E. Schevill

— Poetry 66:226 Jl '45 180w

"It is well done, all of it; certainly not the careful, detached, objective verse that armchair critics praise most as poetry out of the war, but dramatic, sound and in a real way, deeply moving."

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Je 3 '45 270w

SCHULTZ, THEODORE WILLIAM, ed. Food for the world. 352p $3.75 Univ. of Chicago press

338.1 Food supply A45-1551

"Consideration of the problem of world food supply, by twenty-two specialists in economics, nutrition, population and agriculture. Much of the study is as current as the Hot Springs Conference and Dumbarton Oaks." Current Hist

"Specialists in many fields will value the book for its competent treatment of the subjects of their immediate concern. The general reader will find his reward in brilliant presentations of broad policy." M. M. Heseltine

+ Am J Pub Health 35:1327 D '45 310w

Reviewed by Faith Clark

Am J Soc 51:343 Ja '46 700w

Reviewed by John Lindberg

Ann Am Acad 240:138 Jl '45 410w

Booklist 41:220 Ap 1 '45

Bookmark 6:8 My '45

"The book becomes necessary reading for anybody who is interested in what it reveals as a primary problem for statesmanship. Its most encouraging revelation is the influence which efforts to correlate food policies have had in harmonizing international relations."

Christian Century 62:838 Jl 18 '45 200w

"The scope of this fascinating symposium, consisting of papers read at the Twentieth Institute of the Harris Foundation, is as vast as the title indicates, and if it has a fault, it is that it is not vast enough. Not all the experts on food and related matters were there, and not quite everything was said."

+ — Commonweal 42:335 Jl 20 '45 1700w

Current Hist 8:442 My '45 50w

Foreign Affairs 23:690 Jl '45 30w

"Presentation of a subject by many authors insures much information on its many facets but may confuse the reader through differences in opinion and interpretation of facts. Mr. Schultz lessens this difficulty by including the discussion of participants and by several papers in the final section of the book on food policy in an expanding economy but might have been even more helpful if he had pointed out the questions still unsettled at the end of the Institute." M. L. Cowles

J Home Econ 37:522 O '45 320w

Kirkus 13:100 Mr 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by C. M. Hardin

N Y Times p4 My 13 '45 1000w

"Everyone interested in the broad implications and applications of nutrition and its relation to agriculture, economics, sociology, and international relations should read this book." Martha Koehne

+ Survey 81:247 S '45 400w

Times [London] Lit Sup p207 My 5 '45 500w

"A comprehensive volume, timely, and of permanent value."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:22 Je '45 160w

"For anyone who wishes to see our food and farmers in true political perspective—not as local features of our rural landscape but as vital links in our national economic and foreign policies—this book is absolutely essential reading." A. W. Griswold

+ Yale R n s 35:165 autumn '45 950w

SCHUNK, RUSSELL JACOB. Pointers for public library building planners. 67p pa $1.25 A.L.A.

022 Library architecture 45-35232

"A compact, simple introduction to the matter of building a new library or remodeling an old one, for librarians, trustees, and architects. Fundamental principles from site selection to moving are set down, as well as suggestions on specific items of construction and equipment, such as attics, display windows, fireplaces, atlas cases, and vertical files. Architectural technicalities and floor plans are omitted. . . Selected bibliography." Booklist

Booklist 42:103 D 1 '45

"A useful contribution to the literature of library architecture." J. A. Lowe

+ Library J 71:52 Ja 1 '46 950w

SCHUYLER, ROBERT LIVINGSTON. Fall of the old colonial system; a study in British free trade, 1770-1870. 344p $3 Oxford

330.151 Mercantile system. Great Britain—Commercial policy. Great Britain—Colonies 45-4425

"This study has to do with a major achievement of British liberalism that was of prime importance in the history of the British Empire. Had British statesmanship not outgrown the mentality of the Old Colonial System, the emergence of the present British Commonwealth of Nations would have been impossible. British colonies might conceivably have obtained complete self-government in the nineteenth century in spite of the old system, but this could not have come to pass within the Empire. . . In considering the Old Colonial System and its fall I have intentionally limited myself to colonial commerce and defense, and even in those fields no attempt has been made to describe the administrative machinery by which effect was given to imperial regulations." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

"Mr. Schuyler stays strictly within the bounds of his carefuly circumscribed theme. Never once does he wander outside the realm of commercial and military policy to describe the evolution of administrative organization. Although fully alive to the importance of colonial lobbies at Westminster, he does not analyze the procedures through which pressure groups and lobbies translated their private interests into public policy. Nor does he correlate the economic and military policy of Great Britain with that of other Powers. In spite, however, of these self-imposed limitations, which many a political scientist will regret, it is hard to see how any serious student can study imperialisms without reference to Professor Schuyler's admirable work." W. H. Wickwar

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:829 Ag '45 500w

"The volume is worth the attention not only of historians but as well of students and practitioners of statecraft. It is a blend, in the best tradition, of the author's own researches and of earlier studies. It is rather aptly described by the publisher as a supplement to the work of Beer, Osgood, and Andrews." Witt Bowden

+ Ann Am Acad 241:178 S '45 450w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 Je 10 '45 70w

Reviewed by W. F. Sands

Commonweal 42:218 Je 15 '45 700w

"Prof Schuyler's volume, though pedestrian in style, is clear and detailed. It deserves a place among the basic studies on Britain's relations with her colonies." Donald Derby

+ — Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 12 '45 420w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:27 S '45 200w

SCHWARTZ, LOUIS HERBERT. Your eyes have told me. 208p il $2.75 Dutton

617.7 Eye—Diseases and defects SG45-238

A New York eye specialist explains the work of the four O's—optician, optometrist, oculist and ophthalmologist—and shows how the last two, being physicians as well as eye doctors, are interested in the patient's whole well being. Written in non-technical language suitable for lay reading, the book contains chapters on the physiology of the eye, on diseases of the eyes and on other diseases which affect the eyes, on glasses, etc, etc.

Booklist 42:7 S '45

"Complete with case stories from his practice, this should prove easy education to the general public."

+ Kirkus 13:233 Je 1 '45 130w

Library J 70:1091 N 15 '45 30w

Reviewed by Charles Friedman

N Y Times p22 Ag 5 '45 440w

"Written in an intriguingly informal style, it gives a broad view of the main aspects of ophthalmology and makes available to the reader, in simplified form, a body of knowledge that many persons may use to good advantage."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 Ag '45 120w

"Comprehensive and useful." C. B. M.

+ Springf'd Republican p4 Jl 30 '45 450w

"The fundamental purpose of this book is to provide the layman with an authoritative source of information in medicine's oldest specialty, ophthalmology. The book accomplishes its purpose, although many of the readers for whom it is intended will find the treatment of the material rather heavy unless they are stimulated by a primary interest in it."

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:48 S '45 120w

Wis Lib Bul 41:81 Jl '45

SCHWARTZ, SELWYN S. Preface to maturity. 77p $2.50 Press of James A. Decker

811 45-1285

The third book of this Chicago poet, written in the last three years. In it he shows his "need of expressing a moral view of the world we live in."

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy

— Book Week p5 D 31 '44 230w

"Selwyn S. Schwartz is likely to evoke from many readers a familiar complaint and a consequent uncertainty. The complaint will concern Mr. Schwartz's obscurity, and the uncertainty will attach to our judgment of his poetry." E. S. Forgotson

Poetry 66:110 My '45 360w

"Selwyn S. Schwartz has the power of composing consistent metaphors through a single poem or group of poems with many a warm and surprising variation." Alfred Kreymborg

Sat R of Lit 28:31 Jl 21 '45 300w

SCOGGIN, MARGARET CLARA, ed. Chucklebait; funny stories for everyone; decorations by Saul Steinberg. 383p $2.50 Knopf

45-5276

Twenty humorous short stories, selected for older boys and girls by the director of the only public library in New York exclusively for children and the teen age. The stories are arranged under the following headings: Small fry; School days; Boy meets girl and girl meets boy; Family affairs. Partial contents: Roof sitter, by Frances Eisenberg; Third Triumvirate manufacturing company, by Owen Johnson; Stag line, by Graeme and Sarah Lorimer; The rummy affairs of Old Biffy, by P. G. Wodehouse; Gertrude the governess; or Simple seventeen, by Stephen Leacock; Father wakes up the village, by Clarence Day; Christmas afternoon, by Robert Benchley.

Book Week p5 N 11 '45 180w

Booklist 41:341 Jl 15 '45

Bookmark 6:16 Ag 1 '45

"Modern and refreshing anthology of funny stories. . . With its delicious cartoons by Saul Steinberg, Chucklebait will liven any library used by young people." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 21:355 S '45 90w

Kirkus 13:272 Je 15 '45 80w

"Many of the stories date from the 1910 to 1920 period and the 1920's. Recommend examination before purchase." Claire Nolte

Library J 70:688 Ag '45 70w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

N Y Times p19 Jl 15 '45 130w

"There are few people better qualified by experience and by natural endowment to make a selection of stories for young people than Margaret Scoggin. . . One of Miss Scoggin's outstanding assets is a well-developed sense of humor. If she, with her broad outlook and her knowledge of human nature, found these stories humorous then they will seem so to a large group of readers." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:32 Jl 14 '45 550w

"Miss Scoggin keeps for us, out of a welter of contemporary teen-age stories, such as have something that outlasts their period. Thus the method for becoming a masterful man, outlined by Maudie in 'Stag Line' and developed by her pupil with a success so surprising to herself, will be just as effective ten years from now as it was when Maudie wore 'mutton-chop sleeves.' This is a book that if borrowed should be sent for within ten days." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Je 24 '45 310w

Wis Lib Bul 41:115 N '45

SCOTT, JOHN. Europe in revolution. 274p $3 Houghton

940.5 Europe—Politics. Reconstruction (1939-)—Europe 45-8660

"Mr. Scott, in this survey of postwar Europe, advances two principal ideas. One, fairly obvious, is that Russia will be a major force there from now on. The other, more interesting but still not altogether original, is that the Fascists, first by destroying the administrative machinery of the propertied classes, who had to surrender their economic control to totalitarianism, and then by destroying property itself during the war, have accelerated the impulse to revolution, now the dominant one in Europe." New Yorker

Booklist 42:126 D 15 '45

Kirkus 13:387 S 1 '45 210w

"Of all the chapters, only two—on Sweden and Finland—have the freshness of direct reporting. Some others, on Norway, Denmark and wartime Germany, at least contain some second-hand information based on stories of and conversations with refugees, commercial travelers and diplomatic agents. The remainder—chiefly on Russia, Germany and Great Britain—is 'old stuff.' " H. E.

New Repub 113:811 D 10 '45 360w

Reviewed by Michael Karpovich

N Y Times p5 O 28 '45 900w

New Yorker 21:100 O 27 '45 200w

Reviewed by E. A. Mowrer

Sat R of Lit 28:11 O 27 '45 1050w

"Europe in Revolution would have been a better book if somewhere in its 274 pages Author John Scott had decided whether he was writing a correspondent's book or a study of social forces."

Time 46:106 N 12 '45 450w

"I cannot too strongly recommend Mr. Scott's book for its facts, its analysis, and its recommendations. If every reader in the United States studied it, enjoyed it, and thought about it, our future in foreign affairs would be bright. The fog of hopelessness or despair would roll away under a warm sun of intelligence and good will." J. R. Walsh

+ Weekly Book Review p3 O 28 '45 1150w

Wis Lib Bul 41:126 D '45

SCOTT, ROBERT LEE. Runway to the sun; il. by Ralph Ray. 218p $2.50 Scribner

B or 92 Aviators—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 45-8060

Autobiography of the author of God Is My Co-Pilot (Book Review Digest, 1943). Colonel Scott tells the story of his boyhood and his dreams of flying, of his education at West Point, and his early pre-war experiences as an Army flyer and flight instructor.

Reviewed by G. A. Scheuer
Book Week p10 Ag 19 '45 150w
Booklist 42:113 D 1 '45
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 21:355 S '45 80w
Kirkus 13:372 Ag 15 '45 170w

"Swift-moving, well written, with a distinctly spiritual flavor, it will be read and reread by men and older boys and many women. Recommended for teen age and older." G. E. Cartmell
+ Library J 70:824 S 15 '45 70w

"With a disarming frankness and humor Colonel Scott tells honestly of his mistakes and modestly of his triumphs. 'Runway to the Sun' is an inspiring and thoroughly human book." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p28 Ag 12 '45 220w
+ Sat R of Lit 28:32 S 8 '45 600w
Wis Lib Bul 41:115 N '45

SCOTT, SALLY. Silly Billy; il. by Priscilla Pointer and Marjorie Hartwell. [48p] $1.50 Harcourt

45-8175

Knowing just what he wanted in the way of loving and cuddling Silly Billy kitten tried a number of things before finding the just right answer. A little girl who dressed him in doll clothes and a hound pup were not too bad but it took the baby to make him purr like a teakettle.

Booklist 42:40 O 1 '45
Churchman 159:7 N 15 '45 30w

"Excellent first reader—content and format—large clear type, tender soft black and white illustrations by Priscilla Pointer and Marjorie Hartwell."
+ Kirkus 13:422 S 15 '45 60w
Reviewed by F. W. Butler
Library J 70:893 O 1 '45 70w

"This endearing little story will make a prompt appeal to cat-lovers of any age." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p35 O 7 '45 90w
Springf'd Republican p4d S 23 '45 60w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 O 14 '45 230w
Wis Lib Bul 41:114 N '45

SCOTT, WINFIELD TOWNLEY. To marry strangers; a book of poems. 83p $2 Crowell

811 45-4541

"This is the fourth volume of verse by a young poet of New England—now 35 years old. Educated, thoughtful, refined—these poems are a minor contribution to modern American verse. One feels the strains, terrors, and poignancies of the times, all faintly and intellectually indicated. The themes are, by a kind of indirection, mostly love and war." Kirkus

"Mr. Scott is not bitter and black about our age, rather is he pained and puzzled. Technically, his verse is sound if not brilliant."
+ Kirkus 13:81 F 15 '45 90w
Reviewed by Lloyd Frankenberg
Poetry 67:157 D '45 700w

"Winfield Townley Scott's fourth book of poems speaks in plain, honest language of love, childhood, death, war and, among others, a kite, an ocean voyage, South American butterflies, a flowering quince. In his longest poem, 'Contradictions in an Ultimate Spring,' he writes to his son of the destruction of war and the promise of resurrection. His shortest poem says, in its entirety:—'I walked through the town with a dirty face and, on the whole, More strangers spoke to me than usual.' Between these two extremes, his form varies from a casual almost offhand use of assonance, rarely approaching rhyme, to candidly blank verse. The collection includes 37 sonnets constructed with little regard for the rules of sonnet making." Margaret Cobb
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 29 '45 600w

SCOWCROFT, RICHARD PINGREE. Children of the covenant. 292p $2.50 Houghton

45-7202

Portrait of a contemporary Mormon family, in which the central figure is Esther Curtis, daughter of one of the pioneer Mormon families. Esther's course thru life was strong minded in the extreme, but the course which brought success to her father, brought only disappointment and heartbreak for Esther.

Reviewed by Marguerite Young
Book Week p3 Ag 19 '45 450w
Booklist 42:95 N 15 '45
Christian Century 62:1320 N 28 '45 300w

"It is a tragic book, but somehow it lacks the poignancy that would give it emotional depth."
Kirkus 13:260 Je 15 '45 170w
Reviewed by Alfred Butterfield
N Y Times p6 Ag 19 '45 320w

"The novel turns out to be no more than a painstaking genre picture of a particularly unlovely small community."
New Yorker 21:67 Ag 18 '45 100w

" 'Children of the Covenant' breaks so completely with this developing 'romantic' tradition as to be somewhat misrepresented in being called a 'Mormon novel' at all. It is, more properly, a mature and absorbing novel about some people who happen to be Mormons. . . Yet, though it is no thesis novel, the book is significant as reportage. No one has stated so clearly or so forcibly the dilemma of Mormonism as the pioneer energies run down." D. L. Morgan
+ Sat R of Lit 28:16 Ag 18 '45 850w

"An excellent novel about the contemporary life of Mormons in Utah and a welcome departure from the modest flood of historical novels about Brigham Young and his pioneers." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d S 9 '45 420w

"A good portrait of a returning Mormon missionary has been long wanting in Mormon fiction. In Burton we have it, vivid and human and alive. His effort to readjust himself within a belief which does not satisfy his physical needs and is yet astronomically important in his eyes because of three years of proselyting for it, even accepting unbearable humiliations for it, is touching and absorbing—sometimes very exciting indeed. . . If the style seems rather prosaic, this reader at least feels it arising from the subject and appropriate to it." Virginia Sorensen
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 19 '45 900w
Wis Lib Bul 41:102 O '45

SCRIVENER, JANE, pseud. Inside Rome with the Germans [foreword by Carlton J. H. Hayes]. 204p $2.50 Macmillan

940.5345 World war, 1939-1945—Italy—Rome. World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American 45-8220

A diary kept by an American lady, "a Catholic religious," who was living in Rome during the months from the time of the Italian Armistice, September, 1943, to the following June when Allied soldiers finally entered the city.

Reviewed by Ann Hunter
Book Week p11 S 16 '45 650w
Booklist 42:54 O 15 '45

"The book is a 'must' for anyone who wishes to get a complete picture of daily life 'inside Rome under the Germans.' What a splendid achievement it is can be appreciated only by one who has lived in Rome under Axis dom-

SCRIVENER, JANE, pseud.—Continued
action and experienced the mental paralysis which accompanied that oppression. There is a charming frankness that distinguishes this narrative from many others of the same sort." [illegible]
— Cath World 162:88 O '45 550w

"The quality that makes this book so fine is the author's selflessness; she loves the people among whom she lives; she reported what she saw in the months of their misery—how abandoned they were!—how abandoned they are!—she does not think about herself. It would seem impossible ever to return to Rome without reading this book and unless one remembered all that is told in this book." C. G. Paulding
+ Commonweal 43:208 D 7 '45 350w

"The connotations of the term diary do not apply here; here is a self-effacing, controlled record, concerned with the life of the city—day by day—in terms of others, not herself. . . In close, exact detail—this is an authentic, amplifying account, which lacks perhaps the personal contact for popularity."
Kirkus [illegible]

"Descriptions of Rome will please readers familiar with its monuments and buildings. Recommended for those who enjoy reading diaries." [illegible]
+ Library J 70:820 S 15 '45 100w

Reviewed by Thomas Haynes
N Y Times p4 O 7 '45 800w

"The book necessarily lacks suspense, but it's no less interesting for that."
+ New Yorker 21:86 S 15 '45 160w

"Jane Scrivener is curiously unaware of the political forces seething within Italy; the war for her has no revolutionary implications. She scornfully objects to Benedetto Croce's demand that the King abdicate. . . Apparently the author would have liked to see the old regime restored, only cleansed of its more obnoxious Fascists." Marcus Duffield
Weekly Book Review p13 S 16 '45 500w

SEAVER, EDWIN, ed. Cross section 1945: a collection of new American writing. 362p $3.50 Fischer, L.B.

810.8 American literature—Collections. Short stories. American poetry—Collections

A collection of twenty-seven short stories and [illegible] poems, all by young American writers. Stories about the war predominate.

"There is a very little that is new about the 'new writing' in 'Cross Section.' But the book as a whole has the fresh, somber [illegible] of [illegible] youth, the slightly belligerent, insistent [illegible] which is the one great note in all [illegible] writing. In a somewhat quibbling and ill-tempered preface Seaver lashes out at critics who dared to differ with his taste in compiling last year's 'Cross Section.' He is particularly speaking about one critic who seemed to think his collection was over-burdened with murder and rape. Well, I am not that critic, and I do not remember making any such [illegible] comment. But Seaver can scarcely deny that his taste does run to sordid fiction." Sterling North
Book Week p4 D [illegible]

"The book left me disturbed—convinced that there were unplumbed riches of talent to which the general public has little access, puzzled at the [illegible] sombreness, the bitter cynical disillusioned tone—for surely there must be some kind of experimental writing, even in these days, that has more gladness, more humor, more relief, other than the wry and grim and distorted nightmare quality some of this writing suggests."
Kirkus [illegible] N 1 '45 [illegible]

"Some are startling in their realism and might be offensive to certain readers. There is also a decided bent to the vulgar in a few of the stories, which might be criticized. The poetry is extremely modern and would not appeal to the average reader. . . Not recommended for small libraries." Alice Haynes
Library J [illegible] N 15 '45 120w

Reviewed by Ralph Bates
N Y Times p4 D 9 '45 850w

"In general, it is an adventurous and rewarding collection, though I question such inclusions as segments of works already contracted for book publication." T. L. Collins
Weekly Book Review p13 D 16 '45 600w

SEDGES, JOHN, pseud. The townsman. 384p $2.75 Day

45-35092

Character study of Jonathan Goodliffe, born in England, who came to America some time after the Civil war, and settled in Kansas. When his feckless father moved farther west Jonathan stayed on in Kansas, taught school, and carried out his dogged determination to make his little town a place fit for living.

"The reader of other novels about immigrants on the Western plains will find many familiar scenes here. There is, of course, a blizzard which half buries the sod-house community, and a prairie fire which all but engulfs it; there are rough incidents in the tavern, and a town meeting to decide the location of the county seat. All this provides vivid and necessary atmosphere. But the real merit of the book is the characterization of Jonathan Goodliffe. He is not a sensational figure; he is plodding rather than brilliant, but in his quiet, firm way he dominates both the community and the novel. Jonathan Goodliffe is a fictional character worthy of one's acquaintance, and his biography, 'The Townsman,' is a distinguished novel of early life on the Kansas prairies." J. T. Flanagan
+ Book Week p1 Je 3 '45 3050w
Booklist 41:302 Je 15 '45

Reviewed by Ray MacPartlin
Boston Globe Je 6 '45 350w

"This American novel is a good pioneer story, excellently told."
+ Cath World 161:523 S '45 200w

"It is a sober book, and unexciting, although it is leading all the way with tremendous and elemental facts and situations." Margaret Williamson
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 20 '45 550w

"Only rarely does a novel on immigration have the quality or the sensitiveness of 'Giants in the Earth.' Yet despite its well-worn theme 'The Townsman' manages to compel and hold attention. John Sedges tells the simple story of an English family well and there are several elements which set off this volume from most of its contemporaries."
+ Commonweal 42:193 Je 8 '45 450w

"A substantial novel of the opening up of America's middle west. . . Well-done, though one could wish it had ended on the decision of Jonathan to return to America, and to close the door on England of his boyhood memories, to know himself wholly an American."
— Kirkus 13:134 My 1 '45 250w

"Perhaps Median, Kan. was worth the devotion that Jonathan lavished upon it. For this reviewer's money, Median is still Gopher Prairie seen through utopian spectacles. If Mr. Sedges had troubled to give his hero a bit of Carol Kennicott's spunk (or even a bit of humor), he might have sustained his story till the end. There is no doubting Jonathan's stubborn integrity—but it is integrity without real human warmth. As a builder he enlists our respect; as a hero, we cannot help feeling that he deserves his inner loneliness." C. V. Terry
— + N Y Times p6 Je 10 '45 400w

"A novel that has the air of an authentic family chronicle."
+ New Yorker 21:77 Je 2 '45 140w

"Mr. Sedges writes with a restrained fullness that fits the mood of his theme admirably. He handles his detail of background excellently, never letting the sodhouse, the tornadoes, the furniture become obtrusive, in the Sears-Roebuck-catalogue way that many writers seem to think is necessary to provide a convincing setting. Some of his women—notably Judy, the preacher's daughter, the one great passion in Jonathan's life, and Jennet, the red-haired tavern girl—are a little stock, as is Evan, the hansome Southerner who runs off with Judy. But on the whole the characters of the book are in the round." W. S. Lynch

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:30 Je 16 '45 650w

"A novel well worth reading. If you are city bred it may appeal to you as an adventure story. If you come of pioneer ancestors it is their record of struggle to build a new world where a man could acquire land and in time wealth, by his sweat (and the sacrifice of comforts by his womenfolk)." E. Y. Mohler

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 3 '45 550w

" 'The Townsman' is a sturdy book, almost massive in its comprehensiveness. Yet it never loses its way in generalities. The name of the author, John Sedges, is a pseudonym chosen because the novel grew out of the author's own family background and experience. This accounts in part for the rich authenticity of detail in the story, and for its overall plot. But to the writer himself is due grateful recognition of a creative power at work that gives outstanding interest to 'The Townsman' as a novel which incidentally is the true story of a town and a man." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Je 3 '45 800w

Wis Lib Bul 41:102 O '45

SEDGWICK, ALEXANDER CAMERON. Tell Sparta. 342p $2.50 Houghton

45-2641

An American newspaper correspondent, who has seen much service in the European war theater, has written this novel about five newspaper correspondents—three men and two women. They dash about Europe, covering various war fronts, falling in and out of love, having successes and failures. The climax comes in Greece.

"Some of Sedgwick's episodes come off very well—for example, a gay little party at a cafe in a Greek village just before the blow falls. He points up his text by inserting apropos newspaper headlines, a not very satisfactory expedient. In straight reporting on battle scenes Sedgwick acquits himself creditably in spite of a predilection for exaggerated and surrealistic imagery." John Norcross

+ — Book Week p2 Mr 18 '45 300w

" 'Tell Sparta' is furiously put together. It has no chapter divisions, moving forward from one quoted headline to another. It gathers itself for a start as creakily as an old wagon. But once it is in motion it becomes a stirring and memorable tale, penetrating as to character, credible as to background, and somehow both hilarious and shameful in what it has to say." Ray McPartlin

+ — Boston Globe p20 Mr 21 '45 400w

"Mr. Sedgwick has written his book because he was possessed by an artistocratic, intense, burning and uncontrollable rage against a certain kind of fellow war correspondent whose companionship he has had to endure for a number of years, and because he was possessed, simultaneously, by a human, direct love for the Greek people. He had to express these emotions in fiction because if any of the war correspondents in his book had been real people they would have sued him for libel and because when a man's feelings are very strong and very generous someone is going to say that they are noble and it is better to have anything noble carefully in a novel so that nobody will think that you think that you are better than anybody else. . . Mr. Sedgwick, however, means what he says. This is more of a tract than a novel, a moving defense of the Greek people, an eloquent tribute to bravery, a violent indictment of any isolationism in the face of tragedy."

+ Commonweal 41:568 Mr 23 '45 390w

"Dullish throughout."

— Kirkus 13:18 Ja 15 '45 160w

"Alexander Sedgwick has no imagination, and as a result, though he is sincere, experienced, excited, life shrivels under his touch. . . There are one or two good scenes in Greece, when memory seems to dominate the fictive impulse, but they are not enough to keep Tell Sparta from really doing harm, imaginatively, to what Sedgwick himself honestly values." R. G. Davis

— + New Repub 112:526 Ap 16 '45 420w

"The satire is far from being the tolerant, easy-chair kind that makes for good reading and the slow seepage of ideas. It is more like the commotion that follows the blowing of a safety valve. Mr. Sedgwick is good and mad, and with reason. The novel, and particularly the tortuous and exacting mock-heroic satirical style, are just unable to stand up under the voltage of the author's indignation. It might have been better if, instead of merely writing a novel about his errant colleagues, he had hit them over the head with his portable typewriter." Russell Maloney

N Y Times p7 Mr 11 '45 360w

"When [the correspondents] all turn up in Athens, the book is not without interest, owing to the author's considerable first-hand knowledge of the Greeks and Greek affairs; for the most part, the naivete of his assumption that the trade of foreign correspondent is continually romantic and exciting may make you squirm with embarrassment for him."

New Yorker 21:81 Mr 3 '45 80w

Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 18 '45 330w

Time 45:100 Mr 5 '45 20w

" 'Tell Sparta' turns out to be a farce, in which the author has taken his colleagues for a ride. With but two exceptions the top-flight journalists who swoop through the pages of the novel are vultures feeding on stories of disaster. . . While much of the nonsense in the book can be forgiven because of his righteous indignation, it is a pity that he did not succeed in bringing to life his American journalists before he knocked them down." Virgilia Sapieha

Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 4 '45 700w

SEDGWICK, FRANCIS MINTURN. The rim. 359p $2.75 Coward-McCann

45-4375

The story of a young American artist and of his love for "another woman" which brings disaster into a number of lives.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 176:129 Jl '45 170w

"The book is written with commendable honesty and energy but with a lack of insight, an immature understanding, marred by inconsistencies and too frequent lapses into sentimentality." Dorsha Hayes

— + Book Week p9 My 6 '45 400w

"New York, Arizona, Southampton as decor for indecorous behaviour which is fatuous rather than sentimentally sympathetic or amorously amusing."

— Kirkus 13:42 F 1 '45 150w

Reviewed by N. K. Burger

N Y Times p21 My 13 '45 270w

"Art and adultery both get a good workout in Francis M. Sedgwick's first novel but they are both buried in the confusion of a complicated stream-of-consciousness presentation, which is hardly worth the serious try the author has given it." L. S. Munn

— Springf'd Republican p4d My 13 '45 240w

"Everybody in the novel is articulate in dialogue and equally fruitful in thought, and the novelist apparently feels that not a syllable should be sacrificed. Paragraphs two solid pages in length are by no means rare, and the conversations of minor characters are unrestricted by war-time limitations. It is a strange story and not meant to be taken lightly. Unless you have a morbid taste for the implausible dissection of unlikely behavior, perhaps it need not be taken at all." George Conrad

— Weekly Book Review p6 Je 3 '45 270w

SEELYE, ELWYN E. Data book for civil engineers; v 1, Design. 417p $7.50 Wiley

620 Civil engineering

"First volume of a three-volume series is a collection of data necessary in designing any ordinary civil engineering structure. Emphasis is placed on modern codes and practices. Includes design formulas, drawings of structural details, with explanations and guidance to avoid pitfalls in engineering design." (Library J) Index.

"The book cannot be said to come up to the author's objective of producing a book that would permit 'engineers isolated from other reference books to function.' In some fields of civil engineering such as airport design that might be true, but in other fields such as dam design, railroads and bridges it is not true. This first edition lacks balance, which can be corrected in later editions. The author and his assistants are to be commended for their energy in assembling this data and preparing the many charts."

Eng N 136:160 Ja 10 '46 200w

Library J 70:752 S 1 '45 60w

SEIFERT, ELIZABETH (MRS JOHN GASPAROTTI). Orchard Hill. 210p $2.50 Dodd 45-8595

Story of a brave girl's struggle to make a go of her marriage to a weak but charming man. Her way is made more difficult because not only has she a tradition to uphold, but an attractive bachelor brother of her husband lives in the same house.

Reviewed by Olive Carruthers

Book Week p11 O 14 '45 60w

Reviewed by Andrea Parke

N Y Times p32 O 7 '45 130w

"Miss Seifert has abandoned medical themes and doctors' dilemmas, and most of her readers will applaud the idea, for this story follows no formula except entertainment." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p20 O 7 '45 180w

SEIFFERT, GUSTAV. Virus diseases in man, animal, and plant; a survey and reports covering the major research work done during the last decade [tr. by Marion Lee Taylor]. 332p il $5 Philosophical lib.

615.37 Virus diseases. Virus diseases in plants 44-6715

"There is an extensive literature about virus and virus diseases, that can scarcely be surveyed, which has increased extraordinarily in the last decade especially. By the rapid advance of investigations therefore recent surveys of the whole field or its parts have been full of gaps, so that it is somewhat difficult at the moment to furnish a corresponding survey of the more recent results of virus investigation. In the present work the attempt is made to give a survey of the momentary status of virus investigation with special consideration of the most recent literature, especially foreign. The most important virus diseases of man, animals and plants had to be discussed, since the still unsolved virus problem can only be grasped in its totality in this comprehensive form." (Pref) Index.

"This book, in spite of its interesting title, turns out to be a disappointment. Neither author nor translator is identified in the book so that at the outset one has a feeling of doubt as to whether what he is about to read is authoritative. The content is largely a partial and uncritical summary of current literature, and contains nothing not readily available from a number of other sources. . . On the whole, the book is poorly gotten up, and one is at a loss to know why it should receive the consideration that a translation usually connotes." W. L. Aycock

— Am J Pub Health 35:280 Mr '45 150w

Chem & Eng N 22:1618 S 25 '44 20w

SELEY, STEPHEN. Cradle will fall. 220p $2 Harcourt 45-4230

"Moving, poignant story of the emotional experiences of a sensitive boy at the 'difficult' age of eleven whose life is affected by the minor conflicts between his Jewish parents, their horde of relatives, the matriarch grandmother, and finally the tragic death of his mother. Time, the Coolidge era." Library J

"The penetration of the subliminal emotions of a younger generation is a task demanding the intuitive power of genius, and even then the results may not be convincing. The disparity in age between author and character is too great a handicap. Yet, granted the existence of such a boy, Mr. Seley offers a potential social problem. . . Social workers and ministers may find here food for meditation, although they are doubtless already acquainted with its fundamental assumptions." L. E. C.

Christian Century 62:1010 S 5 '45 230w

"A perceptive, poignant first novel, as the impact of death is reflected through the violent, volatile emotions of a small boy. . . A not readily forgotten fragment of childhood."

+ Kirkus 13:139 Ap 1 '45 130w

"Difficult job skillfully handled, not without humor. Popularity doubtful, but recommended." G. W. Hill

+ Library J 70:307 Ap 1 '45 90w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 160:467 Ap 21 '45 300w

"Mr. Seley's writing has clarity and cadence, but for his effects he leans a little too heavily on exclamation points and tricks of typesetting. He throws away one rich episode half-used: a Thanksgiving dinner party, with all the vast family assembled, making coarse jokes, insulting one another, and strumming the ukulele. This would have been a chance to show the boy's taste, intelligence, attitudes—in the strong light of his reactions to his relatives. But much of the time the boy doesn't seem to react at all, and a scene that should have been remarkably to the point is made rather pointless." Nancy Flagg

+ — N Y Times p25 Ap 22 '45 280w

"Mr. Seley doesn't bother much with niceties of style, but he makes the child's plight almost unbearably pitiful."

New Yorker 21:90 Ap 14 '45 100w

"For grownups who forgetfully may dismiss childhood as a wholly simple and light-hearted matter, 'The Cradle Will Fall' should be an enlightening reminder. Mr. Seley is not concerned with the psychological abstractions of a child's conflicts and growth, but with the contradictions of a grubby small boy in whom there was plenty of naughtiness as well as yearning and the healthy capacity of youth to take a tumble to experiment, and to piece together somehow a meaning in the bewildering course of events. In itself an effective piece of work, the vigor and actuality of this first novel give promise for Mr. Seley's future writing." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 15 '45 650w

SELF, MRS MARGARET CABELL. Fun on horseback. 229p il $3 Barnes, A.S.

798.2 Horsemanship Agr45-127

"A companion volume to the author's Horses [Book Review Digest, 1943] stresses horsemanship for children and young people, especially in groups. The first part on breaking and training the colt is followed by directions for games, competitions and races, advice on riding on the trail, conducting hunts with bloodhounds, and organizing military troops. For parents, teachers, and readers, and also the young rider." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 41:234 Ap 15 '45

Bookmark 6:8 N '45

Kirkus 13:106 Mr 1 '45 70w

"'Fun on Horseback' is full of ideas that make group riding a pleasure and individual riding a means of developing into a better rider. For those who are new at the games it might be hoped that the author had given more details, but the aim was a concise summary of directions and ideas. This book is a 'must' for any riding club's library." Marilyn Carlson

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 22 '45 550w

Wis Lib Bul 41:51 My '45

SELF, MRS MARGARET CABELL. Ponies on parade; il. by [the author]. 87p $1.75 Dutton

Ponies—Legends and stories 45-3504

Nine true stories about ponies on a Connecticut farm, which is also a riding school. For ages six to ten.

"In 'Ponies on Parade' the author of 'Those Smith Kids' has written as engaging a series of pony stories as you could hope to find. It is intended for children, but it is the sort of book which is fun for grownups to read aloud." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p11 Je 24 '45 230w

Booklist 41:274 My 15 '45

Kirkus 13:181 Ap 15 '45 150w

"Anyone interested in horses and ponies will certainly enjoy this small book of eighty-six pages, although it is written simply enough for eight- to ten-year-olds to read." E. T. Dobbins
+ Library J 70:640 Jl '45 70w

Reviewed by E. L. Buell
N Y Times p23 Ag 5 '45 120w

"There are real children in these adventures on a Connecticut farm that is also a riding school, but as these involve a succession of Shetland ponies, each as individaul as these gifted creatures always are, the ponies have in each case the right of way. . . If anything were needed to interest a child in ponies, this would do it. As a substitute for owning one it ranks high." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 My 13 '45 180w

SELF, MRS MARGARET CABELL, ed. Treasury of horse stories; il. by Edwin Megargee. 368p $3.75 Barnes, A.S.

808.8 Literature—Collections. Horses—Legends and stories 45-10464

Short stories, poems, and excerpts from books, all about horses and horse lore. The selections are arranged under six headings: Fantasy and folklore; Hunting and polo; Three famous rides; Horse trading; Races and runaways; Horses, old and young, grave and gay.

"This [is a] skillfully edited treasury. . . Edwin Megargee's vivid illustrations alone would make this a 'must' book for a sportsman's library." John Storm
+ Book Week p22 D 9 '45 270w

Booklist 42:150 Ja 1 '46

Kirkus 13:479 N 1 '45 150w

"Mrs. Self, who writes about the art of riding with so much sound knowledge and good sense, has in this volume done an outstanding job of a different sort. . . It is a fascinating volume—whether you care anything for horses—as such—or whether you don't." H. I. B.
+ N Y Times p18 D 16 '45 270w

"A really first-class collection, from Pegasus to the Red Pony, including Ben Hur's chariot race, David Harum's balky horse, and even Paul Revere's Ride, which you probably haven't read in years."
+ New Yorker 21:82 D 22 '45 40w

Reviewed by Barbara Coleman
Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 4 '46 300w

SELIGER, ROBERT VICTOR, and CRANFORD, VICTORIA. Guide on alcoholism for social workers. 96p $3.50; pa $2 Alcoholism publications, 2030 Park av, Baltimore 17

616.861 Alcoholism SG45-258

"The modern conception of alcoholism as evidence of illness rather than dissipation runs throughout the book. The Rorschach analysis by means of ink-blots is explained and its use described. It is considered the best objective method for diagnosing the life-organization that needs alcohol or some other escape. Test questions (thirty-five in number) are given to reveal early signs of chronic alcoholism. Common-sense re-educational guides for abnormal drinkers are included." Am J Soc

"This book will be of little use to the practicing social worker despite its modern point of view. What is needed is a study of our fundamental institutions to try to discover why they fail to prepare the person for the type of culture in which we live. Only this will give a usable basis for helping the alcoholic to face cultural situations." L. G. Brown
Am J Soc 51:350 Ja '46 180w

Springf'd Republican p4 Ag 13 '45 240w

"'The over-all result is a redundant, repetitious, badly written, somewhat moralistic book, heavily interspersed with colloquialisms, slang, and incorrectly used technical terms. The authors' apparent attempt to present their 'scientific' findings for social workers falls far short of its mark. However, Dr. Seliger, who is listed as assistant visiting psychiatrist, Johns Hopkins Hospital, and Miss Cranford, as psychotherapist and Rorschach analyst at Haarlem Lodge, Catonsville, Md., make several good suggestions." Joseph Andriola
— + Survey 81:336 D '45 250w

SELKIRK, JANE. Mystery of the hectic holidays. 222p $2 Dodd

44-8263

A mystery story for girls and boys. The time is the present; the scene is Ethridge Acres, Georgia.

"A good mystery story for readers of 9 to 11." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p25 F 11 '45 110w

"This is the fourth adventure of the children of Ethridge Acres, Ga., and if you can put up with so many successive mysteries in the same small neighborhood, the rest is reasonable enough as well as continuously pleasant and lively. . . The solution of the mystery is quite believable." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 O 8 '44 160w

SELLEW, CATHARINE F. Adventures with the gods; with il. by George and Doris Hauman. 114p $2 Little

292 Mythology—Juvenile literature 45-6154

A primer of mythology containing sixteen stories of the gods and goddesses of Mount Olympus. Contains an index of names and how to pronounce them.

"Mythologies as a rule are for older children, but here is one so simply written that younger children will understand it. The natural, informal style Catharine Sellew has used makes it especially good as a read-aloud book."
+ Book Week p4 N 11 '45 100w

"A good idea but dully executed. It is quite a problem to write the Greek myths down to this primary level and there is some question as to whether any attempt can be simple enough and leave some pith to the stories themselves. This attempt succeeds in being confusing and unsatisfactory as story material as well as authentic myths."
— Kirkus 13:314 Jl 15 '45 130w

"Occasionally Miss Sellew errs on the side of an exaggerated colloquialism; on the whole, she retells these tales with a fresh and contagious enthusiasm. The pictures are unfortunate, lacking as they do both beauty and imagination." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p35 O 7 '45 80w

"It is not a compendium of mythology but an alluring introduction to it; meeting these heroes is only a beginning and a child is introduced to them in friendly present-day English. There are sixteen full-page pictures in color, and the type is commendably large for little people."
+ Weekly Book Review p7 N 11 '45 230w

Wis Lib Bul 41:114 N '45

SELLIN, JOHAN THORSTEN. Pioneering in penology; the Amsterdam houses of correction in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. 125p il $2.50 Univ. of Pa. press

364.7 Amsterdam, Netherlands—Prisons and reformatories. Prisons 45-989

"Thorsten Sellin has put us all in his debt by showing that Amsterdam's city fathers antedated Howard by almost two centuries. They opened their first Rasphuis in 1596, and their Spinhuis for women in 1597. The former was established primarily to deal more effectively with male petty thieves and professional beggars, and the latter with prostitutes, drunken women, and incorrigible girls. In both, the primary object was correction by means of labor, religion, and education, the latter mostly of an informal character. Primarily, they were not conceived to be places of punishment. The latter purpose was carried out by the older methods of whipping, mutilation, fines, banishment, and execution." Am Pol Sci R

"Most of this monograph is devoted to a description of the construction and administration of these correctional institutions. In the last chapter the author endeavors to trace their influence elsewhere. They seem to have had most influence in Germany and Scandinavia, very little in England, and none whatsoever in this country. The book is, on the whole, a rather episodic contribution to the history of penal reform." Maurice Parmelee

Am J Soc 51:350 Ja '46 210w

"Sellin has provided a very good bibliography of sources; and no one interested in the modern development of penology can ignore the book." J. L. Gillin

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:405 Ap '45 320w

"The volume is likely to prove an inspiration to administrators since it reveals foundations and gives perspective to their own efforts. Students of social change and of institutional growth will find here a very competently done case study. The historian will appreciate the presentation in English of materials formerly available only in other European languages. Sellin, once again, has put scholars in his debt. The bibliography and critical footnotes are to be highly commended." C. W. Topping

+ Am Soc R 10:449 Je '45 500w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 F 11 '45 180w

Reviewed by E. J. Lukas
Harvard Law R 58:630 Ap '45 550w

Reviewed by E. B. Garside
N Y Times p20 Jl 8 '45 360w

Reviewed by W. B. Sanders
Social Forces 24:121 O '45 650w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:45 Mr '45 240w

Reviewed by E. J. Lukas
Weekly Book Review p24 S 30 '45 400w

SELLING, LOWELL SINN, and FERRARO, MARY ANNA S. Psychology of diet and nutrition. 192p $2.75 Norton

613.2 Diet. Nutrition. Psychology, Applied SG45-115

"The coined phrase, psychodietetics, provides 'for the interrelationship of those sciences that have to do with psychology and nutrition.' In this book, a psychiatrist—Dr. Selling is director of the Psychopathic Clinic in the Recorder's Court of Detroit—and a dietician who is director of dietetics at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City have combined their knowledge to produce a 'first' to demonstrate the effect of psychology in relation to food." Scientific Bk Club R

Booklist 41:221 Ap 1 '45

Reviewed by Patricia Woodward
J Home Econ 37:302 My '45 250w

"A fascinating study. . . Of interest to parents, as well as organizational diet groups."
+ Kirkus 12:560 D 15 '44 100w

Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 Mr '45 360w

"Research has given us many scientific answers to healthful living, but how to get humans actually to put such scientific knowledge into use has many times proved to be the $64 question. There is need for just such a practical book as this." Florence Dorward

+ Springf'd Republican p4 Mr 5 '45 300w

"This reviewer recommends the book to those who are engaged in teaching foods and nutrition, whether in classrooms or in homes, and to hospital dietitians and dietitians in charge of feeding groups of normal children and adults. The book brings forcibly to mind Dr. DuBois' plea: 'If we can eliminate a large number of worthless special diets, the time and money saved can be employed in making the fewer diets better!' " Martha Koehne

+ Survey 81:247 S '45 350w

"Much of the material is new; all of it is well organized, and readably and coherently presented."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:45 Je '45 120w

SEMAT, HENRY. Fundamentals of physics. 593p il $4 Farrar

530 Physics 45-946

"A textbook for the first-year course in college physics. The author has selected only topics of major importance and presented these fully in terms the average student can understand. Solutions of a number of illustrative problems are worked out in the text, with additional examples at the end of each chapter. The author is Associate Professor of Physics, The City College, College of the City of New York." (N Y Tech Bks) Index.

N Y New Tech Bks 30:27 Ap '45

"Fundamentals of physics is to be recommended for its clear description of physical phenomena, but it fails to give as deep an insight into the underlying physical principles as is possible even in a first course in the subject." B. B. Watson

+ — R of Scientific Instruments 16:88 Ap '45 480w

SEMPILL, CECILIA ALICE (DUNBAR-KILBURN) FORBES-SEMPILL, baroness. English pottery and china. (Britain in pictures) 47p $1.25 Hastings house [4s 6d Collins]

738.37 Pottery 45-5871

"The purpose of this admirable introduction to study and appreciation of English pottery is not so much to show its finest examples as to bring out individual, characteristic features of the work of a succession of English potters. This is done by a review of characteristic shapes from earliest times and the beginnings of stoneware, with studies of the work of Wedgwood, Spode, the Chelsea factory, Bow, Derby, Worcester, Bristol, to the Great Exposition's outburst of poor taste, William De Morgan and the studio potters now making a revival of the true art of English pottery." Weekly Book Review

---

Times [London] Lit Sup p299 Je 23 '45 200w

"As usual in this series of 'Britain in Pictures', the color plates are of great delicacy and charm, showing specimen pieces, marks and other matters important to such understanding."

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 22 '45 140w

SENSABAUGH, GEORGE FRANK. Tragic muse of John Ford. 196p $2 Stanford univ. press [9s Oxford]

822 Ford, John A45-600

A critical study of the dramatic works of the early seventeenth century poet and playwright, John Ford. "The study undertakes the dubious task of trying to discover, through an examination of Ford's immediate milieu, what his serious plays attempted to say and why what they say, as critics have often suggested, sounds familiar to modern man. . . Ford's independent plays written between (ca.) 1628 and 1639 have served as a basis for this study." (Pref)

"Recommended for college and reference libraries as well as drama collections." George Freedley

+ Library J 69:999 N 15 '44 80w

Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 4 '45 180w

"A carefully documented, if somewhat ponderous, monograph." Peter Quennell

New Statesman & Nation 30:79 Ag 4 '45 1900w

Theatre Arts 29:672 N '45 200w

Times [London] Lit Sup p356 Jl 28 '45 1200w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:8 Mr '45 100w

"In elaborating his argument Professor Sensabaugh has much to say of the indebtedness of Ford to Robert Burton's 'Anatomy of Melancholy'—an indebtedness which Ford himself acknowledged, which all critics have recognized, but which has never before been so exhaustively analyzed as it is in this study. In similar fashion the connection of Ford's plays with the current mode of 'heroic love,' with its instance upon the validity of passion as its own justification and its explicit or implicit rejection of the inherited moral code, is brought out. Professor Sensabaugh's book will enable the reader to turn with a new understanding to that moving tragedy 'The Broken Heart' and to the more profoundly tragic dramatization of the incestuous passion of Giovanni and Annabella."

+ Weekly Book Review p12 Je 3 '45 400w

SENSE, ELEANORA. Nutrition with Sense; il. by the author. 222p $2 Barrows

612.39 Nutrition. Menus. Cookery 44-51338

"The author of America's Nutrition Primer [Book Review Digest, 1941] starting out to revise, found that a new and larger book was necessary in view of the great strides in the nutrition field and the increased awareness of the subject by the American public since the war. The last half of the book is devoted to a series of menus with cooking instructions for preparing the dishes, so as to preserve greatest food values. First sections discuss these values, including vitamins and calories, and their relation to the daily diet. There are enlightening chapters on economics and agriculture and their bearing on nutrition. Many tables showing dietary allowances." Booklist

Booklist 41:148 Ja 15 '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '45

Reviewed by E. J. Meiller

J Home Econ 37:363 Je '45 220w

"Will be useful for newcomers to the problem of devising healthful menus, although it will not offer much that is new to the students of nutrition." L. M. Palmer

N Y Times p14 F 25 '45 60w

Wis Lib Bul 41:36 Mr '45

SERALLES, JUAN KLEIN. See Klein-Seralles, J.

SERRAILLIER, IAN. Weaver birds [poems; il. by the author]. 84p $2 (6s) Macmillan

821 [A45-4681]

"The narrative poems which compose the bulk of Mr. Serraillier's volume are based on fairy tale, legend and folk-lore. One of them comes from India, another from Japan, another from ancient Greece, another from Switzerland, and there are such native favourites as 'Jack and the Beanstalk,' 'The Three Bears' and 'The Cat and the Fiddle.' . . His sonnets and lyrics have the same vital and original quality, subdued generally to more sober and realistic themes, to the mountains of North Wales or a fox's snatching of a lamb or a squirrel in a tree. But in these, too, his characteristic humour often shines." Times [London] Lit Sup

Reviewed by H. I'A Fausset

Manchester Guardian p3 D 27 '44 60w

"I wish to say that this book is a mixture of the learnedly fantastic and the originally observant; and I think we have a new poet here who does not follow any beaten track, and who juggles words with real dexterity." W. R. Benét

+ Sat R of Lit 28:30 Ag 18 '45 600w

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p16 Ja 13 '45 300w

Reviewed by Ruth Lechlitner

Weekly Book Review p41 N 11 '45 310w

SERVICE, ROBERT WILLIAM. Ploughman of the moon; an adventure into memory [autobiography]. 472p $3.50 Dodd

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 45-8296

The author of The Shooting of Dan McGrew here tells the story of his childhood and youth. "Robert W. Service was born in Scotland and went to Canada as a young man. He was a hobo for several years, wandering as far south as Mexico. He did all sorts of things—handy man around a brothel, storekeeper, schoolteacher, laborer and so on. He finally got a grip on himself and went to work for a bank; he had had a little bank experience in Scotland, and he could get by. It was a lucky day for him when he was transferred to the Yukon, where he found his robust material." (Weekly Book Review)

"Stuffed shirts will find the book sentimental. Moralists will be a trifle shocked by its frankness. Purists will decry the quality of some of the fragments of verse. But a generation of sourdoughs who grew up on the ballads (plus thousands of men who never got to the Yukon but dreamed of it) will be well rewarded. Service makes you feel what life was like in a tough and colorful era, when there were Ladies known as Lou." Sterling North

Book Week p2 O 7 '45 310w

Booklist 42:55 O 15 '45

Reviewed by Elliott Merrick

N Y Times p12 N 4 '45 440w

Reviewed by N. L. Rothman

Sat R of Lit 28:27 D 15 '45 400w

Reviewed by C. H. Chesley

Springf'd Republican p4 N 12 '45 330w

Time 46:103 O 1 '45 800w

"The story is very long indeed, and in some stretches almost unbearably windy, but even so he hasn't found space for more than a reference to the last thirty years or so of his life. . . An astonishing life. But, unhappily, not a very good book. Mr. Service leaves a great many questions unanswered. And, despite his frequent protestations, it is clear that he regards himself as a highly romantic figure. He overwrites his tale dreadfully; even when he has something intrinsically dramatic and or amusing to tell, he spoils it with too many words." Stanley Walker

— + Weekly Book Review p10 O 7 '45 750w

SETON-WATSON, HUGH. Eastern Europe between the wars, 1918-1941. 442p maps $6.50 Macmillan [21s Cambridge]

940.5 Europe—History. Europe—Politics [A45-4303]

"Mr. Seton-Watson sees and treats his Eastern Europe, the whole area lying between Russia on the East and Germany, Austria, and Italy on the West, as one complex; one in its poverty and predominantly peasant population, one in the interpenetration of nations which inhabit it, one in the insecurity and violence of its political life, one in its internecine feuds and in the rivalries of the neighbouring Great Powers to control it." New Statesman & Nation

Reviewed by J. L. Kunz

Am Pol Sci R 39:1219 D '45 1300w

"Firmly written and admirably objective and impartial, this historical study is of positive value in relation to the complex problems urgently awaiting settlement in East Europe today." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Ag 19 '45 90w

"Professor Seton-Watson has been the pioneer in England of Eastern European studies,

SETON-WATSON, HUGH—Continued
and Mr. Seton-Watson has the virtues of his father—sincerity, courage, knowledge of the peoples as well as of their history. He has also the Seton-Watson failings—a somewhat pedestrian style, an accumulation of details, and, especially, a desire to cover every aspect of the subject. . . Two things in this book are really new and make it of great importance. The first is the discussion of the peasant problem. . . The second, which is the core of the book, is the analysis and description of political developments in the twenty years of independence." A. J. P. Taylor

+ — Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 3 '45 360w

"I hope that I have made it clear that this is not only an enthralling, but an important book; it should (revised and brought up to date) be put on the syllabus of all university courses on modern European history. Here are the inevitable grumbles. Mr. Seton-Watson should not use the device of allusion: It is impertinent to assume airily that anyone will understand what is meant by 'the notorious paragraph xiv': the maddened reader has never heard of it. Secondly, the maps are shocking." Freda White

+ — New Statesman & Nation 29:427 Je 30 '45 850w

"The book by Dr. Hugh Seton-Watson fills a real need. The author, the son of Prof. R. W. Seton-Watson—one of Britain's foremost experts on central Europe and the Balkans—has traveled widely in the region discussed, speaks its languages, has talked to the peoples and has entered into their problems with understanding sympathy. The book is full of valuable facts, and is probably the one indispensable volume for those who wish to discuss eastern European affairs with some competence." Hans Kohn

+ N Y Times p18 O 7 '45 500w

"It is not too much to say that the rising generation of Eastern Europe has as good a friend in Hugh Seton-Watson as the older generation had in his father, and that the rising generation in this country is producing men no less fitted to inform and to form British foreign policy than that distinguished scholar and historian, Professor Seton-Watson." S. G. Duff

+ Spec 175:109 Ag 3 '45 900w

"The book suffers from certain shortcomings: the author, a man of about thirty, occasionally shows immaturity in his irritated impatience with reality, his optimism about what is possible, and even in his ideas of what is feasible in research. . . His narrative is conscientious but his literary style is unpolished; and his acquaintance with Poland is less thorough than with the other five countries. Still, the book is a performance remarkable for the breadth of its survey, its wealth of material, freshness of outlook, insight into conditions and, most of all, for its courage; the author speaks without fear or favour, and does not mince words."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p337 Jl 21 '45 4600w

SEYDEWITZ, MAX. Civil life in wartime Germany; the story of the home front. 448p $3.50 Viking

943.086 World war, 1939—Germany 45-3391

"A German, now in Sweden, has coordinated and interpreted available material from many sources for study of Germany at war. He traces Hitler's rise to power, the cure of unemployment through rearmament, the steps to a war to which the people were indifferent. Then enthusiasm engendered by the Blitz victories—dampened by the Russian miscalculation—and long months which produced deterioration of soldier morale. The winter of 1942, the first crisis in home production, decline of food and supplies, strengthened activity of the Underground—and Goebbel's efforts to subdue the crisis. The second crisis came in 1943, with failure to meet higher production demanded by total mobilization. Air bombardments—and the certainty of impending doom; opposition within the youth movement; the officers' revolt in July, 1944—and the possibility for that 'other Germany', those openly antagonistic, those passively discontented. The conclusion (which many of us do not share) that Germany must have equal rights after the war with other nations, and be free from foreign influence to establish her own democratic way of life." (Kirkus) Index.

"A book written from a Swedish listening post before the war ended is bound to be dated. Seydewitz has made an intelligent use of German decrees, newspaper accounts and editorials, radio broadcasts, and such other information as came out of the Third Reich. He has skilfully read between the lines. The result is a valuable interim report on how the home front functioned. But the final study remains to be made in the light of all the facts which are now becoming available." R. H. Wells

+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:801 Ag '45 600w

Reviewed by Otto Nathan

Ann Am Acad 241:169 S '45 180w

Reviewed by Friedrich Roetter

Book Week p6 Ap 8 '45 550w

Booklist 41:252 My 1 '45

"Must be classified as an experiment in the dark. The author, a former leftist Reichstag member and for the past six years an exile in Sweden, has been forced to draw mainly upon elusive and ambiguous material. For the most part, his book is an endeavor to reconstruct German public opinion from the thousands of laws, decrees and regulations issued by the Hitler Government. The persistent use of this technique greatly impairs the value of the book. . . As a defense plea on behalf of the average German, Mr. Seydewitz's book cannot stand close scrutiny. Yet it is of unquestionable value as the most complete collection yet of Nazi decrees and of quotations from German newspapers and radio broadcasts. No student of the history of the Third Reich will be able to dispense with it." E. S. P.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 26 '45 750w

Reviewed by William Agar

Commonweal 42:29 Ap 20 '45 420w

Foreign Affairs 24:166 O '45 20w

"Valuable social history and documentation, though not the human document that will come eventually."

+ Kirkus 13:32 Ja 15 '45 210w

"Overall picture of present day Germany needed in public and college libraries." F. E. Hirsch

+ Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 140w

New Repub 112:485 Ap 9 '45 550w

"Unlike many who have entered the debate over the responsibility of the Germans for the crimes of their rulers, he has made no effort to pattern his material on his convictions. His reporting, though pedestrian, is conscientious and informative and amasses evidence which overwhelms an interpretation which he has drawn from his faith in Socialist doctrine and his fellow-countrymen." E. W. Fox

N Y Times p1 Mr 25 '45 1500w

"As a kind of offset picture of wartime life in Germany, the book is instructive, but as 'a study in public opinion,' which the dust jacket proclaims it to be, it is disappointing. In Seydewitz's optimistic attempts to prove the existence of a strong German opposition, he continually confuses grumbling with effective intransigence, and confuses opposition based on disagreement on tactics (the 1944 'plot of the generals') with opposition based on any ethical concept. The only important adverse reaction of the German people to the Nazi leadership that is reflected in this record is the disappointment at the failure of the head gangsters to bring the job off." A. J. Liebling

New Yorker 21:94 Mr 24 '45 1600w

Reviewed by J. H. E. Fried

Pol Sci Q 60:594 D '45 700w

Reviewed by F. C. Weiskopf

Sat R of Lit 28:28 Mr 31 '45 700w

Discussion by Lewis Mumford

Sat R of Lit 28:5 Ag 11 '45

Springf'd Republican p6 My 9 '45 800w

"Judging by the character of the resistance which the Allies are meeting on both the eastern and western fronts, some of the author's judgments may seem to be over optimistic.

Only the end of the war will bring to light all the facts of what has gone on inside Germany. But, until that time, this book probably presents the most complete picture available." Beach Conger
Weekly Book Review p2 Ap 1 '45 900w

SEYMOUR, ALTA HALVERSON. Galewood crossing. 212p $2 Presbyterian bd.
45-9168

"A pioneer story in which the Gale family go from Ohio to a new settlement in Wisconsin. There are two heroines—Tildy Gale and a French girl, Twanet. Both are natural and attractive and interest in their adventures never flags." Sat R of Lit

Book Week p5 N 11 '45 200w
Booklist 42:152 Ja 1 '46
Kirkus 13:494 N 1 '45 90w

"Convincing tale with good characterization and genuine pioneer atmosphere." R. M. Davis
+ Library J 70:1140 D 1 '45 80w

"Here is the junior novel at its best—one in which dignity of the child characters is respected, both by the adults of the story and by the author. . . In addition to the well-plotted story there is a wealth of interesting information on pioneer life and customs." N. B. Baker
+ N Y Times p8 N 11 '45 130w
+ Sat R of Lit 28:66 N 10 '45 50w

SEYMOUR, MRS FLORA WARREN (SMITH). Bird girl, Sacagawea; il. by Edward C. Caswell. 187p $1.50 Bobbs
B or 92 Sacagawea—Juvenile literature
45-8461

Story of the life of the Shoshoni Indian woman, Sacagawea, who was a member of the Lewis and Clark expedition. The emphasis is placed on her childhood, since it is intended for intermediate grade children. The book is one of the series: The childhood of famous Americans.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p7 Ja 6 '46 210w

"Children of the middle-age group, who have learned about the Lewis and Clark expedition, will read this Indian story with pleasure." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 21:457 N '45 80w

"Clear material, simply presented, with value as source material in supplementary reading, with some stress on feminine viewpoint, but with little of the historical zest of the period. The emphasis on family aspects is the chief claim to interest."
+ — Kirkus 13:298 Jl 1 '45 80w

"Children will read it as a story and enjoy it." E. E. Frank
+ Library J 70:1027 N 1 '45 50w

"In 'Bird Girl' Miss Seymour has rewarding material for the very young: the adventures of Sacagawea in the wilderness and the folklore of her people are well adapted to the simplification required."
+ Weekly Book Review p32 N 11 '45 200w
Wis Lib Bul 41:114 N '45

SEYMOUR, RALPH FLETCHER. Some went this way. 294p il $3.50 Seymour
B or 92 Artists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 45-37871

"Arriving in Chicago in 1898, determined to make a living in the arts, the author began as an engraver for a commercial artist, the start of what he calls a 'forty-year pilgrimage among artists, bookmen and printers.' As printer and publisher he took part in both the art and literary movements that centered in Chicago, and his book is largely the story of such friends as Lorado Taft, Harriet Monroe, Hamlin Garland, and Louis Sullivan." Booklist

"Seymour is the possessor of many talents, but perhaps his greatest one is his talent for life itelf. This zest for experience gives fine vitality to 'Some Went This Way.' Sometimes it causes the author to disregard niceties of grammar, proofreading, and historical accuracy, but such minor failings are beside the point. The book, like Seymour himself, is very much on the right side." P. M. Angle
+ — Book Week p3 D 16 '45 430w
Booklist 42:148 Ja 1 '46

SHAFTER, RICHARD A. Destroyers in action. (U.S. navy in action ser) 246p il $2.50 Cornell maritime 359 U.S. Navy. Destroyers

Review of the development and use of destroyers and torpedoes from their beginnings in the nineteenth century, forming a background for the activities of the United States destroyers in World war II. Some of the material first appeared in the magazine Our Navy. Index.

Booklist 42:162 Ja 15 '46

"Tells the story in a vivid and readable fashion." F. L. O.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 12 '46 700w

"A modest little book about destroyers, intended for Navy men and Navy enthusiasts. If the Hegelian basis of criticism be accepted that the only important thing about any piece of literature is the question of how well the author has succeeded in fulfilling the task he has set himself, it comes pretty close to being a very good book. . . It is probably not a method that would do for any other kind of book at all, but as mentioned above, Navy enthusiasts are going to love it." Fletcher Pratt
+ Sat R of Lit 29:38 Ja 19 '46 200w
Springf'd Republican p4d D 9 '45 240w

SHANK, JON BECK. Poems. 85p $2 Knopf
811 45-1939

A first volume of poems by a young American poet, now in the Army.

Reviewed by F. W. Dupee
Nation 160:605 My 26 '45 90w
Reviewed by John Berryman
N Y Times p10 Mr 18 '45 500w

"Perhaps the principle fault of Shank's verse lies in his use of adjectives. He works the adjective overtime in an attempt to bring color to the line and pace to the rhythm. But the result is too often artificial. . . But the real promise of Shank's poems lies in his imaginative quality. In his best poems one sees a vision that is all too rare in most American poetry, mainly because of a lack of mythology in the creative literature of America." J. E. Schevill
+ — Poetry 66:227 Jl '45 380w

"Some of the poems in this book were written during his service as a soldier in the present war. They are interesting and sensitive. They seem, in their traces of lingering pomposity merging with some later (or perhaps earlier?) gaucheries of artistic self-consciousness, to indicate that Mr. Shank, like all true poets, is still groping for his own personal form of expression. When he finds it he will be worth watching. At present he is interesting rather than satisfying." Raymond Holden
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:28 Mr 24 '45 90w
Weekly Book Review p23 Ap 1 '45 300w

SHANKLE, GEORGE EARLIE. Current abbreviations. 207p $3 Wilson, H.W.
421.8 Abbreviations 45-1051

Dictionary of present-day abbreviations. "This publication lists the abbreviated forms of the names of governmental bureaus and administrative agencies; civil, political, and religious organizations; symbols for Greek letter fraternities and sororities; abbreviations of college degrees; usual commercial terms; the more common musical terms; and those of other well-known expressions. In music, medicine, science, and other fields of learning where there are special technical glossaries and dictionaries, only the more generally known and used terms are included here. According to the English spelling of their Greek initials, the national Greek letter fraternities and sororities are alphabeted at the end of the regular list of abbreviations under the various letters of the alphabet. . . Where a word is abbreviated in more than one way, all the ways are given each time one of them appears in its proper alphabetical order. This is true also of the Latin, French, German, and abbreviations in other languages which are included in this book." (Pref)

SHANKLE, G. E.—Continued

Booklist 41:192 Mr 1 '45
Library J 70:217 Mr 1 '45 420w
Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 26 '45 360w
Wis Lib Bul 41:36 Mr '45

SHANN, MRS RENEE. I'll never forget you [Eng title: I'll never let you go]. 236p $2 Random house [8s 6d Collins]
45-8770

A story of the complications which ensue when American soldiers and English beauties meet and love in wartime England.

"The author's conception of Americans is amusing, but rather annoying." O. C.
Book Week p18 O 21 '45 50w
Kirkus 13:444 O 1 '45 80w

"The author knows the value of suspense but leans too heavily on the long arm of coincidence." Andrea Parke
N Y Times p26 N 25 '45 90w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p22 O 14 '45 130w

SHANNON, FRED ALBERT. The farmer's last frontier: agriculture, 1860-1897. (Economic hist. of the United States, v5) 434p il $5; text ed $3.75 Farrar
338.1 Agriculture—Economic aspects. Agriculture—U.S. 45-35139

"Volume V of the series, 'The Economic History of the United States.' Fifteen chapters develop these topics: Nature and the Farmer, Agricultural Settlement in New Areas, Disposing of the Public Domain, Land and Labor in the New South, Southern Crops and Special Problems, The Progress of Farm Mechanization, The Expansion of Prairie Agriculture, Special Problems of Prairie Farmers, The Livestock Frontier and the Great-Plains Farmer, Finance and Marketing Problems of the Range Country, Specialized Agriculture and Eastern Adjustments, Governmental Activity in Agriculture, The Agrarian Uprising, Farmers' Coöperative Movements, and The Farmer and the Nation. The final chapter of the book surveys the literature of the subject —a critical analysis of many of the publications useful in the preparation of the work." (Am Pol Sci R) Index.

"The announcement of a co-operative economic history of the United States under the editorship of a board of well-known younger historians will be of unusual interest to all students of the social sciences. . . This initial synthesis will afford satisfaction to both the intelligent general reader and the student. It is, in the main, highly accurate and, thanks to skilful summary and analysis of statistics, definitely informative. Monographic studies are drawn upon liberally. The style is clear and enlivening, at times racy. . . Doubtful or inaccurate statements may be due either to unwarranted generalization or to the author's particular opinions. . . Whatever differences of opinion there may be as to emphasis and conclusions, the fact remains that this pioneer venture is a competent and scholarly work which will contribute definitely to the history of American agriculture." E. D. Ross
+ Am J Soc 51:255 N '45 850w

"American agriculture has been an attractive field for the research scholar with literary ambitions, and publishers have been receptive. Intelligent surveys of specific periods, however, have not been excessive. A refreshing work of this nature is The Farmer's Last Frontier. . . The book is carefully designed and smoothly written." G. C. Robinson
+ Am Pol Sci R 39:824 Ag '45 300w

"The author has demonstrated a mastery of his subject (the final chapter is a magnificent bibliographical essay of thirty-five pages, in itself a significant contribution to our economic history), combined with logical organization and emphasis, clarity of expression, and, where necessary, a scholarly humility. There has long been a real need for a new synthesis of our economic history. If the remaining eight volumes are written as skillfully as is the present one, that need will have been filled." R. A. Brown
+ Ann Am Acad 242:190 N '45 450w

Reviewed by Russell Lord
Book Week p4 O 7 '45 500w
Commonweal 42:628 O 12 '45 90w

"That Professor Shannon, whose reputation in his department of research is unexcelled, is well equipped to utilize the available sources and that he has made a 'full-scale' use of them there can be no doubt. Being a definite treatment of the subject and the first of its kind, the volume most certainly fulfills the first purpose of the series in satisfying a need among professional students of American economic history; and, in most respects, it is successful in the second purpose of the series, for, so far as college curricula are concerned at least, it should be a valuable supplement to the economic histories now available. But, though the fruits of American scholarship are there, they will prove indigestible to most lay readers. Each page of the text is heavily burdened with statistics, dates, and small, indiscriminately accumulated facts which, for the comfort of the lay reader, should have been stored in appendices or even footnotes." W. E. Wilson
+ — N Y Times p6 S 9 '45 1250w

"Professor Shannon's book is excellent. The story is thoroughly told, with unsparing detail, fully documented. His manner is somewhat too stiffly scholarly, for my taste; but much of the writing is vibrant. Fred Shannon's sense of excitement over the tremendous importance of the plain facts he is narrating, together with his blazing indignation at the whirl of social thuggery which makes up so much of our history in respect to land acquisition and use, break through his pretense of utter objectivity again and again and enliven his work enormously." Russell Lord
+ Sat R of Lit 28:74 O 13 '45 850w
Social Studies 36:375 D '45 400w

"If the other volumes of this new co-operative venture bear out the promise of Professor Shannon's, then at last we shall have an economic history detailed enough to save us from the perils of over-simplification and yet clear enough in its outline to guide us through the forest. . . The reader who accepts Mr. Shannon's guidance will find that he is well on the road to an understanding of the forces which shaped this turbulent and in some ways fantastic period in the growth of our nation." Philip Wagner
+ Weekly Book Review p3 S 9 '45 1050w

SHAPIRO, IRWIN. John Henry and the double jointed steam-drill. [55p] il $1.50 Messner
398.21 John Henry. Folklore—U.S. 45-7135

A retelling of the John Henry legend illustrated by James Daugherty.

Book Week p5 N 11 '45 130w
Booklist 42:40 O 1 '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p24 N '45

"For readers who enjoy robust humor."
Horn Bk 21:356 S '45 80w

"The publisher lists it for 9 year olds and up, but the rhythm of the book is magnificent and can be felt even by 5 year olds. James Daugherty is the perfect illustrator for this, too."
+ Kirkus 13:85 F 15 '45 230w

"Because this is, to quote the children, a 'thin' book, full of action and humor, it will appeal not only to good readers but also to many boys in the slow reader group." J. D. Lindquist

+ Library J 70:753 S 1 '45 40w

"Told in full-blooded phrases and in James Daugherty's sinewy drawings, the old story takes on a brand-new meaning for us in this mechanical age." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p23 Ag 5 '45 230w

"What one misses in this version is the humor, the frank childlike joy in his fame that makes John Henry so appealing in other versions of his story. It is missing, too, in the drawings—powerful as they are. Both John Henry and Pollie Ann are shown in strenuous physical action. They are never shown 'at ease.' . . There is something missing, too, in the dialogue. Perhaps it will take a poet to write John Henry's story. As one of America's legendary heroes he deserves a better recording than this." M. G. D.

— Sat R of Lit 28:45 O 20 '45 180w

"If I have in my time complained of Mr. Shapiro's taking liberties with American legends, I take it all back for the sake of those by whose means he has added to the stature of John Henry in this the best of his versions of our great tall tales. For in this story the natural man isn't conquered by the steam-drill —not to stay. Most marvelous, most moving of our heroic legends, this time it keeps on moving." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 S 9 '45 270w

Wis Lib Bul 41:114 N '45

SHAPIRO, KARL JAY. Essay on rime. 72p $2 Reynal

811 Poetics 45-9654

"This title may suggest to the general reader a bookish piece by a young man growing up in a library and steeped in the period of Boileau and Pope. It happens to have been written by a sergeant in the Medical Corps who was just completing his third year of active duty in the Pacific. . . Composed without access to books, this verse 'Essay' of over 2,000 lines discusses 'rime' in its widest connotation as synonymous with 'the art of poetry,' and gives a detailed assessment of that art in our time." N Y Times

---

"This thoughtful inquiry into the theories and practices of modern poetry is Karl Shapiro's third and most important book. Its predecessors, 'Person, Place and Thing' and 'V-Letter' briskly established him as a practised and penetrating observer of the contemporary scene who is happily equipped with a unique and modern idiom of expression. 'Essay on Rime' goes further; it singles him out from the run of his contemporaries as one who is as anxious to reform the abuses of his trade as he is to practice it." Leo Kennedy

+ Book Week p4 N 4 '45 450w

Booklist 42:181 F 1 '46

Christian Science Monitor p17 Ja 12 '46 40w

"'Essay on Rime' is pretentious, serious-minded, lead-footed. It is perhaps happiest to regard it as one of those unsuccessful experiments with a new technique that pave the way to the final development of the mature poet." Peggy Stern

— + Commonweal 43:292 D 28 '45 700w

"A brilliant critique in verse of the present state of poetry. If written in the time of Pope or Byron or Poe, when the arts and especially the art of poetry had a gentlemanly standing in the world, it would receive resounding applause, for its approach is rational, humanistic, sensitive, and its evaluation keen and provocative. In this age of the atomic bomb, one wonders whether even the recipient of the Pulitzer Prize for poetry will receive more than scant attention from the general public. Among literary people and especially those interested in poetry it will be read with interest and delight."

+ Kirkus 13:446 O 1 '45 150w

"The wrongness of this new work extends from the writing as such to the governing motives of the entire poem. In particular, the versification is in a rhythm as crude as a rocking-chair's, and the phrasing is full of such items as 'Traumatic shattering shock,' 'gross indecency,' 'brave kids,' and 'the golden doors of Hopkins' heart.' And then in describing the nature of modern poetry Shapiro commits countless errors of fact and interpretation." Delmore Schwartz

— Nation 161:498 N 10 '45 900w

"As for the poem itself, and the prosody, if one finds it sometimes too near the prose level, and certainly oftener pedestrian than equestrian, and if it far too seldom delights the ear, nevertheless it is very cunningly calculated for its purpose: and it is questionable whether, by tightening and formalizing it further, more might not have been lost than gained. Let us be properly grateful to Mr. Shapiro. He has put himself in an enviable and dangerous position, at the head of his generation." Conrad Aiken

+ — New Repub 113:752 D 3 '45 1250w

"This book may very well be the most remarkable contribution to American art yet to have come out of the war." F. O. Matthiessen

+ N Y Times p1 O 28 '45 2750w

New Yorker 21:68 D 29 '45 160w

"Mr. Karl Shapiro is in a difficult position. Various critics or camp-followers of contemporary poetry, in their anxiety to proclaim a distinguished talent and to discover a native Auden, have pushed him rapidly—too rapidly—into the foreground of the American poetic scene; his publishers have capitalized on the distinctions his two previous volumes have, on the whole deservedly, won, and he has now allowed himself to be persuaded to print a work which, in spite of all that may be said in its favor, is not really ripe for publication." Theodore Spencer

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:8 N 24 '45 2500w

"'The Essay on Rime' is a thoughtful and sensible discussion conducted in a flexible conversational verse which enables the poet to combine reasoned talk with the added effectiveness of certain poetic devices. As far as ideas are concerned, the second section, The Confusion in Language, is easily the best. . . Though the discussion is never profound—it is doubtful whether it is possible to be profound within the limits of a conversational verse technique—it is never superficial, but keeps the narrow road of intelligence and perspicacity without ever deviating into mysticism on the one hand or platitudes on the other." David Daiches

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 6 '46 900w

"Apart from its wit, its gusto, and its technical ingenuity, Shapiro's 'Essay on Rime' is of vital importance to any lover of poetry today, for it is essentially and first of all a work of belief, a resonant affirmation of faith." Louis Untermeyer

+ Yale R n s 35:338 winter '46 450w

SHARKEY, DONALD C. After Bernadette; the story of modern Lourdes. 166p il $2 Bruce pub.

231.73 Lourdes. Bernadette Soubirous, Saint 45-7127

"A brief retelling of the story of Bernadette and an account of the early miracles and the growth of the shrine precede the report on Lourdes as it is today. By a devout believer who replies to some of the skeptics." Wis Lib Bul

---

Reviewed by J. O. Supple

Book Week p9 S 9 '45 310w

"There is little that is new in Don Sharkey's book, but it is well written, and tells a story that can never grow old. He corrects the mistakes in Werfel's novel, and recounts the miraculous cure of John Traynor which is not generally known, but that is the sum total of new material."

Cath World 162:284 D '45 70w

Kirkus 13:362 Ag 15 '45 250w

Wis Lib Bul 41:111 N '45

SHARON, HENRIETTA BRUCE. It's good to be alive. 150p il $2 Dodd

940.547673 Disabled—Rehabilitation, etc. World war, 1939—Medical and sanitary affairs. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 45-1875

"A human interest account of the morale activities of a group of artists who sketched portraits of patients in Army and Navy hospitals to be sent home as gifts to wives, mothers and sweethearts. Realistic description of hospital routines and patients' attitudes." Library J

Booklist 41:337 Jl 15 '45

Boston Globe p17 Mr 28 '45 80w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 My '45

"Especially recommended for relatives, friends and employers of wounded and disabled veterans. Excellent addition to the rehabilitation shelf for civilian reading." A. I. Bryan

+ Library J 70:218 Mr 1 '45 110w

"Two years ago Henrietta Sharon began shepherding a group of fellow-artists to Army and Navy hospitals. Her idea was simply to give wounded men drawings of themselves to send home, and the artists 'were steeled to put up with the "depressing atmosphere."' Their experience is described with skill and feeling in this brief, quiet record. . . Henrietta Sharon is 'a girl with a heart.' Her book is guaranteed to take your mind off the night-club curfew." Richard Match

+ N Y Times p24 Ap 15 '45 240w

"I have yet to come across any book in this field which matches this 150-page volume in discernment, charm, and honesty. In a way, it is a companion-piece to the overseas dispatches of Ernie Pyle, offering a glimpse of thousands of our youth at the halfway mark on the long road home. A wide reading of it will make for a more understanding America." W. F. Grueninger

+ Survey 81:158 My '45 420w

Weekly Book Review p23 Je 10 '45 130w

SHARP, ROLAND HALL. South America uncensored. 363p il $3.50 Longmans

918 South America—Description and travel. U.S.—Foreign relations—South America. South America—Economic conditions. Fascism—South America 45-5694

This book is the result of several years of travel thruout South America, by a trained observer, a staff correspondent on Latin American affairs for the Christian Science Monitor. The book is divided into four parts: Jungles of fascism; Genuine good-neighborliness; Portrait of a continent; In search of frontiers.

"The book is by far the best account written in recent years by a newspaperman, or, for that matter, by most other observers of our South American neighbors. The volume is well illustrated with photographs and maps, and the index is excellent. The book should be read by all persons interested in the immediate 'future' of South America." A. C. Wilgus

+ Ann Am Acad 242:178 N '45 300w

"In the increasingly tracked-up field of writers on inter-American subjects, there is no more honest, conscientious, and hard-working observer than Roland Sharp, Christian Science Monitor correspondent since 1938 for the twenty republics below the Rio Grande. . . To get to the core of this book, though, one needs to overlook Dr. Sharp's newspaper habits of organizing his material in a hurry, and of using stylistic clichés." Duncan Aikman

+ — Atlantic 176:136 S '45 360w

Booklist 42:15 S '45

Bookmark 6:12 N '45

Reviewed by Josephine Hambleton

Canadian Forum 25:169 O '45 700w

"This is not just another journalistic book. Mr. Sharp has organized his material lucidly by subjects, making information and analysis primary. But the political sections are likewise interwoven with anecdote and all the eye-witness fact and flavor that make for easy understanding of the issues. And in generous sections devoted to 'Portrait of a Continent' from his travels, and to his journeys, 'In Search of Frontiers' into the economic potential of the continent, there is the fullest use of firsthand exploration and narrative." S. R. D.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 27 '45 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p18 S '45

"I naturally cannot afford to go into historical details in a journalistic summary such as this, but I cannot help feeling that the almost complete absence of any historical analysis weakens the significance of Mr. Sharp's interpretations and recommendations. . . Any reader interested in the South American continent will find much engrossing information, a lot of which he is not likely to come across elsewhere, on such subjects as the lack of fertile soil in the Amazon jungles, curious climatic extremes and their consequences, conditions of travel in remote areas, the work of the US Government's rubber program, estimates of mineral and other natural resources, etc." J. M. Byrne

+ — Commonweal 42:481 Ag 31 '45 2450w

"Thought provoking, solidly informative."

+ Kirkus 13:235 Je 1 '45 210w

"Rewarding reading." J. E. Cross

+ Library J 70:218 Mr 1 '45 90w

Reviewed by Ralph Bates

Nation 161:262 S 15 '45 180w

"Mr. Sharp is persuasive. If Washington were to follow his lead, the United States would recognize Colombia, Costa Rica, Uruguay, Chile and perhaps two or three more; then Pan-American conferences could be held in any convenient telephone booth; and the countries riding the 'wave of fascism' could simply—ride. This reviewer does not know the answer. He enjoyed Mr. Sharp's book hugely and is convinced that it offers practically no more answer to the riddle than does the troubled course of the State Department's diplomacy." Hubert Herring

+ — N Y Times p7 Jl 22 '45 1200w

"Perhaps Mr. Sharp, with whom in the main I agree, makes the problem too simple. He does not state adequately just how the problem of democracy to the south—an issue during a century and more of struggles—is to be solved. His fine book and keen observation of contemporary events would have been still more enriched by acquaintance with the great political literature of Latin America. Nor is it possible to judge present Latin American events so completely by the existing neurotic shibboleths and dogmas of fascism, totalitarianism, communism, etc. Overworking the word 'fascist' does not promote conceptual thinking; it does not serve as a substitute for an analysis of historic social and economic forces." Carleton Beals

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:15 Jl 14 '45 1150w

"Out of the confusion of impressions, of enthusiasms, pessimisms and erroneous information regarding the South American countries, there comes at last a book of balanced judgment, fairness and fearlessness."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 Je '45 550w

"Dr Sharp's book, readable throughout in spite of a good deal of repetition, and with streaks of brilliant writing, and unusually keen observations, is a definite enrichment of our knowledge of the other part of the hemisphere." Karl Lowenstein

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 12 '45 900w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:31 S '45 240w

Reviewed by B. D. Wolfe

Weekly Book Review p1 Jl 1 '45 1400w

Wis Lib Bul 41:111 N '45

Reviewed by Hubert Herring

Yale R n s 35:175 autumn '45 850w

SHATTUCK, RICHARD. Half-haunted saloon. 177p $2.50 Simon & Schuster

45-3733

Mad story about a man who owned a saloon and the elaborate plan he concocted in order to make up with his staid respectable brother.

The saloon was reputed to be haunted, and it was decorated with stuffed animals once belonging to a circus. In these bizarre surroundings the new owner's wife and three daughters had some wild experiences.

Reviewed by Wendell Johnson
Book Week p6 Ap 29 '45 310w
Booklist 41:302 Je 15 '45
Kirkus 13:40 F 1 '45 150w
Reviewed by Russell Maloney
N Y Times p6 Ap 29 '45 130w
Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
Sat R of Lit 28:30 S 8 '45 550w
Reviewed by Baron Ireland
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 17 '45 240w

"The story that Mr. Shattuck weaves is completely wacky and completely joyous. It doesn't make any sense, but it makes the most marvelous nonsense. Every person in it, from the delightfully feather-brained Mrs. Carey to Alice, who knew no mental or verbal barriers when she was in search of truth or romance, is compounded out of a mind alive with a thousand laughing facets. Every incident in 'Dizzy's Place,' mad, unreal, fantastic, stems from a wit and an imagination untrammeled by the checks that Uncle Irving abhorred. If you're suffering from 'civilian fatigue,' Mr. Shattuck's book is guaranteed to pull you out of it." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 29 '45 600w

SHAW, LAU, pseud. See Shu, C.

SHAY, EDITH (FOLEY) (MRS FRANK SHAY), and SMITH, KATHARINE. Private adventure of Captain Shaw. 255p $2.50 Houghton
45-2272

A story of a young Cape Cod sea captain and his adventures in Paris in the days of the Terror.

Booklist 41:226 Ap 1 '45

"Capt Shaw's story is the best historical novel this reviewer has read for some time." E. A. Laycock
+ Boston Globe p7 F 21 '45 500w
Reviewed by Nelle McCalla
Library J 70:309 Ap 1 '45 80w

"Unfortunately, [the authors'] talent for word-painting is better than their sense of selection. Their pictures of Cape Cod sea and landscape are truly lovely, but their book is cluttered with the oddments of history, and they lack the story-teller's skill to dramatize the material. Some of their scenes are pulse-stirring; more often, like amateur playsmiths, they permit their juiciest melodrama to take place off-stage." C. V. Terry
+ — N Y Times p14 Mr 4 '45 320w

"There has been so much more occasion to laugh at, rather than with, the recent crop of historical novels that this witty, salty tale of a Yankee skipper in the year 1793 comes as a most cheerful surprise. . . If Jane Austen had written about Cape Codders, this is surely the way she would have done it."
+ New Yorker 21:73 F 24 '45 160w

"The authors say that they have written a 'tale designed merely for entertainment.' They have admirably achieved their aim, in a historical novel that is not only completely captivating, but also sound and true." R. N. Fuller
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 4 '45 550w
Time 45:100 Mr 5 '45 50w

"Strangely enough, though the authors recount the Reign of Terror vividly and are unaware of the incongruous humor in their story of a stalwart Yankee captain striding pop-eyed through these great events, it is the picture they give us of the old Cape and its people that is the most affecting. One could wish for a little more about the sea in this story of a sea captain, but no one could improve upon the flavorsome accounts of kinfolk visiting from one town to another, of youths 'sparking' girls, of the gatherings of the old sea dogs down to the Arequipa tavern and of the family dinners round the kitchen table—with more Indian pudding than you could eat." Herbert Kupferberg
+ Weekly Book Review p6 F 25 '45 600w
Wis Lib Bul 41:85 Jl '45

SHEEN, FULTON JOHN. Seven pillars of peace. 112p $1.75 Scribner
940.531 Peace. Church and social problems
44-47204

"The pillars are: good will, morality, property, personality, family, freedom and world unity. Monsignor Sheen discusses them trenchantly, in something less than 100 pages of text, and with rather careful avoidance of anything that would give offense to those who think the world needs Christianity, but not necessarily Roman Catholicism, as the foundation of its peace. The specific Catholic implications are there but they are not flaunted, not even in the chapter on freedom." Christian Century

Cath World 161:92 Ap '45 180w
Christian Century 61:1419 D 6 '44 80w

"Owing to the popularity of his radio broadcasts, Msgr. Sheen probably has a larger non-Catholic following than any other leader of his faith. Therefore many besides Catholics will be interested in this volume from his pen, particularly as it deals in his usual forthright fashion with our most pressing public questions."
+ Kirkus 12:506 N 1 '44 150w

"This little volume is rather expensive if one looks at it extrinsically, but it is worth 10 times its price if it is assimilated, digested and made purposive in daily life." T. S. Hanrahan
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 21 '45 330w
Wis Lib Bul 41:29 F '45

SHELLABARGER, SAMUEL. Captain from Castile. 632p $3 Little 44-9241

A long romantic adventure tale of Spain and Mexico in the sixteenth century.

Reviewed by Arthur Meeker
Book Week p4 Ja 7 '45 650w
Booklist 41:140 Ja 1 '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '45

"A lively, action packed historical romance, which reanimates the interlocking old and new worlds, the scourge of the Inquisition and its injustices, the history making campaigns of Cortes, the downfall of the Indian Empire, the wiles and treacheries of conqueror and conquered, the fabulous—and unpleasant—aspects of the new country, and the interplay of international politics. Plenty of color, drama, swordplay and escape while you may."
+ Kirkus 12:485 N 1 '44 410w
Reviewed by N. G. Rausch
Library J 69:1103 D 15 '44 80w

"Neither better nor worse than most of its swollen genre." George Mayberry
New Repub 112:89 Ja 15 '45 90w

"It is quite true that Dr. Shellabarger's characters seem a bit on the wooden side, when viewed in retrospect. But it hardly matters, while you're riding hell-for-leather with Pedro de Vargas. . . Dr. Shellabarger's characters can fight with both hands, swear by the book and ignore their wounds. So far as they are projected they have a life of their own—and who can deny that it is more satisfying than the everyday? Realists may sneer—and scheme up ways to dehydrate romance, in fiction and in life. But the picaroon has always outlived the realist." William Du Bois
+ — N Y Times p5 Ja 7 '45 1000w

"I am reasonably confident that Mr. Shellabarger did not set out to produce a parody of the 'Anthony Adverse'-'Forever Amber' school of literature, but there were times when I wasn't altogether sure. Still, anyone who sets out now to write a parody has his work cut out for him; 'Captain from Castile' will be a hard book to beat." Hamilton Basso
New Yorker 20:73 Ja 13 '45 650w

SHELLABARGER, SAMUEL—Continued

"Fortunately, the author of 'Captain from Castile' has gifts that are commensurate with the task he set for himself. His narrative style is lively and simple; his characters, although they are necessarily stereotyped, are not period costumes with sawdust inside, but something resembling flesh and blood; his knowledge of the Spain of that day and of the almost legendary conquest of Mexico must have been gained at the expense of years of study. His scenery therefore does not have to be dragged in by the ears nor do his characters speak the language of the moment, the 'gadzooks' and the 'oddsbodkins,' of the historical novelists at the turn of the century." Harrison Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 28:26 Ja 27 '45 1100w

"Mr. Shellabarger's strong point, and the one which makes his novel an unusual pleasure to read, aside from the floods of nourishing action comes in his highly colored pictures of Spain and Italy in the 16th century and his vital and truly exciting account of the capture of Mexico City by Cortes, followed by the Spaniards' historic retreat across the Aztec canals." R. F. H.
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 7 '45 460w

"One of the most torrid, non-stop adventure stories since Anthony Adverse. . . But the characterizations in Captain from Castile are too sharp, the historical material too exact, to allow the book to be dismissed as merely a skillful costume thriller. Its language is sometimes too high flown, its plot too intricate and too neat, to satisfy the exacting requirements of serious literature. But, it is among the best popular fictional accounts of the conquistadores that has appeared."
Time 45:88 Ja 8 '45 700w

" 'Captain from Castile' is a story in the Dumas tradition, nor is it any mean representative of that tradition. Offering a rich feast of derring-do, for continuous suspense, action and color it promises to be a leader among the season's bargains." Jennings Rice
Weekly Book Review p2 Ja 7 '45 750w
Wis Lib Bul 41:38 Mr '45

SHELLEY, PERCY BYSSHE. Stage version of Shelley's Cenci, by Arthur C. Hicks and R. Milton Clarke; based upon the Bellingham theatre guild's production of the tragedy, Mar. 6-9 and 12, 1940. 156p $3.50 Caxton printers
822 45-7752

"Although Shelley dreamed of seeing Edmund Kean as Cenci in Covent Garden, it was not till sixty-seven years later that the first production took place in London. This was a private performance arranged by the Shelley Society in 1886, in Islington where Meredith, Browning, Lowell and Shaw sat spellbound, it is reported, for four hours. The present edition is the stage version used by the Bellingham Theatre Guild for their five performances in 1936 in Bellingham, Wash." Cath World

---

Reviewed by Alan Creighton
Canadian Forum 25:219 D '45 490w

"None but Marlowe or Webster has ever written a tragedy of such unadulterated horror as this. But neither did Marlowe ever conceive a figure of heroic beauty equal to Beatrice. Yet it has always been impossible for me to reconcile with Beatrice the equally unheroic hiring of the assassin and her willingness, indeed her insistence that the poor wretch permit himself to be tortured to preserve the innocence she endeavored to maintain by perjury. The figure of Cenci, the father, is so fiendish that I have always dreaded to encounter him on the stage. . . I admit it is theater but do not agree with Clemence Dane as to its place in literature. In any event Mr. Hicks and Mr. Clarke are to be congratulated on their interesting introduction to the tragedy and their sense of co-operation in theater arts in publishing the excellent stage version." E. V. R. Wyatt
Cath World 161:518 S '45 400w
Christian Century 62:1385 D 12 '45 240w

"Recommended for all drama collections."
+ Library J 70:636 Jl '45 60w

Reviewed by Carlos Baker
N Y Times p32 O 14 '45 130w
Times [London] Lit Sup p509 O 27 '45 420w

SHEPARD, WARD. Food or famine; the challenge of erosion. 225p $3 Macmillan
631.45 Erosion. Soil conservation

"Recognizing the need of international cooperation to counteract the threat of worldwide erosion to civilization itself, [the author] nevertheless concentrates on the present conditions of rivers, farms, forests, and grasslands in the United States. He sees man-made erosion as a new geological process; he pays tribute to the Soil Conservation Service; he presents the problems of forest management, the need for public acquisition of low-grade land, the methods that may be used to finance land reconstruction. Most important of all, he analyzes 'the type of watershed administration required to do the unified, total, and integrated job of land and water control.' " Scientific Bk Club R

Reviewed by Russell Lord
Book Week p4 O 21 '45 600w
Booklist 42:71 N 1 '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p22 N '45
Kirkus 13:239 Je 1 '45 150w

"An arresting book on the fundamental world problem of erosion with its graphic portrayal of the crucial need for action." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 70:749 S 1 '45 90w

Reviewed by M. L. Cooke
New Repub 113:613 N 5 '45 1250w

" 'Food or Famine' makes intensely interesting reading. It deserves a wide reading. It raises large issues. It gives perspective. Many current problems look different set against the background of the wastage of national resources." A. H. Hansen
+ N Y Times p3 N 4 '45 1550w
Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 Ag '45 200w

"Except for the first two chapters which, good as they are, need overhauling, the book is one of the most readable and direct in the growing library of conservation. Certainly it is one of the most explicit." Paul Sears
+ — Weekly Book Review p16 O 28 '45 700w

SHERROD, ROBERT. On to westward; war in the central Pacific. 333p maps $3 Duell
940.542 World war, 1939-1945—Pacific ocean
45-37870

A detailed narrative of the war in the Pacific from November, 1943 to April, 1945, with special emphasis on the key battles between Tarawa and Okinawa. The author, an American war correspondent, mentions many soldiers, marines, and officers by name.

"Sherrod's account will stand for a long time as an honest, authentic description of amphibious warfare and the men who made it." F. S. Marquardt
+ Book Week p4 D 9 '45 400w
Booklist 42:146 Ja 1 '46

"On to Westward is one of the best accounts of the Pacific landings yet written." R. A. B.
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 D 14 '45 360w

"No war correspondent writing today does better combat reporting than Robert Sherrod. Witness his achievement in Tarawa. Possibly it is because the news has changed the focus of our interest—possibly because he does better vignettes than extended reporting, whatever the reason, On to Westward does not hold one's concentrated attention as did its predecessor."
Kirkus 13:452 O 1 '45 170w

"Continuously absorbing, it is an account of the raw courage and human factors that welded every encounter with the enemy into an occasion of supreme importance for at least some of the participants." H. S. Taylor
+ Library J 70:1025 N 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by T. J. Hamilton
N Y Times p7 D 9 '45 490w

"I ought to mention that this is not as good a book as the same writer's 'Tarawa,' of early 1944, largely because Tarawa was a single experience, and Sherrod's account of it made a single, cumulative impression. In 'On to Westward,' the same sort of treatment is sprayed over the operations at Saipan, Iwo Jima, and Okinawa, and while each of these was at least as interesting and violent as Tarawa, the author is moving around too much to hit very hard. Also, he is a bit too tender to his notes, which do not all deserve board covers. . . Mr. Sherrod's new book is a fine example of the advantage, to both the troops and their public, of a war writer's freedom to go where he wanted and write what he saw." John Lardner

New Yorker 21:127 D 1 '45 1050w

Time 46:98 D 10 '45 380w

"Mr. Sherrod respects the Navy, gives due credit to the Air Force, somewhat grudgingly grants the Army its share of glory, but his heart is always with the marines, and he has the same affection for them that Ernie Pyle had for the G.I.s. He knew them intimately in action, how they lived, thought, fought and died. There are no melodramatics, no pathos in 'On to Westward.' It is straightforward reporting of the best." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 9 '45 1000w

SHIELDS, MURRAY, and WOODWARD, DONALD BOSLEY. Prosperity; we can have it if we want it. 190p $2 McGraw

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy 45-3562

Two American economists offer their program for postwar prosperity. Partial contents: Learning the hard way—the war's lessons; Machines or misery; Swap or suffer; Formulas for everything but prosperity; What prosperity is; A program to get prosperity; A program to keep prosperity once we get it; We can have prosperity if we want it. The authors are the economist of the Irving Trust company, and the research assistant to the president of the Mutual life insurance company, respectively. No index.

Reviewed by Chaplin Tyler

Chem & Met Eng 52:215 Je '45 350w

"Both of these men were at home in the fields of business and finance, before they came to Washington as consultants to Government agencies. Their little volume is like an east wind on a hot, sultry day; that is, if the reader happens to think, as does the reviewer, that we are still in an expanding economy where business enterprise will bring about 'good times' if an atmosphere is re-created favorable to business competition for profit. The authors don't haul out an all-inclusive panacea or a revolutionary method. Rather they rely, disappointingly no doubt to the formula boys, on some tried and more or less old-fashioned principles. . . In short, they offer a positive program that carries a genuine hope of realization. The trouble is that the title of the book makes the program seem deceptively easy. We all agree on the objective. But we can have prosperity only if the bulk of us agree on the means of achieving it." G. R. E.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 8 '45 480w

Management R 34:157 Ap '45 10w

"Really belongs in the class of light summer fiction. It is, in fact, a veritable tale of Scheherazade that the [authors] have concocted for the delectation of tired business men. It is a tale of a business men's paradise, where the New Deal ogres are chained down, where corporations literally do not have enough taxes to worry about, where the cost of running the government in the post-war period—outside of interest on the debt—is far less than even before the war although the business men's income is tripled or quadrupled . . . The title of the book is quite appropriate. All that is necessary for business men to do in order to get their prosperity is, first, to eat a good dinner at the club, then sit back in a comfortable overstuffed chair, light up a kingssize perfecto—and dream." Benjamin Ginzburg

— Nation 160:700 Je 23 '45 340w

SHIH, KUO-HENG. China enters the machine age; a study of labor in Chinese war industry; supplementary chapter by Ju-K'ang T'ien; ed. and tr. by Hsiao-t'ung Fei and Francis L. K. Hsu [pub. in cooperation with the Secretariat of the Inst. of Pacific relations]. 206p $2.50 Harvard univ. press

331 Labor and laboring classes—China. China—Economic conditions A44-5416

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Reviewed by F. M. Tamagna

Am Econ R 35:438 Je '45 450w

Reviewed by E. C. Hughes

Am J Soc 50:414 Mr '45 700w

"This clinical study of the impact of modern industry upon China's social fabric, as exemplified in war-time factory life in Kunming, is a coöperative effort involving, at various stages in its development, the staff of the Yenching-Yunnan Station for Sociological Research, Professor and Mrs. Elton Mayo as editors, the Harvard University Press, and the Institute of Pacific Relations. The result of the collaboration reflects credit upon all concerned, for it has brought into focus certain basic problems of adjustment and adaptation which are too often ignored by those who are already preparing blueprints for the rapid and wide-spread industrialization of postwar China." G. N. Steiger

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:379 Ap '45 700w

Reviewed by E. C. Carter

Am Soc R 10:444 Je '45 150w

Foreign Affairs 23:342 Ja '45 10w

Reviewed by L. S. C. Smythe

Pacific Affairs 18:195 Je '45 1900w

Reviewed by P. H. Clyde

Pol Sci Q 60:143 Mr '45 450w

SHIPLEY, JOSEPH TWADELL. Dictionary of word origins. 430p $5 Philosophical lib.

422 English language—Etymology 45-6301

A guide "to the better use, understanding, history and background of the English language." Appendixes give lists of words from names; and given names, their sources and meanings.

"Mainly this is a reference book for students of languages, for writers and editors. It has other uses too, however. Teachers, for example, may find that it will stimulate an interest in word study in pupils who seem strangely unmoved by the charms of Webster. In fact, it may seriously be hinted that if you have never read a dictionary and feel it is high time you got at it, you will doubtless be able to get through this one with fewer cups of black coffee than it would take to negotiate almost any other dictionary." Wendell Johnson

+ Book Week p14 N 4 '45 340w

"This is a useful reference book and a pleasant pasture in which to browse. Mr. Shipley writes with both authority and interest." Horace Reynolds

+ Christian Science Monitor p15 D 8 '45 500w

"Current and ephemeral slang is not included but fresh vital words, part of the language growth process, are a part of this study. Anyone fascinated with words will find much to interest him here. Sometimes the lexicographer seems a bit smart alecky—some of his word association patterns are far-fetched but entertaining."

+ — Kirkus 13:467 O 15 '45 110w

" 'Dictionary of Word Origins' ought to provide some pleasant and fruitful hours for any reader with normal curiosity concerning the life history of our language. Dr. Shipley did not attempt to make a comprehensive reference book; he has made a selection of words 'that have origins at once interesting and enlightening.' " J. D. Adams

+ N Y Times p2 N 18 '45 850w

SHIPLEY, J. T.—Continued

"While this massive but wide-margined work will not take the place of an etymological dictionary, it makes an agreeable, entertaining addition to the library of any word-fancier—and a more engrossing interest it would be hard to find."

+ Weekly Book Review p26 N 25 '45 230w

SHIPLEY, ROBERT MORRILL, and others. Dictionary of gems and gemology. 254p $5.50 Gemological inst. of Am, 541 S Alexandria av, Los Angeles 5

553.8 Gems—Dictionaries 45-6976

"A glossary of over 4000 English and foreign words, terms and abbreviations which may be encountered in English literature or in the gem, jewelry or art trades." (Subtitle) "The forerunner of this dictionary was a gemological glossary published serially from January, 1934 to December, 1940, in Gems & Gemology, the quarterly periodical of the Gemological Institute of America, and later published in booklet form for use exclusively with its mail courses in gemology. That glossary was compiled by various members of the Staff of the Institute during the years of its serial publication. It contained about 1,700 definitions and pronunciations." (Introd)

Booklist 42:159 Ja 15 '46

Special Libraries 36:252 S '45

SHIPMAN, NATALIE (MRS GURDON WORCESTER). Call back yesterday. 178p $2 Prentice-Hall

45-5920

A Connecticut business man meets a young woman working in the office of a friend. The girl's face brings back memories of a murder upon which the man had worked years before while on a Chicago newspaper. Gradually the old story comes back with its reminder of a grave and lovely child, and the stage is set for another story, but a happier one.

"Predigested, but palatable at that."

Kirkus 13:165 Ap 15 '45 130w

"Sounds fantastic, but the story is really sensibly sweet, pleasantly readable." B. S.

+ N Y Times p25 Jl 29 '45 60w

"If the girl's eventual surrender borders on the melodramatic, the author may be forgiven for it is a rather original yarn that makes good vacation reading. Although presented from Jim's point of view, it is definitely a woman's novel." Rhea Morgan

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 22 '45 240w

"It is a touching and persuasively written novel, in which a curious relationship is developed with genuine insight. The conclusion is long foreshadowed, but that does not detract from the narrative's absorbing interest." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Jl 22 '45 110w

SHIPMAN, NATALIE (MRS GURDON WORCESTER). Long road. 183p $2 Prentice-Hall

45-9783

In which Lieutenant Thomas Allison, wounded and returned to civilian life, goes thru a difficult period of readjustment with his young wife, who in his absence has carved out a career for herself. With the help of a very understanding step-mother Brooke comes to her senses, and the marriage is saved.

Book Week p14 D 9 '45 180w

Kirkus 13:459 O 15 '45 130w

"Pleasant novel, recommended for small libraries." F. A. Boyle

+ Library J 70:1190 D 15 '45 70w

"The story, readable and competent though undistinguished, is told without subtlety or pretentiousness; it treats its popular material with bread-and-butter honesty and simplicity. Lending libraries would do well to order several copies." Grace Frank

+ Sat R of Lit 29:23 Ja 5 '46 350w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p19 Ja 6 '46 130w

SHIPPEN, KATHERINE BINNEY. New found world; il. by C. B. Falls. 262p $3.50 Viking

980 Latin America—History 45-4348

A book for junior and senior high school readers covering the history of Latin America from prehistoric times to the Second World war. The book contains a chronology of events in Latin America, the United States, and Canada from 1400 to 1942. Bibliography. Index.

"An exciting book, this, as well as a beautiful one. . . So important a contribution is this to our understanding of Latin America that it was displayed at the San Francisco Conference where it met with considerable praise and appreciation. The handsome maps and illustrations by C. B. Falls add much to the value of the book." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 Jl 15 '45 180w

Booklist 41:306 Je 15 '45

Bookmark 6:16 Ag '45

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 21:276 Jl '45 140w

"This is a highly informative and much needed book about the people and the countries of Latin America presented from the earliest times with selective skill and a fine regard for unusual source material. I find it a book for associative reading with the aid of its excellent index rather than one that holds my interest continuously." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 21:346 S '45 90w

"An excellently written, informative and colorful book about South America. . . Written in beautiful prose, New Found World is unreservedly recommended for high school readers—and adults."

+ Kirkus 13:89 F 15 '45 170w

"Attractive end papers, maps and illustrations recommend it for browsing collections, while its chronological table of explorations, bibliography and index make it a most useful reference tool." Eileen Riols

+ Library J 70:588 Je 15 '45 80w

"Let no one dismiss Miss Shippen's volume as merely 'another book on Latin America.' For 'New Found World' is thoughtful and skillfully and beautifully written out of sound knowledge." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p12 Je 24 '45 200w

"The best thus far of the books written in the hope of making South America and its peoples and culture interesting to readers of high-school age."

+ New Yorker 21:138 D 8 '45 50w

"Here is a lively, informed, and fascinating book which dramatizes the greatest feat of modern times in terms that are as real and human as the events themselves. This is no dull recitation of facts out of source books, but a good story written from a sound sense of history and a regard for the dramatic import of human achievement that makes history. It gives a full picture of the pageantry of men's deeds of daring and courage, of imagination and vision, of cruelty and the drive for possessions which gave to Europe of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries new lands to explore, to conquer, and, later, to lose." Maria Cimino

+ Sat R of Lit 28:33 Ag 11 '45 310w

Weekly Book Review p6 My 20 '45 310w

Wis Lib Bul 41:115 N '45

SHIPTON, CLIFFORD KENYON. Roger Conant, a founder of Massachusetts. 171p il $3 Harvard univ. press

B or 92 Conant, Roger A45-733

"This story of Roger Conant is to a great extent a record of the very early days of Salem as affected by John Endicott, Roger Conant, Roger Williams and others. The problems of local government interwoven with clerical disputes are brought into relation with the contemporary continental procedure as well as more recent judicial decisions. The biographer has made the most of what records he could find and deals sympathetically with the chief figure." Library J

"As the author points out, the chief difficulty of Conant's biographer is the scanty supply of personal papers available. Where such material is lacking, what is said about the man himself is frequently conjectural, or based on inferences—generally reasonable if not always conclusive—from what is known about his neighbors and contemporaries. The chief contribution of the book is not so much the account of Conant's personal career as its picture of the society in which he lived and worked. There are two excellent maps of the Salem-Beverly area." E. B. Greene
Am Hist R 50:807 Jl '45 700w

Reviewed by M. C. Manley
Library J 69:1047 D 1 '44 70w

Nation 160:522 My 5 '45 80w

"All in all, the book is an excellent piece of work. The general reader will like it and the antiquarian will find little to carp at. It is so much better presented and better written than the terrible Ph.D. efforts steadily flowing from our university presses, touted as great works of scholarship (but utterly unreadable and consequently unread), that it leads one to ruminate on how much more the amateur historians like Parkman and Rhodes have done for history than the 'productive scholars.'" J. D. Phillips
+ New Eng Q 18:276 Je '45 950w

"The book is a scholarly piece of reconstruction, painstakingly fitting together not only the lockpieces of important history but minutiae of family and neighborly life. Mr. Shipton's examination of the Puritan way of thought and feeling, revealing it in modern perspective as the radical and tolerant offshoot springing away from Old World absolutism, and carrying the seed of all we hold precious, shows how near to our own democracy their hope in its essence lay." Eudora Welty
+ N Y Times p4 F 25 '45 1450w

"In spite of its many faults this book makes good and at times historically important reading. . . This is a work of piety, and of occasionally uncritical piety, but where its author sticks to his theme it is also a work of learning and of value."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p346 Jl 21 '45 490w

Reviewed by J. C. Long
Weekly Book Review p22 My 20 '45 400w

SHIRRAS, GEORGE FINDLAY. Federal finance in peace and war, with special reference to the United States of America and the British Commonwealth. 377p $5 (21s) Macmillan

336 Finance [44-51149]

"[An] analysis of the finance problems of the United States, Canada, Australia, South Africa, and India. These countries were selected because they possess fundamental constitutional likeness (federal systems) and continuity of history. Both pre-war and war experience are included. Emphasis is placed upon intergovernmental fiscal relations in each country." Am Econ R

"Readers who are intimately familiar with the facts about one or more of these countries may object to some of the author's observations about them. . . [However] the author has contributed an abundance of factual data and descriptive detail, as well as considerable analysis, to facilitate valuable comparisons between the federal financial systems of the countries included in his study." H. M. Groves
+ — Am Econ R 35:712 S '45 800w

"The manner of presentation is much the same as in the same author's earlier and well known studies of governmental problems. Here he occasionally produces a distinctly somnolent feeling in his reader by introducing long series of statistical data directly into the text. In sharp contrast with frequent wearisome textual passages, the numerous tables are carefully constructed and edited." J. W. Martin
+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:1023 O '45 750w

Reviewed by Paul Haensel
Ann Am Acad 242:186 N '45 650w

Foreign Affairs 24:161 O '45 20w

Times [London] Lit Sup p154 Mr 31 '45 480w

SHNEUR, ZALMAN. Song of the Dnieper. [tr. by Joseph Leftwich]. 376p $3 Roy pubs.
45-8808

A story of a Russian-Jewish community in a small Russian town in the early 1900s. The hero of the tale is Noah Pandre, a young butcher, of unusual strength and comeliness. Noah gets into and out of scrapes, goes to prison for a time, becomes a leader of his people against injustice, and finally leaves home to seek a better life in America. An abridged translation was published in 1936 with title: Noah Pandre (Book Review Digest, 1936).

Reviewed by H. L. Reich
Book Week p8 S 16 '45 550w

"Certain chapters of this book have a lyric tone. The dominating impression given by it, however, is one of overpowering vigor and extravagance of detail, and an intense preoccupation with the earthy aspects of living. The currents of life run hot and thick and strong, and the book is not for readers of restrained and delicate taste." W. K. R.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 S 25 '45 450w

Kirkus 13:375 S 1 '45 150w

"A lusty, down-to-earth novel. . . Several questionable passages do not detract from the literary quality of the whole work. For the mature reader." L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 70:820 S 15 '45 70w

Reviewed by Saul Bellow
New Repub 113:652 N 12 '45 750w

"The lack of development in the character of the chief figure is a dramatic weakness in the book. Another is that the central narrative, attached as it is to Noah's career, has no more moral tension than is found in his nature. The absence of emotional and dramatic doubt in this sequence of events releases psychological pressure just where it should have been most strongly applied. These flaws are neither as conspicuous nor as important as they might seem to be; they are repaired by the powerful, at times almost too powerful, drama of the life of the village. This is a teeming and earthy book. The incidental stories, the secondary events, are full bodied and passionate; and the minor characters effectively add to the book's vitality." Lawrence Lee
+ — N Y Times p12 S 30 '45 600w

"One of those sound, interminably detailed Russian novels which, if you don't give up before you are halfway through, end by hypnotizing you into a considerable interest."
New Yorker 21:85 S 22 '45 100w

"There is nothing unique in characters or background; Westernized ghetto writers have written scores of more or less sentimental stories set in a similar habitat. Nor is the hero original: the tender-hearted young giant is a stock-in-trade figure of folklore (both genuine and phony). It is Mr. Shneour's art of writing alone which makes his tale a superb piece of fiction." Robert Pick
+ Sat R of Lit 28:12 S 22 '45 700w

"Schneour has recreated the village with an abundance of small detail, in chuckling appreciation of the oddities and foibles of his characters, in searching knowledge of their strengths and weaknesses. Many of the chapters of the novel could stand alone as folk tales or even gems of short stories, and there is no moment too slight to escape the writer's observation. . . Such a novel as 'Song of the Dnieper' is a new experience in reading." L. S. Munn
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 14 '45 750w

SHNEUR, ZALMAN—Continued

"Like Lau Shaw the Chinese author, [the author] is a poet. On occasion he is inclined to be a little too lush; but, unlike Lau Shaw, he is artist enough never to intrude the jargon of a social theory or even a poetized echo of propaganda. He loves his simple heroes and rowdies for themselves and does not seek to place them other than in his reader's affections. . . The few flaws in the work are obvious and easily remedied. The purple passages we are at liberty to forget." Marvin Lowenthal

+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 30 '45 900w

SHORE, MAXINE, and OBLINGER, MILO MILTON. Slave who dreamed. 154p $1.50 Presbyterian bd.

44-51047

"The slave who dreamed of something better is Lucius, brought in early childhood from the north to the cruel household of Marcus Flavius. A prosperous Jewish merchant whose grandson Lucius has helped, tries to buy the boy from his Roman master, but in vain; sheer desperation at last directs his flight, and through a series of narrow escapes he manages to reach Britain, which proves to have been his homeland. A feature of the story is its introduction of the people who helped Lucius on his way." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by Claire Nolte
Library J 69:1107 D 15 '44 90w

"Relatively few novels for the teens deal with the period represented in adult fiction by 'Quo Vadis,' or show, as this or 'Andivius Hedulio' does, the submerged section of society from which early Christianity offered escape, even through the door of martyrdom. The third and best of the Shore-Oblinger collaborations presents this period and this society well enough to entitle their book to library consideration. . . This is not what we used to call a 'Sunday-school book'; but it brings the spirit of early Christianity into sharp contrast with that of the world to which it came." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 F 18 '45 310w

SHORT, LUKE, pseud. See Glidden, F. D.

SHOSKES, HENRY. See Szoszkies, H. J.

SHOTWELL, JAMES THOMSON, and LASERSON, MAX M. Poland and Russia, 1919-1945; pub. for the Carnegie endowment for int. peace. 114p $2.25 King's crown press

327.438 Poland—Foreign relations—Russia. Russia—Foreign relations—Poland A45-4954

Account of the complicated dealings between the two countries during the period from the restoration of Poland after World war I to the present. Bibliography. No index.

"Probably as just and impartial a rendering of the troubled story it tells as can be found. Texts of important documents are included." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 D 16 '45 20w

Booklist 42:179 F 1 '46

"A clear, scholarly and unprejudiced account."

+ Christian Century 62:1385 D 12 '45 60w

"Some readers may lay down this book with a feeling that they have been cheated by a study in which neither party to an inflamed political dispute is indicted as a thoroughgoing villain. Others will find in the book's 114 pages most of the materials necessary to an understanding of the Polish problem. Though the authors are concerned with the dispassionate investigation of history, they make one telling political point: the key to political control of Poland today is agrarian reform. This key is wholly in the hands of Poland's Moscow-dominated government."

Time 46:104 N 12 '45 240w

SHREVE, RANDOLPH NORRIS. Chemical process industries. 957p $7.50 McGraw

660 Chemical engineering. Chemical industries 45-4157

"As stated by the author, this book is an endeavor to correlate unit processes (chemical change); unit operations (physical change); physical chemistry (equilibrium and reaction rates); economics (cost, statistics and consumption); and energy and power (chemical as well as electrical) as they concern any of the chemical process industries. . . It must be assumed, if this book is to be used as a textbook, that the student has previously had a thorough training in the unit operations." Chem & Met Eng

"The writing of an adequate textbook of chemical engineering technology is a task that requires an unusual breadth of information and very critical judgment in the selection of material. The rapid advances that are being made in many of the chemical industries and the lack of adequate published information on many of the new developments make the assignment even more difficult. . . It is not remarkable that a book as comprehensive and as difficult to write as this one should contain a few defects in its first printing; it is remarkable that the defects are so few and of such minor importance. The book is a really valuable addition to the literature of chemical engineering." F. H. Rhodes

+ Am Chem Soc J 67:1630 S '45 490w

Booklist 41:296 Je 15 '45

Reviewed by A. M. Taylor
Chem & Eng N 23:1121 Je 25 '45 200w

Reviewed by C. A. Mann
Chem & Met Eng 52:239 My '45 250w

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45

Library J 70:308 Ap 1 '45 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:21 Ap '45

SHU, CH'ING-CH'UN (LAU SHAW, pseud). Rickshaw boy; tr. from the Chinese by Evan King. 315p $2.75 Reynal

45-7026

"Happy Boy, a simple country boy, becomes a rickshaw boy in Peking through hard work and economy. Brief experience in the Army, bitter struggle of the following years and his wretched marriage change him to a discouraged man with little hope for the future. Interesting as a study of an individual and as a picture of social conditions in China." Library J

Reviewed by Langdon Warner
Atlantic 176:135 S '45 360w

"A various and brightly colored tale, a tale of many people, sights, sounds, holidays and festivals, weather and food and drink. It has the teeming and fascinating variety of the city in which the story is laid, and it is, despite its tragedy, a heartening and beautiful story." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p3 Jl 29 '45 700w

Booklist 42:57 O 15 '45

Bookmark 6:16 N '45

Cath World 162:187 N '45 270w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '45

"The book's chief interest lies in its authentic feel of inside Chinese thought and way of life—its unusualness. But it still seems loose—somewhat unmotivated."

Kirkus 13:226 Je 1 '45 250w

"Will not appeal to all fiction readers, but recommended for libraries with sufficient book budget for a wide selection of fiction." E. S. Brown

Library J 70:635 Jl '45 110w

"It is my fanatical notion that in this day of China's grim plight everything written about that tragic country, whether political thesis or confessed fiction, must first of all face the test of what sort of contribution it makes to America's sympathetic understanding of the land. In that respect, as in all other possible tests, Rickshaw Boy ranks high. This sad, brave, unglamorized novel by one of the courageous contemporary Chinese authors is just the kind of book that is best suited to the education of the intelligent reader who wants to acquire both a sensible emotional appreciation of the ordinary men and women of our Far Eastern ally and a thorough comprehension of their humanity and their essential invincibility." Richard Watts

+ New Repub 113:163 Ag 6 '45 1050w

"[In] 'Rickshaw Boy,' story, symbol, theme, are harmoniously and expertly joined together. There is, amid violence and pathos, no touch of melodrama, and, in poverty and oppression, little evidence of propaganda as such. The story remains in the forefront (as it should) and the tragedy of Happy Boy is simply and movingly unfolded." N. K. Burger

+ N Y Times p3 Jl 29 '45 1050w

"Mr. Shaw's book loses nothing by being built around old stories or by repeating much of the philosophical wisdom that has been current in China for a few centuries or so. It gains, rather. All of his characters are believable and true, he rarely indulges in the ruinous 'Tillie the Toiler' sentimentality that has destroyed more than one well-intentioned book about the poor, and the picture he gives of Peking seems very right and true. Good novels, these days, don't come often eonugh for this one to be missed." Hamilton Basso

+ New Yorker 21:66 Ag 11 '45 1100w

"The average reader does not like, perhaps, to plunge into human frustration and degradation at such length, but I think that this will be a difficult book for anyone to put down immediately or to leave unfinished. Its rich glowing scenes, drawn by the hand of a master, are unforgettable. . . 'Rickshaw Boy,' any way you look at it, is a masterpiece of its kind, and the major character, the silent, unconquerable, honorable victim of persecution and greed, is a symbol of the virtue that we all believe lives in the common man." Harrison Smith

+ Sat R of Lit 28:11 Jl 28 '45 1350w

"Though the book has something of the fascination of a novel of roguery, it has the added value of communicating an admirably strong sense of the real. Even more vividly revealed than the city are the characters. . . In harmony with both scene and characters is the vigorous, pungent language, particularly that used in the conversations. For once in a novel set in China, the characters of the street speak as they would in everyday life, and Evan King has been able to preserve in English most of the flavor of the original phrases. Occasionally a colloquial idiom loses something because of a too literal translation. Alive and colorful as all this is, it is the nature of Happy Boy himself that gives the novel its depth." J. J. Espey

+ Weekly Book Review p1 Jl 29 '45 1000w

Reviewed by Orville Prescott

Yale R n s 35:189 autumn '45 850w

SHULER, ELLIS WILLIAM. Rocks and rivers. 300p il $4 Cattell

551 Geophysics. Geology—U.S. 45-10321

"From a vast amount of data, Professor Shuler has marshalled an orderly array of facts concerning the chief land and water forms of the United States. His first chapters deal in a general way with the agents that carve the earth's crust, the waste of lands, the soils, and with the manner in which land is sculptured. Thereafter he gives detailed descriptions of springs, caves and natural bridges, waves and shore lines, volcanoes, the effects of the ice age, rivers and 'how they crossed the ridges,' lakes, waterfalls and canyons, and mountains. . . In closing, the author gives an account of the economic resources of our land, and in a description of geologic history at Inspiration Point, along the Brazos River in Texas, epitomizes all that he has written in his previous pages." (Scientific Bk Club R) Index.

"Prof. Shuler has his feet planted firmly on the earth and soil he knows and loves so well. He answers questions graphically and draws up contrasts to make his point. He proves that a work dealing with a scientific subject can be written so that the layman will understand it and yet be a good book." D. K.

+ Book Week p10 Ja 13 '46 110w

"Not only has he interpreted in a remarkably clear manner the geology of this country, but he has provided innumerable examples to highlight his general statements. Every reader will find several scenic landscapes described with which he is familiar. And one seldom finds so many photographs that so graphically illustrate the text."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 O '45 300w

SHURTLEFF, BERTRAND LESLIE. Short leash; jacket drawing and il. by Diana Thorne. 270p $2.50 Bobbs

Dogs—Legends and stories 45-3447

Story of two dogs of the K-9 corps in New Guinea in World war II. For boys of fourteen and older.

"Book was written for adults, but there is nothing to make it objectionable for young people's reading. It will be welcomed by the large group of boys and girls who follow in their reading all phases of the war and will also answer the constant demand for dog stories. Recommended for readers fourteen years of age and older." A. M. Wetherell

+ Library J 70:588 Je 15 '45 70w

Weekly Book Review p16 Je 24 '45 130w

SHUTE, NEVIL, pseud. See Norway, N. S.

SICKELS, ALICE L. Around the world in St. Paul. 262p il $3 Univ. of Minn.

325.73 Americanization. St Paul, Minnesota A46-370

"Graphic and detailed description of 'two-way' Americanization in St. Paul, Minnesota, where the International Institute successfully brings old-stock Americans in touch with the 'warm humanity and rich cultural backgrounds of the immigrant groups, and with their potential leadership.' Most fruitful of these methods has been the Folk Festival, later called the Festival of Nations, where Old World villages exhibit arts and crafts of thirty-four nations." (Library J) Index.

"Alice Sickels has the most essential qualification a writer can have: something important to say. Moreover, she handles words adroitly, and she combines a sure feeling for essentials with a keen sense of the dramatic. In fact the only part of this book one might want to change is the first chapter, in which the author takes us on a tour of St. Paul and introduces us to its 37,638 Germans, its 25,430 Swedes, 13,094 Irish, etc. (according to the 1930 census)—and it's too bad all this wasn't tucked away in an appendix at the back of the book, because it is probably going to keep a lot of readers from getting to page 25." Wendell Johnson

+ — Book Week p10 D 16 '45 500w

Booklist 42:183 F 1 '46

Christian Century 63:81 Ja 16 '46 280w

"A warm-hearted, humane book, full of goodwill and good recipes. . . Cordially recommended." E. F. Walbridge

+ Library J 70:1088 N 15 '45 110w

Weekly Book Review p18 Ja 6 '46 270w

SIEGELE, HERMAN HUGO. Quick construction. 252p il $2 Drake, F.J.

694 Building 45-1409

"A miscellany of useful hints and practical instruction, intended to assist the carpenter to overcome various building and constructional problems. The material is grouped roughly by subject and deals with such topics as ladders and scaffolds, squaring and mitering cuts, concrete and concrete forms, roofing, flooring, window frames, doors, nails and nailing, steps, etc. There are numerous explanatory diagrams and an index." N Y New Tech Bks

SIEGELE, H. H.—Continued

Library J 70:221 Mr 1 '45 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:5 Ja '45

SIGAUD, LOUIS ADRIEN. Belle Boyd, Confederate spy. 254p il $3 Dietz
B or 92 Boyd, Belle 45-591

"During the Civil War a young Virginia girl served as an effective agent for the Confederacy. Her career was dramatic and she was subjected not alone to the dangers and imprisonment, almost inevitable in the situation, but was the victim of scandal throughout her life. The present biography calls back the past to offer vindication of her character and motives, as her service to the Confederacy has been well-nigh forgotten." (Library J) Sources of information. Index.

"In the opinion of this reviewer, Mr. Sigaud has presented his case, established the character of his client, and written a delightful and instructive biography." T. M. Whitfield
+ Am Hist R 50:854 Jl '45 200w

"Not a great woman, Belle Boyd, but a part of the great bizarre mosaic that is America, and Sigaud has done well by her." F. N. Litten
+ Book Week p3 Ja 28 '45 450w
Booklist 41:207 Mr 15 '45

"Will have a limited reading appeal but should be added to libraries with Civil War collections." A. R. Eaton
Library J 69:935 N 1 '44 80w

"Colonel Sigaud has assembled an impressive amount of material relating to Belle Boyd and has made out the best case to date in support of her achievements and the integrity of her personal narrative, which she published in London in 1865. Colonel Sigaud is for Belle all the way, and is at his best when he is unhorsing those earlier writers who have attempted to belittle her." N. K. Burger
+ N Y Times p6 Ja 28 '45 500w

"Mr. Sigaud can no more write than a bullfrog can fly . . . but nevertheless, within the limitations imposed by his own shortcomings as a writer and the nature of his material, he has done a very creditable job. He is earnest, he is painstaking, and he isn't kidding. His book, as a result, has a plodding, low-pressure integrity, and he manages to give the people who appear in it a modest semblance of reality." Hamilton Basso
+ — New Yorker 20:82 F 10 '45 310w

Reviewed by F. B. Simkins
Social Forces 24:252 D '45 850w

Reviewed by L. B. Hill
Springf'd Republican p4d F 11 '45 850w
Time 45:99 Ja 15 '45 650w

"This is not, in effect, so much a biography of Belle Boyd, the Confederate spy, as a catalogue of the errors made by her other biographers, historical and journalistic. Himself a commanding officer of American intelligence police in World War I, and now a historical researcher, Colonel Sigaud is still more detective than biographer, as is established by the diligence with which he hunts out, exposes and hounds Belle's detractors." Lloyd Lewis
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 11 '45 1150w

SILLER, VAN. Somber memory. 233p $2 Doubleday
45-8869

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p18 O 28 '45 180w
Kirkus 13:326 Ag 1 '45 70w

"Somewhat over-complicated story." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p28 O 7 '45 130w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p22 S 23 '45 90w

SILVE, CLAUDE, pseud. See Laforest-Divonne, P. de

SIM, GEORGES. See Simenon, G. pseud.

SIMENON, GEORGES, pseud. (GEORGES SIM). Shadow falls; tr. from the French by Stuart Gilbert. 371p $2.50 Harcourt [10s 6d Routledge]
45-8454

A psychological novel of love, ambition, and crime. It is the story of the rise of a young French ne'er-do-well to fortune by the simple device of marrying into the family of a wealthy merchant, and gradually getting everything into his own hands.

Reviewed by Russell Maloney
Book Week p10 S 30 '45 400w
Booklist 42:129 D 15 '45
Kirkus 13:381 S 1 '45 100w

"It is the longest and the best of M. Simenon's novels." Harold Brighouse
+ Manchester Guardian p3 My 11 '45 200w

"Acute, witty and lively though this new book is, I cannot feel that it marks its writer's long-awaited promotion. It is an intelligent and not unsympathetic study of the vices of provincial society, and of the catastrophic career of a careerist." Philip Toynbee
+ — New Statesman & Nation 29:426 Je 30 '45 180w

"The real comedy of 'The Shadow Falls' is deep and constant and complicated. Like the comedy of a René Clair film, it is a built-in business of complex patterns, of quick shifts and balances. And Simenon is so expert at playing these tricks that everything else he does seems purposeful. Even when his characters are boring you to death with their dreamy, slow disintegrations there isn't any doubt that that is just what Simenon wants them to do." Nancy Flagg
N Y Times p5 S 23 '45 650w

"The story gets off to a slow start but works up to a solidity not to be found in the author's detective yarns. Although death apparently has been dragged in principally from habit, the lives are for the most part interesting and the family's intense cohesion, which is neither unity nor solidarity, is made convincing and rather horrible."
+ New Yorker 21:85 S 22 '45 80w

"It would be difficult to say just which is most responsible for the book's fascination, the fatal thrashing about of this family in eclipse, or the set of individual portraits Simenon has worked in with a careful and unyielding pen. Each of them is a study in the fallibility and the passions and the pity of humanity, as finely done as though their creator had not spent the last fifteen or twenty years building the image of a burly, impassive detective with a pipe." N. L. Rothman
+ Sat R of Lit 29:18 Ja 5 '46 500w

"This is the longest, most ambitious and least successful of the many novels of this prolific writer that have been translated into English. Here are the touches that one has grown to expect, but they are now less fresh and effective." John Hampson
Spec 174:556 Je 15 '45 360w

Reviewed by C. M. Sauer
Springf'd Republican p4d N 25 '45 480w
Time 46:104 S 17 '45 330w

"The author's breadth of canvas here, while it emphasizes his scrupulous habit of detachment, also leaves room for dissatisfaction. The fact is that he seems to be tackling a bigger job than he can compass. Beyond the reaches of crime and the anti-social obsession, M. Simenon's picture of life lacks something of purpose. His family study, in particular, for the most part accurate of touch and penetrating in its separate portraits, remains fragmentary and inconclusive."

Times [London] Lit Sup p209 My 5 '45 1200w

"If ever money were shown as the root of all evil it is in Simenon's books: and it does not have to be much money, sometimes just enough to take a girl out or arrange a journey. But the manner in which contemporary society is depicted as a minor man-made hell over which money rules as a relentless devil is very striking indeed. Our world as Simenon sees it is relentlessly dramatic, dangerous and wicked, and one surmises that men have made it so in order that they may indulge their foolish, worthless passions. Simenon, a realistic novelist of importance, is one of the most highly moral writers since John Bunyan." Iris Barry

Weekly Book Review p8 S 30 '45 850w

SIMKINS, FRANCIS BUTLER. Pitchfork Ben Tillman, South Carolinian. (Southern biography ser) 577p il $4.50 La. state univ. press

B or 92 Tillman, Benjamin Ryan 44-9640

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"A reviewer regrets to point out defects in so valuable a work, but such procedure may be of use to a scholar from whom we may expect other contributions. Professor Simkins' treatment of Tillman's handling of the question of Negro suffrage shows no realization of the threat of a revival of Negro power in politics which existed in the 1890's. . . Furthermore, does not Professor Simkins' reiteration of Tillman's coarseness of manner and violence of speech detract rather too much from the man's largeness and importance? Is not the title of his book subject to the same criticism? A few errors occur, of which the worst is confusing Senator W. E. Chandler of New Hampshire, who entered Congress as a senator in 1887, with Zach Chandler of Reconstruction days (p. 18). . . Professor Simkins has again put us under obligation by a full, frank, and authoritative account of an important personality and a critical period in Southern history." D. D. Wallace

+ — Am Hist R 50:570 Ap '45 750w

"The latest volume in the Southern Biography Series cannot make out of Tillman anything but the successful politician, using race prejudice and caste for his weapons. His life seems to have been one long battle against progress. The author has made an interesting story out of it, and gives a good picture of Southern life and politics in Tillman's time."

Current Hist 8:441 My '45 60w

Reviewed by Daniel Aaron

New Repub 112:339 Mr 5 '45 240w

Reviewed by R. B. Vance

Social Forces 23:474 My '45 550w

"This study is based on extensive research and is written by one who knows the South and its problems. The author is entirely objective. His evaluations of Tillman are critical and just. This is a significant book which will help teachers to understand both a man and an important period in American history." W. H. Mohr

+ Social Studies 36:135 Mr '45 450w

SIMMONS, JAMES STEVENS, and others. Global epidemiology; a geography of disease and sanitation. v 1 504p map $7 Lippincott

614.42 Epidemics (SG44-249)

"The necessity for recording in a single book or atlas all available information concerning diseases as they occur and manifest themselves over the world has long been recognized. . . This volume is a compilation of data obtained by the Medical Intelligence Division of the Office of The Surgeon General of the United States Army from a wide variety of sources, including numerous agencies and individuals who were in a position to collect data on, or make, medical and sanitary surveys. . . The contents are presented by area, subdivided into sections covering geography and climate, public health, medical facilities, and diseases. Diseases are classified by mode of spread—by the intestinal tract, respiratory tract, contact, and arthropods. Nutritional diseases and miscellaneous conditions are also covered. A summary of the medical conditions of each area is given." (Geog R) This volume in two parts covers, in part one, India and the Far East, in part two, the Pacific area.

Reviewed by K. F. Maxcy

+ Am J Pub Health 35:529 My '45 800w

"It is impossible to describe the contents in any detail, since essentially this is an encyclopedia of health and sanitation. The chief assets are the considerable amount of more recent information and its collection in one place. the present volume and the forthcoming ones involving other areas are, and will be, important contributions in public health and human ecology. However, regardless of their value, they will, unless kept up to date, pass largely into the discard, as many similar treatises that preceded them have done." L. T. Coggeshall

Geog R 35:347 Ap '45 750w

SIMMONS, MARGARET IRWIN. Kay Allen on overseas mission. 256p $2 Crowell

45-4150

Kay Allen, an American girl with some knowledge of the Balkans, is sent by the government to get information from a friend held as a German prisoner in Belgrade. A spy story for teen-age girls.

"An improbable but essentially readable story."

Kirkus 13:135 Mr 15 '45 160w

"That a young, impetuous girl would be so trusted and could in such devious ways escape detection is doubtful. Nevertheless, a convincing picture is drawn of the intense loyalty to their cause of the Yugoslav Partisans." Miriam Snow

+ — Library J 70:416 My 1 '45 70w

"A spy story for teen-age girls is a special product, to be judged in comparison not with adult novels but with the cheap commercialized thrillers flooding the mass production market. This one looks like an adult novel and as such may get short shrift if it reaches reviewers trained to Helen MacInnes. Kay does not look so high: she finds her mission 'like something from an Oppenheim adventure story' in which she is not averse to 'playing a major role.' Teachers and librarians know how many girls put themselves into such roles through pulp production less praiseworthy than Oppenheim; they look for better written, somewhat more broadening stories of that sort, such as these girls will read. Here is one." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 My 6 '45 300w

SIMON, CHARLIE MAY (HOGUE) (MRS JOHN GOULD FLETCHER). Art in the new land; stories of some American artists and their work. 207p pl $3 Dutton

927.5 Artists, American 45-7776

Study of the art of painting in the United States, for high school age, beginning with a chapter on the early unknown painters, and continuing with biographical sketches of the following artists: Benjamin West, J. S. Copley, C. W. Peale, C. G. Stuart, J. J. Audubon, G. C. Bingham, George Inness, J. A. M. Whistler, Winslow Homer, Thomas Eakins, A. P. Ryder, J. S. Sargent, A. B. Davies, John Sloan, G. W. Bellows, Grant Wood. Arrangement is chronological. The closing chapter is on the new artists.

"'Art in the New Land' has a place on the shelf of every young person interested in art, and will serve as an introduction to those whose interest is less active."

+ Book Week p5 N 11 '45 220w

Booklist 42:40 O 1 '45

"This reviewer has no quarrel with Miss Simon's selection of American artists and the illustrations of their work for a short and easily readable biographical treatment. . . However, the value of such a book is always con-

SIMON, C. M.—Continued
ditional upon the writer's purpose in compiling it, and no clue is provided in respect to this most important function. The publication makes a significant contribution as a short introductory textbook for the study of American painting, let us say, for use in elementary-school programs, for home reading by the average citizen, or for use in community art centers where study projects may be undertaken." W. G. Whitford
El School J 46:235 D '45 1300w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 21:465 N '45 60w

Kirkus 13:400 S 1 '45 130w

"Useful for recreational reading or supplementary reference. Recommended." Marguerite Smith
+ Library J 70:894 O 1 '45 80w

"The selection is excellent, ranging from Benjamin West to Grant Wood, and through the book as a whole runs an emphasis upon the vigor and independence, the native American quality which animated their work. There is a chapter on the beginnings of art in this country (although she errs, I think, in saying that the first settlers deliberately put art behind them—that was a matter of expediency not of choice) and notes on some contemporary painters. This is a stimulating book, well illustrated, for readers of 10 to 15." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p37 S 16 '45 230w

New Yorker 21:139 D 8 '45 60w

Sat R of Lit 28:81 N 10 '45 30w

"None of the chapters go far either into criticism or biography, but taking pictures with which American young people have reason to be familiar through reproductions, and giving forty-five of these, [the author] attaches to each picture enough that is easily remembered about the man who made it to give his work a stronger interest to young folks. For a public library its uses are apparent." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 S 30 '45 250w

SIMON, CHARLIE MAY (HOGUE) (MRS JOHN GOULD FLETCHER). Straw in the sun. 253p $2.75 Dutton
B or 92 45-2541

An account of the author's experiences in building a home on a land-grant farm in the Ozarks. Early in her stay the bank where her money was deposited, failed, and she was faced with the problem of living on the land. Because her ancestors had come from the Ozarks she was well received by the neighbors, and her three years were peaceful and happy ones.

"Anyone who likes Thoreau will probably have a milder liking for this story of a lone lady homesteading in the Arkansas hills back in 1931. Unlike the wild man from Concord, however, this author liked people and the odd customs that grow up in their various societies and she has made a quietly interesting album of her Arkansas neighbors." Phil Stong
+ Book Week p12 Ap 22 '45 260w

Booklist 41:254 My 1 '45

"The writing has a clarity that is missing from so many books. Miss Simon does not rhapsodize but despite that her prose has a poetic quality in its simplicity. Through it runs the story of two children, Vannie and Bob, told with understanding. And she writes about the wild things of the forests and the domestic animals without trying to be a naturalist."
+ Boston Globe p19 Ap 18 '45 250w

Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 24 '45 450w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45

"The book is full of the feel and sight and smell of the Ozarks; the quality of primitive people. Not important—but I liked it."
Kirkus 13:119 Mr 15 '45 170w

"Charming account, naturally and simply told. . . A satisfying, genuine story of mountain people and their life. Good reading aloud. Recommended." J. S. Cleavinger
+ Library J 70:354 Ap 15 '45 90w

Reviewed by L. A. Salter
New Repub 112:597 Ap 30 '45 50w

"A more adventuresome writer than Mrs. Simon might have been less detached, less coolly collected, more imbued with the passion of a peculiar theme or vision of life. Mrs. Simon has written instead a book of which the chief merit is the fact of its simplicity, the errors of omission rather than of commission. The observations of nature do not cut deep enough, the interest in folk is not sufficiently expansive, finally. This is not to disparage that which the book does achieve, but only to suggest that there could have been a much richer texture in the writing." Marguerite Young
+ N Y Times p7 Ap 15 '45 850w

"Told simply and unsentimentally, the tale is rich in detail. The author has an artist's eye and ear for the birds and flowers surrounding her home, for the wood thrush singing an anthem of praise, the rabbit's nest of fur and grass, the 'blue-eyed Mary' that closes at night and opens with the sun. Those who are tired of reading about mean, crafty, and suspicious men, about the wretched poor in our large cities, the filth and ignorance of our benighted rural communities, will find an anodyne in this record of natural, kindly people whose virtues unaffectedly spring from the soil of a pioneering civilization and still form a part of our American heritage." Grace Frank
+ Sat R of Lit 28:12 My 5 '45 450w

Reviewed by Edrie Van Dore
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 22 '45 550w

Time 45:100 Ap 30 '45 30w

"A simple, moving story of hard work and rich rewards (humanly speaking), of great fortitude and of wholesome joy. . . There is much of Thoreau's feeling in 'Straw in the Sun,' but Mrs. Simon is a more generous, warmer person in her human relations than her mentor was. Her feeling for nature, for man and for God is of the richest, broadest sort; no one of them predominates; the great triumvirate merges to provide her preoccupations and her whole environment. Mrs. Simon's style in writing is moving in its unadorned simplicity. She uses a quiet, earthy phrasing to express the deep poetry of feeling that vitalizes every line of 'Straw in the Sun.'" F. H. Bullock
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ap 15 '45 700w

SIMONDS, HERBERT RUMSEY. Industrial plastics. 3d ed rev & enl 396p il $5 Pitman
668 Plastics. Plastics industry 45-5072

"Information concerning the manufacture, design, properties and uses of plastic materials. The book is intended for the user and designer of plastic goods and the interested layman, and technical terminology has been reduced to a minimum. This edition has been enlarged to include descriptions of new developments and new commercial plastics. The chapter dealing at length with ten of the most important plastics has been changed to cover phenol and urea formaldehydes, cellulose acetates, polystyrenes, vinyl copolymers, methyl methacrylates, nylon, vinylidene chloride, polyethylene, and melamines. The chapter on foreign practice now gives emphasis to South American countries, and the list of trademarks has been lengthened." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index. For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1939.

"This book covers with unusual clarity and completeness the plastics materials and the industry which produces them. . . By maintaining a well-chosen balance between technical and nontechnical considerations, supported by a description of industry-tested methods, the author has skillfully avoided confusing the nontechnical reader, a tendency usually prevalent in similar documents. I consider this book to be a worthwhile addition to the literature of the industry." C. Rector
+ Chem & Eng N 23:1576 S 10 '45 130w

Chem & Met Eng 52:269 O '45 70w

Library J 70:638 Jl '45 110w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:28 Ap '45

SIMONDS, HERBERT RUMSEY, and others. The new plastics. 320p il $4.50 Van Nostrand
668 Plastics 45-5244

"This volume, which brings together information on developments in the field of plastics since 1940, supplements the earlier works on this subject. Chapter one presents a brief review of the industry up to 1940, but the remainder of the volume describes the methods of preparation, properties, and uses of new fibers, adhesives, laminating materials, synthetic rubbers, and coatings. Among the products discussed are polyethylene, polectron, fosterite, saran, vinyl butyral, zein, zinlac, noreplast and velon." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"The plastics industry, being in its infancy, is growing and spreading out in every direction so rapidly that it is difficult to keep up with the many changes. Such progress is commendable for the industry, but makes a book on the industry out-of-date by the time it is published. In this book the authors have attempted to supplement earlier volumes on plastics rather than to prepare a new treatise on the subject as a whole. Yet for those who may not have other books a condensed review of the industry is given in the opening chapter."

Chem & Met Eng 52:231 Jl '45 220w

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45

Library J 70:532 Je 1 '45 80w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:28 Ap '45

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:56 S '45 80w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p14 S 9 '45 100w

SIMONOV, KONSTANTIN. Days and nights; tr. from the Russian by Joseph Barnes. 421p $2.75 Simon & Schuster
45-35215

A dramatic story of the struggle for Stalingrad, of the apparent hopelessness of Russia's power to turn the Nazi tide, and of the ultimate Russian success. It is the tale of seventy days and nights, as it appeared to a young Red Army officer, who seized and held three apartment houses in Stalingrad, and to the young Red Cross nurse with whom he fell in love.

" 'Days and Nights' may not establish Simonov overnight as a great writer in America. But it should serve to mark Joseph Barnes, already a distinguished journalist, as a remarkable translator. His knowledge of Russian is based on firsthand relations with the Russian people as well as his university studies. In putting Simonov's clean, compact prose into colloquial English, he has done a great service." R. E. Lauterbach

+ Book Week p1 O 21 '45 1250w

Booklist 42:95 N 15 '45

Cath World 162:378 Ja '46 220w

"The book's greatest merit is in its quality as a piece of first-rate reporting of actual events, rather than a work of fiction; and it is from this reportorial strength that some of its shortcomings as a novel, measured by conventional standards, derive. . . Throughout, Simonov the reporter overshadows Simonov the novelist, until, at the end, the novelist seems to give up entirely. Thus, the plot breaks off suddenly, rather than ends, leaving the fate of the individual characters unresolved. But, on the reportorial plane, the ultimate victory of Stalingrad, while still unconsummated, is preordained by the new enveloping offensive." Edmund Stevens

+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 N 1 '45 700w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 N '45

"Mr. Simonov has produced a work of genius—that is to say, a significant book—about a city and a people in themselves significant, and most tremendously so at the time of which he writes. . . Mr. Simonov, with a little more horror, more detail, more monotony, would have become boring; with more warmth, nobility, humanity, generosity, gaiety, gallantry, would have strayed into sentimentality. As it is, his account is flawless." Anne Fremantle

+ Commonweal 43:266 D 21 '45 1100w

"This is an important book. . . I've read no other book that made me feel a close-up, factual awareness of the personalities, the mood, the tempo of life in the Russian lines; all of that has been given to us through correspondents, through brilliant descriptions of the siege of Stalingrad."

+ Kirkus 13:303 Jl 15 '45 250w

"Mr. Simonov was a war correspondent, and much of his detail was drawn from personal observation. He is perhaps a better journalist than novelist—the hero's love affair is a little perfunctory,—but it is exceedingly good journalism, and the narrative is always deeply interesting." J. D. Beresford

+ — Manchester Guardian p3 N 23 '45 120w

Nation 161:694 D 22 '45 950w

"Mr. Simonov handles his material skillfully, if not altogether perfectly. . . The superb merit of the book is its series of portraits of men in battle. That they happen to be Russians is incidental; they are first of all human and after that brave; such men lived before Agamemnon and just such men came from Iowa and Alabama to follow Eisenhower. Even the woman is no type from a comedy of manners, but a kinswoman of Hippolyte and Boadicea; yet the love story of little Anya and her huge captain is told with such delicacy and grace that one easily understands why the whole battalion fell in love with Anya. Best of all is the picture of the development of a green, rattle-headed young lieutenant into a warrior of epic proportions." G. W. Johnson

+ N Y Times p6 O 28 '45 850w

" 'Days and Nights' will almost certainly be the first work of a Soviet writer to be sold in greater numbers in America than in Russia. . ; This does not mean that 'Days and Nights' is a better or more readable book for Americans than it was for Russians. The contrary, in fact, is true. The novel had a far greater influence in the U.S.S.R. than it could possibly have in this country. But it is the best Soviet book so far published here about what the Russians call 'The Great Patriotic War.' It is the best, that is, from the point of view of the capacity of a Soviet work to communicate images and moods to Americans. . . As it stands now—with all hands, heroic and not so heroic, accounted for—'Days and Nights' is assuredly the truest book we have yet had on the Russian war. I think there will eventually be greater and even truer books on the subject, and it is altogether possible that Konstantine Simonov will write them." John Hersey

+ New Yorker 21:90 N 3 '45 2400w

"Constantine Simonov has accomplished two remarkable feats in his novel of the siege of Leningrad. First, that a war novel of such stature should have appeared so soon after the end of hostilities, and second, that a modern Russian novel should speak the universal human language of suffering and heroism without a single trace of the usual Soviet propaganda. It is no wonder that 'Days and Nights' has swept over Russia and is regarded there as the best novel of the war. . . During the war, fragments of 'Days and Nights' appeared in Red Star, the Russian Army newspaper, where they seemed so real and so related to the experiences of thousands of men that they did not read like fiction but like direct reports from the front. It is, therefore, less a novel than superb and imaginative reporting, and though the characters are doubtless invented they are in a sense every heroic Russian who fought for his country." Harrison Smith

+ Sat R of Lit 28:10 O 27 '45 850w

Reviewed by V. C. Clinton-Baddeley
Spec 175:496 N 23 '45 90w

"There probably has been no finer novel of the global war written by a writer of any nation." L. S. Munn

+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 950w

Time 46:106 N 5 '45 240w

Times [London] Lit Sup p533 N 10 '45 600w

SIMONOV, KONSTANTIN—Continued

"Three centuries ago Jean de la Bruyere provided a yardstick for reviewers: 'When a book raises your spirit and inspires you with noble and courageous feelings, seek no other rule to judge the event by; it is good and made by a good workman.' 'Days and Nights,' a touchingly simple love story imbedded in a detailed account of the Battle of Stalingrad, written by the most popular war correspondent in the Soviet Union, is a good book made by a good workman, and it comes through to us, as all too few Russian books have in these last years, in the clear English prose translation by Joseph Barnes that preserves the lyric quality of the original." Ernestine Evans

+ Weekly Book Review p5 O 28 '45 1700w

"Mr. Simonov has shunned political propagandizing, concentrated on drama and sacrifice. He has made no effort to achieve subtleties of characterization or conventional literary values. He has not written an important novel. What he has done is to describe a great battle more vividly than any other in this war has yet been described." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 35:383 winter '46 340w

SIMPSON, GEORGE GAYLORD. Tempo and mode in evolution. 237p $3.50 Columbia univ. press [17s 6d Oxford]

575.01 Evolution A45-404

"A unique study of evolution which synthesizes the data of paleontology and genetics as applied to this important subject. Drawing on the highly specialized knowledge in both fields, the author analyzes his material under two headings: tempo, or the rate of evolution under natural conditions, the measurement and interpretation of rates, their acceleration and deceleration, the conditions of exceptionally slow or rapid evolution, and phenomena suggestive of inertia and momentum; and mode, or the way populations became genetically and morphologically differentiated, how they passed from one way of living to another, or failed to do so, and what was the figurative outline of the stream of life and the circumstances surrounding each characteristic element in that pattern. Addressed to scientists in paleontology and genetics, and also to all those concerned with the mechanisms of evolution." (Publishers note) Bibliography. Index.

"The book affords an excellent view of much modern natural science from a fresh approach. In itself it is effectively written, firmly organized, and at once thorough and discriminating in its treatment of the data considered." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 F 25 '45 100w

"The evidence presented is cogent and the book one to be recommended as presenting material and ideas not available elsewhere." A. G. Richards

+ Crozer Q 22:280 Jl '45 700w

"The present volume in the admirable fashion of the Columbia Biological series, is provided with a list of authorities and a competent index. But as the book will be read by many not familiar with all the technical terms employed, a short glossary would be of the greatest service."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p250 My 26 '45 900w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:53 Mr '45 200w

SIMPSON, WILLIAM JOHN SPARROW. St Augustine's episcopate; a brief introduction to his writings as a Christian. 144p $2 Macmillan [7s 6d S.P.C.K]

B or 92 Augustine, Saint, bp of Hippo 45-1687

Twenty brief chapters on the writings of St Augustine as a Christian, "covering the time from his later lay days, through the priesthood into the Episcopate (with which it is chiefly concerned.) Here we have references to all Augustine's important writings, with interesting and valuable critical commentary from the Canon. The little book will be found a useful aid to the ordinary reader who wants to know something of the opinions of 'this greatest of all Christian teachers since St. Paul. . . .'" (Churchman) The book serves as a sequel to the author's St. Augustine's Conversion (Book Review Digest, 1930). Index.

"By all means add this to your books on St. Augustine. . . It is brief, but it gives us much in little." F. J. Moore

+ Churchman 159:18 Je 15 '45 120w

"In one sense it may be regarded as embodying the reflections of a long life, in another as the product of a desire to give to younger students a readable introduction to the subject and to the great themes with which it is connected. From both points of view it has considerable value and deserves to be widely read."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p106 Mr 3 '45 240w

SINCLAIR, UPTON BEALL. Dragon harvest. 703p $3 Viking

45-35107

Continues the adventures of Lanny Budd, the wealthy American undercover confidence man for President Roosevelt. The present volume carries Lanny's activities thru "the terrifying days from Munich to the fall of Paris, while an apprehensive world watches Europe yield to the German war machine."

"Upton Sinclair once said of Hitler and Mussolini, 'These two foxes are my quarry, and I hope to hang their brushes over my mantel.' He has lived to do just that. Along with other men of good will he has contributed the intellectual and spiritual ammunition which helped the Allied armies destroy the Axis in Europe. . . The Lanny Budd series will be read and admired when most of the diseased little men who aspired to greatness in our time are as dead as Torquemada and as dishonored." Sterling North

+ Book Week p2 Je 17 '45 750w

Booklist 41:302 Je 15 '45

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley

Cath World 161:363 Je '45 350w

Cleveland Open Shelf p20 S '45

Kirkus 13:162 Ap 15 '45 250w

New Repub 113:111 Jl 23 '45 120w

"In this latest volume Lanny is able to carry the reader along with him through some of the most complex and critical pages of history with a breathlessness increased by a sense of intimacy. We live once more through the events that followed the concessions of Munich, events that move toward their irresistible consequence in the evacuation of Dunkirk and the Nazi occupation of Paris. This impression of being identified with significant events and of influencing them defines the appeal of all the Lanny Budd novels, but never more vividly than in the present volume." E. B. Burgum

+ N Y Times p5 Je 10 '45 1100w

"Impossible as it is to take Mr. Sinclair's catch-as-catch-can wrestling with current history seriously as literature, it is even more impossible to take it seriously as history. This would be somewhat beside the point were it not for the fact that Mr Sinclair has announced that he thinks of himself, so far as his Lanny Budd novels are concerned, as a historian. He is portraying world events in story form, he has said, and he has taken the trouble to assure us, in his preface to 'World's End,' the first volume in the series, that what he has written about the world-famous figures that appear in his pages is 'factually correct.' Both of these statements puzzle me. I find it hard to understand how Mr. Sinclair could ever have imagined it possible to do a quick rewrite of world events from 1913 to 1940 and get anything but what he has given us—a literary hybrid that is both questionable as history and inferior as fiction. . . When Lanny is being interested or uninterested in a girl, or going through the motions of being a secret agent, or even thinking some of his thoughts, he has a certain amount of credibility; let him get involved with the 'factually correct,' though, and credibility disappears." Hamilton Basso

— + New Yorker 21:60 Je 16 '45 1650w

"The historical novel has seldom been reduced to simpler terms. Inasmuch as all the historical characters are alive or recently alive and the events are burned into everybody's memory, the author throws upon the reader the burden of animating these names, these events, these places. If Balzac once called himself the secretary of society, we can say of Mr. Sinclair that he is the stenographer of history. But his notes are in shorthand, and the transcription has the mechanical quality of office prose. Consequently, unless one wants to read history made deceptively easy, he will find 'Dragon's Harvest' a badly written book." H. M. Jones
— + Sat R of Lit 28:9 Je 16 '45 1750w

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 17 '45 480w

"For this great work, as well as for the great body of work that preceded it, a great spirit deserves well of this world. Long live Upton Sinclair!" F. T. Marsh
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Je 10 '45 1100w

SINCLAIR, WILLIAM ANGUS. Introduction to philosophy. 151p $1.50 (5s) Oxford

100 Philosophy A45-919

"A book for the plain citizen who wants to know what kinds of questions philosophers are interested in, how they go about finding the answers, and whether the questions and answers are important. The style is 'popular' enough for any intelligent reader, but it is guilty neither of the words-of-one-syllable type of oversimplification nor of the forced gaiety with which some recent writers attempt to sugarcoat philosophy or theology. The emphasis is upon the problem of knowledge. The aim is to lead the reader into such processes of critical reflection that he will 'begin to know from his own experience what it feels like to think philosophically,' and then to produce in his mind a 'heightened feeling of general intellectual insecurity and uncertainty'—but this only as a necessary stage on the road to a more mature attitude toward knowledge and truth." Christian Century

"This is an 'introduction' which is intended only to open the way to better acquaintance. It is well designed for that purpose."
+ Christian Century 62:337 Mr 14 '45 140w

Ethics 55:321 Jl '45 160w

"It is doubtful whether this carefully written little book will be widely accepted by American universities for use in the classroom: Mr. Sinclair's approach to philosophy is too narrow, epistemological, and English for current taste in this country. . . I would advise the inquisitive layman, the private student of philosophy, and even the jaded professor, to buy this little book and slip it into a pocket. A dull evening may be enhanced by an exciting intellectual adventure." Daniel Cory
+ J Philos 42:222 Ap 13 '45 700w

Times [London] Lit Sup p560 N 18 '44 600w

SINGER, KURT D. Spies and traitors of World war II. 295p $2.75 Prentice-Hall

940.5485 World war, 1939-1945—Secret service. Spies 45-6800

Stories of spies of all types, all over the world beginning with Admiral Canaris and Laurentia Beria, heads of the German and Soviet intelligence services. His stories include such well-known episodes as the doll shop in New York with its spy line to South America, and the Kuehn family who signalled the Japs just before Pearl Harbor.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Ag 12 '45 500w

Booklist 42:14 S '45

Kirkus 13:215 My 15 '45 170w

"Interesting." Margaret Owen
+ Library J 70:635 Jl '45 120w

"Until the official spy stories are dug out of the records, if they are, these will do." Daniel Schwarz
N Y Times p4 Ag 19 '45 370w

"I'm usually a slow reader, even of adventure stories, but I finished Kurt Singer's irresistible new book in three sittings at the beach. They were the three most exciting afternoons I've spent since my years with my ex-Christian Front and Bund 'pals.' . . Mr. Singer proves to us that truth (we are told that 95% of the contents are factual) can indeed be more thrilling than fiction. . . I am amazed at the variety which Kurt Singer has been able to compress into 26 chapters. Some of his cases are undoubtedly overstated, but as a whole it reads like an authentic 'Who's Who' of the criminal underworld the world over. His writing never lets one down; it breezes through racily, without letup, clear to the end." J. R. Carlson
+ Sat R of Lit 28:13 Ag 25 '45 2000w

"Mr. Singer tells of many episodes of the war within a war, some of which, like the cases of the doll shop in New York and the Nazi radio station on Long Island that was operated by the FBI, have been pretty well covered before. Most of the stories, however, are new and go into detail quite unusual for such a book. It is not a pleasant thought that material for another book is being lived and plotted at this instant, but it is comforting for those who spend their lives on the surface to feel that Mr Beria and the FBI have the situation pretty well in hand." R. F. H.
Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 19 '45 470w

"With the lifting of censorship there is bound to be a flood of works dealing with espionage in the late struggle. This is among the first of them. It is a bit superficial, but highly readable." W. A. Roberts
Weekly Book Review p8 S 16 '45 550w

SITWELL, SIR OSBERT, 5th bart. Left hand, right hand! (Atlantic monthly press bk) 327p $3 Little [15s Macmillan]

B or 92 Sitwell family. Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 44-4450

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"The affectionate way Sir Osbert Sitwell describes his family and ancestors has something in common with Clarence Day's 'Life with Father.' The resemblance does not go very far, though, for this is a large-scale autobiographical work. There are three more volumes projected, and by the time they have appeared we should know most of what is worth knowing about the Sitwells in general and almost all about Osbert." G. F.
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 13 '45 250w

Reviewed by Bonamy Dobrée
Spec 174:340 Ap 13 '45 900w

Times [London] Lit Sup p162 Ap 7 '45 2300w

SKIDMORE, HOBERT DOUGLAS. More lives than one. 265p $2.50 Houghton

940.542 World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939-1945—Pacific ocean 45-10376

The author was for more than a year with an air support group in the South Pacific. This is his account of how engineers, cooks, office workers, in fact all of the ground personnel, worked, fought, and died in the South Pacific section of World war II.

Reviewed by Martin Savela
Book Week p10 D 9 '45 320w

Booklist 42:146 Ja 1 '46

"If you shared our enthusiasm for the author's fictional Valley of the Sky you will also like this, which voices—not in fiction form—for boys and men of the air forces administration and service their testament of belief in

SKIDMORE, H. D.—Continued
the part they played. . . Too important a book in its fundamental implications—and the way they are handled—to be pushed aside as simply another war book."

+ Kirkus 13:463 O 15 '45 220w

"Mr. Skidmore's book has no names in it, and almost no facts, but it is a beautifully and sensitively told story of how the war felt to a 'non-combatant.' " David Dempsey

+ N Y Times p5 Ja 6 '46 90w

"This conscientious and observant piece of reporting is marred by a bad case of pronoun trouble; for reasons known only to Sergeant Skidmore and Houghton Mifflin, the author uses the first person plural in referring to himself, to his friends, and to the United States Army. The book, however, is a sound one and shows an excellent understanding of soldiers' mental processes in combat."

+ — New Yorker 21:114 N 24 '45 80w

"The narrative is rather in the style of a diary, but the author catches the spirit of the men and their faith in the America for which they're fighting." D. B. B.

Springf'd Republican p6 D 7 '45 210w

"This is the testament of an American man-at-arms, and, wrapped in Mr. Skidmore's lyrical prose, it is hardly less melodious than Villon's own, while to an American reader it is more moving. . . No one who reads his fine novel, 'Valley of the Sky' can doubt that Skidmore is both perceptive and observant. 'More Lives Than One' is a record of what he observed, but, far beyond that, it is a record of what he perceived." G. W. Johnson

+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 2 '45 750w

SLAUGHTER, FRANK GILL. Touch of glory. 329p $2.50 Doubleday

45-3451

An American doctor, wounded in action in World war II, returns to his Texas home hoping to rest for a month before he decides on his future. On his first night at home he is plunged into the struggle for decent medical care for war workers, which his aging doctor uncle is fighting. The month of rest vanishes, and Doctor Land joins the fight for health and decency.

"Reading 'A Touch of Glory' gives you the thrilling experience of watching the new operative procedures with none of the blood and tears. . . Besides the telling of a rattling good story of modern surgery and postwar readjustment, Slaughter had another frank and serious motive in producing 'A Touch of Glory.' He wanted, apparently, to state the case as he sees it for prepaid group clinic medicine. 'A Touch of Glory' gives a brilliant picture in fiction form of how Slaughter thinks the group clinic plan, supported partly by prepayment out of wages and partly by income from the doctor's private practice, might work." F. H. Bullock

+ Book Week p4 Ap 8 '45 650w

Booklist 41:341 Jl 15 '45

"Good of its kind—definitely not highbrow."

+ Kirkus 13:20 Ja 15 '45 130w

"The author has an impressive ability to make the delicate drama of life and death beneath the surgeon's knife as tensely exciting as an amphibious assault. Chris Land's tracheotomies and splenectomies—thoroughly recorded—are easily the book's high spots. His affairs of the heart are less compelling than his ability to quell an attack of delirium cordis in that same organ." Richard Match

+ N Y Times p18 Mr 25 '45 360w

Weekly Book Review p6 Je 17 '45 170w

SLOAN, LAURENCE HENRY. Post-war savings and investments. 134p $1.75 Harper

332.63 Investments 45-9892

"A study of the opportunities for saved capital available to the American people, and an appraisal of the past and probable future hazards of savings and investment." (Subtitle) The author is vice president of Standard and Poor's corporation.

Reviewed by L. B. Krueger

Book Week p12 N 25 '45 130w

Booklist 42:159 Ja 15 '46

"This is in no sense a primer for innocents or a bait for gamblers."

Kirkus 13:392 S 1 '45 110w

Library J 70:1091 N 15 '45 50w

SLOBODKIN, LOUIS. Clear the track for Michael's magic train [il. by the author]. 48p $1.50 Macmillan

"Michael rides out of the living room on his bicycle and roars back in again at the throttle of a locomotive drawing a full-size train. His father and sister climb aboard and set out, as the most cooperative of passengers, upon an exciting excursion, with Michael acting as engineer, train announcer, conductor, porter, brakeman, drawbridge operator and everything else. The living room, which has faded into railroad stations, coach interiors, tunnels, mountains, farms, and even a zoo, abruptly becomes a living room again with the return home of Michael's mother." N Y Times

Booklist 42:133 D 15 '45

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 21:452 N '45 80w

"Good on all counts."

+ Kirkus 13:395 S 1 '45 80w

"While this does not come as complete a surprise as Magic Michael did, it is good fun. Children will love it, and it will come even closer to them than the first book did." M. C. Skinner

+ Library J 70:949 O 15 '45 110w

Reviewed by F. W. Butler

Library J 71:58 Ja 1 '46 70w

"Very pleasant little fantasy." C. J.

+ N Y Times p12 N 11 '45 130w

"A disappointing sequel to 'Magic Michael' but one which faithful admirers of Slobodkin and his amusing Michael will want to know about."

New Yorker 21:124 D 8 '45 60w

"Thousands, possibly millions, of children liked Michael's book last year. This one will not let them down. The pictures are so full of action that they leave one breathless. And Michael is very funny indeed as the conductor, the bus driver, and the engineer." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:49 N 10 '45 230w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p6 N 25 '45 230w

SLOBODKIN, LOUIS. Fo'castle waltz; il. by the author. 352p $2.75 Vanguard

818 45-10342

An account of a sea voyage to Argentina which the artist-author took some years ago. Because he knew so little about foreign countries, Slobodkin signed on as a deckhand on the freighter S.S. Hermanita. He learned a lot about life on a ship and about the pest spots of some South American ports, all of which he recounts here.

"Though most of the amateur tar's experiences en route were placid and some of them even humdrum, they don't sound that way when he gives them to us through the sharp filter of his own observation. Such little incidents as the one involving a Russian seaman and his $400 accordion are warm, appealing and not at all dull. . . All is not sprightly whimsy though. The sailors' quest ashore for small, sordid pleasures is tinged with sadness and even a little bitterness. Slobodkin's drawings complement his text effectually. Taken together, they make a more than ordinarily admirable performance." Jack Conroy

+ — Book Week p19 D 9 '45 360w

Kirkus 13:360 Ag 15 '45 180w

"It's a readable book, and the illustrations, by the author, are excellent."

+ New Yorker 21:67 D 29 '45 80w

"Author Slobodkin has an artist's eye for significant detail and the kind of gossipy fluency that makes many women's letters easy reading. He has also managed to smuggle into print (suitably disguised) a verb seldom seen in polite English prose since Lady Chatterley's Lover. In fact, Slobodkin has assimilated himself so completely to the somewhat rancid life of his crewmates that some readers may feel that they have listened to a five-hour monologue by a sea-faring stablehand."

+ — Time 46:96 D 31 '45 440w

"The Slobodkin of the pages is the most lifelike character; all the others, despite the care placed upon them, come forth at the end no more than one-dimensional. Perhaps it is the failure of the author's ear to catch real foc'sle conversation, for all of his characters seem to talk very much alike, although they are of many different nationalities. But more manifestly it is his inability to see his shipmates as just another group of human beings. They go stiffly through his pages, while Mr. Slobodkin, held by some compulsion or misconception, looks upon them as though they are in reality people of an entirely different world." Robert Carse
Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 6 '46 700w

SLOCHOWER, HARRY. No voice is wholly lost . . . writers and thinkers in war and peace. 404p $3.75 Creative age

809 Literature, Modern. Philosophy, Modern. Authors. Philosophers 45-3621

"Taking as his text a canon of Hesiod—'No voice is wholly lost that is the voice of many men'—an acute and unorthodox literary critic discusses and attempts to analyze the important writers and thinkers of the past twenty-five years who have struggled for self-integration and, using themselves as microcosms, have sought to relate man to the world he lives in. Many of the writers in question are the restless ones—the Joyces and Prousts, the Thomas Manns and Thomas Wolfes—who, despite their stature as artists, were never satisfied that they had come to a full understanding of the conflicting forces in civilized society." New Yorker

---

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson
Book Week p4 My 20 '45 650w

J Philos 42:582 O 11 '45 1150w

Kirkus 13:178 Ap 15 '45 120w

"Such a book as Mr. Slochower's could be regarded as a pioneer attempt to characterize the twentieth century. With its clearly demarcated discussions, its straightforward procedure, its well-chosen quotations, its broad learning, and its suggestive bibliography, this is the kind of book from which a student might set out on his way around the literature of a century which is now almost half spent. Particularly where Mr. Slochower has special knowledge, as for instance of Thomas Mann and other German subjects, his guidance has distinct value. It is when criticism is pushed beyond this point that misgivings arise. . . Mr. Slochower may conceivably have some reason for devoting nine pages to a Werfel and only one to a Shaw. A greater shortcoming is indicated by the contrast between pretentious titles and a thinness of actual content, a thinness that cannot be unconnected with Mr. Slochower's indifference to matters of taste." E. R. Bentley
+ — Nation 161:87 Jl 28 '45 2100w

"An ambitious and troubling book. . . Crammed with so many ideas (there are sometimes twenty to a page), No Voice Is Wholly Lost is as bewildering as it is rich, for it carries to a fantastic extreme an intellectual method dangerously prevalent in American critical writings and basically inconsistent, it seems to me, with what Slochower says he wants. . . This is clearly a time when it is desperately important for us to use intelligently our tremendously increased knowledge of the real world, and particularly of the human psyche. A great deal of exciting work needs to be done in unifying and absorbing this knowledge culturally. . . But this is also a time when, for obvious historical reasons, absolutism, mysticism and supernaturalism are resurgent. They have their real meaning, of course. But I think we have a right to scrutinize rather critically the way, as in No Voice Is Wholly Lost, they take over materialism, rationality and science, in order to turn them into their opposites, and I think we have a right, in this eclectic period of such opportunity and danger, to demand of all schools that minimum of logic, consistency, semantic clarity and shared fields of reference which makes intellectual discourse possible at all." R. G. Davis
New Repub 112:874 Je 25 '45 2100w

Reviewed by Mark Schorer
N Y Times p28 S 30 '45 900w

"To thread a way through the confused currents of the latter years of wrath and war is a hazardous venture, probably beyond the ability of any living man. Even though Professor Slochower seems sometimes to lose himself, it must be conceded that this is a brilliant try."
+ — New Yorker 21:83 Ap 28 '45 200w

"In the raging war of values, this book will rouse adherence and opposition, but it cannot be ignored. Learned, solid, wide in scope, intense in analysis, often wise, always ethical, it is the first wartime attempt—and a very stimulating one—to understand contemporary chaos and chart emerging roads to the organic, creative possibilities ahead." Joseph Freeman
+ Sat R of Lit 28:24 Je 2 '45 800w

SLONIMSKY, NICOLAS. Music of Latin America. 374p il $3.50 Crowell

781.78 Music, Latin American 45-7669

"In this book, Mr. Slonimsky has written the first complete account of Latin-American music to be published in this country. He gives first a kind of bird's-eye view of the Latin-American scene. He takes up each country—twenty of them—one by one. Finally he provides a dictionary of composers, instruments, compositions, songs, and dances, the whole richly illustrated with pictures and musical examples." Publisher's note

---

Booklist 42:72 N 1 '45

Reviewed by L. A. Sloper
Christian Science Monitor p15 N 3 '45 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45

"This is probably the definitive work of its kind. . . Decidedly, a reference book which every library should have; and written with some sprightliness by the Russian-American Mr. Slonimsky, who enjoyed various entertaining experiences while visiting, lecturing and gathering material in all the Latin-American republics. Yet it would be untrue to say that it is a very engrossing book, even for the reader predisposed to enjoy books about music." Carl Balliett, Jr.
+ — Commonweal 42:627 O 12 '45 480w

"An extremely important book for all music departments in schools and colleges and libraries, as the author, himself critic and composer and author of Music Since 1900, analyzes the patterns of musical culture of 20 Latin American countries."
+ Kirkus 13:176 Ap 15 '45 100w

"Valuable aid to orientation in a long-neglected field." H. M. Schweiger
+ Library J 70:586 Je 15 '45 110w

"A good book on Latin American music has long been needed, but this is not it. The biographical sketches and the dictionary of musical terms included in the work contain quite a lot of useful information, but the critical and historical sections are superficial, inaccurate, and unreliable." Gilbert Chase
— + Sat R of Lit 28:26 N 3 '45 800w

"Each section abounds in information, all very interesting; unfortunately, however, the material is frequently recorded in haphazard fashion. This scattering of material has made the task of indexing complicated, with the result that the reader must often turn to many references to acquire all the available information on a subject. Nevertheless, the book makes a worth while contribution to an understanding of musical Latin America."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:3 D '45 240w

SLONIMSKY, NICOLAS—Continued

"This book would be useful at any time but at this moment it is invaluable for all who would understand American music." John Erskine

+ Weekly Book Review p27 D 9 '45 500w

SMEDLEY, MRS DOREE (OWENS), and ROBINSON, LURA. Careers in business for women [prepared] in collaboration with Vocational guidance research, Evelyn Steele, director. 224p il $2.75 Dutton

371.425 Woman—Occupations. Vocational guidance 45-3781

Informal advice and material on business opportunities open to women, with many photographs of women who have made good in various kinds of office jobs from file clerk to executive. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 41:282 Je 1 '45
Kirkus 13:203 My 1 '45 120w
Reviewed by Lucy Greenbaum
N Y Times p18 My 27 '45 230w
Special Libraries 36:209 Jl '45
Weekly Book Review p11 Je 3 '45 110w
Wis Lib Bul 41:66 Je '45

SMITH, CARL EDWIN. Applied mathematics for radio and communication engineers. 336p $3.50 McGraw

510 Mathematics 45-8237

"A review and drill in certain principles in arithmetic, logarithms, algebra, geometry and trigonometry which are essential in engineering work. Special attention is given to vector problems, curves and graphs, the requirements of simultaneous equations in mesh circuits, and of quadratic equations in complex circuits having multiple resonance frequencies. A simplified treatment of calculus is presented; and the last chapter deals with the use of power series in evaluating functions, and the analysis of wave forms. About a fourth of the book is occupied with a collection of tables, formulas, symbols, and charts. The material in this text was formerly issued in a home-study course offered by the Smith Practical Radio Institute of Cleveland, Ohio." N Y New Tech Bks

Booklist 42:160 Ja 15 '46
Library J 70:752 S 1 '45 110w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:37 Jl '45

SMITH, COLUMBUS DARWIN. Quentin Reynolds' Officially dead; the story of Commander C. D. Smith. 244p $2.75 Random house

940.547252 World war, 1939-1945—Prisoners and prisons, Japanese. World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American 45-9685

On December 8, 1941, Commander C. D. Smith, Yangtze River captain and Shanghai harbor pilot, was in command of the gunboat Wake, which was captured that day by the Japanese. For the next three years he was busy breaking out of various prisons, until he finally made his escape, by dint of walking seven hundred miles into Chinese held territory. This account of his awful experiences has been put together by Quentin Reynolds.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 N 25 '45 650w
Booklist 42:107 D 1 '45

"What a story it is! And what a story teller!"

+ Kirkus 13:446 O 1 '45 170w

"Some descriptions are brutally realistic, while others (such as author's adventurous earlier life) are delightful reading. Rates with Thirty Seconds Over Tokio. Recommended." H. G. Kelley

+ Library J 70:1088 N 15 '45 100w

"There is enough suspense and melodrama in Commander Smith's record to satisfy the most case hardened fan of the 'I escaped' school of war writing. Mr. Reynolds has probably set another record in getting the first of what will very likely be a spate of similar stories from the Chinese theatre. His public will not be disappointed." David Dempsey

+ N Y Times p15 D 16 '45 450w
New Yorker 21:112 N 24 '45 120w
Reviewed by Donald Armstrong
Sat R of Lit 28:13 D 29 '45 550w

"The story told in this book, which is authentic to the last item and does not appear to have been greatly overdrawn in the telling, is one of those incredible adventures that have come out of the Pacific war, perhaps the most incredible of all up to date. . . It would be well for the American public to read this authentic account of how the Chinese underground was operating before the downfall of Japan—of what nobility the Chinese population disclosed on every hand and every occasion." Lincoln Colcord

+ Weekly Book Review p2 D 2 '45 1500w

SMITH, EDWARD CONRAD, and ZURCHER, ARNOLD JOHN, eds. Dictionary of American politics. rev ed 358p il maps $3; (college outline ser) pa $1.25 Barnes & Noble

320.973 U.S.—Politics and government 44-8921

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Am Hist R 50:408 Ja '45 100w

"That the work includes only some three thousand entries suggests the question of selectivity. Such omissions as Americanization, auxiliary agencies, non-voting, pari-mutuels, proprietary functions, indicate some arbitrariness in choice. . . Some definitions are inadequate or inexact, e.g., that of laissez-faire. In general, however, the definitions are satisfactory, and the work should prove useful to both special and general students." H. C. Cook

+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:198 F '45 150w
Foreign Affairs 23:338 Ja '45 20w

"The dictionary gives evidence of careful editing; cross references are accurate and few errors are to be discovered. However, as is almost inevitable in a cooperative venture of this kind, there are some duplications and inconsistencies. . . In both binding and type, the format is satisfactory. The wide inside margins will readily permit rebinding. A Dictionary of American Politics, 1944 edition, is recommended for public, school, and college libraries."

+ — Subscription Bks Bul 16:25 Ap '45 370w
Survey G 34:75 F '45 90w

SMITH, LADY ELEANOR FURNEAUX. Magic lantern. 276p $2.50 Doubleday [9s Hutchinson] 45-3742

Romantic story of the disastrous marriage between a Devon squire and a gypsy girl he found wandering on the moors. After the deaths of these two, the story of their only son is followed thru a wild career, until another marriage ended in the violent deaths of both partners.

"'Magic Lantern' is, in my opinion, one of the most enjoyable of the recent books. It is not 'important.' It is no 'document.' It has no 'message,' and there isn't the slightest taint of 'social consciousness' in all its 276 pages. No odd creatures inhabit it, full of psychological stresses and strains. . . The book tells a turbulent tale, but joyously points no moral." Taylor Caldwell

+ Book Week p6 Ap 29 '45 470w
Kirkus 13:41 F 1 '45 150w

"By this time no character created by Lady Eleanor Smith will experience shock on discovering gypsy blood in his family. Yet the author continues to suggest with infectious fervor that English-gypsy intermarriage is a matter of dramatic moment; and such is her skill as a story-teller that she contrives vivid entertainment out of the familiar but unfaded materials." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p26 Ap 22 '45 290w

"It is a rather luscious exercise in Gothic melodrama, a little deliberate in its juicier passages, perhaps, but done without apparent effort. A moment or two of sobriety to set off the romantic opulence of the tale might have been an advantage, but the author has no doubt sought consistency of tone above everything else. We seem, indeed, to be returning to Gothic fashion."

Times [London] Lit Sup p545 N 11 '44 330w

"Lady Eleanor Smith creates an exciting and swiftly-paced romance, and plays it up to the hilt." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 22 '45 110w

SMITH, GLANVILLE. Adventures of Sir Ignatius Tippitolio, better known to the world as Tippy, proprietor of Tippitolio's Grand imperial hotel Oriella; il. by Fritz Eichenberg. 162p $2 Harper

45-35230

Tippy began as a peddler who made some of his trips in a sailing vessel. When his ship was wrecked he found just the place to set up the hotel he wanted to run. Here he gathered a number of odd persons and animals and would have had the Princess Josi for his first guest had not the Grand Herald considered his hotel too plain. Tippy and his band had to rescue the princess and her party from bandits.

Book Week p3 N 11 '45 180w

Booklist 42:133 D 15 '45

Kirkus 13:336 Ag 1 '45 170w

"Children who have a sense of humor and like lots of nonsense will love this, but to others it may be a little tiresome." Olive Brain

+ — Library J 70:1138 D 1 '45 70w

"This book is well written, with a rare knowledge of the mystery, sobriety and levity which children relish. Fritz Eichenberg's brilliant illustrations aid and abet the tale." M. F.

+ N Y Times p16 N 11 '45 90w

"A work of dancing humor, with no particular purpose save to please the writer and through his enjoyment add to that of any one not above reading happy nonsense. People brought up on Frank Stockton will welcome it. . . The secret of the tale's attraction is not in events but in the unexpected way in which they are related. In a tradition older than 'The Floating Prince,' it measures up to a distinguished ancestry. A word should be said for the tidy charm of its pictures and general make-up, delicately holding in shape its fantastic realism."

+ Weekly Book Review p10 N 11 '45 360w

Wis Lib Bul 41:129 D '45

SMITH, HARRY ALLEN, ed. Desert island decameron. 406p $2.50 Doubleday

45-6070

A volume of short stories and sketches that have appealed to Mr Allen's sense of humor and seem suitable literature to carry to a desert island retreat. Partial contents: The bedchamber mystery, by C. S. Forester; Entrance fee, by Alexander Woollcott; From "The innocents abroad," by Mark Twain; Love makes the filly go, by Frank Sullivan; A Harlem tragedy, by O. Henry; God rest you merry, by C. O. Skinner; Mr. Kaplan's dark logic, by L. Q. Ross; The secret life of Walter Mitty, by James Thurber; The retroactive existence of Mr. Juggins, by Stephen Leacock.

Reviewed by Dale Harrison

Book Week p9 Jl 8 '45 200w

Booklist 42:72 N 1 '45

"A good enough collection to meet the requirements for good escape humor."

+ Kirkus 13:196 My 1 '45 170w

Reviewed by J. P. O'Neill

Sat R of Lit 28:36 Jl 7 '45 650w

"Mr. Smith's 'unconventional anthology' is not the most complete in the humor field, and it is far from the most scholarly, but it is at least a couple of hundred laugh decibels ahead of others published in recent years. His selections range from some of Mark Twain's best remarks to a Fred Allen broadcast, packing 40-odd stories and essays into a pocket-size volume just right for holding in a train aisle." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 17 '45 420w

SMITH, JAMES GERALD, and DUNCAN, ACHESON JOHNSTON. Elementary statistics and applications. (Fundamentals of the theory of statistics, v 1) 720p il $4 McGraw

311.2 Statistics 44-8390

"A college text for a beginning course. After an introductory section covering the principles of gathering and presenting statistics, it deals with such topics as frequency-distribution analysis, probability, sampling procedures, correlation, index numbers, time-series analysis, and the use of statistics in forecasting." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:653 Ag '44 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:65 O '44

SMITH, JAMES HENRY, and RAMBOVA, NATACHA. The road back; a program of rehabilitation. 44p pa $1 Creative age

355.115 Veterans. Disabled—Rehabilitation, etc. 45-5022

"The problems of the returning soldier are covered in a rather general way in this work, with a special section on the organization of a civilian Rehabilitation Center." Wis Lib Bul

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 My 20 '45 270w

Kirkus 13:196 My 1 '45 160w

Wis Lib Bul 41:110 N '45

SMITH, LOGAN PEARSALL. All trivia. new ed 197p $2.50 Harcourt

828

All of the "trivia" writings collected in one volume. "First published 1934. This 1945 edition contains the same number of selections as the 1934 collection with minor revisions and emendations by the author." Contents: Trivia; More Trivia; Afterthoughts; Last Words.

"Mr. Smith admittedly takes great care with his words, sentences, paragraphs. But if I'm any judge he also gets a direct simple pleasure out of the actual writing that is not as common as non-writers may think—the same sort of pleasure those old cabinet-makers must have got out of turning a chair or a table. And this joy of his is embodied in the product, just as the joy of the craftsman, or so I've always felt, is embodied in the chair or table—and almost as palpable as the seasoned silky wood or the good design." Margaret Marshall

+ Nation 162:48 Ja 12 '46 650w

"Many readers understandably shy at books of aphorisms, but 'Trivia' should not be passed over on that account; its consistently fresh viewpoint is sly cynicism, and its lapidary wit make it more the biography of an interesting mind than a scrapbook."

+ New Yorker 21:83 D 22 '45 60w

Time 46:100 D 10 '45 1300w

SMITH, MAY. Handbook of industrial psychology. 304p $5 Philosophical lib.

658.01 Psychology, Applied. Efficiency, Industrial. Employment management

45-2087

Introduction to the human angle of hiring industrial workers, and of getting along with them after they are hired. Partial contents: Finding the job for the person and the person for the job; Time and motion study; Temperaments, particularly the nervous; Measures of human well-being; General hints on methods of investigating. The author is an English doctor who has had many years of experience in this work. No index.

SMITH, MAY—Continued

"To those who wish to pursue the psychological development and placement of the worker in the job, The Handbook of Industrial Psychology offers an admirable coverage of the subject, particularly for those whose interest in the subject is not solely academic. With the huge post-war employment problem facing American industry, there is no executive, personnel official, or in fact any individual whose job requires executive understanding in human and industrial relationships, who can afford to neglect any signposts offered him. Dr. Smith's readable and well rounded book may well be considered required reading for the man who wants to do more than issue orders." L. G. Giberson

+ Am J Pub Health 35:651 Je '45 300w

Reviewed by D. C. Miller

Am Soc R 10:450 Je '45 330w

"Author is English and most of the examples are based on English tests and experience. In many places the style is poor, and the price is far in excess of the reviewer's opinion of the book." J. A. Sohon

— Library J 69:882 O 15 '44 110w

SMITH, ROBERT METCALF, and others. The Shelley legend. 343p facsims $5 Scribner

B or 92 Shelley, Percy Bysshe 45-10031

This analysis of the documents pertaining to the life of Shelley is an attempt to penetrate the legend of the conventional Victorian Shelley. The book is a collaboration of three scholars, chief of whom is Dr Smith, a handwriting expert. It is the judgment of the authors that Shelley was in truth "a romantic pagan." Index.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy

Book Week p20 D 2 '45 230w

Christian Science Monitor p12 D 29 '45 1200w

"The uncovering of frauds, forgeries, and defamations, and the vigorous castigation of distortions, suppressions, sentimentalities, together with numerous other reprehensibilities personal and literary, make this quite obviously an indispensable piece of research. It is, besides, a rich repository of critical gems, some extraordinarily just and sapient, some almost suffocatingly vapid, and others a wee bit on the malicious side. But it is also, through no fault of the authors, often a very depressing book—a confusing, annoying, and disillusioning book." J. A. Clark

+ — Commonweal 43:291 D 28 '45 480w

"A factual analysis, for Shelley scholars— the average reader will find it rather pedestrian and uninspired reading."

Kirkus 13:448 O 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by Carlos Baker

+ N Y Times p7 N 18 '45 950w

"An impressive piece of literary research. . . This attempt to see Shelley plain . . . should at least help to create a more lifelike and plausible portrait of the poet. Illustrated with many facsimiles of the famous forged letters and thoroughly documented."

+ New Yorker 21:107 N 10 '45 140w

"Perhaps more than anyone who has written of Shelley in the 123 years since his death, Dr. Smith has shown us the whole melodramatic set of circumstances as they were. No one after reading 'The Shelley Legend' can doubt that Shelley and his circle led a Bohemian existence of communal affection. That Shelley lived as he wrote is in some sense a vindication of his character. From his point of view he was simply putting into practice his theories of the joys of natural man unshackled by conventionality. This is the portrait of a misguided but far finer man than the shoddy imaginary figure of half-truths perpetuated by Mary and Lady Shelley." J. C. S. Wilson

+ Sat R of Lit 28:8 D 22 '45 2500w

Time 46:103 N 19 '45 1250w

"Though Professor Smith's slashing revisions of the Shelley legend may not all be substantiated and accepted, there can be no doubt that he has opened the windows of a very fetid room and let in a blast of fresh air. For that we may be grateful, in spite of all the broken glass." G. F. Whicher

Weekly Book Review p3 D 30 '45 1500w

SMITH, ROBERT MILLER. Human image. 310p $2.50 Harper

45-4529

"A prettyish, youngish woman whose husband has walked out on her and their two tough little boys makes her living by running a second-rate lodging house. She is rather a decent person, or would be if she had time for anything but worrying about the rent and keeping the lodgers from chiselling on the gas. Because she is lonely, she takes an unpleasant middle-aged businessman as a lover; he tires of her and they part. That's about all there is to the story." New Yorker

"A dreary, mouse-colored novel without much direction or purpose. In attempting to make plot and characters faithfully reflect 'the human image,' he has conscientiously avoided all those distortions and exaggerations that artists use to give an appearance of reality more real than a photograph. The result is that the reader is quite willing to accept these human images as real people, but they are so all-out ordinary it's hard to get interested in them. . . If the author's aim was to show that lots of people are not very good or very bad, or very bright, he has succeeded. One is left feeling slightly depressed by mankind as a whole." Annabelle Scoon

Book Week p12 Je 3 '45 270w

"Outside of an occasional predilection for talking out of the corner of his mouth, Mr. Smith is a pretty fine writer. He takes things as they come, and records them as he sees them. There is no undercurrent of social purpose, and we're willing to swear Mr. Smith never saw a soap box. The simple statement of poverty and mental misery among the so-called little people is propaganda enough in its way. At least it is when Mr. Smith writes about it." E. W. Watts

+ — Boston Globe My 31 '45 150w

"The littleness of little people, in sharp rather than sympathetic detail, with little to recommend it to the general reader."

Kirkus 13:112 Mr 15 '45 170w

Reviewed by Nona Balakian

N Y Times p16 Je 10 '45 380w

"Mr. Smith has hardly turned out a masterpiece, but he has done a sound job of narration that puts him in the class of interesting, as distinguished from promising, novelists."

+ — New Yorker 21:78 My 26 '45 160w

"There is no grim, ironic tragedy in this book, nor is there a trace of moralizing. Every character is very real and very fallible, but there is no psychoanalyzing. It is good reporting, and yet a lot warmer than reportorial writing because, as he himself acknowledges, the author likes human beings." V. H. Fuller

+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 27 '45 550w

"Possessed of a photographic eye for meaningful details and a nice sense of selection, Mr. Smith neither patronizes his characters nor passes judgment on them, but he makes them essentially sympathetic by endowing them with the strength and weaknesses of average human beings." Jennings Rice

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Je 10 '45 380w

SMITH, ROCKWELL CARTER. The church in our town. 190p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury

261 Country church. Sociology, Rural

45-9408

"A thoroughly expert study of the relationship between the church and the rural community. The author, professor of rural church administration and sociology at Garrett, approaches the theme with scientific competence and also with a thorough commitment to the values of religion and the importance of the church as an institution." Christian Century

+ Christian Century 62:1355 D 5 '45 70w

"Every minister serving a rural church will be sure to find not only definite help but enthusiastic inspiration for his ministry from this excellent blending of penetrating theoretical knowledge and very practical experience. Every denominational officer will be checked in his too easy tendency to treat rural churches as either places of retirement for older ministers or steppingstones to 'an important city pulpit' for ministerial beginners. What a mighty moral and religious revolution would be produced in the life of this country if every rural minister could manifest the quality of ministry which pervades this entire book!" D. H. Fenn

+ Crozer Q 23:108 Ja '46 300w

SMITH, THOMAS RUSSELL. Cotton textile industry of Fall River, Massachusetts; a study of industrial localization. 175p maps pa $2 Columbia univ. press

338.476772 Cotton manufacture. Fall River, Massachusetts A44-5110

"This monograph provides the first comprehensive presentation of the available data on Fall River, Massachusetts, from its rise during the first fifteen years of the nineteenth century to its decline as a textile center in the last twenty-five years. The study is the work of a geographer who is concerned with the economic problems of industrial localization." (Am Econ R) Glossary. Bibliography. No index.

"It is an able piece of work." R. K. Lamb

+ Am Econ R 35:735 S '45 1450w

"The discussions of the intraregional competition which culminated in Fall River's rise to dominance in textile manufacturing and of the inter-regional competition which brought on its decline are worthy of note. Of greater value is the analysis of the types of enterprises which succumbed to southern competition and of the readjustments in those which survived. Though presented as a geographic study, references to geography are few. Nor does that claim find support from the three illegible maps fitted with incorrect scales. An inexplicable estimate of intraregional variation in location costs (pp. 68-69) and a manifest lack of adequate editorial attention constitute further detractions." A. H. Hawley

+ — Am J Soc 50:561 My '45 150w

SMYTH, HENRY DE WOLF. Atomic energy for military purposes; the official report on the development of the atomic bomb under the auspices of the United States government, 1940-1945. 264p il $2; pa $1.25 Princeton univ. press

623.45 Atomic bomb A45-4588

"Professor Smyth's report on the atomic bomb was originally issued in mimeographed form and proved to be a mine of information for newspaper men. . . Since it is the declared intention of President Truman and of British statesmen to keep the bomb a secret it is not likely that much will be added to what Professor Smyth has written. What we have is virtually a textbook on nuclear physics which traces the history of radio-activity, the efforts to break down the atom by bombardment, the organization of the greatest research team in scientific history to develop the bomb, and an account of the manner in which success was achieved in three years." N Y Times

Booklist 42:71 N 1 '45

"Perhaps we should point out for those readers who have not seen the original report, that it was addressed not to the layman, but to the scientist and engineer who could claim no expertness in nuclear physics. For all who are willing to invest a few hours in its study, this book is indeed a most satisfying as well as history-making document." S. D. Kirkpatrick

+ Chem & Met Eng 52:269 O '45 400w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison

Christian Century 62:1288 N 21 '45 1250w

Cleveland Open Shelf p18 S '45

Current Hist 9:549 D '45 50w

Eng N 135:116 N 1 '45 180w

"On the 'Recommended War Books List.'"

+ Library J 70:1091 N 15 '45 110w

"Smyth's report, beautifully presented, unfortunately requires some knowledge of the physical sciences for a full appreciation of the story." Benjamin Harrow

+ — Nation 161:465 N 3 '45 600w

Reviewed by Bernard Jaffe

New Repub 113:504 O 15 '45 950w

"Professor Smyth has not written a popular book, and he says so in his preface. . . Nevertheless, his account of atomic disintegration from 1939 to the present time can be understood by any person who has had a high school or college education in physics and who is willing to read patiently and attentively." Waldemar Kaempffert

+ N Y Times p6 S 23 '45 1450w

New Yorker 21:104 N 10 '45 180w

Scientific Bk Club R 16:2 O '45 180w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:66 D '45 350w

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p14 S 30 '45 600w

Reviewed by Foster Hailey

Yale R n s 35:346 winter '46 260w

SNOW, EDGAR. Pattern of Soviet power. 219p $2.75 Random house

327.47 Russia—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—Russia 45-5785

In this volume an American reporter with considerable knowledge of both Russia and China outlines some of Russia's attitudes and aspirations on such questions as the program for Poland, the Balkans and Germany, and the Mongolian frontier. He also discusses the relationship between the Soviet Union and the government of Chiang Kai-shek, and the possibility of Russia's entry into the war with Japan. Contains chapters on Russian personalities. Index.

Reviewed by J. H. Powers

Atlantic 176:147 O '45 400w

"Edgar Snow has done the people of America a real service in writing this book. . . This [is a] lucid, frank and authentic appraisal of the new Russia." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p1 Jl 15 '45 1100w

Booklist 41:337 Jl 15 '45

Bookmark 6:10 N '45

Reviewed by Edmund Stevens

Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 19 '45 650w

"Flashes of sound judgment in the book do not wholly compensate for a certain thin superficiality." W. H. Melish

Churchman 159:14 N 1 '45 170w

Cleveland Open Shelf p18 S '45

"Surely this book is neither very profound nor startling; it is a sequence of impressions useful for the cautious reader who is tired of boring analysis full of facts and statistical tables. To be incensed against Snow for being too little indignant and not outspoken enough about the ugly aspects of the Soviet régime—he mentions only thousands as inmates of concentration camps—is as unjust as to claim that such Soviet critics as W. H. Chamberlin and D. Dallin are sinister reactionaries or Fascists." Waldemar Gurian

Commonweal 42:436 Ag 15 '45 500w

"Though Mr. Snow does not say much that is new here, his attitude of friendly understanding, if not necessarily complete approval, for what the Soviets are trying to achieve in international politics is a corrective to what appears to be an increasingly hostile tone on the part of many other writers on Russia."

Foreign Affairs 24:166 O '45 100w

SNOW, EDGAR—Continued

"Nothing could be more timely than this informed, dispassionate and brilliant analysis of the facts and the motives and the reasonable assumptions to be drawn from the Soviet's policy at home and abroad."

+ Kirkus 13:232 Je 1 '45 650w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 161:160 Ag 18 '45 300w

"Snow's book is lifted above the average newspaper or magazine reporting level because of his ability to clarify where others confuse, to interpret and predict where others orate and prate, and because he still knows which people are on our side even if part of the war is over." R. E. Lauterbach

+ New Repub 113:106 Jl 23 '45 1000w

"Mr. Snow has written an interesting and, in parts, highly illuminating book, but no clear-cut pattern of Soviet power emerges from its pages. This is due mostly to the fact that his treatment of the Soviet Union's internal life is too sketchy and contains little that is new. Occasionally, in dealing with such subjects as the new maternity and divorce laws, the progress of post-war reconstruction in the Ukraine or the organization of the new cadet schools, the author imparts to his English-speaking readers fairly detailed information which has not been available to them heretofore. But on the whole he relates the by now familiar story of the revival of 'traditionalism' in Soviet Russia. . . It must be said, however, that in his appreciation of all these changes in Soviet life and psychology Mr. Snow displays a sound judgment and a high degree of realism." Michael Karpovich

+ — N Y Times p1 Jl 15 '45 1900w

"A good book that does not live up to the promise of its title. I'm not at all sure that any book could, unless it were written by Marshal Stalin, and I think that even if he went to the trouble of writing such a book it might be rather premature. . . Objectivity is just what the situation calls for, and one of the great virtues of Mr. Snow's book is that he has tried to be as objective as possible. He gives us many facts about Russia and, while we can always use books of interpretation and criticism, we can also use all the factual information about the U.S.S.R. that we can get hold of." Hamilton Basso

+ — New Yorker 21:54 Jl 21 '45 750w

"As in all of Snow's writings, he is at his unrivaled best when discussing China. His explanations of the latest phases of the Kuomintang-Communist conflict and its bearing on Sino-Soviet and Sino-American as well as Soviet-American relations is both brilliant and highly informative. By comparison, his chapters on the Russian internal scene and discussion of new developments in marriage, religion, and education are hasty and fragmentary. His color fillins about 'the man in the Kremlin' and Soviet Government and personalities add little new to the usual stock of corny and rather threadbare anecdotes, gossip, and guesses. However, these minor shortcomings by no means detract from the book's main value as a thread through the maze of world politics and a sane corrective to the flood of tendentious anti-Soviet literature now current." Edmund Stevens

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:8 Jl 14 '45 800w

Reviewed by A. J. Steiger
Survey G 34:490 D '45 350w

"Edgar Snow has spent long years in China and Russia. He is an excellent observer and his pen pictures of events and personalities are forceful and convincing. In this work he adds to his previous essay on Soviet Russia in People on Our Side, a more thorough and sustained description of Soviet leaders, laws, governmental structure, economic resources, and foreign policy."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:46 D '45 240w

"Some readers may regret that the book does not more fully justify its title; there is only one tantalizingly short section which takes up the shifting balance of forces which constitutes power in modern Russia. But others—and there will be far more of them—will be grateful for an honest, informed and objective report on the Russians in 1944." Joseph Barnes

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Jl 15 '45 1300w

SNOW, HELEN (FOSTER) (MRS EDGAR SNOW) (NYM WALES, pseud). Chinese labor movement. 235p $2.75 Day

331.880951 Trade unions—China. Labor and laboring classes—China 45-146

Short historical analysis of the Chinese labor movement during the last twenty-two years. The book is divided into five periods: The first stage of the Chinese labor movement: from 1922 to February 7, 1923; Second stage: The underground period from 1923 to early 1925; Third stage: The 1925-1927 revolution; Fourth stage: The Civil war period from 1927 to 1937; Fifth stage: The war with Japan from 1937 to the present. Appendices contain facts and figures, personal histories, etc. Some of the work is based on hitherto unpublished material, obtained by the author in interviews with veteran Chinese labor leaders on her visit to Yenan. Index.

Booklist 41:164 F 1 '45

"It is all interesting reading. Although the author says it is written essentially for labor people in America, it is surely also for the general reader who wants to know more about this potentially important and fast growing land of the East. . . A comment should be made, however, about the whole tone of the book. It favors communism and criticizes the present government and its officials; others would certainly look differently upon these things." J. H. Carpenter

+ Commonweal 41:522 Mr 9 '45 550w
Kirkus 13:17 Ja 1 '45 130w

"While the story of all of these developments is necessarily fragmentary, students of China and anyone who is interested in the struggle of labor will find this little book extremely useful." M. S. Stewart

+ Nation 160:162 F 10 '45 350w

Reviewed by Herschel Levin
Springf'd Republican p6 My 28 '45 500w

Reviewed by Bruno Lasker
Survey G 34:133 Ap '45 450w

Reviewed by Eleanor Lattimore
Weekly Book Review p12 Ap 8 '45 800w

SNYDER, RIXFORD KINNEY. Tariff problem in Great Britain, 1918-1923. 436p $2.75; pa $2 Stanford univ. press

337 Tariff—Great Britain A44-2383

"Dr. Snyder reviews the various plans for revising the British tariff system discussed or adopted in the years 1918-1923; and he summarizes the debates on this issue both in and outside of Parliament." Am Hist R

Reviewed by H. F. Fraser
Am Econ R 34:928 D '44 550w

"Although Dr. Snyder appears to sympathize with the free traders, he presents fairly the arguments of the tariff reformers; and his précis of newspaper and parliamentary debates are excellent. Nevertheless his general picture is out of focus because he fails to portray Britain's domestic economic and financial situation as well as the intra-imperial and foreign relations which made the tariff issue so important and its solution so difficult." Paul Knaplund

+ — Am Hist R 50:330 Ja '45 360w

Reviewed by W. H. Wickwar
Am Pol Sci R 38:812 Ag '44 210w
Foreign Affairs 23:341 Ja '45 10w

SOBEL, MENAHEM MERLUB-. See Merlub-Sobel, M.

SOBY, JAMES THRALL. Georges Rouault. See New York. Museum of modern art

SOCIETY FOR THE PSYCHOLOGICAL STUDY OF SOCIAL ISSUES. Human nature and enduring peace; third yearbook; ed. by Gardner Murphy; collaborators: Gordon W. Allport [and others]. 475p $3.50 Reynal

940.531 Reconstruction (1939-). Social psychology. World war, 1939-1945—Peace 45-4782

"The Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues represents an attempt on the part of scientifically trained men to apply their specialized knowledge in the field of public affairs, where it has so long been needed. This book, the third annual year book of the Society, is a symposium of 53 individuals, most but not all professional psychologists. Under the skillful guidance of Gardner Murphy of Columbia University, who himself contributes several sections, 53 individuals have attempted to answer questions based upon the impulse to war, the obstacles to peace, psychological difficulties of specific nations, the practicality of democracy, and so on." New Repub

New Repub 112:597 Ap 30 '45 240w

"This book merits far wider attention than it promises immediately to secure. I would blow a trumpet for its superb value and long-lived significance as helping citizens and especially teachers to do a better job of helping to build enduring peace. For here is psychological insight of a high order brought to play upon the most urgent problems at home and abroad, with the proffer of specific suggestions of great utility in political, international, educational, and related fields." Ordway Tead

+ Survey G 34:416 O '45 450w

SOHON, HARRY. Engineering mathematics. 278p $3.50 Van Nostrand

510 Mathematics 45-598

"An advanced textbook for engineering students and graduates. Topics such as determinants, differential equations, vector algebra and calculus are treated. The inclusion of answers to problems makes possible its use as a review text." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 69:1048 D 1 '44 90w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:62 O '44

SOKOLOFF, BORIS FEDOROVICH. Civilized diseases: you can cure them. 309p $2 Howell, Soskin

616 Diseases—Causes and theories of causation. Medicine, Popular SG45-57

"The purpose of this book is to give to the public information on the diseases of civilization which may be practicable and useful. In the present book we intend to discuss the most common diseases of civilized man, explaining their cause and the symptoms." (Introd) Contents: Constitution and diseases; Nutrition and disease; Stomach disorders; The liver; Disorders of the colon; Diabetes; Blood diseases; Infectious diseases—Sulfa drugs and penicillin; Tuberculosis; Heart disease; High blood pressure; Arthritis; Glandular disturbances; Diseases of the nervous system; Eye diseases; Cancer; Conclusion.

Booklist 41:166 F 1 '45
Weekly Book Review p28 N 19 '44 160w

SOKOLOFF, BORIS FEDOROVICH. Story of penicillin. 167p $2 Ziff-Davis

615.3292411 Penicillin SG45-145

Study of the discovery and development of penicillin, describing also the effects of this powerful aid in saving human life, and recording what it will and will not do. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Ellwood Douglass
Book Week p12 Ap 22 '45 70w
Booklist 41:233 Ap 15 '45

"'The Story of Penicillin' can be recommended as having much of interest in it for the intelligent layman who will not be critical of the many inaccuracies which will be all too apparent to the chemist." R. D. Coghill

+ Chem & Eng N 23:944 My 25 '45 300w
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '45

"Some rhetoric, some padding—but an adequate job."

+ — Kirkus 13:27 Ja 15 '45 90w

"Clearly and simply written. Should be of widespread interest. Recommended." J. A. Sohon

+ Library J 70:163 F 15 '45 50w

"This book, which will be of interest to lay and professional reader alike, gives a very interesting and reliable account of the antecedents, discovery and utility of penicillin." M. F. Ashley Montagu

+ N Y Times p18 Ag 26 '45 400w

"This is an inspiring story of international scientific collaboration, simply and clearly told."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:48 S '45 200w

"Dr. Sokoloff's book is not as simple and easy to read as Mr. Ratcliff's but provides more sound knowledge for doctors and others whose interest goes beyond the superficial." Gerald Wendt

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 22 '45 150w

SOLOV'EV, VLADIMIR SERGIEEVICH. Lectures on godmanhood; introd. by Peter Peter Zouboff. 266p $3.75 Int. univs. press

232.1 Incarnation

"Vladimir Solovyev is, beyond question, the most prominent figure in the range of Russian philosophers and theologians. Practically all modern Russian religious thinkers like Sergius Bulgakov or Nicholas Berdiaev, came from his school (he died in 1900). Being, by temperament, a man of wide comprehension and synthesis he blended in this thought many divergent currents of the nineteenth century. . . Lectures on Godmanhood were written (in 1876) in the most fruitful philosophical period of Solovyev's life. In its clear, concise, and would-be popular form this work is best fitted to give the idea of Soloyev's doctrine as a whole. . . Mr. Zouboff is not only responsible for the English translation of this precious book, he gives also, in three chapters, an ample introduction to Solovyev's thought." J Philos

"Soloviev was a heroic and touching figure. That Dostoevski and Tolstoy heard him lecture illustrates nicely the somewhat indirect way in which philosophy contributes to general culture. His most striking doctrine is that of the Sophia or world soul, which united in itself the eternal God and the temporal world. . . The translation is not easy to read, but the task no doubt was difficult." Charles Hartshorne

+ — Ethics 55:322 Jl '45 600w

"For everyone interested in contemporary Russian religious thought this book is quite indispensable." George Fedotov

+ J Philos 42:334 Je 7 '45 480w

"The translation on the whole is very good, and the task can have been no easy one. At times we could wish for a little less literal translation and a little more paraphrasing for the sake of clearness of thought and fluency of expression. . . Dr. Zouboff's discussion of 'Solovyev, Philosopher, Mystic, Poet,' is informative. One might desire a further critique of Solovyev's thought, especially during the earlier period, for example, the incompatibility between his mystical intuitions and his metaphysics. The question of Solovyev's 'conversion' to Roman Catholicism is treated as well as could be expected in the compass of a half-dozen pages." W. H. Dunphy

+ — J Religion 25:287 O '45 850w

SONNECK, OSCAR GEORGE THEODORE. Bibliography of early secular American music [18th century] rev. and enl. by William Treat Upton. 616p $1.75 Publications office, Lib. of Congress, Washington, D.C.

016.78 Music—U.S.—Bibliography 45-35717

"Forty years have elapsed since the publication of Mr. Sonneck's original Bibliography of

SONNECK, O. G. T.—Continued
Early Secular American Music. At that time it was a pioneer work in bibliographical research in America, although German musicologists had been compiling important reference lists in many fields relative to music for a long period. . . Mr. Upton has indicated, in the case of each item of printed music, in what libraries the item may be found—an invaluable help to those who have need to examine the original scores. Mr. Upton states in his Preface that the plan of the original has been little changed but that additions (besides the new musical material discovered) have been made in the form of numerous indexes. These are excellently organized and include a list of articles and essays relating to music (prior to 1800), a list of composers, a list of songsters, a first-line index (with complete title and composer), a list of American patriotic music, a list of opera librettos, and an index of publishers, printers, and engravers." Library Q

"Mr. Upton's revision will fill an important gap in many libraries which have developed too recently to have included the original publication, long since out of print. This revision has been carefully done. Several collections unavailable to Mr. Sonneck have been examined and have revealed much new material, as well as many new sources." Scott Goldthwaite
+ Library Q 15:363 O '45 360w

"Not only are the titles in the main section far in excess of what Sonneck knew, but the creation of new indexes and special-feature lists makes the volume an indispensable source book to musicologists, musical and general historians, sociologists, and all who are in any way interested in American secular existence prior to the 19th century."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:71 D '45 200w

SOULE, GEORGE HENRY. America's stake in Britain's future. 232p $2.75 Viking

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy. Great Britain—Economic policy. U.S.—Relations (general) with Great Britain. Great Britain—Relations (general) with U.S.

"An economist looks at the social, political, and economic relationships between England and the United States, and, after a good many pages devoted to such phenomena as cartels, world trade, and finance, comes to the conclusion that England expects every American to do his duty and see that this country doesn't fall into a depression, since depression here means depression there, and headaches for everybody." (New Yorker) Index.

Reviewed by Walter Johnson
Book Week p18 O 21 '45 500w
Booklist 42:69 N 1 '45
Christian Science Monitor p16 O 24 '45 650w

"Soule . . . has some sound thoughts on the means of maintaining foreign and domestic commerce which will be helpful to both countries, and he faces the problem on the basis of practice, rather than theory."
+ Current Hist 9:550 D '45 100w
Kirkus 13:355 Ag 15 '45 150w

"Every patriotic American should get a copy of Mr. Soule's book and live with it until he has mastered its ideas. Then he should insist that Congress take action." E. M. Thornbury
+ Nation 161:628 D 8 '45 950w
New Yorker 21:107 O 13 '45 80w

"Both author and publisher of Mr. Soule's book are to be congratulated on the timeliness of its appearance. It comes at a moment when all serious-minded people in this country are still considering the best form of aid which, in America's interest, can be extended to Great Britain after Lend-Lease, now terminated. And the coming of a Labor government in Great Britain will certainly not diminish the interest of these informative pages. . . The economic conditions which he analyzes so competently need analysis, and his useful contribution comes at precisely the right and urgent moment." Norman Angell
+ Sat R of Lit 28:7 O 20 '45 2350w

" 'America's Stake in Britain's Future' is a book to provoke thought. Coming as it does at the end of the war and dealing with future problems, it is reminiscent of that ominously prophetic work, Keynes's 'Economic Consequences of the Peace,' which appeared after World war I." R. S. Ullery
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 650w

"George Soule, who has been following closely the current economic debates in Great Britain, has written a book that is likely to be received with greater sympathy across the sea than here. Forty or so years ago, men like Hay and Lodge and Mahan returned again and again to England physically and spiritually. . . Today, once more, an English cult has appeared in America. Curiously enough, however, its votaries are not political leaders but economists and publicists, and its leaning is not to the right but to the left." Louis Hacker
Weekly Book Review p6 N 4 '45 1500w

'This is a really impressive book, and in many respects a frightening one, for it is one of those rare livres de circonstance with a relevance that may extend far beyond the moment to an entire generation. In spite of the complexity of the issues that it treats, it is eminently readable. The dexterous marshalling of the argument is fully matched by an admirable lucidity of style, so that the reader is carried forward by the author's sombre sense of urgency. For the sake of post-war hopes, one could wish it might be pondered by all those in the strategic posts of responsibility." C. H. Driver
+ Yale R n s 35:356 winter '46 1200w

SOULE, GEORGE HENRY, and others. Latin America in the future world [prepared] (under the supervision of Alvin H. Hansen) for the Nat. planning association. 372p $3.50; text ed $2.50 Farrar

330.98 Latin America—Economic conditions. World war, 1939—Latin America
44-47129

"A presentation of economic and social facts concerning Latin America, collected from many authentic sources and pointing toward the fuller utilization of these countries' resources and possibilities. Documented data with few dogmatic conclusions comprise most of the book which is divided into three sections. (1) Basic problem described and analyzed, in which housing, health, labor, land problem, among other subjects, are treated; (2) War: economic dislocations and programs; (3) Recommended policies and implementation. Many statistical tables and diagrams." (Booklist) Index.

"The reviewer suspects that, apart from the beneficial results of foreign investment activity, the authors minimize the adverse effects of an increased multiplier which will result from a decline in the propensity to import, and that in addition many of the measures proposed are not consistent with the maintenance of over-all productivity. The book also suffers in many instances from reliance upon poorly reasoned argument and flimsy evidence. . . The authors also make use of incorrect statements to support views with respect to land use. . . There are a number of misleading statements with respect to comparative expenditures on foods and other essentials of livelihood. . . The foregoing critical comments are not intended to indicate that we can be complacent about poverty in Latin America. It is a serious problem, and numerous economic and social reforms are needed. As far as its major emphasis is concerned, this book serves a useful purpose; but the reader should be wary of the many inaccuracies and exaggerations which it contains." Virgil Salera
+ — Am Econ R 35:693 S '45 1200w

Reviewed by J. F. Rippy
Am J Soc 51:87 Jl '45 270w

"This book makes an outstanding contribution to an understanding of the economic problems of Latin America, is well organized, carefully written, and fundamentally sound in its conclusions. The documentation constitutes a good bibliographical source, and the statistical tables (pp. 336-360) are excellent." W. S. Stokes

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:813 Ag '45 550w
Am Soc R 10:578 Ag '45 80w

"Highly remarkable and informative book." Alfred Manes

+ Ann Am Acad 240:165 Jl '45 430w

"This is not an easy-reading book. It is larded with tables, charts and statistics. It contains no backstairs gossip, no charming anecdotes, and it obviously represents years of scholarly research and analysis. Yet, despite these obstacles to popular success, the book can well become the economic 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' of the Western Hemisphere. For the basic economic problem of our hemisphere is not confined to the fact that the peoples of Latin America don't earn enough to buy more from North America." Allan Chase

+ Book Week p4 F 11 '45 650w
Booklist 41:147 Ja 15 '45
Bookmark 6:5 Ja '45

Reviewed by Josephine Hambleton
Canadian Forum 25:48 My '45 950w
Foreign Affairs 23:702 Jl '45 40w

Reviewed by Virgil Salera
J Pol Econ 53:371 D '45 1050w

"A superb piece of organization for a scholarly, statistical report on social conditions in Latin America, which should be a 'must' for anyone, statesman or layman, with interest in the economic and social present and future of South America."

+ Kirkus 12:555 D 15 '44 170w

"An important document, very readable and enlightening, recommended for libraries generally." J. E. Cross

+ Library J 70:32 Ja 1 '45 130w

"This is a solid, cooperative effort toward the definition and possible solution of the economic problems of Latin America. It is a thoroughly competent piece of work, as authoritative for the Southern Hemisphere as a whole as Felix Weil's recent book was for the Argentine. It is, perhaps, hardly an entertaining book, though its unencumbered precision and square-standing judgments quite remove it from the category of academic exercise." Ralph Bates

+ Nation 160:191 F 17 '45 400w

"Few books on Latin America offer a more substantial portrayal of the life of our southern neighbors than this essentially factual volume. Summarizing the results of a long and careful study sponsored by the National Planning Association, it presents an admirably organized analysis of virtually every social and economic problem that now confronts the South American continent." B. B. Seligman

+ New Repub 112:427 Mr 26 '45 480w

Reviewed by Robert Okin
Sat R of Lit 28:16 Ag 11 '45 550w
Special Libraries 36:61 F '45
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:31 Je '45 280w

SOUTHWEST REVIEW (periodical). Son-of-a-gun stew. See Stover, E. M., ed.

SPAETH, SIGMUND GOTTFRIED. At home with music. 366p il $3.50 Doubleday

780.1 Music—Analysis, interpretation, appreciation 45-9137

A home guide to musical appreciation, written in untechnical language. It begins with rhythm and goes on to the various types of musical entertainment. Partial contents: Story and picture music; Something about songs; The church's contribution; Grand opera; Overtures and other pieces; Symphonic supremacy; Modernism and jazz. Contains a list of special records for children, a glossary and index.

Reviewed by Felix Borowski
Book Week p12 N 4 '45 300w
Booklist 42:124 D 15 '45
Christian Science Monitor p17 D 15 '45 40w
Kirkus 13:355 Ag 15 '45 130w

Reviewed by M. C. Hastings
N Y Times p12 Ja 20 '46 360w
Weekly Book Review p14 N 25 '45 130w

SPAETH, SIGMUND GOTTFRIED. Read 'em and weep. new rev ed 248p $3 Arco

784.8 Songs, American. Ballads, American 45-9138

Second edition of a book which first appeared in 1927 (Book Review Digest, 1927). It is "a treasury of American songs—the songs you forgot to remember—some sad, more merry, some sentimental; with a wealth of amiable anecdote, comment and fascinating folk-lore—a flavorful feast of melodious music; with an album of elegant art." (Subtitle) One new chapter has been added.

"For those who have read Sandburg's 'American Songbag' or the excellent collections of ballads and folk songs edited by the Lomaxes, this cheap collection besprinkled with heavy witticisms will seem just what it is—a curious comment upon its editor and his era." Sterling North

Book Week p2 S 2 '45 180w
Booklist 42:131 D 15 '45

SPELLMAN, FRANCIS JOSEPH, abp. No greater love; the story of our soldiers. 147p $2 Scribner

940.548 World war, 1939—Religious aspects. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 45-35144

Archbishop Spellman's account of his most recent visit to the battle fronts of Italy, France, and Germany. The message of his book is that this time the peace must be an absolute one.

"With his undisputed flair for vivid prose and with his background as a church leader, the archbishop could write, if he wished to be frank, as definitive a book on the past two decades as any clergyman possibly could. His newest volume is far short of this, however, particularly since back of its pages stands constantly the disquieting thought: I wonder what he really thinks. This is the biggest handicap of an otherwise engaging book." J. O. Supple

+ — Book Week p6 Jl 29 '45 300w
Booklist 42:14 S '45

"New York's Archbishop has written a most vivid picture of his visit to the battlefronts of Africa and Europe. It has rightly been rated as the best book the war has brought forth, filled as it is with countless tales of bravery, hardship, loyalty, and generous acceptance of death for one's native land." B. L. Conway

+ Cath World 162:183 N '45 270w
Christian Century 62:981 Ag 29 '45 250w

"Simplicity and warm human sympathy go hand in hand to make of this an engaging book." H. G. J. Beck

+ Commonweal 42:437 Ag 17 '45 400w
Kirkus 13:285 Jl 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by J. M. Brittan
Library J 70:635 Jl '45 110w

"It is a moving and sensitive account of many aspects of war, of soldiers, of the people of liberated Europe." Peter Eddy

+ N Y Times p7 Jl 29 '45 260w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 5 '45 450w

"Homely incidents abound in this sympathetic record. . . His snapshot portraits of royalties and generals convey a clear idea of what they are like and his reports on religion at the front are heartfelt and heartening."

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Jl 29 '45 200w
Wis Lib Bul 41:112 N '45

SPENCER, CORNELIA, pseud. See Yaukey, G. S.

SPENCER, GUILFORD LAWSON, and MEADE, GEORGE PETERKIN. Cane sugar handbook; a manual for cane sugar manufacturers and their chemists. 8th ed rev & enl 834p il $7.50 Wiley

664.1 Sugar—Manufacture and refining 45-2748

"A technical survey of the various phases of cane sugar manufacture and refining, written primarily for the control chemist. This edition has been considerably enlarged with the introduction of material on the theory and practice of crystallization in motion, blackstrap molasses and edible sirups, and the examination of refined sugars. Other chapters on methods of cane purchase, composition of cane, uses of bagasse, warehousing of sugar, and vegetable carbon processes in refining, have been revised and expanded." N Y New Tech Bks

"The typography of the present edition of the Spencer-Meade manual is excellent. The reviewer in his perusal of the volume noted only one slight error. . . The book is provided with a good subject index of 18 pages. It is recommended to all engineers, chemists, and food technologists who are interested in the production of cane sugar." C. A. Browne

+ Chem & Eng N 23:944 My 25 '45 550w

"It is inconceivable that a chemist or engineer connected with the sugar industry would be found without 'Spencer and Meade.' Therefore the fourth edition will be welcomed by this industry. This edition is up-to-date and authoritative, having had collaborators such as Peter Honig, Alfred L. Webre, T. G. Davis and Wm. L. Owen. While the arrangement of this book is similar to the third edition published in 1929, its subject matter has been increased from 560 to 834 pages." G. T. Reich

+ Chem & Met Eng 52:221 Ap '45 350w

Library J 69:1048 D 1 '44 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:14 Ja '45

"In spite of being technical, the book is very readable, and diagrams and photographs are used liberally to supplement the text. The materials on certain special subjects were prepared by outstanding workers in particular fields, and are important contributions in themselves. The handbook is primarily for the engineers, operating chemists, and managers of sugar cane factories, but is now so broad in its treatment that it is a general text for anyone desiring a basic knowledge of the industry."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:52 Je '45 240w

SPENCER, MRS LOUISE REID. Guerrilla wife. 209p $2.75 Crowell

940.542 World war, 1939-1945—Philippine islands. World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American 45-5234

The Canadian wife of an American engineer describes in detail the daily life of a group of "miners" and missionaries in the hills of Panay Island in the Philippines from the fall of Manila, until they were carried to Australia by submarine two years later.

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock

+ Book Week p3 Ag 19 '45 700w

Booklist 42:14 S '45

Bookmark 6:11 N '45

"Mrs. Spencer writes well, and is lavish in her praise of her fellow refugees, and of the loyal natives who helped them in their direst need, warned them often of the Japanese advance, and finally directed them to the submarine that was to carry them to Australia. An interesting book."

+ Cath World 162:190 N '45 170w

"Subdued and modestly written, this is nevertheless a tribute to women's courage." M. C. Scoggin

+ Horn Bk 21:366 S '45 80w

Kirkus 13:192 My 1 '45 230w

"The detailed descriptions of incredible hardships, lack of food and clothing, and courage in face of constant threat of Jap capture, culminating in heartbreaking trek to the coast, make the story equal in heroism to any that has come from the actual battlefronts. Recommended for libraries having World War collections." M. L. Messler

+ Library J 70:488 My 15 '45 120w

"Mrs. Spencer tells her story with simplicity, letting the frightful events provide their own drama. She has a remarkable memory for the detail of her life as she and others in 'Hopevale' hunted substitutes in the jungle for the everyday 'necessities.' Anyone who has ever wondered how it would have been if our city populations had been forced to fly to the hills of the United States and Canada to escape the path of an invader had the war gone differently, will find this an engrossing tale." Barrett McGurn

+ N Y Times p4 S 2 '45 750w

"It is a remarkable tale of fortitude and hope made even more touching by the total lack of any attempt to write literature. It is full of homely detail and, understandably, Mrs. Stevens seems to remember the details of almost every meal they ate, whether it was just rice or a feast of native turkey. She also finds occasions to picture the good humor and sportsmanship of the men and women who survived this life of hunted animals, to record moments of beauty and tenderness, to note in passing a story of man's humanity to man not only in the kindness of Filipinos but in the decency of the refugees themselves." Robert Okin

+ Sat R of Lit 28:33 Ag 25 '45 310w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 19 '45 270w

"A note on the jacket says that the book is by a born writer. She is—but, thank heaven, not trained. If just once she had pressed the note, just once arranged and timed and managed her story, it would have been unbearable. She has had the inspired common sense just to put down what happened, let it build up its own suspense, take its own way at its own madly increasing speed. Reading it should not be begun if a train must be caught that day." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 S 2 '45 650w

Wis Lib Bul 41:112 N '45

SPERO, STERLING DENHARD, ed. Government jobs and how to get them. 358p $2.95 Lippincott

351.1 Civil service—U.S. 45-7004

"Persons desirous of obtaining Government jobs, whether Federal, State or municipal, will find this book a mine of useful information about the jobs to be had, the qualifications and experience required of applicants, the salaries paid and the procedure of making application. Only those jobs which are likely to be permanent are listed. Those which are likely to be abolished after the war are omitted. There is also much additional information about the civil service, including a brief history of it, and about other Government agencies. A comprehensive index helps the reader to find information about the type of work for which he is best fitted." N Y Times

Reviewed by Will O'Neil

Book Week p2 Ag 26 '45 180w

Booklist 42:32 O 1 '45

Kirkus 13:306 Jl 15 '45 120w

"A fine reference tool for any library, especially now with increased number of government jobs under Civil Service." L. R. Etzkorn

+ Library J 70:684 Ag '45 110w

"Good vocational handbook."

+ Library J 70:1091 N 15 '45 60w

N Y Times p29 Ag 12 '45 130w

Weekly Book Review p25 Ag 26 '45 200w

Wis Lib Bul 41:110 N '45

SPERRY, ARMSTRONG. Hull-down for action; il. by the author. 213p $2 Doubleday
45-35200

A tale of adventure in the South Pacific during the early months of our war with Japan. Jeff Anders, the youthful skipper of a pearling vessel, the Island Queen, is set adrift with three companions by two members of his crew, the smiling Jap steward and the pseudo-Dane, Karlson. The day the two take over is December 7, 1941. Jeff and his comrades have many exciting adventures, on sea and land, before they finally recapture the Island Queen.

Booklist 42:80 N 1 '45

"Armstrong Sperry is at his best when writing of the South Pacific, and this story ties up successfully with The Lost Lagoon, while it also holds timely war interest. The pictures ably interpret the text." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 21:461 N '45 80w

"A rousing adventure yarn. Good handling of native problems, dramatically strained, perhaps, but with compensation in the authentic background material familiar to the author who spent several years in the South Pacific."
+ Kirkus 13:401 S 1 '45 110w

Reviewed by Dorotha Dawson
Library J 70:1140 D 1 '45 80w

"The author, who knows his locale at first hand, has given his story vividness, genuine excitement and a swift tempo." A. T. E.
+ N Y Times p10 D 23 '45 90w
Sat R of Lit 28:66 N 10 '45 40w

SPERRY, WILLARD LEAROYD, and others. Religion and our divided denominations. See Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world, v 1

SPERRY, WILLARD LEAROYD, ed. Religion in the post-war world. 4v ea $1.50 Harvard univ. press

208.2 U.S.—Religion. Sects. War and religion. U.S.—Race question. Church and education. Religious education 45-6967

This series of four volumes includes: v 1, Religion and our divided denominations, by W. L. Sperry, and others; v2, Religion of soldier and sailor, by P. D. Moody, and others; v3, Religion and our racial tensions, by Clyde Kluckhohn, and others; v4, Religion and education, by Alexander Meiklejohn, and others.

"With the exception of Father LaFarge and Rabbi Finkelstein, the writers in this symposium, even those who are more or less orthodox and at least profess a religion, reveal that they are not only completely adrift from the mooring of Revelation, but, and perhaps because of that, from that of reason itself. In their place is a pathetic and groping humanitarianism, with a God Who is provident and good, but distant and shadowy. In spite of this, however, students of religious history will find these volumes of intense interest." Wilfrid Parsons
Cath World 162:377 Ja '46 650w

"Perhaps the general title, or Dean Sperry's name, or both together, led us to expect too much when we began the reading of this series; for we did not find it as rewarding as we had anticipated. The writers were well chosen for their respective contributions; but somehow the series as a whole fails to come to grips with the post-war world, and leaves us only rather better informed on the present situation in the different fields. . . The third and fourth volumes are the most important and challenging. The present facts are clearly stated, and the future problems indicated." F. J. Moore
+ — Churchman 159:15 S 1 '45 160w

"The general tone of the symposia is realistic, liberal, and forward-looking; while, as in all symposia, the quality of the essays is uneven." E. E. Aubrey
+ — Crozer Q 23:95 Ja '46 450w

Reviewed by Reinhold Niebuhr
N Y Times p19 S 2 '45 1300w

SPIEGEL, DORIS. Danny and Company 92; il. by [the author]. [36p] $1 Coward-McCann

Danny helps to send in the alarm which brings Company 92 to the rescue of Jo-Jo the parrot who lives with Mrs Minetta and who is trapped in her flaming house.

"If you know a little boy who is interested in fire engines, here's the book for him. . . This is fun for small boys and girls and carries a lot of real information." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p12 O 7 '45 100w

"Thinly fictionized fact book about the function of the fire department, which should prove popular with small boys who are fascinated by anything to do with the fire house and its gang."
+ Kirkus 13:436 O 1 '45 80w

"Very small boys will like it. Should be prebound for library shelves." S. J. Johnson
Library J 70:981 O 15 '45 20w
N Y Times p10 N 11 '45 130w

"It is all very exciting. It is, too, an authentic record of the things that happen when a fire alarm goes off in a big, modern city." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:50 N 10 '45 220w

"Five-year-olds who live near an engine company's firehouse will love this picture book." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 S 9 '45 100w

SPILLARD, WILLIAM J. Needle in a haystack . . . as told to Pence James. (Whittlesey house publication) 193p il $2.50 McGraw

178.8 Narcotics 45-7814

Popularly written accounts of episodes in the career of a federal narcotic agent.

Kirkus 13:264 Je 15 '45 110w

"The book—for all its anecdotes and behind-the-scenes revelations—suffers from repetition. The apprehension of one criminal seems much like the other; the element of excitement inherent in Mr. Spillard's career is not successfully conveyed. These alone, perhaps, would be minor demerits against the book, a logical staple for the lending libraries. What is more disconcerting is that Mr. Spillard (who has not been a narcotics agent for years) seems to have lost touch with the bureau's affairs." Lewis Funke
N Y Times p27 S 9 '45 650w

"Mr. Spillard has met a lot of interesting people, white, black and yellow, and has enjoyed his work rounding up the dealers in white goods (morphine) and black goods (opium) in half a dozen Middle-Western cities. He gives you a closeup of narcotic squads in action, and if he is not too modest about his own exploits, that is a song plugger's privilege."
Weekly Book Review p42 N 11 '45 100w

SPINELLI, MARCOS. Assignment without glory. 256p $2 Lippincott
45-828

A tale of Nazi spies in Brazil, pursued and finally conquered by a Brazilian-born American Intelligence officer.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p4 F 4 '45 100w

"Strong spy stuff."
+ Boston Globe p15 Ja 24 '45 70w
Kirkus 12:486 N 1 '44 170w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 N 30 '45 150w

"The story is told in great detail, so that it leaves the reader the impression of an authentic record of adventure rather than of fiction." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p22 Ja 28 '45 180w

"Some nice jungle scenery freshens this up considerably."
New Yorker 20:80 Ja 13 '45 90w

"Good—in its class."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:20 F 3 '45 40w

"A most enthralling account of a young United States G-2 agent on a secret mission in Brazil. While it may not be autobiographical,

SPINELLI, MARCOS—Continued
the author has drawn generously on his own background as a boy in Matto Grosso, Brazil, and his service with the United States army intelligence at Miami, Fla." M. L. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d F 18 '45 320w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 Ja 21 '45 320w

STAGGE, JONATHAN, pseud. See Webb, R. W.

STALEY, EUGENE. World economic development; effects on advanced industrial countries. 218p $1.75; pa $1.25 Int. labor office [7s King]

330.9 Economic conditions L44-138

"'What are the effects—primarily the economic effects—which are likely to be felt in the advanced industrial countries of the world as a result of economic development elsewhere?' . . The monograph provides answers, as in the section 'Some Standard Bugaboos,' to the many erroneous arguments having the common characteristic assumption that the foreigner's gain is the American's loss. But, more important, it is an excellent appraisal of positive benefits to be had from the development of backward areas and of the magnitude of the benefits. The analysis covers effects arising out of investment opportunities in undeveloped areas and effects arising out of changes in production and trade as these areas develop their production. A short section discusses cultural, political, and politico-economic repercussions." (Am Soc R) No index.

"The book is well written and timely. . . Possible criticisms of the book are minor. There is some repetition of argument and belaboring of matters obvious to an economist. On the other hand, in view of the widespread popular misunderstanding in this field, a little extra driving home of a point is not amiss. While the book is readable to the layman, it has much to offer the economist. It constitutes a valuable contribution on an important subject and merits a wide distribution." J. P. Young
+ — Am Econ R 35:677 S '45 900w

Reviewed by B. F. Hoselitz
Am J Soc 50:326 Ja '45 850w

"A book of this type should be very widely read at the present time; it is to be regretted, therefore, that its style is often heavy and cumbersome, so that few non-specialists are likely to take the trouble of going through its two hundred pages. There is no reason why serious books on economics should be written in a forbidding style. Professor Staley's past record in that respect is so good that the stylistic appearance of his new book must, undoubtedly, be attributed to the fact that he has been away on a mission in China while the editing of the book was in its finishing stages. None of the foregoing criticisms or suggestions is intended to disparage the great value of this book. It is, at this time, the only volume in existence which treats comprehensively the problem of economic development, one of the crucial issues which will confront us in the months and years to come. The reviewer commends it very warmly to the academic reader as well as to the business reader, to the scholar as well as to the civil servant." M. A. Heilperin
+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:189 F '45 1150w

"Professor Staley's clear, comprehensive, thoughtful, and candid discussion deserves the time of all those who are concerned with whether the United States (or any other advanced country) stands to gain or lose from a policy of exporting capital, equipment, and technical aid to backward areas of the world. . . The book is not written for professional economists alone, and it is fortunate that its ideas and factual information can thus reach a wide audience." C. E. Lindblom
+ Am Soc R 10:105 F '45 550w

"As a well-filled series of arguments in favor of a wholesome volume of old and new international trade and capital movement in the postwar period, the report will scarcely bring forth any differences of opinion among informed readers, especially since the principles set forth, in this respect, are familiar. And the almost complete omission of discussion of pure theory of international trade and of strictly financial aspects is, in most respects, not a fault. . . World Economic Development will provide useful and stimulating background materials in the current and coming debate over proposals for an international investment bank and for international 'TVA' projects." John Donaldson
+ Ann Am Acad 236:199 N '44 1500w

"Mr. Staley's whole approach is enlightened, reasonable and rational, and the only barrier or drawback is: where is the enlightened, reasonable and rational world wherein his valuable suggestions can be applied? The task of coordinating world investment in such a manner that each country's surplus capacity may be directed to an opposite number that stands in need of it, and the new production this makes possible integrated in the most beneficent form, so that a balance is obtained in the whole flow of products and international payments, is one that is obviously beyond the scope of any association of capitalists or imperialist powers. A profit system by its very nature cannot make plans of the sort that Mr. Staley outlines." E. A. Beder
+ — Canadian Forum 24:116 Ag '44 1200w

"A closely and clearly argued theme. Economists might dispute with Professor Staley on some matters of details, but such disagreements would nearly always concern mere differences of emphasis. In general, if we could be confident that Professor Staley's book has been widely read and understood, we should face the post-war world with much better heart. This is one of the most useful pieces of work that the International Labor Office has sponsored." A. G. B. Fisher
+ Pacific Affairs 17:366 S '44 420w

Reviewed by Wroe Alderson
Pol Sci Q 60:118 Mr '45 800w

"Considering the fact that a large proportion of the book deals with technical economic data, the presentation is clear and stimulating. It should be of interest to the non-technical reader as well as to the specialist. Also, it might well be on the required reading list for the peacemakers." Lois MacDonald
+ Survey G 34:70 F '45 500w

STALIN, IOSIF. Great patriotic war of the Soviet Union. 167p $1.75 Int. pubs.

940.534 World war, 1939-1945—Russia. Russia—Foreign relations. World war, 1939-1945—Addresses, sermons, etc. 45-9529

A collection of Stalin's wartime speeches, beginning with a broadcast made shortly after the Germans invaded Russia, and carrying the reader through the dark period of the war, to the victory address last May.

"It is said that Stalin is not an effective speaker, but the selections contained in this book indicate that he can write. Readers of Tolstoi will be interested in a similarity in literary style between the novelist when he removes his characters from the scene and speaks directly to his readers of political matters, and Stalin speaking to his people." R. S. Ullery
+ Springf'd Republican p8 N 9 '45 250w

"Stalin's prose, at least in translation, commonly gives the impression of having been distilled in a concrete mixer. But it is easy to understand how his dogged reiteration that victory was sure shored up Russian morale during the darkest days."
Time 46:103 N 12 '45 400w

"The speeches have none of the rhetorical grandeur of Churchill or the occasional literary flights of Mr. Roosevelt. They are austere, angular, colloquial. But after reading them in sequence I think I have sensed one source of Stalin's great power with the Russian people.

They are excellent examples of popular elucidation of complex subjects: the military strategy of the war and the ideological and political meaning of it. They are filled with facts." J. R. Walsh

+ Weekly Book Review p26 D 9 '45 850w

STALLKNECHT, NEWTON PHELPS. Strange seas of thought; studies in William Wordsworth's philosophy of man and nature. 284p $3.50 Duke univ. press

821 Wordsworth, William 45-3990

"Professor Stallknecht (Bowdoin) offers these studies in William Wordsworth's philosophy of man and nature as a scholarly appraisal of the poet's philosophy of life. In the course of his essays he discusses the thoughts of other poets, among them Shelley and Coleridge, and the influence of Spinoza on Wordsworth's beliefs. The volume reaches an inspirational level in its consideration of esthetic values." (Current Hist) Index.

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 8:544 Je '45 70w

Reviewed by Frederika Beatty
N Y Times p25 S 23 '45 550w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:5 S '45 280w

STALNAKER, LUTHER WINFIELD. Humanism and human dignity. 58p pa $1 Yale univ. press

144 Humanism—20th century A45-2078

"In a discussion under the three categories of time, evil and freedom, the author compares and evaluates the positions which he describes as those of 'absolutism' and 'humanism.' As representatives of the former he selects three neo-Hegelians: F. H. Bradley, Bernard Bosanquet and Josiah Royce. For the latter, his champions are William James and F. C. S. Schiller, but he is himself the principal spokesman and critic on the humanist side. At the end of the first section, Dr. Stalnaker defines his own position, and also frames the proposition for debate, in this clear-cut sentence: 'I would assert that consistently the Absolute is no more than a postulate; it serves to satisfy the desire of the finite consciousness for a permanent, reliable ground to conserve value that it knows only in and through temporal processes.' On that proposition the issue is joined." (Christian Century) Bibliography. No index.

Christian Century 62:1011 S 5 '45 190w

"In a time when critical consideration of our traditions and analysis of the social consequences of basic beliefs are of tragic importance, it is something of a reflection on our academic habits and on our grasp of anthropological principles, even though perhaps it is a compliment to our faltering democratic liberties, that our attention can be claimed by a study on religion which, outside the introductory paragraph, says nothing about such consequences or about the conflicts in our tradition which threaten to submerge freedom in something far more substantial than the particular metaphysical concepts of Hegel and his disciples." H. S. Fries

Crozer Q 22:281 Jl '45 700w

STANDISH, ROBERT, pseud. Small general. 233p $2.50 Macmillan [8s 6d Davies] 45-8892

"This novel of Chinese life, covering the period between the last days of the empire and the first Japanese attack on Shanghai, is basically a study of the birth of a sense of national unity in Chinese thinking. . . The central story [concerns] the Sung family's gradual involvement in affairs beyond its local and private concerns. The Small General Sung is a boy of nine when the story opens, and at its close he is the father of a boy almost eight who is called Patriot." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by John Cournos
Book Week p13 O 14 '45 400w

Booklist 42:77 N 1 '45

"Humor and adventure are both much to the fore. Mr. Standish at times indulges in rather cutting satire, but not without justification." Randall Gould

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 N 2 '45 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 N '45

"A portrait rather than a novel, which conveys with authenticity and simplicity the quality of the people."

+ Kirkus 13:229 Je 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by R. E. Kingery
Library J 70:686 Ag '45 60w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 F 16 '45 140w

"Since, despite his knowledge of the East, Mr. Standish must write as an outsider, his novel lacks the genuineness and the simplicity that distinguish 'Rickshaw Boy.' His China, for all the realism of its treatment of Chinese foibles, is quaint, exotic and picturesque, where the Lau Shaw book gives the common man of Peking the understandable humanity of a friendly neighbor. In truth, 'The Small General' is not altogether successful as a novel. . . Mr. Standish is more interested in comment than in creation. Yet the work is not only valuable for the significance of that comment but is genuinely interesting for its narrative." Richard Watts

+ — N Y Times p7 O 14 '45 900w

"A readable narrative that often has the interest of a good adventure story."

+ New Yorker 21:106 O 13 '45 160w

Reviewed by Emily Hahn
Sat R of Lit 28:30 O 27 '45 600w

"What China in transition has still to mean in terms of national consciousness is very much in Mr. Standish's mind. From time to time he steps out of his story-teller's part and proceeds to historical explanations; but he does this so lightly and undogmatically that the thread of fictitious narrative remains unbroken. Through all his illustrative history, moreover, runs a warmly imaginative and discerning sense of the values, as they strike an occidental mind, of Chinese civilization, with its formality of custom and inherited wisdom."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p65 F 10 '45 950w

"Mr. Standish is eager to make clear that China has never enjoyed real political unity and that only now is she even beginning to achieve anything at all resembling it. This is an important lesson today and Mr. Standish is a stimulating teacher." J. J. Espey

+ Weekly Book Review p4 O 14 '45 850w

STANLEY, DOUGLAS. Your voice; applied science of vocal art, singing and speaking. 306p il $4.50 Pitman

784.92 Voice. Singing and voice culture 45-16129

"Dr. Stanley, in dual capacity as artist in training singers for opera, stage and screen, and as researchist in various laboratories, where he made discoveries on the human voice, in connection with sound reproduction in speech for the screen, makes this book an outstanding attribute to the applied science of vocal art. Essentials of vocal science are presented for every field of expression, scientific laws which govern technique and a chapter on how to study and interpret songs. Accoustical and technical glossaries." (Library J) Index.

Library J 70:532 Je 1 '45 80w

School & Society 61:432 Je 30 '45 40w

"Since no one teacher can know all the sciences and arts necessary for perfection, some will skimp on the artistic side, some on the scientific. Mr. Stanley, in his brief chapter on speech, shows scientific knowledge, but only the most superficial understanding of the art of drama or communication. And since vocal expression is a human function and not a purely mechanical one, this lack is vital."

Theatre Arts 29:736 D '45 280w

STARK, FREYA MADELINE. The Arab island; the Middle East, 1939-1943. 235p il $3.50 Knopf

915.6 Arabs. East (Near East) 45-8929

"Author sees in young Effendi, educated for most part in American schools and representing middle class in Arab Peninsula, a means of bridging the gap between mediaeval and modern Arabia. The Near East poses one of the thorniest problems of the postwar era, and Miss Stark's observations on the people, their culture and their way of life will prove helpful to anyone interested in current difficulties in Transjordania. She stands frankly on the Arabs' side in controversy over Palestine." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 42:108 D 1 '45

"While she makes no serious contribution to controversial topics, she is eminently readable."
+ Kirkus 13:410 S 15 '45 210w

"Writer belongs to distinguished group of students and friends of Arabia which includes Philby, George Antonius and Rihani and her work has much of the fine flavor found in all of them." J. C. Shipman
+ Library J 70:1025 N 1 '45 100w

"Like her predecessors, Miss Stark writes a highly personal story with a remarkable feeling for the value of words. I know of no other recent book which can evoke with similar felicity the unique atmosphere of oriental life. . . It gives in addition to rare and valuable, stimulating and controversial information the pure pleasure of esthetic perfection. Its style is saturated with the memories of Western poetry and the imagery of the oriental reality. . . Miss Stark's book can well be considered the best tale from the Arab world published in recent years. Its colorful and gracious writing enhances its appeal to a wide and varied circle of readers. Above all, it is a document of encouragement for the faith in democracy." Hans Kohn
+ N Y Times p6 N 18 '45 1200w
New Yorker 21:120 N 17 '45 90w

"Her book is full of humor from its opening with its lovely gouache of London during the first waiting months of the war, and description of the Oriental experts around a table in the frescoed splendor of the Locarno Room of the Foreign Office, reducing seven memoranda, over cups of tea, to one, for their chief, Professor Rushbrook Williams. . . Freya Stark writes so well and with such engaging detail woven with history and interpretation of policy, seldom polemical, always persuasive, that you almost commit yourself to her conviction that Arabs and Englishmen have depths of feeling, and formulas for democracy that are eternal, though discriminating visitors with no self-interest and doughboys from North Africa, a region she specifically avoids as corrupted to other national patterns than that prevailing in the Arab Island, report otherwise." Ernestine Evans
+ Weekly Book Review p5 N 18 '45 1900w

STARK, WERNER. History of economics in its relation to social development. (Int. lib. of sociology and social reconstruction) 80p $2 Oxford [7s 6d Routledge]

330.9 Economics—History 45-1372

"This book is an interpretation of the history of economic theory from the eighteenth century to the present time. It traces the gradual evolution of economic thought from the classical to the neo-classical doctrine, placing it against a background of similar development in other spheres of cultural thought. The literature of the period is critically examined in the light of the concept that economic thought in any given age is determined by the economic reality of contemporary conditions." (Publisher's note) Index.

"A provocative essay which develops, with almost annoying self-assurance, the debatable thesis that 'every single [economic] theory put forward in the past' must be interpreted 'as a faithful expression and reflection of contemporary conditions.' It is only with difficulty that the author avoids the shoals of economic determinism as he tries to establish 'the essenial relativity of all social and economic doctrines.' Almost every page of my review copy of the book is pencil-marked with interrogations or exclamations—or both." G. G. Higgins
— Commonweal 42:219 Je 15 '45 100w

"Dr. Stark's arguments may be more applicable to continental than to British conditions, and some may appear disputable, especially in relation to Britain, as that '1871 marks in economics the climax of individualism,' though for this view a case can be made. But, disputable or not, they are of value and enlightening."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p189 Ap 21 '45 480w

STARR, JIMMY. Three short biers. 232p $2 Murray & Gee

45-7195

Detective story.

"Fast, furious, funny."
Boston Globe p18 Ap 18 '45 30w

"The punning title is not the worst feature of this book, although that is bad enough. . . Joe Medford, reporter and sleuth, does not let the reader in on any of his discoveries until the last possible moment, when he comes through with one of those all-of-a-sudden solutions that authors bring forth when they do not know how else to end the story." I. A.
— N Y Times p24 Ap 1 '45 80w

"Hard-boiled, amorous, and quick-thinking scribe-sleuth outsmarts cops in slap-dash outspoken fashion. Fantastic and blatant. Breezy."
Sat R of Lit 28:36 Mr 31 '45 40w

STAVIS, BARRIE. Chain of command; foreword by Marion Hargrove; cartoons by Leonard Sansone. 61p $1 Ackerman

Brief satiric story about the origin of an army order and the red tape involved. The subject of the order was the waste of toilet tissue.

"While army personnel probably will enjoy it most, there is plenty of humor for all. . . There are cartoons by Sergt Leonard Sansone and a foreword by Sergt Marion Hargrove, but even their valiant efforts can't conceal the fact that bathroom humor never seems to pan out as well as it looked as though it was going to. Probably the alpha and omega of this branch of literature is Chic Sale's immortal 'The Specialist.' " R. F. H.
Springf'd Republican p4d N 4 '45 170w

"The humor is broad and special, in the Chic Sale sense. It is a short book but a very long anecdote."
Weekly Book Review p16 N 18 '45 130w

STAVRIANOS, LEFTEN STAVROS. Balkan federation; a history of the movement toward Balkan unity in modern times. 338p pa $2 Smith college

949.6 Balkan states 45-35016

"Scholarly, documented survey of Balkan history as it has been expressed in recurring unity movements dating as far back as Catherine the Great in the 1770's. With the present re-emergence of forces for federation, possibly to center around such organizations as Jugoslavia's National committee for liberation, the background of these movements will have a direct bearing upon the postwar status of the Balkan nations, so pivotal in turn to European stability. The author states as basic to successful federation (1) democratic regimes within each country and (2) an effective collective security system. Appendix includes documents covering inter-Balkan relations for almost a century." Booklist

"Though relatively unimportant, it proves its author to be a well-trained scholar who has diligently assembled all the available raw material and then, showing a much rarer virtue, has reduced it to an intelligible form. His mental and moral balance is particularly notable." Ferdinand Schevill
+ Am Hist R 50:798 Jl '45 480w

Booklist 41:195 Mr 1 '45

"This is a careful historical study of the experience of the Balkan peoples in working with one another during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries." F. H. U.
+ Canadian Forum 25:99 Jl '45 170w

"A sound piece of scholarship . . . by an assistant professor at Smith College."
+ Foreign Affairs 23:519 Ap '45 20w

STEAD, CHRISTINA, and BLECH, WILLIAM JAMES (WILLIAM BLAKE, pseud), eds. Modern women in love; sixty twentieth-century masterpieces of fiction; introd. by Louis Untermeyer. 658p $3.50 Dryden
46-401

An anthology composed of some sixty stories of twentieth century women in love. The range is from Colette and Proust thru Fitzgerald to Virginia Woolf. Twelve are complete stories. The others are excerpts from novels, with a short summary of the preceding action in each case.

Reviewed by Wendell Johnson
Book Week p23 N 18 '45 400w

"The editors' decision to use mainly material from novels underlines the real weakness of the book, the fact that here love is isolated from life. The decision does enable them to include in their collection many great writers who could not otherwise be represented. . . Yet the fragmentary quality of these selections is, finally, frustrating." Ruth Page
+ — N Y Times p9 D 23 '45 650w

"A peculiar venture indeed."
New Yorker 21:117 N 17 '45 160w

STEBBINS, MRS LUCY (POATE), and STEBBINS, RICHARD POATE. Frank Damrosch: Let the people sing; foreword by Walter Damrosch. 273p il $3 Duke univ.
B or 92 Damrosch, Frank Heino 45-2892

Biography of Frank Damrosch, son of Dr Leopold Damrosch and a brother of Walter Damrosch. "The greater part of his life was devoted to the organizing and instructing of choral societies, and his favorites among these were the People's Singing Classes and the People's Choral Union—organized and directed by him without compensation in order that low-income wage-earners might learn to read music and to sing in chorus. To the direction of these groups he devoted fully as much time and effort as he did to other choral societies whose members were able to pay him for his work." (N Y Times) Index.

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 28 '45 300w

N Y Times p20 Je 3 '45 320w

Weekly Book Review p23 O 7 '45 270w

STEBBINS, MRS LUCY (POATE), and STEBBINS, RICHARD POATE. The Trollopes; the chronicle of a writing family. 394p il $4 Columbia univ. press
928.2 Trollope, Anthony. Trollope, Mrs Frances (Milton). Trollope, Thomas Adolphus
A45-4909

Biography of the three writing members of the Trollope family: Frances, the author of the controversial Domestic Manners of the Americans; and her two sons, Thomas Adolphus, the historian; and Anthony, the best known of the three. The work is based on much research, and draws upon the journals and other writings of the family. Includes a family tree and an index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 N 18 '45 650w

Booklist 42:109 D 1 '45

"In this 'chronicle,' Mrs. Stebbins and her son collaborate happily, and the result of their joint authorship is a thoroughly delightful book." S. C. Chew
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 N 24 '45 1100w

Reviewed by Charles Duffy
Commonweal 43:214 D 7 '45 550w

"The Stebbinses have written 'The Chronicle of a Writing Family' and revealed by their own bibliography how really much there has been from which to reconstruct the lives and experiences of the Trollopes. Here is the real value and worth of the book. It is an unusually readable, novellike account and is probably as complete a biography as present available material will permit. And biography it is, not a critical literary study; certainly not of Anthony. The effects of his early experiences upon his later character and the real persons he used in his novels are clearly revealed." R. E. Keighton
+ Crozer Q 23:105 Ja '46 500w

"Savory for the savants and absorbing reading for the layman caught in the current Trollopean flow."
+ Kirkus 13:487 N 1 '45 150w

"Recommended for all libraries that emphasize the literary history of the 19th century." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 70:978 O 15 '45 110w

"'The Trollopes' is scholarly, pleasantly written, full of well arranged facts and at the same time so full of firm opinions that the captious reader can quarrel at will. The Stebbinses are always restrained; they are never swept away by their material and never attempt to sweep it along to some predestined end. If they have not exploited their subject fully—an unreasonable demand but one we are always justified in making—they have also never exploited it cheaply and have never spoiled the fascinating story of the great Philistine artist." James Grossman
+ Nation 161:596 D 1 '45 550w

Reviewed by Eric Bentley
New Repub 114:27 Ja 7 '46 190w

Reviewed by J. W. Krutch
N Y Times p3 N 25 '45 1650w

"To a Trollope amateur like myself, the scholarship of this book seems impeccable. General and specific sources are given, there is an indispensable genealogy and an adequate index, and the book has been perfectly proofread. . . As a work of scholarship this book is a necessity for the Trollopian, but only after he has begun with the 'Autobiography' and 'The Domestic Manners of the Americans,' and gone on with Michael Sadleir (a revised edition of the 'Life' was recently published in England). The authors tell you something of interest or substance about every book by Anthony, even to the incredible fact that he actually earned £20 from 'La Vendée.' Here, however, is where the book is weak. Their critical judgment is not equal to their accurate and far-running scholarship." C. A. Wilson
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:9 N 10 '45 2000w

Special Libraries 36:451 N '45

"A delightful chronicle of the family which for 60 years amused and instructed English and American readers with their novels, histories and travel books. This multiple biography, covering the years from 1780 to 1892, gives an excellent picture of the 19th century English literary world." C. K. Bausman
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 950w

"On the whole the writing of a composite biography of the Trollopes was a happy inspiration. One Trollope alone would hardly justify a book, but the entire family fills the pages with a profusion of varied material. Indeed the Stebbinses have had to practice a severe compression, and this in turn has led them to develop a pretty talent for epigram." G. F. Whicher
+ Weekly Book Review p6 N 18 '45 1050w

STEEL, JOHANNES. Future of Europe. 256p $3 Holt

940.531444 Reconstruction (1939-)—Europe. Europe—Politics 45-3811

"Concise, factual study of Europe's problems which must be understood by politicians and economists who write the peace. Adequate planning necessary to avert revolutions and civil wars. Intrigues of European politics and inconsistencies of American foreign policy add to misunderstandings. Problem of Poland, the Balkans, Baltic States, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany and German financial invasion of occupied countries explained by one who has great faith in peoples' governments. Disheartening role of Lutheran church in Germany and Vatican backing of both Nazism and Fascism gives little hope for religious leadership helping to establish peace in axis nations." Library J

"The treatment always tries to be stern, but is frequently very amusing. In short, like all books of its kind, this one preaches a very definite sermon to its readers. The performance is occasionally brilliant, but on the whole does not merit more than a polite, indulgent survey by a levelheaded student of international problems." J. S. Roucek

— + Ann Am Acad 240:148 Jl '45 500w

Reviewed by H. S. Bloch

Book Week p1 Ap 29 '45 1750w

Booklist 41:267 My 15 '45

Reviewed by L. M. Lyons

Boston Globe p15 My 2 '45 330w

Reviewed by B. L. Conway

Cath World 161:362 Je '45 320w

Cleveland Open Shelf p13 Jl '45

Foreign Affairs 24:158 O '45 30w

"A critical, composite analysis which is highly informative and interesting."

+ Kirkus 13:149 Ap 1 '45 260w

"Excellent bibliography. Text important for understanding facts not revealed in headlines or slogans." D. F. Lucas

+ Library J 70:354 Ap 15 '45 140w

"Nowhere in the volume does Mr. Steel offer any important new material, provide a fresh interpretation or even develop a comprehensive program. With the unsubtle progress of the true believer he has hewn straight to his line and let the facts fall where they might. The book itself is unimportant, but its approach to the most serious problems of our society is not. There is nothing new about this crude but effective combination of intellectual bribery and blackmail. The net result is to offer the reader the alternatives of subscribing to a narrow creed or inviting charges of lending aid and comfort to the enemy, of morally deserting a great ally and even of being called a 'fascist.' If that technique will work our cause is lost already." E. W. Fox

— N Y Times p5 Ap 29 '45 1600w

"Glib and dogmatic as usual, Mr. Steel nevertheless offers some sharp observations on the dangers of the pan-German movement (he seems to be able to smell out a pan-German in any guise), the value to the world of a strong France, organized religion in politics, and other questions which will account for many chewed pencils on the peace table."

New Yorker 21:83 Ap 28 '45 100w

"Mr. Steel's work seems to me to be chiefly valuable as a demonstration that a book cannot be made simply by the process of industriously gathering a large number of facts. There is required also sufficient knowledge to discriminate between doubtful and creditable information and sufficient understanding to piece the mosaic into a comprehensible picture." Waverley Root

— + Sat R of Lit 28:11 My 5 '45 1050w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:35 S '45 200w

"Mr. Steel writes clearly and forcefully; he supports his arguments with much factual detail and presents it skillfully; and his general conclusions will probably win the assent of most of his readers. His book, however, has two major weaknesses. In the first place he has a tendency to see everything in terms of black and white. . . In the second place, Mr. Steel's recommendations for the future are based on the experience of the recent past." H. B. Parkes

+ — Weekly Book Review p12 Ap 29 '45 1000w

STEELE, WILBUR DANIEL. That girl from Memphis. 470p $3 Doubleday

45-5456

Romantic tale of the American West when it was more or less of a turbulent wilderness. It is the story of the life-long love of a Kansas-born boy, for a beautiful prostitute—"that girl from Memphis." It was in 1889 that Garnett went out to Arizona to mine and first saw Bird Birdwarden. When he learned Bird's trade, the boy refused to marry her, but he killed the man who did. The story of the two stormy careers ends in 1930, in the ghost town where Bird and the "Kansas Kid" first came to be known to fame.

Reviewed by Taylor Caldwell

+ Book Week p8 Jl 1 '45 450w

"Taken in short doses, it can be read for sheer entertainment for it is packed with thrills. But if it were only entertainment it could be dismissed as no more important than the ballad of the Kansas Kid. Its purpose is not wholly plain but it's there for you to seek." E. A. Laycock

Boston Globe Je 13 '45 300w

"It is not a pretty story, nor one that stops even on the border line of reserve; but it is told with sincerity and a ring of truth. An interesting 'comeback' for a writer who has been too long silent."

+ Kirkus 13:185 My 1 '45 170w

"An absorbing story that deserves to be read seriously by thoughtful people, and perhaps the most important contribution that a reviewer can make is to insist on this point—for it is a novel likely to be misunderstood. First, because of the title: it is not the story of the notorious 'Girl From Memphis' but of 'Beulah City' in Arizona and of a man's struggle to understand himself and his life. Garnett Cannon might be called an American Parzival. . . This is, I think, [the author's] most serious book, and a contribution toward our understanding of American folklore, mores and social history. Its success depends upon its being so understood." G. W. Allen

+ N Y Times p5 Je 10 '45 480w

New Yorker 21:77 Je 9 '45 230w

"There is some fair character study in the book. But the tale is so continuously and industriously thrilling that it ultimately becomes tiresome." Allan Nevins

Sat R of Lit 28:36 Je 23 '45 230w

"The western background and a certain something about 'Bird' will make this a popular book with men who are properly leery of the usual contemporary novel. The rapid pace of the story, its skillful development of character, will recommend it to women readers. 'That Girl From Memphis' is a lot of fun to read, and while its author may not be as beautiful as Kathleen Winsor who whipped 'Amber' into shape, it is a far far better thing that he does here." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 17 '45 440w

"In the seven years since his last book appeared, Wilbur Daniel Steele has lost none of his story-telling magic. In this long, rich, beautifully paced novel he has succeeded in capturing and fixing some of the legendary quality inherent in his material. The West of early mining days comes to life again, crude, earthy, boisterous, abounding in energy, and it seems no less authentic because it has acquired a touch of the fabulous. . . 'That Girl From Memphis' is a notable recreation of a past epoch, its drama and color, its changing social and economic life, its shifting code of morals. Written in an impeccable style, it combines tenderness and irony, tragedy and humor with never a false note. It is a book in which one reads on and on and which one leaves at last with a sense of having lived with its characters." Jennings Rice

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Je 10 '45 1050w

STEFANSSON, EVELYN (MRS VILHJALMUR STEFANSSON). Within the circle; portrait of the Arctic; maps by Richard Edes Harrison. 160p il $2.75 (10s 6d) Scribner

919.8 Arctic regions 45-1311

Describes life in the lands which lie within the Arctic circle: Greenland, Disko island, Grimsey, Lapland, Kiruna and Gallivare, the Soviet far north, Igarka, Alaska, Canada's north, and Aklavik. Photographs. For junior and senior high school.

Booklist 41:198 Mr 1 '45

"Mrs. Stefansson has collected her source material from far and wide, through distinguished friends and scientific acquaintances of herself and her polar explorer husband. The 160 pages include an abundance of beautiful photographs, and maps by Richard Edes Harrison." M. J. T.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 22 '45 450w

"Adults and young people will enjoy this book and ten-year-olds can share it." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 21:114 Mr '45 170w

Kirkus 13:66 F 1 '45 90w

"Fascinating, informal (but informed). . . Not a guidebook but a lively presentation with many excellent photographs of typical, odd and incredible bits about places mistakenly believed bleak and barren. Author's interest and enthusiasm make this a perfect first book on the far north for everyone from ten years old up." M. C. Scoggin

+ Library J 70:221 Mr 1 '45 70w

N Y Times p18 My 20 '45 200w

"A book full of interesting facts illustrated with exceptionally good photographs."

+ New Yorker 21:138 D 8 '45 60w

"If it is true that the Arctic Circle is going to be the quickest way in which to get from West to East and from East to West, then this country that Mrs. Stefansson describes so well will be familiar ground to city dwellers before many years have passed. This is a book that belongs to the future. It promises some thrilling adventures." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:33 Ag 11 '45 600w

" 'Within the Circle' is a short book, a mere introduction to the lands around the polar Mediterranean. It does, however, emphasize the amazing variety and vitality of the communities, old and new, which are flourishing in these latitudes. The Arctic is indeed the last frontier, and as the old legends are dispelled it will probably attract more and more people. At any rate, armchair interest is well aroused and Mrs Stefansson's book will do its part to satisfy this growing curiosity. Like the earlier 'Here Is Alaska,' it is generously supplied with attractive photographs which add greatly to its value and interest." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 21 '45 440w

"Iceland has come closer to the American home than it was in peace time and we have learned to look at the globe from the top; this is a timely work." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 25 '45 370w

Wis Lib Bul 41:32 F '45

STEGNER, WALLACE. One nation; by Wallace Stegner and the editors of Look; a life-in-America prize book. (Riverside press bk) 340p il $3.75 Houghton

325.73 U.S.—Foreign population. Minorities 45-8432

Pictures and brief text describing the lives of some minority groups in the United States. Mr Stegner and the editors of Look have arranged and captioned the pictures. The groups included are: the Pacific races; Mexicans; Indians; Negroes; the Catholic church; and the Jews.

"A brief text runs along with hundreds of pictures—dramatic, tragic, beautiful pictures. Starkly and vividly the camera shows the hates and schisms we have allowed to grow up in a country which we had fondly hoped would be 'one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.' " E. R. Embree

+ Book Week p3 S 30 '45 500w

Booklist 42:70 N 1 '45

Reviewed by Blodwen Davies

Canadian Forum 25:245 Ja '46 850w

Christian Century 62:1258 N 14 '45 210w

"It is more, much more, than just another picture book, though it may reach that picture book market for the quality and human interest in the very fine photographs that have been brought together for the purpose of making this book."

+ Kirkus 13:408 S 15 '45 250w

"Further exploration of inter-minority tensions might have shed light on recurring outbreaks in Boston and Greater New York. Although they have blunted their purpose, the makers of One Nation have had at least a partial success. It would be well if the book could be placed in the library of every secondary school. . . Because there is no other survey in this field at once so broad and digestible, One Nation should be especially valuable in helping to convince adolescents that minority discrimination threatens their future." Herbert Lyons

+ — New Repub 113:681 N 19 '45 650w

Reviewed by F. S. Adams

N Y Times p5 O 7 '45 850w

New Yorker 21:99 O 6 '45 110w

"The book is unsentimental, hard-hitting, and practical. Its emphasis is not on the moral implications of prejudice. Instead it stresses what hate does to the haters as well as to the hated." Walter White

+ Sat R of Lit 28:9 S 29 '45 1050w

Social Studies 36:376 D '45 60w

Reviewed by Beulah Amidon

Survey G 34:452 N '45 400w

"One gets the feeling that the text is a little blurred and self-contradictory in places. Perhaps what is lacking is a viewpoint integrating the excellent material Mr. Stegner has collected. . . However, if Mr. Stegner's text is occasionally less focused than the photographs, drawings and graphs, he is very right when he says: 'Underlying all our prejudices . . . is fear—the fear of being swamped, overrun, changed or converted or diluted, done out of our jobs or our social position. . . The germs of prejudice are as common as those of tuberculosis.' Certainly we are combating tuberculosis more effectively than prejudice." Louis Adamic

+ — Weekly Book Review p5 S 30 '45 900w

Wis Lib Bul 41:124 D '45

STEICHEN, EDWARD, comp. See New York. Museum of modern art. Power in the Pacific

STEIG, ARTHUR. Communication, and other poems. 47p $1.50 Int. univs. press

811 45-762

"This first book of poems by Arthur Steig, brother of the artist William Steig, contains a series of satiric portraits, in a variety of verse forms, of contemporary 'bourgeois' types: the elderly ladies in Apartment 7-A, the Parlor Pink Turned Artist, the editor, etc. There are lines, also, on liberals and intellectuals en masse." Weekly Book Review

---

Reviewed by Alfred Kreymborg

Sat R of Lit 28:31 Jl 21 '45 300w

"Mr. Steig seldom uses the clear bold strokes of the cartoonist which are best adapted to satire: too often abstract and many syllabled words get in his way. He is better when brief, when less satiric than comfortably observant."

Weekly Book Review p18 My 6 '45 100w

STEIG, WILLIAM. Persistent faces. [91pl] $1.50 Duell

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 45-9792

Series of cartoons, all expressing character and personality in drawings closely approaching surrealism.

Book Week p14 N 4 '45 130w

Kirkus 13:488 N 1 '45 80w

"William Steig is marrying off two art forms—abstraction and specific caricature—that bring out the worst in each other and destroy the best. The issue of their coupling lacks the charm of Steig's earlier drawings. . . Of the drawings that most nearly approach pure abstraction, the best are 'Hooligan,' 'Tool,' 'Stool Pigeon,' 'Barfly' and 'Straw in the Wind.' But the best are none too good. . . Much better are the less pretentious near-cartoons, quick, amusing, and aptly named." Nancy Flagg

+ — N Y Times p7 D 30 '45 420w

New Yorker 21:134 D 1 '45 60w

STEIN, GERTRUDE. Wars I have seen. 259p $2.50 Random house

818 World war, 1939—France 45-2075

"Miss Stein remained in France all through the German occupation, in the locality where she has for years spent her summers: the Department of the Ain, near Switzerland—refusing to cross the border for safety even when advised by the French authorities to do so. She kept a chronicle of her thoughts and experiences which she depended on the illegibility of her handwriting to protect from the scrutiny of the enemy, and it is this journal that she has now published." New Yorker

---

"I can imagine that a number of people will have their teeth set on edge by Gertrude Stein's recollections, Wars I Have Seen—just as I can imagine that others will enjoy the exercise of running through her sketchily punctuated but more lucid than usual sentences for the curiosity and amusement of seeing where her thoughts arrive. . . The irritables will find plenty to fume at. In her first person singular Miss Stein is as discursive as she is egocentric. Her chronicle meanders rather like Salvador Dali on a bicycle; yet it is always clear in its focus, for in the meandering the world is seen to be revolving around Gertrude Stein." Edward Weeks

+ — Atlantic 175:129 Ap '45 750w

Reviewed by Wendell Johnson

Book Week p3 Mr 11 '45 1050w

Booklist 41:222 Ap 1 '45

Reviewed by E. A. Laycock

Boston Globe p15 Mr 7 '45 420w

"Miss Gertrude Stein's latest book should widen her circle of readers. She still is a writer hard to read but interesting, something that can't be said for all writers who are easy to read. She still does not express herself in conventional sentence forms. That would interfere with her main object, we take it, which is to put her thoughts on paper in the order in which they came to her. She succeeds in doing this, no common achievement, taken with the fact that she has thoughts of her own." E. C. S.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 6 '45 600w

"Perhaps this is the shot in the arm that war reporting needs—though I question it. Here, with a slight increase in intelligibility, but equal eccentricity, is the mistress of the marathon, her retreats and repetitions, her abberrational associations, her very conscious unconsciousness as she rambles happily through past and present."

Kirkus 13:24 Ja 15 '45 150w

Reviewed by Delmore Schwartz

Nation 160:339 Mr 24 '45 360w

"Miss Stein's narrative of her experiences is beautiful and very moving in parts, with many marvelous simple stories. She is at her best when she creates an atmosphere of terror by little unpretentious strokes. Since 'It is very funny the way everybody and anybody may feel about anything,' we need not wonder to find that many funny things are also said by Miss Stein, who is not just anybody, about France and the war, which are not just anything." Jean Wahl

+ New Repub 112:396 Ja 19 '45 1100w

"Nobody else, among all the writers who have told us about life in occupied France, has made the story so intimate, homely, immediate, as if a squad of Germans, were quartered in your own kitchen and the Maquis were prowling the roads outside your door. 'Wars I Have Seen' is directed to the plain reader, and it is by all means the best book that Gertrude Stein has published in more than a generation. For the first time since 'Three Lives,' in 1908, she has an intelligible and important subject outside of Gertrude Stein. . . At the beginning of 'Wars I Have Seen' you are bothered by Miss Stein's American but excessively personal style, with its flatness of statement, its repetitions, its deliberate errors in grammar and its absence of commas, except where the sense calls for a period or a semicolon. Later you become reconciled to your reading; or perhaps the style itself becomes a little simplified and humanized through the author's preoccupation with her subject." Malcolm Cowley

+ N Y Times p1 Mr 11 '45 1850w

"The book sets out with some long ruminations of the repetitive and rhythmic kind that constitutes her more tiresome vein—an interweaving of memories of childhood with reflections about wars in general—but do not let yourself be put off by this. If you start reading at page forty, say, you will find yourself involved in a development—an alternation of comments on history with anecdotes of daily life—which gradually becomes exciting and, finally, exhilarating." Edmund Wilson

+ New Yorker 21:91 Mr 17 '45 900w

"It is a good book, a very good book, and it would be a great pity if any readers were put off it by Gertrude Stein's reputation for wilful obscurity and nonsensicality. For this book makes sense, all the way through. It makes sense sentence by sentence, paragraph by paragraph, and page by page. The only difficulty it presents arises from the lack of standard punctuation—the reader is slowed in his reading because he has to do a certain amount of punctuating that the author has refused to do—but this is a minor trouble." B. R. Redman

+ Sat R of Lit 28:8 Mr 10 '45 2000w

Time 45:100 Mr 12 '45 350w

"This artless gabble reaches the summit of art in that it is absolutely convincing. The psychological suspense is masterly in its perfect naturalness."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:14 Je '45 200w

"The book has all the vividness and immediacy of her most recondite compositions without any of their obstinate, if fascinating, obscurity. It has, too, the warmth and the friendly humanity of her previous memoirs without any of the slightly fatuous quality that autobiographies of the great (Miss Stein's included) do have. . . It is really the most charming and the most realistic picture imaginable of a life that has been closed to our knowledge for more than four years. Stories from France are beginning to come through now, but none is so convincing as Miss Stein's. It must have been like that there; it would not have been any other way. It is a true picture." Virgil Thomson

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 11 '45 800w

Wis Lib Bul 41:53 My '45

STEIN, GUENTHER. Challenge of Red China. (Whittlesey house publication) 490p il maps $3.50 McGraw

951.04 Communism—China. China—Politics and government 45-8957

The author, one of a group of foreign correspondents who spent several months in Communist-controlled China in 1944, here gives a report of what he saw and heard during that visit. His book is largely devoted to resumés of interviews he had with leaders of the Communists. Index.

Reviewed by David Karno

Book Week p9 N 4 '45 800w

Booklist 42:93 N 15 '45

Christian Science Monitor p14 O 19 '45 650w

Current Hist 9:549 D '45 150w

"A fine and sincere job of reporting on facts and events which need to be known by all the Allies."

+ Kirkus 13:307 Jl 15 '45 170w

"Detailed and revealing and without any apparent bias, book is of great importance for the insight it gives concerning one of the most important problems of the peace, the unification of China. Recommended." H. P. Bolman

+ Library J 70:978 O 15 '45 90w

Reviewed by Andrew Roth

Nation 161:556 N 24 '45 900w

Reviewed by Richard Watts

New Repub 113:873 D 24 '45 750w

"The distinguishing characteristic of Communist China is not ideological or political or economical but psychological. There is something in Communist China that captures the imagination of all sorts and conditions of men. . . Gunther Stein is no exception. In fact, he underscores the rule. He appears to have got to the point where, if not actually willing to suspend critical faculties, he could not help feeling that too close an examination would be churlish. He was won, and his report glows." Nathaniel Peffer

N Y Times p4 O 28 '45 1400w

"Mr. Stein's valuable book deserves to be read with the closest attention. He is no historian, and he is inclined to be too kind to Yenan while being far too severe on Chungking, but he has succeeded in giving us for the first time an authentic and reliable account of the Communist problem in China." J. T. Pratt

+ — Spec 176:16 Ja 4 '46 850w

Reviewed by Frederick Reinstein

Springf'd Republican p4d N 4 '45 700w

"Mr. Stein's book should be read by all students of present-day China."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p603 D 22 '45 850w

"Mr. Stein's book does not have the colorful appeal of those parts of Harrison Forman's recent 'Report From Red China' which describes guerrilla territory and guerrilla campaigning; for while Mr. Forman penetrated behind Japanese lines, Mr. Stein settled down to a five-month program of exhaustive interviews and investigation in Yenan. He was remarkably well qualified for his work. . . Mr. Stein had made his way from the beginning as an economic journalist. The worth of his economic knowledge is attested again and again by his evaluation of the economic problems and economic methods of both Yenan and Chungking." Owen Lattimore

+ Weekly Book Review p3 O 14 '45 1250w

STEINBECK, JOHN. Cannery row. 208p $2 Viking

44-40225

"Cannery Row is 'a poem, a stink, a grating noise, a quality of light, a tone, a habit, a nostalgia, a dream.' Its inhabitants are outcasts of society, with low tastes, worse morals, bad habits and a vocabulary, usually but not in this case, considered unprintable; and yet their intentions are good and their hearts kind. Their attempts to give 'Doc' a party are human comedy ending in tragedy." Library J

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky

Book Week p6 Ja 7 '45 750w

Booklist 41:140 Ja 1 '45

"Here it is, the new Steinbeck for the new year. I find it a terrible disappointment. The giant Steinbeck of 'The Grapes of Wrath' has shrunk to a whimsy. The man whose human concern produced the most socially significant novel of the late thirties . . . has journeyed back, not forward." Dorothy Hillyer

— Boston Globe p15 Ja 3 '45 600w

"This book—for really tough and strictly sophisticated readers—comes from a man who is a skillful weaver of words, gifted with more than an ordinary share of poetic fancy and deeply, sincerely sympathetic with the little people. . . He would be a greater writer if his originality and courage were balanced by decent restraint and a good sense of proportion."

Cath World 160:570 Mr '45 230w

Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '45

"It all smells of fish and reeks with kindness. Is there any use in reading this book? It is as sentimental as a book can be. It oozes sentiment. And of course the confusion comes in because it is written in the technique of realism. . . The realism is false, the thinking unimportant, and all that is left is the weeping all over everything. . . Well, what is it worth? It is not worth much for anyone who has seen man's pity for man expressed by any of the great and honest writers of world literature. Or for anyone who through God's grace knows that the prostitute, the miserable and the lost remain for ever inseparably bound to him in the brotherhood of man. But for those who have tried to break that link considering the prostitute an animal, the miserable remote, and the lost for ever irrecoverable, then anything which may bring them to tears would be worth reading. Maudlin tears are better than no tears at all. The trouble is that such people would think that 'Cannery Row' is funny." C. G. Paulding

Commonweal 41:378 Ja 26 '45 1050w

"I loved it—and to my mind—it fits admirably an immediate need in our season's lists,—the need for a richly patterned story spun out of another layer of that peculiar underworld with which Steinbeck is at his best."

+ Kirkus 12:484 N 1 '44 250w

"Interesting writing with sentences of lyric beauty but the subject matter is not for Victorians." H. A. Wooster

Library J 70:32 Ja 1 '45 70w

Reviewed by H. I'A. Fausset

Manchester Guardian p3 N 9 '45 100w

"The whole book is written in daydream prose which devitalizes everything it touches and has the same relation to the force of life, and of good writing, as the iridescent foam on the edge of a river has to the main current. . . 'Cannery Row' is a 'simulated gem' which has neither intrinsic luster nor permanent worth. It would not be worth the space I have given it if it were not, along with many another of the same sort, being currently passed, and accepted, as the genuine article." Margaret Marshall

— Nation 160:75 Ja 20 '45 1300w

Reviewed by George Mayberry

New Repub 112:89 Ja 15 '45 240w

"I never read Tortilla Flat, though I found Spencer Tracy charming in the film. Cannery Row is of the same order, discovering Mr. Steinbeck as a gentle and whimsical humorist rather than as a genius of truth and drama. One might dismiss it as the film script, which it will certainly become, if it were not that Steinbeck often displays a certain command of words. I find his lovable rascals both tiresome and improbable, though their adventures are sometimes very funny indeed." Philip Toynbee

— + New Statesman & Nation 30:357 N 24 '45 300w

"The best pages are the coarsest, those in which Steinbeck enjoys Mack's animal heartiness and his gift for blarney. The repeated assertion of how wonderful all the boys are soon runs very thin, since it is backed up with no more evidence than a similar strain in Saroyan—from whom Steinbeck now seems to be borrowing. . . It's a puzzler why Steinbeck should have wanted to write or publish such a book at this point in his career. Some of his pieces as a war correspondent had a freshness of observation which seemed to promise that he was growing beyond the streamlined view of anti-Fascism that bothered so many readers of 'The Moon Is Down.' But he has not returned from an all too imaginary Norway and from the actual Italian beachheads to the California he once examined with so much vitality." F. O. Matthiessen

N Y Times p1 D 31 '44 1200w

"John Steinbeck's new novel, 'Cannery Row,' is one of the least pretentious of his books,

STEINBECK, JOHN—Continued
but I believe that it is the one I have most enjoyed reading. . . It is hard to put one's finger on the coarseness that tends to spoil Mr. Steinbeck as an artist. When one considers the brilliance of his gifts and the philosophic cast of his mind, one keeps feeling that it should not be so. Yet it is so: when this watcher of life should exalt us to the vision of art, he simply sings 'Mother Machree.'" Edmund Wilson
+ — New Yorker 20:62 Ja 6 '45 750w

"When you have finished reading 'Cannery Row' you know that John Steinbeck has passed another of his small miracles. It is the best thing he has done since 'The Grapes of Wrath,' although it is not quite like that. . . This goes back in style and substance to those other brilliant little tales he wrote, to Monterey County in California again, where once we met Lennie and George, and Danny and the paisanos. Add to these the people of Cannery Row: Doc, and Mac, and the boys, and the bright-haired Dora, for they are likely to seem as memorable. They are caught up alive for us, stirring and functioning, in the whole, integral atmosphere of their row of shacks along the shore line." N. L. Rothman
+ Sat R of Lit 27:5 D 30 '44 1100w

Reviewed by John Hampson
— Spec 175:418 N 2 '45 350w
Springf'd Republican p4d D 31 '44 500w
Time 45:62 Ja 1 '45 850w

"Mr. Steinbeck has a shrewd popular touch here and there in this short book, but his feeling for the grotesquely human or the humanly grotesque has frequently landed him in a sort of perverse prettiness and sometimes in a fling of disappointingly cheap philosophy."
Times [London] Lit Sup p521 N 3 '45 300w

"Mr. Steinbeck writes vividly, breathlessly and with great gusto. Some of the incidents are genuinely pathetic; some are genuinely funny. And over the whole broods so boundless an enthusiasm for human nature and the individuals in whom it is embodied that the reader who resists it is in danger of considering himself a Scrooge or worse. Most, I predict, will not resist. . . I think that Mr. Steinbeck 'exaggerates.' But I can only think so; and I very seriously doubt that he exaggerates any more in one direction than many of the tough-talking pessimists, hailed as truth-telling realists, have exaggerated in the other." J. W. Krutch
+ Weekly Book Review p1 D 31 '44 1200w

STEINBECK, JOHN. The red pony. 131p il $5 Viking
45-8597

Four episodes in the life of Jody, a boy on a California ranch. This is a new complete edition with illustrations by Wesley Dennis. The original edition of 1,000 sold at $10 a copy and did not contain one part of the story, The leader of the people, which first appeared in "The Long Valley."

"A handsomely printed, fine-quality, new edition of a fine older book, illustrated beautifully." A. C. S.
+ Book Week p2 S 16 '45 190w

"Stands out among the year's books because a fine story for grownups, already adopted by boys who love horses, has now received its perfect pictures—scenes and portraits in color by Wesley Dennis, making it a book of the class truly described as 'a handsome present.'"
+ Weekly Book Review p6 N 4 '45 70w

STEINBERG, MILTON. Partisan guide to the Jewish problem. 308p $3 Bobbs
296 Jews—Political and social conditions
45-8192

A discussion of the causes and cures of anti-Semitism by the rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue of New York city. Bibliography. Index.

"The rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue of New York City has given us a sincere, scholarly book such as only a lifelong student of Judaism could have done." J. M. Yard
+ Book Week p10 O 7 '45 500w
Bookmark 6:3 N '45
Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 19 '46 270w

"This is a very fair, and very open-minded, consideration of sundry aspects of the Jewish problem."
+ Kirkus 13:238 Je 1 '45 170w

Reviewed by Meyer Levin
Nation 161:498 N 10 '45 700w

"Every once in a while you come across a book so good that you wish it could be put into the hand of every literate person. This is such a book. It is not only beautifully written; it is a mine of information about one of the most baffling problems of modern times. The title leads one to think that the volume is mainly for Jews; it does contain a powerful and brilliant exposition of the newer trend in Judaism known as Reconstruction. Nevertheless the greater message is for non-Jews. After all, anti-Semitism is, as Dr. Steinberg points out, mainly a Gentile problem." J. M. Read
+ New Repub 113:681 N 19 '45 1000w

"'A Partisan Guide to the Jewish Problem' calls not for blame at any point, but for high praise and gratitude. There is no more pitiful and poignant, or more difficult, problem in the world today than anti-Semitism. It wrings the heart, and outrages the mind. In so far as there can be a sure guide through this labyrinth of torture, this book is it. Let the Gentile read one chapter, 'Warning to Gentiles,' and the Jew one chapter, 'An Exhortation to Jews,' and together they will understand their debt to Rabbi Steinberg." J. H. Holmes
+ Sat R of Lit 28:38 O 27 '45 600w

"Deserves serious consideration. Rabbi Steinberg's book is the most interesting, serious and practical discussion of the 'Jewish question' to appear in some time. It is intended for Jews and gentiles alike. If it calls on gentiles to face their past guilt and their present responsibilities and duties, it demands an equal amount of soul-searching, self-evaluation and action of Jews themselves. It recognizes that the Jewish problem can be solved only through the efforts of Jews and gentiles in cooperation." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 7 '45 700w

STEINBERG, SAUL. All in line. 120p $2.50 Duell
741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. World war, 1936-1945—Humor, caricatures, etc. 45-5872

"A volume of one hundred and twenty pages of drawings by Saul Steinberg (Lieut. s.g., U.S.N.R.). The majority of the pictures are from The New Yorker and almost everything Lieutenant Steinberg has drawn for this magazine is reprinted, including his sketches of American Army life in China, India, North Africa, and Italy." New Yorker

Booklist 42:34 O 1 '45
Kirkus 13:268 Je 15 '45 80w

"This man Steinberg is wonderful. Maybe he is mad, but he is wonderfully mad, with an eye like an insane X-ray machine and a high talent for satire." Walter Bernstein
+ N Y Times p5 Jl 15 '45 360w
New Yorker 21:79 Je 9 '45 70w

"The extreme simplicity of Steinberg's work is no mere studied childishness but the refined economy of deliberate understatement. This first book of his should be a gold mine for his readers as well as his imitators." Ralph Stein
+ Sat R of Lit 28:21 Jl 7 '45 300w
Theatre Arts 30:63 Ja '46 40w

"It is not madness, nor is it malice, that gives Steinberg's cartoons their remarkable zing. His view of the world is singularly sane, rather kindly, and quite free from whimsy. What distinguishes his work is, first, an almost terrifyingly limpid view of the physical universe as though his eyes were made of a subtler and more penetratingly optical substance than those of the average man. They subtract or add as well as clarify. Then—and this is even more important—he apparently uses a magic pen, which traces a line as sharp as a razor blade." Iris Barry

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Je 17 '45 800w

STEINBERG, SIGFRID HEINRICH. Short history of Germany. 304p maps $3 Macmillan [12s 6d Cambridge]

943 Germany—History 45-4416

"The outstanding fact in the history of Germany is the non-existence, up to 1871, of any political unit called Germany. . . There was no 'Germany' for a thousand years because there was no German nation to which the term could be applied." (Introd) "The book starts with the year 911, and the author indicates clearly the structure of the Holy Roman Empire, and brings to vivid life the leading Emperors, Otto the Great, Barbarossa, Frederick II and Charles V. The decline of the Empire is followed by chapters on the German Confederation, the Bismarck Empire, the Empire of Wilhelm II, the Republic and the Nazi dictatorship." (Publisher's note) Index.

"Though Mr. Steinberg reflects—perhaps too much—current antipathies to Germany and especially to Prussia, he gives the reader a far better understanding of the development which led to Hitler than do the pages of E. F. Henderson or Pinnow. His volume is a masterpiece of condensation, achieved in part by omission of all military campaigns (though important battles are mentioned with name and date), and in part by an admirable economy of words and by broad general surveys. There are a good many minor inaccuracies. To the excellent index and the dozen helpful sketch-maps there might well have been added a few clarifying genealogical tables." S. B. Fay

+ — Am Hist R 51:115 O '45 430w

Booklist 41:338 Jl 15 '45

Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 9 '45 550w

Current Hist 9:129 Ag '45 100w

Foreign Affairs 24:165 O '45 20w

"Volume will prove helpful for reference purposes, but does not invite leisurely reading. Recommended for large public and scholarly libraries." F. E. Hirsch

Library J 70:529 Je 1 '45 110w

"Mr. Steinberg runs over all the principal dates in German history from Charlemagne to the invasion of Poland, an exhausting point-to-point across stiff country. With ten or twelve dates on every page there is not much room for interpretation or even direction; altogether a painstaking exercise in the mistaken view that it is the task of the historian to accumulate facts." A. J. P. Taylor

Manchester Guardian p3 O 18 '44 420w

Reviewed by Joseph Bornstein

Nation 161:65 Jl 21 '45 60w

Reviewed by H. W. Ehrmann

New Repub 113:194 Ag 13 '45 550w

"I suppose the purpose of this volume was to provide the English reader with a reliable up-to-date text-book. As far as facts and dates are concerned Mr. Steinberg is a reliable and conscientious guide. But whether it is justifiable to call this book 'a history' of Germany is a different question. Mr. Steinberg uses a method which, one would think, is after Lamprecht, Elie Halévy, and Professor Trevelyan pretty well antiquated. He writes solid 'political' history in the narrowest sense of the word." J. P. Mayer

New Statesman & Nation 29:44 Ja 20 '45 900w

"Dr. Steinberg's outline of German history begins with Charlemagne and ends with Hitler. It is strictly a pedestrian performance, the only bit of first-rate writing being a quotation from Winston Churchill. But those who desire a succinct outline of the events which have affected the German people during more than ten centuries, and who are at the same time willing to make allowance for an author's prejudices, will find the book useful." G. N. Shuster

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:38 Je 23 '45 500w

Reviewed by J. F. Santee

Social Studies 36:369 D '45 1200w

Reviewed by John Stapleton

Spec 173:364 O 20 '44 1000w

"In this brief account there is a good deal of valuable and interesting information, and if certain sections leave only a hazy impression, it is due, in general, to the complexity of the subject rather than to intricacies of style or deficiencies in organization." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Je 8 '45 600w

"Dr. Steinberg's book is no vehicle of partisan propaganda but a sober account of the political fortunes through a thousand years of the German peoples. As a purely political history the narrative, though necessarily compressed, is straightforward, lucid and strictly accurate."

Times [London] Lit Sup p570 N 25 '44 2400w

STEINCROHN, PETER JOSEPH. Forget your age! 238p $2.50 Doubleday

613 Old age. Hygiene SG45-15

"Here are brief comments on geriatrics or the care of the aged, and gerontology or the study of the aging process itself; on preventive medicine, on foolish superstitions and ideas; on the value of hobbies well established while young; the need for relaxation and the mistaken theories concerning exercise; the necessity for consulting a physician instead of waiting too long. Dr. Steincrohn expresses a concern for the returning veterans that should be shared by all. Finally, he writes that the doctors have done much to produce longevity. 'We're giving you the old people. It is up to the rest of you to make old age worth while.' " Scientific Bk Club R

Booklist 41:318 Jl 1 '45

"Obvious but sound."

Kirkus 13:82 F 15 '45 90w

Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 My '45 300w

Weekly Book Review p14 Ap 29 '45 130w

STEINER, MRS CHARLOTTE. Sleepy quilt [il. by the author]. [14p] $1 Doubleday

Picture-story book for the very young, about a little boy who never liked to go to bed, and what an improvement was made when his grandmother sent him a storybook quilt.

Booklist 42:133 D 15 '45

"A good going to bed picture story book, which should challenge the imaginative parent to further expansion of a good idea."

+ Kirkus 13:517 N 15 '45 90w

"The pictures in clear, soft colors have gayety and humor, and a charmingly decorative quality that suggests bed quilt patterns." A. T. E.

+ N Y Times p8 D 30 '45 90w

STEINER, MRS CHARLOTTE. Surprise for Mrs Bunny. [24p] il 50c Grosset

"While [this] does not call itself an Easter story, it suggests that season with its family of bunnies busily filling a shopping bag with gaily painted eggs for their mother's birthday surprise." N Y Times

---

"Incidentally, of course, the small reader is learning his colors in a very interesting way while the story is read to him. A nice little book at a modest price." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 Jl 1 '45 180w

Kirkus 13:200 My 1 '45 150w

STEINER, CHARLOTTE—Continued

"The tale itself is simple but satisfying to very young children; the industrious little rabbits are story-book bunnies at their most engaging." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p18 Jl 8 '45 70w

Wis Lib Bul 41:87 Jl '45

STEINER, MRS LEE (RABINOWITZ). Where do people take their troubles? 265p $3 Houghton

133.7 Psychology, Applied. Quacks and quackery 45-6876

The author, who has been educated in medical and psychiatric social work, discusses the ways of people in trouble—people with inferiority complexes, others who are too ambitious, or in difficulty over their love or professional lives. Where do these people go for relief? Miss Steiner has had an office in Chicago to which the unhappy brought their troubles, and she has studied other such offices, as well as the methods of "quack" psychologists. All this she sets forth in her study.

"The book is written as a missionary enterprise. It exposes the enormous demand for personal advice, the absence or inaccessibility of competent professionals to give it, and the consequent multiplication of imposters, who currently and very profitably fill the vacuum. The story tells itself. It is good reporting." H. M. Hughes

+ Am J Soc 51:254 N '45 600w

"There is much ground for gratitude to Mrs. Steiner (who is herself a trained psychiatric social service worker of great and varied experience), that she should have brought her pathetic and moving material to the attention of the reading public. There is no one who, reading her book, can fail to be better informed as to some of the dark and noisome aspects of our present-day civilization." R. J. Bender

+ Book Week p4 Ag 19 '45 550w

Booklist 42:69 N 1 '45

"The place of religion in this whole program might have been treated more fully, but the discussion is excellent so far as it goes." W. E. Garrison

+ Christian Century 62:1063 S 19 '45 1250w

Kirkus 13:263 Je 15 '45 210w

New Repub 113:478 O 8 '45 150w

"Mrs Steiner's exposition is good, but her conclusions have a familiar and not too encouraging ring to them." Jack Alexander

+ — N Y Times p6 Ag 26 '45 1150w

"Mrs. Steiner's sincerity and intentions are not in question. She means well, for herself and for everybody. But in this book she reduces her case almost to absurdity. . . To a student of such matters it is obvious that she merely took a quick fling around the circuit, hitting the high spots, bothering only to convince her already convinced self, and making no attempt to discover whether the people who were thriving under those therapies were or were not fitted for that type of help. She did not add any new names to the list: the old ones were good enough for her." Thomas Sugrue

Sat R of Lit 28:14 S 22 '45 950w

Reviewed by C. B. Moore

Springf'd Republican p4d N 11 '45 700w

"This valuable book gives practical and excellent advice on how to find legitimate workers in the psychological field. . . Mrs Steiner closes her truly fascinating account with a proposal that is utterly terrifying to this unregenerate individualist. Her answer to the problem of people's troubles is that 'Uncle Sam' take over and extend the Army's mental hygiene program, by individuals and by groups, 'to those needing this care in the Army of one hundred and thirty million persons fighting the battle of life on the home front.' Are you unhappy? Then which do you choose, a bureaucrat with the power of the government behind him, or Madame X? Quick, cross the gypsy's palm with silver!" Lorine Pruette

+ — Weekly Book Review p12 Ag 26 '45 850w

Wis Lib Bul 41:97 O '45

STEINMAN, DAVID BARNARD. Builders of the bridge; the story of John Roebling and his son. 457p il $3.50 Harcourt

B or 92 Roebling, John Augustus. Roebling, Washington Augustus. Brooklyn bridge 45-35058

Biographical study of John August Roebling and his soldier-engineer son, Washington Augustus Roebling, and a history of the bridges they built. The building of the Niagara, the Cincinnati, and the Brooklyn bridges is told in detail. After the death of the father, and the son's paralysis from caisson disease, the liaison work in the building of the Brooklyn bridge was carried on by the younger Mrs Roebling, and due credit is given her in this fine study. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by J. W. Oliver

Am Hist R 51:136 O '45 700w

"This is a great book of two great men whose lives were dedicated to creation, and whose memory, thanks to Steinman's labor of love, will not easily be erased from the public mind." Otto Eisenschiml

+ Book Week p8 Ap 29 '45 400w

Booklist 41:254 My 1 '45

Bookmark 6:14 My '45

Christian Century 62:792 Jl 4 '45 240w

Christian Science Monitor p12 My 1 '45 360w

Cleveland Open Shelf p22 N '45

Reviewed by E. L. Keyes

Commonweal 42:171 Je 1 '45 350w

"As told by Mr. Steinman, the story is tense, dramatic, fascinating. It should be as interesting to the engineer as to the layman, for it is filled with the lore of bridge building. It points out the lessons learned through experience by John Roebling and which modern bridge builders have allegedly forgotten."

+ Eng N 134:143 My 3 '45 450w

Kirkus 13:119 Mr 15 '45 170w

Reviewed by A. B. Lindsay

Library J 70:305 Ap 1 '45 110w

Nation 161:185 Ag 25 '45 60w

"Bridge engineer Steinman is no writer, but he has successfully communicated the dramatic quality of his profession and its function in American progress."

New Repub 112:653 My 7 '45 160w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue

N Y Times p4 My 6 '45 1450w

"This story of John and Washington Roebling, and of their heroic deeds should have a secure place among our biographical classics." George Genzmer

+ Sat R of Lit 28:10 My 12 '45 1600w

"Mr. Steinman has built his book as lovingly and as sturdily as the Roeblings did their bridges, and it is not only a genuine pleasure to read but a worthy monument to two men who are well deserving of honor." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 29 '45 550w

"The treatment of the material, biographical and technical, is romantic; the style is barely adequate. The technical information is too limited in scope to permit the book to serve as a text or handbook. There is, however, much authentic information on the development of suspension bridges and of wire rope, and on the lives of the Roeblings, father and son, who were pioneers in the manufacture of wire rope and in its use in such bridges."

+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 1:18 S '45 130w

"Mr. David Barnard Steinman has written a fascinating, detailed story. . . He is himself a ranking bridge engineer of today who has built bridges in five continents. . . In writing this book based on much painstaking research in obscure letters, family records and interviews, he has paid his debt to the Roebling family and to the great trio who taught engineers how to soar." Gerald Wendt

+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ap 29 '45 1850w

Wis Lib Bul 41:68 Je '45

STEPHENSON, FLORA, and POOL, PHOEBE. Plan for town and country; foreword by Julian Huxley. (Target for tomorrow) 60p il maps $1.50 Transatlantic [4s 6d Pilot]

711 City planning. Cities and towns—Great Britain. Regional planning 44-6364

"The second volume in the admirable 'Target for To-morrow' series, edited by Charles Madge, under the supervision of Sir William Beveridge, Dr. Julian Huxley, and Sir John Boyd Orr. In simple language they explain the need for physical planning, the background and gist of the Barlow, Scott, and Uthwatt reports, the progress made in this field by other countries, the importance of research, and the urgency of political action to make the most of our present opportunity." Manchester Guardian

Booklist 41:239 Ap 15 '45

"Their text is liberally illustrated with excellent photographs, drawings, diagrams, and charts—many of them culled from recent exhibitions and the practical schemes of reconstruction already put forward by progressive authorities." D. S.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Je 21 '44 180w

"The whole book is distinguished by an artful exploration of what may be called the background of planning."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p332 Jl 8 '44 360w

STERN, BERNHARD JOSEPH. American medical practice in the perspectives of a century. (N.Y. acad. of medicine. Com. on medicine and the changing order. Studies) 156p $1.50 Commonwealth fund

610.9 Medicine—Practice SG45-126

"Scholarly studies on social aspects of medical practice, past and present, the expanding horizons of medicine, and the relation of the general practitioner to the specialist and of both to the patient." Christian Century

"Considering the fewness of his pages, [the author] has succeeded remarkably well in this sizable task, though historians are likely to feel that his historical exposition, segregated in the opening chapters, is much too streamlined to do more than suggest the crosscurrents of the past." Helen Clapesattle
+ Am Hist R 51:163 O '45 320w

"The great advantage of this book is that it is informative, accurate, and short, so that even busy practitioners will read it and will ponder over it." H. E. Sigerist
+ Am J Pub Health 35:654 Je '45 750w

Reviewed by Oswald Hall
Am J Soc 51:81 Jl '45 180w

"It is worthy of note that this very informing and readable little book was written by a sociologist at the request of the New York Academy of Medicine. It is to be followed by others less general in character, but, we trust, equally valuable for the interpretation of medical care as an integral part of an ever-changing culture." S. A. Queen
+ Am Soc R 10:451 Je '45 250w

"The book is seductively written. It can be read by a layman for information. It can be read by a member of the American Medical Association without effect on his adrenal secretions. It is good propaganda, so good that the reader is not entirely sure that it is propaganda, after all." Geoffrey May
+ Ann Am Acad 240:177 Jl '45 360w

Booklist 41:249 My 1 '45

Christian Century 62:145 Ja 31 '45 30w

Reviewed by Waldemar Kaempffert
N Y Times p22 Mr 18 '45 800w

Reviewed by H. H. Bashford
Spec 175:16 Jl 6 '45 700w

Reviewed by Channing Frothingham
Survey 81:182 Jl '45 350w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:46 Je '45 240w

STERN, ELSIE JEAN (ELSIE-JEAN, pseud). Wee Robin's Christmas song; adapted from an old tale with songs; pictures by Else McKean. [32p] $1.50 Nelson

45-9163

"Wee Robin sets out to visit the King on Christmas morning; he is stopped by the cat, the hawk, the fox and the boy, but outwits them all. On arriving at the marble palace, he sings for the King and is rewarded with Jenny Wren for his wife." N Y Times

Kirkus 13:471 O 15 '45 60w

"An old legend of Wee Robin, simply and beautifully retold. It is an addition to our collection of Christmas stories and will answer the frequent requests for a Christmas story for the very young." Marian Webb
+ Library J 70:1092 N 15 '45 30w

"The pictures are childlike and pleasing and three of the songs sung by Wee Robin are included." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p42 D 2 '45 70w

STEVENS, EDMUND. Russia is no riddle. 300p $3 Greenberg

947.084 Russia—Description and travel. Russia—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—Russia 45-35031

"Edmund Stevens was interpreter for Churchill, member of the Willkie party, [and] married to a Russian girl. . . In his early chapters, Stevens outlines the background of American-Soviet relations and Soviet foreign policy, and in the light of these he assesses Churchill's first trip to Moscow and the Moscow Conference. Against this backdrop, the author proceeds to recount his most recent journey to the U.S.S.R. Moving from Gibraltar to Algiers to Cairo to Teheran, he reveals, from one stopover to the next, the political currents of Europe—the intrigues, the machinations, the struggle for power. By the time Stevens has arrived in Moscow, he has succeeded in placing Russia in a clear world perspective. Then, weaving personal impressions into current history, Stevens reports upon the Russian people's reactions to national and international events." (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by Paul Haensel
Ann Am Acad 240:151 Jl '45 490w

Reviewed by David Karno
Book Week p5 Mr 25 '45 470w

Booklist 41:235 Ap 15 '45

"Stevens describes his many sides of Russia quietly, thoroughly. His book labors a little under anxiety to offset the bias of some other American journalists who have been sniping at the Russians." L. M. Lyons
Boston Globe p20 Mr 21 '45 500w

"Mr. Stevens repeatedly calls attention to the dire consequences that will follow misunderstanding between Russia and the United States. But something more persuasive than this argument, something much more objective than his present book, will be required to convince hard-headed Yanks that Russia is as simple as his title would suggest, or that the democracies may go quietly to sleep without any suspicion that Russia would ever take advantage of them." Joseph McSorley
Cath World 161:183 My '45 270w

"It is a book which must be read to complete a rounded appreciation of the story of Russia."
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 15 '45 600w

Reviewed by W. H. Melish
Churchman 159:16 My 1 '45 240w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 My '45

"It is a question whether the Stevens type of special pleading is a feasible way of developing mutual respect. It is one thing to explain or extenuate Russian actions and attitudes which puzzle Americans; it hardly solves the riddle

STEVENS, EDMUND—Continued
to explain them quite away. Somewhere in his book Mr. Stevens tells how the Russians prefer directness to devious methods; that sword should cut both ways. Nothing could be more fatal to whatever hopes there are of the post-war world than a break with Russia. But friendship must be based on truth."

Commonweal 41:591 Mr 30 '45 550w

Foreign Affairs 23:697 Jl '45 20w

"Edmund Stevens was the envy of all the other American correspondents in Moscow last year. . . All of us expected that when Steve sat down to write his book he would produce the best stuff since the early Duranty days. Unfortunately, this is not the case. He has written a good, honest, episodic, slightly pedestrian book. . . But his book lacks insight. It is just another correspondent's book." Alexander Kendrick

— + New Repub 112:482 Ap 9 '45 1550w

"One of our woman correspondents expressed the hope that her book would be a 'fragment for the larger mosaic of honest reporting by free men representing a free press, a mosaic of information which would help keep America free and help Americans to understand the problems of their place in a shrinking world.' This simple yet exacting standard is the test for all the spate of books by war correspondents. The present one, despite several good chapters and much useful detail information, does not pass the test. It can be useful only to those who already have the understanding and know how to sift fact from unacknowledged conjecture." B. D. Wolfe

— + N Y Times p5 Ap 22 '45 500w

"Mr. Stevens tells many of the familiar stories, about visits to the battlefields, banquets, and so on, but it is the trivia, such as the repartee contest between Ilya Ehrenburg and Alexei Tolstoy, those spoiled children of the Soviet intelligentsia, that make the book rewarding. The author is always fair in his attitude and what statements he offers about Russia seem careful and considered."

+ New Yorker 21:83 Mr 31 '45 180w

"It is a good book but by its structure it is choppy and continuous only in a chronological sense. It would have been a better book if Stevens had taken his many experiences, mulled them over, and written a totally fresh and correlated report on Rusian living." W. C. White

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:33 Mr 31 '45 850w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:32 Je '45 160w

"This is an interesting and well written description of Russia at war and covers some of the most important events down to the end of 1944. It is not too ambitious in its scope and it is done in an easy, intimate style, enlivened by the author's wit and an occasional stab of mordant humor. The people we meet in its pages are friendly and likable, much as we fancy we are; and when the Soviet system is criticized it is in a fraternal spirit and nearly always with an exposition of the Russian point of view. . . Some readers may find the present volume somewhat short of its promising title, for there is little riddle-solving 'inside' data of any kind. . . Not all observers would agree with Mr. Stevens's contention that in countries which the Red Armies have entered 'they have not shown any particular favor toward the local Communists.'" Edgar Snow

+ — Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 25 '45 1000w

Reviewed by Michael Karpovich
Yale R n s 34:760 summer '45 500w

STEVENS, MRS FRANCES MOYER (ROSS) (CHRISTOPHER HALE, pseud). Midsummer nightmare. 224p $2 Doubleday
45-6793

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p11 Jl 29 '45 130w

Kirkus 13:210 My 15 '45 130w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p24 Jl 15 '45 90w

"The police have trouble in clarifying all this, and so will most readers. Tough going for hot weather."

— New Yorker 21:72 Jl 14 '45 80w

"Atmospheric tale of family hatreds, with likable cast of characters, including a U. S. senator, a seasoning of romance, and plenty of swift action. High grade."

+ Sat R of Lit 28:30 Jl 21 '45 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p14 Jl 8 '45 90w

STEVENS, MRS FRANCES MOYER (ROSS) (CHRISTOPHER HALE, pseud). Rumor hath it. 224p $2 Doubleday
46-893

Detective story.

Kirkus 13:407 S 15 '45 130w

N Y Times p20 D 9 '45 130w

New Yorker 21:108 N 3 '45 100w

"Full marks."

+ Sat R of Lit 28:40 N 3 '45 40w

"For soft-boiled fans, preferably those interested in juvenile heart throbs." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p20 N 4 '45 100w

STEVENS, WILLIAM OLIVER. Unbidden guests; a book of real ghosts. 322p $3 Dodd
133.1 Ghosts 45-10334

Stories of authenticated "hauntings." Some of the narratives are taken from the reports of societies for psychical research in England and America. Index.

"The book is lively and provocative, but it occasionally multiplies instances beyond need. And, although Stevens is ostensibly an earnest recorder, he has been willing to accept evidence at second and third hand without, apparently, pursuing it to its sources." James Sandoe

+ — Book Week p7 D 16 '45 500w

Booklist 42:177 F 1 '46

New Yorker 21:82 D 22 '45 80w

"Mr. Stevens has done a good job, documented for the student and indexed for the curious. There are ghosts to fit all tastes, and it does no good to shut your eyes. They whisper in your ear." Thomas Sugrue

+ Weekly Book Review p24 D 2 '45 500w

STEVENSON, AUGUSTA. Kit Carson, boy trapper; il. by Paul Laune. 195p $1.50 Bobbs
B or 92 Carson, Christopher—Juvenile literature 45-6320

This volume in the Childhood of famous Americans series contains a fictionized biography of an American frontiersman, relating such incidents of Carson's boyhood as a night flight to the Fort when an Indian attack threatens, a day of games and pony races, a meeting with Daniel Boone, etc.

Booklist 42:40 O 1 '45

"Small boys or feminine tomboys will devour it. For ages nine and up." Gweneira Williams

+ Library J 70:981 O 15 '45 70w

STEVENSON, BURTON EGBERT, ed. Home book of quotations, classical and modern. 4th ed rev 2811p $15 Dodd
808.8 Quotations 44-4812

"The 1944 edition of this well-known work includes approximately 70,000 quotations arranged alphabetically by subject with topic subdivisions. An index to authors and a detailed word-index to the quotations, which is arranged alphabetically by leading words and phrases, provide additional approaches to the content of the volume. The Subscription Books Committee has not reviewed earlier editions. . . The number of pages in the third and fourth editions is identical. On page 2298 of the appendix, about thirty lines have been added. Death dates for more than forty persons have been inserted in the index of authors. . . While the preface states that a few well known quotations which had been overlooked have been added, search fails to find any of Winston Churchill's since 1906, any of Franklin D. Roosevelt's since 1936, any of Stalin's, any reference to the 'four freedoms,' 'pass the ammunition,' 'blood, sweat, and tears,' any new quotations on patriotism, war, or history, which might be expected in a 1944 book of quotations. However, no claims of extensive changes or additions were made." (Subscription Bks Bul) For reviews of 1st and 3d editions see Book Review Digest, 1934 and 1937.

"The book is strongly bound in red buckram, print and paper are excellent, and the index and classified material are easy to use. If the third edition is owned, the fourth will probably not be needed. Stevenson's Home Book of Quotations is recommended."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 16:28 Ap '45 480w

STEVENSON, CHARLES LESLIE. Ethics and language. 338p $4 Yale univ. press [20s Oxford]

171 Ethics. Language and languages. Meaning (psychology) A45-1043

"This is a study of ethical procedure. The author applies the microscope to the use and meaning of words, particularly those which bear upon ethical theory and practice. To the naked eye of common usage, words appear to be fairly simple; but under the microscopic analysis here offered one is made aware of a teeming variety of particular shades of meanings. The big systems of ethics which have not undertaken such a procedure are seen to fall apart for lack of genuine focus upon concepts. We have here a claim for an empirical procedure, not, however, analogous to the procedure of the natural sciences. No conclusions for ethical theory are offered save that of methodology. To argue moral questions without noting the minute bacilli of meaning is a waste of time and a continuation of old and bad habits of discourse. Critical exactness of the logic of meanings is the empiricism that is meant." (Christian Century) Index.

"The author's debt to John Dewey is unmistakable and acknowledged in terms of the broader insights of America's distinguished philosopher. The above exposition does not convey to the reader the maze of fine distinctions set forth. While, in terms of the author's general thesis, there is a necessity for such detailed writing, one cannot help feeling that he is at times unduly repetitious, something which makes his arguments perhaps seem more complex than they really are. The net result of reading such a work is to make one so desperately cautious in the use of language that silence seems the better part of wisdom." Vergilius Ferm
Christian Century 62:682 Je 6 '45 650w

"Professor Stevenson (Yale) has written an erudite volume on the problems of ethics, particularly from the perspective of language and meaning. He makes a case for the place of empirical methods in the study of ethics, and while his analysis is for the scholar, his arguments are stated clearly enough to be readily followed."
+ Current Hist 9:49 Jl '45 50w

Reviewed by H. D. Aiken
J Philos 42:455 Ag 16 '45 7200w

"Unfortunately for the general reader, our author has addressed his book primarily to specialists, and apparently retains much of the technical jargon which philosophers reserve for their fellows. I found it often difficult to break through this barrier and find out what he was saying, difficult to translate the smooth flow of words into concepts with which I am familiar." Stuart Chase
Sat R of Lit 28:17 Je 9 '45 750w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:12 Je '45 200w

STEVENSON, ROBERT LOUIS. Child's garden of verses; il. by Toni Frissell. 95p $2 U.S. camera

821 Photographic books. Children's poetry 45-1851

The well-known verses of Stevenson, illustrated with photographs of children carrying out the activities mentioned in the poems.

"This is one of the most attractive and appealing editions of Stevenson's verse that I have ever seen." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p11 Ja 28 '45 180w

"Good supplementary edition, but should not supplant more standard ones." S. J. Johnson
+ Library J 70:120 F 1 '45 20w

"There is special charm in the settings and magic created out of the simplest things that Stevenson knew and children understand." M. E. S.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 28 '45 120w

"Now these verses—little as our children realize it—are about child life in Stevenson's Scotland. The pictures are United States to the core. Yet there is not one that Stevenson fans will not recognize at sight as an exact illustration." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 F 18 '45 230w

STEWART, FRANCIS S. Airframe materials. 237p il $2.50 McGraw

629.13431 Airplanes—Materials 45-932

"This volume deals with the materials used in airplane construction, exclusive of the power plant, propeller and hydraulic and electrical systems. It describes the properties which are important in airplane materials and discusses the effect of such factory operations as heat treating, cold working, cleaning, bonding and sealing processes, and casting and forging, on these properties. The two final chapters compare the properties of plastic materials and of materials now currently used. The book will be of interest to students and beginning workers in airplane design and construction." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:701 S 1 '44 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:3 Ja '45

STEWART, GEORGE RIPPEY. Names on the land; a historical account of placenaming in the United States. 418p $3 Random house

929.4 Names, Geographical 45-3640

A history of American place names, which is filled with facts, anecdotes, conjectures. It narrates the explorations of the Spanish, Dutch, French, and English settlers, and registers the names they left in their wake. Historical, social, literary, and linguistic points of view all are considered. Detailed index.

"'Names on the Land' is a real contribution to our understanding and appreciation of our local regional and national heritage. It is also extraordinarily good reading." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 Ap 29 '45 500w
Booklist 41:268 My 15 '45
Bookmark 6:12 My '45

"This is history, fascinating history. In it you will learn much about your native land. Mr. Stewart gives the background of most of the names we know, the important names. . . Others have written about place names but none with such scope. Others have written history but none more delightfully." E. A. Laycock
+ Boston Globe p17 Ap 25 '45 330w

"This is in every way an interesting and important book. Mr. Stewart writes well out of full knowledge." R. M. H.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 30 '45 900w
Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45

"Fascinating reference material for long range."
+ Kirkus 13:14 Ja 1 '45 170w

STEWART, G. R.—Continued

"A valuable reference book, made more so by the inclusion of a good index. Recommended for all libraries." Thelma Brackett

+ Library J 70:163 F 15 '45 110w

"One can never tell what George R. Stewart is going to write about next, but one can always be certain it will make lively reading. . . Mr. Stewart, who is author of the best piece about the weather since 'Snow Bound,' the novel called 'Storm,' has written here a sort of informal history of America around his central theme, and the result is highly readable. . . Don't take Mr. Stewart's book in one full draft. Sip it now and then for its full, rich flavor." McAlister Coleman

+ Nation 161:18 Jl 7 '45 350w

New Repub 113:29 Jl 2 '45 250w

"This book is a labor of love, such as few people would have had the energies, much less the abilities, or the pure courage, to undertake —and finish. The whole is written with a grace and engaging humor belying the work behind it. The nation from Seldom Seem to Possum Glory, Hog Eye to Bug Tustle, does owe Mr. Stewart a debt of gratitude for getting the tremendous material here between the covers of a book." Eudora Welty

+ N Y Times p1 My 6 '45 3000w

New Yorker 21:86 My 5 '45 180w

"Mr. Stewart never forgets that he is telling a story, not compiling the dictionary of American place-names which some day somebody will compile. The result is a book which should do a lot to awaken popular interest in the fruitful subject of our place-names." Horace Reynolds

+ Sat R of Lit 28:10 My 5 '45 1000w

"Those who remember 'Storm' will be eager to read its author's latest book. Professor Stewart's choice of topics is a varied one, and this time he presents a unique subject with his usual skill and poetic phraseology."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:2 My '45 360w

"A highly original and consistently interesting book." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 20 '45 700w

Time 45:97 Ap 30 '45 1100w

"Mr. Stewart has now made a unique contribution to place-name study—a history of the process of giving names to places within the boundaries of the continental United States. . . If one adds that the book is written with a constant play of wit, and a steady regard to general significance, it is clear that the achievement is of distinction and of the highest value for the place-name specialist, for the student, teacher, and writer of American history, and for the general reader. Mr. Stewart has not merely written a book—he has made an addition to our national self-consciousness."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:9 S '45 280w

"Works on place names have a way of converting themselves into lexicons, and not infrequently they pick up the dullness of the species, but Mr. Stewart, who is a novelist as well as a scholar, has managed to steer his book clear of such perils. It is a sort of general prolegomenon to the subject. . . Mr. Stewart has performed a useful job in a very competent manner." H. L. Mencken

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 22 '45 950w

Wis Lib Bul 41:68 Je '45

"Mr. Stewart has pioneered in an interesting field and has added much to our understanding of the American tradition. His book should be read by all who enjoy travel in their own country." R. H. Gabriel

+ Yale R n s 35:151 autumn '45 850w

STEWART, JOHN INNES MACKINTOSH (MICHAEL INNES, pseud). Appleby's end. 211p $2 Dodd

45-1340

Mystery story.

"Most amusing."

+ Boston Globe p6 F 21 '45 60w

"It is my disagreeable duty to report that [the author] has sadly overreached himself in his latest fiction." E. H.

— New Repub 112:238 F 12 '45 90w

"You may not be able to make much sense of the shenanigans, but you will have a lot of fun if you do not take the book too seriously." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p22 F 11 '45 180w

"Quite a funny book, in its verbose fashion."

+ New Yorker 21:79 F 24 '45 70w

"Agreeable and slightly puzzling mixture."

Sat R of Lit 28:27 F 10 '45 40w

"Inspector John Appleby's latest adventure in crime is sure of instant success with fans of the larger hat sizes, especially those who are up on their classic allusions. . . You can hardly go wrong if you take this as a scholarly lark with detection in the same vein. Fantastic is the word." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p16 F 11 '45 240w

STEWART, JOHN QUINCY. Coasts, waves and weather, for navigators. 347p il $3.75 Ginn

551 Physical geography. Meteorology. Ocean. Navigation 45-5754

"This book is intended primarily to explain to marine and air navigators the physical environment in which navigation must be carried on. . . The book is divided into three parts, dealing with (1) coast lines, terrain, and routes; (2) the sea; (3) weather. Each is directed to the practical interests of the navigator and the world traveler, rather than to the training of students who intend to become professional physiographers, oceanographers, or meteorologists." Pref

"This is a fitting companion volume to Stewart and Pierce's 'Marine and Air Navigation.' Within its compact pages is contained a liberal education in geography. Although written primarily for the instruction of navigators of both sea and air, it could well be used as the basis for a cultural course in the earth sciences in either a liberal-arts college or a technical school." H. T. Stetson

+ Geog R 36:175 Ja '46 600w

"Interesting book for many readers as well as a practical book for navigators. Well illustrated with photographs and line drawings."

+ Library J 70:752 S 1 '45 60w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:56 S '45 120w

"Of the many treatises on navigation that have appeared in the last few years, one of the very best is 'Marine and Air Navigation' by two Princeton astronomers, John Q. Stewart and Newton L. Pierce [Book Review Digest, 1944]. Now the senior author has written a new work which is a companion to the earlier book—and is also equally interesting by itself, since it covers a number of important topics seldom treated in such a unified way." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p12 S 16 '45 230w

STICKER, HENRY. Art of calculation. 256p $2 Essential bks

511 Arithmetic 45-35201

Explains simple methods of calculation used by experts. The book is divided into several parts dealing with addition, subtraction, multiplication, division and fractions, with a final section devoted to "short cuts." Many exercises are included in the text with answers given at the end of the book.

Booklist 42:72 N 1 '45

Library J 70:638 Jl '45 20w

STIDLEY, LEONARD ALBERT. Sectarian welfare federation among Protestants. 159p $2 Assn. press

361.8 New York (city)—Charities. Federation of Protestant welfare agencies, incorporated, New York 45-1191

"First a comparative study of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish welfare federations; then an outline history of welfare agencies in New York; and finally an analysis of the structure, functions and problems of the Protestant federation." (Christian Century) Bibliography. No index.

Christian Century 62:82 Ja 17 '45 50w

Reviewed by L. S. Ford
Survey 81:126 Ap '45 400w

STIEFF, FREDERICK PHILIP. Unleash the dogs of war; a story; il. by Louis Lundean. 227p $2.50 McBride

Dogs—Legends and stories 44-40383

A war dog, Murky, supposedly tells his own story, and that of some of his friends in the K-9 corps. Murky describes his training at Front Royal, in Virginia, the trip to North Africa and his part in the African campaign, his trip home after being wounded, and his reunion with his beloved master, who had been wounded in the same campaign.

"Recommended." Elizabeth Burr
+ Library J 70:72 Ja 15 '45 70w

"It is a little difficult to determine the audience for Mr. Stieff's book. It is not mature enough in approach or information for the adult, yet at points it seems pretty gruesome for youngsters. However, they seemingly encounter much worse in their comic books. 'Teen-agers would definitely find it highly interesting, although they may want a question or two answered: How was it possible, for instance, to teach a dog certain discriminations? One thing Mr. Stieff has done well is the plausible conversation between the dogs. As a sort of 'first reader' in an interesting, highly technical subject, it is a successful effort." L. M. Palmer
+ — N Y Times p28 Ap 1 '45 280w

STIFTER, ADALBERT. Rock crystal; a Christmas tale; rendered into English by Elizabeth Mayer and Marianne Moore; il. by Josef Scharl. 94p $2.75 Pantheon bks.

Christmas stories 45-10418

A story written one hundred years ago by Adalbert Stifter, the German classicist. "The plot is simple enough. Two children walk [over the mountain pass] to visit their grandparents on Christmas Eve. On their way home it starts to snow; they miss the path and when night falls they are far out on a glacier. They take shelter in an ice cave and are saved from falling asleep and freezing to death by some black coffee extract their grandmother has given them to carry home . . . and by a wonderful discharge of electric flashes in the sky which excites their minds. In the Christmas morning they are found by a search party and brought down the mountainside home to their rejoicing parents." (N Y Times)

Reviewed by Olive Carruthers
Book Week p38 D 2 '45 360w

Christian Century 63:82 Ja 16 '46 40w

"One of the most charming of all this year's books for children." H. L. Binsse
+ Commonweal 43:125 N 16 '45 140w

"The translation by Elizabeth Mayer and the poet, Marianne Moore, the decorative pictures by Josef Scharl, combine to match the delicacy of the tale. In spirit—as well as format—a Christmas gift book primarily."
Kirkus 13:478 N 1 '45 90w

"May seem to boys and girls a little slow in getting started, but it is so beautiful a thing that it is well worth any adult's time to introduce it to children. Excellent translation by Elizabeth Mayer and Marianne Moore; illustrations by Josef Scharl, print and binding all contribute toward making this an outstandingly distinguished book." J. D. Lindquist
+ Library J 71:58 Ja 1 '46 80w

"To bring off, as Stifter does, a story of this kind, with its breathtaking risks of appalling banalities is a great feat. What might so easily have been a tear-jerking melodrama becomes in his hands a quiet and beautiful parable about the relation of people to places, of man to nature. . . The translation by Elisabeth Mayer and Marianne Moore reads like an original: that they should have managed this with an author who, like Flaubert, worried over every word, is testimony to their patience no less than to their skill. His eighteen illustrations make one feel that Mr. Scharl must have lived in Gschaid all his life." W. H. Auden
+ N Y Times p6 N 18 '45 850w

New Yorker 21:136 D 8 '45 80w

"This realistic story is a tiny myth, a symbol of the relations between the cosmos and the human race. When man makes an effort to survive, something in the universe lends him a hand. . . Slow in tempo at first, the narrative gradually and steadily gains tension. The language has a fine rhythmicality and sonority in which some critics have thought to hear the resonance of church bells. The author's feeling is sufficiently universal to engage juvenile, semi-educated, and highly-educated minds alike." Paul Rosenfeld
+ Sat R of Lit 28:11 N 3 '45 950w

"There is a haunting beauty, an old-world dignity in the story, in the fortitude of the children, in the strange, cold world of glacier and icefield where they spent the night of the Christ Child's birth. . . This is not an 'everyday' book. It is, and should always be, a very special one. Its value is timeless. So is its format and illustration. In its translators it has been most fortunate." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:42 D 8 '45 400w

Reviewed by T. S. Hanrahan
Springf'd Republican p4d D 16 '45 180w

"The artist who has illustrated this brief book, the two translators who have collaborated to achieve its limpid prose, and the publishers who have cloaked it between star-scattered covers, must have pooled not only their brains but their hearts. It is a perfect offering for the season when all men turn instinctively toward home." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p2 D 16 '45 650w

STILWELL, HART. Border city. 276p $2.50 Doubleday

45-35078

A tragic story of racial intolerance and corrupt politics in a city on the border between Mexico and the United States. The hero is a newspaperman who first defends, then falls in love with a Mexican girl.

"'Border City' is a knowing book and an engrossing one. The characters, perhaps, are oversimplified—too shadowy and flat to assume full dimensions. On the other hand there is an advantage in the simple, unadorned narrative style of most of the book. Now and then there are a few lyrical 'literary' flourishes, but they are infrequent." Jack Conroy
+ — Book Week p4 Je 10 '45 400w

Booklist 41:270 My 15 '45

"Mr. Stilwell's prose is simple and astringent. Even in hair-raising situations he does not get melodramatic. It will be interesting to see just what Mr. Stilwell's reward will be for his painstaking piece of work in behalf of the poor and downtrodden." Mary Lasswell
+ Boston Globe Je 6 '45 450w

"Unprettified story which packs a punch."
Kirkus 13:93 Mr 1 '45 190w

Reviewed by J. S. Redding
New Repub 112:853 Je 18 '45 300w

"The author is a lifelong Texan who obviously knows whereof he writes in this first novel. It would be pleasant to add that he has given his book an emotional depth worthy of its vital theme. Unfortunately, Mr. Stilwell is a better observer than an interpreter, and his style, to put it gently, ranges from the polemic to the out-and-out sophomoric, especially in the torrid fumbling of his numerous love scenes." C. V. Terry
+ — N Y Times p16 My 20 '45 300w

STILWELL, HART—Continued
"A brisk narrative style and plenty of sly digs at the Good Neighbor policy as preached (not practiced) by the town's white citizenry take your mind off the fact that the book is none too well written."
New Yorker 21:90 My 19 '45 120w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p6 Je 17 '45 360w

STIMPSON, GEORGE WILLIAM. A book about the Bible. 509p $3.50 Harper
220 Bible. Whole 45-4494

"An unusual collection of facts and theories about the Scriptures compiled by a veteran Washington newspaperman who has spent a quarter of a century collecting odd bits of information about the world's best seller. More than a billion copies of the Bible have been printed, it is familiar, at least in part, to readers of more than 1000 different languages, and it is still probably the most variously interpreted, most frequently misunderstood and most misquoted book in history. Mr Stimpson has not set out to expound theology, or even to advance the cause of Christianity, but has sought to provide accurate answers to the hundreds of questions that can puzzle even formal students of the Scriptures who have not been situated where they could 'turn over half a library' as did Mr Stimpson in his search for material." Springf'd Republican

Booklist 42:3 S '45
Christian Century 62:710 Je 13 '45 70w
Cleveland Open Shelf p21 N '45

"This is not an important book, but nevertheless, many people, irrespective of creed or degree of religiosity, would find it handy to have around. The author is a newspaperman with a flair for assembling miscellaneous facts to answer those questions which people are always asking about the Bible and about matters associated with the Bible, and in a concise and readable fashion he gives the answers. It is an odd assortment, some important, some not; some searching, others superficial, some involving questions of theology and Biblical criticism, others dealing with folk-lore and old wives' tales. . . The answers are uniformly short, readable and based on thorough research. The appeal is much the same as that of quizz books—with the religious game slant."
+ Kirkus 13:243 Je 1 '45 210w
+ New Yorker 21:80 Je 2 '45 90w

"His book will be of value to ministers, teachers, students and laymen, and even to the average reader, who, while he may not consciously subscribe to the teachings of the Bible, can never escape its influence on his daily life, on his speech and on his literature." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4 Je 4 '45 650w
Wis Lib Bul 41:80 Jl '45

STINETORF, LOUISE A. Children of South Africa; il. by Eva Watson. 175p $2 Lippincott
Children in South Africa 45-7580

Stories of South and Central Africa which give an idea of the varied backgrounds of boys and girls who live there.

Book Week p19 N 11 '45 180w
Kirkus 13:315 Jl 15 '45 80w

"Stories vary in interest and appeal and may need introducing." J. E. Lynch
Library J 70:981 O 15 '45 70w

"These stories, well told, with a sense of drama and an understanding of what children like will encourage in readers from 9 to 12 a feeling of friendly interest in the boys and girls of faraway lands." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p26 S 23 '45 130w

"Too short to be very convincing, but pleasant and informing."
Sat R of Lit 28:71 N 10 '45 40w

STOCKTON, J. ROY. Gashouse gang and a couple of other guys; with a foreword by Lloyd Lewis. 283p il $2.75 Barnes, A.S.
796.357 St Louis. Baseball club (National league). Baseball 45-35075

The story of the St Louis Cardinals and the men who have won its fame, with the accent on "Dizzy" Dean and his brother Paul. Two chapters are devoted to some outsiders: Bob Feller, and "Them Phillies."

"I know of no one better qualified to write of the Gashouse Gang than Stockton, and in what seems to be a mild epidemic of books about sports and sports characters, this happens to be one that you wouldn't deliberately want to leave on an 'L' seat on your way to work some morning. My only regret is that Roy paused when his pages hit 283. His story hits well over 400 and it's a pity his publisher couldn't let him have the other 117 pages." Warren Brown
+ Book Week p8 Ap 22 '45 300w
Booklist 41:266 My 15 '45
Kirkus 13:177 Ap 15 '45 80w

"Stockton writes well. It is easy to see that our national pastime is the very essence of his existence. He is at his best when laying bare the simple soul of Dizzy Dean, revealing the human-interest story behind Bob Feller's big league career, or, with an accurate ear for linguistic idiosyncrasies, recording Señor Miguel Gonzalez' brave efforts to master English labials with a tongue that was trained to handle them in the Castilian manner." Dan Parker
+ N Y Times p16 My 13 '45 700w

Reviewed by Emanuel Slotnick
Springf'd Republican p4d My 27 '45 440w

"Mr. Stockton loves baseball and baseball players, but he is hardly worshipful. His chapter on the tightwads, in which he gives almost incredible examples of the notorious stinginess of many ball players, should be required reading for fans who are far gone in hero worship. Fine stuff in this book, served up by a man who knows what he is talking about." Stanley Walker
+ Weekly Book Review p13 Je 3 '45 550w
Wis Lib Bul 41:82 Jl '45

STODDART, DAYTON. Prelude to night. 436p $3 Coward-McCann
45-6197

Full length portrait of a thoro heel. Horace Vendig who rose from the lower middle-classes to great wealth, who made his way by every kind of trickery, is the central figure. The scene is first Dorchester, Massachusetts; later New York city; the time, the past forty years.

"On the surface its scheme is as ambitious as Balzac, as Dreiser; in final effect it is neither, else this morning's news about 'Prelude to Night' would be stirring indeed. It is a serious try that does not come off, and not just because Mr. Stoddart obviously is neither a Balzac nor a Dreiser. The reason is, one suspects, that whereas his panoramic scheme calls for a thoroughgoing naturalist or a great romantic to give it the weight and sweep of the big social novel, Mr. Stoddart is neither a naturalist nor a romantic. He is an observant man who has got around in his time and has seen things, but who as a novelist is more given to colorful statement than to reflection." J. K. Hutchens
— N Y Times p6 Jl 1 '45 550w

"One of those large panoramas of American life for which you are bound to feel respect, even though, in this instance, Mr. Stoddart may not command your admiration as a stylist. . . Mr. Stoddart has the good reporter's unexaggerating eye, a sly enjoyment of the frailties of the human race, and a sense of the sterility of the kind of success he is recording."
+ — New Yorker 21:58 Je 30 '45 180w

"The book is a tumultuous outpouring, a waterfall of character, comment, situation, interpretation, fact, and fancy. Life in America from the turn of the century is given a thorough spading. What turns up is mostly worms and dirt. There are no hidden treasures, and when the field has been carefully examined, Mr. Stoddart sows it with salt. He means what he says in his title. Get ready for the end. You will have your choice of drowning in water or whiskey, but drown you must." Thomas Sugrue
Sat R of Lit 28:33 Ag 4 '45 1050w

Reviewed by Edrie Van Dore
Springf'd Republican p4d S 30 '45 360w

"There are pages in 'Prelude to Night' that might have been transcribed from ticker tape. In fact, as it goes on the novel loses much of the sense of actuality which distinguished the boyhood chapters and plunges headlong toward a climax which leaves the emotions untouched. At the end the underlying irony of the theme is blunted by melodrama." Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 8 '45 400w

STOMMEL, HENRY MELSON. Science of the seven seas. 208p il $2.50 Cornell maritime 551.46 Ocean. Meteorology. Marine fauna
45-11280

The purpose of this book is "to describe, list, and explain some of the natural phenomena which may be observed at sea." The subjects cover waves, the bottom of the ocean, the nature of sea water and tides, ice current, shores, islands, and sea and shore creatures. Index.

"Packed with facts of natural phenomena, entertainingly written." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 70:1137 D 1 '45 60w
Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 O '45 180w

"This book is a tiny volume of about 200 pages, about 75 of them illustrations and maps. One's amazement increases that so much scientific information about so many subjects could be crowded into so few pages, and still be delightfully readable for the layman." H. W. Marr
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 6 '46 420w

"An enjoyable glimpse of some of these many facets of oceanography is given in Mr. Stommel's little book, one small enough to slip in a bag or coat pocket and take along on an ocean voyage or a visit to the seashore. But even if you lack the advantage of being near the sea you may feel attracted to it. If so, you will still obtain much pleasure as well as information."
+ Weekly Book Review p9 D 23 '45 230w

STONE, CAROLINE R. Clorinda of Cherry lane farm; il. by Rafaello Busoni. 214p $2 Liveright
45-10124

"Clorinda Cobb, 14, is the elder daughter of a migratory family. All are hard-working, but as the family goes from Texas to the sugar beet fields of Michigan, it is up to Clorinda to see that she and her 12-year-old sister, Percepita Jane, go to school. Clorinda succeeds in this as well as in getting voice training for Percepita, and through her the family at last finds permanence on the White Pigeon Cooperative Farms and finally on Clorinda's own farm." Springf'd Republican

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 21:453 N '45 100w

"Book rather poorly written with misspelled words and grammatical errors, but it pictures a way of life quite unknown to most city dwellers. Good Busoni illustrations, but explanatory lines poorly expressed." M. F. Cox
Library J 70:1028 N 1 '45 90w

"The story is plausible as well as highly entertaining." M. L. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 7 '45 120w

"Clorinda is so real in her ways, speech and character—a spunky one—that her story holds attention more closely than others with more probable plots. For though difficulties beset Clorinda and her family, things come right for them so regularly and so steadily that with a less convincing heroine we might not believe it."
+ — Weekly Book Review p20 N 11 '45 360w

STONE, FRED ANDREW. Rolling Stone. 246p $3 McGraw
B or 92 Actors and actresses—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 45-2728

Autobiography of Fred Stone, the famous American comedian and dancer. He describes in detail his early efforts to learn tightrope walking, his experiences with local circuses, and the rise to fame as a member of the team of Montgomery and Stone. The record is brought up to date, and ends with the present war.

Reviewed by H. T. Murdock
Book Week p9 Ap 1 '45 330w
Booklist 41:236 Ap 15 '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '45

"Autobiography of one of the country's top-notch entertainers of his day, and in contrast to most theatrical memoirs, it is of broader scope because of the man's breadth of interests outside theatre. . . All of this in unassuming, direct telling, with definite appreciation of the joy of life. Very good reading."
+ Kirkus 13:16 Ja 1 '45 360w

"His gaiety and good humor as well as his wonderful ability to see a job through make this informal account of his life just a little inspiring. Circus fans will delight in the story of his early days of trouping through Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado. This is good escapist fare for the general collection. Recommended." George Freedley
+ Library J 70:219 Mr 1 '45 80w

Reviewed by James Fuller
N Y Times p8 Mr 25 '45 420w

"Fred Stone says life has been good to him. Certainly he has been all for the good in the theater. While his own great contributions to show business might have been presented in more elaborate detail by another, his story is nonetheless a highly entertaining account of a lush period of the stage which old timers like to remember 'as the era of wonderful nonsense.'" H. O. Austin
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 8 '45 1050w
Theatre Arts 29:378 Je '45 650w

Reviewed by F. P. Adams
Weekly Book Review p4 Mr 11 '45 1150w

STONE, MRS GOLDIE (TUVIN). My caravan of years; an autobiography. 252p $2.75 Bloch
B or 92 45-4644

"In 1889 the author came to America from her home in Lithuania—an orthodox Jewish home of culture and comparative wealth. Married, soon after her arrival, to a Chicago businessman, that city has been her home for more than 50 years, and the scene of her work in public welfare and education. She was active in the establishment of a Jewish institute, an orphanage, and a home for the aged, and helped Julius Rosenwald in his philanthropies." Booklist

"The value of the book is not in its literary merit, but in its testament of faith in America by one whose race has been so cruelly reviled, even in this free country." Annabelle Scoon
+ Book Week p2 Jl 1 '45 450w

"This is a modestly told story of good works; the early life in Lithuania has more detail and character than the rather colorless account of the Chicago years."
+ — Booklist 41:321 Jl 1 '45

STONE, SIMON, pseud. See Barrington, H.

STONE, WILLIAM STANDISH. Ship of flame; a saga of the South seas; il. by Nicolas Mordvinoff. 164p $7.50 Knopf

398.2 Legends, Polynesian 45-9583

A new telling of the ancient Polynesian legend of Rata, the Tahitian prince, who voyages in the ship of flame to avenge his father's death. His antagonist is Panua, who is the embodiment of evil.

Kirkus 13:308 Jl 15 '45 90w

"Skilled handling of the saga and illustrations from paintings by Nicolas Mordvinoff add to the effectiveness of the book. The result is a sumptuously designed, beautifully printed quarto for a limited audience. Libraries with collections of folklore, Pacific island literature and fine bookmaking will be interested." Scott Adams

+ Library J 70:1088 N 15 '45 100w

"Mr. Stone has done a careful, serious, detailed job in recording the legend. . . Nicolas Mordvinoff's drawings are strong and interesting. The book was designed by James Hendrickson, and is as handsome a volume as you are likely to find upon the counters this season." Roark Bradford

+ N Y Times p10 D 23 '45 1000w

"In adapting Rata's adventures for readers of English, Stone has made a good many changes from the versions recorded by folklorists. But he always remains true to Polynesia. . . Mordvinoff's pictures are equally true to life. They recall his celebrated predecessor Gauguin only a little, and by no means lack a style of their own. They exaggerate some characteristics, but that is an artist's privilege, perhaps his duty." E. G. Burrows

+ — Sat R of Lit 29:13 Ja 19 '46 950w

"Accompanying the text are a score or more of superb illustrations painted by the brilliant Russian, Nicolas Mordvinoff, who has spent years putting the Pacific scene on canvas. Pictures and text complement each other, with the artist hinting at an unknown antiquity and faintly reminiscent of ancient Egypt and Phoenicia. The combination results in a genuine and real work of art, enchanting from start to finish. A reading will inspire many to further study of a people who inhabited and dominated the Pacific for centuries and who are even today lovable, daring and masters of the sea." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p2 N 25 '45 550w

STONG, PHILIP DUFFIELD. Censored, the goat; with pictures by Kurt Wiese. 78p $2.50 Dodd

45-10470

"Told mostly in letters, this is the story of a black goat that was leased to the Navy for a mascot. Les and Jerry, his owners, called him 'pet,' but what they really meant was 'pest,' as the Navy found out. He soon weighed eighty or ninety pounds, all dynamite. Because he seemed to need more room, he was promoted from PT boat to destroyer, to cruiser to battleship—and ended up with the Marines." N Y Times

---

"Phil Stong and Kurt Wiese have turned out one of the funniest books of the year in 'Censored, the Goat.' "

+ Book Week p20 N 11 '45 130w

Booklist 42:169 Ja 15 '46

"It is slapstick and brash, but it is funny, and there aren't enough funny books."

Kirkus 13:525 D 1 '45 90w

"Especially recommended for ages seven to eleven, but good for the whole family." S. J. Robinson

+ Library J 71:58 Ja 1 '46 100w

"This is the funniest book I have read this year. . . A book for all ages, a family book." Phyllis Fenner

+ N Y Times p8 N 11 '45 90w

Sat R of Lit 29:45 Ja 19 '46 300w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p5 D 9 '45 300w

STONG, PHILIP DUFFIELD. Marta of Muscovy; the fabulous life of Russia's first empress. 274p $2.50 Doubleday

B or 92 Catherine I, empress of Russia 45-6357

The life story of the Latvian peasant girl who rose by degrees from her lowly birth, until she married Peter I, emperor of Russia. Altho Catherine I could not read or write, she could speak six languages, and she tamed Peter, and even ruled Russia for two years after his death. Index.

"The story of Marta's life is as fabulous and fantastic as any beautifully gruesome fairy tale from the fanciful pen of the Grimm brothers. Phil Stong, the prolific author, tells it with gusto, considerable candor and enjoyable, quizzical humor." H. L. Reich

Book Week p4 Jl 22 '45 400w

Booklist 42:36 O 1 '45

"I think this is terrible! It may be 'The Fabulous Life of Russia's First Empress' but her story remains to be told by someone whose flair for this sort of fictionized biography is greater than Phil Stong's straight corn."

— Kirkus 13:213 My 15 '45 230w

"Very little detail, and much of that at odds, has been recorded of Marta the woman as distinguished from Marta the consort of a famous husband. Consequently the author, in order to fill a seemly number of pages, is simply forced to dwell more on Peter, and even on Peter's foil, Charles XII of Sweden, than on his proper subject. And beyond this, having fixed Marta as a sort of Mother Earth, Mr. Stong simply kicks divergent portrayals, which chance to be fairly numerous, down the stairs. . . Whether or not biography can be written in a spirit of ultimatum is a tender question. Anyway, it's all good fun." E. B. Garside

+ — N Y Times p6 Jl 29 '45 550w

"The story of her rise from mop to sceptre is a good one and Mr. Stong, who has strayed rather far from the scenes and simplicities of his native Iowa, tells it for all it is worth. There are times when his prose has a slightly amazed look, as if he were watching the ascent of his heroine through the eyes of one of the rustics in 'State Fair,' but anybody hunting for a good warm-weather book can stop hunting here."

+ — New Yorker 21:69 Jl 28 '45 140w

Reviewed by H. C. Wolfe

Sat R of Lit 28:13 Jl 28 '45 800w

Time 46:88 Jl 9 '45 1250w

"This book takes the cake, and a papier mache stage cake at that, for the way in which it is put together. For sheer mixture of 'literary' styles, the press agent's, the library note taker's, the hurried journalist's, no one will come within a mile of it for a long time to come. And the worst of it is, the style is contagious." Ernestine Evans

Weekly Book Review p8 Ag 5 '45 950w

STORRS, CHRISTOPHER EVELYN. Many creeds, one cross. 154p $1.75 Macmillan [3s 6d Robertson & Mullens]

290 Religions. Christianity and other religions 45-1884

"The 'many creeds' are those of the world's great religions. The author is concerned with the problem which is crucial for the future of missions—the attitude that Christians should take toward the non-Christian religions. . . Dr. Storrs (archdeacon of Northam, West Australia) occupies a mediating position, 'with those who hold that, besides the supreme revelation of God which begins in the Old Testament and culminates in Christ, there has also been a revelation through nature, history, reason, and conscience, given to men as they were able to bear it, a revelation frequently misunderstood by human folly and perverted by human sin but nonetheless real and continuous.' From this point of view he discusses Hinduism, Buddhism, Islam, Confucianism and Shinto." Christian Century

---

Booklist 41:191 Mr 1 '45

Christian Century 62:305 Mr 7 '45 140w

"To all who are concerned about the missionary motive in the post-war world, this book by Archdeacon Storrs of Australia can be highly commended." F. J. Moore

+ Churchman 159:18 Je 1 '45 210w

"This book is in its general character a simple study in comparative religion, from which the reader will obtain much clear information well expressed, as to the central tenets of the great world-religions. . . There is much pertinent commonsense in his criticisms of modern humanism and of attempts to preserve the atmosphere of religion without any theistic background." J. K. Mozley

+ Spec 174:556 Je 15 '45 650w

Times [London] Lit Sup p298 Je 23 '45 430w

STOVER, ELIZABETH MATCHETT, ed. Son-of-a-gun stew; a sampling of the Southwest; foreword by John William Rogers; il. by Harold D. Bugbee. 216p il $2.50 Univ. press in Dallas

810.8 American literature—Collections 45-10582

"A selection of original stories, poems, articles, and one play, Judge Lynch, by John William Rogers, from the Southwest Review. With few exceptions the authors are southern or western. Among those represented are J. Frank Dobie, Paul Horgan, Witter Bynner, Stanley Vestal, Roark Bradford, Jesse Stuart, and John Gould Fletcher." Booklist

---

"This is a rich and lively, an immensely readable anthology, an impressive demonstration of the varied excellence of the magazine from which these 'samples' are taken." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Ja 13 '46 900w

Booklist 42:161 Ja 15 '46

STRACHEY, EVELYN JOHN ST LOE. Socialism looks forward. 153p $2 Philosophical lib.

335 Socialism

Questions and answers on the subject of socialism in Great Britain propounded and answered for the uninitiated by an English socialist.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 N 18 '45 700w

"How mild and moderate many of these pages seem! If one read only the latter half, omitting the Marxian diagnosis which precedes it, one might be tempted to put Mr. Strachey a bit to the right of Father George Dunne. One remembers, incredulously, an effort made by certain patriots to have Strachey barred from entering this country to lecture. It's a little like reading, today, the 1932 platform of the Socialist Party of the United States." George Doherty

Commonweal 43:241 D 14 '45 900w

"A famous English economist oversimplifies the place of socialism in England today. I think he could have been more concrete in his illustrations, and more profound in his main thesis—and he would have had a better book. . . There's meat here, but he doesn't go far enough, nor deep enough; he is satisfied that glib generalities will serve his purpose; he leaves many questions unanswered. And at no point can the reader determine when this book was written—or whether he is presenting the viewpoint of England's new government or some other phase of Socialism."

Kirkus 13:489 N 1 '45 340w

"A tract for the unsophisticated, written in words of one syllable and rather over-simple in its treatment of some of the problems which are going to prove troublesome for Britain under any economic system."

Nation 161:602 D 1 '45 70w

"Mr. Strachey adds little to his stature as an exponent of socialism in this pamphlet-blown-up-into-a-book. It is a simply written case for a socialist society addressed primarily to the uninitiated. Mr. Strachey ably employs his well known talent for popularization and clearly explains the labor theory of value, exploitation, monopolistic control and imperialism. His arguments, however, make better sense when they treat the questions of interdependent production, absentee ownership of industry and the relation between savings and investment."

New Repub 113:686 N 19 '45 180w

STRACHEY, JOHN. See Strachey, E. J. S.

STRATTON, STEPHEN, il. ABC play book. See Cunningham, V.

STRAUSZ-HUPE, ROBERT. Balance of tomorrow; power and foreign policy in the United States. 302p $3.50 Putnam

355 Armaments. World politics. U.S.—Foreign policy 45-7856

"This is a book of geopolitics. . . There are five parts to the book. . . First, an introduction, surveying in general the elements of power politics in the world of today. Second, a discussion of population trends as they affect national power. Then, a consideration of raw materials from the point of view of the effectiveness with which the nations of the world can wage war, with special emphasis upon the geography of coal, iron, and oil and the 'heartlands of heavy industry.' Next, an analysis of the ways whereby 'organization, political, economic, and military, transforms these elements of power into world-political realities.' And, finally, an appraisal of the present situation in world politics, stressing the fact that American power is now in transition and recommending alliances in which the United States would 'join with those countries whose interests are parallel to or identical with its own.'" (Scientific Bk Club R) Index.

"As a guidebook and manual for those interested in warmaking and neoimperialism, 'The Balance of Tomorrow' is highly recommended. For 'idle dreamers' who want to keep their blood pressure normal, it is not." David Karno

Book Week p14 S 23 '45 550w

Booklist 42:70 N 1 '45

"He writes with admirable clarity and forthrightness, and rarely drops into the demographic cant and geopolitical mumbling that can make this subject so painful. As though to underline one of his main theses—that the niftiest formula for evaluating history is subject to change without notice—an insert page has been added in which the author acknowledges that the advent of atomic fission has already upset many preconceptions and may be expected to upset many more."

+ New Yorker 21:87 S 8 '45 160w

"This is the best attempt I have yet seen to calculate power on the adding machine and to forecast history by mathematical computation. . . Manpower is evidently desirable per se, but the author does not lay enough stress on the inequalities of skills and aptitudes among peoples, and has nothing to say about the effect of climate. . . Advocates of free enterprise will gladly endorse the author's thesis that technological progress is a function of a free economy. Better still, he proves it by a wealth of example." Murray Harris

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:30 S 29 '45 950w

Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 S '45 240w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:46 D '45 240w

"There is much to admire, much to reject, in the concluding chapters. I am especially restless about a fundamental point. Without explicit statement to that effect, Strausz-Hupé seems to think that we will have war with Russia. I can't make sense out of much of his advice, on any other assumption. That does not seem to me the best advice for statesmen; nor is it adequately supported by the massive factual record he has assembled. . .

STRAUSZ-HUPE, ROBERT—Continued
We need to know the facts on power that Strausz-Hupé sets down in this book richly and well. But we need to evolve a larger purpose to which to put that knowledge than the one he has selected as his guide." J. R. Walsh
Weekly Book Review p5 S 30 '45 1150w

STREATFEILD, NOEL. Theater shoes, or other people's shoes; il. by Richard Floethe [Eng title: Curtain up]. 282p $2 Random house [7s 6d Dent]
45-9989

"The Forbes children, Sorrel, Mark and Holly, were catapulted into a strange new life when they discovered that their mother's family was a famous one on the London stage. Rather reluctant heirs to a great tradition at first, they work out their various destinies in Madame Fidolia's Academy of Dancing and Stage Training, the same school where the Fossil sisters of 'Ballet Shoes' studied." N Y Times

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p12 Ja 13 '46 230w
Booklist 42:133 D 15 '45

"It's a heart-warming story."
+ Kirkus 13:316 Jl 15 '45 210w

"Another spirited and charming story that compares well in style, illustrations and format with the popular Ballet Shoes. . . Vivid and interesting details of stage training and life and the natural attitudes and conversation of the children create an atmosphere which should appeal widely to young people twelve and older." Dorotha Dawson
+ Library J 71:59 Ja 1 '46 100w

"The various aspects of dramatic school, the heady excitement of first nights, auditions and pantomimes and a supporting cast of colorful relatives add up to another understanding story which traces the development of young talent." E. L. B.
+ N Y Times p26 N 11 '45 130w
New Yorker 21:136 D 8 '45 100w
Sat R of Lit 29:46 Ja 19 '46 400w
Times [London] Lit Sup p622 D 23 '44 30w

"We have novels for grown-ups about distinguished theatrical families and the working out of hereditary instinct in ways various and unexpected. Now for the first time we have a book for and about children, interesting them from the first and entertaining them till the last, which presents such a family three generations at once on the stage, and holds the attention of any older reader interested in theatrical psychology."
+ Weekly Book Review p28 N 11 '45 500w

STRECKER, EDWARD ADAM, and APPEL, KENNETH ELLMAKER. Psychiatry in modern warfare. 88p $1.50 Macmillan

616.8 World war, 1939-1945—Psychological aspects. Psychology, Pathological. Veterans
SG45-20

"The first and larger part of the book discusses the differences in psychiatric problems and methods between the two wars. The immediate and significant contrast is the 'qualitative increase in stimulation' to which the soldier in World war 2 was subjected. The tremendous speed and destructive power of modern warfare, the authors explain, result in individual fear reactions far beyond those experienced by soldiers in World war 1. . . The second part of the book treats of the demobilization of the soldier and his return to civilian life." (Springf'd Republican) Bibliography.

Reviewed by F. N. Trager
Nation 161:600 D 1 '45 300w
Reviewed by Harry Daum
Springf'd Republican p4d S 9 '45 600w

STREET, CECIL JOHN CHARLES (JOHN RHODE, pseud). Shadow of a crime. 218p $2 Dodd 45-6686

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p11 Jl 29 '45 180w
Booklist 42:77 N 1 '45
Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p16 Ag 5 '45 110w

"A reasonably interesting problem finally gets into the hands of Inspector Jimmy Waghorn of the Yard, who takes it, as usual, to Dr. Priestley in his study. Their solution is foolproof, if unexciting, a combination which always proves irresistible to Rhode fans."
+ — New Yorker 21:60 Jl 21 '45 80w

"Expertly worked out bit of deduction . . . good hunting for puzzle solvers but otherwise pretty slow."
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:30 Jl 21 '45 40w

"This straightaway detective yarn with familiar thinkers gathers speed after an opening in which lots of attention is paid to tire tracks and other so-so data of the puzzling variety. Worth while, though, as are all Dr. Priestley tales." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p11 Jl 22 '45 230w

STREET, CECIL JOHN CHARLES (JOHN RHODE, pseud). Too many suspects [Eng title: Vegetable duck.] 243p $2 Dodd [8s 6d Collins]
45-3113

Detective story.

"A neat and ingenious job of pure detection." E. H.
+ New Repub 112:398 Ja 19 '45 60w

"All in all, this is the best Dr. Priestley story in several years." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p14 Mr 25 '45 100w

"Nice and conservative."
+ New Yorker 21:84 Mr 31 '45 90w

"It is a good story, even though Mr. Rhode ought to admit that the conscientiously plodding manner can be overdone."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p539 N 4 '44 120w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 Mr 18 '45 180w

STREET, JAMES HOWELL. The gauntlet. 311p $2.75 Doubleday
45-9403

The story of a Baptist minister and his place in the community. The scene is a small town in Missouri. London Wingo chose his profession, and then gradually worked his way to the point where he knew that he had chosen the right vocation.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p3 O 21 '45 450w
Booklist 42:95 N 15 '45

"Preacher novels written with inside knowledge of the church and sympathy with its aims, and with some understanding of what goes on in the mind of the fledgling minister, are rare. Those by authors who know how to write a good story are rarer still. This one meets all these requirements." W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 63:80 Ja 16 '46 1250w

Reviewed by M. W. Stoer
Christian Science Monitor p14 N 13 '45 600w
Cleveland Open Shelf p24 N '45
Reviewed by Charles Duffy
Commonweal 43:172 N 30 '45 350w

"Two thirds of this is good reading, the last third somehow falls apart—and makes the book as a whole a disappointment. . . It is a good picture of the petty jealousies and rivalries of small town life; of inflated egos and mediocrity rampant; of small generosities and bigness in unexpected places. At the close, the collapse of happiness and the glimmer of rebirth of faith seem artificial and unconvincing, in contrast to the vitality and authenticity of the balance of the story."

+ — Kirkus 13:347 Ag 15 '45 260w

"Before he backslid into journalism—and from journalism to the novelist's trade—Mr. Street served a stint as Baptist minister in a prairie town much like London Wingo's parish. Writing from the heart of that experience, he has given this new novel a depth that none of his highly successful historical fiction has matched. True, the tricks of the slick-paper trade still have a way of blunting his point with too-easy satire. But London and Kathie are true as steel." C. V. Terry

+ — N Y Times p6 O 21 '45 700w

"The book does Mr. Street credit. It moves briskly and is full of well-imagined detail of Midwestern life in the twenties. It is not the author's fault that the whole subject seems more than a little outdated now, and smacks too often of the 'problem novels' on religious themes which fluttered parochial dovecotes some four decades ago. It should cause discussion and controversy in the realm of Dr. Truitt's followers, but is unlikely to start much of a blaze elsewhere." T. M. Purdy

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:15 O 27 '45 340w

"It is a grand story that James Street has written, as crowded with honesty, meanness, and goodness, as is human life. The religion that he talks, that Wingo preaches, is simple faith, but it is real, and it works; the people about whom he writes are ordinary commonplace churchgoing Christians, full of sin and goodness, stumbling through life, bringing evil with the meanness, yet generously good at heart. Strangely enough, Mr Street is able to show most believably that good can indeed come out of Canaan." L. S. Munn

+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 28 '45 850w

Time 46:102 D 24 '45 1050w

" 'The Gauntlet' is a simple, moving tale, rooted in the soil of the Middle West and told in an unpretentious style that exactly suits the material. Its characters and incidents, while to some extent typical of small town novels, have acquired new freshness through Mr. Street's understanding and vigorous handling. Moreover, though a book about a minister, this is not a story of esoteric religious experience but of everyday living. It will please many readers." Jennings Rice

+ Weekly Book Review p4 O 21 '45 800w

Wis Lib Bul 41:127 D '45

STREET, JAMES HOWELL. Short stories. 314p $2.50 Dial press

45-5601

Contents: The golden key; In full glory reflected; The old Gordon place; Weep no more, my lady; Please come home, my lady; Buck and fo' bits; The crusaders; Pud'n and Tayme; They know how; The road to Gettysburg; All out with Sherman; Set the wild echoes flying; The biscuit eater; The house. Each of the stories has a brief introduction, describing its genesis.

Reviewed by John Norcross

Book Week p4 Je 10 '45 360w

Booklist 41:322 Jl 1 '45

"Directly appealing and surely popular handling."

+ Kirkus 13:229 Je 1 '45 70w

"These fourteen tales of Southerners and the South are an unfailing delight—especially if you are the sort of reader who enjoys the predicaments of boys and of dogs, the wiles of old men with hearts of gold, and the bright contours of the Mississippi River country that this author knows and loves so well." C. V. Terry

+ N Y Times p12 Je 17 '45 500w

"In the fifteen selected works gathered here something beyond craftsmanship is obvious. All of the stories concern boys, and all of them are nostalgic. There are the things which pertain to a boy's life, too—dogs, guns, baseball, and the forests and swamps which are women and the world to a youngster. Inspiration there may not be, but a powerful yearning to reach backward into the golden years before manhood is present on every page. It would not have taken much inspiration—just a little—to make these stories great instead of very good, which they are." Surrey Thomas

+ Sat R of Lit 28:33 Je 23 '45 360w

"Mr. Street's collection of fourteen short stories, all of which have appeared in the national magazines, is of little literary significance and of immense popular appeal. . . He knows his business well, and it belongs to the age-old tradition of the professional tale-spinner. There is, however, nothing self-conscious about the easy way he has of instilling the commonplace with humanity; and there is considerable warmth in his perceptive treatment of childhood. He has managed, without sentimentality, to exploit to the fullest the nostalgia that youth holds for the adult world." Colby Walworth

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 29 '45 450w

STRODE-JACKSON, MYRTLE BEATRICE S. Tansy Taniard. 282p $2.50 Scribner

45-35190

Romantic tale of Elizabethan England in which the queen herself is one of the chief characters. The heroine is red-haired Tansy, who wins Elizabeth's approval by sacrificing her own beautiful hair for a wig for the queen. Thru all the following intrigues and adventures of Tansy and her gallant Rupert, the queen is their help in time of need.

Reviewed by Olive Carruthers

Book Week p11 O 14 '45 70w

Booklist 42:57 O 15 '45

"No disparagement is intended in saying that 'Tansy Taniard' is superlatively a costume novel. Miss Strode-Jackson has written plays and she understands the value of costuming and stage-settings. Her study of the Elizabethan scene has been long and careful, with the result that she has created a highly detailed picture of the way Elizabethans dressed, ate, worked, sang, danced, and otherwise disported themselves." W. K. R.

+ Christian Science Monitoor p14 N 3 '45 650w

"Readable, full-bodied historical novel of the days of Mary Stuart and Elizabeth. A detailed colorful tale."

+ Kirkus 13:228 Je 1 '45 210w

"A competent historical novel in the traditional vein. . . The author's careful research provides abundant detail on the food and dress, manners and morals of the time, with the artfully tapestried background occasionally getting in the way of the story. The book rates points for plot, and particularly for period background, but the characters are as thin as the tapestry from which they might have emerged." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p22 S 23 '45 230w

"As an historical novel 'Tansy Taniard' must be one of the worst to be published for many a year. Miss Strode-Jackson is rash enough to make Tansy write this record; and in the first five pages I encounter words no one used in Elizabethan times, phrases completely uncharacteristic of the time. . . In this way Miss Strode-Jackson destroys, on page after page, any chance of giving her book verisimilitude; and any one who cares to read an improbable romance had better let the history go, though in her accounts of great parties, in the sketches of Walsingham, Leicester, and Elizabeth, the author shows some talent at reconstruction." R. E. Roberts

— + Sat R of Lit 28:30 N 3 '45 800w

"In part, the story is interesting, but for the main it drags. However, credit should be given for the work involved in writing so complicated a novel, even though it can hardly be classed with the best of historical fiction." H. L. Mitchell

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 13 '46 200w

STRODE-JACKSON, M. B. S.—Continued

"Miss Strode-Jackson's novel has Elizabethan flavor and high spirits. It is garlanded with folksongs, both English and French, and rich in historical detail, lightly applied. It gives you the illusion of being Tansy's story as Tansy might have composed it. The author's first appearance on this side of the Atlantic is auspicious." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p20 O 7 '45 130w
Wis Lib Bul 41:127 D '45

STRONG, LEONARD ALFRED GEORGE. Murder plays an ugly scene [Eng title: Othello's occupation] 223p $2 Doubleday [8s 6d Collins] 45-7982

Detective story.

Kirkus 13:282 Jl 1 '45 60w
New Repub 113:358 S 17 '45 90w

"The case is genteelly conducted with only Mackay's flippance to vary the mood. . . But a long series of interviews, overlapping questionings and frequent recapitulations make for monotony." B. S.
+ — N Y Times p20 S 2 '45 110w

"Enjoyable fluff."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:30 S 8 '45 40w

"Since the author is no slave to credibility in character, you may not get far trying to decide which way the wind blows, but the puzzle is there all right. Light-weight, easy to read." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p9 S 2 '45 230w

STROUP, HERBERT HEWITT. Jehovah's witnesses. 180p $2.50 Columbia univ. press [16s 6d Oxford]

289 Jehovah's witnesses A45-2937

"The subject of this detailed study is a movement which is one of the most complete examples in form and spirit of a truly American religious society, popularly known as the Jehovah's Witnesses. Although the organization had its origin over seventy years ago, it has been only recently that its refusal to salute any flag or to enter any army, and its willingness to submit to any persecution have brought it into international surveillance. But aside from its present prominence, the movement clearly indicates certain general characteristics which makes it socially significant in the history of American contributions to religious living. The author, who is in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Brooklyn College, based his work on first-hand observation of both the public and private activities of the Witnesses." (Publisher's note) Bibliography. Index.

"The historical background is somewhat sketchier than it need be. . . His sources are sometimes suspect. . . Mr. Stroup is also very sketchy on legalistic implications of Witness activity. . . Despite these faults, Mr. Stroup has done sociologists and historians a real service in bringing together conveniently such facts as are available about an important, militant religious minority." A. J. Alexander
+ — Am Hist R 51:166 O '45 350w

Reviewed by F. L. Weller
Am J Soc 51:160 S '45 480w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 62:733 Je 20 '45 800w

Manchester Guardian p3 O 17 '45 360w

Reviewed by V. S. Pritchett
New Statesman & Nation 30:248 O 13 '45 1800w

Reviewed by S. K. Ratcliffe
Spec 175:316 O 5 '45 900w

STRUCK, FERDINAND THEODORE. Vocational education for a changing world [J. C. Wright, editor]. 550p $3.50 Wiley

371.425 Vocational education 45-2128

"The late Professor Struck's philosophy of vocational education. Basic fundamentals with policies of labor and management as related to vocational education." Library J

Library J 70:120 F 1 '45 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:14 Ja '45

STUART, WILLIAM L. Dead lie still. 182p $2 Farrar 45-9222

Detective story.

Book Week p35 N 11 '45 230w
Kirkus 13:350 Ag 15 '45 60w
New Repub 113:724 N 26 '45 50w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p12 D 16 '45 130w

"Lively rather than logical."
New Yorker 21:124 N 17 '45 80w

"Good stuff—in the tough bracket."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:40 N 3 '45 40w
Time 46:108 N 19 '45 60w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p29 N 25 '45 90w

STURGIS, ROBERT. Half-past yesterday. 253p $2.50 Mill 45-6051

Joe Brennan's first year in the army provides the background for this novel. Joe and Alice have been married six years when the story begins. The unusual separation, the revival of an old love affair on the part of Alice, and the beginning of a new one for Joe, add complications. By the time Joe is sent overseas Joe and Alice have about ironed out their difficulties.

"Sturgis writes with distinction, with the sure touch of the real storyteller. He neither makes too much of the war nor too little; he balances the home front on the scales, finds that a certain amount of pleasure refuses to be interrupted, but that underneath, sorrow and happiness are vieing for the top. Because of his restraint on the one hand, and his genuine literary skill on the other, Sturgis has written a novel of these war years which should have a high place." J. A. Brandt
+ Book Week p3 Jl 22 '45 700w
Kirkus 13:166 Ap 15 '45 170w

Reviewed by William Kehoe
N Y Times p25 Ag 19 '45 400w

"Mr. Sturgis, feeling his way through a prose that seems often unsure and amateurish, is setting down important things about people he has labored to understand, and does. The war has reconstructed the whole living process of Joe Brennan and brought about a developing relationship between Joe and his wife that rises out of an unpredictable logic of reality. I value the way in which Mr. Sturgis follows this logic where it leads, and his people too, without stacking their circumstances for them. By that very token his conclusions are important, and I would like very much to see his study of the returning soldier." N. L. Rothman
+ Sat R of Lit 28:30 Jl 28 '45 400w

"This is a timely book which might well be classed as compulsory reading for bewildered young war wives, and should also have a strong appeal to men, both in and out of service." R. E. Morgan
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 19 '45 300w

STURZO, LUIGI. Inner laws of society; a new sociology [tr. from the original Italian by Barbara Barclay Carter]. 314p $3.50 Kenedy

301 Sociology 44-51069

"This book is not a political nor an economic treatise; it is not a textbook in sociology. It is rather a guide for the average man who is looking for a sound conception of society, that will help him to bring about a lasting peace after the chaos of two world wars. In a dozen clean cut, suggestive chapters Father Sturzo states the general laws that regulate the family form, the political form, and the religious—pre-Christian and Christian—form of society; he discusses the legitimacy and the tenets of authority versus liberty, organic, finalistic and formal; he treats of morality, law and justice; he denounces the totalitarian state, and shows how Bolshevism, Nazism and Fascism originated." (Cath World) No index.

Reviewed by Paul Honigsheim
Am J Soc 51:160 S '45 850w

Cath World 161:365 Je '45 200w

"If your previous reading of Don Sturzo has been confined to his historical and political writings, you will find yourself wondering whether 'Inner Laws of Society' was really written by the same man. In other words, you are hereby warned that it isn't easy reading. And, to add to your confusion, you will not always know whom to blame—the author, his courageous translator, or yourself. Personally, I am willing to blame my own lack of background for the difficulty I experienced in literally struggling through some of the more obscure sections of another important book by one of the truly great men of our generation." G. G. Higgins
+ Commonweal 42:29 Ap 20 '45 650w

STURZO, LUIGI. Italy and the coming world; introd. by Sumner Welles [tr. by Barbara Barclay Carter] [Eng title: Italy and the new world order]. 303p $3.50 Roy pubs. [7s 6d Macdonald & co]

945 Italy—Politics and government. Reconstruction (1939-)—Italy 45-8823

"Don Sturzo is an Italian Catholic priest, a historian and philosopher of the old school, with a considerable following in his own country, especially among the Christian-Democrat party, of which he was one of the founders. He lives in this country, an exile from his own since 1924." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by G. A. Borgese
Book Week p5 O 28 '45 750w

Booklist 42:74 N 1 '45

"On the whole Don Sturzo's arguments are those of a genuinely enlightened liberal. His realistic approach to the problem of clericalism in Spain and the actual character of the Franco dictatorship is especially gratifying." Homer Metz
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 O 5 '45 550w

Reviewed by D. H. Moseley
Commonweal 43:50 O 26 '45 900w

"A useful book today, which deals in specific problems as well as broad principles, and avoids personalities—which, perhaps, is discreet, but limits the appeal to a somewhat serious market."
Kirkus 13:386 S 1 '45 340w

"Highly recommended for public and college libraries." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 70:820 S 15 '45 110w

Reviewed by Nicola Chiaromonte
Nation 162:20 Ja 5 '46 750w

"Today, when it is more evident than ever before that what people do and think anywhere is important everywhere, this book with its vivid portrayal of an important segment of contemporary Italian opinion is highly significant for all who seek to know the world. No reader will agree with all of the author's views, but every reader will be challenged to formulate opinions of his own whenever he is unwilling to accept the deep convictions of forthright Father Sturzo." Alan Cranston
+ N Y Times p4 O 7 '45 1200w

"The book reads as thought it had been written in a hurry, and it could have been better translated, but those who aren't completely out of breath from trying to keep up with the European situation will probably want to hear what he has to say."
New Yorker 21:114 O 20 '45 140w

"Ethiopians, Greeks, and other victims of Fascism may well feel that Don Sturzo naturally asks for more sympathy, generosity, and forgiveness than his nation deserves. But he is an eloquent, good-hearted, and persuasive suppliant. No one reading his words can fail to gain in understanding of a wracked and wretched nation." Frederick Gruin
+ Sat R of Lit 28:13 N 3 '45 750w

"The judgement of one who has played so significant a part in the political life of his country should not be overlooked. Don Sturzo has much of the greatest interest to say on such relative matters as the first world war, the present war, the allies, democracy, monarchy or republic, church and state, economic and social problems, education and re-education, and the international order. All these problems are dealt with in so actual a manner, the history being vividly recounted by one who either took part in it or observed it with deep emotion in exile, that even those with little previous interest in Italian history or special problems will find it hard to put the book down before they have finished it." Patrick Henson
+ Spec 173:86 Jl 28 '44 700w

Reviewed by R. S. Ullery
Springf'd Republican p4d O 21 '45 700w

"Don Sturzo writes with all his old eloquence. His erudition long since commanded the esteem of intellectuals everywhere, and his unceasing fight against Fascism entitles him to be heard with respect when he speaks, as in his latest book he does, about the future of the country of which he is so distinguished and devoted a son."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p266 Je 3 '44 650w

"Don Sturzo's book comes as a timely reminder that the problem of Italy is still far from solved. His ideas on the subject are interesting and much of what he says is true. But there is a too-familiar ring about his approach to the subject and his manner of presentation is not such as to carry conviction or win new friends among American readers." J. C. Smith
+ — Weekly Book Review p6 S 30 '45 1250w

STURZO, LUIGI. Spiritual problems of our times. 182p $2 Longmans

248 Spiritual life 45-10382

"'Sanctity of life is the most convincing evidence we have concerning the existence of God.' This is the spiritual problem of our times. No other view is capable of lending dignity and worth to man, frail and foolish though he may appear, which does not view him in light of the Eternal whose essential nature is good and benevolent. This apologia by prominent liberal Italian scholar and statesman is ably presented. Import of discussion transcends Catholic-Protestant distinctions." Library J

"It is only fair to warn that this work is not always easy reading. If Don Sturzo's reflections upon 'Reading the New Testament' are both inspiring and readily grasped, it is going to take considerably more cerebration to follow him in the chapters on 'The Problem of Knowledge' and 'The Problem of the Absolute.' The effort, however, will be exceedingly worth while. 'Spiritual Problems of Our Times' may not be the outstanding literary achievement of the author, but it does provide rich insights into the mentality of one of the personalities of the age. Far more important, it provides men of all variety of belief or unbelief with significant clues in the quest of the true and of the good." F. E. McMahon
+ Book Week p5 D 23 '45 410w

Cath World 162:380 Ja '46 150w

"This is a book which will appeal to the Catholic scholar or intelligent layman, although Protestants interested in studying the trends of modern Catholic thought will find it illuminating."
+ Kirkus 13:513 N 15 '45 190w

"Mature book for mature minds, at all times thoughtful and significant. Style is characteristic of Italian prose at its best—clear, flowing, pliable, and mellow. Words fairly melt around ideas. Recommended although book will exceed grasp of average lay reader." R. P. Morris
+ Library J 70:978 O 15 '45 140w

STYRON, ARTHUR. The last of the cocked hats; James Monroe and the Virginia dynasty. 480p il $3.50 Univ. of Okla. press

B or 92 Monroe, James. U.S.—History—1783-1865 45-10307

"A book about, rather than a biography of, President James Monroe, the last of the 'Virginia Dynasty.' Not much has been written about Monroe, and the reason is not obscure; he was not a very interesting personality compared to his contemporaries—Washington, Madison, Partick Henry, and his political mentor, Thomas Jefferson. Mr. Styron has nevertheless achieved an interesting book by keeping the central character always in focus with his setting and never losing sight of the book's main theme: the struggle between the Federalist concept of government by an élite and the Jeffersonian belief in free men in a free society." New Yorker

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 Ja 6 '46 270w

Booklist 42:162 Ja 15 '46

"In this honest and impressionistic story of a man and his times are many suggestions regarding today's problems, running all the way from world peace to race relations. One puts the book aside with a sense of the timelessness of some of man's insistent problems; and with a feeling that help in their solution can come from the study of men's actions in other epochs than our own, in which their meaning is made clearer by time's illuminating perspective." R. F. Nichols
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 D 5 '45 480w

"Recommended for large public, college and historical libraries." L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 70:1088 N 15 '45 140w

"One might perhaps quarrel with the author over his effort to make a virtue out of Monroe's lack of conspicuous talent or intellect. Democracy, says Mr. Styron, must give high places only to men of average attainment; there is danger in vesting men of genius with leadership, because they are too far above the common mold to be truly representative. This notion would seem, without going farther afield than the history of our own country, to be debatable, to say the least."
+ — New Yorker 21:134 D 1 '45 200w

"'The Last of the Cocked Hats' is good reading as American political history from 1758 to 1831 with varied relevancies interjected. It is aimed at James Monroe and includes a complete account of his political activities. It limns him but the result is chiaroscuro—he is only half revealed." W. S. Lynch
+ — Sat R of Lit 29:8 Ja 5 '46 900w

"It seems going a bit far afield to tax Ralph Waldo Emerson with the evils of Nazism, and one senses in the attempt the still burning emotions of the unreconstructed South. But these very emotions, when checked by a keen and discriminating intelligence, enable Mr. Styron to state lucidly the circumstances, within the focus of the life of James Monroe, which led one wing of Jeffersonianism into its entangling and finally fatal alliance with chattel slavery." A. M. Schlesinger
+ — Weekly Book Review p2 Ja 13 '46 1150w

SULLIVAN, WILLIAM LAURENCE. Under orders; autobiography. 200p il $2.50 Smith, Richard R.

B or 92 44-41899

"Dr. Sullivan died in 1935 after six years in the pastorate of the Germantown, Philadelphia, Unitarian Church. . . He was born and educated in the Roman Catholic Church and was a priest and a member of the Paulist order for ten years until, at the age of thirty-seven, he severed his connection with that church. . . The autobiography, brought out now by Max F. Daskam, who was Dr. Sullivan's assistant and is still with the Germantown church, is almost entirely the record of a spiritual pilgrimage. There have been few more enlightening accounts of a conversion from Roman Catholicism." Christian Century

"There is intellectual and moral tonic in these beautifully written pages."
+ Christian Century 62:367 Mr 21 '45 230w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell
Churchman 159:12 Jl '45 2400w

"The graceful cadences and dignified reserve of this volume contrast sharply with the outraged stridency of the Letters. The title is taken from Dr. Sullivan's final creed, a rather abstract ethical theism to which his suffering and fervor lend humanity: 'I am a moral personality under orders.'" J. H. Nichols
+ J Religion 25:225 Jl '45 500w

SUMMERS, ROBERT EDWARD, comp. Dumbarton Oaks. (Reference shelf) 267p $1.25 Wilson, H.W.

341.1 Washington, D.C. Conversations on international organization, 1944. International federation 45-4665

"A 'Reference Shelf' volume containing a comprehensive collection of articles discussing all phases of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals and the problems involved in them." (Christian Century) Bibliography.

Booklist 41:303 Je 15 '45

Christian Century 62:654 My 30 '45 30w

"An excellent piece of work. . . Compactly organized and clearly indexed, 'Dumbarton Oaks' makes a highly useful reference volume." R. S. Ullery
+ Springf'd Republican p4 Ag 6 '45 110w

Wis Lib Bul 41:98 O '45

SUN, K'O. China looks forward; with an introd. by Lin Yutang. 276p $3 Day [12s 6d Allen, G.]

951 China—Politics and government. Reconstruction (1939-)—China. China—Economic policy 44-6385

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 21 '45 150w

"Much if not most of the English text reproduces the Chinese version satisfactorily, and in any case presents us with a useful exposition of the author's ideas on democracy, capitalism, socialism, land-ownership, industrialisation, Korea, the Mikado and other lively topics. For 'useful' exposition one would like to substitute 'lucid.' Yet while some of Dr. Sun's ideas are stated clearly enough, others remain somewhat obscure, perhaps because analysis does not run very comfortably in double harness with loyalty." E. M. Gull
+ — Spec 174:272 Mr 23 '45 340w

"It is not surprising to find a Chinese critical of British policy which led us to such acts as the closing of the Burma Road. In this matter the author, while admitting that the Chinese people felt very bitterly, asks that allowance should be made in view of our own misfortunes. His understanding of our position at the outbreak of war is not so good, and it is unfortunate that a man of his importance should mislead the young intelligentsia of China with nonsense about a British 'imperialist' war. . . No less misconceived is his picture of pre-war Britain."
— Times [London] Lit Sup p98 Mr 3 '45 330w

SUN TZU, 6th cent. B.C. The art of war; the oldest military treatise in the world; tr. from the Chinese by Lionel Giles; introd. and notes by Thomas R. Phillips. 99p $1 Military service

355 Military art and science 44-9884

"Though Sun Tzu lived and wrote his highly compressed thesis on the principles of war some five hundred years B.C., General Phillips declares that the 'ancient master still holds his own' today, and the military student able to adapt his principles to modern warfare will find it a valuable guide. . . Apart from other military authorities, American army officers now also study Sun Tzu. The Japanese army studied him for decades, while most modern Chinese officers perhaps know him by heart... Sun Tzu's compressed principles on strategy, tactics, maneuvering, communication and supplies, the use of terrain, of fire, the seasons of the year; the classification and use of spies; the treatment of soldiers, including captives, all have a modern ring. The ancient master even gave rules for the blitzkrieg, prefacing them with the words 'rapidity is the essence of war.'" New Repub

Reviewed by Agnes Smedley
New Repub 111:844 D 18 '44 550w

"Sun Tzu is of interest to the soldier and to the antiquarian. He is also not without influence in Chinese literature. The reader of this little book will be helped by the introduction and notes prepared by General Phillips to elucidate the oldest military treatise in the world." Donald Armstrong
+ Sat R of Lit 28:23 Mr 3 '45 400w

SUNDBORG, GEORGE. Opportunity in Alaska; with a foreword by Ernest Gruening. 302p il $2.50 Macmillan

917.98 Alaska—Description and travel. Alaska—Industries and resources 45-9456

A presentation of the facts concerning economic and social conditions in Alaska, primarily intended for the man or woman wanting to know what Alaska, as a place to live and earn a living, has to offer. Book is in three parts: What kind of country is Alaska, anyway?; A thousand careers in ten chapters; Here are some other things you'll want to know.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 O 28 '45 550w
Booklist 42:93 N 15 '45

"A book that contrasts facts with myths, that balances the discouraging against the encouraging, that is not without dry humor."
+ Kirkus 13:359 Ag 15 '45 110w

"This book is the Baedeker, Dun and Bradstreet, and 'World Almanac' of Alaska, all rolled into one. It is indispensable to anyone who would understand the problems and possibilities of America's most strategic Territory. Furthermore, examination by an alienist should be prescribed for the person who contemplates settlement in Alaska without reading Mr. Sundborg's book." R. L. Neuberger
+ Sat R of Lit 28:43 N 3 '45 700w

"Unlike many books written on Alaska by journalists on 'quickie' tours, this book will make almost no Alaskan angry. It is a fact book, not an opinion book. It contains very few discussions of the burning issues in the territory or of political blood feuds. It paints no Alaska personalities and records no gossip. It is just what it sets out to be, a book on opportunities. It should make a good handbook to keep on your shelves for ready reference, or in your suitcase if you are planning to go North." Ruth Gruber
+ Weekly Book Review p4 N 4 '45 700w

SURMELIAN, LEON Z. I ask you, ladies and gentlemen; introd. by William Saroyan. 316p $2.75 Dutton

B or 92 45-4128

"The childhood and early sorrow of a young Armenian writer who was uprooted from his native country during the Turkish massacres and wandered through Armenia, Turkey, and Russia before he made his way, adventure by adventure, to the United States." New Yorker

Reviewed by George Wiswell
Book Week p6 Jl 1 '45 500w
Booklist 41:339 Jl 15 '45
Bookmark 6:14 My '45
Cath World 162:285 D '45 150w
Christian Century 62:1417 D 19 '45 70w
Christian Science Monitor p19 O 13 '45 400w

"It is a story told objectively, sensitively, and beautifully. . . It is a story that has been told before. Here it is well told again. It can stand repetition." R. C. Batchelder
+ Churchman 159:15 D 1 '45 120w

Reviewed by P. T. Hartung
Commonweal 43:212 D 7 '45 490w
Kirkus 13:173 Ap 15 '45 170w

"A book which deserves to be, and probably will be, widely read." J. C. Shipman
+ Library J 70:586 Je 15 '45 110w

"All of it is told simply, without bitterness or heroics, mingling lively incidents with earthy wisdom. With the child-like exultation of a St. Exupery, Mr. Surmelian succeeds in disengaging the inner self from the sordidness about him. He tells, in one of the most touching passages in the book, how he overcame his feelings of hatred and vengeance." Nona Balakian
+ N Y Times p6 Jl 1 '45 700w

"Armenian writing, like Armenian cooking, has a flavor some people don't like, but Mr. Surmelian, who has something to say and a pleasant way of saying it, goes easy with his seasoning."
+ New Yorker 21:70 Je 23 '45 80w
Social Studies 36:376 D '45 20w

"Leon Z. Surmelian is both poet and critic, though his style is all the storyteller's. This book is one to be grateful for." Ernestine Evans
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Je 17 '45 1250w
Wis Lib Bul 41:83 Jl '45

SUTHERLAND, LOUIS. Book of the stars; with 25 il. in halftone and drawings by Olga Gnos. 230p $3 Ackerman

523.8 Stars. Astronomy 44-47794

"A retelling of the Greek legends and myths relating to the stars, planets and constellations. Included are instructions and charts to assist in the identification of the stars at various times of the year. The final chapters discuss eclipses, comets, meteors, and the calendar." (N Y New Tech Bks) For junior and senior high schools.

N Y New Tech Bks 30:20 Ap '45

"As brief as it is (most astronomy books are heavy tomes) it includes all that the amateur astronomer or lay reader would want to know. Particularly interesting is the description of the man's conquest of the skies with the huge telescopes of the world and to make the book doubly interesting there are innumerable drawings, photographs and diagrams." M. J. J.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 20 '45 80w

SVENSEN, CARL LARS. Machine drawing; a text and problem book for technical students and draftsmen. 3d ed 280p il $2.50 Van Nostrand

621.81 Machinery—Drawing 45-3682

"This text is intended for use in advanced courses. It includes material on dimensioning, machine sketching and machine details, followed by chapters on the drawing of bearings, shafting and couplings, jigs and fixtures, gears and cams, and piping. An important feature of the book is the more than three hundred problems which occupy one-third of the volume. This edition has been brought up to date and includes new material and additional problems." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:6 Ja '45

SVENSEN, CARL LARS, and STREET, WILLIAM EZRA. Manual of blueprint reading; for study and practice in reading prints of all kinds; with questions and exercises. 98p $1.90 Van Nostrand

744.532 Blueprints 44-8603

"Not limited to any particular industry, this elementary text aims to provide an under-

SVENSEN, C. L.—Continued
standing of the principles of print reading from which the beginner may develop the ability to read prints with various applications. There are vocabulary drills and reading exercises pertaining to sheet metal prints, pulleys and gears, welding symbols, and the fundamentals in aircraft and engineering prints. Unfortunately, many of the reproductions of blueprints are small in size." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:57 O '44

SWANSON, NEIL HARMON. The perilous fight. 555p il maps $3.50 Farrar

973.52 U.S.—History—War of 1812. Smith, Samuel 45-10305

"Author of several novels concerned with little-known periods of American history tells the story of three weeks in 1814 beginning with the American defeat at Bladensburg, Maryland, and the burning of Washington, and ending with the decisive defeat of the British fleet and landing force at Baltimore and the end of the War of 1812. Circumstances leading to the writing of the 'Star Spangled Banner' are emphasized. Although only actual persons are mentioned and there are long quotations from contemporary sources, the effect is that of fiction." Library J

Reviewed by G. F. Willison
Book Week p7 D 30 '45 500w
Booklist 42:162 Ja 15 '46

"Neil Swanson writes history with so creative a pen that he makes it live—he makes it exciting reading. I've always felt that his historical fiction would have longer life if labeled non-fiction, and that is particularly true of this—which has no plot other than the Battle of Baltimore—the defense of Fort McHenry—the birth of The Star Spangled Banner."
+ — Kirkus 13:440 O 1 '45 180w

Reviewed by Margaret Owen
Library J 70:1088 N 15 '45 110w

"His account of the operations around Baltimore is especially convincing; it therefore makes good reading for one willing to follow a close-knit, blow-by-blow narrative. The chief impediment to the pace of the story is an extensive use of the still fashionable stream-of-consciousness chatter, inserted, no doubt, out of a striving for realism and literary effect." W. B. Hamilton
+ — N Y Times p7 D 30 '45 650w

"Mr. Swanson is a competent, painstaking historian, whether in writing straight history or decking it in fictional form as he did in 'The Judas Tree' and 'The Silent Drum,' two excellent novels. He is not just a compiler or collator but a searcher among original records, contemporary newspaper accounts, diaries and letters written by the man in the rear rank, official reports (mostly by generals defending their own incompetence), and political speeches. Furthermore Mr. Swanson brings to his writing a freshness and vitality that make the characters live. Reading 'The Perilous Fight' is almost like talking with the participants." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 30 '45 1050w

SWIETOSLAWSKI, WOJCIECH. Ebulliometric measurements. 228p il $4 Reinhold

541.36 Boiling points. Liquids 45-4631

"This detailed explanation of the technique of determining the boiling and condensation temperatures of liquids and solutions, is based on the author's Ebulliometry, published in Cracow in 1936. The first two chapters describe the types of ebulliometric apparatus and methods of application, and the classification of liquid mixtures. The remainder of the volume discusses other uses to which this type of measurement may be put: determining the degree of purity, impurity content and moisture content of liquids; studying of azeotropic mixtures; determining impurity content, molecular weight and solubility of solid substances. All references are listed at the end of the volume." N Y New Tech Bks

---

"This book is recommended to all those whose work or interest involves a study of the experimental measurements of the temperature of equilibrium in liquid-vapor systems. The author does a great service to those laboratories having limited equipment by showing how this important property can be measured precisely with relatively simple apparatus." F. D. Rossini
+ Chem & Eng N 23:1785 O 10 '45 400w

"This treatise is not only a text book, or a reference work, but also a well-written laboratory manual. All who do work or carry out research in distillation and physical properties of liquids and liquid systems would do well to have a copy of Dr. Swietoslawski's treatise on their bookshelves." F. C. Nachod
+ Chem & Met Eng 52:290 N '45 120w
Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45
Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 80w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:20 Ap '45

"The authority of Professor Swietoslawski in the field of ebulliometry cannot be questioned. This book is no less authoritative. It may be found somewhat more detailed than is necessary for one whose only desire is to have a working familiarity with the subject, but it can scarcely be too detailed for one who wishes to employ the experimental procedures described." W. G. McMillan
+ R of Scientific Instruments 16:291 O '45 600w

SWINNERTON, FRANK ARTHUR. Woman in sunshine. 344p $2.75 Doubleday [9s 6d Hutchinson]

45-2689

Character sketch of an upper middleclass English woman. Letitia is pictured as a good woman, who manages thru the course of the book to maintain her balance and that of her family and friends thru a time of stress, including even a murder.

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock
Book Week p3 Mr 25 '45 550w
Booklist 41:238 Ap 15 '45

"It's nice to find a likeable lady in a season of bad and tiresome literary vixens. Letitia is very likeable and quite entertaining besides. Frank Swinnerton's writing has a very pleasing pastel quality to it which comes as a distinct relief after the 'strong' writing and contrived carelessness of some recent fiction."
+ Boston Globe p21 Mr 21 '45 240w
Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 14 '45 500w
Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '45

"The impression it leaves is one compounded of the dreariness of London, the ennui of bourgeois married life and the depths to which some scoundrels will descend. Not to mention the author's irony and pity. Mr. Swinnerton is indeed a trained hand in the art of depicting ugliness in many forms. He is a true master of the repulsive. Most fascinating of all is the way he spins out the workings of a rascal's mind."
Commonweal 41:567 Mr 23 '45 650w

"Throughout Mr. Swinnerton is very much at home with his scenes, his characters (some of them of a Dickensian eccentricity), and the abundance of his amusing, if slightly artificial, dialogue." J. D. Beresford
Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 28 '44 200w

"For a serious novel, and psychological study—one may rightly complain—'A Woman in Sunshine' is too heavily plotted, too logically contrived. It is Swinnerton's weakness as a 'realist' that he interprets character almost solely in terms of action. Unlike Henry James, to whom he has been compared, he does not see that failure may also lie in the inability of one person to understand another—not because he does not so will it, but because only in the rarest instances does he have Letita's insight into self." Nona Balakian

N Y Times p7 Mr 11 '45 850w

"A long, long while ago—about the time of the Boer War, maybe—this might have been called an interesting novel. It is hard to guess who will be interested today in the wordy story of a middle-class Englishwoman who is good and (says the author) charming and wise."

New Yorker 21:89 Mr 10 '45 120w

" 'A Woman in Sunshine' builds slowly to a highly ingenious end, but it is not a conclusion, since what the author has done is to interpret a segment from life, and the characters of his book continue their mannered existence after the covers of the novel have been closed. They have the same reality as do our neighbors, our social and business associates." L. S. Munn

Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 18 '45 380w

"Facile but unconvincing domestic drama."

Time 45:104 Mr 12 '45 30w

"Mr. Swinnerton's latest novel is carefully composed and painstaking in detail. It is not, perhaps, so fast-moving as its ramified style of plot might seem to promise; despite all the complications, as a matter of fact, the pace is curiously halting."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p341 Jl 15 '44 370w

" 'A Woman in Sunshine' is a narrative of ever-mounting suspense, and you are not kept in the dark as to the blacks and whites of character. It does not have a message, but it delivers all the story impact you can reasonably expect." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Mr 11 '45 500w

SYKES, GODFREY GLENTON. Westerly trend. 325p il $4 Arizona pioneers historical soc, University stadium, Tuscon, Ariz.

B or 92 Frontier and pioneer life—West

45-15255

"As a boy in England Mr. Sykes read Mayne Reid's descriptions of the Western prairie and could not rest until he had viewed the new world's marvels for himself. Arriving in America in 1879, he made his way westward by casual and inquisitive degrees and at last arrived on the frontier. . . Through the wandering years the author rode the cattle trails north as a cowhand and tried his luck at many trades. Learning when to pack and when not to pack a gun, he went off on many a venture for the sake of the venture rather than for the profit of it, and finally arrived in Arizona to establish his home. . . Mr. Sykes—though he can pull a scene into exact focus when he wishes to do so—prefers to tumble out on paper the memories of sixty years and to let them arrange themselves as they will. The result is a series of scattered recollections with here and there some unexpected bits of excellence." N Y Times

---

"It is a cheerful discursive book written by that distinctive type of Englishman who cannot resist the sight-seeing impulse and who moves blithely and unscathed through all manner of situations. Frank Lockwood, one of the most competent authorities on the Southwest, places Mr. Sykes' book beside Bourke's 'On the Border With Crook.' This may be argued. Mr. Sykes is good but not that good; for Bourke trained himself to see detail and to build that detail into a rounded, accurate and colorful picture of a period." Ernest Haycox

+ N Y Times p18 Ap 29 '45 400w

"Charming and consistently interesting autobiography." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ap 17 '45 550w

"There is little gunplay in the story of this rich life, and absolutely no melodrama, but it is packed with accomplishment and shrewd observation and told with restraint and an occasional touch of sly humor." Stanley Walker

+ Weekly Book Review p12 My 6 '45 550w

SYLVESTER, HARRY. Dayspring. 294p $2.75 Appleton-Century

45-2938

"An anthropologist named Spencer Bain arrives in New Mexico on a professional investigation of the Penitentes, the native sect which practices flagellation in addition to the established rites of the Catholic Church. In a spirit of scientific inquiry, he passes himself off as a convert and joins the 'children of light,' participating in their flagellations and their Holy Week processions. With no intellectual participation, he is nevertheless relaxed and steadied by the observances, and finds himself feeling an unscientific pity for the sick and degenerate, and an unscientific tendency to resist such statutory crimes as adultery. In the end, he is a convert, or a potential convert." N Y Times

---

Reviewed by Wendell Johnson

Book Week p4 Ap 8 '45 450w

Booklist 41:238 Ap 15 '45

"The impact of the novel will depend in large part on the personality of the reader. Its subtlety will be absorbing to some, tedious to others. Its frankness will interest the realist, repel the fastidious. Its plot, which will stimulate those searching for faith, may well be incomprehensible to the devout. Even the author's honesty will create a controversy." G. C. Bartter

Boston Globe p17 Ap 11 '45 450w

"The outstanding defect of this book is its author's display of almost adolescent prurience. Even a cultured pagan would shy at so frequent and irrelevant an intrusion of the sex theme. Be it said however—by way of mitigation, not of excuse—that he does not go into nauseating details."

— Cath World 161:91 Ap '45 160w

"Mr. Sylvester has written an orderly and an exciting novel, neatly constructed—the theme announced at the beginning is developed, interrupted, suspended, climaxed—both in form and content this is a tidy piece of work. . . Unfortunately, there are too many things in this novel which might cause unnecessary scandal to child-like hearts, and an expurgated edition would make pleasanter reading."

+ — Commonweal 42:18 Ap 20 '45 1200w

Kirkus 13:20 Ja 15 '45 170w

"This potentially excellent Freudian-religious story crumbles to bits as plot unfolds: author, to make spiritual metamorphosis seem plausible, introduces string of 'characters' right out of Kraft-Ebing to epitomize worldly evil. These jaded sex aberrations are unconvincing, ridiculous; they spoil many fine qualities in the novel." H. G. Kelley

— Library J 70:266 Mr 15 '45 110w

Reviewed by Marjorie Farber

New Repub 112:451 Ap 2 '45 230w

"Harry Sylvester is not a major novelist, but in 'Dayspring' he has tackled a major theme and handled it at least acceptably. What organized religion offers the intellectual in the way of emotional release is a complex question; Mr. Sylvester sets forth the problem in a tense, well-paced narrative, works up to a melodramatic climax that is only partly artificial, and hastily takes his departure in a mystic smoke-screen. . . Mr. Sylvester has unnecessarily complicated his story with a parallel story of hign-jinks among the New Mexico tourist colony, culminating with a bar-room murder. It's good, gusty Hemingway, but superfluous. Maybe he could chop it out and sell it to the movies." Russell Maloney

+ — N Y Times p4 Ap 1 '45 360w

"An adult, well-written novel. . . Toward the end there is a sharp drop in credibility, and the scientist's last-page change of heart is not only abrupt but has the appearance of an evasion on the part of the author. In spite of this, the book should interest any intelligent reader."

SYLVESTER, HARRY—Continued
+ — New Yorker 21:89 Ap 7 '45 120w
Time 45:104 Ap 9 '45 30w

"With this book Harry Sylvester joins the growing group of worthy craftsmen which has taken the high and hardy story of man's spiritual destiny from the hands of amateurs and restored it to its proper place as the main business of the tale-tellers of the world." Thomas Sugrue
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 8 '45 1050w

SZE, MAI-MAI. Echo of a cry; a story which began in China; il. by the author. 203p $2.50 Harcourt
B or 92 45-35225

A lively kaleidoscope of memories written by the daughter of a Chinese diplomat to London and Washington. She pictures her life in England, and China, in a Washington boarding school, and as an artist in a French fishing village.

Booklist 42:97 N 15 '45
Reviewed by A. C. Moore
Horn Bk 21:447 N '45 80w

"The contrasts between east and west are drawn with humor and keen observation and a frankness that will attract many readers, older girls in particular. The illustrations are enlivening and appropriate." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 21:466 N '45 80w
Kirkus 13:402 S 1 '45 90w

"They are told with humor and keen observation and are fittingly illustrated by herself. Should be especially enjoyed by senior high school girls and adults." Miriam Snow
+ Library J 70:1094 N 15 '45 60w

"Darting back and forth from China to the Occident her shuttle of memory, pointed with humor and perception, weaves a lively hued tapestry. From it emerges a self-portrait of a person who, in her wisdom, has learned to think of the similarities of different civilizations rather than of their differences. This attitude—suggested, never underscored—will find a sympathetic response in young girls keenly aware, today, of the necessity for understanding and mutual appreciation among the world's peoples." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p22 O 14 '45 180w

"The author, one of those rare people who had a happy childhood (rare in print, at least), has written a very happy book about it. . . The author, who is also a painter, has done her own illustrations. They're cheerful, too."
+ New Yorker 21:114 O 20 '45 90w

"In this delightful autobiography the author touches the highlights of her early childhood days in China, boarding school in England and America, and holidays in Scotland, with a few memories of France thrown in. . . Writing with restraint, she recaptures childhood with amazing accuracy and presents a person who is not only at home anywhere in the world but one who has a genuine appreciation for all members of the human family." R. A. H.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:76 N 10 '45 700w
Reviewed by Frederick Reinstein
Springf'd Republican p4d N 11 '45 300w

"Her experience has been so unusual as to graze the edge of the unique; she speaks from the inside, reporting with friendliness—and detachment. She is, like every thinking person today, a pilgrim and in a sense a stranger. It gives her story, otherwise episodic, what might be called unity of atmosphere—which makes it a work of art. Also it is uncommonly brisk entertainment."
+ Weekly Book Review p8 N 11 '45 450w

SZENDE, STEFAN. The promise Hitler kept. See Folkmann, A.

SZOSZKIES, HENRYK J. No traveler returns; ed. with a prologue and an epilogue by Curt Riess. 267p $2.50 Doubleday
940.53438 World war, 1939—Atrocities. Jews in Warsaw. Poland—History—German occupation, 1939- 45-2282

The pitiful story of the extermination of the Jews in Warsaw, much of it based on eyewitness reports from Jewish inhabitants who managed to escape or send word by others, or from the Polish underground.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Mr 11 '45 650w
Booklist 41:268 My 15 '45
Bookmark 6:12 My '45
Christian Science Monitor p16 My 5 '45 650w
Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '45
Foreign Affairs 23:698 Jl '45 20w

"Not pleasant bedtime reading, but a record which should be read."
Kirkus 13:13 Ja 1 '45 130w
Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 160:366 Mr 31 '45 300w
New Repub 112:654 My 7 '45 180w
Reviewed by C. B. Palmer
N Y Times p6 Mr 25 '45 550w
Reviewed by F. C. Weiskopf
Sat R of Lit 28:34 Mr 3 '45 270w
Reviewed by R. S. Scott
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 29 '45 370w

"This book is full of horror and haunting nightmare. But the truth that speaks through it cannot be denied. All social, political, religious and racial prejudices vanished in the struggle against Hitlerism. Everybody fought the Germans because everybody wanted to be free. . . This book should be read by men who are thousands of miles away from Europe. It will help them to understand what transpired there. It will give them strength not to forget." Jan Karski
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 4 '45 950w

T

TABER, GLADYS (BAGG) (MRS F. A. TABER). Especially spaniels; with photographs by Jill (Eleanor S. Mayer). 180p $2 Macrae Smith co.
636.75 Spaniels Agr45-355

Information on the selecting and training of spaniels by one who has had years of practical experience. Contains advice also about other dogs than spaniels. The book is written in informal style and illustrated with photographs. Index.

Booklist 42:91 N 15 '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45

"An affectionate, feminine, pleasant point of view makes this nice supplementary reading for dog owners and breeders who are not in the professional class."
+ Kirkus 13:265 Je 15 '45 90w

"If the title seems to indicate a one-breed book, that is not the idea; Gladys Taber raises cockers, understands, appreciates and loves them, but there seems to be room in her heart for anything like a dog and nine-tenths of her information and advice will do as well for any breed. Indeed, the distinction of her book is that though it may be a help for many a dog and even put some sense into the heads of people who should never have been permitted to own one, it can be happily read by the dogless."
+ Weekly Book Review p18 S 16 '45 400w
Wis Lib Bul 41:110 N '45

TABER, GLADYS (BAAG) (MRS F. A. TABER). Give me the stars. 240p $2 Macrae Smith co.

45-6677

Leslie, spending her summer vacation at work in a Connecticut war plant, learns to revalue life and love. Before the summer is over she has broken her engagement to Rod, whom she had known all her life, to marry a much finer man.

Booklist 42:166 Ja 15 '46

"An amplified, well-turned woman's story."
+ Kirkus 13:205 My 15 '45 170w

"A solid and entertaining novel, nebulous only in title." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p23 Jl 29 '45 70w

TABER, GLADYS (BAGG) (MRS F. A. TABER). Heart has April too. 246p $2 Macrae Smith co.

44-9626

Story of the college years of a well-to-do Wisconsin girl who came back home after graduation intending to make a conventional marriage. There she found the man she had always loved, a poor but fine man, and Julie changed her plans.

"All very pleasant and ending happily."
Kirkus 12:350 Ag 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p12 D 17 '44 90w

Wis Lib Bul 41:21 Ja '45

TABORI, GEORGE. Beneath the stone [Eng title: Beneath the stone the scorpion]. 225p $2.50 Houghton [8s 6d Boardman, T.V]

45-7614

The action takes place somewhere in the Balkans during World war II, and is compressed into a few hours. A neurotic German major, who had once spent an unhappy year in Oxford, is sent to deal with a captured English parachutist. He takes the Englishman to his home, wines and dines him, and introduces his Balkan wife. Then the prisoner is allowed to go to sleep. Later the Gestapo leader who is to try the prisoner arrives, with a complete dossier on the Englishman. While the Gestapo agent sleeps, the German major sends the Englishman away, and shoots himself.

Reviewed by R. J. Bender
Book Week p6 Ag 26 '45 850w

Kirkus 13:301 Jl 15 '45 210w

"Born in Budapest, Mr. Tabori writes of the Balkans from within, and of German character from intimate experience; and he writes in clean, clear English." Harold Brighouse
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 16 '45 120w

"The Gestapo agent is an incredible mixture: he knows philosophy and literature, has an almost Proustian memory, and converses with a brilliance that is strictly ersatz Koestler. There may be some symbolism in all this; it baffled me. Mr. Tabori knows his Central Europe; he has a certain wit; and he has put in plenty of sex and sadism. His novel has the glitter and the intrinsic value of a ten-cent-store diamond." H. C. Hatfield
New Repub 113:356 S 17 '45 360w

"One of the most moving, convincing, poignant between-the-lines and in-back-of-the-line novels to come out of the war. The author is a master of imagination. So much of this novel is so extremely fine that one feels the ending should be forgiven or, better yet, forgotten. . . The puzzle of war, the puzzle of the human or inhuman millions, receives a powerful answer in this book." Kenneth Fearing
+ N Y Times p7 Ag 26 '45 360w

"One of those intelligent thrillers full of quiet, highly civilized horrors, with an unexpected denouement. . . The piecing together of the facts in the Englishman's dossier, done with a toneless objectivity, makes an almost unbearably painful story, which, however, is too padded to be completely effective."
+ — New Yorker 21:66 Ag 18 '45 120w

"There are a great many things in this novel—good writing, quite good, a very tight dramatic development, considerable skill in the creation of several atmospheres, the atmosphere of tension between people, and the darker, tenser atmosphere of tortuous introspection. But plainly the important focal point of the book is Major Borst's lengthy and eloquent defense of the Nazi record, using himself as testing ground for his argument: that he was a sensitive and beauty-seeking man, like all Germans." N. L. Rothman
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:28 Ag 18 '45 550w

"Despite the language in which it is written this is a novel full of Continental overtones. Major von Borst is a character thoroughly and intimately understood. . . Altogether, 'Beneath the Stone' is an angry, edged, feverish and exciting adventure story which would be a good story even if Germany had never overrun Poland, but is the more effective because it has much to convey, in a high emotional key, about the types and characters who have clashed in recent Western history. And there is a welcome minimum of sentimentality in it." Iris Barry
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 26 '45 900w

"Mr. Tabori has nothing very new to say, but he says it with such bravura, such subtle perception, and such dramatic power that his book is engrossing. And this is so in spite of its extraordinarily artificial structure." Orville Prescott
+ — Yale R n s 35:190 autumn '45 360w

TADDEI, EZIO. The pine tree and the mole; tr. by Samuel Putnam. 289p $2.50 Dial press

45-6546

Novel based on economic conditions in Italy just before Fascism came to power, the period from 1918 to 1922. One of the chief characters is a young Livorno lawyer who starts out as an honest man and a good lawyer, but ends up by becoming a Fascist and stealing another man's wife. Another is an informer, who earns his living by betraying revolutionists to the police. Most of the characters are thieves, prostitutes, peasants, and confused members of the middle classes.

Reviewed by E. D. Branch
Book Week p11 Jl 8 '45 400w

Kirkus 13:261 Je 15 '45 90w

"The novel does not come off. It takes more than sympathy for people to establish their individuality in a novel. Taddei perhaps can succeed in doing this if he unifies his intentions. The Pine Tree and the Mole, however, suffers from trying too much and succeeding too little." Oscar Tarcov
— New Repub 113:261 Ag 27 '45 550w

"The author, a prisoner of fascism for eighteen years, writes with his heart. Drawn with poignant perception, his Italians are in some respects more developed and convincing than those in Silone's 'Fontamára.' However, the powerful direction of that book is missing. An assortment of loosely related characters and a diffusion of incidents break down the impact, while Pellizzari's return seems more the impulse of weakness and confusion than a decision based on profound conviction. Nevertheless, there is promise in Ezio Taddei and his book is a step forward for Italian literature." F. W. Leary
N Y Times p13 Jl 8 '45 240w

"We are told by Mr. Putnam, translator of this novel, that it is the first to come to us out of liberated Italy. If we may regard Ezio Taddei as a harbinger of what his literary generation is thinking and writing, then I think we may expect exciting things, perhaps an intellectual purge far more cleansing than the physical. . . It is a valuable scene for us to look upon today, and it bears the unmistakable marks of truth upon it. We are promised others of Taddei's books in translation, one of them now in the writing." N. L. Rothman

TADDEI, EZIO—Continued

+ Sat R of Lit 28:32 Ag 4 '45 550w
Time 45:88 Jl 2 '45 650w

"Mr. Taddei, who has spent most of his life in an artist and revolutionary circle, is a good enough novelist to make individual persons, not mass movements, his protagonists; nor does he take it upon himself to judge and condemn even the worst malefactors among them. This quick sympathy for the happy and hapless alike . . . makes 'The Pine Tree and the Mole' a curiously touching book. Sometimes one finds it difficult to follow the individual characters—there are scores of them—as they drift in and out of the pages, but there is no mistaking their basic humanity as each in his own way tries to find some sort of firm footing in a stricken land." Herbert Kupferberg

Weekly Book Review p6 Je 24 '45 650w

TAFT, JESSIE, ed. Functional approach to family case work. 208p $2.50 Univ. of Pa. press [11s 6d Oxford]

361 Social work. Family 44-7597

"This volume marks the culmination of an effort of many years on the part of the case-work faculty of the Pennsylvania School of Social Work, to clarify for itself, for its students, and for its training agencies, as well as for the profession, a point of view regarding the practice of family case work about which it has conviction and on which it undertakes to train students. . . [Herein, therefore] the case-work department of the Pennsylvania School has put together evidence, which has come to it through the last five years, of the applicability of the functional approach to the family field." Introd

---

"The Pennsylvania School of Social Work has again made a significant contribution to social work literature in its clarification of the scope, function and processes of family case work. The expositive character of the presentation and the details with which the material is given, afford an opportunity for the reader to find points with which he may differ as well as the many in which he is in agreement." A. F. Fenlason

+ — Am Soc R 10:321 Ap '45 1500w

Reviewed by Caroline Blue
Social Forces 23:482 My '45 500w

TAINTOR, ELIOT, pseud. of GREGORY MASON and RUTH (FITCH) MASON. September remember. 322p $2.75 Prentice-Hall

45-3922

" 'September Remember' claims attention as the first novel to dramatize the activities of 'Alcoholics Anonymous' the nation-wide organization formed some ten years ago to help its members and others to arrest the disease of alcoholism. . . It is the story of Avery Rickham, engineer, explorer and alcoholic, who fled from New York eighteen years ago on the death of his wife, leaving his infant daughter, Gail, in the care of her aunt. He has now returned from South America, hating New York and particularly its cafe society, in which Gail has begun to move. After a violent quarrel with her over her new friends, he goes on a bender and ends up in the police court, from which he is rescued by his friend, Joe Kelly, a big-time advertiser. Joe takes him, overcome by fear and remorse, to a meeting of the Greenwich chapter of 'A A.' The story thereafter shuttles back and forth between New York City and the Connecticut shore, with occasional divagations farther afield." Weekly Book Review

---

Reviewed by John Norcross
Book Week p4 My 13 '45 650w
Booklist 41:287 Je 1 '45

"While not to be recommended for family reading, this is no ordinary novel but one with an important and long awaited message for many thousands of Americans." J. J. Clair

+ Cath World 162:91 O '45 320w
Kirkus 13:71 F 15 '45 170w

Reviewed by J. M. Brittan
Library J 70:355 Ap 15 '45 80w

Reviewed by L. H. Farber
New Repub 112:716 My 21 '45 850w

" 'September Remember' is one of those uneven novels that are constantly redeemed by their subject-matter. The dogged hero's progress is much too sure, even when it is obscured by the woes of other A. A. members." William Du Bois

N Y Times p6 Ap 29 '45 310w

" 'September Remember' lacks the intensity, the penetration and the terrifying immediacy of the Charles Jackson's 'Lost Weekend,' with which it will inevitably be compared. But it is only fair to add that its aim and approach are entirely different. It is concerned with escape from alcoholism, rather than with a projection of the condition itself." Jennings Rice

+ — Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 29 '45 400w

TALALAY, ANSELM, and MAGAT, MICHEL. Synthetic rubber from alcohol; a survey based on the Russian literature. 298p $5 Interscience

678 Rubber, Artificial. Alcohol 45-3879

"The contents of this book are not exactly what one would expect from its title. Its four chapters are devoted largely to discussion of selected Russian literature on (1) the theory and chemistry of preparing butadiene from alcohol, (2) equipment and processes used to manufacture a mixture of butadiene and butene-2 from alcohol, (3) the theoretical aspects of polymerization, with special emphasis on the technology of sodium polymerization, and (4) the physiochemical properties of polymers made by the sodium process." Chem & Eng N

"The reviewer recommends that this book be read skeptically. If this is done it should stimulate thought and further experiments to clarify such results as are in question." W. L. Semon

Chem & Eng N 23:1376 Ag 10 '45 900w
Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:30 Ap '45

"It is manifest that when the full story of the synthetic rubber developments during the war can be told, the material in this book will lessen in value except from an historical point of view. However, until then it stands as the one most convenient and complete source of information concerning the preparation, from alcohol, of polybutadiene synthetic rubber." I. B. Prettyman

+ R of Scientific Instruments 16:289 O '45 400w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:57 S '45 320w

TALBOT-BOOTH, ERIC CHARLES, ed. What ship is that? drawn by [the editor]. [778p] $4 Didier pubs [15s Low]

623.82 Ships. Warships 44-7377

"A compact collection of data useful in the study of ship recognition. Covering the merchant ships, yachts, and warships of all nations, it aims to give a general impression of each vessel as it is first seen. The bulk of the book consists of some twenty-seven thousand small silhouettes, grouped according to the number and position of funnels, masts and other superstructure, turrets, and guns. As an aid in quick recognition, a small pantograph grid is recommended in which the vessel can be framed and the relative position of its salient features established for comparison with the drawings which supply figures on size, tonnage, and speed along with the name and nationality." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Christian Science Monitor p12 F 17 '45 480w

"For the layman with virtually professional interest and background in the subject, and for men of the sea, this should prove an essential reference tool for recognition purposes."
+ Kirkus 12:273 Je 15 '44 130w
Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:65 O '44

TALLEY, BENJAMIN BRANCHE, and ROBBINS, PAUL H. Photographic surveying. 223p il maps $3 Pitman

526.91 Photographic surveying 45-2920

"A textbook on the various mapping instruments and methods that have been developed for special tasks. It deals with terrestrial as well as aerial photogrammetry, and proceeds from the simple geometry of the single photograph to the finished map tied to basic data. Chapter headings include Photographic equipment; Interpretation of aerial photographs; Planning the photographic flight; Stereoscopic plotting instruments; Plotting from oblique photographs; and Applications of photographic surveying. Problems are given with most of the chapters." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 30w
N Y Tech Bks 30:11 Ja '45

T'AN, PEI-YING. Building of the Burma road. (Whittlesey house publication) 200p il $2.75 McGraw

625.7 Burma road 45-8567

"The purpose of this book is to give an idea of how the Burma Road was built, telling within the framework of the engineering project the story of an achievement by my countrymen. For the sake of the narrative many of the technical details have been omitted. . . Whatever has seemed colorful and unique in the way of customs and background has been set down. In order to make the job and the people who did it as real and alive as possible, little anecdotes of no other consequence have been included." Pref

Reviewed by F. S. Marquardt
Book Week p8 O 21 '45 300w
Booklist 42:91 N 15 '45

"How this mighty task was accomplished is told with fact-packed directness by the man who did it—Tan Pei-ying. Few more engrossing books have ever come this reviewer's way and there are photographic illustrations up to the standard of the text." Randall Gould
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 O 27 '45 600w
Kirkus 13:309 Jl 15 '45 170w
Library J 70:752 S 1 '45 70w

"There will be many books written about the Burma Road, but this is a good one and it is written by the man who had charge of the work, and everything he says is true, except that he does not say enough. But this is helped out by the photographs which also appear. They are just the thing that is needed, because, as I said, unless you saw it with your own eyes you would not believe it." D. G. Arnstein
+ Sat R of Lit 28:11 O 20 '45 650w

"Mr Tan seems to have observed not only as an engineer but as a romantic and a sociologist. Reproductions of many photographs taken during the construction of the road add extra attraction to the book." R. S. Ullery
+ Springf'd Republican p6 O 19 '45 250w

"The virtue of Tan Pei-ying's 'The Building of the Burma Road' is that it tells the story from within. As managing director of the Yunnan-Burma Highway Administration from 1938 to 1942, Mr. Tan was in charge of the construction and maintenance of blockaded China's lifeline. . . He is a Chinese official reporting on a Chinese achievement from a Chinese point of view, and since, despite the corruption that accompanied it, the building of the Burma Road was a heroic feat and one of the glories of the triumphant Chinese resistance, it is both interesting and valuable to have his report on it." Richard Watts
+ Weekly Book Review p5 O 14 '45 900w

TANSLEY, ARTHUR GEORGE. Our heritage of wild nature; a plea for organized nature conservation. 74p il $2.50 Macmillan [7s 6d Cambridge]

799 Game protection. Natural history—Great Britain [A45-4077]

"Professor Tansley's book comes at the opportune moment of reconstruction planning. That the face of our countryside is fated to undergo vast changes seems certain; it is urgent to realize now its importance aesthetically and ecologically to the nation if the fruition of planning is to find rural England as much preserved as possible. . . Professor Tansley answers the questions: Why should wild life be preserved? and What is there left to preserve? He discusses contrasting types of country and their flora and fauna; the question of reserves, national parks and scheduled areas, the work of the Forestry Commission and many other matters." Times [London] Lit Sup

Manchester Guardian p3 My 25 '45 300w

"Professor Tansley surveys the whole subject with clarity, conciseness and authority. He writes simply enough to be easily understood by the ordinary reader, yet his approach is primarily scientific."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p201 Ap 28 '45 360w
Weekly Book Review p23 Ag 5 '45 160w

TARKINGTON, BOOTH. Image of Josephine. 275p $2.50 Doubleday

45-2270

Beginning with a sketch of a detestable child of fourteen, the novel continues with Josephine's life as a woman of twenty-five. The years had done nothing to mitigate her early promise of turning into a first-class self-centered snob and worse. In the course of events a distant cousin, a shellshocked war veteran, takes a hand in demolishing the current image of Josephine and forming the rudiments of a new one.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 175:125 Je '45 280w

"It would not be a hard task to make of this story an allegory of our national character, prodigally endowed, naturally generous, but often, through too much comfort and ease, thoughtless and self-centered. Whether or not Booth Tarkington intended such a reading, his story carries these implications. Many a novel with more pretense at depth and thoughtfulness will fail to make the large and lasting impression of this fine book." John Erskine
+ Book Week p1 F 25 '45 1500w
Booklist 41:210 Mr 15 '45

Reviewed by E. W. Watts
Boston Globe p15 Mr 7 '45 230w

"This is a readable tale but certainly not up to Tarkington's best."
Cath World 161:187 My '45 220w
Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 31 '45 700w

"A better book, on many counts, than most of his work of recent years, less machine-made. One could wish, however, that he would go back to the period he knew so well, to characters (like 'Alice Adams') whom he knew at first hand, for his moderns have a derivative feel as if he got them second hand. They never become an integral part of their settings. . . Readable tale, if not too perceptive, psychologically."
+ — Kirkus 13:1 Ja 1 '45 400w

"This reviewer can only send regrets. To his mind, 'Image of Josephine' is an empty failure. Here, the irritation of a plot that simply won't wash is equaled only by the irritation of celebrated mannerisms pushed beyond the breaking point." William Du Bois
— N Y Times p5 F 25 '45 550w

"Mr. Tarkington, in his honorable old age, has earned the right to amuse himself as he chooses, but let's hope he doesn't choose to do anything else like 'Josephine' for a long time."
— New Yorker 21:81 Mr 3 '45 120w

TARKINGTON, BOOTH—Continued

"The numerous background characters are possessed of the inimitable Tarkington touch, half realism, half caricature, which makes them delightfully appealing and humorous, but in the main the book is merely a manipulation of a series of scenes so palpably play acting that they come as a surprise from such a sure-handed teller of stories. Mr Tarkington is better in a more homely mood." L. S. Munn

— + Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 11 '45 360w

Reviewed by Rose Feld

Weekly Book Review p6 F 25 '45 550w

TARTAKOWER, ARIEH, and GROSSMAN, KURT R. The Jewish refugee. 676p $5 Inst. of Jewish affairs

296 Refugees, Jewish. Jews in Europe 44-51443

"Of approximately 9,000,000 Jews estimated to have lived in Europe in 1938, between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 died in the subsequent six years. . . An additional 2,500,000 were forced to leave their homes and seek refuge in foreign lands. . . After having traced the Nazi-imposed wanderings and fate of Jewish refugee groups all over the world, the authors reach the conclusion that the refugee problem cannot be solved by any hard-and-fast rule." Christian Science Monitor

"While the study is valuable as a compilation of large quantities of material of a highly temporary nature, it should be followed by a further analysis and a more significant interpretation. Perhaps this could only be written by researchers whose entire point of view is less colored by one dominant conviction: the desirability of strengthening the national home, Palestine, and the Jewish consciousness of settlers in other countries. A well-classified Bibliography containing nearly nine hundred titles is a valuable feature." Hertha Kraus

+ — Ann Am Acad 240:179 Jl '45 900w

Reviewed by Benjamin Weintroub

Book Week p8 Ja 14 '45 650w

Christian Science Monitor p12 F 6 '45 480w

Foreign Affairs 23:514 Ap '45 30w

Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 22 '45 80w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:37 Je '45 280w

TATE, ALLEN. Winter sea. 44p $5 Cummington press

811 45-5558

"For his superior command of form Allen Tate has earned the respect of many poets. 'Seasons of the Soul,' in his new collection, beautifully illustrates a particular technique. He manipulates a pattern of ten short strictly rhymed lines with ease and skill, the more so since the end rhyme, often the entire concluding phrase, in each stanza is the same. And in each of the four season poems it serves as the key or clew image, setting and controlling the poem's mood and meaning. The device is unique but arresting enough to merit only sparing use. Mr. Tate's repetition of it in his poem to the memory of Yeats is less effective. But 'Seasons of the Soul' is more than an exercise in technique. It is a moving analysis of the psychological conflict and spiritual disruption affecting the poet, and many of us, in these war years." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by F. W. Dupee

Nation 160:466 Ap 21 '45 600w

"Tate has worked out a very personal effect in his ten-line trimeter stanzas mounting to a refrain. It is characteristic of him that the two somber seasons yield the best poetry. 'Autumn' embodies the hallucinated dread that Tate has expressed before, notably in 'The Wolves.' It conveys the atmosphere of nightmare, as the poet, caught at the bottom of a pit, confronts fragments of his past. . . The most integrated whole, and one of the most impressive of recent poems is 'Winter.'. . The rich texture of this poem depends on the bold interpenetration of sexual and sacred imagery. It is further commentary on our strange reading habits that at a moment when any bad novel can sell by the thousands, such poetry has to be issued in a limited edition, at a prohibitive price." F. O. Matthiessen

+ New Repub 112:232 F 12 '45 550w

"Many of the poems have a nightmare quality; a tone of bitterness and despair reverberates in almost every line. This depth of tone is new in Tate. His earlier work had moments of macabre emotional resonance, but a dark emotion did not unite with or, rather, overshadow his poetry as a whole. These new poems are written with classical severity. The language is ordered and weighted. Once Tate's opacities were merely opaque. Now his stranger images seem attached to some subterranean reality. His satire, even the sharp and effective 'Ode to Our Young Proconsuls of the Air,' is loaded with feeling." Louise Bogan

+ New Yorker 21:83 Ap 7 '45 240w

Reviewed by Cleanth Brooks

Poetry 66:324 S '45 1650w

"Completely scornful of the factual or commonplace, the bellicose Southerner relies on imagination hard and intense, yet never brittle. While he has acknowledged his indebtedness to seventeenth century metaphysicals, and to Dante in the medieval past, and to Yeats and Hart Crane in our recent past, and while he abjures any further tribute to Eliot and dubs his neophytes 'Spirits grown Eliotic, now patriotic, are' Tate is decidedly original and his brilliant scholarship nourishes rather than hampers his poetry. One feels that each of these poems—and how varied their lyrical vein—was subjected to the harshest self-criticism in the interests of a tenacious objectivity." Alfred Kreymborg

+ Sat R of Lit 28:33 Mr 24 '45 310w

"Tate's satire would have considerably more bite if his diction were less deliberately archaic, if he used the strictly modern idiom that his social comment demands. He is too much entranced with his rhetoric, too often tied to the apron strings of his Augustan masters. But his 'Seasons of the Soul' and his 'Christmas' sonnets, with their finely controlled irony, can be ranked with the best of his writing." Ruth Lechlitner

+ — Weekly Book Review p23 Mr 25 '45 500w

TATHAM, CAMPBELL. First book of boats; pictures by Jeanne Bendick. [44p] $1 Watts, F.

Describes in text and small pictures the various kinds of boats, from toy boats to battleships; also parts of boats and nautical terms, and boats used in other countries. Ages up to eight.

"Recommended for the very young reader." V. W. Schott

+ Library J 70:753 S 1 '45 70w

"First Book of Boats gives a great deal of authentic information which is clearly pictured by Jeanne Bendick, but the book has been done in rebus style and is rather confusing to read." M. C. Skinner

Library J 70:952 O 15 '45 30w

"The type is large, the little drawings are spirited and attractive, but the whole effect of the book is confusing. Children old enough to be interested in facts about boats prefer to have these facts given to them straight, instead of having to puzzle out the information by means of a picture; and the inclusiveness of the subject-matter will be discouraging to a child still struggling with the mechanics of reading." A. T. Eaton

— + N Y Times p25 Ag 26 '45 130w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 5 '45 130w

Wis Lib Bul 41:103 O '45

TAUNAY, ALFREDO D'ESCRAGNOLLE. See Escragnolle Taunay, A. de

TAX INSTITUTE. Curbing inflation through taxation, by Marriner S. Eccles [and others] symposium conducted by the Institute, Feb. 7-8, 1944, New York. 261p $2.50 The institute

332.414 Inflation (finance). Taxation—U.S.
44-6807

"This volume, like its predecessors, brings together different, sometimes conflicting points of view of both economists and others interested in public finance on a topic of current interest. There are nineteen contributors. After brief sections dealing with some of the 'earmarks' of inflation and inflationary aspects of the public debt, the longest section deals with various fiscal devices for curbing inflation. The fourth section is a compact presentation of the experience of four other countries (U.S.S.R., Italy, Canada and England) in curbing inflation through fiscal devices. The last section is fittingly devoted to the possibilities of post-war inflation and suggested tax action." Am Econ R

"There are some excellent presentations of particular aspects of the inflation problem, of which those by Milton Gilbert, Alvin Hansen, Marius Farioletti, Roy Blough, Carl Shoup, A. Kenneth Eaton (summarizing the Canadian experience), Mary Murphy (summarizing the English experience), and Marriner Eccles stand out. Nevertheless, the fact remains that 'Curbing Inflation through Taxation' seems a much more academic topic in 1944 than in 1942, when the symposium dealt with 'Financing the War.' The longest sections in both books are devoted to fiscal devices for curbing inflation." E. D. Allen

+ — Am Econ R 35:188 Mr '45 600w

Reviewed by E. H. Hahne
Am Pol Sci R 39:188 F '45 400w

Reviewed by Antonin Basch
Columbia Law R 45:490 My '45 1050w

TAYLOR, ANNA MARJORIE, comp. Language of World war II; abbreviations, captions, quotations, slogans, titles and other terms and phrases. 94p pa $1.25 Wilson, H.W.

940.53014 World war, 1939—Language. English language—Terms and phrases
45-35002

"This is a lexicon of a special kind. It contains relatively little war slang but assembles quite a complete collection of the nicknames and catchwords of the war. Thus some future student of our period will be able to find out by consulting it that the Desert Fox was Rommel, that Bing Bang Corner was Dover, and that it was Churchill who spoke of 'blood, sweat, and tears.' There is also a list of titles of the popular songs of the war." New Yorker

Booklist 41:168 F 1 '45

New Yorker 20:68 Ja 20 '45 90w

"A compilation that Vipers (very important persons) will find of great value as a reference and that Pipers (pretty important persons) with more time on their hands will thoroughly enjoy just browsing through."

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 21 '45 440w

Wis Lib Bul 41:38 Mr '45

TAYLOR, BAYARD, and HAYNE, PAUL HAMILTON. Correspondence; ed. with an introd. and notes by Charles Duffy. 111p $2 La. state univ. press

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
46-799

"Hayne (1830-86) was a southern writer, now little remembered, who spent most of his life near Augusta, Georgia. His correspondence with Taylor, extending from 1859-1878, exhibits an intellectual friendship between a southerner and a northerner who became a cosmopolitan." (Christian Century) Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p4 D 30 '45 80w

Christian Century 63:81 Ja 16 '46 40w

"These letters tell a story by their very failure to tell it. By a skilful selection and arrangement of both published and unpublished material, Mr. Duffy has allowed his two poets to expose themselves to the ironies of historical perspective. His volume makes the modern reader wince at the pettiness and blindness of man, especially of nineteenth-century American man. . . Unpleasant as are Hayne's wailing testimonials to the greatness of his friend and Taylor's condescending comfort for the obscure Southerner, these letters are naked testimony to the cultural blindness and confusion of the post-Civil War years. No commentary could tell the story more clearly." R. E. Spiller

Sat R of Lit 29:8 Ja 12 '46 600w

TAYLOR, FRANCIS HENRY. Babel's tower; the dilemma of the modern museum. 53p $1 Columbia univ. press [5s Oxford]

069 Museums. Art—Galleries and museums
A45-1549

"Mr Taylor, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art of New York city, traces the history of museums and the philosophy which has directed their development, thus giving the reader an adequate springboard from which to dive into the questions concerning the relationship of the modern museum of art to a democratic postwar American public. Delightfully, and with convincing skill, Mr Taylor poses the question of the museum's obligation to 12,000,000 soldiers and sailors returning to civilian life; to 20-odd million industrial workers being absorbed with them into a peacetime economy. 'Never before have the arts faced so challenging an opportunity,' he points out, 'that of interpreting a past so that the present can make use of the judgments of antiquity as guideposts for the democratic way of life.'" Springf'd Republican

"The book is timely, significant, and highly stimulating. It analyzes penetratingly the numerous museum problems and illuminates them with a broad insight. There is little doubt that the majority of its ideas and suggestions will receive the universal approval of the more forward-looking cultural leaders of our day. The book is destined to exert very considerable influence on American humanistic thought and practice. All the more reason, therefore, to turn the searchlight on one aspect of our intellectual complex to which it contributes little that is either profound or constructive." S. N. Kramer

+ Crozer Q 22:268 Jl '45 1900w

"Though leveled at the profession, Babel's Tower should be read by those concerned with the role of culture in the postwar world. Hard-hitting, witty, epigrammatic, controversial, it states a universal problem: how to bring order and genuine synthesis into the vast accumulation of knowledge which we now possess. Focused though it is on the art museum, Mr. Taylor's eloquent attack should stir up thinking comment in many fields. After all, we museum workers are not the only ones quaking in our intellectual boots." D. C. Rich

+ — Library Q 15:259 Jl '45 800w

"It is a small book even for these times. It is lean, hard and muscular in structure. The pedant it scorns could have built it into a wilderness out of which even a modern Moses could not map a highway. It is no glib solution, but it points the way to the study of man himself on his own plane, in full dignity." W. G. Dooley

+ N Y Times p4 Ap 22 '45 600w

"Not only those connected with museums will find stimulating reading on these pages, but everyone who is interested in the problem of making more effective use of the leisure that is to come. Mr Taylor quotes Thomas Mann's definition of the purpose of democracy, namely, 'to elevate mankind, to teach it to think, to set it free.' Accepting that definition, one admits that art is not remote from reality but has a vital meaning in the defense of our spiritual life and liberty." F. T. Howe

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Je 13 '45 330w

TAYLOR, NORMAN. Cinchona in Java; the story of quinine; with an introd. by Pieter Honig. 87p il maps $2.50 Greenberg

633.88 Cinchona. Malaria Agr45-321

This story of the production of quinine in Java begins with a brief history and description of malaria, and how in the seventeenth century it was discovered that the bark of a certain South American tree would cure or alleviate the disease. The remainder of the book gives in more detail the economic and scientific problems the Dutch were faced with when they attempted to make Java the chief source for quinine.

Reviewed by Ellwood Douglass
Book Week p8 Jl 29 '45 180w

Booklist 42:7 S '45

"Rarely has so much significant information been presented in so few pages. Only the well-informed specialist in this phase of economic botany could have guessed the complexity of the problems that had to be solved before the cinchona plantations of Java came to occupy their present position of prime importance as a source of quinine for all the world."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 Jl '45 150w

Reviewed by H. M. Parshley
Weekly Book Review p20 S 30 '45 310w

TAYLOR, PHOEBE ATWOOD (ALICE TILTON, pseud). Proof of the pudding. 189p $2 Norton

45-35103

Detective story.

Booklist 42:38 O 1 '45

Kirkus 13:145 Ap 1 '45 80w

"Fine for Mayo fans and those who like lots of church-supper atmosphere."
+ New Yorker 21:80 Je 9 '45 80w

"This one seems even better than the usual Asey Mayo yarn." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 3 '45 120w

"Strictly in the groove, as usual, Miss Taylor currently provides her loving fans with one of her best, an Asey Mayo number crammed with Cape Cod atmosphere, high excitement, top-drawer detectivism and enough honest-to-goodness fun to take the kinks out of your system for quite some time." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p8 My 27 '45 180w

TCHAIKOVSKI, PETER ILYITCH. Diaries of Tchaikovsky; tr. from the Russian, with notes, by Wladimir Lakond. 365p il $4 Norton

B or 92 Musicians—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 45-10390

"Tchaikovsky's diaries, now revealed for the first time in their entirety in any language other than the original, commence with his thirty-third year and conclude when he was fifty-one, only two years before his death. The years represented are his most important, both biographically and musically. In the translation the diaries have not been expurgated or abridged. Tchaikovsky's personality, as man and musician, is disclosed by his own words and actions, and it is not unreasonable to believe that mankind will love him all the more for his frank revelations regarding his personal life." (p. 10) Includes a register of personalities. No index.

"We who know and love his music profit greatly from the publication of 'The Diaries of Tchaikowsky.' Much credit is due Wladimir Lakond for what must have been a prodigious and diligent labor of love in translating and annotating these diaries of the great Russian composer. . . Out of 'The Diaries of Tchaikowsky' emerges a full-colored, three-dimensional portrait of the man and the musician. Anyone interested in either—the man or his music—will find it absorbing and will receive from this book the means to an understanding and appreciation of the motivations and the thoughts of Peter Ilyitch Tchaikowsky." Andre Kostelanetz
+ Book Week p61 D 2 '45 800w

"His diaries are not at all the tortured expressions of a De Quincey or a Poe, as some have thought him. Essentially clear-minded, simple in most of his ways, he set down in his journals a record of his days' experiences . . . and a frank but rather naïvely written discussion of his thinking. The account of the trip to New York, Niagara Falls, Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia, in the spring of 1891, is a miniature revelation of the man and genius." John Brubaker
+ Commonweal 43:339 Ja 11 '46 700w

"Excellent biographical source material but not a book for the casual reader of memoirs."
+ Kirkus 13:454 O 1 '45 190w

Reviewed by H. E. Bush
Library J 70:1087 N 15 '45 100w

Reviewed by W. H. Auden
N Y Times p4 D 2 '45 1100w

" 'The Diaries' are not so interesting as one might have hoped. They make it possible to follow quite closely his movements and the progress of his work between April, 1884, and May, 1891, and they would be valuable for a historian or biographer; but the notations of composing, concerts, social occasions, and solitary walks, though conscientiously complete and exact, are too brief and too bald to make very good reading." Edmund Wilson
New Yorker 21:74 Ja 19 '46 2100w

"A fascinating book for the many admirers of the great composer, as well as for musicians. This volume is likely also to provide modern psychiatrists with good material for study and to cause them regret that they missed such a perfect case. . . If the musician Tchaikovsky remains pale in his diaries, the human being emerges with a personality of color, revealing new facets of his complex character. Here we find a man of flesh and blood, a pathetic specimen of our miserable humanity." Arthur Rubinstein
+ Weekly Book Review p1 D 30 '45 1600w

TEALE, EDWIN WAY. The lost woods; adventures of a naturalist; il. with 200 photographs by the author. 326p $4 Dodd

574 Nature 45-10573

"In pleasant leisurely prose the reader wanders along the enchanting paths of nature, ranging through the beauties of individual snowflakes; strange sights seen while flying through the heart of a cloud; the tiny insect world inhabiting a single leaf; and the grandeurs of the redwood forests. There are chapters on rare birdlife in Florida and the magnificent sight from Hawk Mountain of bird migration in October. Author's philosophical approach adds to one's appreciation of the satisfaction derived from studying nature in her infinite variety. Profusely illustrated with photographs." (Library J) Index.

" 'The Lost Woods' is a book you will want to read and re-read, and which you will treasure for its contents and its fine format." Leonard Dubkin
+ Book Week p16 D 9 '45 280w

Booklist 42:143 Ja 1 '46

"Although the 'Dune Boy's' latest offering is, in a sense, patchy, uneven in effect, and therefore gives out no unified impression, it is chatty in style and makes good odd-moment reading. At the same time, it is so diverse in choice of subjects that it should have something in it to appeal to almost anyone." M. J. Taylor
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 19 '46 750w

"Recommended for large public libraries." H. R. Forbes
+ Library J 70:1088 N 15 '45 110w

"A 'snapper-up of unconsidered trifles' might start a debate or pick a small quarrel with the author for a stray phrase or an old statement here or there. . . However, these are trifling matters in a fine book that provides entertainment and education in large quantities, and it's quite evident that the star reference was not being offered as a practical guide to astronomy but rather as a poetical passage 'to point a moral or adorn a tale,' in which case Mr. Teale has the right to say to any carping critic: 'Objection overruled.' " John Kieran

+ — N Y Times p5 D 16 '45 1000w
New Yorker 21:76 Ja 5 '46 60w
Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 D '45 420w

"Unlike some of the others of Mr. Teale's books, this one does not deal with a unified subject, but moves about, rather refreshingly, from one Nature subject to another. . . Foxes, owls, a clever man who never worked, beavers, Hawk Mountain Sanctuary, wild bees—they succeed each other with delightful inconsequence, making as varied a volume of Nature reading as you could want. For every Nature lover I heartily recommend it as a Christmas gift." D. C. Peattie
+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 2 '45 500w

TEETERS, NEGLEY KING. World penal systems; a survey. ltd ed 220p pa $2 Pa. prison soc, 311 S. Juniper st, Philadelphia
365 Prisons 44-6147

"This survey covers the British Empire, most of the countries of Europe, China and Japan, the Latin-American countries, and the United States. Two countries to which special attention is devoted are Soviet Russia and Mexico." Am J Soc

"Professor Teeters has an enlightened and progressive point of view. He has assembled a good deal of material of penological value. The treatment is, however, somewhat sketchy and uneven. There are many typographical errors." Maurice Parmelee
+ — Am J Soc 50:249 N 13 '44 600w

"Anyone will find World Penal Systems interesting to read, and to the student of penology this book will make a distinct contribution to his knowledge." C. N. Burrows
+ Am Soc R 10:322 Ap '45 550w

Reviewed by P. Lejins
Ann Am Acad 238:225 Mr '45 450w

TEILHET, DARWIN LE ORA. The fear makers. 247p $2.75 Appleton-Century
45-6549

An American captain, returning from France to recover from a head wound, finds his perfectly good business has been turned into a propaganda machine, which is disseminating racial and anti-labor propaganda. In his efforts to clean up the mess he is joined by a refugee, who had had experience with like organizations in Germany.

" 'The Fear Makers,' is no mere evening's pabulum. On the contrary it is a down-to-earth and unexaggerated statement of certain vicious situations and equally vicious possibilities which exist today in the United States. More power to Teilhet's arm and the ink in his pen that he is able to present them in such a highly readable manner." R. J. Bender
+ Book Week p6 Jl 29 '45 650w
Booklist 42:77 N 1 '45

"The book has . . . the timeliness and the social sense of 'It Can't Happen Here,' and it is much better written." L. A. Sloper
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ag 11 '45 600w
Kirkus 13:166 Ap 15 '45 130w

"Getting the goods on the interlopers is a long (much too long) and risky affair, but Mr. Teilhet's thriller of forces at work in America today carries a timely warning." E. H.
New Repub 113:143 Jl 30 '45 110w

"Mr. Teilhet has bitten off so many Big Problems to chew on that he (rather than his cast of characters) seems breathless and beaten when his story ends. . . It's a pity, for there's the stuff of a first-rate novel here—for three of them in fact." William DuBois
— N Y Times p27 Ag 5 '45 550w

"A good idea—too good, in fact, for the formula in which it is presented, that of the narrow-squeak novel."
New Yorker 21:71 Jl 28 '45 120w

Reviewed by Paul Steel
Sat R of Lit 28:33 O 20 '45 180w

Reviewed by R. N. Fuller
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 26 '45 360w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p16 Ag 19 '45 220w

TEILHET, MRS HILDEGARDE (TOLMAN). Double agent. 220p $2.50 Doubleday
45-6687

Spy story the scene of which is France after the German occupation. An American Ph.D. from California and her professor husband are among the chief characters.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p6 Ag 12 '45 90w
Booklist 42:77 N 1 '45

"Exciting reading—without any profound significance. Good summer entertainment."
+ Kirkus 13:206 My 15 '45 190w

"As a highly readable (if highly contrived) spy novel, 'The Double Agent' clips history neatly on the button. Rampaging across the map of war-stunned France, it is as up-to-date as a headline, and packed with engrossing glimpses of a well-remembered, well loved land." William Du Bois
+ — N Y Times p6 Jl 8 '45 650w

"You're not apt to be too amazed by it all, particularly if you've read the last dozen or so books tailored to this pattern."
New Yorker 21:72 Jl 14 '45 160w

Reviewed by Margaret Davis
Sat R of Lit 28:41 Jl 7 '45 550w

"Besides some of the gravely told and really gripping stories of underground activities in Norway and Poland and esponiage in Germany and France which have been published during the last five years 'The Double Agent' seems discouragingly farcical." V. H. F.
— Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 26 '45 240w

"A lively and puzzling spy-adventure tale, with oodles of Gallic atmosphere, love and assassins plying their trade with energy and skill." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p14 Jl 8 '45 180w

TEMPLE, RALPH. Cuckoo time. 268p $2.50 Putnam [8s 6d Nicholson]
45-2790

A lively story of the unorthodox caperings of the members of a movie company on a rented English manor. The film was to feature the life and loves of Queen Elizabeth, with embellishments, and the personnel of the company, with a few added butlers and local characters, did a spot of embellishing their own lives as well.

"Any reader with a taste for farce-comedy characters who seem forever popping up during the night in ladies' bedchambers should like Ralph Temple's novel, quite aptly titled 'Cuckoo Time.' It is a literary trifle mildly mannered after P. G. Wodehouse, but lacking the Wodehouse touch." Dale Harrison
Book Week p3 Ap 29 '45 310w

"Title should provide fair warning of silly business and sexy doings that manages to achieve neither high humor nor low laughs."
— Kirkus 13:113 Mr 15 '45 130w

Reviewed by Jane Cobb
N Y Times p25 Ap 29 '45 200w
Springf'd Republican p4d My 6 '45 180w

TEMPLE, RALPH—Continued

" 'Cuckoo Time' is a humorous novel in which a light ball of plot is batted back and forth across a net of improbable situations, and the action is mostly a ping-pong of dialogue, funny for a time, but artificial and overplayed. Somebody lobs a quirky question (ping) and back comes a snappy answer (pong)." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 22 '45 130w

TEMPLE, SHIRLEY. My young life, by Shirley Temple and the editors of Look. 253p $2 Garden city pub. co.

B or 92 45-9844

Beginning with Shirley at eight months and following through to the age of eighteen, this is the record of a talented child actress with sidelights on her home life.

"There is much of the pertness and sureness of the Temple personality in the story and several of those chuckles and humorous touches that put the 'Baby Bernhardt' ahead of all rival screen moppets. . . Half of the space is taken by interesting photographs of Shirley from infancy to the present." H. T. M.

+ Book Week p10 D 9 '45 230w

"Her personal comment is friendly and commendably untemperamental, and her language a happy medium between adult English and that widely used by her generation."

+ Weekly Book Review p29 N 18 '45 120w

TÊNG SSU-YU, ed. See Chang Hsi. Chang Hsi and the treaty of Nanking

TENNIEN, MARK A. Chungking listening post. 201p il $2.50 Creative age

940.5351 World war, 1939-1945—China. Missions—China. Roman Catholic church—Missions. World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American 45-10180

True adventure story, written by a Maryknoll priest, who for over three and a half years served as banker and contact man for the fifteen hundred Catholic missionaries in unoccupied China.

" 'Chungking Listening Post' is a splendid picture of China, and of one group of idealistic foreigners who have won a constant welcome by persistent unselfishness and courage." Ralph Peterson

+ Book Week p12 D 9 '45 270w

Booklist 42:146 Ja 1 '46

Cath World 162:380 Ja '46 230w

" 'Chungking Listening Post' is not a great book—it is not intended to be. It is a thoroughly readable book, and a good step above a murder mystery as an evening's entertainment. As in all Maryknoll books, excellent photographs vivify the text." L. J. Trese

+ Commonweal 43:243 D 14 '45 400w

"A modest, self-effacing report, anecdotal in quality. Too bad it isn't better written."

Kirkus 13:503 N 15 '45 100w

"In contrast with the splurge of books by Americans damning Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government and praising China's Communists, Father Tennien writes in opposite vein. . . Surely no one can deny Father Tennien his right to speak so decisively in light of his travels and long years in China devoted to the Christian cause." John Goette

+ Sat R of Lit 28:9 D 29 '45 650w

Reviewed by T. S. Hanrahan

Springf'd Republican p4d D 30 '45 420w

TERBORGH, GEORGE WILLARD. Bogey of economic maturity. 263p $3 Machinery & allied products

330.1 Economics. Investments. Saving and thrift. U.S.—Economic conditions 45-6534

"A critique of the popular belief that 'economic maturity' is primarily responsible for capitalist depression and stagnation." Nation

Reviewed by Rita Davidson

— Am Pol Sci R 39:1055 O '45 230w

Reviewed by Joseph Mayer

Ann Am Acad 242:187 N '45 1300w

Reviewed by George Doherty

Commonweal 43:377 Ja 25 '46 3900w

"The book will have wide repercussions. It may be soberly and profitably used by technical economists; it will certainly be roughly abused by many radicals and liberals, and gleefully misused by conservative apologists for unmolested private enterprise. Therefore in the controversy that is sure to flare up over the book it will be imperative to distinguish carefully between what the author does and does not prove." Leo Barnes

+ — Nation 161:134 Ag 11 '45 550w

"George Terborgh is an excellent economist. He is a first-class writer. And he has turned out a book which does battle with one of the prevailing economic theories of our time, and does it with no holds barred." J. R. Walsh

+ — New Repub 113:503 O 15 '45 1250w

"It is George Terborgh's great merit that he has both the courage and the ability to enter the lists against what might almost be called the Anglo-American school of economics; and it is his great achievement that he has exposed a grand illusion just in time. Mythmaking when it becomes too deeply embedded in a people's social thinking and living, cannot be routed by words alone. It is not too late; there is still time to act upon Mr. Terborgh's advice." L. M. Hacker

+ N Y Times p21 S 2 '45 2000w

THACKERAY, WILLIAM MAKEPEACE. Letters and private papers; collected and ed. by Gordon N. Ray. v1-2 522p; 853p il maps $12.50 Harvard univ. press

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

"There is no official biography of Thackeray because he left instructions that none was to be written, and, though groups of his letters have been printed, no comprehensive collection was published in the decades that followed his death. A large collection had, however, been made by one of the novelist's granddaughters, Mrs. Richard Thackeray Fuller. In the summer of 1939, a young man from the Harvard Graduate School, Mr. Gordon N. Ray, who had just written a thesis on Thackeray, went to see Mrs. Fuller in England. She asked him to edit these papers. . . Mr. Ray has added to Mrs. Fuller's collection whatever other letters of Thackeray's it was possible to find in America and has now brought out the first two immense volumes. Two more are to be published next year. The collection includes 'some sixteen hundred of Thackeray's letters, more than a hundred letters to and about him (some of great biographical interest), and nineteen of his diaries and account books.' " New Yorker

Booklist 42:127 D 15 '45

"These papers have been presented remarkably well. The edition is both a work of sound scholarship and a book for the ordinary reader." Edmund Wilson

+ New Yorker 21:77 D 22 '45 1850w

"Mr. Ray has put us all in his debt, and nobody who reads and enjoys these letters should forget what is owing to the editor's self-sacrificing labors. . . After that it sounds absurd to say that in a sense this collection is both premature and incomplete. . . The objection is not made captiously. There is still no good comprehensive biography of Thackeray (though we may hope Mr. Ray will give us one), but the Letters give us something more than an entertaining panorama of Victorian personalities and manners; they form an unconscious autobiography. It is a pity that there should be any gaps in the preserved record." Richard Aldington

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:13 D 1 '45 2450w

Time 46:102 D 3 '45 950w

"The editing has been done with phenomenal success. Every name or allusion to a person, place, or event has been identified, with very few exceptions. Professor Howard Mumford Jones is well within bounds in remarking that the research involved 'turned out to be something like a restudy of the first half of the nineteenth century both in western Europe and in the United States, whither Thackeray went on extended lecture tours.' Mr. Ray has brought to this enormous task what Hazlitt calls 'the unfailing process of a studious imagination,' and in consequence his footnotes are often not the least readable part of the page." G. F. Whicher

+ Weekly Book Review p1 D 23 '45 2400w

THANE, ELSWYTH, pseud. See Beebe, E. T. R.

THAYER, FRANK. Legal control of the press; concerning those potential or actual controls that affect the press, particularly libel, privacy, contempt, copyright, regulation of advertising, and postal laws. 608p $4.50 Foundation press

351.751 Press law 44-8203

"This is a detailed and exhaustive survey of laws concerning the press, amply buttressed by cases and legal citations. Frank Thayer treats any law relating to newspapers—libel, contempt, copyright, advertising and postal—as a real or potential instrument of control. He does not, however, conclude that a free press demands legal anarchy. Freedom imposes obligations or duties; legal controls are needed to enforce the responsibility which is a corollary of any constitutional right. Thayer's purpose is to give the reader an understanding of what the laws relating to the press are and how they apply. The book is intended for students and not for the general reader. The author [is] professor of journalism and lecturer on the law of the press at the University of Wisconsin." Book Week

"The author of this work is a professor of journalism and a lawyer. He has, moreover, salted his learning with practical experience in the editorial rooms of more than one newspaper. The book reflects this background: it is meant to be at once a textbook for students, a guide for journalists, and a reference work for lawyers. The first and last objectives are brilliantly met; but for newspapermen its usefulness is restricted. The qualities which make it stand out as a book of law—its extreme conciseness and the technical character of its vocabulary, its sensitiveness to the cases, and its familiarity with judicial fictions—these qualities usually bring something less than assurance to minds not grooved in the channels of legal logic." P. T. Fenn

+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:183 F '45 800w

"The book is especially valuable for the discussion of differences in legal application among the various states." Robert Lasch

+ Book Week p18 N 26 '44 180w

"While for [certain] reasons the book is likely to be of more value to journalism students, rewrite men and city editors, than to lawyers, nevertheless newspaper counsel will find the materials collected useful, and will benefit from the journalistic point of view. For another edition, some examination might be made of Professor Riesman's contemporary studies of defamation; and more care will doubtless be taken in regard to the table of cases; and to typographical errors." J. R. Green

+ — Columbia Law R 45:812 S '45 650w

Reviewed by A. G. Hays

Harvard Law R 58:881 Jl '45 1350w

THAYER, GORDON B. Plastic molds; design, construction use. 2d ed 136p il $3.50 Am. industrial pubs.

668.4 Plastics. Molds (for plastics) 44-8327

"A revised and enlarged edition of Plastics mold designing (1941). In addition to new material by the author, there are several articles by five other specialists in the field. The work is a reference manual on the technical aspects of plastics molding and is intended for engineers, designers, and molding operators. A glossary is included." (N Y New Tech Bks) For first edition with title: Plastics Mold Designing, see Book Review Digest, 1942. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:653 Ag '44 80w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:28 Ap '45

THAYER, LEE (MRS EMMA REDINGTON [LEE] THAYER) Accident, manslaughter or murder? 247p $2 Dodd

45-5066

Detective story.

Booklist 42:38 O 1 '45

"Best of the week."

+ Boston Globe Je 13 '45 40w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p22 Je 10 '45 120w

"Better than the somewhat inspired title might indicate." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p23 My 20 '45 100w

THIRKELL, MRS ANGELA (MACKAIL). Headmistress. 309p $2.50 Knopf [10s Hamilton, H]

44-40374

Another gently humorous chronicle of doings in Barsetshire, England, in wartime. The headmistress, who is only half a lady because her father was in the wine business, slowly but surely wins her way into the inner circles of the Barsetshire high society. And the squire and his lady put up with wartime shortages in the approved manner while their three children go to the wars and have their romances.

Reviewed by Frances Woodward

Atlantic 175:135 Mr '45 600w

"That Angela Thirkell is a wily one. She writes novels as smooth as the surface of a lake on a breathless August afternoon, as deceptively easy to read as going to sleep on the sofa, as full of innocent fun as a litter of puppies. You read her, relaxed and smiling, from the first word to the last. And at the end you find she has managed somehow or other to slip under your guard a comprehensive and solid impression of life in an English village in wartime. That's art!" F. H. Bullock

+ Book Week p3 Ja 21 '45 550w

Booklist 41:170 F 1 '45

Bookmark 6:20 Ja '45

" 'The Headmistress' manages to be funny in a quiet way, but it also succeeds in going deeper into the heart of English wartime life than have some of the previous novels." E. W. G.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 F 5 '45 550w

Kirkus 12:522 N 15 '44 170w

"Author's fine style and her subtle humor make this a novel of outstanding quality and great interest. A refreshing bit of reading for these troubled times." L. R. Etzkorn

+ Library J 70:69 Ja 15 '45 80w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse

Manchester Guardian p3 D 22 '44 100w

"This quiet, overlong and gently snobbish novel tells what comes of the Beltons' leasing Harefield Park to a girls' school and going to live in the village. It is a pleasant chronicle of events both large and small."

+ New Repub 112:310 F 26 '45 100w

"It would be unfair to disparage Angela Thirkell's intention of being sublimely ridiculous, by taking her work too seriously. Yet the grave fact must be faced that, while Kipling's empire totters under the hammer blows of war and global planning, Mrs. Thirkell's imaginary corner of England ambles confidently along, lightly persuading the most rabid reformer that there will always be a Barsetshire. . . With a judicious admixture of irony and pity, Mrs. Thirkell reduces Barsetshire foibles to absurdity; gently and firmly she underlines the fact that this absurdity, an integral part of her people, has come to stay." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p5 Ja 14 '45 650w

THIRKELL, A. M.—Continued

"Having followed the fortunes of the gentry of Barsetshire through three or four volumes without cracking a smile, this department has finally fallen into step with the fiction-reading public and decided that Mrs. Thirkell is funny. . . Except for [one] slight variation, the characters, plot, and action are just about what Mrs. Thirkell's admirers want and usually get, which possibly makes it hard to explain why the novel seems so much more engaging than the earlier Barsetshire tales."

New Yorker 20:66 Ja 20 '45 160w

"Miss Thirkell has given us in this work another of her thoroughly charming, witty, and urbane stories of English country life—of the gentry and the peerage and the upper upper-middle class, complete with all appurtenances and appropriate family retainers. . . Founders Day at the School, the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary, the skating party, all give Miss Thirkell full scope for exercising her sense of the ridiculous, for employing her keen and kindly satire and her sympathetic deft characterization. I can only recommend that you get a copy of 'The Headmistress' yourself." S. H. Hay

+ Sat R of Lit 28:28 F 17 '45 850w

"If you enjoy an amusing tale that pokes fun quite lovingly at English country folk and their wartime worries, wherein vicars and Oxford dons and schoolgirls abound, then 'The Headmistress' is your meat." E. Y. Mohler

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 28 '45 450w

Time 45:100 Ja 15 '45 550w

"It is light and pleasant in character, though with less wit and fewer jokes than Mrs. Thirkell has contrived on previous occasions. While admiring, as always, her graceful manner, however, is it permissible to suggest that in this sixth year of war the preoccupation with dowries and good blood, fine sherry and real flour, seems a little excessive?"

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p617 D 23 '44 360w

Reviewed by Isabel Paterson

Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 14 '45 1100w

THOM, CHARLES, and RAPER, KENNETH BRYAN. Manual of the aspergilli. 373p il col pl $7 Williams & Wilkins

589.238 Aspergillus 45-6255

"This volume, the preparation of which has been based on the actual handling and culturing of the species described, is designed for the ready identification of the numerous strains of aspergilli encountered in micro-biological work, either in biological research or in industrial microbiology, fermentation, and the food industry. The senior author, Dr. Thom, as a result of his studies for forty years, has long been recognized as one of the world's leading mycologists, and has previously been the principal author of what is probably the most authentic treatise on the aspergilli." Am Chem Soc J

"The present volume is undoubtedly of much less interest to the chemist than to the microbiologist. The latter will hail it as an exceptionally welcome addition to the literature in his field of study and practical operations. Nevertheless, the chemist who has sufficient biological background, and who wishes to broaden his knowledge of the fermentations and physiological phenomena in colorless plants, and the capacities of the fungi to produce breakdown changes in organic substances, can find great enlightenment in this book." S. C. Prescott

+ Am Chem Soc J 67:1867 O '45 460w

"The Manual will be classed as indispensable by all students of this group of molds." R. S. Breed

+ Am J Pub Health 35:1228 N '45 320w

THOMAS AQUINAS, SAINT. Basic writings; ed. and annot. with an introd. by Anton C. Pegis. 2v 1097;1179p $7.50 Random house

189.4 45-4355

"A two-volume edition, comprising the great Christian philosopher's most significant writings, drawn, with one exception (the 'Summa Contra Gentiles'), from one book, the famous 'grammar of the love of God,' 'Summa Theologica.'" New Yorker

"This edition of Aquinas' basic writings not only has the merit of improving upon the existing English translation which, always quite readable, abounded in terminological inexactitude now painstakingly corrected by Prof. Pegis, but it also contains some scholarly apparatus which will aid the careful student without annoying the more casual reader. . . In one more respect Prof. Pegis deserves our gratitude. He has abstained, in his own introduction, from trying vainly to tell the reader what St. Thomas thinks." M. J. Adler

+ — Book Week p3 Ap 8 '45 1050w

Boston Globe p15 Ap 4 '45 90w

Reviewed by J. F. Coffey

Cath World 162:376 Ja '46 460w

Reviewed by Y. R. Simon

Commonweal 42:313 Jl 13 '45 1750w

"It is to be hoped that this excellent and compendious edition will bring about a more widespread, direct, and unvarnished understanding of the thought of St. Thomas Aquinas than has generally prevailed." E. A. M.

J Philos 42:719 D 20 '45 1200w

Reviewed by Jean Wahl

New Repub 112:712 My 21 '45 1750w

"Dr. Pegis and Random House have performed a valuable service in making a large portion of St. Thomas's works easily available in English for the first time." Richard McKeon

+ N Y Times p26 Ag 19 '45 900w

New Yorker 21:90 Ap 7 '45 120w

THOMAS, LIDA LARRIMORE (TURNER). See Turner, L. L.

THOMAS, MRS MARY (HEDGER). Book of knitting patterns. 329p il $2.50 Macmillan [10s 6d Hodder]

746.43 Knitting 45-1298

"A series of progressive knitted patterns contributing to the history of knitting as well as serving as a practical guide to new stitches and motifs. 'The student should read the book with yarn and needles handy, and test out the different patterns and suggestions as they are described,' advises the author. An advanced work to follow Mary Thomas's Knitting Book [Book Review Digest, 1938]." (Wis Lib Bul) Contains a list of abbreviations, lists of French and German knitting terms, a texture index, general index, and list of illustrations.

Booklist 41:221 Ap 1 '45

Bookmark 6:8 N '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p23 N '45

"This comprehensive and interestingly illustrated book has more to offer to the experienced knitter than to the beginner. It is of special value to the person who wants to understand how patterns are developed and to create her own designs." Clarice Engstrom

+ J Home Econ 37:593 N '45 70w

"Offered as the most comprehensive ever written on the subject of knitting, this compact and lively volume justifies the claim by covering every sort of knitting from fundamental stitches to challenges to the experienced knitter; by directions luminously clear, charts and diagrams; by historical background where proper appreciation requires it; and by photographs and drawings of famous pieces as well as of modern designs."

+ Weekly Book Review p19 Ap 22 '45 120w

Wis Lib Bul 41:36 Mr '45

THOMPSON, EDWARD JOHN. 100 poems. 109p $2 (6s) Oxford

821 45-1731

Selection of poems from the author's whole range of work, from juvenilia to his most recent work. "Though Edward Thompson is an English colonial who has lived and fought in India, Mesopotamia and Syria, his verse is not too far afield from traditional Anglo-Saxon poetry. His war poetry has a modest Sassoon quality—the romantic sense of nature in the midst of a battle scene. Thompson's phrasing is less intense, his awareness of God constant. His images have an archaic splendor of their own, not over-refined but excessively leafy. The curiosity of two wars meeting in one book makes one shudder; and when the poet matches them up, whether as participant or as spectator, the eerie quality is more than ghostly for the reader." (N Y Times)

"[This] is a selection from a life's work and should do much towards establishing the poetic reputation of a writer who has also won laurels in many other literary fields. His achievement in verse may lack the intense individuality of Robert Frost's: occasionally, for instance, in his descriptive pieces, he is content to make use of conventional and shop-soiled poetic tropes. Yet this book, no less than Frost's, is a sincere interpretation of experience, and many of the poems have a like, though strictly personal, ironic quality." Wilfrid Gibson

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 2 '44 180w

Reviewed by Harry Roskolenko

N Y Times p8 Mr 4 '45 130w

"Though Thompson sometimes uses his immediate experience, many of his poems are built on long-time memories. . . He increases in power and skill in more recent poems. New Recessional (he encourages the reader to think of Kipling), with its opening and closing theme, 'We have come to the end of The Waste Land,' is vigorous and dignified. The Dead Horses turns on a startling contrast between the quiet of the first stanza and the movement and suffering of the remainder. Thompson has not, however, completely mastered his medium. It is one thing to be obscure and difficult because of inner struggle, and another (and less noble) thing to distort sentences for the sake of rhythm and rhyme." Richard Crowder

+ — Poetry 64:170 Je '45 330w

"To read it straight through (for the poems are printed chronologically) reveals a clear and interesting pattern of development. It serves, in fact, as a poetic autobiography—though a somewhat sketchy one. The first dozen poems are unremarkable except for the spirit of religious fervour which inspires the best of them—a spirit which persists throughout his work. But the outstanding event in Edward Thompson's career was the complete change of scene and way of life when he left England for India. Congenial exile is a great stimulant to a sensitive nature, and after a few uneasy dreams the poet woke up and began to write poetry; his imagination expanded; his verse threw off its dull and jog-trot rhythms and flowed with new freedom and vigour; there is a new sense of atmosphere, alien and colorful." Sheila Shannon

+ Spec 173:42 Jl 14 '44 400w

"There is as much variety of mood in his verses as of subject and handling. Such diverse accomplishment is seldom found with great poetic intensity, though there are moments in the later verse, in 'Broken Silence,' for example, when it is felt. But as a sensitive reflection of varied experience, both of the outward and the inward, these poems form a melodious chain."

Times [London] Lit Sup p392 Ag 12 '44 480w

THOMPSON, FLORA. Lark Rise to Candleford; a trilogy; with an introd. by H. J. Massingham; il. with wood engravings by Julie Neild. 556p $5 (15s) Oxford

914.2 Country life—England. England—Social life and customs 45-8104

"Flora Thompson grew up in rural England in the 80s and 90s of the last century. She recorded the life of a country hamlet and of nearby small market towns in 'Lark Rise,' 'Over to Candleford' and 'Candleford Green,' three books now brought together in a single volume." Book Week

---

"A record so candid, so warm, so quiet and sure that it seems to me certain to live." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Ag 19 '45 600w

"'Lark Rise to Candleford' is an achievement, both as social history and as a work of literature." Harold Hobson

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Je 16 '45 200w

"Miss Thompson's work is much better known in England than in this country. I hope that with the publication of the present volume she will become equally well known in America, for here is real evocation . . . the summoning up of people and places and events, which is the inner and final magic of the novel." Struthers Burt

+ N Y Times p4 S 23 '45 1350w

Reviewed by V. C. Clinton-Baddeley

+ Spec 174:582 Je 22 '45 60w

THOMPSON, JAMES MATTHEW. French revolution. 591p il $5 Oxford [32s 6d Blackwell]

944.04 France—History—Revolution 45-3202

"English authority on French revolution covers the period in France between the calling of the States-general in 1789 to the banning of the word 'revolution' in 1795. Explains economic and political background of the revolution, describes step by step the shift of power from the king to the people, the downfall of the throne and the resulting disorder and wars. Constant illuminating reference to persons, letters, records." (Library J) Maps. Chronology. Index.

"It would be difficult and manifestly unfair not to pay the highest tribute to Mr. Thompson's engrossing and detailed volume on the Revolution. Without question this synoptic and well-illustrated study from the pen of England's foremost student of the French Revolution is the most valuable to appear in his country since the publication of Lord Acton's once famous Lectures. Wise, learned, and measured are the three words that characterize it. Every chapter reveals his extraordinary scholarship, based on the widest reading, his own researches, and a lifetime of fruitful teaching." Leo Gershoy

+ Am Hist R 50:524 Ap '45 1150w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 Ap 8 '45 550w

Booklist 41:252 My 1 '45

"J. M. Thompson's study is the best book in English on the French Revolution that I have ever read. The competition, of course, is not particularly strong. The Revolution has indeed produced an immense breed of volumes, and many of them are in English. But it is significant that in the list of the 50 best books on the Revolution that Mr. Thompson gives, only about half a dozen are of native manufacture. The most famous of these is Carlyle's. Now Mr. Thompson's work may not have Carlyle's apocalyptic fervor. He may not roll the thunder and flash the lightning. But he is something that Carlyle was not. He is intelligible. And to be intelligible is the first of literary virtues." Harold Hobson

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Ja 29 '44 1250w

Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 7 '45 480w

"It is crammed with all sorts of information very skillfully arranged and presented. The English, like the French, have a gift for this sort of writing. No term would describe it less adequately than that of popular presentation. It is a book about the masses rather than for them. Anyone who wishes to know about the first exciting act in the modern drama will find it food for thought." G. N. Shuster

+ Commonweal 42:50 Ap 27 '45 450w

"Author gives the impression of complete conversance with all possible sources. Has index and tables showing Republican calendar, chronology of the revolution, presidents of the assembly, etc. Interesting and scholarly. For all libraries." Margaret Owen

+ Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 100w

THOMPSON, J. M.—Continued

"Mr. Thompson knows more about the French Revolution than any other living Englishman and more than any living Frenchman except one; and he has not forgotten what he owes to the general reading public. Already the author of the best life of Robespierre, he has now written what will be the most precise and satisfying history of the French Revolution for many years to come, putting into it his own lifetime of learning and the results of the researches of many others." A. J. P. T.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 S 15 '43 360w

"It is no small achievement to write the perfect textbook on a tangled and controversial subject. J. M. Thompson's 'French Revolution' deserves that superlative praise. Its six hundred pages are packed with definite and relevant information. Slips are remarkably few and of trifling importance." Albert Guerard

+ Nation 160:452 Ap 21 '45 700w

"If one compares J. M. Thompson's superbly written and magisterial new work with the British author's earlier writings on the same period, one sees very clearly the impact which today's events have had on the sifting and the presentation of historical evidence. While the book nowhere indulges in half-truth parallels, it never becomes a cold vivisection of history. In the light of present experiences, many an instance in the drama of the French Revolution takes on new significance; but important insights are also gained into the perplexity of our times." H. W. Ehrmann

+ New Repub 112:524 Ap 16 '45 1250w

"Mr. Thompson has not only written the best volume on the French Revolution that an English historian has ever written; he has also written a book that does honour to the scholarship of this country. Every page shows clearly his deep grasp of the issues to be faced, his profound knowledge of the massive materials it is necessary to know, his careful reflection upon the men and events he has to describe, his graphic power of conveying the interplay of men and events." H. J. Laski

+ New Statesman & Nation 26:220 O 2 '43 700w

"While Mr. Thompson's book is a great deal more than a student's manual, it has some features normally found only in good and useful textbooks. The preface contains a list of French words and terms, concisely explained, which must be understood if the Revolution is to be understood. One thing is lacking, however—a broad summary or interpretation, although the very dimensions of this history lead one to expect an interpretative summary of what had come to pass by the time Robespierre was executed, and a setting of the stage for the events to follow." J. H. Wuorinen

+ N Y Times p5 Ap 29 '45 700w

Reviewed by A. J. Liebling

New Yorker 21:83 My 12 '45 1450w

"This is a truly remarkable work, this learned and wise study from the pen of the leading English scholar of the French Revolution. One would be tempted to say Olympian as well, were it not so deeply English—and only too often its English mood clashes with its classical temper. Yet this vast and encyclopedic work is utterly indispensable to anyone who wishes to follow the Revolution in its details." Leo Gershoy

+ Sat R of Lit 28:17 Ag 4 '45 1050w

"On the whole, Mr. Thompson's summary of the results of modern scholarship is fair to all views. If there is any bias, it is towards violent men and violent measures. . . At other times Mr. Thompson is hardly fair to those historians who have less sympathy than himself with the destructive measures of the Revolution. Finally, Mr. Thompson allows his sympathy to run away with him in his choice of the 'fifty best books on the Revolution.' The choice of English books is satisfactory; but two recent and authoritative French general histories of the Revolution are omitted, and the few primary authorities tend to be one-sided. Still, the choice of the fifty best books on any large subject must always be something like the choice of poems in an anthology; no two people are likely to agree about the 'border-line' pieces." E. L. Woodward

+ — Spec 171:318 O 1 '43 700w

"The book's value for reference is enhanced by a 'practical preface' containing a selected bibliography, a list of important French words, and information on revolutionary coinage, weights and measures and the revolutionary calendar. There are useful appendices (including a chronology of the revolution), and the illustrations are of unusual interest. The unstated but obvious parallels which may be drawn between events and attitudes of the 18th century and today add to the interest in reading what is, in itself, an absorbing and illuminating contribution to historical literature." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ap 12 '45 550w

Times [London] Lit Sup p498 O 16 '43 3250w

"The human values so richly revealed in these urbane and delicate dissections, these prudent, humorous, assoiling judgments on men and women, few of whom were unusual, but all of whom were caught up by unusual events, make this book timeless history. Seldom has the mantle of scholarship been so lightly worn; even the dismal science of political economy is made to yield up mica facets that make budgets and paper money understandable in terms of the market place; and the details of political and constitutional history are impeccable. Never has the day-by-day drama of the French Revolution been more deftly pieced together. Within its range this is the best single volume in English on the first five years of the crisis." Geoffrey Bruun

+ Weekly Book Review p3 My 13 '45 800w

"On the whole, Mr. Thompson possesses in an unusual degree that quality which the French admire so much—and sometimes so signally neglect—moderation. . . He also writes with distinction and with penetration; the book is full of new perspectives. Despite the fulness of his narrative, Mr. Thompson has, I feel, taken too restricted a view of his task, and has chosen to write in a somewhat parochial tradition. In the first place, he has separated the Revolution from its historical antecedents. To be sure, he has a good deal to say about aspects of the Old Régime at various points in the book, but there is no integrated discussion of the character of the eighteenth century and of that vexed question as to why the Revolution occurred at all. He has some excellent sections on economic and social conditions, but his interest is persistently and predominantly political. Fresh as is much of the book, it is none the less cast in the mold of political history of the old school, even to the dramatic trappings, including a full dress version of the flight to Varennes, a thriller which maintains suspense to the end in the best tradition of Hervey Allen." D. C. McKay

+ — Yale R n s 34:740 summer '45 900w

THOMPSON, LAURA MAUD, and JOSEPH, ALICE. Hopi way; with a foreword by John Collier. 151p il $3 Univ. of Chicago press

970.3 Hopi Indians A45-1110

A sociological study of the Hopi Indians, a small tribe of pueblo or town dwelling peoples, who live in highlands of northern Arizona surrounded by deserts. One characteristic of these people, emphasized in this work, is their love of peace.

"This whole presentation of the peaceful Hopi has meaning for our times. Perhaps its greatest value is as a concrete, accessible example of the kind of thinking we must learn to do about people whose ways are strange to us." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 F 18 '45 450w

Christian Century 62:401 Mr 28 '45 180w

Christian Science Monitor p16 My 26 '45 250w

Current Hist 8:440 My '45 70w

"The methods by which the Hopi maintain a peaceful, democratic society, the gains the individual makes and the price he pays in accepting certain group restrictions which are at once both limiting and liberating are fully explored in this excellent little volume." Virginia Mishnun

+ Nation 160:282 Mr 10 '45 330w

Reviewed by E. G. Eastman
N Y Times p29 Ag 26 '45 320w
School & Society 61:127 F 24 '45 90w
Reviewed by E. G. Eastman
Springf'd Republican p6 My 8 '45 480w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:17 Je '45 240w

THOMPSON, MRS MARY (WOLFE). Crossroads for Penelope; decorations by James MacDonald. 264p $2 Longmans
45-8330

Penelope Austin, two years older than in the last book about her, is now assistant to her veterinarian uncle and an ardent worker for Dogs for Defense, Inc. This story tells much of her work with animals; and it tells of her decision to marry Tom.

Booklist 42:97 N 15 '45

"Timely—and of interest to teen age and up."
+ Kirkus 13:272 Je 15 '45 90w
Reviewed by E. M. Gordon
Library J 70:982 O 15 '45 70w
Reviewed by B. W. Shaffer
Sat R of Lit 28:66 N 10 '45 180w
School & Society 62:175 S 15 '45 30w
Social Studies 36:332 N '45 10w

"Good story in itself, this tells so much about the technique of a hospital for animals and the varied encounters with human beings that a veterinarian's work always involves, that it is in effect a career story as well. Add to this an honest young love story and you have a book easy for the teens to read without stopping." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 O 7 '45 300w

THOMPSON, MORTON. Joe, the wounded tennis player; with an introd. by Robert Benchley; pictures by Virgil Partch. 208p $2 Doubleday
817 45-35053

Joyously crazy sketches about a good many things in Hollywood, but not about Joe or tennis. Among the author's subjects are his mother, who hated all republicans; his little brother who could understand horse language; and various Hollywood characters, some of them in the nude.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Mr 25 '45 900w
Booklist 41:251 My 1 '45

"This has fine elements of low humor but is more personal history than screwball—more new angles than the Low Man—not as funny, but for that audience."
Kirkus 13:15 Ja 1 '45 130w

"Everyone who reads the book will have his favorite. Thompson writes without the slightest hint that he's only fooling. But I suspect his electric fan was blowing north-north-west across his typewriter most of the time. And that's the way it should be." F. S. Nugent
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 11 '45 600w

"It is strange that such a hodge-podge can be so consistently interesting. . . Thompson must be a young fellow, and a little naive. He faithfully recounts some pretty old chestnuts, and soberly says they happened to people he knows." Thomas Sugrue
Sat R of Lit 28:31 Ap 28 '45 390w
Reviewed by Robert Fontaine
Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 11 '45 360w
Time 45:104 Mr 12 '45 30w
Weekly Book Review p23 Ap 15 '45 200w

THOMPSON, SYDNEY. Dr Parrish, resident. 250p $2 Macrae Smith co.
44-5218

A beautiful young woman, a survivor of a wartime shipwreck, is brought into a New England hospital in a state of shock, with no memory of her own name. Dr Parrish, the house surgeon, takes an interest in the girl, brings her out of shock into normal living, and marries her, and finds that not all symptoms of shock have been overcome.

Kirkus 12:150 Ap 1 '44 60w
Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p14 Je 11 '44 80w
Wis Lib Bul 41:21 Ja '45

THOMPSON, WILLIAM KENNETH, and STONE, GEORGE WINCHESTER. Naval log; essential information for officers and officer candidates of the navy and merchant marine. 223p $2.50 Van Nostrand
359 U.S. Navy—Officers' handbooks 45-3430

"A miscellany of practical information which will be of value to the naval officer in active service, the naval cadet, and the young man intending to enter the Navy as a career. The material is based on Navy Department publications and deals in condensed form with such topics as: Navy Department organization, officer personnel, procedure when reporting for duty, personal records, physical fitness requirements, pay, hospitalization, pensions, uniforms, specialized training, personal conduct, U.S. Naval Reserve, decorations and insignia. Sources of information are indicated and samples of forms to be filled out under special circumstances are included." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 80w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:26 Ap '45

THOMSON, VIRGIL. Musical scene. 301p $3 Knopf
780.4 Music—Analysis, interpretation, appreciation. Music—New York (city)
45-3212

"The book includes several dozen reviews and Sunday articles divided into eight broad categories which permit the author to shoot at all the major musical targets—opera, orchestras, recitalists, composers, conductors. 'The Compleat Thomsonite' would probably have been a better title than 'The Musical Scene,' for the author makes no pretense of surveying the scene from more than one vantage point. His opinions are opinions and not reports, and the book presents music as heard by one unusually editorial ear." (N Y Times) The author, who is the composer of many pieces of music, including Four Saints in Three Acts, is at present music critic of the New York Herald Tribune.

Booklist 41:250 My 1 '45

"Mr. Thomson's book is a collection of his reviews and articles. As entertainment, they unquestionably have value. How useful the judgments are is debatable. . . But you have to make allowances for the idiosyncrasies of any critic; and you must admit that, if Mr. Thomson has more than his share of odd notions, he is not, taken in small portions, boring." L. A. Sloper
+ — Christian Science Monitor p15 My 19 '45 550w
Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45

"Mr. Thomson's chief virtue is, first of all, that he knows what he is talking about, and is reduced neither to the megaphone or the spitball-shooter. He is seldom cheap. He is never unfair. His opinions in his own words, are neither 'frivolously arrived at, or unjustly stated, his aim having been to inform the reader rather than to protect anybody's career, or to help perpetuate any given state of affairs.' " Cuthbert Wright
+ Commonweal 42:266 Je 29 '45 1150w

"Entertaining as well as stimulating and helpful reading for a special audience."
+ Kirkus 13:52 F 1 '45 150w

"The style is direct and at times acid and salty; the opinions are provocative, sometimes sound and sometimes highly biased. This is not primarily a book of information, it is a series of essays appraising current trends, personages and institutions according to the author's predilections." J. T. Howard
+ Library J 70:354 Ap 15 '45 100w

THOMSON, VIRGIL—Continued
Reviewed by Arthur Berger
New Repub 113:26 Jl 2 '45 1000w

"As a literary craftsman, the author is probably unsurpassed in his field. He is the master of the well-turned phrase, the sympathetic frankness which conceals the kiss of death. His similes are little gems of orderliness and his descriptions of music are spicy and attractive. His unfavorable opinions are disarmingly sincere—and utterly venomous. His praises are sung with the joy of a child about to receive a second helping of ice cream." M. A. Schubart
+ N Y Times p7 Ap 15 '45 900w

Reviewed by Minna Lederman
Sat R of Lit 28:35 My 26 '45 650w

"Upon reading his collected writings the first thing that strikes the reviewer is the utterly professional attitude and knowledge he displays everywhere. It is refreshing to read observations about rhythm, meter, melody, harmony, counterpoint, prosody, tonal and instrumental balance, and other really pertinent musical matters instead of empty generalizations, captious guesses and odd bits of information culled from the hoary files of Grove's Dictionary. The second striking fact is that Mr. Thomson is a real writer, a skilled narrator, witty, penetrating, entertaining, and with a nice feeling for the mot propre and for proportions. These qualities distinguish his writings from the category of ephemeral daily chronicles; these criticisms and essays are just as readable today as they were some years ago when they were originally written. . . For any one who wants insight into the mechanism of our present-day musical culture, 'The Musical Scene' will act as a welcome guide." P. H. Lang
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 15 '45 1250w

THORBURN, LOIS (LONG) (MRS DONALDSON THORBURN), and THORBURN, DONALDSON. No tumult, no shouting; the story of the PBY. 148p il $2.50 Holt
940.544973 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Aleutian islands
45-743

Account of the fight in the Aleutians in the spring of 1942 when the Japanese came over intending to take Alaska and the Aleutians. It is the story of brave young men flying the heavy PBY's which were never intended for fighting planes; the story also of a threefold fight: against weather, vile terrain, and the Japanese. It is also the story of the people who make the Catalina flying bombers. The authors are a former reporter, now a lieutenant commander, USNR, and his wife, a member of the New Yorker staff.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Book Week p10 Ja 14 '45 90w

"A neat book, written with an unsentimental sense for the dramatic that is hair raising at times. Sketched in against the trial and error methods of the Aleutians is a running theme of production in the United States, a sort of fugue of fighting against a theme of building. The photographs are many and good." Elizabeth Watts
+ Boston Globe p15 Ja 24 '45 350w
Cleveland Open Shelf p9 My '45
Kirkus 12:491 N 1 '44 170w

"American qualities shown in the Aleutians are the kind that make America the hope of the world. Highly recommended." H. S. Taylor
+ Library J 70:68 Ja 15 '45 100w

"[The story] is told with affectionate admiration by Lieutenant Commander Thorburn, an ex-newspaper man and advertising copywriter now on combat duty in the Pacific, in collaboration with his wife, Lois Long of The New Yorker staff. They have made it a worthy tribute to the brave men who have died there. These young fighting men had to contend not only with enemy forces far superior in strength to their own, but with the worst flying weather and some of the most difficult terrain in the world." F. S. Adams
+ N Y Times p12 F 18 '45 330w

Reviewed by Beach Conger
Weekly Book Review p10 Ja 14 '45 750w
Wis Lib Bul 41:53 My '45

THORNDIKE, LYNN. University records and life in the middle ages. 476p $5.50 Columbia univ. press [27s 6d Oxford]
378 Colleges and universities—Middle ages
A44-3613

"Compiled by Professor Thorndike of Columbia, this chronological arrangement of translations from university records and other sources is illustrative of the institutions of learning in medieval times. It quotes some of the regulations, the curricula, something of the requirements for instructors, sometimes those for pupils. It is a source-book of information relating to the history of university growth." Current Hist

Reviewed by G. C. Boyce
Am Hist R 50:517 Ap '45 1100w
Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 7:499 D '44 60w

"The latest product of Professor Lynn Thorndike's indefatigable industry is a collection of documents and extracts, translated from the Latin, which might serve, we take it, to give a general impression of current conditions, customs, and studies in the medieval universities. . . Though the bulk of the excerpts given is gathered from the familiar publications of Denifle and Chatelain, Malagola, Dallari, Winckelmann, &c., there are a few from less obvious sources. . . The task of rendering all these ancient documents in modern English obviously presents great—perhaps insuperable—difficulties. . . There are some rather disturbing lapses. 'Videlicet' does not always mean 'Forsooth'. Cato is not a 'minute author'. . . On the other hand, certain Americanisms like 'a quiz' for an examination, a 'reviewer' for a repetitor, the 'hazing' of freshmen and similar slang terms may appear startling to us, but are probably introduced intentionally for the sake of greater vividness."
Times [London] Lit Sup p184 Ap 21 '45 750w

THORP, JACK. See Thorp, N. H.

THORP, NATHAN HOWARD (JACK THORP), and CLARK, NEIL MCCULLOUGH. Pardner of the wind [story of the southwestern cowboy]. 309p il $4 Caxton printers
917.8 Cowboys. Ranch life 45-35091

Reminiscences of the life on the ranges of the Southwest forty or fifty years ago. The author had the idea of collecting cowboy songs, and his Songs of the Cowboys was the result. He also wrote Tales of the Chuckwagon, and some of the anecdotes he tells in that book are retold here. Illustrated with photographs. Index.

"Some of the chapters are collections of anecdotes, incidents and tall tales, tied together by very skillful and unobtrusive literary craftsmanship. The one called 'Cowboy Humor' alone will make this book worth buying to a lot of people. It's a mine of really funny stories that are rich in the authentic color and atmosphere of the life they represent." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 Je 3 '45 360w
Booklist 41:300 Je 15 '45
Bookmark 6:13 N '45

"The style of the book is vigorous, fresh with the outdoors and with an undercurrent of humor." Alan Creighton
+ Canadian Forum 25:75 Je '45 250w

"Robust, entertaining reading."
+ Kirkus 13:191 My 1 '45 90w

"Must for all libraries! Dry humor like Lardner's, truth more exciting than adventure magazines, poetic breadth and prosaic detail of cowboy life—combined in absolutely nonstop readability. . . Best book I've read in years." E. L. Lewis

+ Library J 70:488 My 15 '45 110w

Reviewed by Hoffman Birney

N Y Times p17 My 27 '45 400w

"His chapters on cowboy songs, cowboy humor, and the Billy the Kid legend are more scholarly than naive. They offer no serious competition to J. Frank Dobie or John A. Lomax, but they are a valuable addition to the record, as both testimony and judgment. Thorp's half colloquial, half literary accounts of range life, on the other hand, suffer from editing, and from coming late in the long and rich line of books by and about cowboys, which goes back to Charlie Siringo and Emerson Hough."

+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 1:6 S '45 160w

"A first-person story which is authentic, detailed and in every way worthy to stand by the best of Western literature."

+ Weekly Book Review p16 Ag 26 '45 270w

THORP, RAYMOND W., and WOODSON, WELDON DWIGHT. Black widow, America's most poisonous spider; with a foreword by Emil Bogen; il. by the authors. 222p $3 Univ. of N.C. press

595.44 Black widow spiders 45-1970

A popular summary of all that is known about the black widow spider, its nature and habits, the effects of its bite, and the treatment of its victims.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 Mr 11 '45 80w

Booklist 41:206 Mr 15 '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '45

Reviewed by J. W. Krutch

Nation 160:254 Mr 3 '45 450w

"On the whole, Messrs. Thorp and Woodson have written a good and thoroughly complete scientific paper on the habits and behavior of L. mactans. As such it commends itself to any one especially interested in the field. The general reader, however, probably will find himself skipping over the scientific report to the more brief and more practical information on how to identify and extirpate the eight-legged pest." John Desmond

+ N Y Times p27 Ap 15 '45 360w

"The contents of this entire book are valuable for everybody, for the black widow is found everywhere in this country, and 'an appalling record of human suffering has been double-checked back to Lactrodectus mactans and her protoypes. There is no appeal from the indictment, and mankind must now make a unified effort toward curtailment of the greatest arachnid menace the world has ever known.' "

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:2 Mr '45 360w

Reviewed by W. G. Vinal

Springf'd Republican p6 Mr 20 '45 330w

"The pages, giving the story of this dangerous arachnid, are written in straightforward journalistic style and are illustrated with excellent photographs." E. W. Teale

+ Weekly Book Review p4 F 11 '45 850w

THREE Russian poets. 37p $1 New directions

891.71 45-35068

Selections from Pushkin, Lermontov and Tyutchev, in new translations by Vladimir Nabokov. The book also contains brief biographical notes.

"Vladimir Nabokov's new translations . . . will not help English readers to appreciate the reported excellence of these Russians. While it is entirely possible that the great Pushkin is readable and had something of consequence to say to an English-reading audience, the onus to establish these circumstances remains with his admirers and apologists: it simply has not been done yet." Leo Kennedy

Book Week p13 Mr 11 '45 90w

Booklist 41:271 My 15 '45

"Although little can be said for the poetic or even technical quality of these translations, they do serve to give a glimpse of the majesty of Russian poetry. One samples here its primitive epic strength and savagery, and also its mournful lyric quality. What seems most lacking in this slight sample is any touch of the Russian gift for vivid and colorful playfulness and fantasy."

Kirkus 13:55 F 1 '45 90w

"Recommended." George Freedley

+ Library J 70:489 My 15 '45 40w

"Pushkin's epigrammatic tenseness actually survives in the lyrics here translated. The scenes from Pushkin's plays and the brief 'Mozart and Salieri' are less distinctively done, and the Lermontov and Tyutchev poems, brought over into rather soggy, romantic English, entirely miss distinction."

+ — New Yorker 21:78 F 24 '45 60w

"Mr. Nabokov devotes twenty-five of his thirty-two pages to Pushkin. Fortunately Lermontov and Tyutchev lend themselves to representation by brief lyrics. I cannot judge of his accuracy. The renderings from Pushkin are simple, quick, and vigorous. Nothing could be more readable, but a certain flatness lingers, and it is difficult to take from this book a conviction that we have been missing a rare esthetic pleasure." E. K. Brown

Poetry 66:289 Ag '45 180w

THURBER, JAMES. The Thurber carnival; il. by [the author]. 369p $2.75 Harper

817 45-1366

A Thurber omnibus containing some stories not collected before in book form; and others from My world and welcome to it; Let your mind alone; The middle-aged man on the flying trapeze; My life and hard times (complete); Fables for our time and famous poems illustrated; The owl in the attic; The seal in the bedroom; Men, women and dogs; The war between men and women.

+ Atlantic 175:129 F '45 500w

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky

Book Week p1 F 4 '45 700w

Booklist 41:194 Mr 1 '45

Christian Science Monitor p16 Mr 31 '45 50w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45

Reviewed by Francis Downing

Commonweal 41:518 Mr 9 '45 1150w

"A notable collection of Thurber-iana, that gives a fine picture of the weather in the author's soul, from antic drawings to biographical sketches and short stories, that shows the amazing variety of the man's abilities for catching the mood, essence and feel of character and situation."

+ Kirkus 13:46 F 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley

New Repub 112:362 Mr 12 '45 1800w

Reviewed by G. W. Stonier

New Statesman & Nation 30:234 O 6 '45 150w

"Thurber, we find, is a man who dislikes pretensions, and not literary pretensions only. The host who says, 'It's a native domestic burgundy without any breeding, but I think you'll be amused by its presumption,' cannot get away with it if Thurber is around, any more than Miss Stein can get away with Alas. Most of the laughter in Thurber is friendly laughter. But he is not only a humorist, he is also a satirist who can toss a bomb while he appears to be tipping his hat. One of these days Thurber will be embarrassed to learn that he is a great man." D. S. Norton

+ N Y Times p1 F 4 '45 1900w

"Somewhere in the three hundred and sixty-nine pages of this rewarding book you should be able to find your favorite Thurber story, essay, or drawing."

+ New Yorker 20:82 F 3 '45 140w

"My last feeling, in attempting to write about Thurber, is, 'Here is one of the absolutely essential books of our time.' This man knows more about human nature than most psychiatrists. He is a great humorist, whether he is writing or drawing. And 'humorist' means

THURBER, JAMES—Continued
much more than a man who is merely funny. And a 'Thurber Carnival' wouldn't be his kind of carnival without some pretty real and active spectres." W. R. Benét

+ Sat R of Lit 28:9 F 3 '45 650w
Time 45:94 F 12 '45 900w
Times [London] Lit Sup p520 N 3 '45 650w

"The collected Thurber is a revealing book. There was always a certain amount of suspicion that the man was greater than he seemed, but it became fashionable not to explain him, not to interpret him, not to explore the meaning of his work. The fad was inspired, of course, by the people about whom he was writing, and since one of them was himself, he helped the notion along. Such courtliness is no longer necessary. It can now be observed that Thurber was a satirist and a prophet, a Jeremiah in fool's cap, a mixture of laughing gas and deadly nightshade. He has whiled away the days and nights with his generation, setting down precisely and accurately what he saw, what he heard and what he felt. It was very funny when he first did it; it is very funny now." Thomas Sugrue

+ Weekly Book Review p1 F 4 '45 900w
Wis Lib Bul 41:37 Mr '45

THURBER, JAMES. White deer; il. by the author and Don Freeman. 115p $2.50 Harcourt
45-35191

A fantasy written in the guise of a fairy tale, with three princes, an enchanted princess, and a happy outcome.

Reviewed by Russell Maloney
Book Week p6 S 30 '45 450w
Booklist 42:57 O 15 '45
Christian Century 62:1130 O 3 '45 30w

" 'The White Deer' is a kind of fairy tale. But the only other fairy tale like it is 'The Sword in the Stone,' by T. S. White—which we also commend. Thurber's tale is a whimsical and brilliant piece of writing—a charming story, mixed with imagery and wonderful words, with wit, with verse both rhymed and free, with acrostics and alliterations. It is, therefore, an unbelievable combination of five parts Lewis Carroll and one part James Joyce. (Joyce comes in through language tricks, not through subject matter.)" E. D. C.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 O 13 '45 480w

Reviewed by A. C. Moore
Horn Bk 21:447 N '45 80w
Kirkus 13:443 O 1 '45 80w

"A serene and beautiful fantasy. . . Considering the eerie flight of Thurber's average imaginings, this fairy story is a comparative still-life of beauty and grace. Prose runs back and forth into poetry, and irony is subdued to the gentlest breath of mockery. The book is really written for children and Thurber's dealings with candor and innocence are always on the basis of grave, beautiful simplicity. This is probably one of the many reasons we adults love him in spite of the liberties he takes with our private subconscious." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p5 S 30 '45 900w

"Thurber's fairy stories, so far as I know, are the best American things of their kind since Frank Stockton's, which, in certain respects, they resemble. Mr. Thurber, like Stockton, takes the characters and properties of the traditional fairy tale and, by introducing at moments, unobtrusively, a contemporary point of view, makes them produce unexpected results. . . I thought, in fact, when I had read the first part of 'The White Deer,' that it was perhaps one of the best things he had written and one of the best modern fairy tales, and if it seemed to me to fall short of this, it was not because the story did not hold up or continue to be amusing but because, in its later stretches, the line of the narrative gets a little cluttered and the style sometimes runs off the track." Edmund Wilson

+ — New Yorker 21:91 O 27 '45 600w
New Yorker 21:120 D 8 '45 80w
New Yorker 21:128 D 8 '45 60w

"The plot is the oldest in the world, the myth of the fallen soul, sending mind, body, and heart into the earth to win her redemption. What Thurber does with it is his own business, and mighty fine business it is, without any drawbacks which are discernible in a first, second, or third reading. It is a problem, in fact, to write anything about a Thurber book which does not seem like simpering adulation, something he would loathe as heartily as he loathes the rest of humanity's posturing. . . Don Freeman has done some full-page illustrations in color, and they catch the spirit of the story, blending admirably with the smaller sketches by the author, which seem, as always, part of the prose itself. If you miss this book you deserve a good headcold." Thomas Sugrue

+ Sat R of Lit 28:24 S 29 '45 750w
Time 46:100 O 1 '45 650w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:11 D '45 200w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p2 S 30 '45 650w
Wis Lib Bul 41:129 D '45

TIEMANN, HARRY DONALD. Wood technology; constitution, properties and uses. 2d ed 328p il $3.50 Pitman
620.12 Wood 44-9213

"This book, like the previous edition [Book Review Digest, 1942] is a simple survey of the broad field of wood technology. It is the only such extensive attempt in the English language. . . The new edition has been rearranged and partly rewritten but many parts of the text are identical, or nearly so, with the original." Chem & Eng N

"Mr. Tiemann, who recently retired after 45 years with the United States Forest Service, during which time he became an authority on the drying of wood, writes in an interesting and stimulating style which is very readable. The book is obviously not for the specialist, although there are considerable data which will be of use to him. But the layman or the uninformed technical man gets an excellent picture of the intricacies of wood which govern its utilization. . . The reviewer found several mistakes in the text which could have been corrected easily. . . The arrangement of references varies considerably and in many cases the requisite information is incomplete. It seems also that the customary procedure of italicizing scientific names and capitalizing the generic name should have been followed." I. H. Isenberg

+ — Chem & Eng N 23:947 My 25 '45 250w
Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:31 Ap '45

TILLICH, PAUL JOHANNES. Christian answer. See Van Dusen, H. P.

TIREMAN, LOYD SPENCER. Hop-a-long; stories; adapted by Evelyn Yrisarri; layout and il. by Ralph Douglass. (Mesaland ser) [46]p pa $1.25 Univ. of N.Mex. press
44-51042

"[This] is the second book in the Mesaland series published by the University of New Mexico Press. . . Loyd Tireman knows the habits of desert animals and the life of the desert, and Evelyn Yrisarri has adapted his stories skillfully to entertain and inform a young audience. Through his adventures Hoppy learns a number of worth-while lessons. He learns that it is wisdom to look before you leap and he learns what ears are for. He experiences spring on the desert, tumbles into his first snowstorm and learns to stay away from danger." Book Week

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p11 Mr 4 '45 180w

Reviewed by M. L. Goodwin
Library J 70:221 Mr 1 '45 50w
Springf'd Republican p4d D 31 '44 70w

TOCH, MAXIMILIAN. Paint, paintings and restoration. 2d ed 149p pl $5 Van Nostrand

751 Paint. Paintings—Conservation and restoration 45-9234

"This is a second edition of the book first published in 1931. Dr. Toch has revised and enlarged his first edition in the light of the many new discoveries and inventions relating to pigments and paintings. In his preface he states that the book is intended for the artist, the manufacturer and the student. . . He discusses the scientific examination of paintings for the purpose of determining their condition and their authenticity and presents material on photography, infrared photography, ultraviolet photography and x-ray. There are several chapters devoted to the varnishes, particularly damar varnish and the newer picture varnishes, lacquers and stand oil. The manufacture of stand oil is discussed in some detail. He also presents material on the methods of restoring paintings and includes a list of varnish solvents. Each solvent listed is described as to its peculiarities and its effectiveness. There is also a list of pigments and the composition and the permanency of each is noted." (Chem & Met Eng) Index.

"In the light of all of this excellent material it is easy to share the author's impatience with those deluded souls who moan that the pigments of the present day are the cause of rapid deterioration of oil paintings and that the colors of the old masters insured permanence. To the contrary we know all that the old masters knew and more too. Undoubtedly Leonardo would have given his eye teeth for a dozen tubes of our permanent colors." C. P. Morrison

+ Chem & Met Eng 52:268 D '45 350w

Library J 70:892 O 1 '45 30w

TOCQUEVILLE, ALEXIS CHARLES HENRI MAURICE CLEREL DE. Democracy in America; the Henry Reeve text as rev. by Francis Bowen now further corr. and ed. with introd, editorial notes, and bibliographies by Phillips Bradley; foreword by Harold J. Laski. 2v 434;401p $6 Knopf

342.733 U.S.—Politics and government. U.S. —Social conditions. Democracy 45-3119

A new edition of this classic, written by a young French liberal in 1835; the second volume in 1840. "De Tocqueville's Democracy in America remains one of the seminal sociological works of the nineteenth century. It is, perhaps, the greatest work ever written on one country by the citizen of another. Read at this distance of time, it is remarkable not only for its profundity and delicacy of insight, but, hardly less, for its prophetic quality. . . Professor Bradley's new edition comes at a specially momentous time." (Foreword) Bibliographies. Index.

"The reviewer's natural impulse is to welcome with enthusiasm a new edition of a work such as Alexis de Tocqueville's Democracy in America, which, long out of print, is clearly of major significance, both as a historical document and as a sociological and philosophical analysis. Yet in many respects, Professor Bradley's edition is disappointing. . . The present edition is, especially given war conditions, a fine job of book production, and on that ground it may be preferred for library purposes to many of the printings of older editions. Yet that in itself does not seem to me an adequate justification. It is my feeling that to be justified, a new edition of this kind, as distinct from a much-to-be-desired popular reprint, such as those to be found in the Modern Library Giants, should either be a new, and a better, translation, or it should be preceded by an introduction which adds to scholarly knowledge or gives new philosophical or historical interpretation. Unfortunately, the present work meets neither of these criteria." T. I. Cook

Am Hist R 51:131 O '45 1200w

Reviewed by D. J. Pierce

Am Soc R 10:568 Ag '45 550w

Reviewed by William Anderson

Ann Am Acad 242:182 N '45 900w

Booklist 41:272 My 15 '45

"The American reader will certainly enjoy the numerous allusions to the American scene; there are surprisingly few obsolete passages. The author's gift of observation must have been stupendous. His analysis of the religious forces and his optimism regarding American Catholicism (then still in its earliest stage of growth) are baffling. He, a Catholic, had no doubt that the very roots of democracy (which he opposed) were themselves of a religious nature. . . The acquisition of Vicomte de Tocqueville's Democracy in America is for every thoughtful citizen an investment." F. S. Campbell

+ Cath World 161:280 Je '45 420w

Christian Science Monitor p13 Ap 21 '45 750w

Reviewed by Albert Guérard

New Repub 112:594 Ap 30 '45 1000w

"The first reissue of this classic in thirty years, the only one with full scholarly equipment, Professoor Bradley's edition should remain the standard one for our time. As a student of government Professor Bradley is chiefly and thoughtfully concerned with Tocqueville's 'sociological insights.' But it is a tribute to the fertility of Tocqueville's work that although it is properly classified as a contribution to political theory, it is remarkably illuminating of our cultural and intellectual history as well." F. O. Matthiessen

+ N Y Times p1 Ap 15 '45 1700w

"A new and handsome two-volume edition of what is still one of the best books ever written about democracy in general and democracy in the United States in particular. . . The foreword, by Harold Laski is the only inferior thing in the book—bad rhetoric and bad writing."

+ — New Yorker 21:86 Ap 21 '45 140w

Reviewed by C. S. Sydnor

Pol Sci Q 60:457 S '45 950w

Reviewed by T. V. Smith

Sat R of Lit 28:9 My 12 '45 2300w

"It is not by defects or guesses that books live, and 'Democracy in America' has lived by its moral dignity, its acuteness, its wisdom, its style. That style is not easy to render into English, and on this side of the Atlantic it will seem to many people that Henry Reeve did a better job than his pedantic corrector, Professor Bowen. But with great industry Professor Bradley has revised the reviser, especially pruning out the 'faux amis' of which the self-confident Bowen was so revealingly fond. The result is easily the best edition of a great classic and an admirable tract for our times."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p265 Je 9 '45 1850w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:35 S '45 280w

"That Tocqueville's inspired appraisal of evidence a century old is not yet out of date is probably due to the fact that he brought with him something more than an open mind and a blank notebook. His immense historical culture served him as an unfailing guide, and coupled with his sensitive knowledge of French and English life, it enabled him to weigh the chances of the democratic future. He was not gloomy, as Bryce thought, but watchful. . . Many revisions, corrections and restorations have been made in the present edition. But, unfortunately, Tocqueville is still given us in a stiff, ambiguous and often incorrect English text; without adequate new notes, and yet burdened with an introduction which does only half its duty and a foreword (by Mr. Laski) which misconceives quite thoroughly both man and book." Jacques Barzun

+ — Weekly Book Review p1 Ap 15 '45 1900w

"To Tocqueville belongs the credit for having revealed to Europeans the world importance of America. He was the first great writer who, over a century ago, clearly realized that democracy in America was not an isolated phenomenon in the New World but a bold and successful step in the march of history towards freedom and equality. Almost every chapter in his book sounded this theme. That is why 'Democracy in America' is a timely book." J. S. Schapiro

+ Yale R n s 35:173 autumn '45 850w

TODOROFF, ALBERT. How to build and operate a locker plant. 224p il $3 Meat merchandising, inc, 105 S. 9th st, St Louis 2

664.8 Cold storage. Food, Frozen—Preparation and storage 44-30219

"The management of frozen-food locker plants is presented mainly by describing practices that have been found profitable in plants now in operation. Many illustrations that show plant layouts, equipment and practices are included. The book is for the plant owner or operator rather than the engineer concerned with the construction and maintenance of such plants." N Y New Tech Bks

Booklist 41:135 Ja 1 '45

N Y New Tech Bks 29:60 O '44

TOLISCHUS, OTTO DAVID, comp. Through Japanese eyes. 182p $2 Reynal

952 Japan—Politics and government. Japan—Foreign policy. World war, 1939—Japan 45-3486

This book is largely made up of excerpts from Japanese books, magazine and newspaper articles, and radio broadcasts, with connecting and explanatory text by Mr Tolischus. Material is grouped under such chapter headings as: Japan's war aims; The god-emperor; Preparation for war; Japanese anti-semitism; Japanese diplomacy; 'Re-barbarization'; The Russian enigma; The Japanese warrior.

"The historian and the political scientist will note that the quotations reproduced are for the most part official or semi-official statements, and also that they are removed from their context. As source materials, they must therefore be used with these qualifications in mind. Nevertheless, their compilation in a single volume does provide a useful work of reference in the hands of competent students." P. H. Clyde

+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:808 Ag '45 700w

"'Tokyo Record,' the author's previous book on Japan, was good. It was sound. So is 'Through Japanese Eyes.' Read it and you'll learn more about Japan than you ever thought it possible to know about that unpredictable country." Quentin Reynolds

+ Book Week p6 Ap 15 '45 750w

Booklist 41:268 My 15 '45

Bookmark 6:12 My '45

"Mr. Tolischus is a highly skilled journalist, whose knowledge of Japanese affairs was amply displayed in his previous book on Japan, 'Tokyo Record.' In his latest book, he has sought especially to drive home to his reader many known, but generally misunderstood facts; he has not attempted a lengthy analysis. To do this, he has adopted a somewhat unusual method of first making a brief analysis, and then documenting it with excerpts from official Japanese statements, newspapers, radio-casts and Imperial rescripts." Gordon Walker

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 17 '45 600w

"Otto Tolischus is disappointing. His first writing showed a tendency toward historical integration. His later books became tendentious in their interpretation of the inadequate amount of Japanese history he advances. His present book is not useful, nor even authentic." W. F. Sands

— Commonweal 42:173 Je 1 '45 350w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 8:544 Je '45 70w

Reviewed by W. O. Eddy
Ethics 56:74 O '45 260w

Foreign Affairs 24:171 O '45 30w

"This is the sort of book that few people will read and most people should. Because here, for the first time, has been brought together the damnably convincing evidence out of Japanese sources, of their long range plans for world domination—their scorn of all other peoples—the ideology which dominates their national life. . . Important!"

+ Kirkus 13:31 Ja 15 '45 250w

"The book is as basic as Mein Kampf for a clear, authentic understanding of the enemy. Recommended." H. S. Taylor

+ Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 70w

Reviewed by T. A. Bisson
Nation 160:522 My 5 '45 280w

Reviewed by T. A. Bisson
N Y Times p6 Ap 15 '45 900w

New Yorker 21:89 Ap 21 '45 220w

"It would be misleading to give the impression that 'Through Japanese Eyes' is merely an anthology of Japanese quotations. It is a great deal more than that. Mr. Tolischus introduces the quotations with characteristically shrewd, wise comment. Together they constitute an illuminating survey of Japanese ethics, racism, imperialism, and global plans. Above all they help lay bare for us the Nipponese mind. As we approach the problems of organizing the peace in the Pacific, we shall need to have a better understanding of the Japanese than we have had in the past. As an aid to that understanding this well-documented volume is highly recommended." H. C. Wolfe

+ Sat R of Lit 28:9 Ap 28 '45 1000w

Reviewed by Floyd Taylor
Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 29 '45 950w

TOLIVER, RAYMOND R. Care and use of hand tools; ed. by William C. Lewis; il [by] L. O. Angell. 93p $1.25 Wiley

621.75 Tools. Measuring instruments 45-595

"Common shop tools and their correct use are described in simple terminology for the beginner in a shop or an industrial training course. Such tools as the hammer, cold chisels, files, pliers, and machine screw taps are treated. Some space is given to measurement and basic measuring tools. A 'Demonstration and discussion guide' for the use of instructors is included." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 70:120 F 1 '45 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:14 Ja '45

TOMKINSON, MRS GRACE. Her own people. 248p $2.50 Washburn
45-9931

Rosalie Surette at seventeen found herself torn between two loyalties: her love of her French Canadian parents in their simple New Brunswick fishing village, and her loyalty to the American family in whose more affluent home she had been brought up. There were two men interested in her, and that also made it difficult. So Rosalie went backwards and forwards in her decision, until one terrifying experience showed her where her true allegiance lay.

"A novel of French-Canadian life that is accurate and satisfactory, even though it does not go much below the surface." L. K.

+ Book Week p30 N 11 '45 180w

Booklist 42:111 D 1 '45

Kirkus 13:348 Ag 15 '45 190w

Reviewed by Catherine MacKenzie
N Y Times p17 D 16 '45 200w

"This first novel is almost as naïve and repetitious as the thoughts of its heroine, but although it poses no solution to the English-French race problem, it treats each and all of its attractive characters with fairness and respect."

New Yorker 21:104 N 3 '45 90w

"This first novel has much of the simplicity and charm of a ballad or a Currier and Ives print, and with it a directness and humor that make you feel that Mrs. Tomkinson knows these people well and likes them. The story moves smoothly to a fine climax. So far as I know it is a new picture of the French-Canadians in their relationships with the English." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p12 N 4 '45 550w

TOMPKINS, STUART RAMSAY. Alaska; promyshlennik and sourdough. 350p il maps $3 Univ. of Okla. press

979.8 Alaska—History 45-9127

"A history of Alaska with special attention to the pre-U.S. ownership period of Russian exploration and development. The carefully compiled account of all the commercial exploitations, Russian, Canadian, and American, indicates the natural resources and potentialities of the region. It is a conventionally written, workmanlike history based on extensive research." Booklist

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 O 28 '45 270w

Booklist 42:93 N 15 '45

"An important contribution to historical literature. . . The book is well documented and provided with an excellent bibliography." L. G.
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 N 14 '45 600w

"When he is writing about the distant past, Mr. Tompkins is at his best. His analysis of Alaska of the present falls down woefully, both in detail and in the large, over-all picture." R. L. Neuberger
Sat R of Lit 28:8 D 29 '45 400w

TONG, HOLLINGTON KONG, ed. China after seven years of war. 246p $2 Macmillan

951.0425 China—History. World war, 1939— China 45-1609

Contents: The war and the people, by Hawthorne Cheng; Chungking: city of mud and courage, by Floyd Taylor; Pishan: portrait of a small town, by Chu Fu-sung; New horizons for the Chinese woman, by Jean Lyon; Man of the plow and the sword, by C. C. H. Wan; Student life in China, by Frank Tao; Wartime Chinese literature, by Chu Fu-sung; Progress toward constitutional government, by Chu Fu-sung; China's life line in the air, by S. M. Chao; Flying under two flags, by S. M. Chao; American "know-how" for Chinese soldiers, by S. M. Chao; Chinese courage in the Burma jungles, by Hawthorne Cheng.

Reviewed by A. E. Nuquist
Am Pol Sci R 39:1239 D '45 210w

Reviewed by D. T. Cheng
Ann Am Acad 240:154 Jl '45 430w

Booklist 41:222 Ap 1 '45

Bookmark 6:11 N '45

Reviewed by J. H. Powers
Boston Globe p15 Mr 14 '45 250w

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ap 28 '45 170w

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Mr '45

Reviewed by W. F. Sands
Commonweal 41:593 Mr 30 '45 600w

Foreign Affairs 23:701 Jl '45 20w

"From the inside, this has a feel of intimate knowledge and appreciation of the questions investigated. But it does not contribute much to understanding the controversial issues."
Kirkus 13:10 Ja 1 '45 180w

"Any book that increases our understanding of our allies and the problems they face is important and this book does much to give us a clear picture of the incredible hardships and indomitable spirit of the people of China." H. P. Bolman
+ Library J 70:117 F 1 '45 110w

"These stories are true and moving, as far as they go, but the seeker after information about the current political crisis in China should look elsewhere." Francis Scott
N Y Times p20 Mr 18 '45 340w

"Taken as a whole, 'China After Seven Years of War' is an agreeable and merited tribute to the steadfastness and courage of the Chinese people in their long stand against aggression. For those to whom China and its battle still seem far away, the book can be of value in making the country and the people more understandable and placing them in properly human terms. If the book at times seems to reveal its Chinese authors in a somewhat self-congratulatory tone, this is perhaps understandable in the light of the sometimes unfair criticism to which their land has been subjected." Richard Watts
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:13 Mr 3 '45 1100w

"Because the book was written before the end of the war, it veers sharply from any mention of the internal political struggles between the Nationalists and the Communists. In spite of this and other events of strict censorship, however, the book is clearly a sincere attempt to give an undistorted picture of the country's war situation. It is factual interesting and optimistic." J. E. English
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 600w

Reviewed by Bruno Lasker
Survey G 34:132 Ap '45 850w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:32 Je '45 240w

Reviewed by Gunther Stein
Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 4 '45 800w

Reviewed by Laurence Salisbury
Yale R n s 34:751 summer '45 280w

TOOR, FRANCES. New guide to Mexico. 350p il maps $2.50 Crown

917.2 Mexico—Description and travel A45-1968

"Combines some of the information in Frances Toor's Guide to Mexico [Book Rewiew Digest, 1936] and Frances Toor's Motorist Guide to Mexico in a compact, small volume. Text is concise and suggestive rather than descriptive. Covers sightseeing, travel by train, bus, or auto, and lists some hotels, with prices. Many maps." Booklist

Booklist 41:304 Je 15 '45

"There are two ways to write a guidebook: either to begin in a scholarly way and work up through the difficult mass of available material to a thorough knowledge, or to begin on the surface in familiar acquaintance with the things described, and to dig out just as much background as each fact seems to warrant. This book is the second sort; its compiler has known and loved Mexico for many years, and she sets out to tell what people will want to know on the spot. Most important of all, this is current information, checked in the year 1944: for the traveler that outweighs any other consideration." Elizabeth Wilder
+ Nation 160:366 Mr 31 '45 400w

TORBET, ROBERT GEORGE. Social history of the Philadelphia Baptist association: 1707-1940. 247p $3 The author, Eastern Baptist theological seminary, Lancaster av. & city line, Overbrook, Philadelphia 31

286.1748 Baptists. Pennsylvania. Philadelphia association. Baptists in Philadelphia 45-1996

"In conformity with its title this volume transcends local or parish history by giving an account of the changing social scene in which the Philadelphia Baptist Association worked. As Baptist churches are autonomous, the discussion of social movements is naturally focused on their manifestations in Philadelphia before and after the Civil War. The chapters in each period deal with temperance, education, Catholicism, and religious liberty. Before 1865 the slavery issue finds a place and after that date political and social reform, minority groups, and peace are given chapters." Am Hist R

"The author makes no claim that the association as such had any considerable influence as an organization for what was done or not done in Philadelphia between 1707 and 1940. The social historian can glean material from this account and could wish the author had given more. However, this is the history of a city church, and few similar histories yield more of general interest. The author is a professor of church history and has a wider horizon than the usual chronicler of successive pastorates."
+ Am Hist R 50:851 Jl '45 160w

TORBET, R. G.—Continued
"This is a useful, well documented chapter in American social history."
+ Christian Century 62:337 Mr 14 '45 150w

TORREY, MARJORIE, pseud. See Chanslor, T.

TOSER, MARIE ANTOINETTE. Library manual; a study-work manual of lessons on the use of books and libraries. rev ed 92p il pa 70c Wilson, H.W.

028.7 Reference books. Library science. Libraries and readers 45-2757

"A study-work manual of twelve units appropriate for teaching the use of books and libraries in secondary schools. Each unit contains an explanation of some type of reference book and is followed by exercises to be filled in by the pupil. Quizzes are attached." Special Libraries

"All who wish to aid young people in using libraries with assurance will welcome the revised edition of this useful manual."
+ Library Q 15:277 Jl '45 110w
Special Libraries 36:61 F '45
Theatre Arts 29:192 Mr '45 40w

TOUSEY, SANFORD. Fred and Brown Beaver ride the river. [41p] il $1.50 Doubleday 44-8965

Story of a trading trip down the Mississippi river to New Orleans in 1830. The hero is a small boy, who accompanies his father and his partner, and takes his part in all the work of the trip. For ages nine to eleven.

"Tousey has a knack of getting over a lot of sound fact in a cut above comics' style."
+ Kirkus 12:450 O 1 '44 90w
Reviewed by Gertrude Andrus
Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 70w
N Y Times p29 Mr 11 '45 120w
"One of the better recent Tousey books."
+ Wis Lib Bul 41:23 Ja '45

TOVEY, SIR DONALD FRANCIS. Beethoven; with an editorial pref. by Hubert J. Foss. 138p il $3 (7s 6d) Oxford

780.81 Beethoven, Ludwig van 45-10300

This posthumously published work by a famous English musicologist deals not with the composer's life nor with the philosophy of his works, but with the music itself in its technical aspects. The product of many years' thought the book was dictated in 1936, then in part revised, but the (possibly) final chapter on Beethoven's fugues is incomplete. Index.

Booklist 42:148 Ja 1 '46
"Tovey's book remained unfinished at his death, yet what is completed is very much there and very much to the point. If I think he overestimated certain works of Beethoven's like 'Die Weihe Des Hauses' in an effort to prove an originality of form where I, for one, only hear a pomposity of effect, that is a small matter." Chester Kallman
+ Commonweal 43:244 D 14 '45 750w
"There is an occasional fault. In his eagerness to teach and to expound Tovey was sometimes led into a verbose style that overweighted his writing, and readers might then be tempted to quote against him the child's remark which he himself recalls when referring to other teachers: 'Thanks, I can understand perfectly if only you won't explain.' But his best chapters are free from such over-elaboration." G. A. H.
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 24 '45 210w
"Tovey was a superb conversationalist. Even if some of the judgments and phraseology of this book are not reconsidered ones, it has its advantages in grasping the warm informality of a man who moved leisurely and, in turn, passionately through the realm of essential musical ideas, and made so much effort, even at the risk of being verbose in his metaphors, to convey his very keen experience to non-professional musicians. What we carry away from this book in its present state is a sharpened attitude toward music more than any special view of Beethoven's art." Arthur Berger
+ New Repub 114:28 Ja 7 '46 1050w
"Read in conjunction with the analyses of particular works in Tovey's earlier volumes, this book gives a most thorough insight into the compositional methods of Beethoven, and provides, by hint and implication, an original picture of the man himself. It is tragic that Tovey should not have lived to complete so important a book; meanwhile, in spite of an obvious lack of revision, it is much more than a fragment." Edward Sackville-West
+ New Statesman & Nation 28:392 D 9 '44 320w
Times [London] Lit Sup p42 Ja 27 '45 950w

TOVEY, SIR DONALD FRANCIS. Essays in musical analysis; chamber music; with an editor's note by Hubert J. Foss. 217p il $4 (12s 6d) Oxford

785.7 Chamber music A44-5779

"Into the present volume are gathered the greater number of the late Sir Donald Tovey's various Chamber Music analyses, covering a period of nearly forty years. Some were written for his own concerts at St. James's Hall in 1900-1901, some for later occasions." Publisher's note

Booklist 41:250 My 1 '45
"In spite of the fact that the late Sir Donald Tovey's Essays have been culled from programme notes, magazine articles, and other fugitive sources, there is in this collection a unity of aim and purpose which may surprise many readers. The author is able to go on gossiping agreeably and tirelessly through his musical pages, but it is no mere small talk; what is found here concerns matters of deep import." G. A. H.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 15 '44 180w
Reviewed by Ralph Bates
New Repub 112:337 Mr 5 '45 550w
Reviewed by Edward Sackville-West
New Statesman & Nation 28:392 D 9 '44 320w

TOVEY, SIR DONALD FRANCIS. Musical articles from the Encyclopaedia Britannica; with an editorial preface by Hubert J. Foss. 251p $4 (12s 6d) Oxford

780.4 Music [45-3169]

"Donald Francis Tovey, at that time known only as a pianist and composer whose concerts were illuminated by brilliant analytical program notes, was invited to write articles on music for the Eleventh Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, published in 1910. These articles were revised and partly rewritten for the Fourteenth Edition. They are here reproduced exactly as Professor Tovey finally corrected them. They form the most complete attempt at a system of music that Tovey ever wrote and they were the basis of his teaching as Professor of Music at Edinburgh University." Publisher's note

Booklist 41:250 My 1 '45
Reviewed by Ralph Bates
New Repub 112:337 Mr 5 '45 550w
Reviewed by Edward Sackville-West
New Statesman & Nation 28:392 D 9 '44 320w
"D. F. Tovey was a great musical scholar, endowed with a prodigious memory, some wit and uncertain taste." W. J. Turner
+ — Spec 173:416 N 3 '44 450w
Times [London] Lit Sup p634 D 30 '44 800w

TOWER, HANSEL HERBERT. Fighting the devil with the marines. 172p il $1.75 Dorrance

940.5478 World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American. U.S. Marine corps. Soldiers—Religious life 45-9626

"A navy chaplain's story of his experiences and observations during thirty-two months with the marines in the south Pacific." Christian Century

Christian Century 62:1065 S 19 '45 20w

"Comdr Tower might have made a very good thing of it had he devoted all his space to the impact of the war upon manners and morals. In this respect, in passages which are far too brief, he is highly readable and follows a course which is quite candid and sound." G. W. Bragdon

Springf'd Republican p6 S 14 '45 240w

TOWNE, CHARLES HANSON. So far so good. 245p $3 Messner

B or 92 45-6712

Autobiographical reminiscences of an American man of letters who has been a part of America's literary and theatrical worlds for forty years—as magazine editor, author, critic, and actor.

Reviewed by Budd Schulberg
Book Week p2 Ag 12 '45 550w

Kirkus 13:51 F 1 '45 130w

"Carelessly written, badly balanced, sentimental, old-fashioned. . . A fascinating era in American life has been treated in cavalier fashion to provide a Townsian interlude neither witty nor profound. Not recommended." George Freedley

— Library J 70:530 Je 1 '45 90w

Reviewed by L. H. Robbins
N Y Times p6 Ag 19 '45 650w

"Mr. Towne's book is not quite the important social record it might have been, and it isn't good enough to be of more than passing interest, but it does have a flavor that many people, both old and new guard, ought to enjoy."

+ — New Yorker 21:72 Ag 11 '45 120w

Reviewed by R. A. Cordell
Sat R of Lit 28:37 Ag 25 '45 250w

"A genial portrait of Charles Hanson Towne himself, of the friends he has known and loved over the years." F. H. Bullock

Weekly Book Review p20 Ag 5 '45 600w

Wis Lib Bul 41:100 O '45

TOWNE, CHARLES WAYLAND, and WENTWORTH, EDWARD NORRIS. Shepherd's empire. 364p il $3.50 Univ. of Okla. press

636.3 Sheep Agr45-331

"A survey of the history of the sheep business from Texas and New Mexico to California and its outlying islands. It extracts the adventure and romance that inhere in any industry for those who have eyes to see it. The authors write not only of the adventures and wars of sheep-raising, but also of its quieter moments. . . In particular, their book begins the process of giving the sheep-herder his niche in the gallery of American frontier types, beside his heretofore enemy, the Cowboy." Christian Science Monitor

Reviewed by O. B. Peake
Ann Am Acad 242:189 N '45 500w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 Jl 22 '45 310w

Booklist 42:8 S '45

"The authors have performed a job well worth doing in a manner both competent and interesting. If, at times, their zeal to get in all the facts gives the book a slightly statistical bias, this is balanced by chapters which well deserve the abused adjective fascinating." Horace Reynolds

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 28 '45 1200w

"As an additional demonstration that related books, like inventions, often come close upon one another, the authors here have produced the second very readable book on sheep to appear within six weeks. Mrs. Kupper's 'The Golden Hoof' was the slightly earlier one. The authors of the present volume have not achieved the texture and feeling of Mrs. Kupper's story, but they have nevertheless turned in a handsome performance and one which is in some respects a broader and more explicit performance. It is testimony to the vitality and diversity of the subject of sheep that these two books, covering a great deal of common ground, should have as little air of duplication about them." Ernest Haycox

+ N Y Times p4 Ag 5 '45 500w

Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 29 '45 600w

"The book is directed toward a large and general audience and is written in a lively style. Because of its careful annotation and extensive bibliography it will also interest students of Southwestern and livestock history."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:52 D '45 2400w

"The authors have gathered together much wonderful history and given something of just about everything connected with sheep, from high finance to the life of the lowly sheepherder. The book is illustrated with excellent drawings by Harold D. Bugbee." Stanley Walker

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 5 '45 850w

TOWNEND, JACK. Railroad ABC; pictures by Denison Budd. [57p] 50c Watts, F.

44-53446

"A very small alphabet book, with rhyming text and pictures in strong colors, about trains and other railroad equipment. Adapted from A Railway ABC by the author, published by Faber, London. Small boys will like both size and content. Ages 3-6." Booklist

"Perfect for the train-minded little boy who is learning his letters." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 Ja 28 '45 50w

Booklist 71:171 F 1 '45

"Graphic pictures and bright colors make a gay book which little boys will enjoy. Recommended." R. O. Bostwick

+ Library J 70:165 F 15 '45 60w

"There is hardly a child who is not fascinated and charmed by the majesty of locomotives, the movement of trains, and all the business of railroading. Whether or not a child learns his letters from the Railroad A B C (and in truth, the alphabet book of today is made for fun rather than for instruction), he will find joy and satisfaction in the drawings of all-clear signals, baggage, coaches, driver, fireman, and those representing the rest of the twenty-six letters." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p28 Mr 18 '45 90w

" 'Railroad ABC' should be as popular here as its predecessor abroad, and if public libraries should exhibit both, side by side, I can assure them from experience it would be a decided attraction." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 F 11 '45 220w

TOYNBEE, JOCELYN M. C. Roman medallions. 268p pl $10 Am. numismatic soc.

737.2 Medals 45-744

"This book is a preliminary study for a complete corpus of Roman medallions which Miss Toynbee is preparing. The excellent illustrations are in the main a supplement to the material available in Gnecchi's monumental work, I Medaglioni Romani (Milan, 1912). They include types that Gnecchi did not illustrate, many of them found since 1912. . . The importance of medallions as instruments of propoganda for the empire is stressed, in the chapters on the purposes of the issues, their historical development, and their relation to politics and religion." Am Hist R

Reviewed by L. R. Taylor
Am Hist R 51:103 O '45 550w

TOYNBEE, J. M. C.—Continued

"Within its limits the Roman medallion was a considerable achievement, and its merits are set forth by Miss Toynbee with erudition, clarity and enthusiasm. The reader familiar with Greek coins may feel that her sense of quality is occasionally at fault. . . But no one can have anything but praise for the fine combination of scholarship and industry which has gone to the making of the book."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p303 Je 30 '45 600w

TRAIN, ARTHUR CHENEY. Mr Tutt finds a way. 241p $2.50 Scribner
45-2565

A further collection of stories about the famous old lawyer who has figured in many Saturday Evening Post stories during recent years. Two sections of the book are devoted to the author's comments on the furor caused by the publication of The Autobiography of Ephraim Tutt (Book Review Digest, 1943).

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p2 Mr 18 '45 410w

Booklist 41:256 My 1 '45

"Highly recommended for addicts."
+ Commonweal 41:572 Mr 23 '45 50w

Kirkus 13:76 F 15 '45 150w

"Readers will marvel at his unfailing ingenuity. But the well-advised (Tutt-gluttons excepted) will not essay the entire volume at one sitting, for the stories inevitably bear a strong family resemblance." Richard Match
+ N Y Times p25 Mr 18 '45 400w

Reviewed by H. J. Sloan
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 29 '45 180w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 25 '45 300w

Wis Lib Bul 41:54 My '45

TRAXLER, ARTHUR EDWIN. Techniques of guidance; tests, records, and counseling in a guidance program. 394p $3.50 Harper

371.42 Personnel service in education. Mental tests 45-6695

"Presents 'accurately and in detail the best modern techniques and procedures available for the complex and essential job of counseling and guidance.'" (School & Society) The author is associate director of the Educational records bureau. Index.

School & Society 62:16 Jl 7 '45 30w

"A selected list of two hundred well-chosen references for counselors help to make Techniques of Guidance a most useful handbook for both beginning and experienced guidance workers. Some adverse criticisms, however, are in order. It is curious to find the author asserting that the assumption that aptitudes are distributed normally is an assumption which is justified by general observation and research. . . It is equally curious to discover this statement: 'Counselors need not be highly conversant with error theory in which the normal curve hypothesis finds its most advanced application' (p. 43). Yet an understanding of 'error theory' is of primary importance for the intelligent interpretation of tests." T. E. Christensen
+ — School R 53:622 D '45 800w

TREAT, LAWRENCE, pseud. See Goldstone, L. A.

TREGASKIS, RICHARD WILLIAM. Stronger than fear. 144p $2 Random house
45-5191

A story of a United States army captain and his inner struggle against fear and battle fatigue during one day when he leads his men thru the streets of a German-held city.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 176:133 Ag '45 180w

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson
Book Week p7 Je 24 '45 400w

Booklist 41:322 Jl 1 '45

Kirkus 13:184 My 1 '45 250w

Reviewed by H. G. Kelley
Library J 70:488 My 15 '45 70w

"As a picture of street fighting, this book is grim and true and very realistic. It is heavily and at times awkwardly written, but the honesty of feeling and observation brings the author's picture painfully alive. As the story of a man who loses and finds himself, it is unconvincing and shallow." Walter Bernstein
+ — N Y Times p7 Je 17 '45 360w

"Incredible as it may seem, the fighting of our troops inside Germany has already been made the subject of a novel. It's a hastily written and not overly perceptive novel, but the fact that it is here at all must set a record for literary hustling. An honest account of any aspect of this war is bound to be interesting, and Mr. Tregaskis is unquestionably an honest reporter. His examination of the heart of a soldier in the midst of the terror of battle seems, however, just a little too smooth."
+ — New Yorker 21:70 Je 16 '45 90w

"Honesty and authenticity save the story from specious heroics; but in imposing the structure of fiction upon events, Tregaskis does not entirely avoid a suspicious neatness."
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:11 S '45 240w

"Outstanding among our front-line reporters who risk so much to capture one little corner of the truth is Richard Tregaskis, author of 'Guadalcanal Diary' and 'Invasion Diary.' . . Unlike his other books, 'Stronger Than Fear' takes the form of fiction. Yet this book, too, is a brilliant piece of war rapportage." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Je 17 '45 800w

TRENT-JOHNS, ALTONA (MRS VERNON JOHNS). Play songs of the deep South; il. by James A. Porter. 33p $2.15 Associated pubs.

784 Negro songs. Singing games 45-13263

Collection of singing games and a Negro lullaby, as played and sung by Negro children in the South. The musical arrangements are simple enough to be played by young pianists. Illustrated.

Booklist 41:227 Ap 1 '45

Christian Science Monitor p13 F 17 '45 450w

"Most of this art sprang up among Negro children, and the present collection is made by a Negro author. But this should be a good book for any group of children who like this kind of game."
+ Commonweal 41:257 D 22 '44 40w

"The arrangements are good, though the book would have been more interesting musically had the arranger used a variety of keys instead of putting nearly all the songs in the key of G." A. T. Eaton
+ — N Y Times p22 Mr 4 '45 130w

Theatre Arts 29:319 My '45 70w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 D 31 '44 150w

TREWARTHA, GLENN THOMAS. Japan, a physical, cultural and regional geography. 607p il maps $5 Univ. of Wis. press

915.2 Japan—Description and travel 45-2030

"The author's A reconnaissance geography of Japan, published in 1933, formed the basis for this work, but it is almost a new publication. The earlier book was used by army and naval officials, and this is planned for similar use, and for professional geographers, rather than the layman. Libraries will find it valuable for reference. Many photographs, charts, and small maps, and a folded physiographic map." Booklist

"Professor Trewartha began rewriting his brief 'Reconnaissance Geography of Japan' in response to suggestions from Army and Navy officials, but the present book is more than a revision to fill specific war needs. It is the first modern geography of Japan in the English language. It may well remain the standard work for a considerable time, in spite of the changes that will result from the war and its aftermath." J. O. M. Broek

+ Am Hist R 51:123 O '45 400w

Reviewed by W. S. Thompson
Am Soc R 10:452 Je '45 500w

"This is not a book for the casual reader, since, of its three divisions, Parts I and III are of distinct interest only to specialists in physical and regional geography. Part II, entitled 'Cultural Features,' has a wider appeal, for it presents the Japanese nation as a 'going concern.' Certainly Parts I and III are the fundamentals from which develop the societal patterns presented as 'Cultural Features,' but these foundation factors are, and must be, extremely difficult reading. However, Part II is a respectable book by itself—220 pages—and both the substance and the presentation will commend themselves to a lay reader. . . Certainly shipbuilding, in a country which constructed the world's third largest merchant marine, deserves more than a hundred words. However, no book can exhaust the coverage of a nation of seventy-odd millions, and this volume is entitled to high rank for its substantive treatment of the 'island kingdom.'" C. D. Carus

+ — Ann Am Acad 240:167 Jl '45 490w

Reviewed by Margedant Peters
Book Week p8 Mr 25 '45 400w

Booklist 41:240 Ap 15 '45

Bookmark 6:11 N '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p13 Jl '45

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 8:543 Je '45 100w

Foreign Affairs 23:701 Jl '45 30w

"The most authoritative single volume that we have on the economic geography of contemporary Japan; that is, on Japan proper."

+ Geog R 35:501 Jl '45 1200w

"The book is well written and attractive in physical appearance. The 281 illustrations taken from numerous sources are not uniformly good and as a consequence the poor ones tend to depreciate the quality of the book. The author has served a most useful purpose by bringing together a wealth of material from many diverse sources. The book should be widely and critically read by those who are interested in the future relations of America and Japan." Guy-Harold Smith

+ Pacific Affairs 18:200 Je '45 350w

Wis Lib Bul 41:53 My '45

TRISTAN. Romance of Tristan and Iseult [retold by Joseph Bédier]. 253p il $3.50 Pantheon bks.

398.2 45-10351

Some fifty years ago a French schoolmaster and poet attempted a scientific reconstruction of the Tristan story. His work was published in 1900, in French. Hilaire Belloc made an English translation, omitting four of the original chapters. The present edition includes the Belloc translation, with a translation of the missing chapters by Paul Rosenfeld.

Reviewed by Olive Carruthers
Book Week p18 D 2 '45 230w

Booklist 42:168 Ja 15 '46

Kirkus 13:466 O 15 '45 130w

"Inspired by a love for the French medieval past, and implemented with a close knowledge of the field, as well as a delicate sense for the nuances of style, Joseph Bédier made of himself, for the moment of his task, a reincarnation of the spirit of the courtly trouvères. Like them, he composed at once in accordance with tradition and under the inspiration of a fresh, personal realization. His production is not the 'Primitive' Tristan; it is the 'Bédier' Tristan and, as such, one of the major versions. Hilaire Belloc's translation is masterful: it is quaint that he should have omitted four indelicate chapters. Mr. Rosenfeld's completion of the translation is skillfully done. The illustrations by Joep Nicolas, on the other hand, are out of tune. These sentimentalizations, fortunately, do not intrude upon the reading but give to the volume an appropriate festive air. It is a handsome book, a powerful rendition, an incomparable tale." Joseph Campbell

+ — N Y Times p6 O 14 '45 2200w

Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 240w

"Tristan and Iseult is richly caparisoned in all the theatrical trappings of romance: disguises, secret messages, fake birdcalls (trilled by Tristan outside Iseult's window), spying courtiers, venomous dwarfs, lepers, dragons, plots and counter-plots, last-minute escapes. But throughout it retains the beauty and sense of fatality that have made it one of legendary literature's most fascinating tales."

+ Time 46:103 N 12 '45 850w

"Here is one of the most famous stories in the world, set forth in a reconstruction which is itself a masterpiece of French literature. . . The illustrations deserve a separate word. Joep Nicolas is a master stained-glass maker, one of the greatest living. His designs have the naive quality of the oldest cathedral windows, persuasive humor and touching pathos. They help translate the story." John Erskine

+ Weekly Book Review p1 N 4 '45 1650w

TROYER, MAURICE EMANUAL, and PACE, CHARLES ROBERT. Evaluation in teacher education; prepared for the Commission on teacher education. 368p $3 Am. council on educ.

370.7 Teachers, Training of 44-5685

"This is a report on the evaluative problems, techniques, and procedures encountered in the experience of the commission at all stages of the education of teachers. The authors have placed special emphasis on the role of the student in evaluation and on the significance of continuous evaluation from one stage of education to another." School & Society

---

School & Society 60:128 Ag 19 '44 70w

"The authors have provided a wealth of practical suggestions for cooperative planning in delimiting objectives, for developing evaluation instruments, and for interpreting and using constructively information which has been acquired. Although many of the situations described by Professors Troyer and Pace are not located in our field, the procedures described can readily be adapted to the needs of social studies teachers concerned with evaluating outcomes other than those which can be measured by paper and pencil tests. . . Of course, social studies teachers who are interested in teacher education will want to read the entire book. The purpose of this review, however, seeks only to identify material which is especially useful in planning an evaluation program in the field of social studies." H. R. Anderson

Social Educ 9:186 Ap '45 300w

TRUEBLOOD, PAUL GRAHAM. Flowering of Byron's genius; studies in Byron's Don Juan. 183p $2.50 Stanford univ. press

821 Byron, George Gordon Noël Byron, 6th baron A45-2738

"Byron's 'Don Juan' has occasioned less serious critical examination than any other English poem of its rank and fame in the nineteenth century. Critics have in general agreed to consider it the poet's greatest work, have called it 'an epic of modern life,' have placed it in the English and Continental satiric tradition, and have commented upon its hostility to sham and cant and its championship of intellectual and political liberty—and have let it go at that. . . Mr. Trueblood begins with the story of the growth of the poem, emphasizing the change in mood as the cantos progressed and the emergence of a seriousness of social satire and 'revolutionary indoctrina-

TRUEBLOOD, P. G.—Continued
tion' which was probably not within the scope of Byron's intention when he began 'Don Juan.' He proceeds to a history of the reception of the poem by the reviewers, a reception in the main hostile but dividing to some extent along party lines. In a third chapter, after some preliminary and not very original considerations of Byron as a satirist, Mr. Trueblood analyzes the various kinds of satire in the poem." (Christian Science Monitor) Bibliography. Index.

"This is a favorable example of the academic monograph, exhaustive but not exhausting, not brilliant but sound. . . Mr. Trueblood has written a book which may serve as a manual to anyone who desires to read, or to renew his acquaintance with, one of the greatest poems of the nineteenth century, and to grasp intelligently the significance of 'Don Juan.' "
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ag 18 '45 280w

"No admirer of Byron will doubt that his satiric genius, after repeated earlier attempts, came to full flowering in his serio-comic epic, 'Don Juan.' Yet without some such systematic analysis as Mr. Trueblood's to back him up, the Byronian may find it difficult to defend the poem against the hoary charges that it is superficial, insincere, cynical, immoral or amoral, sensual, socially subversive—destructively critical perhaps, but constructively inconsequential. Without absolutely disposing of all of these accusations, Mr. Trueblood makes out a good case for his own belief that 'Don Juan' is Byron's most 'serious criticism of life,' not cynical, not shallow, but standing positively for human freedom and human justice." Carlos Baker
N Y Times p8 Jl 15 '45 650w

TRUESDELL, JUNE. The morgue the merrier. 206p $2 Dodd
45-5085

Detective story.

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p22 Je 3 '45 100w

"On the whole, mildly intriguing." B. I.
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 3 '45 120w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 Je 10 '45 90w

TRUITT, ROBERT WESLEY. Intermediate aerodynamics. 227p $3.75 Pitman
629.1323 Aerodynamics 45-793

"Both theory and descriptive material are included in this textbook for students who have a serious engineering interest in the subject. Such phases as airfoil, drag, load factors, and propellers are treated. A knowledge of mathematics is essential. Aeronautical terms are listed in the appendix." N Y New Tech Bks

"Good text for technical and engineering courses. Aeronautical symbols and nomenclature."
+ Library J 70:120 F 1 '45 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:55 O '44

TRUMBULL, ROBERT OLIVER. Silversides. 217p $2.50 Holt
940.5451 World war, 1939—Naval operations, Submarine. Silversides (submarine) 45-7556

Describes in story form, using the real names of the submarine's officers and crew, the U.S.S. Silversides' adventures in the Pacific. The Silversides has a score of 60,000 tons of enemy shipping sunk, and 35,000 tons damaged. Illustrated with photographs.

Reviewed by J. I. Greene
Book Week p1 Ag 12 '45 1150w
Booklist 42:14 S '45
Bookmark 6:11 N '45
Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 11 '45 220w

"Rover Boy touches give this a certain naive air but the material—even with censorship—on submarine activities and personnel makes a fascinating record of danger within and without."
+ — Kirkus 13:305 Jl 15 '45 170w

"Illuminating detail but written in narrative style more suitable for adolescents than for mature readers." M. C. Manley
Library J 70:684 Ag '45 60w

Reviewed by W. E. Wilson
N Y Times p5 Ag 19 '45 1050w
New Yorker 21:67 Ag 18 '45 70w

Reviewed by Fletcher Pratt
Sat R of Lit 28:26 N 24 '45 450w

"Only a discriminating, imaginative writer can give color, vividness and suspense to such a story, and this is just what Trumbull does in high degree. . . A submarine is no place for the idiosyncrasies of an individualist. The author understands this and much of the value —and fascination—of his account lies in the skill and perception with which he depicts the personalities, duties and responsibilities of each crew member without losing sight of the fact that he is telling the story of daring cruises with their successes and failures." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 12 '45 900w
Wis Lib Bul 41:100 O '45

TRYON, LEWIS ROYER. Poor man's doctor. 233p $2.75 Prentice-Hall
B or 92 SG45-21

Autobiography of an American physician, the last of six generations of his line to take up medicine. From his private practice in Hamburg, Pennsylvania, Dr Tryon went to many other services: during World war I he was overseas in France; he was with the Red Cross in Estonia, fighting typhus; he was a ship's doctor; and finally he was with the Veterans' administration.

Reviewed by Otto Eisenschiml
Book Week p5 Ag 5 '45 300w
Booklist 42:36 O 1 '45

"A likable chronicle, out of the groove but not top drawer."
Kirkus 13:173 Ap 15 '45 130w

"Frank comments on medicine, sex and life. Interesting if not too important. Style undistinguished." G. W. Hill
Library J 70:530 Je 1 '45 130w

"From the pages of this autobiography emerges the personality of an unaffected, vigorous-minded general practitioner, ready to accept life as he finds it—a man of sound sense and a lively, entertaining companion with apparently limitless anecdotes and shop talk and a pungent, professional philosophy of his own." R. T. Bond
+ N Y Times p28 S 9 '45 360w

"Dr. Tryon's candor and informality, and his picture of our miners and how they live, more than make up for his book's lack of drama and the slap-dash, happy-go-lucky writing."
+ — New Yorker 21:68 Ag 4 '45 90w
Scientific Bk Club R 16:2 S '45 360w
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 26 '45 220w

"Those who like to read books about doctors will find this one rewarding. It is the work of a simple unpretentious man who has lived a good life." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Ag 26 '45 800w

TSANG, CHIH. China's postwar markets [pub. for the] Int. secretariat, Inst. of Pacific relations. 239p $3.50 Macmillan
382 China—Commerce. Reconstruction (1939-)—China 45-8365

"The theme of Mr. Tsang is 'that the postwar market of China should not provide a field for exploitation but rather for development.'

Even before the war there was an increasing interest in China as a market, and with peace this will be intensified because of the need for reconstruction of devastated areas. The author believes that the United States can be the principal supplier of goods to China—since China needs machinery and tools, iron and steel, railway equipment and automobiles. . . Detailed lists showing each import and export item, pre-war and estimated post-war, make the book exceedingly valuable for anyone interested in trade with China. Camphor and corkwood, gasoline and gall nuts, hoes and hair nets, lambskins and linoleum, pigs and penicillin, sandalwood and soap, typewriters and tiger bones, watches and wolfram—they're all here, carefully listed and values given." N Y Times

---

"An authoritative and fact-filled volume." N. K. Burger
+ N Y Times p10 S 23 '45 320w

"In the present volume Mr. Tsang has assembled a great deal of valuable information based on pre-war records, the only substantial guides we have at present in estimating the developments of the postwar period. He gives a clear picture of the prospects of postwar trade and economic growth which are likely to materialize in China, and in doing so he emphasizes that not only China but China's friends will be benefited by the development of China if this is conducted on sound lines." Li Choh-Ming
+ Pacific Affairs 18:381 D '45 850w

TUCKER, DURWARD J. Introduction to practical radio. 322p il $3 Macmillan
621.3 Electric engineering. Radio 45-4058

"Fundamental principles for radio engineering or technical work in radio communications accompanied by explanation of necessary mathematics. Essentials of electricity and application to radio. Problems and answers given." Library J

Booklist 42:8 S '45
Library J 70:221 Mr 1 '45 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:28 Ap '45

TUCKER, SOPHIE. Some of these days. 309p $2.50 Doubleday
B or 92 Actors and actresses—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 45-3185

Autobiography of a famous Jewish-American actress-singer, self-styled "the last of the Red Hot Mamas." The story covers the early years of struggle and hardship as well as the years of success.

Reviewed by H. T. Murdock
Book Week p9 Ap 1 '45 330w
Booklist 41:236 Ap 15 '45
Boston Globe p17 Ap 11 '45 310w
Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45

"Definitely show business focus, with nostalgic appeal—all in good humor, honest appreciation."
+ Kirkus 13:30 Ja 15 '45 170w

"Good reading whether the theater interests you particularly or not. Recommended for large public libraries, also theater collections." George Freedley
+ Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 130w

"You may not endorse Miss Tucker's standards or hail with enthusiasm the field of her performance and success—that depends on your taste for variety entertainment—but you cannot miss the sturdy groundwork, the humanity, the job, the unceasing battle, the projection. At bottom, whatever its lurid nonsense at times, that book presents an honest voice."
+ New Repub 113:324 S 10 '45 90w

"This is a sharp, honest and frequently uncorseted tale of what happened to the 'Last of the Red-Hot Mamas' when she played Pantages time, Sullivan-Considine time, the Orpheum Circuit, Poli time, Keith Circuit and sundry other theatrical way stations on her road to fame and considerable fortune. The characters who live in front of the Palace Theatre, yearning for a revival of the two-a-day, will like it." Jo Ranson
+ N Y Times p14 Ap 8 '45 500w

"As an autobiographer Sophie Tucker is—to use her own idiom—a flop. But as an entertainer she is still 'tops,' first and last of the Red-Hot Mammas, bounteous, beloved, melodious, and original, international goddess of off-color laughter and song." Bernard Sobel
Sat R of Lit 28:64 Ap 14 '45 600w

"Miss Tucker's autobiography is the usual theatrical version of the great American success story. Anecdotally and sketchily written, it is entertaining but contributes very little that is new to our knowledge of the period."
Theatre Arts 29:382 Je '45 150w
Time 45:104 Ap 9 '45 20w

"This is where Everybody's Pal tells the story of her life. It turns out to be one of the pleasantest, most ingratiating and unpretentious autobiographies ever turned out by anybody in show business." Stanley Walker
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 25 '45 750w

TUNIS, JOHN ROBERTS. City for Lincoln. 292p $2 Harcourt
45-35202

Springfield, Indiana, is the scene of this story of small-town politics, in which Don Henderson, the basketball coach of Yea, Wildcats (Book Review Digest, 1944) is the hero. In his effort to make Springfield a decent town for young people, Don runs for mayor, and after a tremendous struggle, wins the race. For grade eight and high school.

"I'm not reviewing this book for young people. They'll be smart enough to read it anyway. They know John Tunis and what he stands for and they're not likely to miss anything he writes. But I hope every youngster who gets his hands on a copy will see to it that all adults within reach are made to read it. Because its the grownups who need it most, not the kids." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p1 N 11 '45 900w
Booklist 42:97 N 15 '45
Churchman 159:8 N 15 '45 20w

"Continuing the characters appearing in Yea, Wildcats!, Mr. Tunis writes another fine story, dealing with fair play and the true democratic spirit." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 21:461 N '45 100w

"An excellent book for awakening youth to their challenge as political factors. A demonstration of the workings of self-government, shared responsibility, democratic participation, as minors run an efficient court, etc. Tunis is making a great contribution in a field few others have touched."
+ Kirkus 13:401 S 1 '45 170w

Reviewed by Margaret Miller
Library J 70:1140 D 1 '45 70w

"Though the story seems a little slick, a little too managed in spots, Mr. Tunis makes politics as exciting as sports and of immediate significance. Like Don, he gives youth something to think about and something to believe in." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p34 O 28 '45 230w
Sat R of Lit 28:66 N 10 '45 30w

"Though a typical Tunis sport story is in its own way as much a morality as an Alger or a Frank Merriwell, we respect it more, not only because he writes ten times as well, but because we think of Standish and Alger as reliable workmen shoveling into print a steady supply of pages, while a Tunis story invigorates a formula by being savagely in earnest about it. No one can doubt his conviction that the spirit that formed Lincoln is but a little way above our heads, staying for us to keep it company."
+ Weekly Book Review p18 N 11 '45 500w
Wis Lib Bul 41:130 D '45

TUNNICLIFFE, CHARLES FREDERICK. Bird portraiture. (How to do it ser) 96p il $3.50 (15s) Studio

743.682 Birds—Pictorial works. Animal painting and illustration

Bird studies reproduced in color and in black and white, by a noted English artist. The text contains advice and suggestions for others wishing to make pictorial records of bird life.

Booklist 42:167 Ja 15 '46

"Mr. Tunnicliffe combines the virtues of an artist and a close observer; the birds in his pictures are alive and at the same time their beauty is enhanced by their setting." A. W. B.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Je 13 '45 240w

"Mr. C. F. Tunnicliffe has an altogether exceptional gift for rendering the attitudes of birds, and he also has high skill as a wood-engraver, particularly in suggesting texture and modelling by means of delicate gradations of tone. He has, too, a strong sense of pattern and of contrasting light and shade. His wood-engravings of birds are notably good, both as examples of the medium and for their understanding of the forms and habits of the various species. In colour he is less successful."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p261 Je 2 '45 420w

TURNBULL, ELEANOR LAURELLE, ed. & tr. Contemporary Spanish poetry; selections from ten poets; with Spanish originals and personal reminiscences of the poets by Pedro Salinas. 401p $3.50 Johns Hopkins press [23s 6d Oxford]

861.08 Spanish poetry—Collections. Spanish poetry—Translations into English A45-3516

A collection of 146 poems by ten contemporary Spanish poets: Rafael Alberti, Vicente Aleixandre, Manuel Altolaguirre, Luis Cernuda, Gerardo Diego, Federico García Lorca, Jorge Guillén, José Moreno Villa, Emilio Prados, Pedro Salinas.

Reviewed by Pearl Strachan

Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 28 '45 350w

"Miss Turnbull's translations do not err on the side of ambition: she has eschewed rhyme, almost entirely; done little with assonance; followed the text closely, though sometimes transposing lines; in general, she has been content to convey the statement of the original, with not too much concern for the effects. The language in which the poems come out does not sound too translationish; one would recognize the originals for poetry, or sometimes rhetoric, rather than for prose." Rolfe Humphries

Nation 161:159 Ag 18 '45 650w

Reviewed by Dudley Fitts

N Y Times p6 D 16 '45 650w

"Leaving Garcia Lorca on one side and judging the others purely on the basis of what is offered here, all manifest the same 'difficult thinness' (the phrase is Guillén's and the thinness is more apparent than the difficulty). They show the same influence of imagist technique which makes the parts as a rule more important than the whole; the same touch of surrealism; the same striving for 'purity' and coolness; the same modicum of the metaphysical and trace of Gongorist reminiscence. Each of them, of course, has a sharply personal idiom of his own and most of them would strike one as arresting and evocative if not really large talents, were it not for the unfortunate monotony that comes from a whole book made up so largely from a single school." B. D. Wolfe

Weekly Book Review p18 Ag 26 '45 650w

TURNER, CHARLES WILLIAM. Ruy Barbosa, Brazilian crusader for the essential freedoms; with a foreword by Oswaldo Aranha. 208p il $2 Abingdon-Cokesbury

B or 92 Barbosa, Ruy 45-35048

"The record of Brazil's great liberal leader whose life (1849-1923) covered a period of conflicts and changes in which he was an active participant—among them the establishment of Brazil's republic, the abolition of slavery, and the separation of church and state. Besides Barbosa's contributions to reform and progress in his own country, his uncompromising defense of the establishment of law among nations at the Hague conference of 1907 marks him as one of the pioneers of world order. Style is readable but not lively. Appendix contains a historical chronology." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 42:55 O 15 '45

"The publication of this American biography of a great Brazilian is timely; the world needs to know more about those in the past who have reached international stature. To those who believe that this is the century of the common man, the life of Ruy Barbosa is a fine example of one who nearly a century ago championed the cause of the greatest good for the greatest number."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:14 Je '45 240w

TURNER, LIDA LARRIMORE (MRS C. E. THOMAS) (LIDA LARRIMORE, pseud). Bugles in her heart. 248p $2 Macrae Smith co. 44-8713

A large family, complicated by in-laws, a frail father, a dauntless mother, and a sister in love with a heel, was Jan's responsibility. Then a young navy doctor got Jan into war work. After that the family had to do some readjusting, and Jan had other worries, for she had to decide for herself whether she wanted to marry a personable bachelor of forty, or the young navy doctor.

"Pleasant patina for light doings."

+ Kirkus 12:350 Ag 15 '44 80w

"Here is a quiet and persuasively presented story of war-time living." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p16 O 15 '44 70w

"The characters are life-like and, as a whole, the story has more 'body' than the average run of its type."

+ Wis Lib Bul 41:21 Ja '45

TURNER, WALTER JAMES, ed. Romance of English literature [Eng title: Impressions of English literature]; introd. by Kate O'Brien. 324p il col pl $5 Hastings house [16s Collins]

820.9 English literature—History and criticism A45-2976

"The seven pieces of writing collected in this volume embrace between them—broadly indeed and with an elasticity imposed by their form, the whole field of English achievement in literature." (Introd) Contents: The English Bible, by Herbert Grierson; The English poets, by David Cecil; British dramatists, by Graham Greene; British historians, by E. L. Woodward; English diaries and journals, by Kate O'Brien; English novelists, by Elizabeth Bowen; British philosophers, by Kenneth Matthews. Index.

"Manufactured in England, in a time of severe limitations and restrictions, this book is a booklover's gem, and no one could fail to appreciate and treasure it for its numerous illustrations, many of them full-page color reproductions of famous paintings and manuscripts. More than that, at a time when the world is searching after peace and unity, this book will emphasize the common heritage of all English-speaking peoples." Walter Hendricks

+ Book Week p10 F 25 '45 550w

"There is little of the lecture room here, but much of enjoyment and individualized interpretation, for a harmonious, tasteful study. It is virtually an illustrated history of English literature, which presents, in conjunction with a lovely bit of bookmaking, fine-drawn criticism and appreciation by seven authors of unusual standing. Scholarship is subdued but inherent in each estimate."

+ Kirkus 13:47 F 1 '45 130w

"Essays give a rapid survey and necessarily cover a large field, but are well and interestingly written, particularly the first three. Might well serve as basis for more intensive reading." Margaret Owen

+ Library J 69:1047 D 1 '44 100w

Reviewed by Louise Bogan

Nation 160:454 Ap 21 '45 550w

"In most books pictures accompany the text. Here, in terms of emphasis, it is truer to say that the text accompanies the pictures. For by any qualitative scale of measurement, the pictures as a whole are worth more attention than the essays as a whole. . . It is probably fairest to say that six of the seven essays do, within the indicated limits, about what could be expected—and a little more. The exception is Lord David Cecil on the English poets, from which the ignorant might extract something of use, but over which few others will linger except to notice that the gentleman has contented himself with a few safe generalizations." Carlos Baker

+ — N Y Times p7 Mr 25 '45 800w

"All the essays are good, Miss Bowen's and Mr. Greene's in particular, but it is the two hundred splendid illustrations (portraits, etchings, reproductions of pages of manuscript, and so on) that make this book a valuable addition to anyone's library."

+ New Yorker 21:83 Mr 3 '45 140w

"The text is informed and civilized, but the feature of the undertaking is the numerous illustrations, portraits in color, old woodcuts, manuscripts reproduced in facsimile."

+ Weekly Book Review p23 F 11 '45 110w

TUTE, SIR RICHARD CLIFFORD. After materialism—what? 222p $3 Dutton

215 Materialism. Religion and science
45-2340

"Philosophical treatise on science nad religion, space-time concept, and four-dimensional universe. . . Author argues that while materialism has exercised enormous influence in all civilized countries, there will be a return to religious ideas, especially Christian ideals. Reviews work of eminent scientists: Minkowski, Einstein, Whitehead, Jeans, Eddington, Ouspensky." Library J

"The avowed purpose of this book is nothing less than to effect a reconciliation between science and religion. Its author is widely read in both fields and is convinced that they supplement each other, combining to present a harmonious explanation of man and the universe. . . The book, for all its comprehensiveness and serious intent, is to this reviewer's mind far from conclusive and does not achieve its pretentious aim." Roger Hazelton

— + Christian Century 62:679 Je 6 '45 750w

"In the first three chapters, which the author notes as reprinted from the Hibbert Journal, the transitions are non sequiturs, the thinking is all wishful, the author has apparently no logical conscience whatever. I do not know what it could be good for, except to illustrate fallacies in a logic course. The rest of the book is not too unacceptable. He touches on the mystics and theosophists, Jeans and Eddington, Whitehead, Ouspensky, who is too much even for our author, Levy, Northrop, James Mackaye; everyone must be made to corroborate his views, and the transitions of thought are still on the arbitrary side. His argument is, I think, without real weight, but not so absurd as in expounding his main thesis." H. T. C.

— J Philos 42:418 Jl 19 '45 550w

"Those who are interested in mysticism in its various manifestations will find in this volume an argument based on the scientific point of view in support of their interpretation of religious truth. The book will interest others, however, because of its attempt to demonstrate that the findings of the scientists and the search for truth of religionists of all kinds point to one spiritual reality, in the face of which materialistic philosophy breaks down entirely."

Kirkus 13:130 Mr 15 '45 170w

Reviewed by L. R. Etzkorn

Library J 70:305 Ap 1 '45 110w

Springf'd Republican p4 S 1 '45 420w

TWEED, GEORGE RAY. Robinson Crusoe, USN; the adventures of George R. Tweed, as told to Blake Clark. (Whittlesey house publication) 267p il $2.75 McGraw

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Guam
45-3417

Describes the adventures of an American navy man who lived from hand to mouth in a series of shelters and caves on Guam for two and a half years after the island was taken by the Japs. Often he escaped from his temporary shelters just ahead of the Japs, who had offered a large reward for his capture. The natives were loyal to him for the most part, and many of them were tortured and killed because they would not reveal his hiding places. He was finally rescued in the summer of 1944.

Booklist 41:252 My 1 '45

Bookmark 6:12 My '45

Christian Science Monitor p12 My 26 '45 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45

Foreign Affairs 24:162 O '45 40w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin

Horn Bk 21:278 Jl '45 100w

"Fascinating in the ingenuity of his manufacturing homemade 'comforts' out of very little; an encouraging picture of the loyalty and courage of the natives who gave unstintedly from meagre stores, and who betrayed him out of sheer friendliness and wanting to share him with their friends."

+ Kirkus 13:50 F 1 '45 190w

"The notes on reading and study are inspiring. The clear direct style gives it appeal for those who want action. Excellent for young people as well as for mature readers. Suitable for any library budget." M. C. Manley

+ Library J 70:218 Mr 1 '45 110w

Reviewed by Vincent McHugh

New Repub 112:682 My 14 '45 1150w

"Tweed's story is an exciting account, valuable not only as a study of how one American made out as a cave man, but also as one further insight into the brutal Japanese enemy." Barrett McGurn

+ N Y Times p6 Ap 15 '45 950w

New Yorker 21:91 Ap 21 '45 130w

"An outstanding job of this kind of writing for which the collaborator deserves as much credit as Tweed himself. The latter furnished the observing eye which seldom missed anything either of physical surroundings or personal reactions. Indeed it is one of the best balanced books of the war. Mr. Clark has let Tweed tell his story in straightforward prose without over-emphasis or a single cliche—the endemic faults of most personal experience writing." Fletcher Pratt

+ Sat R of Lit 28:31 Ag 4 '45 600w

"In many ways this book is superior to the 'Robinson Crusoe' we read as children. Tweed was confronted by greater dangers and greater difficulties. And his ingenuity was also greater: Electric lights, a radio, a newspaper which circulated from hand to hand all over Guam, an elaborate alarm system, furniture and clothing, these were some of the things Tweed contrived during his 2½ years of dangerous exile. Readers will marvel at the tenacity and will to live of a fellow man. . . This is a book to read. It is also a book to own; your children and your grandchildren will want to read it some day." R. A. Brown

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 15 '45 650w

Time 45:102 Ap 23 '45 700w

"Mr. Clark does such an able job of recounting Tweed's tale for him that one forgets about the existence of an intermediary." Marcus Duffield

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 8 '45 950w

TWENTIETH CENTURY FUND, INC. Financing American prosperity; a symposium of economists; contributors: Benjamin M. Anderson [and others] editors: Paul T. Homan [and] Fritz Machlup. 508p $3 The fund

338.91 U.S.—Economic policy. Reconstruction (1939-)—U.S. Unemployment 45-9728

"The six contributors to this interesting symposium on American economic prospects represent a fair cross-section of professional opinion. Their views range from the extreme rightwing attitudes of Benjamin M. Anderson, former Chase National Bank economist, to the considerably more liberal ideas of Alvin H. Hansen and John Maurice Clark. The other contributors are Howard Ellis, Sumner Slichter and John H. Williams. Anderson, as one might anticipate, harshly criticizes recent economic policy and urgently calls for a return to pre-New Deal philosophy. Clark and Hansen, on the other hand, insist that wise public policy requires measures to balance consumption and saving. Ellis, who would perhaps subscribe to Williams' proposal for a high-wage low-price program, launches a telling attack on monopolistic tendencies." (New Repub) Index.

Reviewed by L. B. Krueger
Book Week p12 N 25 '45 230w

"The book adequately reflects trends in American economic thinking. The very lack of unanimity is perhaps an indication why we have no cohesive economic policy."
+ New Repub 113:686 N 19 '45 180w

U

ULLMAN, JAMES RAMSEY. White tower. 479p $3 Lippincott

45-7803

When Martin Ordway's plane crashed over Switzerland, he came down into a little valley in the Alps which he had known years before the war. Overshadowing the valley is the Weissturm, a high peak never climbed from that side. While he is waiting for an opportunity to get back home Martin succumbs to a long felt desire to try the climb and with five others he makes the attempt. The story combines the account of the adventure of climbing with the meditations and reminiscences of the various members of the group.

"I don't know how far to trust the symbolism of this Alpine fraternity, all of whom are trying to escape from the reality of a sick world. . . But I do know that the terror and loneliness of great height are here described with power and beauty. I know that the intimacy and warmth of Alpine hut and of canvas under snow stand out like oases in the long drudge of this climb. I know that Martin is by turns a salty and idealized American, and I could wish that it had not taken quite so long to follow his exploits. The novelist is intent that every reader shall share in the ordeal and exhaustion of the climb. This is right. But all through the latter stages, he resorts to repetitions of the gray rock world and to flashbacks of earlier reminiscence which stretch out the narrative without deepening its interest." Edward Weeks
+ — Atlantic 176:133 S '45 800w

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky
Book Week p1 S 9 '45 1050w

Booklist 42:20 S '45

Bookmark 6:16 N '45

"An entire novel, almost 500 pages of it, about six people on a mountain in Switzerland. Who has ever imagined such a phenomenon? It must have needed both vision and courage to have undertaken the writing of it; but these qualities James Ramsay Ullman possessed in abundance." Margaret Williamson
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 S 5 '45 650w

Cleveland Open Shelf p20 S '45

"Absorbing reading—with some of the finest writing of the season—a rewarding book, even in the passages where the pace is slowed down by the inner seekings of the characters."
+ Kirkus 13:301 Jl 15 '45 300w

"Thrilling drama portrayed with psychological authenticity makes this realistic novel of action, romance and thought one sure to have a wide general appeal amongst all but sketchy readers. Highly recommended for library purchase." H. S. Taylor
+ Library J 70:750 S 1 '45 90w

"In plain words, the book is a phony. It is full of phony coincidence, phony characterization, pretentious speculations on French decadence, [and] stereotyped 'insights' into the German psyche." Isaac Rosenfeld
— New Repub 113:582 O 29 '45 420w

"It is only in its ambitious social and transcendental aspects that 'The White Tower' is insubstantial. The love of Martin and Carla, though ideal, is well projected into their shared adventure; the differences between the Nazi and the American . . . come out largely in action, as they should in a novel, instead of in the long theoretic discourses to which some war novels have accustomed us. But the ultimate meaning of this displacement of war strivings and conflicts to the conquest of a mountain peak eludes us—even though Martin gives it much soliloquizing." R. G. Davis
+ — N Y Times p5 S 9 '45 1450w

Reviewed by J. D. Adams
N Y Times p2 O 14 '45 950w

"[The book] has been extravagantly praised. Some of this praise, hailing the author's ability to turn out a good adventure story, is not altogether undeserved. Mr. Ullman knows how to get drama and tension into a book, and if what is wanted is an adventure story, along with an ungodly amount of trash, this is one of the best in some time. . . The part of the book devoted to climbing is excellent. I know of no other piece of fiction, with the exception of a fine short story called 'Forty-third Division,' by Ralph Bates, that gets the exertion and exhilaration of that sport so well. . . But, while he's a good man with a piton, the thin, high air of philosophy and mysticism does strange things to him." Hamilton Basso
+ — New Yorker 21:79 S 29 '45 450w

"There have been many plays and novels in which the interest has centered in the development and revelation of the several characters of a group submitted to a common trial. . . It is this basic pattern that we find in 'The White Tower,' but Mr. Ullman has used it as freshly as if it had never been used before, and has avoided hackneyed variations along with easy ironies and stock surprises. He has also imbued his tale with remarkable vitality, while being served in its telling by a rich fund of special knowledge. . . If promises are partly unredeemed, it is probably because the promises are far from small. And if Mr. Ullman falls short of the summit, even as Martin Ordway, he still climbs impressively." B. R. Redman
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:11 S 22 '45 1450w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p4d S 9 '45 650w

"You can lead many a good novelist to a mountain, but you cannot make him climb; it is easier, perhaps to lead a good mountaineer to a typewriter, especially if he has ideas, ideals, inventiveness, enthusiasm and is already a practiced author. The result, in James Ramsey Ullman's novel 'The White Tower,' will very likely be one of the successes of the season, and it deserves to be." James Hilton
+ Weekly Book Review p3 S 9 '45 1050w

Wis Lib Bul 41:102 O '45

Reviewed by Orville Prescott
Yale R n s 35:382 winter '46 420w

UNAMUNO Y JUGO, MIGUEL DE. Perplexities and paradoxes; tr. from the Spanish by Stuart Gross. 165p $2.50 Philosophical lib.

864

Essays on a variety of subjects by a famous Spanish thinker, now dead. The essays were collected by the author's nephew in Buenos Aires and translated by Professor Stuart Gross of Hofstra college. Altho some of the essays are old, they nevertheless contain the sparks of fire for which the anti-Franco, anti-falangist writer was noted. Partial contents: My religion; Concerning public opinion; Writers and the people; Politics and culture; Ibsen and Kierkegaard; The Spanish Christ; Fanatical scepticism; On obscenity; Don Juan Tenorio; Pseudoscience; On lust; To a young writer.

"The appearance of a new book by Unamuno is potentially a literary event of the first order. . .Whether he is discussing Kierkegaard or obscenity, Unamuno is always interesting. When he dissects the effect of Hispanic envy on Spain's children in the Peninsula and the New World, when he casts a bored glance at Don Juan Tenorio, when he justifies his liking for the supperrealism of carved Spanish Christs or mourns over the increase of licentiousness . . . at such moments he is the puritan Basque, castigating the evils that surround him. When he praises Barcelona at the expense of Madrid he is the impish thorn in the proud Castilian flesh. In this translation the famous Unamuno style loses sparkle and the gift for paradox goes dim. But the echo is still there. . . There is every reason for collecting and publishing the bubbles of ferment in this volume. But to enjoy their full flavor one must still go to Unamuno's 'Life of Don Quixote and Sancho Panza,' and to that book whose title haunts our present world, 'The Tragic Sense of Life.' Compared to them, this book comes as an extended footnote." Mildred Adams

+ Nation 161:598 D 1 '45 850w

"Here is a book that should be cause for rejoicing, for it makes available in English nineteen essays by Miguel de Unamuno hitherto not translated. The author has been dead nearly a decade, and the essays are several decades older, yet, despite their apparently occasional character, these passionate, crotchety, paradoxical and poetic preachments aiming at Spain's self-understanding and regeneration still grow in stature and in the universality of their application." B. D. Wolfe

+ Weekly Book Review p16 Ja 6 '46 900w

UNDERHILL, EVELYN (MRS STUART MOORE). Light of Christ; addresses given at the House of retreat, Pleshey, in May, 1932; with a memoir by Lucy Menzies. 107p $1.75 (5s) Longmans

248 Jesus Christ. Retreats (religious) 45-4942

Collection of addresses by this English mystic. "The thought is the direct and simple one, that just as it is only when the light from outside comes through the stained glass window that its beauty is revealed, so the true Christian life is one whose source is Christ. The idea is displayed from various points of view, but it never becomes abstract or detached. She is always conscious of her hearers and their lives, and is not so much expounding a thesis, as passing on an experience." (Times [London] Lit Sup)

Booklist 42:3 S '45

Reviewed by A. L. Byron-Curtiss
Churchman 159:15 S 1 '45 70w

"They were never prepared by the author for publication, and possibly here or there she would have made some substitution for a colloquialism, but the very fact that they can be read unrevised from the notebook which she carried about with her adds to their personal value. . . The book should be valued by many more people than those who heard the addresses given."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p143 Mr 24 '45 150w

UNDERWOOD, KENNETH WILSON. Christianity where you live. 182p $1; pa 60c Friendship press

277.3 U.S.—Church history. U.S.—Social conditions 45-4692

"Designed for use by local church groups and sponsored by practically all the denominations, this [is an] interdenominational home missions text. . . Home missions are interpreted in terms of the great social forces at work in the local community and the national life: the upsurge of the labor and minority masses; the cooperative economic movements; the cycle of swollen populations and deflated industrial communities arising out of wartime production; the new sectarian religious movements; the migrant agricultural workers; returning service men; and the new interdenominational strategy of Protestantism." Christian Century

Booklist 42:3 S '45

"One of the most readable interpretations of home missions now available. The newspaperman's art has been appropriated with a vengeance—even to some of the journalist's weaknesses. There is some careless handling of details, such as inaccurate identification of organizations and people. Although regrettable, these are incidental." J. W. Harms

+ — Christian Century 62:886 Ag 1 '45 280w

Reviewed by A. L. Byron-Curtis
Churchman 159:15 D 1 '45 120w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '45

UNDSET, SIGRID, ed. True and untrue, and other Norse tales [based on the original stories coll. by Moe and Asbjørnsen] il. by Frederick T. Chapman. 253p $2.50 Knopf

398 Folklore, Norse 45-8981

Contents: The adventure story of the folk tale—a foreword; True and untrue; The mastermaid; Soria Moria castle; The seven foals; Dapplegrim; Farmer Weathersky; The giant who had no heart in his body; The big bird Dan; The boy with the ale keg; The blacksmith they were afraid to receive in hell; Gertrude's bird; Why the sea is salt; Buttercup; Herding the king's hares; The ashlad who made the princess say, "You lie."; Well done and ill paid; Why the bear is stumpy-tailed; The fox as herdsman; Gudbrand on the hillside; Little Frikk and his fiddle; The husband who was to mind the house; Not a pin to choose between them; The squire's bride; The master thief; The parson and the sexton; East o' the sun and west o' the moon; The reward of the world.

Booklist 42:97 N 15 '45

Reviewed by A. C. Moore
Horn Bk 21:446 N '45 100w

"Eight and nine year olds will love these folk tales of Norway—they are a bit advanced for the younger children in this age group, but have permanent value for basic collections of national folk lore."

+ Kirkus 13:470 O 15 '45 80w

Reviewed by J. D. Lindquist
Library J 70:1138 D 1 '45 20w

"They are delightful. The old Norse magic of trolls, of feats East of the Sun and West of the Moon, is here, a native magic. . The illustrations, black and white, are on the conventional side, but very pleasing." Eudora Welty

+ N Y Times p7 N 11 '45 180w

New Yorker 21:128 D 8 '45 60w

"It is a good-looking book with a particularly clear, readable type and strong, humorous drawings. . . Children will love this book. Its foreword should make it a 'must' book in any courses that are given on folklore or the literature of story telling." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:54 N 10 '45 450w

Weekly Book Review p8 N 11 '45 450w

UNITED STATES. ARMY. Chief of staff. General Marshall's report; The winning of the war in Europe and the Pacific; biennial report, July 1, 1943 to June 30, 1945, to the Secretary of war; pub. for the War dept. in cooperation with the Council on bks. in wartime. 123p maps $2.50; pa $1 Simon & Schuster 940.53 World war, 1939-1945—Campaigns and battles. World war, 1939-1945—U.S.

General Marshall's brief, succinct report, on the American achievements in the war in Europe and in the Pacific. His report begins with the outline of the attack on southern

UNITED STATES. ARMY—Continued
Italy, and ends with the action of the atomic bomb and the collapse of Japan. Includes maps, and order of battle for each campaign.

"If the art of prose lies in clear, concise communication of ideas, 'General Marshall's Report' is a work of art. Any literate citizen can, in some three or four hours' time, learn more about the war in Europe and in the Pacific than he has learned by reading newspapers and periodicals for the last four years." Sterling North
+ Book Week p2 O 21 '45 700w
Booklist 42:74 N 1 '45
Current Hist 9:549 D '45 60w

"General Marshall does not want America's security carried in a paper bag. If his own dark view of future world peace is the only correct one, then his philosophy of military might becomes the only acceptable philosophy, though it remains a comfortless one. But if there is more hope than the General believes, then a paper bag will do, provided it be the kind of paper upon which fifty nations last June set down the United Nations Charter." Denis Plimmer
+ — New Repub 113:561 O 29 '45 2550w

"This book bears witness that General Marshall is master not only of the verbal but also of the written word. It is a brilliant account of General Marshall's stewardship of the nation's safety during the past two years—the years of victory—and at the same time the valedictory of the man who is shortly to retire as Chief of Staff of the Army." H. W. Baldwin
+ N Y Times p1 O 14 '45 3100w
New Yorker 21:98 O 27 '45 90w

"This report is the greatest state paper of the war. Its publication is not the least of the services which General of the Army George C. Marshall has performed for his country—and it could be given no higher praise than that. It is required reading for every American citizen. It is required study material for every school and college. It is written with a forceful simplicity and clarity of style which makes it easy to understand. It is a story of victory, a tale to lift the heart with pride; but it is more than that, for underneath its account of vast accomplishment runs the calm, clear understanding of what might have been." G. F. Eliot
+ Sat R of Lit 28:21 O 13 '45 1100w
Springf'd Republican p6 O 17 '45 120w

"Unreservedly I recommend that this report be read and its suggestions become the subject of a great debate. It is not only the report of a military leader who presided over our arms at an unprecedented time. It is restless, contemporary history written with clarity and grace by a man who helped make it. Above all it is a letter to the American people from an intelligent devoted public servant on the question: How can we become in some measure the master of our destiny? Addressed to the Secretary of War, it is really intended for John Cosmos, U.S.A." J. R. Walsh
+ Weekly Book Review p1 O 21 '45 1650w

Reviewed by Foster Hailey
Yale R n s 35:343 winter '46 1700w

UNITED STATES. ARMY. European theater of operations. 48 million tons to Eisenhower. See Leigh, Randolph

UNITED STATES. OFFICE OF THE COORDINATOR OF INTER-AMERICAN AFFAIRS. Our American neighbors. 280p col il $3 Am. council on public affairs

918 Latin America

"This material was originally issued as a series of pamphlets during 1943 and 1944. Errors have been corrected and some of the pamphlets have been brought up to date. Text, illustrations, maps, and pictographs present in succinct form information on the history, the economic, social and cultural life of the 20 Latin-American countries." Booklist

Booklist 41:235 Ap 15 '45

"In an official publication of this sort it was doubtless prudent to omit everything that would hurt anybody's feelings, either in the countries described or in the United States, and to avoid all controversial questions. Political revolutions and dictatorships are touched very gingerly. The depressed and repressed condition of the common people in many of the countries is only hinted at by noticing some of the improvements that have been made. One would never guess that the Roman Catholic Church had any important place in determining, for better or worse, the culture and institutions of the countries, or that it had any influence either for or against democratic reforms."
Christian Century 62:683 Je 6 '45 280w

"Omitted is any reference to governmental fascism or other controversial subjects; so that the picture is partial and misleading, although correct in most of its statements."
Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 9 '45 60w
Cleveland Open Shelf p18 S '45
Foreign Affairs 24:171 O '45 20w

Reviewed by Mildred Adams
N Y Times p11 Jl 8 '45 230w

Reviewed by Robert Okin
Sat R of Lit 28:17 Ag 11 '45 90w

Reviewed by Dorothy Woodward
Social Educ 9:326 N '45 900w

Reviewed by H. M. Clark
Social Studies 37:41 Ja '46 1100w

"A neat little volume . . . frankly propaganda of the better sort. All the devices of good salesmanship have been employed to entice readers. The 'copy' is lively as well as factual. Fine types, papers and inks, animated graphs, maps and illustrations delight the eye." J. B. Buxton
Springf'd Republican p6 Ap 4 '45 420w

UNITED STATES. OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION. American handbook. 508p il $3.75 Am. council on public affairs

917.3 U.S.—Social conditions. U.S.—Politics and government 45-35026

"A compendium of information on life and institutions in the United States. Though prepared primarily to acquaint other countries with our resources and way of life, it will be highly useful as a reference tool in our own libraries as well. Thirty-eight sections cover briefly and clearly social, economic, cultural, military, and governmental phases." Booklist

Reviewed by J. M. Reinhardt
Am Soc R 10:434 Je '45 350w
Book Week p8 Ap 15 '45 150w
Booklist 41:223 Ap 1 '45

"A very useful compendium."
+ Foreign Affairs 23:695 Jl '45 50w
New Repub 112:455 Ap 2 '45 230w

Reviewed by Aaron Bell
N Y Times p7 My 13 '45 1250w

"Thanks to skillful selection and good literary style, the subject matter is lifted above the level of the average handbook. Its value abroad in providing reliable information about the United States is obvious; its value at home should also be very considerable, especially as a reference book for schools and for citizens in every walk of life." C. C. Qualey
+ Social Educ 9:233 My '45 550w
Social Studies 36:376 D '45 20w

UNITED STATES cumulative book auction records, 1940-42, 1942-43, 1943-44; the definitive serial, cumulative record of all books, pamphlets, mss, periodicals and autographs selling in American auction rooms for $3 or more. (V2-4) ltd ed 3v 1940-42 $15; 1942-43 $7.50; 1943-44 $10 Want list, 95 Broad st, N.Y. 4

655.56 Books—Prices (42-1571)

"According to the subtitle, this is 'the definitive serial, cumulative record of all books, pamphlets, manuscripts, periodicals and autographs selling in American auction rooms for $3.00 or more.' It follows the usual cumulative plan of publication, issuing three paper-covered parts for the current season, averaging about 250 pages each. These may be returned to the publisher for full credit toward the annual bound volume, issued in August. This in turn may be returned the following year for credit toward the two-year volume. If this plan is followed, a library at the end of five years will have one volume containing the cumulated auction records for the years 1940-45; whereupon the cycle will be started again. . . Each volume follows the same plan of arrangement: auction key, glossary of abbreviations, collections dispersed at auction, explanation of method of compilation, corrigenda, A-Z author entries. The auction key is a chronological list of auctions and their dates with an arbitrary serial number assigned to each auction. . . Since the usual bibliographic abbreviations are used throughout the text, the full-page glossary is a necessity. Whenever one or more private libraries are sold at auction, that fact is noted in the table of collections dispensed at auction." Subscription Bks Bul

"While a record of book auctions would seem to be beyond the reach of the small library, and might be classed as a luxury even to the small college library, it is very useful to any library that purchases many books from second-hand sources. It is frequently the only place to which a librarian or a library patron can turn for a record of the value of a book, pamphlet or set. Libraries that already have a record of American book auctions, particularly if it covers a number of years, will not need another. Libraries and collectors, whose main interest is in current prices, will find the service under review an eminently useful tool. It is recommended."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 16:10 Ja '45 750w

UNITED STATES in a multi-national economy, by Jacob Viner and others. 174p $2 Council on foreign relations

330.973 U.S.—Commercial policy. U.S.—Economic policy 45-5888

"Seven essays by competent economists posing the responsibilities of the U.S. in assuming intelligent economic leadership in the postwar period." (Booklist) Contents: The American interest in the colonial problem, by Jacob Viner; Postwar controls of the German economy, by P. W. Bidwell; What shall Germany pay? by William Diebold; International monetary and financial programs, by A. H. Hansen; The American merchant marine after the war, by William Diebold; Economic aspects of lend-lease, by A. D. Gayer; The expansion of international trade, by P. W. Bidwell; Appendix: The economic basis of the Junker class, by H. L. MacBride.

Booklist 42:14 S '45

Foreign Affairs 23:690 Jl '45 20w

Reviewed by A. T. Bonnell

Pol Sci Q 60:603 D '45 1350w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:26 D '45 280w

UNIVERSAL Jewish encyclopedia; an authoritative and popular presentation of Jews and Judaism since the earliest times; ed. by Isaac Landman; Louis Rittenberg, executive and lit. editor. 10v il maps set $100 '39-'43 Universal Jewish encyclopedia, inc.

296.03 Jews—Dictionaries and encyclopedias (40-5070)

"An authoritative and popular presentation of Jews and Judaism since the earliest times. . . The first three volumes of this set were reviewed at length in Subscription Books Bulletin April 1941 [Book Review Digest, 1941]. Volumes 4 and 5 were published in 1941; volumes 6, 7 and 8, in 1942; volumes 9 and 10, in 1943. There are more than 12,000 entries in this 10-volume set including numerous biographical articles about Jews and non-Jews who have made contributions to Jewish history." Subscription Bks Bul

"We can hardly expect a Jewish writer to know accurately or to consider dispassionately the arguments defending the Christian claims, but apart from a few prejudicial and inaccurate articles on the Virgin Birth and the Trinity, the present volume is fairly free of anti-Christian prejudice. We cannot find fault with Jewish writers who deplore the false accusations of ritual murder, two instances of which occur in this volume."

Cath World 159:188 My '44 170w (Review of v 10)

"Volumes 4-10 measure up to the former volumes in treatment of subject matter and format and, in the main, show better proportion in space accorded to subjects included. . . The up-to-date information for individual countries, states and cities, pictures of synagogues and much other information very difficult to obtain elsewhere make this a useful reference work for students and general readers. The Universal Jewish Encyclopedia is, therefore, recommended because it is a valuable reference work on subjects pertaining to Jewish history and culture, because it is up to date and has popular appeal. For serious research, however, it will need supplementing with additional authorities."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 16:11 Ja '45 750w

UNTERMEYER, LOUIS. Wonderful adventures of Paul Bunyan; now retold; together with il. by Everett Gee Jackson. 131p $3 Heritage

398.21 Bunyan, Paul 45-7433

A retelling of the Paul Bunyan fable, in which "the familiar characters, the familiar incidents are all here, but there is more background, often more detail in their telling." (Sat R of Lit) Illustrated in color, and in black and white.

"Here is a conscientious retelling of the standard Paul Bunyan yarns, with some good new twists of hyperbole and imagery. But the author's style—in comparison with the lusty colloquial of Esther Shepardson's or Glen Rounds' versions—seems a trifle flat, like a warmed-over meal. Mr. Jackson's pictures make Paul look more lump than mighty and the colors are curiously feminine for such a vigorous subject." E. L. B.

— + N Y Times p8 Ja 6 '46 90w

"Even the rowdiest of our American tall tales needs a poet to weave into it the rhythm of the spoken word. Paul Bunyan's story has been told, and told well, by many different writers and in many different ways, but for storytellers this new version by Louis Untermeyer will probably be the most popular because he gives the story both clarity and rhythm. His continuity is in the words as well as in the action. . . The artist makes Paul a Swede rather than an American—which will probably disturb Canada, who thinks of him as a French Canadian. This reviewer would have liked the drawings better if they had remained black and white." M. G. D.

+ — Sat R of Lit 29:47 Ja 19 '46 410w

UPFIELD, ARTHUR WILLIAM. Death of a swagman. 221p $2 Doubleday 45-9776

Detective story.

Booklist 42:129 D 15 '45

"Again an original tale—much more workmanlike this time in the writing."

+ Kirkus 13:350 Ag 15 '45 70w

"The motive for the murder is one of the strangest ever found in detective fiction. Mr. Upfield's enthusiasm for the Australian bush leads him to devote far too much attention to the landscape." Isaac Anderson

+ — N Y Times p32 O 28 '45 120w

"Bonaparte comes through with a solution that is based on one of the most curious motives you're apt to meet up with in or out of a detective story. This flaw will probably be overlooked by Bonaparte fans."

+ — New Yorker 21:115 O 20 '45 110w

"Colorful."

+ Sat R of Lit 28:37 O 27 '45 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p20 N 18 '45 130w

UPTON, WILLIAM TREAT, ed. See Sonneck, O. G. T. Bibliography of early secular American music

URENA, PEDRO HENRIQUEZ. See Henriquez-Urena, P.

URMSTON, MARY. Mystery of the old barn; il by Grace Paull. 180p $2 Doubleday
45-6794

Mystery story for young readers.

"I know the word any eight to eleven-year-old boy or girl will have for this: 'It's swell!' Judy and Mark and Roger are a likable trio and the story is well handled."
+ Book Week p18 Je 3 '45 150w
Bookmark 6:16 Ag '45
Kirkus 13:109 Mr 1 '45 110w

"In spite of the slight plot, young mystery fans will enjoy the satisfactory ending." Margaret Miller
+ Library J 70:493 My 15 '45 50w

"A lively, amusing and thoroughly natural tale. A fine family relationship is suggested and the children and their mother are well drawn." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p18 My 13 '45 100w

"It would have been just a good story if there had been no mystery at all. The title will probably cause it to be taken more often from the shelves of the public library and the book stores. But the real reason for liking it is that it is a good story about real and amusing people. The illustrations are in Grace Paull's characteristic style." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:34 S 8 '45 210w

"The explanation, every good mystery deserves a good one, is entirely plausible. . . No particular educational purpose is served by this lively mystery, but it fills a place for ten-year-olds because something keeps happening in it right along, always within the bounds of probability but with not too much room to spare." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Je 3 '45 360w

URWICK, LYNDALL. Elements of administration. 132p $2 Harper [7s 6d Pitman]
658.01 Industrial management A45-2049

"This book brings together the general administrative theories of several outstanding writers in the field of scientific management. Although there is an occasional reference to others, Mr. Urwick is concerned primarily with comparing the principles of Henri Fayol, Frederick W. Taylor, Mooney and Reiley, and Mary Parker Follett. To these he adds his own analyses, to buttress and supplement their thinking." Am Pol Sci R

"The author is to be congratulated on his insights and pithy statements. The book is perhaps the best systematic presentation of scientific principles of administration in brief compass which has yet appeared." M. E. Dimock
+ Am Pol Sci R 39:180 F '45 600w

"A brief and pungent volume of 130 pages which all students of government, business management, and administration will want to read and ponder." Luther Gulick
+ Ann Am Acad 240:176 Jl '45 430w
Booklist 41:206 Mr 15 '45
Library J 70:221 Mr 1 '45 50w

V

VALE, EUGENE. Technique of screenplay writing; a book about the dramatic structure of motion pictures; with a foreword by Marc Connelly. 274p $3.50 Crown
791.4 Moving picture plays 44-9192

"Primarily directed toward helping active and would-be screen writers, this discussion contains much that would apply in any type of creative and dramatic writing. Such elements as setting, characterization, selection of incident and detail, and suspense are covered under three major headings: The form; The dramatic construction; The story." Booklist

Booklist 41:191 Mr 1 '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '45

"A book that is brilliant and banal by turns—and loaded with common sense." C. V. Terry
+ — N Y Times p16 Ja 14 '45 250w

"What the author has accomplished in effect is to degrade the whole art of the motion picture by endlessly expounding definitions of terms which would be immediately comprehensible to anyone who could conceivably become a writer in any medium. The entire book is written in the same limpid expository style. Mr. Vale manages to discourse for pages on the subject of characterization without once rising above the self-evident. . . Mr. Vale's one undeniable contribution has been to make clear the need for a critical study of screenwriting on the level of John Howard Lawson's 'Theory and Technique of Playwriting.' Such a work might serve to clarify film-making for the reviewer and through him for the general public." Ring Lardner
— + Sat R of Lit 28:13 F 10 '45 1600w

"When an author undertakes to reduce a creative technique to its basic essentials, he runs the grave risk of reducing it, instead, to absurdity. Oversimplified rules of procedure and banal illustrations can imperil the best-founded theories. This is what has happened more often than not in The Technique of Screenplay Writing. It is especially regrettable since his attempt to isolate the photodramatic laws governing screenplay writing is highly necessary research, and based on fundamentally sound principles."
— + Theatre Arts 29:128 F '45 100w

VAN DER ELST, JOSEPH, baron. See Elst, J. van der

VAN DER HAAS, HENRIETTA (MRS JOHN KUSCH). Orange on top; il. by Lucille Wallower. 221p $2 Harcourt
45-2834

Three courageous Dutch children and the little Jewish girl they saved from the Nazis are the chief characters in this story of occupied Holland. For sixth graders.

Book Week p18 Je 3 '45 140w
Booklist 41:241 Ap 15 '45
Bookmark 6:16 Ag '45

"A good picture of another nation at war."
+ Kirkus 13:109 Mr 1 '45 120w

"Simply told story of current interest, but introduction of the little Jewish girl gives book an angle our children need." K. H. McAlarney
+ Library J 70:268 Mr 15 '45 70w

"Stress is laid on events rather than characterization, and we miss the warm human quality of 'The Level Land,' by Dola de Jong, another tale of Holland under the Nazis. But there is interest and suspense in the rapidly moving narrative." A. T. Eaton
+ — N Y Times p25 Ap 15 '45 150w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 1 '45 110w

"The tension of the story is that of real contemporary life: the stout, unceasing resistance of Holland is only beginning to get deserved recognition among American children." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 11 '45 400w

VANDERWALKER, FRED NORMAN. Drake's cyclopedia of painting and decorating, methods, tools, materials, for home and the workshop; finishing walls, floors, furniture, automobiles, boats, houses, etc; data for arts and crafts workers. 388p il $3 Drake, F.J.
698.1 Painting, Industrial. House decoration
45-1839

"No attempt is made to treat any subject exhaustively, but all essential facts are given on some two hundred and fifty topics ranging from acoustic ceiling painting to washing painted walls, and whitewash mixtures. Considerable attention is devoted to paint formulas and mixing colors. An extensive index makes this a ready reference manual on materials, tools, and work procedure." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 41:297 Je 15 '45

Library J 70:221 Mr 1 '45 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:11 Ja '45

VAN DE WATER, FREDERIC FRANKLYN. Fool's errand. 323p $2.50 Duell

45-5347

Story of a New York painter who, in an attempt to find a satisfactory life in Vermont, meets with obstacles and entanglements that finally destroy him.

Reviewed by Russell Maloney

Book Week p4 Jl 15 '45 230w

Booklist 41:341 Jl 15 '45

"Briefly, here is a good story; and, if its author excels in narration, so also does he shine in description. His book becomes a gallery of pictures of the Vermont countryside, at all seasons of the year." W. P. T.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 6 '45 550w

Kirkus 13:143 Ap 1 '45 150w

"A strange book to come from Van de Water. . . Not worth considering." Thelma Brackett

— Library J 70:530 Je 1 '45 80w

"When all is said and done (very competently) the affairs of Martin and his wife have no reality compared to the story of Seth. Here the author is dealing with material born of the soil he knows best. Seth's agonies and upward strivings have the breath of the true American saga; even over-written, they refuse to be part of a literary formula. The author's story-telling is clear and dramatic when he touches on the territory he loves, ignoring the mushroom growths which come to fester for the season." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p10 Jl 1 '45 500w

"A lively story, easy to read and perhaps quite as easy to forget."

New Yorker 21:69 Je 23 '45 120w

"The novelist's theme—the potential dangers of country life—is stressed too obviously, and not adequately developed. . . Perhaps this novel would be more satisfying if the emphasis were placed on the satirical contrasts rather than on the somewhat hackneyed account of adultery and its attendant complications." R. A. Cordell

Sat R of Lit 28:28 Ag 4 '45 320w

"As well as proving again that he has come to know unusually well the speech, the temperament and the unusual qualities of Vermonters, Mr Van de Water presents a side of Green mountain life that isn't mentioned very often—that of 'starry-eyed simpletons who expect to win profits from farms that farmers and the sons and grandsons of farmers can't make pay.' . . The novel is perfect in scene and Vermont color and the characters are capably and in some cases strikingly presented. The plot seems more complicated than is necessary to make Mr Van de Water's point, but in general it is a well done and eminently readable book." R. F. H.

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Je 24 '45 360w

"In 'Fool's Errand' Van de Water tells the story of a man who was destroyed in an environment alien to his needs and his temperament. . . His exploration of the character of Martin Brent, the painter who belonged in the whirl of New York life, is one of the best things that has come from his pen. The portrait has depth and irony and pity." Rose Feld

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Je 17 '45 850w

VAN DOREN, CARL CLINTON. Carl Van Doren; selected by himself. (Viking portable lib) 628p $2 Viking

818 45-35066

"Out of a prodigious amount of work, Van Doren has chosen to reprint two complete books: his biography of Swift and his critical work, 'What Is American Literature?' Numerous chapters, essays and sketches from 'Other Provinces,' 'Benjamin Franklin,' 'Secret History of the American Revolution,' and his autobiography, 'Three Worlds,' are included. 'Spy to Paris,' a hitherto unpublished chapter intended for 'Secret History,' is printed for the first time. . . Included in the autobiographical selections is Mr. Van Doren's remarkable portrait of Elinor Wylie." N Y Times

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 Je 3 '45 360w

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '45

Kirkus 13:43 F 1 '45 130w

"Popular biography usually suffers from one of two defects: it over-romanticizes history in the name of narrative, or it underwrites it in the name of dogma. Carl Van Doren, probably America's most popular biographer, steers clear of both extremes. His virtues, honesty, clarity, and tolerance are rare. His vices, occasional dullness and a somewhat monotonous rhetoric, are merely, in most places, the reverse coin of his excellence. In a new, self-selected omnibus, Mr. Van Doren's audience may sample freely of both the advantages and the drawbacks." Howard Moss

+ — N Y Times p5 Jl 15 '45 1400w

VAN DRUTEN, JOHN. I remember mama; a play in two acts; adapted from Kathryn Forbes' book, Mama's bank account. 177p $2.50 Harcourt

822 45-35067

Play based on Mama's Bank Account by Kathryn Forbes (Book Review Digest, 1943). It is the portrayal of the activities of a Norwegian-American family living in San Francisco.

Booklist 41:266 My 15 '45

Bookmark 6:10 My '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '45

Kirkus 13:80 F 15 '45 30w

Reviewed by George Freedley

Library J 70:489 My 15 '45 60w

"The thesis which Mama proves (how to be happy though poor) is not exactly novel—and the solutions of some of the family's dilemmas are more amusing than believable. But Mama's vehicle is still a 'natural'—a Broadway winner that can probably go on playing in little theatres forever, with a fat part for nearly everyone." W. D.

+ N Y Times p15 My 20 '45 160w

Reviewed by Charlotte Bausman

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 3 '45 360w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:7 S '45 240w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton

Weekly Book Review p17 Je 17 '45 80w

Wis Lib Bul 41:67 Je '45

VAN DUSEN, HENRY PITNEY, ed. Christian answer, by Paul J. Tillich [and others] with an introduction. 195p $2.50 Scribner

230 Christianity 45-8039

"These five essays are the result of the discussions of a group of thirty-eight men and women, including most of the leaders of American theological thought, who found themselves, after ten years of conference, with two week-end meetings every year, reaching a consensus of opinion 'as to the character of the crisis which grips contemporary culture, as to the necessity of Christianity for its resolution, and even as to the essential answer of the Christian faith to this crisis.' The past two years have been devoted to the preparation of five papers, which have been criticised by the

VAN DUSEN, H. P., ed.—Continued
group and revised by the writers: The World Situation, by Paul Tillich; Christianity and Its Secular Alternatives, by Theodore M. Greene; Central Christian Affirmations, by George F. Thomas; Christianity and Society, by Edwin E. Aubrey; Christianity and the Christian, by John Knox." Churchman

Reviewed by B. E. Meland
Christian Century 62:1255 N 14 '45 2050w

"This is a useful book for the sincere skeptic, and indeed for all of us believing Christians in this puzzled and puzzling world." W. L. Caswell
+ Churchman 159:16 O 15 '45 550w

"In fairness to this book, I must confess my initial prejudice as a reviewer. The title seems altogether presumptuous, as if to convey the idea that Christianity is a unified ideology with a monistic answer to perennial questions. . . In his introduction, the editor with candor confesses that there has been considerable struggle among those of the Theological Discussion Group (whose voices are supposed to be heard in a kind of invisible authorship of the book) to frame a consensus of what is the meaning of the Christian faith; yet he seems to assert a priori that this consensus is the faith. No objection—except that there may be others whose ideology might be cast differently and yet who may lay equal claim to a possible Christian Answer." Vergilius Ferm
Crozer Q 23:86 Ja '46 1500w

"Thought-provoking book, makes no concession to superficial reader. Recommended for college and larger public libraries." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 70:684 Ag '45 140w

Reviewed by F. E. Johnson
+ Survey G 34:448 N '45 550w

VAN DUSEN, HENRY PITNEY. They found the church there; the armed forces discover Christian missions. 148p $1.75 Scribner
266 Missions—Islands of the Pacific
45-4320

Excerpts from diaries and letters of American fighting men showing the influence of Christian missions on the natives of the Pacific islands.

Booklist 41:315 Jl 1 '45

"For those who still ask, 'Why send missionaries?' here's why."
Christian Century 62:654 My 30 '45 150w

Reviewed by R. C. Miller
Churchman 159:15 S 1 '45 240w

Reviewed by E. F. Garesché
Commonweal 42:434 Ag 17 '45 1000w

"Here is the story of almost unbelievable achievement, not only of devoted American and European missionaries, but perhaps even more of the native Christians in the extension of the church. This is a book that thrills us with accomplishment and challenges our own faith." J. C. Robbins
+ Crozer Q 22:286 Jl '45 300w

"This readable book can be recommended to both Catholics and Protestants and especially to those who have sons or husbands in the Pacific area."
+ Kirkus 13:244 Je 1 '45 210w

"This is one of the few books which everyone without exception ought to read. . . One who has been himself a missionary for twenty years is not easily moved by the records of other people's missionary work; but I must confess to having found this book uncomfortably, and at times, overwhelmingly, moving." Stephen Neill
+ Spec 175:366 O 19 '45 550w

"This little book, easy reading that it is, has a message to those who have long been interested and concerned about mission work abroad, but it may prove to be an eye-opener to those who want international good will but who have hazy ideas about ways of procuring it. Certainly the church, both Protestant and Catholic, is way ahead of business and industry in creating attitudes of world friendship and rapport—to judge from Dr. Van Dusen's true stories." J. Z. Nichols
+ Springf'd Republican p10 Ag 31 '45 280w
Wis Lib Bul 41:80 Jl '45

VAN DUYN, MRS JANET H. (DUNNING). I married them; il. by Garth Williams. 281p $2.50 Howell, Soskin
45-35074

"Both subject matter and illustrations are farcical in this addition to the life-in-an-out-of-the-ordinary-family shelf, but this one is admittedly fictional. The girl who married a young doctor and was absorbed into the heterogeneous group of in-laws in the dilapidated Greek mansion in up-state New York, found herself in a bedlam which was kindly but uproarious. There is no plot; fortified by frequent drinks, the family proceeds from one extravaganza to another, social leadership and successful medical practice emanating from a household where individualism was a fetish." Booklist

Reviewed by George Wiswell
Book Week p12 Je 10 '45 360w
Booklist 41:270 My 15 '45

"Amusing but not top drawer."
Kirkus 13:166 Ap 15 '45 110w

"Delightfully mad and madly delightful epitomizes the MacLean family so engagingly portrayed by Janet Van Duyn, who married 'them'." Andrea Parke
+ N Y Times p12 My 27 '45 220w

"Rarely does one run across a novel filled with such sheer animal spirits. . . Unfortunately, though the MacLeans are undoubtedly uniquely volatile, what they do is not especially original and to tell the truth a lot of it—the way George plays tennis or Carrie cleans house for example—just isn't very interesting." Barbara Thacher
+ — Weekly Book Review p6 My 13 '45 400w
Wis Lib Bul 41:85 Jl '45

VAN EVERY, DALE. Westward the river. 275p $2.75 Putnam
45-6053

An adventure tale of a trip down the Ohio in the 1790's. The heroine is the wealthy daughter of an American loyalist who has taken up lands in Spanish-owned Louisiana; the hero is a Kentucky settler carrying home from Pennsylvania a boatload of farm animals. These two are brought together by a train of events involving international relations between France, England and the United States, by whiskey riots, and by the westward movement of a young nation.

Reviewed by E. D. Branch
+ Book Week p9 Jl 15 '45 350w
Booklist 42:20 S '45

"It is only guesswork to say that Dale Van Every wrote 'Westward the River' partly for the sake of having a screen play made of it, but the story has so many elements of motion-picture success and Mr. Van Every has taken so active a part in screen writing and production that it is hard not to think of the novel in that connection. . . This is a swift, competent, thrilling adventure-story which leaves the reader almost convinced that he has been watching a play on the screen." W. K. R.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 11 '45 600w

"Vigorous historical novel of the turbulent days of 1794 on the Western frontiers, and a new slant on old material."
+ Kirkus 13:186 My 1 '45 170w

"While the story works itself out in terms of action, characterization is not neglected. Both Sarah and Noah develop as a result of their experiences—Noah by acquiring a deeper sense of the meaning of citizenship; Sarah by learning to share the perils and joys of the pioneer people among whom she has come. It is an excellently told story." Jennings Rice

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 15 '45 550w

VAN GIESEN, D. WALTER. Electrical drafting applied to circuits and wiring. 140p il $1.50 McGraw

621.3282 Electric circuits. Electric wiring 45-12491

"An exposition of tested drafting methods as applied to circuits and wiring, presented as a series of illustrated discussions, starting with the schematic circuit diagram and developing the detailed wiring plan for several typical cases, and correlating conduit and equipment location plans. Special attention has been given to recent advances in the field of electrical drafting; modern methods are introduced early in the book and are adhered to throughout." (Publisher's note) Index.

Booklist 41:221 Ap 1 '45
Library J 70:35 Ja 1 '45 50w

VAN LOON, HENDRIK WILLEM. Adventures and escapes of Gustavus Vasa and how they carried him from his rather obscure origin to the throne of Sweden; il. [by the author]. (Fighters for freedom) 136p $2.50 Dodd

B or 92 Gustaf I Vasa, king of Sweden—Juvenile literature 45-7555

This volume in the "Fighters for freedom series" has as its hero Gustavus Vasa who set Sweden free from tyranny and became in the course of history Sweden's King Gustavus I.

"What a build-up of human interest and achievement and what a clarification of the whole Scandinavian peninsula and its peoples Mr. van Loon brings to a reader who may not have had the good fortune to visit Norway, Sweden and Denmark and has felt little interest in Scandinavian history until the heroic deeds of World War II became headlines in the 1940's! . . From the pictorial end-papers in bright colors depicting the expansion of the Scandinavian Races between A. D. 800 and A.D. 1100, and on through the Middle Ages to the rising of the Dalmen 'in the farthest corners of the most remote mountain regions,' this story of heroic struggle for freedom is told with the ease of one who wears his learning lightly as he slips from century to century. Keeping always within time's record of essential fact, Mr. van Loon shares the speculations his vivid imagination presents and the humor which gives flavor to contemporary observation." A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 21:344 S '45 550w

"The whole book is a stimulating and clarifying introduction to the history of Sweden, characteristically illustrated by Mr. van Loon." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 21:463 N '45 120w

"His predictable charm, his discursiveness are evident, but the core of plot is fairly well lost in the mass of unfamiliar—to American readers—historical background and atmosphere, and in theories of history reminiscent of his earlier writings."
— + Kirkus 13:254 Je 1 '45 150w

"For larger collections only." Gertrude Cordts
Library J 70:982 O 15 '45 80w

"As we dodge in and out of history's winding roads and by-paths with this sprightliest of guides, we emerge finally with an illuminating view of Sweden's history up to the momentous year of 1523 and of the tangled politics from which a free nation sprang. It is this perspective, this tolerant balancing of the conflicting ideals and opinions of the period, which give this book its provocative flavor. If it doesn't represent the best of that inimitable author, it is like all his others, a tonic experience." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p21 Ag 19 '45 270w

"All in all, this is one of the really distinguished books of 1945." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:74 N 10 '45 550w
Weekly Book Review p14 N 11 '45 450w

VANN, GERALD. Heart of man. 182p $2 Longmans [6s Bles]

233 Man (theology). Psychology, Religious 45-8726

"One of the fundamental issues that perpetually confronts Christianity is the relation between it and the world in which it has to function. . . Fr. Vann has chosen to divide his book into two parts displaying man as 'lover' and 'maker,' showing him first in relation to the total thing of which he is a part and then discussing in greater detail his function as the maker of art, of the family, of the world and of the Church." Times (London) Lit Sup

Reviewed by J. O. Supple
Book Week p12 O 28 '45 350w

"Forewarned by this volume's double equipment of nihil obstats and imprimaturs, the Protestant reader will expect to find its teaching in regard to the nature of man and his way to a worthy employment of his powers heavily slanted toward Roman Catholic conclusions. So indeed it is, as appears in the final chapter on the church. This chapter contains the old futilities about the infallibility of the church. It may comfort wavering Catholics; all others will easily penetrate its fallacies. But up to that point, the book is not only Catholic but Christian, written with insight and understanding, and with beauty of phrase."
+ — Christian Century 62:1233 N 7 '45 160w

"There are certain notes and appendices of apologetics at the end of the book, but it is the body of the book which takes hold of mind and will to move them mightily towards a fuller appreciation of what man is and what he is capable of in the ways of loving and creating. It is fresh and profound and challenging." Richard Flower
+ Commonweal 43:210 D 7 '45 420w
Kirkus 13:513 N 15 '45 110w
Times [London] Lit Sup p573 N 25 '44 300w

VANSITTART, ROBERT GILBERT VANSITTART, 1st baron. Bones of contention. 158p $2.75 Knopf [10s 6d Hutchinson]

940.5343 World war, 1939—Germany. World war, 1939—Peace 45-6039

A collection of articles and speeches by the English statesman whose name has become synonymous with a harsh peace for the Germans. Partial contents: Conquest and religion in the German churches; What other Germany?; The real reactionaries; Peace terms for Germany; The future of Austria; The Atlantic Charter; The destiny of France; The church in politics; Why it happened.

"This volume tends to be long on exhortation and short on documentation. It lacks somewhat in orderly development of a theme; but it contains a point of view that should be taken into account in reaching final conclusions on 'the problem of Germany.'" G. B. Noble
Am Pol Sci R 39:1049 O '45 380w

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Jl 22 '45 360w
Booklist 42:14 S '45

"A two-fisted book, which strikes out with vigor and conviction. It is certain to stir up opposition, but it will also stimulate thinking. It sees the Germans in one light only, and that is definitely unfavorable. In support of its charges it cites case after case. It comes at a vital moment when peace is in the formative stage, when the world is wrestling over the problem of what to do about Germany, and when the public should have at its disposal all expert information." W. W. C.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 30 '45 450w

VANSITTART, R. G. V.—Continued

Cleveland Open Shelf p13 Jl '45

Commonweal 42:437 Ag 17 '45 30w

Current Hist 9:460 N '45 100w

"Incisive, polished, this is persuasively (sometimes questionably) argued, and will probably once again be controversially interpreted."

+ — Kirkus 13:284 Jl 1 '45 170w

Reviewed by F. E. Hirsch

Library J 70:635 Jl '45 110w

"I too hate to acknowledge a mistake. But, to my infinite embarrassment, I found that I agreed with Lord Vansittart. This is the first book of his that I have read in full, and I enjoyed the experience. It is written in a style which makes Westbrook Pegler's seem hesitant and flabby—but with an Eton accent. Westbrook at his Pegleriest would not quote offhand Ammanius Marcellinus and Velleius Paterculus. Vansittart's main thesis is now a commonplace, indorsed by Germany's best friends: that Germany as a nation is committed to a mad policy of ruthless domination. Not Hitler alone is guilty, but an ever-deepening and widening trend, from Frederick II to Bismarck, to William II, to Goebbels and Goering. I deeply regret that Vansittart is right." Albert Guérard

+ Nation 161:111 Ag 4 '45 1100w

Reviewed by Paul Hagen

— New Repub 113:166 Ag 6 '45 900w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Simon

N Y Times p4 Jl 29 '45 1000w

New Yorker 21:69 Jl 28 '45 180w

"When a man insists on pointing out that Western civilization is faced with a new, bewildering, and terrifying problem, he is likely to arouse no little contention. The controversy over Lord Vansittart stems, I think, from this cause. His propositions are simple and clear, but the implications cut so deep that some readers, consciously or subconsciously, do not want to understand him." J. F. Wharton

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:7 Jl 28 '45 3800w

"On many points Lord Vansittart has good things to say, on servility to Russia and the United States; on determined hostility to Poland; on the incurable Germanophilia—and its almost invariable accompaniment, Francophobia—of so many writers and official propagandists. On peace terms, Lord Vansittart is much more realistic and sensible than his critics allege, but I cannot share any of the hopes he bases on a new federalisation of Germany. . . Lord Vansittart is a vivacious writer, not afraid of slang and bold metaphor. There are good and bad examples of his literary methods here. There are also signs of haste. . . But as a cure for the common legend of 'Vansittartism' the best remedy is to read Lord Vansittart." D. W. Brogan

+ — Spec 174:340 Ap 13 '45 850w

Times [London] Lit Sup p278 Je 16 '45 360w

Reviewed by Walter Millis

Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 22 '45 1100w

VAN STOCKUM, HILDA. The Mitchells; il. by [the author]. 246p $2.50 Viking

45-8594

Story of a family of five lively children, living in Washington. With their father in the war, the five young Mitchells and their mother and grandmother have some trouble keeping things on an even keel, but they manage, and even take a boarder, and rescue a shy little war orphan besides.

Booklist 42:80 N 1 '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 N '45

"We are frankly told that [the author's] own family inspired this story, and I must confess that I thoroughly enjoyed it." H. L. Binsse

+ Commonweal 43:126 N 16 '45 50w

"Only one who writes from intimate knowledge could draw such a houseful of real children in their changing moods and contrasting natures, their angelic moments, as well as their exasperating ones, their mistakes and their fun. Hilda van Stockum punctuates her lively chronicle with delicious drawings." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 21:456 N '45 100w

"A healthy, sound, fun book, well written and dramatically sustained. Warm, comfortable stuff, with loads of ordinary animals and swell children who also track mud and sometimes clean it."

+ Kirkus 13:317 Jl 15 '45 130w

"Mildly humorous, realistic. Apparently reflects much of the author's own family life. Excellent to supplant the Five Little Peppers." Maude Adams

+ Library J 70:1027 N 1 '45 50w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

N Y Times p23 N 18 '45 180w

"A lively story of family life in wartime Washington, written with a delightfully humorous appreciation of young children."

+ New Yorker 21:134 D 8 '45 50w

"Everything that the Mitchell children say and everything that they do is interesting. They are not particularly good children, but they are energetic and warm-hearted and full of humor. . . The illustrations are perfect for the story. Here they all are—Mother and Grannie, Joan and Patsy and Peter, Angela and the baby, Timmy. Finally, Uncle Jim and Daddy with a tame squirrel sitting on his head. This is a Christmas present for the entire family." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:56 N 10 '45 450w

"From the first chapter, with Mother getting them all back from the railroad station after seeing Daddy off, to the last page, with Joan practically in Heaven because at last she has a dog, the story is filled with healthy entertainment."

+ Weekly Book Review p22 N 11 '45 320w

VAN ZANDT, JOHN PARKER. Civil aviation and peace. (America faces the air age) 157p $1 Brookings

387.7 Aeronautics, Commercial. International law and relations 44-40264

"The subject of this brief volume is the control of international air transport, and the substance of it is a persuasive argument against any limitation or economic restriction. . . In place of restriction, the author proposes a policy of maximum use. At fares as low as three cents a mile, he forsees a tremendous growth in foreign travel by Americans." Am Pol Sci R

Reviewed by C. E. Puffer

Am Econ R 35:470 Je '45 600w

"The literature of aviation has not kept pace with the expansion of the industry. . . It is not, however, its scarcity value which makes this book so attractive. Dr. Van Zandt has a thorough familiarity with aviation and a very readable style." D. O. Walter

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:175 F '45 500w

Reviewed by C. C. Rohlfing

Ann Am Acad 238:200 Mr '45 500w

Booklist 41:181 F 15 '45

Foreign Affairs 23:516 Ap '45 60w

Reviewed by J. M. Spaight

Spec 174:504 Je 1 '45 850w

"Dr. van Zandt writes as an American for Americans, and his little book is of special interest because of its presentation of a national point of view."

Times [London] Lit Sup p267 Je 9 '45 500w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:38 Mr '45 240w

VAN ZANDT, JOHN PARKER. Geography of world air transport. (America faces the air age) 67p maps $1 Brookings [5s Faber]

387.72 Aeronautics, Commercial 44-8984

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Reviewed by C. E. Puffer

Ann Am Acad 240:146 Jl '45 490w

Booklist 41:181 F 15 '45

Foreign Affairs 23:332 Ja '45 20w

Spec 174:296 Mr 30 '45 260w

"The Brookings Institution is arranging to publish a series of short books on aviation under the general title of 'America Faces the Air Age.' Dr. van Zandt's work introduces the series and is all that an introductory volume should be. . . Altogether a most instructive and stimulating little book."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p98 Mr 3 '45 450w

VARDOULAKIS, MARY. Gold in the streets. 255p $2.50 Dodd

45-9770

Tells the story of the migration of a company of Greek peasants from the island of Crete to a Massachusetts mill town. The colorful Greek customs are woven into the story, along with the theme of the Americanization of George Vardas and his countrymen.

Book Week p21 N 18 '45 50w

Booklist 42:150 Ja 1 '46

Commonweal 43:270 D 21 '45 150w

"Miss Vardoulakis writes gracefully and with an appreciation of the humorous aspects of Americanization. But, though the dialogue seems authentic down to the last unsubtle peasant's joke and shy love scene between George and the girl he has loved secretly, the characters rarely come alive. Anything could have happened to them—but, alas, nothing much ever does." Nona Balakian

N Y Times p25 D 9 '45 450w

"Miss Vardoulakis has told the story simply and honestly, almost artlessly, without vivid descriptive passages or dramatic scenes or strong plot, giving a straightforward, rather documentary account of the immigration. Yet her people are more substantial and alive than the figures of most popular fiction; and at the close of the book the reader is intimately acquainted with the group of Greek-Americans." Peter Gray

+ Sat R of Lit 28:13 N 10 '45 600w

"Miss Vardoulakis has a fine descriptive sense and her account of the colorful ceremonies, traditions and customs of her people makes fascinating reading. Along with our Springfield plan and other ambitious programs for brotherly solidarity, such a book should do much toward enlightening the general public regarding a generally misunderstood people." R. E. Morgan

+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 350w

"Miss Vardoulakis evidently has listened long and effectively to the tales her elders have told, for her book is crammed with delightfully revealing Greek lore. The material on the marriage customs of Crete is particularly appealing. . . Barb'Anastasi is every one's unreasonable, violent, loveable uncle, but not all the rest of Miss Vardoulakis's characters are as well drawn. George, the hero, is least clear of all. . . What shortcomings the novel may have in character analysis, however, it makes up in its attractive, intimate, good-humored presentation of the Greek immigrants. It is recommended to all who wish to understand the Hellenic ingredients which have been fused in the melting pot. That should include, perhaps, all who share in the young, still-emerging American culture." Barrett McGurn

+ — Weekly Book Review p8 N 4 '45 600w

VARGA, MARGIT. Carol Brant, picture magazine reporter. 166p $2 Dodd

45-7533

A chronicle of the experiences of a young girl who gets a job as office girl on a large picture magazine and rises to a position of some importance. Carol's experiences are based on those of the author who is in charge of the art department of Life magazine.

Booklist 42:40 O 1 '45

Kirkus 13:342 Ag 1 '45 60w

"Story is really interesting in spite of all the information given. Will be popular with girls in their teens." E. E. Frank

+ Library J 70:824 S 15 '45 50w

"Carol Brant's rapid rise and her achievement of the much-coveted job of photo-reporter seems a good deal more plausible than the quick success formula of most career stories. This one, the first to explore a field of journalism which is especially attractive to youth, is as concise and pithy as a good picture caption. It has the ring of authenticity, too, which is not surprising since its author is an associate editor of Life." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p34 O 28 '45 110w

VENABLE, VERNON. Human nature: the Marxian view. 217p $3 Knopf

335.4 Anthropology. Socialism 45-3971

A study of the Marxian view of human nature in general, which amounts to a consideration of human nature in relation to the process of history and of human nature under our existing civilization. The author is associate professor of philosophy at Vassar college.

"Professor Venable's study is an important contribution to a full and accurate understanding of Marxian philosophy. Few authors, if any, have a better knowledge of the vast literary output of Marx and Engels. The rich language and a fine sense of humor add to the value of this masterpiece of exposition. It will be helpful not only to the specialist but also to the general reader interested in social science." Edmund Silberner

+ Am Hist R 51:141 O '45 260w

Reviewed by Reinhard Bendix

Am J Soc 51:353 Ja '46 550w

"Throughout his entire study, Venable displays an admirable objectivity, a quality the more remarkable because his is a subject which has rarely been dealt with objectively. Other students of Marx might, it is true, quarrel with the author on several points, as for instance his relegation of technological advance as the dynamic of historical movement to a place less prominent than that frequently assigned to it. But these instances are remarkably few, especially considering the highly controversial character of the subject-matter. For the most part, Venable's scholarship and documentation are so thorough as to preclude any ground for doubt." Hilden Gibson

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:838 Ag '45 350w

"Professor Venable's exposition of the Marxian view of human nature is a scholarly, able, and diligently documented account of those aspects of Marxist theory which deal with the nature and character of man. The value of the study lies in the author's desire to allow Marx and Engels to speak for themselves and to seek for an understanding of their view of human nature without prejudice. He accomplishes this purpose admirably." Reinhold Niebuhr

+ Ann Am Acad 242:201 N '45 650w

"Because they are afflicted with dyssemia, thousands of persons who need desperately to know what is in this book will never look to see simply because 'it is about communism.' They will continue to operate on the assumptions of primitive word-magic: that the problems discussed by Karl Marx can best be handled by not speaking his name. . . The people who see red when they see Red will never know what they've missed by not reading this superb and timely book." Wendell Johnson

+ Book Week p3 My 27 '45 550w

Reviewed by Karl Korsch

J Philos 42:712 D 20 '45 2500w

"Vernon Venable, associate professor of philosophy at Vassar College, has published a systematic presentation of the general anthropology worked out by Marx and Engels, who had a well-rounded view of the universe, physical, biological and social. This view, however, they never presented in a systematic fashion. It has to be pieced together from their books, articles, and even private letters. To have done this with clarity, skill and success is no mean scholarly achievement by Mr. Venable." Oscar Lange

VENABLE, VERNON—Continued
+ N Y Times p16 Jl 15 '45 1450w

"A whole book would hardly seem necessary to explain so limited a concept, but Mr. Venable, who appears willing to accept most of what Marx said as gospel and shows no sign of having ever heard of multiple causation, has gone and written it. He couldn't be more earnest and painstaking, but footnotes to footnotes, expanded over several hundred pages, are apt to be dull."
— New Yorker 21:83 My 26 '45 120w

Reviewed by Martin Lebowitz
Weekly Book Review p25 Ag 26 '45 600w

VENTURI, LIONELLO. Marc Chagall. $10 Pierre Matisse editions, inc, 597 Madison av, N.Y. 22
759.7 Chagall, Marc 45-8066

"The book on Chagall, written with liberal devotion and assertion, is a valuable record of that artist's achievement, the many illustrations—two color plates, twenty-five drawings and sixty-four paintings—and the many generous and highly illuminating comments, plus the ample bibliography, are such a monument as few living painters could hope for." New Repub

"Chagall's personality is very well understood here, but his art is taken too unqualifiedly to afford us the illumination we have the right to expect from such a mind as Professor Venturi's. The fault may lie with what I detect to be an unconfessed or unconscious hostility on his part to most of modern art since impressionism. The book perpetuates the banal and widespread misconception of cubism as essentially intellectual and 'scientific.' And by implication Chagall is counterposed to Picasso—which is just as unfair to Chagall as it is to Picasso." Clement Greenberg
— + Nation 161:262 S 15 '45 90w

Reviewed by Stark Young
+ New Repub 113:142 Jl 30 '45 60w

VENTURI, LIONELLO. Painting and painters; how to look at a picture, from Giotto to Chagall. 250p pl $3.50 Scribner
759 Paintings. Painters 45-35033

"Simple, understandable esthetic approach to great paintings from prerenaissance to modern surrealism. With the thesis that the observer, in order to understand a work of art, must see the spirit and intent of the artist, the author examines 53 outstanding examples of art and artists, giving clear-cut criticism of each work and making comparisons among the many figures discussed. Full-page reproductions, each numbered and referred to in the textual discussion by its number, make for easy assimilation of unfamiliar material." Booklist

Reviewed by Katharine Kuh
Book Week p12 Ap 8 '45 500w
Booklist 41:234 Ap 15 '45
Bookmark 6:9 My '45

"Both laymen and artists will gain insight into art criticism, making this a book suitable for any library." H. R. Forbes
+ Library J 70:305 Ap 1 '45 90w

Reviewed by Clement Greenberg
Nation 161:234 S 8 '45 390w

"There are but a few minor annoyances in the book—for instance, the loose and inaccurate use of the words 'perfect' and 'absolute,' misspellings of Pollaiuolo and the very likely mistake that Toulouse-Lautrec's 'A la Mie' was painted in a room or studio, whereas it seems very clearly to be outdoor or sidewalk cafe atmosphere. These do not detract an iota from a careful, broadly human book written with a deceptively simple style that is lengthy and detailed in its descriptions but hardly for a moment obscure." W. G. Dooley
+ N Y Times p7 Ap 1 '45 750w

New Yorker 21:88 My 5 '45 50w

"Here is a book rich in background, brilliant in many passages, and calculated to please the art-lovers of an elder generation. But considering its purpose to guide the common observer to enjoyment of art, and its stated aim of serving as a primer of culture in painting, presumably for students in modern times, it is something of a failure." Sheldon Cheney
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:26 Je 30 '45 1500w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:2 S '45 350w

"In many respects, Dr. Venturi's book is a brilliant and extremely valuable contribution to the understanding of the structural side of painting—the individual variations in types of composition and the transformation of nature into a composed work of art. Perhaps it is unjust to ask more of a single book, but it is not unjust to raise the question of the extent to which formal analysis may be of service in furthering the appreciation of painting." Thomas Craven
+ — Weekly Book Review p16 Ag 5 '45 1100w
Wis Lib Bul 41:52 My '45

VERDOORN, FRANS, ed. Plants and plant science in Latin America; ed. in cooperation with J. Acuña [and others]. (New ser. of plant science bks) 381p il pl $6 Chronica botanica
581.98 Botany—Latin America A45-3748

"Part I consists of 63 chapters of articles not published before in Chronica Botanica or, if so published, revised and much enlarged. Part II consists of 26 chapters previously published in Chronica Botanica and not considerably revised. More than half of the 89 chapters deal with problems of interest to individual countries and apparently every country is covered as to one or more phases of the subject, including Galapagos, Cocos, and Falkland Islands. Every phase of botanical interest gets some consideration. Floras, plant resources, and crops of special economic interest (oils and fats, fibers, rubber, quinine) get rather full consideration. Plant pathology, forestry, ecology, geology, meteorology, conservation, and soils are all handled in one or more chapters." Chem & Eng N

"The book is comprehensive and at the same time presents much detail. . . The 89 chapters are written by a somewhat smaller number of well-known authorities in the general field of plant science; the greater number of these are from the United States, a large number from Latin America, with England and Sweden represented. . . Considering that the subject covered by this book would require many volumes for an exhaustive presentation, one is surprised how much of the field is presented in easily available form in silghtly more than 400 pages." William Crocker
+ Chem & Eng N 23:1475 Ag 25 '45 400w
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '45
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:42 S '45 280w

VERISSIMO, ERICO. Brazilian literature; an outline. 184p $2 Macmillan
869.09 Brazilian literature—History and criticism 45-776

"With brevity and informality, the story of Brazilian literature is traced as it has reflected political and cultural development over the last 400-year period of the country's history. The writings of dozens of authors are emphasized as they have contributed both to Brazil's culture and to creative letters in the Portuguese language. The author is a contemporary Brazilian writer who has lectured in the U.S. A useful appendix lists by centuries the leading literary figures and their works, but an index is needed." Booklist

"Into this charming 'outline,' the Brazilian novelist Erico Verissimo has squeezed his vast knowledge of the literature of his native country. Originally delivered as a series of 12 lectures, his chapters preserve their freshness and humor, and an informality which, it must be confessed, often verges on the slangy and pedestrian." Angel Flores

+ — Book Week p7 F 11 '45 550w

Booklist 41:183 F 15 '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p20 S '45

"Mr. Verissimo's book is not a textbook of literary history. He himself confesses that he is not a critic, for his field is that of imaginative writing. And it is true that he is among the outstanding writers in Brazil and the most popular of the country's living novelists. But if his book is not a work of criticism, it is a pleasant and trustworthy guide; its short notes offer general and reliable information. I will repeat: it is a pleasant guide. Moreover, it is unassuming and unpretentious." Afranio Coutinho

+ Commonweal 42:52 Ap 27 '45 310w

"Excellent bibliography. . . Reference tool, written with a sprightly humor and a freshness of viewpoint."

+ Kirkus 13:10 Ja 1 '45 360w

"Mr. Veríssimo's book is welcome as an unpretentious but thoroughly readable first guide in a field having few introductory studies available in English. Whatever its shortcomings as a history of Brazilian literature, it cannot fail to make friends for Brazil through the introduction it gives one to the author himself, despite the fact that he does not once mention his own achievements as a creative writer. To interpret for a foreign audience the literature of one's countrymen, without false modesty and yet without any trace of pompous salesmanship, requires a mature talent and a communicative spirit. As his novels might lead one to expect, Mr. Veríssimo meets this challenge in an effortless and convincing manner." William Berrien

+ Nation 160:419 Ap 14 '45 650w

"In this book Erico Verissimo has succeeded in writing precisely the kind of introduction to a history of Brazilian literature that the average reader needs. It is imaginative, full of humor, informative—and presented with great humility." Henriqueta Chamberlain

+ N Y Times p4 F 4 '45 1400w

"His recollections are entertaining and informative, and when we finish the 163d and last page of the book, we are glad that we had an opportunity to know the author and his country better. We didn't feel that way at the 63d page. We hadn't been able to decide that a literary history could justifiably be so intimate or have such a large proportion of its pages devoted to a historical, political, economic, cultural interpretation of a country." S. M. Gross

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d F 11 '45 360w

"The style is extremely informal and conversational, marked by verve, humor, epigrammatic brilliancy, and occasional flashes of irony directed at his countrymen. Despite its informality, the book contains a great deal of information, the essential facts of Brazilian literary history, in its 163 pages of reading text. It is the only treatise of its kind in English and deserves a place beside Ronald de Carvalho's Pequena História da Litteratura Brasileira. Both are satisfying treatments of the subject from the critical-esthetic point of view."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:4 Je '45 160w

"As an outline history of Brazilian literature the work is uneven, pages of the 'telephone book' alternating with sparkling talk in which Verissimo slyly deprecates and dissembles his love for his land and his understanding of his people. As straight literary history the best chapters are those dealing with his own time in which the novelist, Verissimo, is an interested and interesting participant." B. D. Wolfe

+ — Weekly Book Review p3 F 11 '45 650w

VESTAL, STANLEY, pseud. See Campbell, W.

VICKERS, ROY. Four past four. (Jefferson house publication) 218p $2 Morrow 45-8188

Detective story.

Kirkus 13:325 Ag 1 '45 60w

"The true explanation is rather hard to take, and it is based on evidence which most readers will find insufficient." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p14 S 23 '45 110w

"Passable."

Sat R of Lit 28:34 O 6 '45 40w

"Roy Vickers, better known in England for his Scotland Yard short stories, is scheduled for a career on this side." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p26 S 30 '45 230w

VICTOR, JEFFREY, pseud. See Rogow, W.

VINER, JACOB, and others. See United States in a multi-national economy

VLEKKE, BERNARD HUBERTUS MARIA. Evolution of the Dutch nation. 392p $3.50 Roy pubs.

949.2 Netherlands—History 45-35122

"History of the Netherlands by [a] Dutch historian. The author has 'taken it for granted that the main facts of Dutch history are known to the American public' and his object is to interpret and evaluate rather than to contribute another 'mere narrative.'" Springf'd Republican

Reviewed by C. G. Post

Am Pol Sci R 39:1230 D '45 550w

"The great virtue of Dr. Vlekke's book for the general reader is the extraordinary degree to which he has interwoven with the great pageant of Dutch history parallels and meanings for our life today. Too much history is written as though chronological time were a dominant reality, and yesterday actually different and separate from today. Dr. Vlekke knows and shows that the present repeats and elaborates the patterns of the past, and that history is the record of an organic and continuing process. His 'Evolution of the Dutch Nation,' at once eminently readable and fully authoritative, is a very valuable addition to the shelf of new histories." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Je 24 '45 180w

Booklist 41:338 Jl 15 '45

"An unpredictable number of people should be interested in this lively and perceptive history of the Dutch nation, a history that is more an interpretation of events and forces than a marshalling of facts."

+ Kirkus 13:269 Je 15 '45 250w

"Vlekke does not just enumerate historic facts, but offers a brilliant interpretation of the rise of the Dutch nation. He pays full attention to the unique contributions that his country made to the development of Western civilization. His biographic sketches, such as that of William the Silent, are little masterpieces. Highly recommended for college and public libraries." F. E. Hirsch

+ Library J 70:586 Je 15 '45 110w

"Since Dr. Vlekke traces the unifying tendencies to a period prior to the revolt it is only natural that in his view the commanding figure of the Prince of Orange looms less large than he does in historical tradition. This is not stated by way of criticism. On the contrary, the author's unorthodox concept of the forces which formed the Dutch nation makes his book all the more interesting. He has complete mastery over the recalcitrant material and his style is so readable that his learning does not annoyingly obtrude. I know of no other Hollander in the United States who could guide Americans as expertly through the maze of Dutch history." A. J. Barnouw

+ Nation 161:208 S 1 '45 650w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn

N Y Times p10 S 16 '45 500w

"Exceedingly well-written and thoroughly interesting." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4 Je 25 '45 600w

"The present volume is a judicious, readable and illuminating reappraisal of his nation's history from prehistoric times to the German invasion of 1940. It is to be hoped that he will supplement these highly useful surveys with an account of Dutch activities and contributions in the Western Hemisphere, a drama of daring for which there is no single compact narrative in English. His qualifications for his role are exceptional, for he is a leading Dutch historian, formerly Secretary General of the Netherlands Government Historical Institute at Rome and more recently a lecturer at Harvard." Geoffrey Bruun

VLEKKE, B. H. M.—Continued

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ag 5 '45 800w

VLEKKE, BERNARD HUBERTUS MARIA. Story of the Dutch East Indies. 233p il maps $3 Harvard univ. press

991 Netherlands Indies. East Indies A45-1975

"Modified version of author's Nusantara [Book Review Digest, 1943, 1944]. Historical panorama of Indonesian civilization, interchange of cultures, progressive dynasties, religious 'waves,' development of trade—up to present occupation by Japanese. Traces origin of Indonesian peoples and influences of the several countries dominating this wide-spread group of lands, occupying territory equivalent in extent to more than continental United States. Effects of control by Portuguese and Dutch, on commerce and education, looking toward final independence." Library J

"For those who desire a brief, popular account of the history of the East Indies, this book is heartily recommended." Amry Vandenbosch

+ Ann Am Acad 242:174 N '45 250w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 O 7 '45 90w

Booklist 42:15 S '45

"Presents an unpretentious but fascinating panorama of human events on one of history's minor stages. It is interesting to Americans for economic and political reasons, since Indonesia is in or, at the least, borders on a vital American sphere of interest. However, this book will prove most appealing, if the reader simply takes a vacation from world cares and prepares himself to watch the people arranging their affairs." R. H. M.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 S 11 '45 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p17 S '45

"The author of Nusantara, which was a scholar's history of the subject, has made an interesting volume for the casual reader; if anything, he has written down to a supposed G.I. level, and here we think he has erred."

+ — Current Hist 9:327 O '45 70w

Reviewed by A. B. Lindsay
Library J 70:684 Ag '45 110w

Reviewed by C. B. Palmer
N Y Times p12 O 7 '45 500w

"Professor Vlekke has performed a valuable service in preparing a readable, authoritative and thoroughly interesting account of peoples who to most of us are exotic, glamorous, but unknown." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ag 19 '45 600w

Reviewed by Raymond Kennedy
Yale R n s 35:365 winter '46 230w

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE RESEARCH. 500 postwar jobs for men. 285p $2.50 Doubleday

371.425 Occupations 45-8373

"For each of the 500 jobs in this usable dictionary (arranged alphabetically according to title), information is given on present outlook, job description, requirements, advantages, disadvantages, earnings, advancement opportunities and where to apply. Based on careful research, the volume presents 'an encouraging picture of post-war opportunities.' 'Aids in selecting your job,' an optional section, groups vocations according to individual interests and ability. Complete index, arranged according to fields of work as well as job titles." (Bookmark) Index.

Booklist 42:105 D 1 '45

Bookmark 6:5 N '45

Kirkus 13:265 Je 15 '45 100w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 70:1137 D 1 '45 40w

"Excellent vocational guide. . . The over-all picture presented by the editors of this volume is admittedly an optimistic one. They are confident that we shall realize our objective of maintaining a high level of production of goods and services. The wealth of information presented in this book should be timely and helpful to the vast numbers of men now being demobilized from the armed forces, who wish to fit themselves into our productive economy."

+ N Y Times p34 S 30 '45 310w

VOICES of history, 1944-45; speeches and papers of Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin, Chiang, Hitler and other leaders delivered during 1944; Nathan Ausubel, editor. 660p maps $3.50 Phoenix

909.82 History, Universal. World politics. World war, 1939-1945—Documents, etc, sources (42-25970)

"This annual again contains a chronological compilation of significant state papers and important speeches of leading statesmen. It covers the calendar year of 1944; a review of the year is again reprinted from the New York Times and a summary of events precedes the selections for each month. Although they are unofficial, most of the campaign speeches of Roosevelt and Dewey are included." (Booklist) For earlier volumes entered under Franklin Watts as editor see Book Review Digest, 1943, 1944.

Booklist 41:320 Jl 1 '45

Christian Science Monitor p19 O 13 '45 400w

Reviewed by Aaron Bell
N Y Times p3 S 9 '45 850w

VOIGT, MELVIN JOHN. Subject headings in physics. 151p pa $3.25 A.L.A.

025.3 Subject headings—Physics 44-40177

"The list is intended chiefly for use with books and monographic material. It is based on the Library of Congress subject headings and does not include any subject more minute than in that list; additions or variations are clearly indicated. Each heading is defined and explained for the benefit of the cataloger, and an example given of books entered under it." Booklist

Booklist 41:35 O 1 '44

Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 30w

"This manual is directed primarily to the person who must catalog books and monographs in physics with too limited comprehension of the science. The list of subject entries adheres in the main to the standard Library of Congress list to which most catalogers are under the necessity of conforming, and departures from that list are signalized by an asterisk. Its distinction lies in the provision of a careful definition of each subject and a book example selected to afford suitable further information if that is desired, along with much fuller cross-references than in the Library of Congress list. Where there is likely to be confusion as to the applicability of one or another of two possible heads the instructions are specific. A cataloger who carefully follows the guide should without other aid at least avoid the mistake of entering titles under heads where physicists will never dream of finding them. . . By no means all the weaknesses of the Library of Congress list have been eliminated; there are still overlaps and inconsistencies, antiquated terms that should be dropped and new ones that should be used, rather than merely 'referred from.'" M. C. Shields

+ — R of Scientific Instruments 16:86 Ap '45 250w

"This carefully compiled cataloger's tool provides reliable and up-to-date headings for physics materials—headings which will be welcomed by those who want to locate such materials for research and study. There are many definitions and numerous explanations to guide the worker in applying the headings properly. Specific titles are often cited to illustrate the kind of book which certain headings cover. There are many cross-references. The work as a whole conforms with the new L. C. general list; deviations from it are indicated."

+ Special Libraries 35:462 N '44

VOLUME library; an encyclopedia of practical and cultural information. 2422p il maps $15.75 c1911-44 Educators assn, 307 5th av, N.Y.

031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries

"Two editions of The Volume Library have been reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin, the 1928 edition in January 1930 and the 1939 edition in July 1939 [Book Review Digest, 1934, 1939]. The April 1934 Bulletin carried a note that the 1931 revision did not justify a new evaluation. The 1944 edition of The Volume Library has the same editorial preface and list of editors and contributors as the 1939 edition. Dates of death which were omitted from the 1939 edition have been added for contributors no longer living. The book contains 16 main sections: Education; Kindergarten; Language and Grammar; Literature; Geography; History; Mathematics; Science; Physiology and Hygiene; Government and Law; Biography; Industry and Trade; Multiplex Dictionary; Fine Arts; Useful Miscellany; Atlas." Subscription Bks Bul

"A comparison with the 1943 Statistical Abstract of the United States shows that in the table on page 600 of The Volume Library, giving total value of mineral production in the United States, figures for four states are partially revised. The revised statistics are for 1938 while the remainder are for 1935. Electronics, nylon, penicillin, and radar are not found in the index nor in the section on science; and the names of such outstanding men as Thomas E. Dewey, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, General George C. Marshall, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, and Wendell L. Willkie are not in the 'Biographical Dictionary.'. . With a few exceptions, the 1944 edition of The Volume Library is the same as the 1939 edition which received a limited recommendation for home library use in the July 1939 Bulletin. However, the 1944 edition is not recommended because of lack of revision."

— Subscription Bks Bul 16:41 Jl '45 480w

VON HAGEN, VICTOR WOLFGANG. Aztec and Maya papermakers; with an introd. by Dard Hunter. 120p il 39pl maps $6 Augustin

970.6676 Aztecs. Mayas. Paper making and trade 44-9982

"The author details the knowledge of Aztec and Maya papermaking from earliest Spanish days to the present, and describes the method of preparing the inner bark of the fig tree, of the mulberry tree family, for the making of paper. He corrects the misapprehension, which has long been prevalent in the literature, to the effect that Mexican paper was made from the agave plant." Am Soc R

"There are thirty-nine splendid plates. The format is admirable and the volume will be highly appreciated both by book-collectors and by scholars. The story is interestingly told by one who has devoted years to this special study and has rendered a considerable service to the cause of culture history." W. D. Wallis

+ Am Soc R 10:564 Ag '45 120w

Booklist 41:151 Ja 15 '45

"An invaluable, concise statement of available information."

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:1 Mr '45 240w

VON HAGEN, VICTOR WOLFGANG. South America called them; explorations of the great naturalists: La Condamine, Humboldt, Darwin, Spruce. 311p il maps $3.75 Knopf

918 South America—Description and travel. La Condamine, Charles Marie de. Humboldt, Alexander, freiherr von. Darwin, Charles Robert. Spruce, Richard 45-783

Biographical sketches of four European scientists whose explorations in South America helped to bring it to the attention of the rest of the world. They were the Frenchman, La Condamine, a soldier-financier who discovered platinum; Humboldt, the German, scientist and diplomat; Darwin, the English discoverer of the "origin of species"; and the Scotchman, Richard Spruce, one of the great botanists of all time. Chronology of South America from 1498 to 1859, and index.

Reviewed by Leonard Dubkin

Book Week p8 F 25 '45 450w

Booklist 41:196 Mr 1 '45

Kirkus 12:557 D 15 '44 170w

"This is the engrossing, thrilling, almost incredible tale of the great naturalists. . . A long book well worth the modern reader's time." H. S. Taylor

+ Library J 70:117 F 1 '45 110w

"The book forms an admirable introduction to Southern Hemisphere geography, and because of its author's lively interest in the social life of the time, it will be of very great value to the historical student, especially the first section. The documentation is never less than adequate, and the use of it is responsible. There is an unfortunate tendency to push the story along with unnecessary violence, as in such a sentence as this, 'When Humboldt wrote of the electric eels, all Europe gasped in astonishment.' Nine-tenths of the book, though, is so absorbing that in these times it must be described as first-rate." Ralph Bates

+ Nation 160:281 Mr 10 '45 280w

"A brilliant, informative and very dramatic story." Bernard Jaffe

+ New Repub 112:340 Mr 5 '45 1200w

"An immensely informative and exciting work." R. G. Davis

+ N Y Times p7 F 18 '45 1050w

"Mr. von Hagen, an explorer and naturalist, sticks to the facts in a properly scientific fashion, but his book, since he knows how to write and since he is dealing with some of the most fascinating exploits in the history of exploration, is also a first-rate adventure yarn. It is hard to see how anybody interested in exploration or natural history could go wrong with this one."

+ New Yorker 21:78 F 24 '45 100w

"No antidote to the blood-spattered history of South America is as refreshing as this highly civilized account of the four greatest naturalists who ever worked there. . . In a book so readable and so packed with interest it seems invidious to point out that the author is not always careful about his facts." Norman Taylor

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:38 F 17 '45 100w

"There is charm in the writing of this book, and an enthusiasm that is contagious. There is history and high individual endeavor woven into its fabric. South America is still a vigorous frontier of science. It still is calling!"

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 Mr '45 480w

"On the face of it, this should provide all the ingredients for a most interesting and valuable book. The author thoroughly knows his material, historical and geographical. He enjoys a vivid command of language. Yet somehow the book misses the mark. And perhaps that is because the author could not decide on one particular aim. He has too many simultaneous objectives. . . There is some beautiful writing, but it is offset by an indulgence in terminology that few readers who are not themselves naturalists are likely to understand." H. M. Davis

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 18 '45 650w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:15 Je '45 240w

Reviewed by E. W. Teale

Weekly Book Review p3 F 18 '45 1250w

VON NEUMANN, JOHN, and MORGENSTERN, OSKAR. Theory of games and economic behavior. 625p $10 Princeton univ. press [50s Oxford]

330.1 Economics. Games A44-4629

"The classical theory of games is based on the calculus of probabilities, and the mathematical approach to economics is the new

VON NEUMANN, JOHN—Continued
science of econometrics. . . The mathematical tools in both sciences are essentially the same, differential and integral calculus. However, no theory of games used to be considered a part of economics. The authors, a brilliant mathematician and a well-known economist of the Austrian school, try a completely new start which interprets economics in terms of games of strategy. These games, which include games of pure chance, such as dice throwing, and rational games, such as chess, serve as models for economics as the usual physical models serve in physics. However, the tool is no longer calculus but mainly the theory of sets and groups." Ann Am Acad

---

"The reviewer found the Theory of Games at all times a model of clear and careful exposition." H. A. Simon

+ Am J Soc 50:558 My '45 1650w

"The whole approach is purely static, and there is a long way to travel to the point where this line of thought may furnish tangible results for the rational solution of economic problems. The reviewer doubts whether the method based essentially on a capitalist form of production covers all rational economics. The authors must be lauded for their courage and endurance in undertaking their highly theoretical endeavors. However, it seems questionable whether they will obtain adequate appreciation from the public. Page after page full of formulae discourage the reader. A nonmathematical summary of the main results would have meant an essential improvement without any sacrifice of rigidity." E. J. Gumbel

Ann Am Acad 239:209 My '45 450w

"This is a difficult technical book, the product of collaboration between an outstanding mathematician and a distinguished economist, and is addressed primarily to mathematicians and mathematical economists. It nevertheless merits some attention from philosophers. For it initiates a radically new direction in constructing a mathematical analysis of human behavior, and it also has important implications for the theory of inductive inference." E. N.

+ J Philos 42:550 S 27 '45 1450w

Reviewed by L. O. Kattsoff

Social Forces 24:245 D '45 490w

Times [London] Lit Sup p299 Je 23 '45 170w

VOYNICH, MRS ETHEL LILLIAN (BOOLE). Put off thy shoes. 456p $3 Macmillan

45-4308

In 1897 the author of this novel published The Gadfly, a best-seller at the time. The present long novel is laid in Warwickshire and Cornwall during the time of George III, and deals with the youth of the Gadfly's grandmother and grandfather, but is primarily the story of Beatrice Telford, his great-grandmother. It shows the gradual development of her character from her unhappy girlhood, to her years of motherhood, and the impact on her of the simple goodness of the Cornish peasants, among whom she stayed for a period of recuperation.

"Mrs. Voynich's outstanding novel, is first and last a study in character of intense vigor and skill, in short a real literary event, and destined to be conspicuous on this season's literary landscape." Edith Roberts

+ Book Week p3 Je 10 '45 600w

Booklist 41:287 Je 1 '45

Kirkus 13:114 Mr 15 '45 170w

"Psychologically convincing, readable, may be popular." G. W. Hill

+ Library J 70:488 My 15 '45 80w

"Despite the years since the appearance of 'The Gadfly' that masterpiece of story-telling, the hand of its author has gained, rather than lost, in cunning. Only a woman of many years and very unusual experiences could have written this book, a woman with a profound knowledge of her sex, and a rather startling understanding of the other. It is probably idle to say that I consider this the biggest novel of its sort that has appeared this season, because such superlatives are so wantonly abused by many reviewers that they have become nauseating. But if only the enlightened reader will keep the phrase 'of its sort' in mind, I believe that he (and she) will be compelled to share my admiration." Cuthbert Wright

+ N Y Times p4 My 27 '45 1000w

"Mrs. Voynich has a rather late-nineteenth-century style and her book could do with some cutting here and there, but the publishers, if they aren't careful, may still find themselves with another 'Gone with the Wind' on their hands."

+ New Yorker 21:81 My 26 '45 200w

"The novel is a long one, written in the leisurely Victorian manner, and a concluding note connects its story with that of 'The Gadfly.' A great deal happens in it, the elements of suspense and surprise are deftly managed, and at the end one knows intimately a large number of vivid, well-integrated characters. . . To those accustomed to the compressed, non-representational art of today this long novel with its domestic detail and highly colored incidents may on occasion seem slightly reminiscent of the massive oil-paintings of the time of the Landseers. Yet the entertaining plot, the study of Beatrice's growth as a person, of her relations with her family and friends, and of her husband's gradual deterioration, the careful portraits of Walter . . . provide a narrative certain to hold the attention of many a reader." Grace Frank

+ Sat R of Lit 28:33 My 26 '45 650w

"Mrs. Voynich leaves much of her character motivation and analysis incompletely developed. But her writing is well adapted to the subject matter, having an eighteenth-century flavor in its somewhat stiff but nicely balanced phraseology." Robert Mills

+ — Weekly Book Review p6 Je 10 '45 450w

Wis Lib Bul 41:102 O '45

W

WACH, JOACHIM. Sociology of religion. 412p $5 Univ. of Chicago press [30s Cambridge]

201 Religion and sociology. Sociology

A44-2304

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"One of the most impressive features of this book is the evidence of great labor and diligence. It would require a good library to hold the books cited in the text, with footnotes that prove they were actually consulted. Equally noteworthy is the fairness and good nature of the author in dealing with writers with whom he takes issue. . . The style of the writer is, in general, clear and pleasingly irenic. It is marred by needless Latin phrases. . . The reader will find the Index very irritating." Ellsworth Faris

+ — Am J Soc 50:404 Mr '45 1200w

"This contribution to the sociology of religion is written in the grand tradition of German scholarship by a man richly equipped in philosophical, linguistic, historical and sociological background. An American sociologist opening the volume might well hope to find a neglected field organized around a sound theoretical structure and to see revealed the limitations of our varied sentimental, empirical and denominational efforts. The hope is only partially realized." Clifford Kirkpatrick

+ — Am Soc R 10:327 Ap '45 800w

"This is a comprehensive and erudite work in the German manner. American sociologists will think it too bookish, with insufficient direct observation. This is more than compensated for by the extensive bibliographical notes, which make the volume a rich mine of suggestions for students in the field." E. E. Aubrey

+ J Religion 25:140 Ap '45 600w

"The range of topics and the wealth of information make the book required reading for those interested in the sociology of religion.

The social theorist may discern the outlines of Max Weber's theories, insights and typologies usefully displayed in the arrangement and in the content of various chapters. And any one interested in the general sciences of man will find the book a stimulating experience." C. W. Mills

+ Pol Sci Q 60:151 Mr '45 700w

"The abstract concepts are practically never defined in any clear-cut manner, the selection of material reveals marked bias, and the conclusions are vague, equivocal, and of little or no usefulness, except, possibly, to be woven into future vague and inconclusive discussions of a similar character. . . Even within the canons of scholarly sociology, Wach's book fails to achieve the clarity, rigor, impartiality, and conclusiveness which such studies, at their best, exhibit. But have we not arrived at the stage of sociological research in which we may begin to proceed operationally (in the best sense of that term) even in the field of religion? Such procedure, of course, is completely beyond the ken of the present treatise." Hornell Hart

Social Forces 23:476 My '45 1150w

WADE, GLADYS I. Thomas Traherne; with a selected bibliography of criticism, by Robert Allerton Parker. 269p $3 Princeton univ. press [15s Oxford]

B or 92 Traherne, Thomas A44-2294

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy

Book Week p4 F 4 '45 360w

"Miss Wade's portrait is very winning." G. H. B.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 F 21 '45 250w

Reviewed by Joan Bennett

New Statesman & Nation 29:362 Je 2 '45 550w

"Miss Wade's scholarly analysis of Traherne's prose, with her careful assignment of its proper place in the history of seventeenth-century prose, is an exemplary piece of critical investigation; but it is bound to leave her readers conscious of that essential spirit of the miraculous in which lies Traherne's unfathomable mystery."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p114 Mr 10 '45 2300w

WADELTON, THOMAS DORRINGTON, 1926-. Silver buckles on his knee. 167p $2 Coward-McCann

45-6469

This second novel by the author of My Mother Is a Violent Woman, tells the story of an American boy growing up in a typically American home and community in the middle west. When the war came Peter and his friends joined up, Peter going into the Navy where he became an expert photographer. The story ends with an account of the strange adventure that befell Peter on a tiny Pacific island, and what came of it.

"An ingenuous story with lovable characters, and [written] in a refreshing style."

+ Cath World 162:283 D '45 200w

Kirkus 13:260 Je 15 '45 110w

"If in recent years Indiana has slipped somewhat from her position as one of the 'writingest' states in the Union, it is not Tommy Wadelton's fault. 'Silver Buckles on His Knee' is his fourth book, and Tommy is now 19 and a Pfc. His latest book, which must be largely his own Indiana experience, shows him to be a lively and sensitive observer." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p23 Jl 15 '45 270w

"There is a great deal that is memorable in this novel. One of the advantages of a young writer is that he can remember at close hand all the authentic flavor of youth, the long, long thoughts, the enormous significance of all the things which attend the business of growing up. And if he is adept with words he can capture and fix it on the page. Tommy Wadelton has done this, in his record of Peter McCarthy's growing up. It is a sensitive and heartwarming portrayal. . . But the book as a whole suffers greatly from its naive and obviously artificial climax." S. H. Hay

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:14 Ag 4 '45 450w

"The same touch of gaiety and mischief that made Wadelton's 'My Mother Is a Violent Woman' and 'My Father Is a Quiet Man' such delectable accounts of American family life recur in his 'Silver Buckles on His Knee.' The supernatural events in the story are smoothly imagined and beautifully bulwarked by the sense of simple reality which his tender, gay and not at all sentimental account of American boyhood builds up." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 15 '45 550w

WADSWORTH, LEDA A. Bronze arrow mystery. 280p $2 Farrar

44-53445

Mystery story for grades seven to nine.

Booklist 41:198 Mr 1 '45

"Another Wadsworth mystery story—and a good one, not only on the score of a good yarn, but well-characterized and well-written."

+ Kirkus 13:35 Ja 15 '45 100w

"An unimportant book." M. B. Snow

Library J 70:268 Mr 15 '45 50w

"Since Terry's revaluation of himself bulks larger than the mystery it is too bad that he isn't portrayed more fully as a sympathetic character, but the story has a contemporariness which makes it good reading for the high school age." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p29 Mr 11 '45 130w

"Good English and acquaintance with contemporary youth mark this as a story deserving popularity." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 1 '45 270w

WAGENER, ALBERT M., and ARTHUR, HARLAN R. Machinists' and draftsmen's handbook. 662p il $4.50 Van Nostrand

621.02 Mechanical engineering—Handbooks, manuals, etc. 45-8500

"A compact reference work designed to provide the basic information required by machinists and draftsmen in most of their routine assignments. It contains tables, charts, symbols, terminology, formulas, and directions for calculating standard problems in shop mathematics. There are chapters on drills, threads, spur gearing, milling tables, tapers, dies and presses, metals, strength of materials, and mechanics." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 70:892 O 1 '45 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:37 Jl '45

WAGENKNECHT, EDWARD CHARLES, ed. Fireside book of Christmas stories; il. by Wallace Morgan. 659p $3.50 Bobbs

394.268 Christmas stories 45-35229

"These forty-four stories, occasional essays and one poem deal with every aspect of the Yule season that a hard-digging editor could turn up. Here is the genesis of Christmas (excerpts from Matthew and Luke, rewrites of same by devout and skillful craftsmen); the blending of the Biblical story with the legend of St. Nicholas; the celebration of Christmas in England (Mr. Pickwick, Scrooge et al., plus some highly modern surprise entries); and fifteen examples of celebrations in America, from Louisa May Alcott to Christopher Morley, and back by way of Howard Pyle, Zona Gale, Hamlin Garland." N Y Times

"The total effect of this book is to mellow the hard heart, blunt the edge of fear, open the mind to beauties half forgotten. It sends the reader out into the clear frosty night for a look at the stars. One feels that Christ's teaching might have achieved peace on earth, good will toward men. But we may never know. George Bernard Shaw once remarked, about Christianity, 'we have never tried it.'" Sterling North

+ Book Week p42 D 2 '45 800w

WAGENKNECHT, E. C., ed.—Continued
Booklist 42:111 D 1 '45

"Useful holiday reference material for story tellers."
Kirkus 13:390 S 1 '45 130w

"Some of the entries may seem treacly on the present day palate, but there is variety here for every taste. Mr. Wagenknecht's anthology, like fruitcake, can be sampled and enjoyed long after the holiday season has passed. And, unlike even the finest fruitcake, the best of this generous volume will keep its tang—and its freshness—forever." James MacBride
+ N Y Times p10 D 9 '45 180w
Springf'd Republican p4 D 20 '45 300w

WAGNER, FRIEDELIND, and COOPER, PAGE. Heritage of fire; the story of Richard Wagner's granddaughter. 225p il $3 Harper

B or 92 45-9444

A granddaughter of Richard Wagner describes her childhood at Bayreuth, where the world's great and near-great came to perform and listen to Wagner's operas. Her English mother was a friend of Hitler as early as 1921, so her daughter knew him as an "uncle." Many stories of his appearances at Bayreuth are included in the book, along with the author's story of her growing distrust of Nazi policies, her flight to Switzerland, and later to America.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 O 28 '45 700w
Booklist 42:108 D 1 '45

Reviewed by L. A. Sloper
Christian Science Monitor p17 N 17 '45 500w

"Wagner's granddaughter writing of her family and their life would provide interesting enough personal history, but when she combines that with the story of the family's relationship with Hitler, and the Nazi party, the interest is doubled."
+ Kirkus 13:310 Jl 15 '45 250w

"A behind-the Bayreuth-scenes story of Hitlerite Germany that is dramatic, engrossing, and full of information and sidelights which few other persons could provide. . . Miss Wagner, however, knew Hitler as a child, and it is the way his character gradually unfolded itself to her, with its implications of cruelty and disaster, that gives her book a unique value."
+ New Yorker 21:105 N 3 '45 160w

"Friedelind's own personality is not entirely sympathetic, but the book is of value and interest nevertheless. With the possible exception of Dr. Geissmar's memoirs, no recent book has given so good a picture of the decay of musical life in Germany under the Nazis." T. M. Purdy
+ Sat R of Lit 28:26 D 15 '45 650w

"No reader can fail to enjoy the sketches and vignettes of life at Bayreuth before and after the Nazis; of the orchestra leaders, Karl Muck, Richard Strauss, Furtwängler, Beecham and the great Toscanini, nor fail to be interested in Friedelind Wagner's account of the singers who were part of the great tradition. Friedelind knew them all, particularly Herbert Janssen and Frida Leider." L. S. Munn
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 4 '45 1000w

Reviewed by John Erskine
Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 6 '46 1200w

WAGNER, PHILIP MARSHALL. Wine-grower's guide. 230p il maps $3 Knopf

634.84 Grapes. Wine and wine making Agr45-335

"Containing chapters on the past and future of wine-growing in America, the management of a vineyard, and the choice of suitable wine-grape varieties." (Subtitle) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 42:52 O 15 '45
Kirkus 13:308 Jl 15 '45 90w

Reviewed by Richardson Wright
Weekly Book Review p10 S 23 '45 400w

WAGONER, MRS JEAN (BROWN). Julia Ward Howe; girl of old New York; il. by Clothilde Embree Funk. (Childhood of famous Americans ser) 214p $1.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Howe, Julia Ward—Juvenile literature 45-8460

Based on the adult biography of the same title, by Laura Richards and Maud Howe Eliot, this is the life of a small girl of character who grew up to write the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

"A lively, appealing book. . . There is lots of romantic interest and unusually good characterization. . . Worthy reading for all fifth graders and up and it may be successfully recommended all the way to high school."
+ Kirkus 13:340 Ag 1 '45 150w

Reviewed by F. W. Butler
Library J 70:1028 N 1 '45 80w

"Entrancingly told." G. P. C.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 4 '45 110w

WAGSTAFF, BLANCHE (SHOEMAKER) (MRS DONALD CARR). Beloved Son; il. by Bettie Kerkham. 22p $1 Humphries

232.991 Jesus Christ—Poetry 44-51418

The story of Christ, told in rhymed couplets, for children.

"The words are very simple, but there is a ring to them, a radiance that is completely fitting." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p15 Mr 11 '45 90w
Christian Century 62:241 F 21 '45 10w

WAKSMAN, SELMAN ABRAHAM. Microbial antagonisms and antibiotic substances. 350p il $3.75 Commonwealth fund [16s Oxford]

589.95 Micro-organisms. Antibiotic substances 45-35049

"The rapidly expanding literature on antibiotics has been greatly in need of an enlarged review to enable those not specializing in the field to keep abreast of the developments. The need is well met by this book. The author has made a very complete coverage of the literature and accumulated a bibliography of 1,016 references. His point of view, that of a soil microbiologist, is made quite apparent in the early chapters, where the fundamental background material of the subject is given." Am J Pub Health

"While it would be desirable for everyone concerned with the subject to be familiar with the material in this book, it is written for the research worker. The section dealing with the interests of the public health worker is a relatively small part. The author discusses the possibilities of further developments in the field. The reviewer would recommend it as an excellent book for the reference shelf." G. A. LePage
+ Am J Pub Health 35:868 Ag '45 180w

"Microbiologists and plant and animal pathologists will certainly find this complete review useful. Because emphasis is placed upon the general biological rather than the clinical aspects of antibiotics this book will also interest the general biologist."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:39 Je '45 240w

WALDMAN, MILTON. Elizabeth and Leicester. 211p il $3 Houghton [12s 6d Collins]

B or 92 Elizabeth, queen of England. Leicester, Robert Dudley, earl of 45-9900

An interpretation and analysis of the thirty-years relation which obtained between Robert Dudley, earl of Leicester, and Elizabeth, queen of England. The author has written several biographies of the Elizabethans, including one of Queen Elizabeth. Index.

Reviewed by Arthur Meeker
Book Week p5 N 18 '45 500w
Booklist 42:164 Ja 15 '46

Reviewed by R. A. Brown
Christian Science Monitor p15 D 15 '45 700w

"This historiography has all the lively movement and the color of a romance, along with the more durable qualities of a true chronicle of the character and action of real people in an era of devastating moral and political changes. Mr. Waldman has done nobly in weighing and understanding these changes in an adventurous, noble, and stimulating, yet barbarous, age—'the spacious times of Great Elizabeth.'" Rolfe Boswell

+ Commonweal 43:213 D 7 '45 750w

Kirkus 13:450 O 1 '45 150w

"The scholarship of this latest essay is not its strong point; there are too many slips in detail and too little critical dexterity over larger matters like Amy Robsart's death and Leicester's later matrimonial troubles for that. It is rather for its sensitiveness in probing the tortuous relations of Queen and favourite that it deserves to be read." K. B. McF.

Manchester Guardian p3 D 27 '44 180w

"The most suggestive pages of Mr. Milton Waldman's book are in his opening tour of the Elizabethan panorama. He has gone to the proper sources. He packs his sentences with information, pictures and arguments, and some of them break under the load; he is a copious, lively writer, very readable, rather clumsy and without much style. These opening pages set the subject on its feet." V. S. Pritchett

+ — New Statesman & Nation 29:27 Ja 13 '45 1650w

"Mr. Waldman, American by birth and literary Londoner by adoption, has produced an excellent book, one so pleasurable to read that it comes pretty close to disarming criticism. The prose is extremely good, and its quietly sardonic tone is flavored by succinct quotation from Elizabethan sources. Any such work as this entails a good deal of speculation. In this respect it is amusing and impressive to observe how nimbly Mr. Waldman skips across the wordy bogs that lure so many biographers to a muddy and disgraceful end. His hypotheses are so modestly presented that only a contrary mind would begrudge their sense. Like his own Elizabethans, Mr. Waldman keeps himself very much out of the picture when he writes." E. B. Garside

+ N Y Times p3 D 30 '45 1100w

"Mr. Waldman writes well and with an eye to unravelling some of the half-truth and melodramatic legend that still surround the affair."

New Yorker 21:110 N 24 '45 120w

"Mr. Waldman, of course, does not write so brilliantly as Lytton Strachey, but he is free from Strachey's occasional bouts of hysteria and inaccuracy. One could trust Mr. Waldman not to shorten someone's legs for comic effect, as Strachey is said to have shortened Dr. Arnold's. Surprisingly, not the least interesting of his chapters is the excellent introductory panorama of social life—a subject difficult to treat freshly. But were the Elizabethans really unflawed by self-doubt and introspection? What about Fulke Greville, Hamlet or even the Earl of Essex?" Phoebe Pool

Spec 173:602 D 29 '44 700w

Time 46:103 N 26 '45 1500w

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p601 D 16 '44 1200w

"For all the volumes, not to say libraries, that have been written about the Virgin Queen, Gloriana, the royal shrew whose reign inaugurated the British Empire, setting that great historic action afoot by forty-odd years of 'inflexible irresolution,' Mr. Waldman here makes a genuinely fresh contribution to the matter, by skillful and scholarly treatment of the one person who stood so near her throughout her life that he has been obscured by the very brilliance of his position." Isabel Paterson

+ Weekly Book Review p3 N 18 '45 1500w

WALES, NYM, pseud. See Snow, H. F.

WALKER, EDWARD EVERETT. Democracy and social policy; a textbook on the problems of democracy. 504p il $2 Scribner

300 Social sciences 45-7987

"Differs from most books written for senior problems classes both in the problems selected and in the treatment of those problems. One fails to find many of the topics usually included in senior problems courses—crime, recreation, consumer economics, housing, health, family relations, and the like. Rather, the authors have been guided in their selection of content and emphasis by the belief: first, that the foundations of democracy are threatened by recent developments; second, that the schools are failing to present 'issues which are really basic if democratic ideals and practices are to survive'; and third, that 'the schools must assume more responsibility for the development of leaders who have a sense of direction' (p. iii). Consequently, the authors have chosen to present the issues which are basic in democratic living and the trends which they believe are shaping today's world with the hope that, if students come to grips with underlying issues, they will be equipped to handle more intelligently the numerous social problems they will be called upon to meet." (Social Educ) Index.

"The book is most readable, and should encourage the young citizens who use it to search further for facts and information on the topics discussed and to think critically about them. Both the topics discussed and the manner of presentation should appeal to high school students and should counteract much of the apathy which too many young people have for social and political problems. In spite of the many commendable features of the book, the reviewer wishes that more use had been made of graphs and charts and that the study aids suggested at the end of each chapter had been more consistently of the problem and research type." Lavonne Hanna

+ — Social Educ 10:44 Ja '46 850w

"A study of Democracy and Social Policy will give young people the ability to hold their own in discussion with adults; in fact, many adults may find reading it very profitable and possibly most illuminating. One is left with the wholesome impression that the United States is neither a land of confusion nor a Utopia, but rather that it is a wonderful challenge to the honest, public-spirited leader." Margaret Steiner

+ Social Studies 36:278 O '45 650w

WALKER, ERIC ANDERSON. Colonies. (Current problems ser) 168p $1.25 Macmillan [3s 6d Cambridge]

325.3 Colonies [A44-4616]

"This little book contains a keen analysis of the relations between Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and the United States on the one hand and their overseas possessions on the other in the light of contemporary conditions, notably of warfare and communications." Foreign Affairs

---

Foreign Affairs 23:511 Ap '45 40w

"There is no attempt to ignore the errors, the brutalities and the misgovernment of the past. But somehow the author moves so rapidly over the historical scene and lays such stress on the progressive developments of the last decades that the picture which emerges is tinted with a rather rosy hue. There are, moreover, traces of a natural British bias. . . But, on the whole, the author is informed, skillful and suave, and most of his discussion is frank, informative, and studded with useful facts and figures." C. W. Cole

+ — Pol Sci Q 60:299 Je '45 600w

WALKER, JAMES HERBERT. Piping handbook. See Crocker, S.

WALKER, JOSEPH FREDERIC. Formaldehyde. (Am. chemical soc. Monograph ser) 397p il $5.50 Reinhold

547.5 Formaldehyde 45-35050

"Systematic and critical account of formaldehyde chemistry and first single book in English on the subject. Due to the war the newest uses are not discussed. Physical, chemical, thermodynamic and chemical properties of formaldehyde, formaldehyde solutions, reac-

WALKER, J. F.—Continued
tions with chemicals, detection and analysis of formaldehyde and industrial applications, methods of manufacture, commercial formaldehyde, storage, compounds and formaldehyde polymers and hexamethylenetetramine. Many references." Library J

"This belongs in the organic chemistry section of every library; it is indispensable to the chemist who works with formaldehyde." Harry Burrell
+ Chem & Eng N 23:578 Mr 25 '45 650w

"All persons interested in formaldehyde and its polymers from the angles of physical properties, chemical reactions, specifications and analyses, derivatives or industrial uses should add this volume to their working libraries as soon as possible. It will prove to be a valuable tool." J. R. Callaham
+ Chem & Met Eng 52:239 My '45 250w
Library J 70:120 F 1 '45 80w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:8 Ja '45

"The author's editorial treatment, and his courage in stating his own opinions, based upon expert knowledge and familiarity with the field, make the book much more useful than a mere bibliography."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:47 Je '45 240w

WALKER, MANNIX. Everything rustles; decorations by Helen E. Hokinson. 242p $2.50 Dodd
45-6728

The heroine of Count on Two Days (Book Review Digest, 1943) that terrible Mrs Agatha Dowell of Beacon Street, Boston, decides to help her country in time of war. To Mrs Dowell, the decision was only a short preamble to violent action. With her son in the Navy, and stationed in Washington, Agatha headed for her nation's capitol and furious adventure.

"Mr. Mannix Walker is a good and conscientious disciple of the madcap school. That his sense of humor survives a strenuous course says a good deal for it. But his creation, Agatha Dowell, can never be left a moment to stand on her own comic value. In 'Everything Rustles' the terrible old lady of Beacon Street seizes a lorgnette and a tomahawk to ward off the blight of normal behavior and eventually attracts enough slapstick war comedy to achieve national prominence." Isabelle Mallet
+ N Y Times p4 Ag 12 '45 500w

"For those who get a terrific wallop out of the guy who tries on women's hats at parties, 'Everything Rustles' should be a perfect howl." R. E. Morgan
Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 12 '45 240w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p22 Ag 26 '45 230w

WALKER, RONALD CLAUDE. Electronic equipment and accessories; principles of electronics and their applications in industry. 394p il $6 Chemical pub. co. [25s Newnes]
621.38 Electronics 45-9524

"A British text intended for the student and practicing engineer concerned with the design of electronic apparatus. The first part of the volume describes the characteristics of vacuum tubes as a whole and the industrial applications of thermionic tubes, gas-filled tubes and of gas-filled triodes. These chapters discuss light-sensitive devices and the use of cathode ray tubes. The remainder deals with construction and operation of small switchgear, delayed-action devices, and other apparatus associated with the electronic control of small mechanisms." N Y New Tech Bks

Chem & Eng N 23:2149 N 25 '45 10w
Library J 70:1091 N 15 '45 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:23 Ap '45

WALL, ROY. Fish and game cookery. 218p $2 Mill
641.691 Cookery (fish). Cookery (game)
45-5790

In addition to many recipes, simple and elaborate, for cooking game and fish, book contains chapters on caring for game and fish in the field, on building camp fires, and on camp cookery and equipment in general. Index.

Booklist 42:8 S '45
Bookmark 6:7 N '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p19 S '45

"Written by an experienced sportsman, this will doubtless prove a culinary delight for camp cooks de luxe, plus supplying the sportsmen who count on taking game home with the necessary information for care of game and fish in the field, for preparation for transportation in a way to preserve as much as possible of the initial flavor."
+ Kirkus 13:172 Ap 15 '45 130w

WALLACE, ARCHER. In spite of all. 122p $1 Abingdon-Cokesbury
920 45-2338

Brief biographical sketches of ten famous people each of whom overcame some adversity. Those included are: Ludwig van Beethoven, William Cowper, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Francis Parkman, Madame Marie Curie, Sir Walter Scott, Friedrich von Schiller, Baruch Spinoza, Grey of Fallodon, Katharine Butler Hathaway. The author is editor of a Canadian paper for young people, and the book is suitable for adult or high school shelves.

"An inspiring and awakening book for young people who have normal powers but do not make the best use of them."
+ Christian Century 62:368 Mr 21 '45 70w
Kirkus 13:129 Mr 15 '45 80w
Wis Lib Bul 41:68 Je '45

WALLACE, EDWARD TATUM. Barington. 311p $2.50 Simon & Schuster
45-5730

A book of sketches of life in a small midwestern town thirty to forty years ago. Most of the sketches deal with Bart MacKenzie, owner of the town's hardware store, or with his young son, Debs.

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock
Book Week p5 Ag 12 '45 360w
Booklist 42:20 S '45

"It is rich in anecdote, and flavor; characters and setting are tinged with pungent nostalgia of first-hand knowledge."
+ Kirkus 13:183 My 1 '45 230w

Reviewed by R. B. Rankin
Library J 70:686 Ag '45 80w

"On a flyleaf of the copy of 'Barington' at hand some one has penciled the note, 'American humor in the raw.' The book is that and more. Its humor is balanced by its pathos, and both are high-grade. . . Mr. Wallace has done a workmanlike book without leaving a marring trace of effort. If his writing is not appearing in the little-story magazines that valiantly uphold fiction standards in our slick and stereotyped times, it ought to be there." L. H. Robbins
N Y Times p8 O 14 '45 400w

"Readers in whom the record of any tranquil past induces a pleasurable nostalgia will probably like Mr. Wallace's happy reminiscences; those with less taste for retrospection are likely to be gently bored."
New Yorker 21:70 Ag 11 '45 60w

"The canvasses which the author paints turn out to be no more than a palette with daubs of color and shape, here and there, instead of a unified composition. He makes an effort to treat each of the local incidents or reactions as part of a mosaic, by centering them about the storekeeper and his son, but the effort is labored and the result is a series of unrelated episodes of uneven value and importance." Harold Fields

Sat R of Lit 28:13 Ag 11 '45 700w

"A delightful book of light summer reading." D. J. Malcolm
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 5 '45 300w

"Mr. Wallace has written his first book; it will not be his last. He has only just begun to tap the good richness of grass-roots America." Ernestine Evans
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 19 '45 950w

WALLACE, ETHEL. From scenes like these; life in a Christian family. 223p $2 Hathaway & bros, 6th & Locust sts, Philadelphia 6
818 45-19655

Recollections of family life in a quiet home not far from Philadelphia, in the days when large families and members of several generations could live under one roof in peace and harmony. There are scenes dating back to generations ago; with some letters from a soldier in World war I, and others from a young marine in the recent war.

"A warm and cheering narrative."
+ Christian Century 62:1065 S 19 '45 80w
Weekly Book Review p14 Ja 13 '46 130w

WALLACE, HENRY AGARD. Sixty million jobs. 216p il $2 Simon & Schuster; Reynal
330.973 U.S.—Economic policy. Unemployment. Income 45-8760

"Presenting the goal by 1950 of 200 billion dollars national production, to insure full employment, or about 60 million jobs, Secretary of Commerce shows how employment would be distributed among various groups and how the income and expenditure budgets for the nation would be broken down. As the 'People's Peace' the era of abundance must be accompanied by acceptance of the Roosevelt Bill of Economic Rights. Technical, economic explanation of bases for budget and employment estimates are not offered. Whether or not the program is the Administration's, and how it will be instrumented, are two pertinent, unanswered questions, but they detract little from this readable statement of an important problem." Library J

Reviewed by Russell Lord
Book Week p3 S 9 '45 1200w
Booklist 42:5 S '45

"Is a fervid rallying call to Americans all to work together and realize the full potential of their abilities and resources—a call voiced with an almost boyish exuberance that often drowns out some of the soberer fact and reasoning which really make up the undertones." E. B. O.
Christian Science Monitor p14 S 7 '45 330w

Reviewed by Edward Skillin
Commonweal 42:578 S 28 '45 1150w
Kirkus 13:327 Ag 1 '45 170w

Reviewed by Walter Hausdorfer
Library J 70:749 S 1 '45 140w

"A clear, fine book." Stuart Chase
+ Nation 161:313 S 29 '45 3200w

"All of us have read plenty of books by politicians and we know their typical characteristics only too well. Henry Wallace's Sixty Million Jobs has none of them. To begin with, it contains an immense amount of accurate and highly significant information. It is packed with facts. To read it is an education in applied economics. It should be read and reread by every voter. It should be studied in every high school and college in America." A. H. Hansen
+ New Repub 113:353 S 17 '45 2500w

"Mr. Wallace's fundamental belief in the democratic process, his faith in the common voter to give guidance to national policy, and his adherence to the tradition that has made the United States a symbol of individual freedom and individual opportunity, assure this book a warm welcome among men of good-will everywhere. He has sometimes been called a visionary by those who fear the vision of social justice and economic progress, but this book is a monument to his practicality." Claude Pepper
+ N Y Times p1 S 9 '45 2500w

"Mr. Wallace states well the ideal conditions which we would all like to see brought about in America. His book stimulates thought and study to find the right way to obtain them. But his own plans can only lead to another very artificial boom followed by the depression and unemployment he is trying to avoid. In his failure he is likely to destroy the whole American system of freedom which has made this people the most powerful nation the world has ever seen, and already with the highest standard of living and prosperity." R. A. Taft
— N Y Times p1 S 9 '45 2500w
New Yorker 21:99 O 6 '45 110w

"His brief, easy-to-read book is much more than an economic blueprint for sixty million jobs by 1950. It is also a passionate statement of a remarkable American's basic political, social, and personal philosophy. More than any recent work on economics or politics, it can serve as a moral testament and intellectual guide in the eventful, difficult days that lie ahead." Leo Barnes
+ Sat R of Lit 28:9 S 8 '45 1350w
Times [London] Lit Sup p435 S 15 '45 80w

Reviewed by Joseph Barnes
Weekly Book Review p1 S 9 '45 1800w
Wis Lib Bul 41:98 O '45

WALLACE, LILY HAXWORTH. Egg cookery; a complete handbook of tested recipes for breakfast, luncheon and dinner. 169p $2 Barrows
641.5 Cookery (eggs) 45-2811

Recipes for cooking eggs, and for other foods requiring eggs. No menus are included. Partial contents: Home preservation of eggs; Preparation of eggs before cooking; Soufflés; Egg salads; Egg sandwiches; Sauces and salad dressings; Desserts; Fillings and frostings; Meringue; Egg drinks; Waffles, hot breads, and rarebits. Index.

Booklist 41:233 Ap 15 '45
Bookmark 6:8 My '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '45

"This is far and away the best book on egg dishes that I have seen."
+ Kirkus 13:126 Mr 15 '45 110w

WALLACE, PAUL A. W. Conrad Weiser; friend of colonist and Mohawk. 648p $5 Univ. of Pa. press
B or 92 Weiser, Conrad 45-8858

Long, detailed biography of the Pennsylvania German who acted as interpreter and intermediary between the Indians and the government of colonial Pennsylvania. It was Weiser who understood the Iroquois so well that they joined with the colonists, rather than the French, thus influencing the course of American history. Index.

"Paul A. W. Wallace's biography is marked by lively enthusiasm for the subject and warm sympathy, and is ably written. It offers much new material on Weiser and fresh views of the men he dealt with and the events in which he participated. Perhaps its greatest interest to the general reader of today lies in its clear picturing of the great Indian 'united nations' which, though unwillingly, Weiser helped to destroy." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 N 4 '45 450w

"Based on the most solid and painstaking research and on a wide knowledge of the colorful background of our Colonial history, Wallace has written an admirable biography of an outstanding figure. His book will satisfy both the learned historian and the amateur. The chapters on Indian history are best; those on Weiser's religious development not fully adequate." Max Fischer

WALLACE, P. A. W.—Continued

+ — Commonweal 43:101 N 9 '45 650w

"Exhaustive, thoroughly documented biography that in spite of its length and frequent interpolations of source material in the text, maintains the reader's interest and is often exciting. Recommended for large libraries." G. W. Hill

+ Library J 70:749 S 1 '45 90w

"Mr. Wallace builds his biography in the traditional graduate-school manner of laying little brick upon little brick with a very parsimonious application of mortar. There is only a slight attempt at character interpretation; Weiser is brought to life more by the lengthy and sometimes awkward interpolations of excerpts from his 'Autobiography' than by any creative synthesis. . . However, the author writes in a more graceful and pleasing style than is usual in such works as this and his research has been obviously thorough and conscientious and intelligently considered." W. E. Wilson

+ — N Y Times p22 O 7 '45 900w

"Mr Wallace's carefully documented biography not only presents an excellent picture of a little-known patriot but does much to acquaint the reader with the Iroquois—their customs, temperament, and especially their strict adherence to the letter of their agreements. The book, written in an easy, informal way, is long but well worth the time spent on it." C. K. Bausman

+ Springf'd Republican p4d S 23 '45 650w

"The story has been often told, in one form or another, but never so thoroughly and so dramatically as by Paul A. W. Wallace in this masterly book." Carl Van Doren

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 13 '46 750w

WALLER, LESLIE. Three day pass. 190p $2.50 Viking
45-8412

An American soldier from a North Carolina camp spends three days in New York with his friend, a Canadian WAC. They spend the time wandering around New York, in bars, streets, and parks.

"Last July, while reviewing a book on the same theme, I called the thing 'the worst book that can come out of the war.' Bernard DeVoto kindly corrected my brashness: 'There is no such thing as the worst book. Wait until next week.' How right he was!" E. D. Branch

— Book Week p11 S 30 '45 400w

"This is certainly one of the greener literary offshoots of the war—its stream of consciousness is often out of hand—but it does reflect its generation with harsh directness. (Public Library contraband.)"

— Kirkus 13:321 Ag 1 '45 170w

"At times the voice of the turtle seems dangerously near stifling in the stream of consciousness but there is a satisfactory consummation. Cautiously recommended." E. F. Walbridge

Library J 70:890 O 1 '45 80w

"Mr. Waller's youth betrays him, not in his literary style, which is expert and articulate if occasionally reminiscent of two or three other people, nor his perception, which is accurate and acute, but in, shall we say, a lack of mature judgment, an uncertainty which the reader cannot feel is wholly due to his endeavor to present graphically the uncertainty and confusion of his characters. There is also a lack of taste, a rather adolescent and naive prurience, an indelicacy which is often quite unnecessary. But Mr. Waller is young, and his promise is extraordinary." S. H. Hay

Sat R of Lit 28:88 O 13 '45 400w

"The writing is lively, sensitive, perhaps a little self-consciously literate, just as the hero is rather self-consciously worldly wise. There are even Joycean passages: 'roughsmooth cobbleconcrete widenarrow . . . streets' and 'A very fawny sorcomstonce,' for example. It sums up to something immensely touching as well as revealing, though it is far from comfortable or weighty reading." David Tilden

Weekly Book Review p8 S 30 '45 300w

WALLER, WILLARD WALTER. The veteran comes back. 316p $2.75 Dryden
355.115 Veterans 44-7039

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"The book, admittedly, is for lay consumption only. The student and scholar will find little, if any, value in it. . . Perhaps the most serious defect of the book, from the point of view of those within the fields of economics, sociology and social welfare, if not from the point of view of the general reader, is the absence of specific reference to the present program for World War II veterans and their dependents, and the omission of a critical analysis of such a benefit program in terms of the basic needs of returning veterans and their families." P. A. Dodd

— Am Econ R 35:221 Mr '45 850w

"Professor Waller would probably agree that his book is written for popular consumption rather than for the sophisticated social scientist, or the technician. It should be judged as an offering to the public-spirited but relatively uninformed citizen, the rank and file of serious-minded voters. . . The book seems useful but not forcefully effective as a popular statement; it is, moreover, not held to a standard of scientific sociological analysis." Philip Klein

+ — Am Soc R 10:107 F '45 650w

"While it should be the duty of the reviewer to point out the shortcomings of the work under review, fairness calls also for an appraisal of outstanding values. This is a deeply thoughtful piece of work. It contains much factual information for the postwar program builder, and may be read with profit by all who recognize the vital importance of the topic, now and for decades to come." R. W. Kelso

+ — Ann Am Acad 238:191 Mr '45 450w

Bookmark 6:5 Ja '45

"Waller has done an unusually able job of developing his thesis. Partly because he comes from a family of soldiers, he knows what army life does to people. He also has a good knowledge of economics, psychology, sociology, and people. . . The book is attractively set up, interestingly written, and sound, and ought to inspire action on the part of intelligent citizens." E. F. Segner

+ J Home Econ 37:174 Mr '45 330w

WALLING, SYDNEY ARTHUR, and others. Nautical mathematics, and Marine navigation. 221p $2.75; text ed $2 Macmillan
511 Arithmetic. Navigation 44-47722

"A practical book for navy personnel, designed to offer a review of the principles of elementary mathematics in a series of problems dealing with ships, visibility distance at sea, tonnage, speed, gun ranging, etc. The second half treats of the fundamentals of navigation including the use of the compass and sextant, with numerous examples in calculating a ship's position or shaping the course." (N Y New Tech Bks) The two parts were originally issued separately under titles: Nautical mathematics and Elementary marine navigation, published 1943 and 1944 respectively. In the earlier issues S. A. Walling and J. C. Hill are given as the authors.

Library J 70:35 Ja 1 '45 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:63 O '44

WALLIS, MRS RUTH OTIS (SAWTELL). Blood from a stone. 205p $2 Dodd
45-3498

Mystery story.

"Mrs. Wallis is as at home in her metier as she most evidently is in the fields of the French provinces and archaeology. A fascinating and most unusual book." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p18 Ap 22 '45 140w

"Excellent."

+ Boston Globe My 31 '45 30w

N Y Times p16 Ap 29 '45 100w

"A sluggish story, redeemed by a few bloodcurdling moments and a great deal of nice French atmosphere."

New Yorker 21:92 Ap 21 '45 80w

"Interesting dope on prehistoric man, some exceptionally shivery scenes, smidgen of romance, and dash of intrigue—expertly mixed. Rewarding."

+ Sat R of Lit 28:32 Ap 21 '45 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p14 Ap 22 '45 110w

WALLOWER, LUCILLE. The roll of drums; il. by the author. 111p $2 Whitman, A.

45-5980

"Ephrata Cloister in the Pennsylvania Dutch country is the background for this story of a drummer boy of the American Revolution who, though wounded, searches for his brother, separated from him before the battle, and helps to thwart a plot against General Washington." Library J

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p15 S 16 '45 180w

Kirkus 13:64 F 1 '45 130w

"Lots of action to please its young readers and good background material for the history teacher and librarian. Well illustrated by the author. For boys and girls, grades four to six." Elizabeth Burr

+ Library J 70:753 S 1 '45 70w

Springf'd Republican p4d O 7 '45 120w

"The book's usefulness is in showing Ephrata in description and many colored pictures, faithfully reproducing architecture, costume and the distinctive wall adornments of texts in fractur painting." M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 22 '45 360w

WALMSLEY, LEO. Turn of the tide [Eng title: So many loves]. 306p $2.75 Doubleday [12s 6d Collins]

B or 92 45-5808

Autobiography of an English naturalist, with a special love for marine biology, whose varied life has also included flying, traveling, and movie making.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy

Book Week p2 Je 24 '45 310w

Booklist 41:339 Jl 15 '45

"To those who enjoyed his novel Love in the Sun this will be refreshing biography."

+ Kirkus 13:171 Ap 15 '45 150w

"The layman learns much from the book about nature on two continents, the keen fisher with rod and line shares many exciting catches, and those who hold that the proper study of mankind is man will enjoy his friendly analysis of the scientists, fisherfolk, actors, film promoters, and others who have come his way." A. S. W.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 13 '44 200w

"It is unfortunate for readers of 'Turn of the Tide,' which is Walmsley's autobiography, that he has already written several volumes about his return to Bramblewick and the joy and adventure he found there. When he reaches that point in the present narrative, the events which ought naturally to form the climax of the story are skipped. The reader is left with the feeling that he has been given the sorry side of the tale, that he has endured the dusty pilgrimage only to be robbed of the celebration at its end." Thomas Sugrue

+ — N Y Times p17 Jl 15 '45 500w

"The book is full of good stories—good not as ingenious fibs, but in being impressive truth disclosed to the eye of the biologist—the eye that does not demand magnitude for primary stimulation and is rewarded by the significance underlying everyday happenings and by 'the thrilling sequence of action in small creatures.' "

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p33 Ja 20 '45 750w

"A biggish book this, one that would move faster had it been disciplined by a little judicious cutting. Yet Mr. Walmsley has plenty to tell and for many readers his ventures cover strange and romantic worlds." Richardson Wright

Weekly Book Review p4 Je 10 '45 700w

WALPOLE, MRS ELLEN (WALES). Golden dictionary; il. by Gertrude Elliott; prepared under the supervision of Mary Reed. 94p $1.50 Simon & Schuster

372.61 English language—Glossaries, vocabularies, etc. 44-41880

"A pictorial dictionary for younger children listing some 1000 words, selected from recent word studies, and defining them in terms and situations within the child's comprehension. Color has been used on every page with most of the words illustrated in pictures. The book will be more useful as a picture book and for its recognition value than as a dictionary proper. Will be difficult for some libraries to handle. Preschool and grades 1-2." Booklist

"An excellent picture dictionary for children who are learning to read and write. It will probably prove exciting to the younger child as well, since Miss Elliott's more than 1,500 colored pictures are fun to pore over and study. . . Of special value are the pages which show colors, name the parts of a child's wardrobe, portray various 'acts' such as walking, running, sleeping, skating, etc. The book might also prove extremely useful to adults who are learning English." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 Ja 21 '45 140w

Booklist 41:172 F 1 '45

"The finest dictionary for children I have yet seen, with excellent illustrations all in full color."

+ Commonweal 41:257 D 22 '44 30w

"A book that will provide endless entertainment with educational by-products. The pictures—by Miss Elliott—are admirably fitted to the need."

+ Kirkus 12:432 S 15 '44 110w

"Recommended." R. O. Bostwick

+ Library J 70:166 F 15 '45 70w

"It seems neither necessary nor appropriate for the very young to come into contact with a dictionary. Children ready for one will find this picture book entirely inadequate." Claire Nolte

— Library J 70:166 F 15 '45 50w

"Here are more than a thousand words, each with an explanation of its meaning and a picture in color. Not to be taken too seriously as a dictionary, this serves the purpose of an entertaining picture book; for children not only enjoy large pictures, they also take pleasure in small, detailed drawings scattered over a page as they find them here." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p22 Mr 4 '45 120w

"Catching every eye at first glance, leading through more than fifteen hundred charming little pictures in color to speaking acquaintance with 1,030 words, this is not a dictionary in the accepted sense, but an alluring invitation to one offered to young children. This is not the first time such a book as this has been offered as initial impetus toward acquiring a vocabulary, but for the first time it has been done in color, and no one could do this better than the demure portrayer of childhood hitherto known as 'Miss Elliott.' . . The author, who has international experience in teaching reading and basic English, reminds adults that as far as possible each word is pictured in a familiar, interesting and exciting situation." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 7 '45 350w

Wis Lib Bul 41:31 F '45

WALPOLE, HORACE, 4th earl of ORFORD. Correspondence with Mary and Agnes Berry, and Barbara Cecilia Seton; ed. by W. S. Lewis [and others]. (Yale ed. of Horace Walpole's correspondence, v 11-12) 2v 378;402p il $15 Yale univ. press [94s 6d Oxford]

B or 92 A44-5562

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"The subject matter of these letters is never momentous. 'Trumpery,' Walpole himself labeled it. . . When he was obliged to depend on the post he wrote, so he said, as he would have talked: of himself, of them (ad nauseam), of Strawberry Hill, neighborhood gossip, and news as it now came to him only through callers or the papers. Witticisms, anecdotes, literary allusions were calculated to provoke gay returns in kind. . . Admirable as are the notes, for the student of history they leave something to be desired, especially in connection with allusions to governmental institutions. . . Such faults of omission, as well as the irregular margins which injure the appearance of these volumes, may perhaps be excused as part of the inevitable casualties of the war." D. M. Clark

+ — Am Hist R 50:522 Ap '45 550w

Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 28 '45 200w

Reviewed by John Hayward

Spec 174:108 F 2 '45 850w

"As a whole these letters draw us into the social life of the age, and there are flashes of Horace Walpole, his very self, in several kinds—in his noble tribute to the murdered Queen of France; in savage flicks at the English revolutionaries, including 'the virago Barbaud,' whom he likens to Deborah; and in many a happy little Walpolian touch of absurdity."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p174 Ap 14 '45 2450w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:14 Mr '45 320w

WALSH, MAURICE. Nine strings to your bow. 224p $2 Lippincott

45-8769

Detective story.

Booklist 42:166 Ja 15 '46

Reviewed by P. T. Hartung

Commonweal 43:245 D 14 '45 210w

Kirkus 13:325 Ag 1 '45 60w

"Exciting—and literate—reading."

+ New Repub 113:583 O 29 '45 90w

"The characters in this story are quite as interesting, and at times as baffling, as the crime puzzle in which they are involved." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p20 O 14 '45 150w

"Good characterizations, alluring background, plenty of red-herring, and sufficiently baffling puzzle. Top drawer."

+ Sat R of Lit 28:39 O 20 '45 30w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p22 O 7 '45 130w

WALTERS, JACK EDWARD. Personnel relations; their application in a democracy. 547p il $4.50 Ronald

658.3 Employment management. Labor and laboring classes—U.S. 45-1109

"Covers the following broad topics: Workers as Determinants of Personnel Relations; Management of Personnel Relations; Personnel Relations Techniques; Governmental Cooperation With and Regulation of Personnel Relations; Union-Management-Government Cooperation." Management R

Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 70w

Management R 34:66 F '45 40w

WALTERS, MRS MAUDE (OWENS), ed. Combat in the air. 275p $2.75 Appleton-Century

940.544 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Personal narratives

44-47912

Collection of stories about aerial combat in the present war. All the stories deal with first-hand experience. Partial contents: Paddy of the R.A.F., by A. J. Liebling; I bomb Germany by daylight, by an R.A.F. squadron leader; We're the parachute troops, by W. T. Ryder with W. A. H. Birnie; Death in the dark, by W. L. White; Bombers to Britain, by Edwin Muller; Shot down in flames, by J. R. Daly; My air duel with Bruno Mussolini, by D. D. Dickinson as told to E. C. Parsons; A spitfire and a boy, by Quentin Reynolds; Over the hump, by Eric Sevareid; Target: Ploesti, by W. D. Banks as told to A. B. C. Whipple.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse

Book Week p5 D 17 '44 90w

"Popularly written; especially suitable for young people."

+ Booklist 41:184 F 15 '45

"Stories of combat flying chosen not only for variety of place and action but for the dramatic quality of the writing. A winnowing of the most exciting incidents from a variety of well-written books covering air war from the beginning of World War II." M. C. Scoggin

+ Horn Bk 21:126 Mr '45 30w

WALTON, FRANCIS, ed. See Airman's almanac

WALZ, MRS AUDREY (FRANCIS BONNAMY, pseud). King is dead on Queen street. 198p $2.50 Duell

45-8121

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p15 O 7 '45 150w

Kirkus 13:381 S 1 '45 80w

"A pretty thin mystery. It has a pleasant style but leisurely gait. Its neatest metaphor is 'with the speed of a buck being passed,' but the story itself doesn't move that fast." B. S.

— + N Y Times p23 Ag 26 '45 150w

"Nice background, nice plotting, and worth practically anybody's while."

+ New Yorker 21:64 Ag 25 '45 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p24 Ag 26 '45 110w

WARBURG, JAMES PAUL. Foreign policy begins at home. 308p $2.50 Harcourt

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. U.S.—Politics and government. Fascism 44-9458

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"The book is a panoramic treatment of American foreign policy and of leading events to the fall of 1944. No effort is made to probe intensively into any specific policy or facet of our relationships with European and Asiatic countries in the period covered. Nevertheless, the book is valuable for general lay reading. It is important that our citizens at this crucial stage get a clear perspective of the events which have laid the foundations on which democratic decisions have yet to be made. Mr. Warburg's relating of domestic policy to foreign policy is essentially sound, although his analysis of domestic problems covered in Chapters I to VII would bear more thorough development." S. L. Witman

+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:389 Ap '45 340w

"The book is a human document, written in a spirit of fairness to all peoples, including the Germans. Warburg denies that the German problem is the problem of the United Nations, for 'the task of the United Nations is to organize the world for peace by setting up a political and economic order so permeated with justice that neither nations nor people within nations will be moved to violence. The problem of fitting the former aggressor nations into such an order is primarily the problem of the people of those nations.' This is statesmanship, and there is more of it in the book, especially toward the close. There are two excellent chronologies, covering events since 1936, and an Index which is too brief to be much use." D. F. Fleming

+ — Ann Am Acad 239:182 My '45 320w

Bookmark 6:6 Ja '45

"It is decidedly a book to help understanding of the connection between what we do at home and its results on foreign commerce and relations." Roy Hillbrook
+ Current Hist 8:154 F '45 170w

Foreign Affairs 23:510 Ap '45 40w

"The concluding two chapters devoted to 'Prospects for Peace' and 'What We Can Do' contain many thought-provoking and useful suggestions for dealing with current and future problems. It is to be regretted that the author did not find it possible to elaborate more fully the conclusions to which he has come. The value of this part of the book would have been considerably enhanced by a further development and application of the ideas presented, and there would, in the reviewer's opinion, have also been a considerable gain, not loss, from presenting the historical material in more condensed and more carefully thought out and integrated form. As the book stands, however, it should be a powerful and valuable stimulant to thinking regarding current issues of American foreign policy." L. M. Goodrich
+ — Pol Sci Q 60:125 Mr '45 1150w

Survey G 34:69 F '45 80w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:38 Mr '45 240w

Wis Lib Bul 41:17 Ja '45

WARD, ALFRED CHARLES. Seven painters; an introduction to pictures. 82p col pl $1.25 (3s 6d) Oxford

927 Painters

This "introduction to pictures" contains short biographical and critical essays on Jan Van Eyck, Leonardo, El Greco, Vermeer, Constable, Whistler, Cézanne. Seven color-reproductions are included.

"In the main, Mr. Ward has a good, simple approach. But the choice of Whistler to represent the 'American School' and Cézanne the French is rather over-simplification. . . But these things are dangers of oversimplification. Generally Mr. Ward has chosen his factual material about the artists with discrimination of the significant from the trivial. And his comment on the work of the artists, their styles and their relation to the life of their times should afford a springboard from which the average citizen can practice low diving before plunging into the sea of art from dizzy heights." Howard Devree
+ — N Y Times p18 O 21 '45 270w

"In all the essays history, biography, subject and form are skilfully interwoven in a persuasive style of writing in which the tone is never raised in argument. With its seven plates in colour by the Medici Society and its remarkably modest price the book should certainly be in the hands of everybody charged with the artistic education of the young, and very few grown-up people could read it without profit."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p328 Jl 14 '45 480w

WARD, ARCHIE. Frank Leahy and the Fighting Irish; the story of Notre Dame football. 250p il $2.75 Putnam

796.33 Football. Leahy, Frank William. Notre Dame, University of 44-47183

History of the Notre Dame football team, from the 8-0 defeat by Michigan in 1887, to the nine out of ten victories of the 1943 season. The author is sports editor of the Chicago Tribune. Illustrated with photographs. Contains a list of seasonal scores and football monogram winners for each year.

Cath World 160:572 Mr '45 130w

"Notre Dame's high place in the football world, and the nation's regard for that eminence, are comprehensively presented here by the sports editor of The Chicago Tribune. His work will be a valued handbook for the American sports fan to whom—regardless of his own college affiliation—Notre Dame is the football team." J. C. Nichols
+ N Y Times p22 Ja 21 '45 550w

WARD, HARRY FREDERICK. Soviet spirit. 160p $1.75; pa 50c Int. pubs.

947.084 Russia. Communism—Russia. World war, 1939—Russia 45-4164

"With Russian achievements in war commanding fresh wonder every day, and with the Yalta conference now giving new evidence that future collaboration between Russia and the United States will be close and continuous, two questions rise: What is the spirit of the Soviet people that has made such achievements possible? And is it a spirit that promises to be as helpful to a world at peace as it is effective in war? Dr. Ward answers both questions in terms of high praise for the Soviet system." Christian Century

"That not the slightest imperfection is discovered in either the theory or the practice of the Soviet program, is to be accounted for by the author's purpose, which was not to give a complete account of the Russian experiment but to express his conviction, based on years of study, that, on the whole, its results have been good."
Christian Century 62:305 Mr 7 '45 210w

"A sincere effort to help the American people along their way to a better understanding of Soviet Russia has been made by Dr Harry F. Ward, professor emeritus of Christian ethics at Union Theological seminary. . . The method used is disturbingly plain throughout the book. The many individual stories of Rusians' efforts 'beyond the call of duty' are interspersed with as many bits of imposing statistics. Complacent chapter headings, 'Our Spirit Is Different,' 'They Work Together,' 'Opportunity for All,' do their part to obscure the plan of the volume." Alzada Comstock
— + Springf'd Republican p4d F 11 '45 480w

WARD, LEO RICHARD. Ourselves, inc; the story of consumer free enterprise. 236p $2.50 Harper

334 Cooperation 45-8131

Account of the author's visits to a number of consumers' cooperatives in the Midwest. The author is Professor of ethics and philosophy of value, at the University of Notre Dame.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 S 9 '45 550w

Booklist 42:70 N 1 '45

"An excellent account, both factual and interpretative."
+ Christian Century 62:1065 S 19 '45 100w

Reviewed by C. L. Willard
Churchman 160:17 Ja 1 '46 360w

"Father Ward is liberal with his statistics. . . When the author does write about people, he isn't personal enough, verbatim as his dialogue must be. He seldom goes below the surface except to generalize along sound cooperative lines. To me his book is packed with evidence that people in every sort of situation, rural and urban, can organize cooperatively to develop for themselves and their communities a more abundant life, but as a cover-to-cover proposition it makes pallid reading. His style is a matter of taste." Edward Skillin
Commonweal 42:531 S 14 '45 650w

Kirkus 13:239 Je 1 '45 130w

Nation 161:602 D 1 '45 40w

"It is when the religious aspect is stressed that the book appears to veer from its jacket description of 'The Story of Consumer Free Enterprise.' I find nothing to cavil over in this objective; Dr. Ward's dramatization of the human values of coöperatives is sound. It is the confusion of economic appraisal and godly outcomes that together fail to constitute a proper development of the subject." Harold Fields
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:15 S 8 '45 800w

"This volume should find a place in every social studies library if for no other reason than the fact that it answers so many questions as to how and why the coops do what they do. A good index adds to its usefulness as a reference book on cooperatives." A. W. Troelstrup

WARD, L. R.—Continued

+ Social Educ 10:46 Ja '46 550w
Wis Lib Bul 41:124 D '45

WARD, ROBERT SPENCER. Asia for the Asiatics? the techniques of Japanese occupation; introd. by Laurence Salisbury. 205p $3 Univ. of Chicago press

940.535 World war, 1939—Occupied territories. World war, 1939—East (Far East). Military occupation A45-3653

"A factual description of Japanese techniques of occupation. . . Mr. Ward's factual description deals chiefly with Hong Kong, where he was on duty as a Foreign Service officer that Christmas Day of 1941 when the British governor of the Crown Colony surrendered to the invading Japanese after eighteen brief days of resistance and some three hours after he had informed the people of the colony that there was no reason why Hong Kong could not be held indefinitely. Mr. Ward was held by the conquerors for six months. The techniques of occupation, with their long-range implications, that he witnessed are the techniques the Japanese have employed and are employing elsewhere." (Introd) Indx.

"The most interesting parts of this book, include the author's analysis of Japanese propaganda; and for the future, his estimate of its probable effectiveness shows the need for careful study of this aspect of Japanese conquest if we are to prevent a recurrence of Japanese aggression. It may be hoped that this little volume will be the forerunner of many more studies of the techniques of Japanese empire-building as more material becomes available to scholars." W. C. Johnstone

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:1033 O '45 500w

Reviewed by H. F. MacNair
Ann Am Acad 242:172 N '45 850w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p4 Ag 12 '45 200w
Booklist 42:34 O 1 '45

Reviewed by L. S. C. Smythe
Christian Century 62:1127 O 3 '45 1250w

Reviewed by Randall Gould
Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 16 '45 700w
Cleveland Open Shelf p17 S '45
Foreign Affairs 24:170 O '45 100w

"This book was written by a Foreign Service officer, imprisoned for six months by the Japanese. It is for specialists and laymen; it is exciting, shocking, authentic. Recommended for purchase." H. S. Taylor

+ Library J 70:530 Je 1 '45 100w

Reviewed by M. S. Stewart
Nation 161:291 S 22 '45 360w

"Robert S. Ward's 'Asia for the Asiatics?' furnishes an excellent antidote for an attitude of complacency toward a defeated Japan. It describes in lively language the techniques employed by the Japanese in one of the areas brought under their control, the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong. This book provides the first systematic analysis of the methods of control which the Japanese so consistently applied throughout the whole of East Asia, methods designed to hold, to exploit and to assimilate an area and to employ it as a base for further expansion." J. W. Masland

+ N Y Times p4 S 2 '45 500w

Reviewed by H. G. W. Woodhead
Pacific Affairs 18:376 D '45 1100w

Reviewed by T. A. Bisson
Sat R of Lit 28:11 Jl 21 '45 1000w

Reviewed by Frederick Rein
Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 5 '45 750w

Reviewed by Harry Hansen
Survey G 34:414 O '45 330w

Times [London] Lit Sup p483 O 13 '45 700w

Reviewed by Eleanor Lattimore
Weekly Book Review p18 Ag 26 '45 450w

Reviewed by Gunther Stein
Yale R n s 35:342 winter '46 300w

WARE, DORA. Short dictionary of architecture; incl. some common building terms [il. by] Betty Beatty; with an introd. on The study of architecture, by John Gloag. 109p $2.75 Philosophical lib. [6s Allen, G]

720.3 Architecture—Dictionaries [44-47739]

"Concise definitions, with many explanatory drawings. Useful for students of architecture." Booklist

Booklist 42:160 Ja 15 '46

"Valuable for its compactness and clarity. 278 illustrative drawings."

+ Special Libraries 36:451 N '45

WARFIELD, MRS HANIA, and WARFIELD, GAITHER. Call us to witness; a Polish chronicle. 434p $3 Ziff-Davis

940.53438 Poland—History—German occupation, 1939-1945. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, Polish 45-5473

"A sober, detailed account of the experiences of two American missionaries, who were in Poland from the outbreak of the war until January, 1942. . . In this book, politics is ignored, history is largely eliminated and propaganda is almost completely absent. Mr. Warfield, a native-born American, and his naturalized Polish-born wife, Hania, simply describe what they went through." Christian Science Monitor

Reviewed by H. L. Reich
Book Week p3 Jl 15 '45 550w
Cath World 161:446 Ag '45 90w
Christian Century 62:1416 D 19 '45 160w

"Spirited, vivacious, emotional, brave and somewhat vain Hania alternates with sturdy, conscientious, naïve and objective Gaither in writing these 434 pages. This rather mechanical way of alternating the narratives makes the book seem rather formless, but it is not ineffective. The very artlessness helps the authors to reach their aim, which is to create a picture of ordinary Poles during the war." R. H. M.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 10 '45 420w

Reviewed by E. B. Burgum
N Y Times p25 Jl 22 '45 400w

"'Call Us to Witness' is painful reading, but no one should shrink from such an authentic record. . . To these modest, undaunted authors the world will owe a debt of gratitude for their testament to truth." L. T. Mowrer

+ Sat R of Lit 28:13 Jl 21 '45 1200w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens
Springf'd Republican p4d S 2 '45 480w

"This is a sincere and appealing story." Dorothy Adams

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 15 '45 900w

WARHAFTIG, ZORACH. Relief and rehabilitation. (From war to peace) 223p $1.50 pa $1 Inst. of Jewish affairs

940.53144 United nations relief and rehabilitation administration. Jews in Europe 44-8729

"This first volume in a series 'From War to Peace' takes up in detail the implications of the program of UNRRA for the Jewish needs." Foreign Affairs

"The publication should be of interest to thoughtful readers in all camps who share a sincere desire to use the available instruments for postwar relief and rehabilitation effectively and with due recognition of the stark needs of the tragically afflicted Jewish communities throughout Europe." Hertha Kraus

+ Ann Am Acad 237:210 Ja '45 380w

Foreign Affairs 23:691 Jl '45 20w

Reviewed by R. M. Kramer

Survey 81:245 S '45 450w

WARNER, WILLIAM LLOYD, and SROLE, LEO. Social systems of American ethnic groups. (Yankee City ser) 318p $4 Yale univ. press

325.73 U.S.—Foreign population. Acculturation. Minorities A45-3302

"Represents the third volume of [a series] that will be completed in six volumes. It is 'concerned with the study of the ethnic groups of a representative American town we have called Yankee City. The ethnic groups are the Irish, French, Canadians, Jews, Italians, Armenians, Greeks, Poles, and Russians. The present social organization and the social history of each group have been investigated to learn something of the nature of the ethnic group, its place in American life, and the changes which occur through the generations.' Yankee City is a small industrial community in New England. After explaining the methods used for the analysis, the authors consider the groups in relation to their ethnic backgrounds, the zones they occupy in Yankee City, their place in the economic life of the community, and the differences among the groups that are primarily related to their comparative age in Yankee City." (Scientific Bk Club R) Index.

"Although this is not a great work, it is nevertheless a book of uncommon quality, a superb piece of research which no sociologist can afford to neglect." J. S. Roucek

+ Ann Am Acad 242:198 N '45 350w

"The authors of this volume, both competent social anthropologists, have made a real contribution to the understanding of American democracy in this book. . . If we are truly interested in democracy, we will read this book and go to work on our own bigotries remembering that we, too, were 'foreigners' in the land." C. L. Willard

+ Churchman 159:15 S 1 '45 250w

Reviewed by Nathan Glazer

Nation 161:291 S 22 '45 500w

"Thought-provoking, thoroughly documented piece of research."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 My '45 360w

"Although the factual material will be informative to the general reader, training in sociology and anthropology are prerequisite to a critical understanding of the author's methodology and interpretations."

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:40 S '45 240w

WATKINS-PITCHFORD, DENYS JAMES (B. B. pseud). Brendon chase; il. by [the author]. 235p $2.50 Scribner [12s 6d Hollis & Carter] 45-9401

Three English boys, rebelling against an uncongenial home, ran away to Brendon Chase, an ancient forest not too far from their home. For eight months they managed to avoid capture. When their clothes wore out they made themselves skin garments; their food they got in various ways, but like Robin Hood and his men they got much of their subsistence from the forest. The time was some thirty years ago.

"Beautifully written prose, with splendid full-page illustrations; book is filled with the longing for the open road and boyhood's pleasures. Recommended for older boys and men." G. E. Cartmell

+ Library J 70:1140 D 1 '45 80w

"This is, of course, every boy's dream and the implications of autobiography give the story a tantalizing sense of reality. Comedy and adventure are mingled here with a poetic evocation of deep forest and hidden waters echoed in the striking illustrations. This curious mixture of moods and styles binds the reader of 10 and up in a leisurely unique enchantment." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p8 N 11 '45 140w

"Seems to be offered as an English equivalent of 'The Adventures of Tom Sawyer,' but the similarity ends after it is established that the heroes are boys who have run away from home to live in a forest. In its own right, aside from any thought that it might stack up to Mark Twain's classic, it is a splendid boys' book, filled with the lore of the woods and the forest adventures that have endeared Ernest Thompson Seton to at least two generations of Americans." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 170w

WATSON, HUGH SETON-. See Seton-Watson, H.

WAVELL, ARCHIBALD PERCIVAL WAVELL, 1st viscount. Allenby in Egypt (being v. 2 of Allenby; a study in greatness). 160p il $2.50 Oxford [10s 6d Harrap]

B or 92 Allenby, Edmund Henry Hynman Allenby, 1st viscount

"Volume II of Lord Wavell's biographical study of his master and precursor, and necessarily a history of Egyptian internal politics and of Lord Allenby's stewardship during the unsettled period after the first World War." New Yorker

"Viscount Wavell has added to personal observation the conscientious studying of the period from the sources. His narrative is enlivened by a number of penetrating and always objective character sketches of British and Egyptian leading personalities. He is not uncritical of Allenby nor is he ever ungenerous to his opponents. He has brought to his task rare qualifications of intimate knowledge and power of judgment; his story reveals the often overlooked human side of British imperial administration as it has developed in the twentieth century." Hans Kohn

+ Am Hist R 50:794 Jl '45 700w

"The book is good reading, written with a soldierly directness and firmness but with breadth of knowledge and sympathy. Its chief importance lies, however, in its precise demonstration of the disastrous failures of traditional diplomacy to solve the postwar problems of a 'dependent people'—failure of indecision, lack of understanding, selfishness, stubbornness and plain stupidity. 'Allenby in Egypt' is a perfect object lesson for those who must soon face a score of situations very similar to that of Egypt in 1919. I suspect the author may have intended it as such." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Mr 25 '45 280w

Booklist 41:224 Ap 1 '45

Foreign Affairs 23:699 Jl '45 50w

"For the record, this fills in obvious gaps in our knowledge. As biography, it is colorless; Allenby lacked the warmth of personality that might have redeemed it."

+ — Kirkus 13:106 Mr 1 '45 100w

N Y Times p29 Ag 19 '45 280w

"Lord Wavell is a skillfull writer and historian and, although he is an enthusiastic admirer of Allenby's character and career, he never loses his critical sense."

+ New Yorker 21:95 Mr 17 '45 80w

"As one of Lord Wavell's many admirers, I took up this second and concluding volume of his life of Allenby with great expectation. I laid it down somewhat disappointed. It has evidently been written under the stress of wartime military and political duties, and it reflects those conditions. Even when eked out with the two chapters on 'Allenby the Man' and 'Allenby the General' from the preceding volume it is too slight for its subject. This is not to say that 'Allenby in Egypt' has not some virtues. Anything that Wavell writes has something of his own good qualities. He tells his story straightforwardly, and with a natural simplicity such as many of us spend a lifetime of art trying to achieve." W. H. Hindle

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:31 Mr 31 '45 1100w

WAVELL, A. P. W.—Continued

"Marshall Wavell is familiar with the Egyptian scene from two wars. His writings display clear-headed restraint, understanding, perception and, in part, are based upon official information. An admirer of Allenby, he yet is able to bring an analytical light to bear upon a man who aroused so much controversy and seldom permits judgment to be overridden by partisanship. There is frequent disagreement with other so-called authorities and even the sharpest divergence from the views of such men as Lord Lloyd, who succeeded Allenby, and Harold Nicolson, whose account of Curzon's role in the 1922 Declaration is declared utterly incorrect. But for the fairness, justice and accuracy of his assessment of Allenby as a man there can be no question." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Je 24 '45 1200w

WAVELL, ARCHIBALD PERCIVAL WAVELL, 1st viscount, comp. Other men's flowers. 406p $3.50 Putnam [10s 6d Cape, J]

321.08 English poetry—Collections 45-3546

Anthology of poems selected by Viscount Wavell. His favorite poets are Browning, Kipling, and Chesterton. Author, title, and first line indexes.

Booklist 41:266 My 15 '45

"An exciting and excellent volume." Harold Hobson

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Ap 15 '44 750w

Reviewed by Pearl Strachan

Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 16 '45 420w

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '45

"It is an excellent volume for which anyone interested in poetry may be deeply grateful: not only for the anthology itself but that this soldier-statesman has spoken up for poetry." B. I. Evans

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 15 '44 420w

"[The compiler] has displayed surprisingly good taste. There is hardly one poem in the book that isn't a good one, though many are most familiar. Wavell has dedicated the book to his son 'who shares my love for poetry but thinks his father's taste a little old-fashioned.' So it is; but old-fashioned in the best sense." W. R. Benét

+ Sat R of Lit 28:74 Ap 14 '45 1600w

"It is natural that Browning and Kipling shall be his favourites, and it is with the shock of interest that one reads that neither Wordsworth nor Tennyson made any impression on him. In one respect his anthology may well be unique, for he claims that it contains poems he could 'repeat entire or in great part.' Another attractive feature is his annotation; some of his comments are enlightening and all are interesting."

+ Spec 172:252 Mr 17 '44 170w

WEATHERHEAD, LESLIE DIXON. Plain man looks at the cross; an attempt to explain, in simple language for the modern man, the significance of the death of Christ. 187p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury [6s Independent press]

232.3 Atonement 45-928

"The author, who is preacher and spiritual counselor more than theologian, aims not to formulate a doctrine of the cross but to answer the questions which a plain man inside or outside the church might ask about it, and to make available to him the resources of salvation and strength which he believes are provided through the cross." Christian Century

Christian Century 62:210 F 14 '45 50w

Reviewed by J. H. Titus

Churchman 159:14 My 15 '45 190w

+ Kirkus 13:58 F 1 '45 170w

"This book will be welcomed by many who desire to see traditional evangelical theology revived and explained in a form which can win acceptance in our own day. It will not, perhaps, have the same appeal to those who have never been brought into contact with these particular traditions. The preface is (somewhat quaintly) dated 'Festival of Lent,' and the book is intended, no doubt, for devotional reading in Passiontide. Many will find in it exactly the explanation of their faith which they have been seeking."

Times [London] Lit Sup p143 Mr 24 '45 210w

WEBB, RICHARD WILSON, and WHEELER, HUGH CALLINGHAM. (Q. PATRICK, PATRICK QUENTIN, JONATHAN STAGGE, pseuds). Death, my darling daughters. 219p $2 Doubleday

46-809

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p7 D 23 '45 180w

"A divertissement to be recommended."

+ New Repub 113:910 D 31 '45 80w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p12 D 23 '45 160w

"Run-of-the-mill plotting, but the book is funny enough to make the reader resentful of the letdown in mood halfway through it."

New Yorker 21:84 D 22 '45 100w

"Satisfactorily frenetic."

+ Sat R of Lit 28:26 D 22 '45 30w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 6 '46 170w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p40 D 2 '45 230w

WEBB, RICHARD WILSON, and WHEELER, HUGH CALLINGHAM (Q. PATRICK, PATRICK QUENTIN, JONATHAN STAGGE, pseuds). Puzzle for wantons. 229p $2 Simon & Schuster

45-7645

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p15 O 14 '45 180w

"Very bright talk for confusion which is pretty fancy—but fun."

+ Kirkus 13:282 Jl 1 '45 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p36 S 16 '45 230w

"This is a Peter Duluth mystery, which means that a wide audience of readers are presumably ready to burst out laughing whenever this toughish private operative opens his mouth to say anything. . . Duluth clears things up and, about half the time, is as funny as he is expected to be. Recommended for his fairly special clientele."

New Yorker 21:92 S 15 '45 80w

"Poison, suffocation, drowning, bash in head—ol' reliable methods used to extinguish people about whom you don't give a tinker's. Gaudy."

Sat R of Lit 28:38 S 22 '45 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p23 S 16 '45 90w

WEBSTER, BARBARA (MRS EDWARD SHENTON). Mrs. Heriot's house. 220p $2.50 Scribner

45-16240

"A novel about a white woman and her Negro maid. . . Alice Heriot, the novel's protagonist, was a middle-aged widow who fell in love with a rather shabby little house in the country and bought it against the advice of all her friends. . . Mrs. Heriot's house was not the sort with which one would associate a maid, and she had no intention of keeping one. Very shortly, however, she found that a young colored girl, who lived in a near-by shanty, was determined to come to live with her." Weekly Book Review

"The word home-made—suggesting, as it does here, the age-old way in which the winter will be met by a woodburning fire, jam and tea—

might well be applied to the entire book. It is wise and unpretentious. . . 'Mrs. Heriot's House' may be safely recommended to all readers to whom the label 'home-made' makes an appeal." Marion Strobel

+ Book Week p3 My 27 '45 310w

Bookmark 6:16 My '45

Boston Globe p12 My 23 '45 180w

"No one who loves sky and trees and responsive earth will deny Miss Webster's ability to translate into words the charm of a little old stone house on a South Pennsylvania by-road. . . The account is genuine, simple, and so affectionately handled in all its small, lovable details that the thousands who think of a house in the country as literally a blissful haven will feed their dreams upon it. On the other hand, the baffling search for a true answer to the race problem remains baffling, though Miss Webster has a new way of approaching the subject."

+ — Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 28 '45 850w

"Not wholly convincing but quite charming."

+ — Kirkus 13:74 F 15 '45 130w

"Miss Webster writes sympathetically of minor country pleasures; she is a loving observer of natural phenomena and household joys, and her heroine is presented as sincere and sensitive. These are the makings of a very quiet little book that, lit by sufficient insight and wit, might have had an extraordinary charm. It is unfortunate that Miss Webster's talents are inadequate to the task." G. B.

+ — N Y Times p16 Je 10 '45 400w

"There is little plot, for little is needed. Instead of accident and intrigue we have character and a subtle study of human relationships; and also a delightful chronicle of the four seasons in the lovely Pennsylvania valley. The novelist deftly steers her simple story past threatening dangers. The countryside, almost absurdly picturesque, never is banal in calendar-like prettiness; there is no italicized local color; the homely narrative never flutters into idyl or pastoral." R. A. Cordell

+ Sat R of Lit 28:28 Je 2 '45 500w

"The book has a background of country, farm animals and simplicity. Mrs Heriot loves everything that nature presents, and the author writes tenderly and vividly of all that country living offers. But it is Doris who gives zip to the book, a zip which is needed." M. D.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 3 '45 360w

"This novel is written with such extraordinary perception that one wishes, perhaps vainly, it could be read as it was intended: as neither pro- nor anti-Negro in theme but rather as a psychological study of two human beings who happened to belong to different races and social groups." Marion Sturges-Jones

+ Weekly Book Review p6 My 13 '45 600w

Wis Lib Bul 41:85 Jl '45

WEBSTER, CLARENCE MERTOUN. Town meeting country. (American folkways ser) 246p $3 Duell

917.4 New England—History. Cities and towns—New England 45-2984

Survey of the town meeting section of New England, mainly Connecticut, lying north of New London and east of the Connecticut river. "Its folkways are pretty much the folkways of much of New England, although an exception would probably have to be made for Maine, at least for the Aroostook. Yankee folkways are basically case-hardened habits, some rather foolish, many of them of sound sense. . . Mr. Webster's book, thoroughly honest, done by an authentic Yankee of ancient lineage, indicates why Town Meeting Country became what it is." (Weekly Book Reviwe) Map on end papers. Index.

"I think the book is in no sense epochal. . . But it should be included in all American libraries that have a five-foot shelf of Americana or Americanism. For to understand Town Meeting Country is to understand in good part how the United States came to be what it is." Hamilton Holt

+ Am Hist R 51:135 O '45 470w

Reviewed by J. A. Brandt

Book Week p7 Ap 1 '45 650w

Booklist 41:235 Ap 15 '45

Bookmark 6:13 N '45

"One misses something in the presentation. Perhaps it is the thrill one ought to have when reading of such a history-making people. In an effort to counteract the patriotic romanticizing of our youth, has Mr. Webster indulged in a slightly debunking viewpoint? Possibly he is only being factual, although these certainly are the sorts of facts that could glow in the recounting. Even so, the volume is a welcome addition to the series titled 'American Folkways,' well worth the reading." M. J. T.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 21 '45 550w

"This is a fascinating history of New England's greatest contribution to the folkways of America—the town." C. L. Willard, jr.

+ Churchman 159:15 Ag '45 180w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45

Commonweal 41:628 Ap 6 '45 280w

Kirkus 12:560 D 15 '44 110w

"Annoying generalities and a certain narrowness of attitude are forgivable because they identify the author with his material, but he's at his best when a fond warmth cracks through his intellectuality and truly aligns the book with 'American folkways,' part of which series it is." E. L. Lewis

+ — Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 110w

"Grand reading—pithy, vigorous, historically accurate and liberally spiced with anecdotes and Yankee flavor." H. S. Pearson

+ N Y Times p3 Mr 25 '45 440w

Reviewed by D. J. Malcolm

Springf'd Republican p4d My 20 '45 440w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:33 Je '45 240w

"This good natured and reflective book explains these people without recourse to the scientific and highfaluting phrases and catchwords of the social psychologists, but by describing their lives and works through three centuries. It will help both the foreigner and the Neo-Yankee to understand the blown-in-the-bottle product of the rocky acres and the town meetings." Stewart Holbrook

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 1 '45 1200w

WEBSTER, HAROLD TUCKER. Webster unabridged; introd. by Frank Sullivan. 128p il $2 McBride

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 45-10483

Collection of Webster's cartoons, many of them featuring the Timid Soul, or the man with the humorless wife.

Kirkus 13:504 N 15 '45 150w

"Will make a near-perfect Christmas gift for anyone, including your dentist." C. V. Terry

+ N Y Times p10 D 9 '45 110w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 16 '45 170w

"To add anything to the tributes which the cartoons of H. T. Webster have garnered through the years would be carrying Newcastle to coal. Mr. Webster is a beloved fixture of the American scene which he so joyously records once more in 'Webster Unabridged.' " Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p5 D 2 '45 40w

WECHSBERG, JOSEPH. Looking for a bluebird; il. by F. Strobel. 210p $2.50 Houghton

B or 92 Musicians—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 45-1488

Twenty-one witty sketches, many of which first appeared in the New Yorker. They are descriptions of the life in the author's native Prague, in France, and on tourist steamers.

WECHSBERG, JOSEPH—Continued
Mr Wechsberg is a musician, and is now an American citizen and in the United States army.

"This is fresh and laughable reading." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 175:127 My '45 240w

"The stories are all good, and they are all ideal bedside reading. But once one has settled down for an hour of enchanting nonsense in the Bemelmans tradition, one is likely to discover that some of them are more than just relaxingly crazy." R. R. Plant
+ Book Week p3 Mr 4 '45 500w
Booklist 41:196 Mr 1 '45

Reviewed by E. A. Laycock
Boston Globe p13 F 14 '45 420w
Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45
Commonweal 41:546 Mr 16 '45 650w
Kirkus 12:525 N 15 '44 270w
New Repub 112:309 F 26 '45 120w

"The whole thing is lively reading, witty, European, simple in form and style yet basically sophisticated, a world tour, a stay in Europe, a reliving of the days before the war, all within the covers of one book. There is understanding and charm behind the fooling and a little of the nostalgia for a time that is gone of Elliot Paul's 'The Last Time I Saw Paris.' But Wechsberg has made no attempt to probe, to analyze. 'Here it is,' he says. 'Just like it was.' And sure enough it is." N. K. Burger
+ N Y Times p3 F 18 '45 850w
New Yorker 21:79 F 17 '45 90w

"Mr. Wechsberg sees things—which may sometimes be somewhat different from, but always is more than, the historical truth, whatever that is. In short, this humorist is a grand writer." Robert Pick
+ Sat R of Lit 28:10 Mr 17 '45 800w

"The title of 'Looking for a Bluebird' will meet with varied reactions from the reading public, but surely there breathes no soul so dead that it will not respond gratefully to the delightful little yarns which the book encompasses."
+ Springf'd Republican p4d F 18 '45 300w
Time 45:98 F 19 '45 330w

"Beyond the book's good tempered acceptance of human frailty there lies the nostalgic echo of yesterday's music, the wistful recall of youth and of bygone days in a Europe which has vanished." Iris Barry
+ Weekly Book Review p4 F 18 '45 450w
Wis Lib Bul 41:46 Ap '45

WECHSLER, ISRAEL SPAUER. Neurologist's point of view; essays on psychiatric and other subjects. 251p $3 Fischer, L.B.

132 Neuroses. Psychology, Pathological. Jews—Political and social conditions
SG45-149

"An eminent neurologist has gathered together certain essays that he has written for various journals during the last few years to form this volume. Several of them are about noted Jews, while others are concerned with the Jews as a group. Three are chronicles of mental disease, one deals with the neurotic in society, and the book closes with a brief history of psychiatry as a whole." Scientific Bk Club R

Kirkus 13:106 Mr 1 '45 80w

"His book gives evidence of considerable non-medical learning, is not without wit, and is marked on occasion by a felicity of expression and a Hebraic vehemence which are reminiscent of Morris R. Cohen. But it is a sad comment on the present state of psychiatry that it is the only branch of medicine whose practitioners, or commentators, intend most of their books for lay distribution." Martin Lebowitz
+ Nation 160:494 Ap 28 '45 480w

"These essays are thought-provoking in the extreme. . . The book closes with a compact history of psychiatry, most ably discussed in its various ramifications, with its famous proponents clearly depicted in the light of their accomplishments."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 Mr '45 360w

"In spite of its title, the point of view in many of these essays is not so much that of the neurologist as that of a race-proud and intelligent Jew who also happens to be a neurologist. Moreover, Dr Wechsler assumes either that his readers know a great deal about psychiatry, so that they can supply the reservations and discriminating judgments which are necessary, or that they know nothing of the subject, so that they may accept his postulates uncritically. To the reader who is somewhere between understanding and ignorance, the result is likely to be confusion." Harry Daum
Springf'd Republican p6 Mr 6 '45 600w

WECTER, DIXON. When Johnny comes marching home. (Life-in-America ser) 588p $3 Houghton

355.115 Veterans. U.S. Army—History
44-7507

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Reviewed by R. E. L. Faris
Am J Soc 50:561 My '45 210w

"As a whole this volume impresses one as a sound treatment. . . The author has an easy style into which he has woven much detail from human documents—letters, diaries, and the like—produced by men who have gone through the wars. While the work is essentially historical the author makes some shrewd psychological observations." Kimball Young
+ — Am Soc R 10:565 Ag '45 950w

"This book cannot be described in a brief review, but it can be characterized in four words: complete, scholarly, interesting, timely." R. A. Brown
+ Ann Am Acad 238:192 Mr '45 480w
Bookmark 5:6 N '44
Cleveland Open Shelf p2 Ja '45
Foreign Affairs 23:516 Ap '45 30w

WEDGWOOD, CICELY VERONICA. Battlefields in Britain. (Britain in pictures) 48p il maps $1.25 Hastings house [4s 6d Collins]

914.2 Great Britain—Description and travel. Battles [A45-2949]

"The author of a recent authoritative life of William the Silent, a historian of proven merit, has in this rapid review of important battles in Britain cast a sidelight on history of high importance to the general reader by presenting Hastings—with a glance at Maiden Castle—the Welsh Wars, Falkirk, Bannockburn, Barnet, Tewkesbury, Bosworth, Edgehill, Marston Moore, Inverlochy, Naseby, Dunbar, Killiecrankie and Culloden, with a wealth of anecdote and due attention to issues there decided. The fine colored pictures include such valuable reproductions as scenes from the Bayeux Tapestry and Lely's portrait of Prince Rupert." Weekly Book Review

---

"In her clear and vivid short descriptions of these old battles Miss Wedgwood unites historical knowledge with a picturesque imagination and brings to readers much of the fascination she feels in reviving amid some peaceful country landscape to-day the scene, the men, and the weather on the day of action long ago." H. W. M.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 F 7 '45 180w
Times [London] Lit Sup p49 F 3 '45 1100w
Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 18 '45 100w

WEEGEE, pseud. See Fellig, A.

WEEKS, MARY ELVIRA. Discovery of the elements. 5th ed enl & rev 578p il $4 Journal of chemical educ.

546 Chemical elements. Chemists 45-2997

"Fifth edition of a well-known readable story of the elements with intimate historic highlights of scientists who discovered them. New information about the minerals and new biographical sketches. Emphasis on history of chemistry in the Americas. Chapter on recently discovered elements brought to date." (Library J) For fourth edition see Book Review Digest, 1939.

Reviewed by A. D. Bliss
Am Chem Soc J 67:1867 O '45 220w
Booklist 41:272 My 15 '45

"This book should be read by every chemist so that he may appreciate the immense amount of patient labor involved in the discovery of the elements, and thereby be stimulated to attack his own problems with greater patience and enthusiasm." H. S. Booth
+ Chem & Eng N 23:1786 O 10 '45 350w

"Some of the stories (phosphorus for example) are more interesting than others, some are more or less familiar (radium), but all are worth reading for the background information they give us regarding some of our great predecessors and their work."
+ Chem & Met Eng 52:231 Jl '45 150w
Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 70w

"The various amplifications and additions considerably enhance the reference value of this unique book which even in its less complete earlier editions was recognized as a substantial contribution to the study of the history of chemistry. Though well documented, it is easy to read. Though comprising an exhaustive account of a phase of one of the more complex natural sciences, it is wholly intelligible to one possessing the equivalent of a highschool knowledge of chemistry." T. J. Higgins
+ R of Scientific Instruments 16:284 O '45 600w

WEIL, FELIX JOSE. Argentine riddle; issued in cooperation with the Latin American economic institute. 297p $3.50 Day

330.982 Argentina—Economic conditions. Argentina—Politics and government 44-8598

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"This is one of the most solid books on any South American country, written by an extraordinarily well informed author who excels in statistics. It is extremely interesting for those who are also informed and in a position to criticize, but not without dangers for those who are not in this position." E. von Hofmannsthal
+ Am Econ R 35:170 Mr '45 900w

"Argentine Riddle is the fruit of much solid study and of a lifetime acquaintance with the subjects dealt with. No American interested in Argentina will fail to profit by reading it." C. C. Griffin
+ Am Hist R 50:822 Jl '45 950w

Reviewed by Alfred Manes
Ann Am Acad 239:201 My '45 400w
Bookmark 6:6 My '45

"This is probably the best book on Argentina to come out in recent years."
+ Foreign Affairs 23:343 Ja '45 80w
Geog R 35:684 O '45 370w

Reviewed by R. R. Hill
Pol Sci Q 60:316 Je '45 500w

"A timely and suggestive volume. As an Argentine, he contributes much needed insight into the political forces which have shaped the present pattern." Hubert Herring
+ Weekly Book Review p6 F 4 '45 850w

WEIL, HANS. Pioneers of tomorrow; a call to American youth. 83p $1.25 Assn. press

170 Youth. Conduct of life 45-6433

The author, formerly a professor in Germany and Italy, studies the effect of the impact of America upon the world of the future. He says that people all over the world are watching to determine whether we will shoulder the responsibilities laid upon us. He has directed his book to the college-age person, for upon him, he says, lies the burden of the future.

"A German refugee scholar speaking to young Americans. He has important things to say, but one wonders whether the admonitory tone is the one best calculated to convince them that he has."
Christian Century 62:862 Jl 25 '45 30w

"The book is good class-room material and is written in vigorous liberal style." T. F. Opie
+ Churchman 159:15 N 15 '45 120w

Reviewed by W. F. Thompson
Churchman 159:15 D 1 '45 180w

"This book is a thought-provoking, inspiring challenge for us all." Harry Stuckenbruck
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 12 '45 700w

WEISKOPF, FRANZ CARL, ed. Hundred towers; a Czechoslovak anthology of creative writing; with an introduction. 277p $3.50 Fischer, L.B.

891.86 Czechoslovak literature—Translations into English 45-35015

Collection of stories, short essays, and poems by twenty-four Czechoslovakian writers. Includes biographical notes about the authors.

"The anthology is well rounded with essays, poems and sketches which add up to a judiciously selected entity. If most of the authors previously have not had readers in the English-speaking world, their literary ability is not at fault. The complete liberation of Czechoslovakia now appears to be imminent, and new writers will record the travail of the dark years. In the meantime, we can be grateful for this excellent groundwork for an appreciation of the work of valiant spirits who have created in spite of—or in some instances because of—adversity and oppression." Jack Conroy
+ Book Week p3 Mr 11 '45 480w
Booklist 41:194 Mr 1 '45

"An extremely interesting collection of short stories, poems, and essays by Czechoslovak writers."
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 28 '45 110w
Cleveland Open Shelf p20 S '45

Reviewed by Isaac Rosenfeld
New Repub 112:428 Mr 26 '45 330w

" 'Hundred Towers' is a rewarding book, and the editor's introduction, together with the biographical notes at the end, will do all, short of further translation, that can be done to introduce Czechoslovak literature to the reading public of this country." Carlos Baker
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 4 '45 1050w

"Some of the specimens are moving, some are humorous, and some merely earnest, but even the more successful pieces are rather too deliberately literary. The fact that many of the authors have died before Nazi firing squads or in concentration camps gives, however, poignancy to the anthology."
New Yorker 21:78 Mr 3 '45 80w

Reviewed by Robert Pick
Sat R of Lit 28:27 Je 2 '45 500w

"In his useful introduction to 'Hundred Towers: a Czechoslovak Anthology of Creative Writing,' Mr. F. C. Weiskopf puts the case very mildly when he calls the twenty-five samplings of contemporary or almost contemporary Czech and Slovak writing contained in his anthology 'both a bold promise and the fruit of first fulfillment.' Written by men and one woman who are, with the exception of a single refugee, now living, dead, or dying in their Nazi-occupied homeland, these pieces of fiction, poetry, philosophical and biographical essays have a sharpened poignance of appeal for the American reader. But they have no need of any extraneous sentiment to heighten their effect." F. H. Bullock
+ Weekly Book Review p12 Ap 8 '45 550w

WEISSMAN, RUDOLPH LEO. Small business and venture capital; an economic program; introd by Ernest G. Draper. 174p $2 Harper

338.7 Credit. U.S.—Economic policy. Business 45-1413

"Author, who is on the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission, writes of the problems of small business, with special reference to means of financing. Points out the extent to which the usual sources for obtaining new capital have been curtailed and considers the question of government responsibility." (Wis Lib Bul) Bibliography. Index.

"This volume covers a lot of territory in 164 pages of text. It is by no means a definitive study of the economic aspects of the problems of small business firms. Even as a summary and interpretation of the findings to date, readers will find occasions for sharp disagreement. But as a survey to pose the problems of small business and as a digest of various proposals for their alleviation to be put in the hands of undergraduates or the general reader, the book has decided merits." N. S. Buchanan

+ — Am Econ R 35:725 S '45 600w

"This is a clear, comprehensive, and challenging analysis of the problems of small business which should stimulate some much needed constructive thinking. The little book is excellent reading and is recommended to all who are concerned about the future of small business in America." A. G. Buehler

+ Ann Am Acad 241:184 S '45 550w

Booklist 41:249 My 1 '45

Library J 70:221 Mr 1 '45 60w

Reviewed by N. H. Jacoby
J Pol Econ 53:375 D '45 700w

Reviewed by F. W. Doty
Springf'd Republican p4d My 13 '45 420w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:22 Je '45 240w

Wis Lib Bul 41:45 Ap '45

WELCH, DENTON. Maiden voyage. 303p $2.75 Fischer, L.B. [10s 6d Routledge]

B or 92 45-35034

Autobiography of a sensitive English school boy, who, at sixteen, ran away from Repton for a time, returned for one term, and then went to China, where his father was in business. After some time in China he returned to England to study art. There is no mention of the war.

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson
Book Week p9 Ap 1 '45 340w

Booklist 41:236 Ap 15 '45

Kirkus 13:78 F 15 '45 110w

"Recommended for very limited purchase." Jacqueline Overton
Library J 70:219 Mr 1 '45 70w

"The record—herein lies its merit—deals only with what had genuine significance for the writer. Unfortunately, it is often marred by his obsession with the coarser aspects of life and character. Yet he shows keen sensitiveness to art, antiquities, and music, and his naïve self-revelation indirectly suggests that he is innately an idealist made bitter through the lack of love and understanding which followed the early death of his mother. Despite its surface gaiety, it is an unconsciously pathetic book. But none will dispute the claim made in her foreword by Miss Edith Sitwell that Mr. Welch is 'a born writer,' with quick, original vision and the power of limning a scene or a portrait in a few vital phrases." G. T.

+ — Manchester Guardian p3 My 26 '43 200w

Reviewed by I. W. Athey
Nation 160:462 Ap 21 '45 360w

"Fascinating reading. A less good, less honest writer would be bound to have fallen into the temptation of dramatizing himself, falsifying facts, in such a situation. Mr. Welch never does. You believe every word, every sensation: the fear, the futility and the inevitability of the dismal return to the dismal school clothes which 'make you concentrate inside yourself, away from your surroundings.'. . Mr. Welch is that rare being—a balanced combination of the tough and the esthete. And he can write." James Stern

+ New Repub 112:393 Ja 19 '45 750w

"Maiden Voyage will shock some people by its level relentless tone, by the author's instinctive hatred of illusion and pretence. Without a hint of toughness, without the least false note of cynicism, there is a feline unsentimentality about Mr. Welch which is immensely stimulating. I do not agree with Miss Edith Sitwell who speaks in her foreword of 'a moving and youthful quality.' Youth is usually clouded, imitative and insecure, whereas Mr. Welch, even in his most defenceless moments, seems to be armoured by his alert and honest mind. But I agree with Miss Sitwell's conclusion that he 'may easily prove to be not only a born writer but a very considerable one.' " Philip Toynbee

+ — New Statesman & Nation 25:390 Je 12 '43 550w

"[A] combination of scientific objectivity with subjective terror, I think, makes 'Maiden Voyage' a revealing comment on our historical situation. Are we not all emotionally, what Mr. Welch is in fact—orphans, each traveling alone on a journey which, if it is headed in the direction of unknown dangers, at least is leading one away from the fears one knows?" W. H. Auden

+ N Y Times p4 Mr 18 '45 1100w

Reviewed by Edmund Wilson
New Yorker 21:83 Ap 21 '45 1350w

"His language is direct, sensuous and clear; the decorations he has made for the book are by contrast shadowy, haunting, romantic." J. A. Smith

+ — Spec 170:456 My 14 '43 300w

Time 45:104 Mr 26 '45 60w

"In many ways this is an unusual book. With an astonishing awareness, and consequent avoidance, of the banal, Mr. Welch has omitted all the scenic descriptions which have been done so well and so frequently before, and has presented the narrative in a series of personal anecdotes. Most of these hang on the petty foibles, the personal characteristics, of the people he meets: these are described with an acute and precocious observation, an intolerant and clever pen. He is, it must be admitted, not less sparing with his own misdeeds. . . He displays constantly the over-egotism of the sensitive, the self-centredness of the lonely in spirit, and, almost in spite of himself, awakes the reader's compassion."

Times [London] Lit Sup p412 Ag 28 '43 360w

"There are some remarkable things about this first book by an extremely young Englishman. For one, it has a brief foreword of commendation by Miss Edith Sitwell, who is not lavish with praise. And, as she points out, it is written with limpidity and directness, setting down a record of sensations, embarrassments, little failures and fears, with a detachment and candor rarely encountered. Though it is evidently to be taken as autobiographical, it presents its hero in the cruelly objective light of a laboratory: we see the human mechanism in its alarming and utter nakedness responding to a succession of mostly disagreeable stimuli. Its very defenselessness makes it curiously pitiable and disconcertingly instructive." Iris Barry

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 1 '45 600w

WELCH, DOUGLASS. Mr. Digby. 248p $2.50 Putnam

45-5559

"Mr. 'Happy' Digby is a newspaper photographer, pretty well on the nutty side. You could call him eccentric, but the word's too generous. If you happen to know camera men well you will discover that Douglass Welch, himself a newspaperman, hasn't exaggerated the character very much. 'Mr. Digby' is a collection of short stories Welch has written during the last eight years for the Saturday Evening Post." Book Week

---

"There's one thing 'Mr. Digby' is sure to do to you: it will make you impatient to have Douglass Welch write more short stories." Dale Harrison
+ Book Week p2 My 27 '45 310w

"Good for the masculine audience."
+ Kirkus 13:205 My 15 '45 80w

N Y Times p19 My 27 '45 200w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p8 Je 24 '45 90w

WELCH, ROY DICKINSON. Appreciation of music. rev ed 216p $3 Harper

780.1 Music—Analysis, interpretation, appreciation 45-4110

"The present edition of this book does not differ materially from the original [Book Review Digest, 1928]. Some obvious errors have been removed, certain sections have been recast and lists of musical examples have been revised. The intent and the method, however, remain as they were. The book is a working manual. From first to last it gives the reader something to do. Historical and critical comment, biography and anecdote are used so sparingly as to be negligible." Pref to rev ed

Booklist 41:304 Je 15 '45

Kirkus 13:197 My 1 '45 130w

"Mr. Welch, who is head of the music department at Princeton University, is extremely well qualified to speak about music appreciation, for the simple reason that it is his business. He writes with caution, authority and in a pleasing manner." M. A. Schubart
+ N Y Times p21 Jl 1 '45 220w

WELLES, SUMNER, ed. Intelligent American's guide to the peace; with an introduction. 370p maps $3.75 Dryden

910 History, Modern. World war, 1939—Peace. World politics 45-35001

"The book gives in summary form a brief picture of every independent nation and of every major dependent people of the world. It discusses their land and its inhabitants; their history between the two Great Wars; their economic life and their economic relations with other countries; and it finally emphasizes the salient factors which it is believed will determine the part each may play in the world of tomorrow." (Introd) Index of maps.

Reviewed by R. S. McCordock
Am Pol Sci R 39:396 Ap '45 260w

"The Guide follows a new trend in books on international affairs published for popular consumption, and is written in compact, fact-filled, textbook style. The presentation, within the covers of one book, of co-ordinated information formerly scattered in hundreds if not thousands of books not always available in all libraries, can perform a tremendous service for all who want the pertinent facts but cannot afford the time required to collect them. . . It certainly requires a very 'intelligent American' with an unusual knowledge of world history, geography, and government to receive guidance from this Guide." Edith Wynner
Ann Am Acad 240:144 Jl '45 750w

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson
Book Week p1 Ja 7 '45 1900w

Booklist 41:169 F 1 '45

"The book has value so far as it introduces the reader to peoples and nations with which he was not previously acquainted. Even in this respect, it is definitely on the Cook's Tour side. In any event, it is not a sufficient guide to the peace, if only because it contains no discussion of the principles on which enduring peace can alone be founded. . . To sum up, the so-called Guide is polluted to such an extent by error and propagandistic 'slanting' that it had better died unborn. Certainly, its guiding spirits should be restored to that scholarly limbo from which the exigencies of war have permitted them temporarily to emerge." James Travis
— + Cath World 161:83 Ap '45 850w

"The design and format of the book are, at first glance, logical and interesting. For there is need for popularized works to serve the reader who is not yet prepared to challenge the covers of the more formidable volumes. . . But it is most debatable whether the mission of helping Americans to 'detect the voice of propagandists' and to understand the issues behind current affairs will be served by this volume. The fault may be neither that of the general editor nor with the research and preparation directed by William J. Blake, nor in the pleasant but undetailed maps by Harold Detje. The difficulty, apparently, is that the terms of reference require dangerous oversimplification."
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ja 5 '45 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja '45

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 8:154 F '45 100w

Foreign Affairs 23:510 Ap '45 220w

Reviewed by J. G. Schenkman
Horn Bk 21:280 Jl '45 120w

Kirkus 12:555 D 15 '44 150w

"Recommended as a useful reference for libraries and individuals since it brings together, in one volume, current material on many countries." J. H. Berthel
+ Library J 70:32 Ja 1 '45 100w

Reviewed by M. S. Stewart
Nation 160:79 Ja 20 '45 300w

"Here and there appear statements which may be called injudicious. It seems hardly objective to say that Finland, 'disregarding her non-aggression pact with the U.S.S.R., joined in the Nazi assault on the Soviet Union.' Was it not the other way around? And even the most ardent New Dealers might question the assertion that with the inauguration of Harding 'the eclipse of our idealism was instantaneous' or that we 'cut the ties of all international interests.' But these are minor faults in an otherwise admirable compilation." H. S. Commager
+ — N Y Times p7 Ja 21 '45 900w

New Yorker 20:79 Ja 13 '45 90w

Pacific Affairs 18:208 Je '45 130w

"This is a reference book, an encyclopedia, to be turned to for an outline account of such countries and peoples as happen to come into the morning's headlines. As such it is useful and can be recommended, though one may regret that much of its subject matter covers ground already fairly well covered by standard works of reference. The notes here given on 'The Stakes in the Peace' possessed by each country are, however, an excellent additional feature. The book is somewhat flamboyantly advertised as under the general editorship of Sumner Welles, who writes an introduction. In undertaking this editorship Mr. Welles doubtless felt that public understanding could be helped by a new encyclopedia of this type. That hope will be well founded provided only that books like this are regarded as encyclopedias and not as guides." Norman Angell
Sat R of Lit 28:13 Ja 27 '45 1100w

"The very title of this book is stimulating and one opens the volume with curiosity. In it one finds a clearly conceived pattern, executed with a simplicity which is gratifying and a comprehensiveness which is daring. . . No single reader can verify, out of his own knowledge, the information concerning each country: he can only turn to those countries with which he has some acquaintance. And there this reviewer marvels at the accuracy, conciseness, and balanced selection of facts. Certainly all cannot be told within 370 pages, but enough is told to start one on a further quest equipped with accurate, pertinent information and a certain new understanding of the factors involved." J. d'E. de Constant
+ Survey G 34:349 Ag '45 300w

"Much of the material presented in this book is already covered in standard works of reference, but it is here gathered together and brought up to date in convenient form. There are numerous illustrations and maps."
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:53 Je '45 200w

"It is difficult to describe a book which itself describes the world and all the people in

WELLES, SUMNER, ed.—Continued
it. This volume lacks many of the precise details of the Statesman's Yearbook, but for most readers it may well be a more exciting and popular book of reference. The relevant facts and figures are given about every country, and they are set down in a pattern which has much of the richness and diversity of the lands themselves. At the same time this pattern tries to outline for the reader both the contrasts and the common elements which make the foreign world, whether we like it or not, our own world. . . This is a good and surprisingly honest book for a democracy to be able to produce in the middle of a war. For it is no blueprint of any specifically American plan for peace." Joseph Barnes
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ja 7 '45 1400w
Wis Lib Bul 41:38 Mr '45

WELLES, SUMNER. The time for decision. 431p $3 Harper [15s Hamilton, H.]
327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—U.S. Reconstruction (1939-) 44-6080
For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"Some criticisms might be made of the book, and certainly there will be many differing viewpoints. Polish patriots will not like the suggestion of the Curzon line as the boundary between Poland and Russia; liberals will chafe at Welles' vigorous defense of the policy with respect to Vichy France and Franco Spain, although they will like his castigation of the earlier policy toward Republican Spain; some of us will feel that he is on occasion unfair or inaccurate in his references to League problems, such as minorities and mandates. But all of us should be grateful for this excellent and stimulating contribution from one who knows the ways of diplomacy, especially of American diplomacy, who knows what has been done and has some right to know what should have been done, who knows the obstacles but is willing to deal with them in a realistic manner." C. A. Berdahl
+ — Am Pol Sci R 39:167 F '45 1200w

"The former Under Secretary of State has in a forthright and brilliantly written volume set forth his views on the present international chaos." J. E. Pomfret
+ Ann Am Acad 239:182 My '45 500w
Bookmark 5:13 N '44
Reviewed by G. M. Carter
Canadian Hist R 26:62 Mr '45 270w
Reviewed by A. F. Luca
Horn Bk 21:280 Jl '45 160w

WELLMUTH, JOHN JAMES. Nature and origins of scientism; under the auspices of the Aristotelian soc. of Marquette university. 60p $1.50 Marquette univ. press
501 Science—Philosophy 45-2116

"In this Aquinas lecture for 1944, before the Aristotelian Society of Marquette University, the chairman of the department of philosophy at Loyola University defines scientism as 'the belief that science, in the modern sense of that term, and the scientific method as described by modern scientists afford the only reliable natural means of acquiring such knowledge as may be available about whatever is real.' The origin of this belief and of scientific method with its emphasis upon probability, is traced to the fourteenth century. The word 'natural' in the definition puts out of bounds the argument concerning reason and revelation and limits the theme to the relation between science and philosophy. This topic is discussed from the standpoint of a Thomist." Christian Century

Reviewed by J. F. Coffey
Cath World 161:278 Je '45 310w
Christian Century 62:51 Ja 10 '45 140w
Ethics 55:322 Jl '45 330w

"Very readable lecture." E. A. M.
+ J Philos 42:277 My 10 '45 480w

WELLS, ZETTA (ROBART) (MRS CARVETH WELLS), and WELLS, CARVETH. Raffles, the bird who thinks he is a person. 130p il $2 Putnam
598.8 Mynahs. Birds—Legends and stories 45-4510

The life history of a mynah bird discovered in the Malayan jungles by Mr and Mrs Wells on one of their trips. He was brought back to America and taught to whistle tunes and talk, and has since appeared on the radio, helped to sell war bonds, and entertained in many of the army and navy hospitals.

Booklist 41:297 Je 15 '45
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '45
Weekly Book Review p14 Ag 19 '45 230w

WENDT, LLOYD. Bright tomorrow. 304p $2.75 Bobbs 45-3503

"Mark Engles is a newcomer to the farm community surrounding the town of Gann [Dakota] and, being a young man with a thin skin despite the hardening of hard work, he is a little inclined to insist on his rights with his fists. With the opposite sex, his quick temper and pugnacious proclivities are part of his charm. The fact that his father is among the loudest of the anti-war voices doesn't make him any more popular. And the fact that when the time comes he is not in uniform—though for good and sufficient reasons—makes things worse. Before the story ends Mark has played a man's role in a flú epidemic, a threatened plague of grasshoppers and other unwelcome visitations which, whatever their form, fail to blight the spirit of the Middle West." Weekly Book Review

"The book has many merits. There are passages of rare beauty, and the dialogue, despite its realism, never leaves the boundary of good taste. The author knows his Dakota country well. The genuineness of the characters is truly impressive. And yet the reader can muster but little enthusiasm for the qualms, the hesitancy and irresolution of the hero. The problem of the man in 4-F (if that is supposed to be the theme of the novel) is treated too perfunctorily and brought up too late to arouse much compassion." H. L. Reich
— + Book Week p2 My 6 '45 400w
Booklist 41:341 Jl 15 '45

"A slow-motion, thoughtful novel of place and character, mirroring in small ways, a boy's growth and a community pattern."
+ Kirkus 13:141 Ap 1 '45 170w

"Lloyd Wendt, co-author of two other books, but here presented for the first time on his own, undoubtedly has both knowledge and feeling for the country and the people of which he writes. There is nothing very exciting inherent in the place or the inhabitants; only in so far as life anywhere under any circumstances is valued, and prized most by one who fully understands it, does the author's small, sun-scorched and snow-driven community become dramatic." K. F.
N Y Times p25 Ap 29 '45 230w
Reviewed by E. H. Dexter
Springf'd Republican p4d O 7 '45 400w
Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p6 My 6 '45 360w

WENTWORTH, HAROLD. American dialect dictionary. 747p $6 Crowell
427.9 Americanisms. English language—Dialects 44-6209
For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"The dictionary presents a valuable summary of American dialect research, but it reflects the limitations of the materials on which it is based. It is much more complete for the Southern and Eastern sections of the United States than for the West and the Northern Mississippi Valley and a study of the bibliography shows a corresponding geographical distribution of studies and dialect literature. Before a definitive work comparable to Joseph Wright's English Dialect Dictionary can be issued for the United States, a systematic study of American dialects will have to be made. . . Comparison with the standard unabridged dictionaries indicates that this work defines many words not in their vocabularies, for instance, ferricadouzer, gully-washer, kedidoes, palamity and ridge runner. It also gives exact citations illustrating the use of words which Webster, for example, merely labels 'dialect' without further information. Every reader of American regional literature will find this an indispensable though not an exhaustive guide to local expressions, and its publication should certainly stimulate further research in the field. . . The American Dialect Dictionary is recommended, particularly for college, university, and large public libraries."

+ — Subscription Bks Bul 16:35 Jl '45 600w

WENTWORTH, PATRICIA, pseud. (MRS G. O. TURNBULL). She came back. 247p $2 Lippincott
45-10154

A Miss Silver mystery story.

Kirkus 13:443 O 1 '45 90w

"This is probably the best of all Patricia Wentworth's stories about Miss Maud Silver. It is certainly the liveliest." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p12 D 23 '45 220w

"Right at the start Miss Wentworth calls upon all the credulity you can muster, if not more, and you'd better play it her way or lose part of the fun." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p19 Ja 6 '46 270w

WENTWORTH, PATRICIA, pseud. (MRS G. O. TURNBULL). Silence in court. 223p $2 Lippincott
45-4021

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p8 Jl 8 '45 40w
Kirkus 13:117 Mr 15 '45 60w

"It is not a detective story in the usual sense of that term. . . And yet the excellently done record of the trial is packed with thrills and suspense." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p22 Je 3 '45 90w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p15 Je 3 '45 70w

WERFEL, FRANZ V. Embezzled heaven. See Bús Fekete, L. Embezzled heaven; a play

WERNETTE, JOHN PHILIP. Financing full employment. 126p il $2 Harvard univ. press
338.91 Unemployment. U.S.—Economic policy A46-346

"Former Harvard professor, now president of the University of New Mexico, briefly traces development of unemployment in U.S. and then proceeds to analyze nature of the problem, following somewhat Pigou's and Keynes' lines of progressive thinking. However, he considers sufficient amount of circulating money main factor for full employment and to this end proposes new powerful federal agency, Federal Stabilization Board. In providing sufficient demand both full employment and free enterprise could be maintained. Optimistic spirit pervading book tends to underestimation of difficulties." Library J

Booklist 42:179 F 1 '46
Christian Science Monitor p16 Ja 3 '46 480w

"Timely topic and simple language will attract readers, but lasting value doubtful. Recommended for public and pertinent special libraries." H. H. A. Bernt
+ — Library J 70:1134 D 1 '45 140w

WERNHER, HILDA. My Indian family. 298p $2.75 Day
45-6398

An Austrian woman with one beloved daughter is the narrator. The daughter is married to a Hindu physicist, and the story of their marriage and of the girl's attempts to adjust herself to Moslem ways is told in detail. Then comes an accident and the young wife dies. Her mother at first leaves the home of her son-in-law, but finds that she is expected to select her own daughter's successor. In the second part of the book she describes her successful completion of that mission.

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock
Book Week p8 Ag 19 '45 400w
Booklist 42:20 S '45

Reviewed by Catherine Baker-Carr
Canadian Forum 25:146 S '45 350w
Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 2 '45 600w
Cleveland Open Shelf p17 S '45
Kirkus 13:274 Jl 1 '45 250w

"The book is gentle, perceptive, sometimes very moving. Measured factually, it is a charming story with interesting searchlights on India. Really, because of its intuition and sympathy, it is more like a small window opened in the great haunted house of India to let in the sunshine and fresh air of Western comprehension." Isabelle Mallet
+ N Y Times p5 Ag 26 '45 700w

"I am now a fervent admirer of Mrs. Wernher's. I still can't go all the way for her literary style. When she is talking direct to the reader telling a story or merely saying how she feels about Christmas or loneliness or this and that, I can admire her without effort. She can't write conversation, though. The minute she quotes anyone, be it her much beloved daughter or her son-in-law or the servants or herself, the lines are painfully stilted. You must understand that this doesn't matter, ultimately, a whit. This is a rare book and it tells a strange, poignant story." Emily Hahn
+ Sat R of Lit 28:13 Ag 18 '45 1800w

"Sentimental often, but warm and actual, 'My Indian Family' helps to bridge the gulf between West and East in terms which at least the West can understand." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ag 12 '45 850w
Wis Lib Bul 41:102 O '45

WERTHEIM, EDGAR. Textbook of organic chemistry. 2d ed 867p il $4 Blakiston
547 Chemistry, Organic 45-3753

"This popular text, the first edition of which appeared in 1939, has now been revised with due consideration to recent developments and trends in the organic field. The general scheme underlying the preparation of this second edition and the purposes which the book aims to fulfill are essentially the same as in the original volume. Revision has provided the opportunity to change the order of some seven chapters and to shift several topics from one chapter to another. The text material has been brought up to date, and additional aids to instruction include new tables, charts, pictures in color of molecular models, additional review questions, greatly extended literature references, and a number of numerical problems." Am Chem Soc J

"This is a scholarly, well-written book, which should find favor with both teachers and students and which should continue to hold a leading position among the best comprehensive organic texts. It is gratifying to observe that the author and publishers have made noticeable improvements in the content and appearance of this second edition in spite of many war-time restrictions." R. E. Dunbar
+ Am Chem Soc J 67:2057 N '45 260w

"The only negative comment this reviewer has, is that the nine flow sheets at the end of the book are too small to be really useful. . .

WERTHEIM, EDGAR—Continued
Student, teacher, and research man all alike will greatly enjoy and like Dr. Wertheim's fine book." F. C. Nachod
+ Chem & Met Eng 52:231 Jl '45 230w

WESCOTT, GLENWAY. Apartment in Athens [Eng title: Household in Athens]. 268p $2.50 Harper [8s 6d Hamilton, H.]
45-2271

Novel based on the occupation of Greece by the Nazis. In it a bullying Nazi officer, quartered on a meek middle-class Greek family, encompasses the destruction of the husband. Then the stricken wife plans that her young children shall join the underground movement.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 175:133 Mr '45 180w

"There have been good books of fact and fiction about this war, works that are perceptive, well written, meaningful. But 'Apartment in Athens' can safely be described as the first book to come out of it. It is, in its conception and profundity, a postwar book; it is also a fine and lasting work of art. It may be remembered, 20 years hence, as the finest book whose roots were in World War II." A. C. Spectorsky
+ Book Week p1 Mr 4 '45 1250w
Booklist 41:226 Ap 1 '45

"Mr. Wescott's writing is smooth and clever, of an altogether superior caliber to what one remembers of that in his earlier novels. His analysis of what goes on in the minds of his characters is intricately set forth and effective in the extreme." Margaret Williamson
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 F 28 '45 600w
Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '45

"An unforgettable, searing picture, with no immediate political implications, but with value in its psychology. Not a book for all readers."
+ Kirkus 13:1 Ja 1 '45 300w

"A novel of power and insight which concerns a family in German-occupied Greece in 1943. . . It holds you spellbound as you see into the hearts of the Greeks in their effort to fathom the character of the German. Their keen analysis of the mentality of the Germans may well be a message to all freedom-loving peoples." Rebecca Rankin
+ Library J 70:164 F 15 '45 140w

"There is a deadly quietness in the telling of [this] story of Greece in German occupation that is much more effective than histrionics would be." Charles Marriott
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 27 '45 100w

"We don't expect a writer of Mr. Wescott's caliber to use his talents in the service of propaganda, and I especially didn't expect him to propagate hatred. . . We are told that Mr. Wescott calls 'Apartment in Athens' his war work. It is the kind of war work we commonly look for, not at the head or heart of intellectual and artistic life, but at its fringes, where conscience seems to exist only to be uneasy. I have read dozens of anti-Nazi novels, set either within Germany itself or, like 'Apartment in Athens,' in a German-occupied country. Except for its distinction of prose which, through at least the first half of the book, keeps promising that this will be a disinterested creative effort, and except for its wonderful power to evoke physical fact, Mr. Wescott's novel doesn't in any important sense transcend this popular and bad category of fiction." Diana Trilling
Nation 160:312 Mr 17 '45 1250w

Reviewed by R. G. Davis
New Repub 112:526 Ap 16 '45 480w

Reviewed by Henry Reed
New Statesman & Nation 29:409 Je 23 '45 210w

"Glenway Wescott's story of an Athenian family during German occupation is a fine study of humiliation and nobility, and their culmination in tragedy and desperate resolve. . . 'Apartment in Athens' is a shapely story, a work of art in the true sense. If it is synthetic, it is so through intense awareness and consciousness of purpose. It is careful work, by which a noble and original piece has emerged from its material. Its moderateness, lack of exaggeration, serenity are admirable as the Greek ideal they reflect and honor. Everywhere is the dignity of a style in which there is nothing wasteful and nothing wanting in saying an explicit thing." Eudora Welty
+ N Y Times p1 Mr 4 '45 2550w

"The author—up, at least, to the final turn—makes us accept what he tells us as true, and I have not read any other book—either of fiction or of direct documentation—which has given me the feeling of starving and stifling, of falling back on interior positions, constructing interior defenses, reorganizing and redirecting, behind a mask of submission, the whole structure and aim of one's life, as 'Apartment in Athens' does. It is only at the end of the book that we find the illusion failing. This is a common fault in Wescott's fiction. The incisive beginnings are sometimes betrayed by a tendency to blur at the close; the sure hand, with its deliberate strokes, seems to falter when it comes to the point of drawing the action to a head and driving the meaning home." Edmund Wilson
+ — New Yorker 21:76 Mr 3 '45 1350w

"It occurred to me that the whole novel was rather . . . inconsequential and dim. But, of course, dim though it may be, it is not inconsequential—its very subject saves it from being that. And now, in recollection, it is beginning to seem to me better than it did in the reading; which is an experience that is not produced, or should not be, by negligible writing. Best of all, perhaps, is the understanding statement of the relationship existing between Mr. and Mrs. Helianos—of their 'old marriage.' This is true and tender, and perceptive; and lastingly affecting." B. R. Redman
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:11 Mr 3 '45 1250w

"Glenway Wescott takes us through a nightmare world, which, since it is depicted with intelligence and imagination, lifts his book well above the level of the average novel dealing with the German occupation of Europe." John Hampson
+ Spec 174:460 My 18 '45 500w

"This is powerful stuff. Why, then, does it somewhat miss fire? The constant reader of firsthand reporting by able war correspondents in the press knows the answer to that question. Mr Wescott's thunder has been stolen by the daily record we learn at the hands of our overseas journalists who have given us not only vivid pictures of men at war, but of the devastated lives of men and women in countries occupied by the enemy. We need to know this. Perhaps we cannot be told too often and the medium of fiction has a special appeal to many folk who are not moved by factual reports. To them we offer 'Apartment in Athens,' a good novel with a theme tragically familiar and characters whom we must know for many years to come." E. M. B.
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 4 '45 450w

"An uneven, over-literary tour de force, interesting chiefly for its suggestion that some liberated Europeans may, for a time, feel rather lost without their brutal conquerors."
— Time 45:100 Mr 5 '45 60w

"A sincere but rather pedestrian novel."
Times [London] Lit Sup p197 Ap 28 '45 360w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:6 Je '45 320w

"A work of honest, unembarrassed good literature. It is useful in the sense that no good work of art can ever be anything but useful, and timely because it can never come too early or too late." K. A. Porter
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Mr 4 '45 1350w

WESSELLS, KATHARINE TYLER. Golden song book; il. by Gertrude Elliott. 76p $1.50; pa $1 Simon & Schuster
784 Children's songs
45-7575

"Favorite nursery and game songs. . . The old Mother Goose and some other childrens classics newly decorated and arranged for simple playing and easy reading, comfortable voice range for children, and mothers, too." Kirkus

Book Week p22 Je 3 '45 120w

Booklist 42:41 O 1 '45

"A very good bargain. . . The illustrations are pleasant and the music clear and legible." H. L. Binsse

+ Commonweal 43:122 N 16 '45 30w

"The pictures, with and without color, are uneven in quality, many are charming, others, less fortunate. As a whole, however, the book will be enjoyed at home and in school." A. M. Jordan

+ — Horn Bk 21:348 S '45 90w

+ Kirkus 13:313 Jl 15 '45 80w

"A delightful collection for use with small children." E. M. Gordon

+ Library J 70:753 S 1 '45 50w

"The arrangement requires some experience on the part of the pianist, but the melodies are the simple, loved ones which everyone knows. Miss Elliott's pictures, one or more for each page, many of them in gay colors, should ensnare the attention." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p18 S 2 '45 90w

Sat R of Lit 28:81 N 10 '45 20w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 9 '45 150w

"In all the book there is not a song that has not been tested and stood firm, especially the hymns of one's first Sunday school. Nothing could be simpler than the harmonizations for mother at the piano; a true musician made them, and an artist made the pictures whose choice was predestined." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 15 '45 230w

Wis Lib Bul 41:87 Jl '45

WEST, EVELYN. Animal fair. 277p $2.75 Lippincott

45-6473

The girl Sandra Echols, the oldest of six children, describes her life after her father died in 1920, leaving his family poverty stricken. Her mother opens a boarding house in Baltimore, and brief sketches of the inmates are included in Sandra's story. Her attempts to gain a college education, and her work on a newspaper, and ultimate small success fills out the picture.

Reviewed by Dorothy Sparks

Book Week p15 O 7 '45 400w

Booklist 42:38 O 1 '45

"Miss West is a shrewd reporter and writes with humor and a sense of drama. Her character-miniatures possess much vitality. It is the undertone of acidity, of resentment against humanity, that causes a lack of warmth; so that even a girl trying honestly to make her way against adverse circumstances fails to win the reader's sympathy. In a polite, feminized, and unpretentious way, the book has a little of Dean Swift's mood." W. K. R.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 16 '45 420w

"A story of people, of practical difficulties and personal conflict, and of a particularly attractive youngster who is undismayed by circumstances."

+ Kirkus 13:277 Jl 1 '45 170w

"Similar to A Tree Grows in Brooklyn in many respects, this first novel lacks its warmth and humor." H. G. Kelley

Library J 70:686 Ag '45 70w

"A novel as fresh as the movies must have been in those years just after the armistice. Of course, Sandra has a family, but with a difference." Paul Griffith

+ N Y Times p5 S 23 '45 360w

"Some of the birds and beasts in Sandra's zoo have an appealing quality. . . But if quantities of the vignettes that decorate these pages are lifelike, there are unfortunately so many of them that they blur the few full-length portraits. In other words, the dreary, insignificant birds and beasts who clutter up this animal fair tend by their carpings on the side-lines to distract attention from the main acts." Grace Frank

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:12 Ag 25 '45 700w

"Writing without either sentimentality or bitterness, Miss West has handled her theme with something of the unforgettable dignity that characterized 'Jude the Obscure.' " Marion Sturges-Jones

+ Weekly Book Review p5 S 23 '45 700w

WEST, JAMES, pseud. See Withers, Carl

WEST, JESSAMYN. Friendly persuasion. 214p $2.50 Harcourt

45-35221

Gently humorous sketches about the life of a family of Quakers living in Indiana at about the time of the Civil war.

"Faintly earthy and completely human taken either as a novel or a collection of short stories, Jessamyn West's 'The Friendly Persuasion' makes a delightful addition to American literature. There is poetry here, but so subtly woven into the fabric of story and character that it never intrudes." Flora Hendrick

+ Book Week p8 N 18 '45 500w

Booklist 42:95 N 15 '45

"For complete delightfulness, this collection of stories about a family of Indiana Quakers two generations ago is near the top of the season's list."

+ Christian Century 62:1416 D 19 '45 150w

"The book is warm and comfortable, without sentimentality, and its plain speech and Hoosier idioms are a vehicle for humor that has no satire in it." W. K. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 N 26 '45 480w

Cleveland Open Shelf p24 N '45

"This is one case where the title of a book is a cue to the reviewer, and I shall be going around for some time trying in a friendly fashion to persuade people to read 'The Friendly Persuasion.' " Emerson Hynes

+ Commonweal 43:269 D 21 '45 490w

"Jessamyn West does some delicious quiet tilting at windmills in a refreshingly human series of episodes rooted in the traditions of her own Indiana Quaker background."

+ Kirkus 13:458 O 15 '45 130w

"Delightful short stories full of laughter. Recommended to all." E. H. Crowell

+ Library J 70:1026 N 1 '45 50w

"These are folk-pictures, constructed rather than collected, and showing neat, patient craftsmanship. They are extremely well written, at times touching, often irresistibly droll and always much softened by the warmth of Miss West's indiscriminate and unremitting nostalgia." William Poster

+ New Repub 113:810 D 10 '45 250w

"The book as a whole has no plot; yet each story, complete in itself, adds its brush strokes to the final picture of this country household, furthers the action of this quiet drama of American life, till at the end the reader has come to an intimate understanding of Jess and Eliza Birdwell and their children. . . 'The Friendly Persuasion' is full of descriptions that are almost epigrams, terse and right: not embroidery on fabric of the story but part of the design, woven into the pattern." M. F. Melcher

+ N Y Times p6 N 25 '45 1150w

"Miss West, whose first book this is, has produced neither a standard piece of period nostalgia nor the equally standard album of lovable eccentrics, and it is even more to her credit that she has had the sense and taste not to patronize or exploit the gentle piety that directs the lives of her characters."

+ New Yorker 21:102 N 10 '45 140w

"[The] sketches have all the virtues that such a series, well written, may possess, and all the limitations. To take the limitations first, the effect of the book is episodic rather than cumulative. Inside of a novel the Birdwells might have been perceived in the process of growth. . . Because, for all the charm and evocative tenderness that flow through these stories, they seem none the less to be enacted inside a vacuum. . . They offer rewards too, once we yield to their blandishments, and this is easy enough. Miss West wields a prose of most friendly persuasion. It is as soft and musical as the speech of her Quakers, as sensitive to every manifestation of nature as they, and as ardent in pursuit of the moral verities. . . The mood is nostalgic, primitive, like a dream of vanished innocence." N. L. Rothman

WEST, JESSAMYN—Continued

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:14 N 17 '45 700w

"Not for a long time has a little book scored on so many points. None of the characters, not one, is a puppet. The writing is now like the running of a brook and now like the stillness of a forest pool. Miss West's style is full of surprises, vivid metaphors, odd turns of plot, yet she is never disconcerting, overingenious or repetitive. Though distilled from family legends of the Irish Quaker community into which she was born, the tales are less nostalgic than provocative. One feels not that loveliness used to be and is no more but that life could be, even is, quieter and funnier than currently advertised." Ernestine Evans

+ Weekly Book Review p2 N 25 '45 1100w

Wis Lib Bul 41:127 D '45

"This is a collection of enchanting short stories. . . The Friendly Persuasion won't sell like historical novels about trollops, but it is destined, I feel sure, to be cherished long after such ersatz products are forgotten." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 35:384 winter '46 400w

WEST, RANYARD. Conscience and society; a study of the psychological prerequisites of law and order. 261p $3 Emerson [15s Methuen]

301.15 Social ethics. Law—Philosophy 45-9372

"This 'study of the psychological prerequisites of law and order' is the American edition of a book that has attracted much favorable attention in England. Its author is a psychoanalyst with grounding in philosophy, political science, and legal theory, whose thesis is both important and simple: the legal framework for world government must be erected upon human nature as it is—not as our prejudices make us think it is." Scientific Bk Club R

"Those political scientists who believe, as the present reviewer does, that it is highly necessary to bridge the gaps now existing between specialized fields of social study will welcome this thoughtful and provocative examination of the psychological foundations of law. That there has always been a close connection between political theory and phychology is known to all who read in either field. But it is something of a novelty to come across a scholar who is firmly grounded in both fields, and who seriously attempts to link up with political theory the new insights of modern psychology." David Fellman

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:1010 O '45 1350w

Reviewed by Gwynne Nettler
Am Soc R 10:807 D '45 400w

Reviewed by Huntington Cairns
Ann Am Acad 240:186 Jl '45 490w

"This is one of the most helpful books on World Organization that has come to the attention of this reviewer. Its unique contribution is in its approach." C. L. Willard

+ Churchman 159:16 S 15 '45 200w

Reviewed by Kenneth Bell
New Statesman & Nation 24:294 O 31 '42 850w

New Yorker 21:90 Ap 21 '45 160w

"The book is skilfully written, its arguments are cogent, and its conclusions are of prime importance to all who are concerned with the problems of lasting peace."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 My '45 120w

Times [London] Lit Sup p299 Je 19 '43 330w

WEST, WALLACE, and MITCHELL, JAMES P. Our good neighbors in Soviet Russia. 273p il maps $2; school ed $1.50 Noble

914.7 Russia 45-6577

Written for young readers, to give them a better understanding of the history, geography, and resources of Russia. Copiously illustrated with photographs. Index.

Booklist 42:133 D 15 '45

"In spite of its prosaic appearance, this factual book holds interest because of the importance of its details about Soviet life." A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 21:463 N '45 90w

"Illustrations are excellent and well-selected, but maps are scarce. The volume needs greater coherence, better balance, and correction. The chief defect seems to be a tendency to see things not as they are, but as we might like them to be; it should be possible to be factual and realistic as well as 'friendly and favorable.' At any rate, the effort merits credit, and it is to be hoped that more and better materials on the U.S.S.R. will follow." W. C. Armstrong

+ — Social Educ 10:41 Ja '46 1050w

Social Studies 36:332 N '45 10w

WESTON, MRS CHRISTINE (GOUTIERE). Bhimsa, the dancing bear; pictures by Roger Duvoisin. 120p $2 Scribner

Bears—Legends and stories 45-37869

"The story begins one spring when Gopala, the Indian boy (accompanied by his tame bear, Bhimsa) steps into the moonlit garden and into David's ken. The two boys and the bear take the road together, and we follow their journey with absorbed conviction. The narrative unfolds against a background of blue night sky, the pageant of life on the roads, the men and women working in the fields where water sparkles in bright channels, the jungle, a green cloud in the distance, the colored domes of the city." N Y Times

---

Booklist 42:152 Ja 1 '46

"A bit out of this world atmosphere and occasionally moralizing—but in all a satisfactory adventure story of two boys who leave their homes and have lots of adventure. The Roger Duvoisin pictures in two colors are sure passport to charm."

+ — Kirkus 13:437 O 1 '45 70w

"Out of intimate knowledge of India, imaginative perception and the joy of sharing a good tale, Christine Weston has written a distinguished book for boys and girls. . . Roger Duvoisin's lively pictures add to the atmosphere and humor of the book." A. T. E.

+ N Y Times p14 N 11 '45 180w

"The book conveys the smell, sound, and feel of an exotic land and tells a tale which carries one from a real to an enchanted world with delightful ease. The lovely illustrations in sepia and green help the illusion."

+ New Yorker 21:128 D 8 '45 40w

"Well-written story, which reads as naturally as if it were being told to a child at bedtime."

+ New Yorker 21:120 D 8 '45 120w

Sat R of Lit 28:40 D 8 '45 450w

"Though the scene of the first children's book by the author of 'Indigo' is laid—as one might expect from that brilliant novel—in India at the present time, it has a curious likeness to the Arabian Nights in one of that work's most attractive features. It will be remembered that they kept beginning over, as one character after another, on entering the story, settled down to explain who he was and why he was there—and by this continual beginning even a restless audience does not realize that time has passed. So in this story of two little boys and a wonderful dancing bear."

+ Weekly Book Review p10 N 11 '45 450w

WHARTON, JOHN FRANKLIN. Theory and practice of earning a living. 236p $2.50 Simon & Schuster

330.973 U.S.—Economic conditions. Vocational guidance 45-5677

"The book [contains a] discussion of those American economic, political, and moral institutions which young men and women must reckon with when they set out to earn a living. Mr. Wharton leads into this broad subject by discussing the basic methods for earning a living in America. This gives him an opportunity to deal with a range of topics generally covered in college courses in economics and political science. . . His discussion of the processes of business finance, he develops in connection with the problems of an imaginary North American Pencil Company." Sat R Lit

"It is something of an achievement to write an easy-to-read book which delves extensively into the principles of economics, corporation finance and international exchange. Yet this is what John F. Wharton has done in 'The Theory and Practice of Earning a Living.' It is almost as easy to read as a novel, and this despite the fact that Wharton's regular job for many years has been that of corporation lawyer in the Wall Street community." H. H. Allen

+ Book Week p4 Jl 1 '45 900w

Booklist 42:8 S '45

Bookmark 6:7 N '45

Kirkus 13:177 Ap 15 '45 130w

"Mr. Wharton's book has the virtues of simplicity and readability, but his arguments are largely vitiated by an unqualified inspirational tone. Moralizing now in the face of approaching economic disorder is hardly the realistic thing to do."

New Repub 113:326 S 10 '45 180w

"If you are a young man beginning to earn a living, you will have two good reasons for being grateful to the author of this book. First, as the hero of the book, you start out in Part I as a new employe of the Cosmic Food Company, and two hours later, in Part II, you are the president and principal owner of the flourishing North American Pencil Corporation. Secondly, in those two hours, plus the added time it takes to finish the book, you will have a chance to learn more of fundamental importance to yourself and society about the business system than many people learn in a lifetime of participation in it." Raymond Rubicam

+ N Y Times p6 Ag 12 '45 1150w

Reviewed by P. M. O'Leary

+ Sat R of Lit 28:13 Jl 14 '45 800w

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 7 '45 700w

"Mr. Wharton's book can be enormously valuable in high schools and colleges in supplying a basic conception of our system. But this book can also be valuable fare for thousands of well placed and experienced men and women in business." W. E. Robinson

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 1 '45 800w

WHAT the South Americans think of us; a symposium, by Carleton Beals [and others]. 400p $3 McBride

327.8 U.S.—Foreign relations—South America. South America—Foreign relations—U.S. 45-35110

Four American authors attempt to explain why some South Americans dislike us, and the background of some recent political history. Contents: Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia, by Carleton Beals; Brazil; and Uruguay, by Bryce Oliver; Venezuela and Colombia, by Herschel Brickell; Argentina, by S. G. Inman; Chile, by S. G. Inman. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 41:317 Jl 1 '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p18 S '45

Kirkus 13:151 Ap 1 '45 150w

Reviewed by Hubert Herring

Sat R of Lit 28:16 Ag 11 '45 650w

"Without agreeing with all the author's interpretations, the book may be recommended as a stimulating and informative study." Cyril Clemens

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 22 '45 600w

Reviewed by E. K. James

Survey G 34:454 N '45 450w

"I do not wish to give the impression that the whole picture of 'What South Americans Think of Us' is painted in colors of unrelieved gloom. All four writers are agreed that Latin America is favorably impressed by our recent good neighbor conduct, albeit a little worried by war-time deviations from it. . . One decided weakness of the book is that no economist was selected to point out the dangers latent in the fact that Latin-American economy has been geared to the insatiable maw of our wartime demand, so that the whole economic structure is threatened by reconversion. Mr. Brickell's contribution is somewhat too elementary and too cheerfully and determinedly optimistic to inform the kind of reader such a theme is likely to attract. And Mr. Oliver makes himself into an altogether too uncritical apologist for the Vargas dictatorship in Brazil." B. D. Wolfe

+ — Weekly Book Review p8 Jl 8 '45 1000w

Wis Lib Bul 41:80 Jl '45

WHEATON, MRS HELEN. Prekaska's wife; a year in the Aleutians. 251p il $3 Dodd

917.98 Aleutian islands 45-5212

Describes a year spent in the windy Aleutian islands, where the author's husband managed a trading post. Prekaska means storekeeper, hence the title. Chart on endpapers.

"Maybe some people wouldn't find much to say about these squat, dark, ignorant folk, so few in numbers, so remote from the beaten track, but Helen Wheaton has plenty to say and says it with rare flavor. Under her deft touch these vague dwellers of a far land become roundly and warmly human, smell of fish, reek with sourdough and cut some fantastic didos. . . And whether Mrs. Wheaton intended it or not, her book is a thoroughly delightful profile of as improbable and successful a marriage as I know of." Edith Roberts

+ Book Week p8 Jl 15 '45 310w

Christian Science Monitor p15 Jl 21 '45 550w

Reviewed by G. N. Meyers

N Y Times p18 Jl 1 '45 550w

"Almost any young woman who can write a readable sentence, and who goes to live somewhere along the edges of civilization, can manage to get a book published. Mrs. Wheaton, who qualifies on both counts, and has accordingly got a book published, has an extra qualification in that she knows something about telling a story. . . Thanks to her careful and sympathetic observation of the Aleuts, it is one that has considerable interest, some humor, and even a little charm."

+ New Yorker 21:72 Je 16 '45 110w

"'Prekaska's Wife' would be a far better book if Mrs. Wheaton had written more straight-away and with less attempt to be coy and whimsical. She tries too hard to be clever. Her material on the Aleutian Islands and their people is excellent. Indeed, it it unique, the best background yet presented on this far-flung section of our continent." R. L. Neuberger

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:26 Jl 14 '45 650w

Springf'd Republican p6 Je 14 '45 330w

Time 45:97 Je 4 '45 550w

"It is well written, beautifully illustrated and packed with exciting information from the prehistoric through the historical to the most up-to-date." Evelyn Stefansson

+ Weekly Book Review p15 Je 17 '45 650w

WHEELER, KEITH. We are the wounded. 224p $2.50 Dutton

940.547573 World war, 1939-1945—Medical and sanitary affairs. World war, 1939-1945—Personal narratives, American 45-10093

The author is an American war correspondent who was seriously wounded on Iwo Jima

WHEELER, KEITH—Continued
and spent months recovering in a Hawaiian hospital. During that time he gathered the material for this book. Starting with his own case, he tells how men get wounded, what care they receive at the front, how they get back to medical stations and hospitals, and how the men stand the long road to recovery.

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson
Book Week p5 N 25 '45 330w
Booklist 42:127 D 15 '45
Kirkus 13:409 S 15 '45 300w

"This essential information is excellently presented in a nonoffensive manner. Recommended for all libraries." Katharine Shorey
+ Library J 70:1088 N 15 '45 110w

"A good book and a true one. Wheeler writes about things that have been told many times before, but he writes, as it were, from the inside. . . With V-E and V-J Days fast receding into history, I fear that Wheeler's book will achieve all too little serious reading. It should be given, as required reading, to all among us who are abdicating our futures to the wielders of atom-backed power and the promoters of bigger and better world wars. Perhaps, for them, it will require a new subtitle. Call it, 'An Introduction to Political Economy and International Relations.'" A. Q. Maisel
+ Sat R of Lit 28:28 D 15 '45 650w

"An authentic account told with vividness, humor and realism. . . The chronicle is tense and engrossing." J. E. English
+ Springf'd Republican p4 D 16 '45 180w

"As in his earlier book, 'The Pacific Is My Beat,' Wheeler is at his best when he writes of what he saw himself. With his opportunity for observation limited by his own wound, his presentation of the long-range problems of those permanently disabled in battle is sketchy —a paragraph on artificial limbs, another on physical therapy." Richard Match
+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 16 '45 700w

WHEELER, MARY, comp. Steamboatin' days; folk songs of the river packet era. 121p il $2.75 La. state univ. press

784 Folk songs, American. Negro songs 45-1486

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Booklist 41:206 Mr 15 '45

"Song-collecting is an art. To persuade self-conscious man to sing aloud for the cold taking down on paper what he is accustomed to sing only in moments of warm fellowship or private self-expression takes tact, skill, and persuasive power. Miss Wheeler has the art. She has collected the songs of the inland river from the Negroes of Paducah, Kentucky, and its environs. No job of song-collecting in America more needed to be done." H. R.
+ Christian Science Monitor p15 F 3 '45 600w

"These roustabout songs possess more interest for us if we remember their setting—a regal steamboat; passengers traveling in luxury on the upper decks; below hard toil for the Negroes without the aid of modern equipment; and through all of them, the background of the river with its power and force as a part of the fabric of our national life. A 'must' book for every library of Americana." Cyril Clemens
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 28 '45 500w

WHEELER, OPAL (MRS JOHN MACRAE). Sing Mother Goose; music by Opal Wheeler; il. by Marjorie Torrey. 102p $3 Dutton

784 Children's songs 46-27

"For this book [the editor] has selected some 50 favorite Mother Goose rhymes and set them to gay little tunes which mother may play for younger children to sing, and which older ones may learn to play for themselves. Marjorie Torrey has done the beautiful full-page color illustrations." Book Week

"This is the third Christmas to which Opal Wheeler has brought one of her lovely song books. 'Sing Mother Goose' will quickly earn a place beside the earlier favorites, 'Sing for America' and 'Sing for Christmas.'" P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p9 D 16 '45 230w
Booklist 42:170 Ja 15 '46

"The best loved of Mother Goose rhymes with musical accompaniments. The illustrations are excellent of their sort." H. L. Binsse
+ Commonweal 43:294 D 28 '45 20w

"A delightful book, even for a child too young to appreciate the musical scores. . . Miss Wheeler's music book is undoubtedly one of the finest editions in recent years." J. S. K.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 16 '45 120w

WHEELER, WILLIAM LOUIS. Medical care of merchant seamen; a handbook of ship and aircraft sanitation and emergency medical aid. 212p il $2 Cornell maritime

614.8 Medicine, Naval. Naval hygiene. First aid in illness and injury 45-5775

"Another practical book on first aid, written in simple nontechnical style by the author of Shipyard Medical Practice [Book Review Digest, 1943]. Practical training to provide medical emergencies and be an aid to deck officers, hospital corpsmen and seamen. Besides general directions, there is a chapter on aircraft sanitation, medical first aid in aviation, care of patients in air transport and treatments of altitude and air sickness." Library J

Booklist 41:343 Jl 15 '45
Library J 70:638 Jl '45 70w

WHELAND, GEORGE WILLARD. Theory of resonance and its application to organic chemistry. 316p $4.50 Wiley

541.7 Mesomerism. Chemistry, Physical and theoretical. Chemistry, Organic 44-47538

"A survey of the development of the theory of resonance, particularly as applied to the field of organic chemistry. The material is based on lectures given by the author at the University of Chicago, and assumes a knowledge of elementary organic and physical chemistry. Among the topics covered are: Theory of resonance; Nature of valence; Steric effect of resonance; Resonance and molecular spectra; Resonance and chemical reaction. Numerous footnotes constitute an extensive bibliography. There are separate author and subject indexes." N Y New Tech Bks

"The point of view throughout naturally follows closely that of Pauling. Most of the discussion represents a well-documented review of previously published work. There are, however, a number of points upon which entirely original opinions are expressed and in which there is still room for considerable argument. The chapters on resonance energy and steric effects are especially well done and a very useful feature of the book is the inclusion as an appendix of a table, complete to June, 1943, of interatomic distances in organic molecules. The book should certainly be in the hands of all organic chemists working in any field involving resonance interpretations." M. Calvin
+ — Am Chem Soc J 67:1043 Je '45 380w

"It is a fitting tribute to Linus Pauling that the book is dedicated to him, since many of the applications of the resonance theory trace their origins to him. It is a volume of which both Pauling and Wheland may well be proud." C. D. Hurd
+ Chem & Eng N 23:578 Mr 25 '45 1300w

"Subject matter is well organized and well presented. The text has been carefully prepared and only one typographical error was noted. The book will undoubtedly find a large audience, by no means restricted to organic and physical chemists, and it should be required reading for anyone teaching an advanced course in physical organic chemistry and for the research worker in the field." F. C. Nachod
+ Chem & Met Eng 52:241 F '45 250w
Library J 69:815 O 1 '44 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:58 O '44

"Because it is the only complete survey of its kind, the author has filled a real need which has been felt for a number of years by the research chemist, the teacher, and the student."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:54 Mr '45 280w

WHICHER, GEORGE FRISBIE. Walden revisited; a centennial tribute to Henry David Thoreau. 93p $2 Packard & co.

B or 92 Thoreau, Henry David 45-6603

The centennial of Thoreau's move to his cabin on Walden pond was celebrated on July 4, 1945. Partly in memory of that move, Professor Whicher of Amherst college has written this essay, which is partly biographical, partly critical of Thoreau. "It has something penetrating and true to say about Thoreau's journeys, his wide reading, his ideas of friendship, life in Concord, the sojourn at Walden, civil disobedience, understanding of nature, literary artistry, and higher laws." (Christian Science Monitor)

"A delightfully written biography and reappraisal of Thoreau."

+ Am Hist R 51:170 O '45 30w

"Mr. Whicher's tribute is a penetrating exposition and evaluation of Thoreau's thought, a sympathetic portrayal of his personality, and an accurate estimate of his relations with his contemporaries and with the total stream of American culture." W. E. G.

+ Christian Century 62:885 Ag 1 '45 450w

"While perhaps not intended for class use, it would be hard to find a better or more stimulating introduction to Thoreau for the college student." T. M. Longstreth

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 11 '45 450w

"The little book is actually a general account of Thoreau's career plus an extremely acute, well-written critique of his ideas, and a more illuminating or more readable ninety-seven pages has never been written about him. Professor Whicher stops this side of uncritical idolatry but his is a thoroughly sympathetic account of one of the greatest and most stimulating of protestants." J. W. Krutch

+ Nation 161:112 Ag 4 '45 350w

"If a big book is a big evil, it is not always true that a small book is a great good, but Mr. Whicher's little volume on Thoreau, written for the Walden centenary, is so admirable in manner and so dense in substance that it can hardly be called anything less than this. In its freedom from pedantry, its avoidance of arid irrelevancies, its easy concentration on the essentials, and its imaginative understanding, Walden Revisted is a model that American literary scholars might well keep before their eyes. French scholars sometimes write books like this on their great writers: we have too few examples of the genre among ourselves." Newton Arvin

+ New Eng Q 18:415 S '45 600w

Reviewed by E. B. Garside

N Y Times p7 Ag 5 '45 600w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:5 D '45 300w

"If the ghost of Thoreau were now to walk across the fields and woods he knew, one cannot imagine that any one he might encounter need be startled. There should be rather an undisturbed recognition of a natural figure in the landscape, a man where he belonged. So Mr. Whicher paints him, with fitting economy of description and quotation, using fewer than a hundred pages, yet achieving a full-length critical portrait." Isabel Paterson

+ Weekly Book Review p1 O 28 '45 3000w

WHIPPLE, MAURINE. This is the place: Utah. 222p il $5 Knopf

917.92 Utah. Mormons and Mormonism 45-9455

The text of this volume on the Mormon state of Utah, is part history, part description, part personal narrative. The book is illustrated with more than one hundred photographs, some in color, showing the people and their towns and cities, and the country in its grandeur and beauty.

"Miss Whipple's book is definitely not a work of literature. For the greater part it is journalism of a depressingly slick-feature sort, an attempt to 'sell' something rare and different in the jargon by which things common and alike are sold. Miss Whipple shows herself throughout to be a person of great intelligence and much awareness. . . Why then in describing Utah's people and wonders of nature does she employ a style which suggests the editor of a high school year-book trying to do bright topical chatter for a women's gush program on the radio." James Laughlin

— + Book Week p8 D 16 '45 400w

Booklist 42:127 D 15 '45

"Intimate first-hand knowledge backgrounds a presentation of the state and its people with sympathy and understanding tolerance, a many panelled panorama of the region, yesterday and today. . . Easy familiarity with the subject gives the volume greater popular appeal than one with perhaps more profoundly scholarly approach."

+ Kirkus 13:214 My 15 '45 190w

"As there is practically nothing written on the subject of Utah, the information, pictures and maps in this book will prove very valuable to libraries. Sophomorish style of writing is disappointing, but book should be placed in junior high school collections or on adult shelves." M. E. Clark

+ — Library J 70:1025 N 1 '45 50w

N Y Times p10 Ja 20 '46 250w

"Miss Whipple's first novel 'The Giant Joshua' [Book Review Digest, 1941] is still the best of the romantic novels about the Mormons. Her new book partakes both of the flaws and the virtues of her first. It often proceeds by exclamation, it is at times crushingly romantic, and it is a spasmodic engulfing of Mormon history, in places disorganized and overmuch cluttered with Miss Whipple herself. But also it has a matchless eye for the sensuous splendor of the red rock country, an impetuous, not to say explosive, interest in people, a shrewd and sometimes summary skepticism." D. L. Morgan

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:17 N 10 '45 800w

"Written with love, and at least in one chapter with exceptionally wide-open eyes, 'This Is the Place: Utah' is a book that will be good to keep and, like the country it describes, good to return to many times. Miss Whipple has seen more than most of us get around to seeing, and she has tried honestly to present her people and their characters as related to the country they made their own just a century ago—to see their lives moulded by sun and rain and the difficult earth as the lives of all men were moulded in the beginning." Virginia Sorensen

+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 30 '45 950w

WHITE, BARBARA A. Lady Leatherneck. 180p $2 Dodd

45-5124

Priscilla Warner's brother was a prisoner of the Japanese, so Priscilla decided to join the marine corps women's reserve. This story for older girls describes her induction and training, and her romance with Captain Richard Whiting of the marines.

Kirkus 13:252 Je 1 '45 80w

"A better than average career story." M. F. Cox

+ Library J 70:754 S 1 '45 80w

"In the author's attempt to give a glowing picture of life as a United States Marine Corps officer stationed in California, she overworks coincidence and is unconvincing in her characterization and plot development. Romance and glamor abound, but few real impressions of the seriousness and dignity of the Corps are given to the reader. A type of escape literature that does not seem justifiable in these times. Not recommended." E. A. Groves

— Library J 70:754 S 1 '45 70w

Reviewed by E. L. Buell

N Y Times p18 Je 17 '45 80w

WHITE, B. A.—Continued
"A teen-age romance on good principles with a realistic setting soon to be historic, and with cheerful views of life and love." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 1 '45 280w

WHITE, ELWYN BROOKS. Stuart Little; pictures by Garth Williams. 131p $2 Harper
45-9585

Into a normal American family there was born a second son whom everybody noticed was not much bigger than a mouse. It was no time at all until everybody knew that he was a mouse. This is the story of the life and adventures of this unusual person, named Stuart by his parents.

Book Week p2 O 28 '45 350w

"Mr. White, brilliant editorial writer for the New Yorker, valiantly exercises his imagination, and the result will delight many readers both young and old." H. L. Binsse
+ Commonweal 43:294 D 28 '45 60w

"This is an endearing book for young and old, full of wit and wisdom and amusement, and Garth Williams' drawings make a perfect accompaniment." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 21:455 N '45 130w

"This seems to me pseudo-fantasy, synthetic, and lacking the tenderness that makes a story such as Wind In The Willows wholly the children's own. Undertones and overtones of this story of a mouse in a human family are unjuvenile on all counts."
— Kirkus 13:314 Jl 15 '45 170w

"Little Stuart is a very engaging hero, and 'Stuart Little' is an entertaining book, whether for children or their parents. If I also found it a little disappointing, perhaps that is because I had been expecting that E. B. White would write nothing less than a children's classic. . . His dialogue is good from beginning to end. Each of the separate episodes is entertaining, and one at least is uproarious. . . But the parts are greater than the whole, and the book doesn't hold to the same mood or move in a straight line. There are loose ends in the story. . . Mr. White has a tendency to write amusing scenes instead of telling a story. To say that 'Stuart Little' is one of the best children's books published this year is very modest praise for a writer of his talent." Malcolm Cowley
+ — N Y Times p7 O 28 '45 900w
New Yorker 21:120 D 8 '45 120w

"As a character Stuart is not convincing and his adventures end inconclusively. Delightful illustrations."
Sat R of Lit 28:56 N 10 '45 40w

"Although 'Stuart Little' may be listed as a children's book, and children will undoubtedly be the excuse for getting it into the house, it is for all ages, all shapes and sizes of readers who like the light fantastic tone. The exact number of years of the reader won't matter here any more than it does with 'Alice,' 'The Wind in the Willows,' some of Milne, or indeed the work of Walt Disney, who created that other popular mouse. . . The humorous, wise quality found in E. B. White's other work is reflected here in miniature." R. C. Benet
+ Sat R of Lit 28:26 D 8 '45 500w

"Readers of Hemingway as well as six-year-olds will find the book worth their while. Much as grown-up readers of 'Alice in Wonderland'—also written by a highbrow writer for a small girl—find that classic. 'Stuart Little,' indeed, is in the school of 'Alice,' though by no means an imitation."
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 21 '45 450w
Time 46:92 D 31 '45 700w

"This book cannot really be compared to any other masterpiece of children's literature. It stands on its own merits. I will draw attention only to the fact that collaboration so perfect between artist and author has not been reached since E. H. Shepard illustrated 'The Wind in the Willows,' and that in both books the difficulty of adjusting differences in size has been triumphantly overcome. Also the facial expressions of Stuart Little are such that with all his mouseness he is never mousy. He is at home in a man's world, dreams and all." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 O 21 '45 750w
Wis Lib Bul 41:129 D '45

WHITE, NEWMAN IVEY. Portrait of Shelley. 482p $4 Knopf
B or 92 Shelley, Percy Bysshe 45-2732

"A briefer edition of Professor White's 'Shelley,' the two-volume life of the poet which was published in 1940 [Book Review Digest, 1940, 1941] and which caused the words 'monumental' and 'definitive' to be freely tossed about by critics who should know what they're talking about." (New Yorker) Index.

Reviewed by Elder Olson
Book Week p4 Ap 8 '45 500w
Booklist 41:240 Ap 15 '45

"This is a must book which, among its other numerous virtues, proves that in such a study fairness and candor have as real a place as sympathy and insight." J. J. Reilly
+ Cath World 161:281 Je '45 550w

"Let him who has never read it now read it; let him who has read it now read it again! The present new book is a shorter and much less expensive version of the original work. It is welcome and we have really nothing to criticize adversely save possibly the title. 'Portrait of Shelley' suggests a character-analysis, a 'psychograph,' as it used to be called, rather than a biography; and the new work is a biography retaining all that is absolutely essential in the old." S. C. C.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 14 '45 360w

"A biographical achievement of permanent value."
+ Kirkus 13:28 Ja 15 '45 200w

"This scholarly, sympathetic and readable biography of Shelley, the result of twenty years' study, is recommended for all libraries." E. F. Kelly
+ Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 50w

Reviewed by Eric Bentley
New Repub 114:27 Ja 7 '46 190w

Reviewed by Carlos Baker
N Y Times p7 N 18 '45 950w

"The book, which runs to nearly five hundred pages, is by no means a digest; it is an inspired and sensitive piece of scholarship which withholds nothing of significance in the life of the revolutionary and poet who jarred the conscience of a century."
+ New Yorker 21:98 Mr 24 '45 140w
Springf'd Republican p4 My 21 '45 650w

"Everyone interested in the literary welfare of our society must applaud the fact that the first authority of our time upon a notable author has written a semi-popular book upon that author instead of leaving the task to be done by a writer only of popular books who knows little more about the subject than he is able to work up in half a year. It is much to be wished that other scholars will follow Mr. White's lead, and do as admirable a job of it as he has done." W. C. De Vane
+ Yale R n s 35:153 autumn '45 750w

WHITE, OSMAR. Green armor. 288p maps $3 Norton
940.542 World war, 1939—Pacific ocean. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, New Zealand 45-2039

"This is a story of fighting men in the swamps and jungles of New Guinea, in the islands and atolls and tangled waterways of the Solomon Islands. Its sources are four dog-eared notebooks marked New Guinea, February-October, 1942, a diary With the U.S. Pacific Fleet, April-July, 1943, a file of dispatches to Australian newspapers, and a recollection of certain places, things, men, and events." (Foreword) The author is a young New Zealander, a newspaperman and magazine writer.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Book Week p8 Mr 18 '45 300w

Booklist 41:222 Ap 1 '45

Christian Science Monitor p12 My 5 '45 480w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 My '45

"When White can forget to be purple and to theorize, he tells a story in detail that rivals the method of a good fiction writer." Harry Sylvester

+ — Commonweal 41:593 Mr 30 '45 420w

Foreign Affairs 23:693 Jl '45 40w

"In spite of previous books covering the same territory and same period, this is of special interest both as personal history and stirring recounting of the nerve-wracking days of near-static defense, the particular horror these terrible battlefields have bred."

+ Kirkus 13:15 Ja 1 '45 260w

New Repub 112:566 Ap 23 '45 80w

"Mr. White's book is not only a thoughtful review of the strategical and tactical development of the war in the South Pacific. It is also a vivid and compelling first-hand account of the horrors of war in the jungle, where the mountains, the rains, the swamps, the rivers and the blazing sun were foes even more merciless than the enemy." F. S. Adams

+ N Y Times p6 Mr 25 '45 550w

"Mr. White achieves a W. H. Hudson quality in his descriptions of the jungle's beauty and its sinister night noises, made all the more unpleasant by the insensate gibbering of Jap soldiers and their cries of 'Aid, aid, Doc! I am wounded.' On the debit side, it might be mentioned that the author's attitude toward the white man's burden would not have even slightly raised one of the late Mr Kipling's eyebrows."

+ — New Yorker 21:90 Mr 10 '45 160w

" 'Green Armor' is sometimes annoyingly disjointed and is by no means an adequate history. But as a reporter's notebook, filled with color and incident, as an exploration of a strange and forbidding land that will inevitably emerge from this war with great strategic importance, it has perhaps more merit than 'just another correspondent's book.' " Robert Okin

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:62 Ap 14 '45 900w

Springf'd Republican p6 Mr 9 '45 550w

"Straightforward and informative."

+ Time 45:100 Mr 19 '45 20w

"Mr. Osmar White has produced an admirable book for the general reader as well as for the soldier and statesman."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p603 D 22 '45 360w

"Mr. White has written a vivid and sensitive account of that grim lesson, as he saw it being acquired. A young New Zealander, he brought to his job as war correspondent an invaluable background in jungle exploration and tropical mountaineering; he understands, as few other reporters have done, that fantastically beautiful and terrible terrain of giant mountain and trackless rain forest, and he understands something of the strange, primitive black people who carried the white men's food and ammunition over those ghastly trails and made the jungle war—what there was of it—possible. The result is a rather different kind of 'war book.' I find it a fascinating and illuminating one." Walter Millis

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 11 '45 1150w

WHITE, OWEN PAYNE. Texas; an informal biography. 268p il $3.50 Putnam

976.4 Texas—History. Frontier and pioneer life—Texas 45-6812

"Lusty account of one of our newest, biggest, richest, freest and most tempestuous states. . . Settled by individualists of colorful reputations and tough fiber, Texas, land of miracles and extravagances, was admitted into the Union just one hundred years ago. White's zest for vivid description and unrestrained iconoclasm create an exhilarating history of Texas that will entertain even the casual reader. Born a frontiersman, living an unvarnished, robust life (described in Autobiography of a Durable Sinner [Book Review Digest, 1942]), White here depicts the unbounded opportunities that have made this state unique among the forty-eight." Library J

Reviewed by Jack Conroy

Book Week p10 S 30 '45 550w

Booklist 42:74 N 1 '45

"When the smoke clears away, what emerges is a yip-yip-yipping portrait which accents sin and violence rather than hard work and the problems which lie ahead. One feels more snap in Mr. White's judgments than usually characterizes those of the historians whose work he finds stuffy. Some readers are going to be sufficiently Missourian to want to know where Mr. White got some of his material. . . However, one fault of the judicial historian cannot be laid at Mr. White's door. He is never dull. He puts a high charge of personality into his history." Horace Reynolds

— + Christian Science Monitor p14 O 23 '45 550w

"It's marvelous reading,—good entertainment for the 'true western' fan, for the seeker after indigenous regional material, for those who like their history liberally diluted with anecdote, tall tales, blood and thunder, color and drama."

+ Kirkus 13:353 Ag 15 '45 130w

"Excitingly informative reading. . . Highly recommended." H. S. Taylor

+ Library J 70:820 S 15 '45 110w

"It is as informal, wryly humorous, colorful, in short as Texan as the Texans—the easy style of the raconteur rather than that of a writer or lecturer. The result is a brisk and absorbing history that gives one a satisfying sense of background and motivation." M. T. Martin

+ N Y Times p10 N 25 '45 900w

"It is zippy, all right, with a swing that is high, wide, and handsome, but it is hardly history, and not of very high rank as straight reporting." Stanley Walker

Weekly Book Review p22 S 30 '45 550w

WHITE, WALTER FRANCIS. Rising wind. 155p $2 Doubleday

940.5403 World war, 1939—Negroes. Negroes 45-2285

The executive secretary of the National association for the advancement of colored people, went to Europe to report on the status of the Negro soldier in the present war. On the whole Mr White found race relations better abroad than at home. "They are best, he reports, in the front lines, and it is his opinion that, despite the indignities the Negro soldier has been made to suffer, there is reason to hope that the lessons of respect and tolerance learned during these years of war may have a beneficial influence during the coming years of peace." (New Yorker)

Reviewed by Wallace Stegner

Atlantic 175:133 Ap '45 480w

"A small volume, reporting incidents, conversations and chance encounters. It could have been three times as long, and could have been written with a great deal of indignation. Considering the explosive qualities of the material he is handling, White's restraint is really admirable. . . In 'A Rising Wind' there is more between the lines than in the text itself. Perhaps the author was pressed for time, perhaps he was too cautious, perhaps he had to be. One wishes for more incisive information and a fuller analysis, a more profound understanding. Yet it is a good book, and a necessary one. We can be sure it is only a beginning, for the sheer human drama of this story and its implications will be written again and again in the years to come." Michael De Capite

+ Book Week p5 Mr 11 '45 1150w

Booklist 41:222 Ap 1 '45

Cath World 161:365 Je '45 250w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 21 '45 450w

Reviewed by George Streator

Commonweal 41:652 Ap 13 '45 1100w

Foreign Affairs 23:691 Jl '45 30w

Reviewed by Carey McWilliams

Nation 160:456 Ap 21 '45 360w

WHITE, W. F.—Continued

"Mr. White is as unsparing and unsentimental toward the Negro as is Mr. Wright, and he never tips the scales in favor of his own people." George Mayberry

New Repub 112:365 Mr 12 '45 310w

Reviewed by John Desmond

N Y Times p3 Mr 4 '45 700w

"Mr. White writes conscientiously rather than well and uses a vocabulary that seems drawn largely from the field of economics and sociology, but his earnestness and comprehension of his subject make his book an excellent survey of the present state of race relations in the United States."

+ — New Yorker 21:82 Mr 3 '45 180w

Reviewed by H. A. Overstreet

Sat R of Lit 28:10 Mr 3 '45 700w

Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 11 '45 700w

"Mr. White's volume is a contribution to current bookshelves, not so much because of the way in which he disposes of questions like these, as because of the deep significance of those questions themselves." L. B. Granger

+ Survey G 34:452 N '45 450w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:38 Je '45 200w

"Mr. White went abroad to see how the men of his race were faring in the Army. He presents the report in a manner which is calm and remarkably unimpassioned. But the report on the whole is disturbing. It is a story of racial bigotry which is bolstered by the United States Army." Marcus Duffield

Weekly Book Review p4 F 25 '45 850w

WHITE, WILLIAM ANTHONY PARKER (ANTHONY BOUCHER, H. H. HOLMES, pseuds), ed. Great American detective stories; ed. with an introd. by Anthony Boucher. 308p 49c World pub.

Short stories—Collections 45-5985

"Anthony Boucher, reviewer of mysteries for the San Francisco Chronicle and one of the minor American authorities on the field, has put together a superb collection of short detective stories. The range is wide: from Edgar Allan Poe and Anna Katharine Green to Woolrich, Hammett, Chandler and Craig Rice. Most of these stories you will not have seen before. Boucher's prefatory notes preceding the stories and his general introduction are erudite, penetrating and witty." Book Week

---

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p9 S 9 '45 90w

"A remarkably fine anthology of short detective stories. . . All the stories are good—so good that there will be many opinions as to which is the best." I. A.

+ N Y Times p19 Je 24 '45 130w

WHITE, WILLIAM LINDSAY. Report on the Russians. 309p $2.50 Harcourt

914.7 Russia—Description and travel. World war, 1939—Russia. Communism—Russia 45-2586

"The story of a six-weeks trip to Russia which [the author] took during the summer of 1944 in company with Eric Johnston, President of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Joyce O'Hara, his assistant." (Introd) No index.

"In closing, this reviewer would like to mention the strange, sneering tone in which some of the chapters of the book are written. One simply fails to recognize the sensitive author of Journey for Margaret in these gibes of people, most of whom, according to their lights, tried to be helpful to the author. Perhaps Mr. White would have done better by associating a little less with the foreign journalists in Moscow, and by making a more comprehensive study of the U.S.S.R. before going to Russia." D. F. White

Ann Am Acad 240:152 Jl '45 750w

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 175:131 Ap '45 600w

Reviewed by Harvey O'Connor

— Book Week p5 Mr 25 '45 950w

Booklist 41:223 Ap 1 '45

Boston Globe p20 Mr 21 '45 400w

"Bill White could scarcely avoid reporting at least something of what he saw. But unfortunately, so much of it was complimentary to Russia that, standing by itself, it would have defeated his object. So he adds his own deductions, reflections and innuendoes, many of which are so completely naive and irrelevent as to leave a fair-minded reader gasping." C. M.

+ Canadian Forum 25:46 My '45 1200w

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley

Cath World 161:183 My '45 200w

"The author of 'They Were Expendable' has crammed his pages with lively interest and good entertainment. He intersperses graphic glimpses of the interior of automobile and other factories which contribute something of Russian industrial methods. In other respects, however, Mr. White's almost artless way of casting every conceivable aspersion upon the Russians and their country comes as a rude shock to the American reader, who after all likes to feel that a foreign people is being treated with reasonable courtesy—particularly when that foreign country has been acting as host to representative Americans." H. J. S.

— + Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 20 '45 500w

"The book is less of a report on the Russians than a report on the immaturity of W. L. White. Compressed in The Readers' Digest some three months before publication, this book incensed the Russians and puzzled innumerable Americans; in its full form it is even more enigmatic and objectionable. It isn't that occasional observations are not correct (many pages are excellent and shrewd writing) but sandwiched in between these incidental parts are long sections of material which Mr. White certainly did not get first-hand, and long stretches of sheer gossip that at this moment are indefensible." W. H. Melish

— Churchman 159:14 Mr 15 '45 480w

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '45

"This is perhaps the most informing and candid account of our Soviet ally yet to appear. It is extremely readable and it coincides well with other sources of information. Perhaps the most vivid chapter in it is that which describes the unopposed German bombing of one of the bases the Russians gave us in the Ukraine to make 'shuttle-bombing' possible. But candor is often indistinguishable from brutality and therefore from bad manners. In a number of cases Mr. White writes in such a way as is sure to give deep offense to a Russian reader. Doubtless what he says is true enough in these instances, but it could have been said with a little more regard for Russian feelings. . . 'Report on the Russians' is a book everyone should read."

+ — Commonweal 41:568 Mr 23 '45 390w

"It is excellently written, with a flair for humor and human interest."

+ Current Hist 8:440 My '45 120w

"Though most of his facts are probably true, or at least have the appearance of truth, he has managed in their selection to convey a distorted picture of Russian life today. Perhaps this is due in part to naïveté and provincialism, though the reader cannot but suspect that it is in part due to the author's unwillingness psychologically to meet the Russians half way. It is only fair to say that White's general attitude of deprecating the drab primitiveness of Soviet life is reminiscent of the way foreigners viewed his own Middle West not so many years ago when it, like Russia, was suffering from growing pains."

Foreign Affairs 23:697 Jl '45 170w

"Surely, it would have been possible to make this a critical survey, throwing light on the failures of Russia to achieve freedom of thought and action, and yet give tribute to the tremendous steps taken, the contribution made by sacrifice of progress toward freedom to the end that the war be won. . . Eric Johnston has proved that a generous estimate is possible, without sacrificing his own ideals."

Kirkus 13:98 Mr 1 '45 380w

"A minor, helpful contribution to a present-day understanding of Russia." H. A. Wooster

+ Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 80w

"Mr. White reports truthfully what he sees. He does not tell any lies except when he quotes stories, like that of the Moscow 'panic,' from unreliable sources. It is not lack of truth which distorts Mr. White's report but lack of balance and of sympathy. He shows more warmth toward the end of his trip. . . Had he left his prejudices behind and done this from the beginning, White's might have been the truthful report on war-time Russia which we so badly need. Even so, with all its shortcomings and prejudices, Mr. White's report is a fuller, truer, and less one-sided picture of Russia than the rapturous accounts of Soviet apologists who refuse to see the slightest spot on the lily-white Soviet escutcheon." Markoosha Fischer

+ — Nation 160:419 Ap 14 '45 480w

"Although Bill White is usually one of the world's best reporters, some of his statements in this book are hard to believe or mutually self-contradictory. . . In this case, in the guise of a reporter, he has acted as prosecuting attorney. He has done a piece of special pleading which, especially in the pages of the Reader's Digest, most of whose nine or ten million readers have little means of checking his accuracy, may do substantial harm. With his political philosophy, no honest American democrat can quarrel. Bill White opposes communism and dictatorship, wants political freedom, fears the danger of unlimited bureaucracy; so do I. But the net effect of his book, it seems to me, can only be to hurt the cause to which he is supposedly pledged: an increase in political liberties in Russia. Its influence, in so far as it has any, will be to drive the Russians, who are already pathologically distrustful of foreigners, still more in upon themselves. If it affects the lot of political prisoners at all, it will make their lot worse." Bruce Bliven

New Repub 112:391 Ja 19 '45 2400w

"It belongs to that class of trashy amateur books on Russia which have infested the book market for the last 28 years. White's book would not be worth more than ten lines, were it not something of a political act, which has nothing to do with the faults or merits (if any) of the writing." J. Wilson

— New Statesman & Nation 30:409 D 15 '45 900w

"Its descriptive pasages, its sharp and occasionally somewhat malicious character sketches, its amusing dialogue are good reading. But one need read no further than the first page (which describes a visit to a Soviet consulate to obtain a passport visa) to discover the prejudices which Mr. White took with him to Russia. . . Looking for trouble, he quite naturally finds it at almost every turn—and then proceeds to make all possible literary capital out of it. . . Mr. White is entitled to write of what he saw and experienced himself—and to give his personal reaction to what he saw and experienced. He has failed, however, to make the most of his opportunities to see Russian society as a whole, and he has hardly contributed to that better understanding between the Soviet Union and the United States that is today of such paramount importance." F. R. Dulles

— + N Y Times p3 Mr 18 '45 1350w

"Mr. White makes little attempt to analyze the social processes at work in Russia or to generalize about her recent history. He simply tells what he saw, heard, and felt. But, as a journalist, he was in a position to enjoy certain unique advantages. He travelled about in a way that no regular correspondent in the Soviet Union has been permitted to do in years. . . His book has thus a unique value and ought not to be confused with the ordinary correspondent's book about Russia. Mr. White not only saw much more than most visitors, he is a better observer than most, and he tells you how things look and people behave, and how everything strikes an American, in a way that few other writers have ever done." Edmund Wilson

+ New Yorker 21:92 Mr 17 '45 400w

Reviewed by J. D. Clarkson

Pol Sci Q 60:318 Je '45 220w

"Mr. White writes extremely well; you move with him as he rushes through streets, dinners, factories, concerts, farms, and conversations in European and Asiatic Russia. So complete is the reader-participation that you almost get a stomach ache at the day's fifth banquet laid by the same ubiquitous government caterer. . . William L. White's 'Report on the Russians' is an antidote to the slobbering hosannahs of passionate partisans of Stalin's . . . Russia. But White's report in turn needs an antidote which emphasizes the Soviet Union's achievements in science, in collectivized agriculture, in education (unaccompanied, however, by a parallel advance in the capacity to think), in the elimination of the idle rich and the idle poor, in the encouragement of individual ability and talent, in public health service, in child care, etc. Russia is no longer red, but neither, Mr. White, is it black." Louis Fischer

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:20 Ap 14 '45 1550w

Discussion by John Hersey & others

Sat R of Lit 28:20 Ap 14 '45 3750w

"Perhaps the strangest thing about this 'Report' is its inhumanity. Never once does the author succeed in putting himself in a Russian's shoes or understanding how Soviet citizens feel, where their pride and affections lie or what their problems are. The reader would never guess that part at least of the present poverty is due to the war and to the fact that the Soviet Union diverted a far greater proportion of its industrial resources to war production than did the U. S., whose standard of life the author is so fond of contrasting." John Lawrence

— Spec 175:544 D 7 '45 900w

"This 300-page account of White's six-week tour of Russia last summer with Eric Johnston strikes this reviewer as thoroughly unsatisfactory. The great pity is that White has apparently set down a good deal of true information, but the defects of his attitude and emphasis make it difficult to sort out what is valid and authentic." Marshall Bragdon

— + Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 18 '45 440w

Time 45:97 Mr 19 '45 750w

"Mr. White's impressions make lively and often instructive reading. [He] has a quick eye, a shrewd mind and a habit of candid speech, and all that he has set down in 'Report on the Russians' has a ring of patent honesty. . . Less happily, however, Mr. White also attempts from time to time a general appraisal or analysis of the Soviet scheme of things, more particularly of the ends and means of Socialist economic planning in the Soviet Union, and for this his equipment is by no means adequate. His knowledge of Russian historical development would seem to be too fragmentary to be of assistance to him, while his constant resort to comparisons between Soviet conditions and standards and American conditions and standards is apt to be too unfair to assist the reader."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p579 D 8 '45 1150w

"Despite what Mr. White's Communist critics may say, there is very little reporting in this book which is not factually true or credible. The Soviet Union is an extensive country, lived in by a very large number of different kinds of people who have been subjected for a generation to diverse and often contradictory social pressures. The result is that a diligent searcher can find inside Russia almost anything he looks for. No honest observer who has lived in the Soviet Union, during this war or before it, will doubt that Mr. White saw what he has described, or that the incidents in the book could have happened, with one notable exception. That one exception certainly must constitute the most fantastic 'scoop' of the war to date. Mr. White has written here a story of mass panic inside Moscow beginning in October, 1941." Joseph Barnes

+ — Weekly Book Review p1 Mr 18 '45 1500w

Wis Lib Bul 41:47 Ap '45

"I find it difficult to understand the vehement objections with which Mr. White's book has been greeted in some quarters. Not that I agree with everything that Mr. White has to say about the present-day Russia. On the contrary, some of his generalizations seem to me rather doubtful. But in the first place, I prefer to take his book for what he says it is—'the story of a six-weeks trip to Russia,' a trip

WHITE, W. L.—Continued
which elsewhere is described in a more picturesque fashion as 'six rugged weeks of socialism, diluted only by Soviet champagne.' . . It is true that he is irreverently humorous, at times even sarcastic, about the pompous formality of some Soviet bureaucrats and the excesses of the official Soviet hospitality, but he does not spare his American companions either, and occasionally makes fun of himself. All in all, I fail to find in Mr. White's book any premeditated malice." Michael Karpovich
+ Yale R n s 34:759 summer '45 700w

WHITELEATHER, MELVIN KERR. Main street's new neighbors. 252p $3 Lippincott

327.73 U.S.—Foreign policy. World politics. World war, 1939- 45-3954

A study of the present European scene by an American foreign correspondent. The author lived abroad for fourteen years, and has recently made an eight-month trip to Britain, Africa, the Middle East, Russia, and France, as correspondent for the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

"A certain breeziness of style should not blind the reader to the sharp and careful thinking that has gone into the making of this book. A foreign correspondent for 14 years, Whiteleather has observed widely, and to much better purpose than some of the much-traveled journalists who have written recent books. This is no record of what we had for dinner at Cairo and who got drunk at Helsingfors and what I told the assistant secretary of the legation. It's an earnest, straight-from-the-shoulder challenge to clearer thinking by Americans. As such it's extremely timely reading in this May of '45." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 My 13 '45 180w
Booklist 42:5 S '45
Reviewed by L. M. Lyons
+ Boston Globe p15 My 2 '45 60w
Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 2 '45 480w

"A blunt, honest evaluation of international positions, policies, mistakes, misunderstandings—informative and interesting, though not original."
+ Kirkus 13:81 F 15 '45 230w
Reviewed by R. B. Pease
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 15 '45 600w

" 'Main Street's New Neighbors' treats highly important subjects which are very difficult to put into the vernacular that is most popular on Main Street. Even so, it points up some of those momentous changes among our great neighbors which will make very meaningful changes on Main Street, U. S. A., in our lifetime. It is a book which raises a laudable number of the pertinent questions which we Americans can disregard only at our peril." Leland Stowe
+ Weekly Book Review p5 My 13 '45 900w
Wis Lib Bul 41:98 O '45

WHITMAN, WALT. Walt Whitman; selected and with notes by Mark Van Doren. (Viking portable lib) 698p $2 Viking

811 45-6887

Anthology of the works of Whitman in both poetry and prose, including selections from Leaves of Grass, and Specimen Days; and the bulk of A Backward Glance O'er Travel'd Roads (1888) and Democratic Vistas (1871). Indexes to titles and first lines of Leaves of Grass, and titles of Specimen Days.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Jl 15 '45 750w
Booklist 42:58 O 15 '45
Christian Science Monitor p14 S 8 '45 50w
Kirkus 13:216 My 15 '45 80w
Reviewed by Delmore Schwartz
Nation 161:289 S 22 '45 420w

"Mark Van Doren contributes to the useful Viking Portable Library a far larger selection [than Sillen's] with the interesting feature of devoting a little over half its pages to the poet's much less known prose. But his one criterion of choice is that of literary excellence, and as a lyric poet himself he is more sensitive to Whitman's lyricism than to his political and social implications." F. O. Matthiessen
+ N Y Times p1 Jl 29 '45 1900w

"This, the latest addition to the well-edited and well-printed Viking Portable Library series, is one of the most successful of the lot. Mr. Van Doren can't be given all the credit, for almost any anthology of Whitman is bound to be interesting, but he has assembled, with a very fine sense of selection, what is perhaps the best and most comprehensive one-volume edition of Whitman ever put together. . . The introduction, by Mr. Van Doren, is sound, sensible and pleasantly restrained."
+ New Yorker 21:66 Jl 7 '45 130w

WHITNEY, PHYLLIS AYAME. Silver inkwell; il. by Hilda Frommholz. 272p $2 Houghton

45-8117

Lynn Sheridan wanted to be a writer and the silver inkwell on her desk served as a constant reminder as it was reputed to have belonged to Louisa May Alcott. Lynn thought she had no time for people but found that to write successfully she needed people and the life and love they represented.

"The interest evidenced by several high school girls to whom I read the book indicates that Phyllis Whitney has made an absorbing story. . . That my reactions coincided with theirs is, I think, another proof of the story's excellence. . . I believe that our mutual reading enjoyment was due to the fact that Phyllis Whitney has made her characters so lifelike we felt we really were meeting them; likewise that the things which happened to them were plausible to us because she has drawn from existing situations and conditions." E. M. Hilsabeck
+ Book Week p11 S 30 '45 310w
Churchman 159:8 N 15 '45 20w

"The author of The Singing Cave gives us a novel that is sure to interest all girls who want to write, complete with publishing house background, well-drawn, a literary 'tea', long intimate chats with an already famous author, prize contest entries."
+ Kirkus 13:318 Jl 15 '45 250w

"Good Chicago background. Good characterization and a love story that does not end Lynn's career but seems, rather, to be a part of the beginning of it. Recommended for high school libraries and young people's departments as well as children's departments." S. J. Johnson
+ Library J 70:982 O 15 '45 70w

"There is good advice for would-be writers and editors here, and few vocational novels for girls have such well-plotted, human stories as this one." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p35 S 30 '45 150w

"Like other 'career' stories, this one tries to combine romance and excitement with technical information. It does not succeed in producing an integrated piece of writing. Moreover, Lynn's training and background do not seem sufficient for her responsibility in the publishing house. Whatever good advice there may be in the story, we feel that a girl who is determined to be an author would do better to read a book on the art of writing or the biography of a successful author than to depend upon this story as a guide." B. W. S.
— Sat R of Lit 28:66 N 10 '45 200w
Weekly Book Review p20 N 11 '45 400w
Wis Lib Bul 41:115 N '45

WHITTON, JOHN BOARDMAN, ed. The second chance; America and the peace, by Gordon A. Craig [and others]. 235p $2.50 Princeton univ. press [12s 6d Oxford]

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—Peace A44-5381

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Reviewed by W. N. Hadsel
Am Pol Sci R 39:1041 O '45 650w

Foreign Affairs 23:511 Ap '45 20w

J Philos 42:194 Mr 29 '45 700w

Reviewed by Freda White
New Statesman & Nation 29:358 Je 2 '45 90w

"A joint study like 'The Second Chance' achieves unity rarely found in a book written by seven men, because the thought of these seven, and of their associates as well, finds a common focus." Raymond Sontag
+ N Y Times p8 My 13 '45 750w

"The authors of this book point out that the 'sine qua non' of a lasting peace is enduring cooperation between the 'big Three' (the United States, Russia and England). Yet this very necessity of continued harmony seems to be taken much too much for granted. More space should be devoted to the obstacles that stand in its way and how they could be hurdled. But perhaps this reflects too great a pessimism on the part of this reviewer. It is a carefully thought-out and stimulating book, well worthy of close study by all those interested in the coming peace." W. T. Grenfell, jr.
+ — Social Studies 36:90 F '45 650w

Times [London] Lit Sup p243 My 26 '45 850w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:39 Mr '45 240w

WHO'S who in poetry in America. 1135p il $10 Paebar

928 Poets

"On the book jacket is the descriptive note: 'A collection of modern American and Canadian poets, including their biographies, representative selections from their work, and, in most cases, their photographs.' No editor is named. There is no foreword, preface, nor introduction. The first edition appeared in 1941, the second in 1942. There is no indication in the 1945 issue as to what edition it is. However, circulars sent in 1943 to prospective subscribers to a third edition listed the title of a poem written by the recipient and included a letter requesting permission to publish 'your picture and a brief biography of your life, as well as this fine example of your writing ability. . .' In addition to a photograph, the following biographical information was requested: name, occupation, place and date of birth, education, books the biographee had written, books, magazines and newspapers in which his poems were published, radio stations over which they were read, other writing done, and awards received. Clubs, recreations, hobbies, and home address were also to be listed." Subscription Bks Bul

"Persons included range from housewives, business people, teachers, ministers, and workers in various other fields to a few men in service. The poems included seem to have appeared originally in relatively few publications other than local and school papers. . . Writers of poetry listed under the entry Poems in Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature July 1943-June 1944 were checked. Of some 300 authors, none appeared in Who's Who in Poetry in America, 1945. . . Casual readers interested in poetry will be disappointed in looking up information about prominent poets, for they do not appear. Contributors of poems to nationally-known periodicals are, in general, not included. For these reasons the title Who's Who in Poetry in America is misleading. The volume is not recommended."
— Subscription Bks Bul 16:42 Jl '45 700w

WICKENDEN, DAN. Wayfarers. 371p $2.75 Morrow

45-3353

"About an unusual American family in the days just before the beginning of the war. The central figure is the father, who, ten years after the death of his beautiful wife, rouses himself from his grief to take stock of his inadequacy as a parent. The slow growth of his understanding of his children and of the consequences of his absorption in his dead wife, together with the author's portrayal of the interaction of a number of highly sensitive characters, [make the story]." New Yorker

Reviewed by Mona Van Duyn
Book Week p1 Je 24 '45 1700w

Booklist 41:341 Jl 15 '45

"There is no suspense, no plot, no real story, but instead a series of unrelated incidents of importance only that they happen to the Bryant family and their friends. The writing is worthy of a better subject."
+ — Cath World 161:444 Ag '45 50w

Reviewed by Margaret Williamson
Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 3 '45 450w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Jl '45

"In writing about the America of those years it is difficult to leave out the approaching storm from overseas. It is to Mr. Wickenden's credit that he does not overstress, as most of his contemporaries do, the after-the-fact political predictions in which his characters occasionally indulge; they come in rather naturally. Mr. Wickenden also has a 'feel' for the poetry in nature and the raptures of young love which occasionally supplies a welcome counterweight to his grim unfolding, in which the inevitable tragedy is too plainly labeled, too well prepared. Few novels now appearing give a satisfying picture of contemporary American life; without making environment the focus, 'The Wayfarers' is a good deal more convincing than most."
+ Commonweal 42:315 Jl 13 '360w

"There's a dearth of the sort of book about people that this is, which should make it easy to sell, particularly when you can also say that it is good reading. . . Rourke's abnormal sex life strikes a note that may be distasteful to conservatives, but it is not offensively handled. Wickenden is fulfilling his early promise."
+ Kirkus 13:95 Mr 1 '45 270w

"Not wholly convincing realism but a good smooth story and a very likely best seller. Recommended." G. W. Hill
+ — Library J 70:587 Je 15 '45 70w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 161:139 Ag 11 '45 100w

"A skillful, soft-spoken novel about a middle-class family in a Middle Western town. This book is so neatly built that it may be captious to mention that the building materials are rather weak from wear." Nancy Flagg
+ — N Y Times p6 Jl 8 '45 480w

"An unpretentious, exceptionally well-told story. . . In a quiet way, [it is] as true and intelligent a new novel as you are likely to encounter at the moment."
+ New Yorker 21:58 Je 30 '45 110w

"This is the third novel, and the third good one, by Dan Wickenden, who seems to combine successfully the detached realist's seeing eye and Tom Wolfe's capacity for feeling, without the latter's sometimes tedious raptures. 'The Wayfarers' is an absorbing story." R. A. Cordell
+ Sat R of Lit 28:30 Je 30 '45 450w

"'The Wayfarers' gets better and better; since it is written as a non-thesis-bearing story, it fulfills beautifully its purpose by deepening your absorption from beginning to end. Stylistically very different from Du Maurier's 'Rebecca,' it invites comparison not merely for a high degree of intensity, but for the fact that both stories are shot through with the remembrance of a dead wife." A. H. Fuller
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 8 '45 390w

WICKENDEN, DAN—Continued

"The characterization as a whole, especially that of Bryant as father and as newspaper man, and of Pat, is convincing and warm. The people are limned with knowledge and sympathy against the background of a Mid-Western town. As a story of family life, a portrayal of the barriers that exist between generations, the book holds meaning and interest." Rose Feld

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Je 24 '45 700w

Wis Lib Bul 41:102 O '45

"To my mind the best novel of 1945. . . It is a book that is a superb fusion of deep and generous understanding of troubled human beings with expert technical skill." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 35:192 autumn '45 270w

WIDDEMER, MARGARET. Constancia herself. 310p $2 Farrar

45-2393

On the eve of her marriage to a solemn young geneticist, Constancia finds that she is an adopted daughter, and that her heritage is dubious. Repudiated by the man she loves, she marries on the rebound a man who is not so interested in pure blood as he is in Constancia herself. When the mystery of Constancia's birth is cleared up, she has another problem to solve.

Booklist 42:166 Ja 15 '46

Kirkus 13:73 F 15 '45 130w

Reviewed by Beatrice Sherman

N Y Times p25 Ap 29 '45 180w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p22 Ag 26 '45 60w

WIENER, WILLARD. Two hundred thousand flyers; the story of the civilian AAF pilot training program. 196p il $2.75 Infantry journal

358.4 U.S. Army air forces. Flying training command 45-2213

Records the activities of the men who taught the first American airmen of World war II, and the men themselves, who fly our fighters, bombers, and transports. Index.

Reviewed by G. A. Scheuer

Book Week p17 Mr 25 '45 360w

Foreign Affairs 24:164 O '45 20w

Kirkus 13:127 Mr 15 '45 120w

N Y Times p12 Mr 25 '45 500w

"As a good newspaper man Willard Wiener knows a likely yarn when he hears one, and he has introduced them by the dozens, yarns of groundwork and of flying, psychology and discipline, yarns not only of American students but of the thousands who came from Great Britain, China, Brazil and other countries. An excellent account of one of our most unusual war achievements." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Ap 15 '45 750w

WIESE, KURT. You can write Chinese [il. by the author]. [60p] $1.50 Viking

495.1 Chinese language—Writing—Juvenile literature 45-9211

A simple explanation of a number of Chinese characters showing just how to draw them and giving the reasons for each form.

"Unique is certainly the word for this book. Nothing like it has ever been published before, and all ages will find it fascinating."

+ Book Week p5 N 11 '45 230w

Booklist 42:97 N 15 '45

+ Kirkus 13:397 S 1 '45 110w

"This book will bring shouts of joy from the children when they see it. . . A very exciting lesson in writing Chinese that is as effective for grownups as it is for boys and girls." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:49 N 10 '45 230w

Weekly Book Review p8 N 11 '45 270w

WIGHT, EDWARD ALLEN. Evaluation and revision of the library school curriculum. 64p pa $1.10 Peabody press, George Peabody college for teachers, Nashville 4, Tenn.

020.71 Library schools and training 45-7416

"A report of the revision in the curriculum of the Library School at George Peabody College for Teachers. The purpose of this report is stated as 'primarily a record that summarizes the changes that have taken place in the Library School curriculum, with some of the supporting data, and some opinions of the writer with respect to the nature and direction of other desirable changes.'" Library J

"Within the narrow limits described in the preface, the book is a useful addition to the literature on education for librarianship. One can only regret that the author did not have time for a detailed analysis and comprehensive interpretation of the data." L. F. Stieg

Library J 70:817 S 15 '45 250w

Reviewed by H. E. Howe

Library Q 15:246 Jl '45 1000w

WILBUR, EARL MORSE. History of Unitarianism; Socinianism and its antecedents. 617p $6 Harvard univ. press

288.09 Unitarianism. Socinianism A45-3134

"Unitarianism, in American minds, is associated with New England—William Ellery Channing, Theodore Parker and—more broadly —Emerson. It is thought of commonly as a nineteenth-century manifestation. But the roots of it go a long way back into Christian church history and into the religion from which Christianity sprang. This stout volume deals not at all with modern Unitarianism, but with the movements which lie behind it." N Y Times

"The author has devoted a lifetime to the gathering of the materials that have gone into the preparation of this learned volume, requiring a working knowledge of thirteen languages. Its publication is a distinguished achievement, and Harvard University Press has made it into a handsome volume." W. W. Sweet

+ Ann Am Acad 242:184 N '45 400w

"Dr. Wilbur has found it necessary to use works in 13 languages for this first volume of his history. The story told is full of intense drama and human interest, and the treatment is in the highest degree thorough and thoughtful. Clearly this 'History of Unitarianism' (carried only through the 17th century in this volume) constitutes a major contribution to social and religious history." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Je 24 '45 120w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison

Christian Century 62:1096 S 26 '45 1100w

"Mr. Wilbur's painstaking scholarly and temperate inquiry follows in alarming detail, and fortifies with bristling footnotes, in Latin, French, German, Italian—and even in Polish— the fortunes, migrations and polemics and martyrdoms of the anti-Trinitarians, in Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Poland, Transylvania and, their last refuge, Holland. Gathering as he does so much that went on below the dynastic level . . . he provides much instructive and interesting, if laborious, reading." H. I. Brock

+ — N Y Times p24 Ag 5 '45 500w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:17 D '45 320w

WILBUR, MRS MARGUERITE KNOWLTON (EYER). The East India company and the British empire in the Far East. 590p il maps $7.50 Smith, Richard R.

954 East India company (England). India—History 45-11379

"The East India Company, which had received its royal charter from Queen Elizabeth on the last day of the year 1600, then turned its attention to India. For more than two centuries, that most noted of all joint-stock companies waged a progressively successful struggle for the control of India and its vast wealth. Margaret Wilbur has gone to the manuscript sources—lodged in the British Museum and the Foreign Office in London—and has written a careful, accurate account of the life of this company." (Christian Science Monitor) Bibliography.

"Miss Wilbur has worked carefully, has roamed widely over a vast subject, and has achieved a satisfactory organization of her material. She has written a competent book about an often-neglected phase of history. That the book is often dull, and that it lacks the drama and the color which the subject certainly possesses, is to be regretted. Yet that should not be allowed to obscure a real contribution to historical literature." R. A. Brown

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ja 11 '46 480w

"Mrs. Wilbur has reexamined this astounding story as a scholar but presents her findings with an eye to the general reader. Her earlier chapters are the best. In writing of the company's later years, when the skeins of history become extremely tangled, she tends to follow the line of the conventional apologists for imperialism." K. H.

+ — Nation 162:83 Ja 19 '46 200w

WILCOX, EARLEY VERNON. Modern farmers' cyclopedia of agriculture; a compendium of farm science and practice. 497p il $4.50 Judd

630.2 Agriculture—Handbooks, manuals, etc.
Agr44-69

Practical information for the farmer desiring ready reference on such topics as field crops, gardening, fruits and nuts, dairy and beef cattle, poultry, drainage, etc. Indexed.

Booklist 41:265 My 15 '45

"One of the most complete general reference compilations. . . The volume presents a well-indexed collection of basic information on practically every phase of agriculture and apparently was prepared for those who do not wish to delve too deeply into the science of any particular aspect of this broad and intricate subject. It is definitely not the information sought by farmer specialists in any single vein of agriculture, as the treatment of most subjects is rather general and undetailed." E. W. K.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 My 16 '44 180w

WILCOX, RUTH TURNER. The mode in hats and headdress. 332p il $5 Scribner

391 Hats. Headgear. Hair dressing
45-7941

"The history and folklore of the things that people have put on their heads from the time of the Egyptians of the protodynastic period to the time of the Americans of the Rooseveltian period. Mrs. Wilcox, who is also the author of 'The Mode in Costume' [Book Review Digest, 1943] provides both the text and the hundreds of line drawings that illustrate the shifting trends of style." (New Yorker) Bibliography. No index.

Booklist 42:5 S '45

"This will appeal to people interested in the history of costume rather than to designers. It should be invaluable to theatrical producers, costumers, etc. and to writers who need to check on vogues of the past. To the average reader, the interest lies largely in the interrelation of history and fashion."

+ Kirkus 13:150 Ap 1 '45 170w

"It's the drawings that make the book. Artists, designers, researchers, and period-piece novelists ought to find them extremely useful, and those less professionally interested may get some satisfaction out of this visual proof that hats and headdresses, especially women's, are no crazier now than they used to be."

+ New Yorker 21:66 Jl 7 '45 130w

Theatre Arts 30:63 Ja '46 80w

"Libraries or students of costumes who know Mrs. Wilcox's previous volume, 'The Mode in Costume,' need only to be told that its complement is ready. Beginners in this subject, however, should be told that this new book, a unit in itself, has a predecessor whose usefulness has been proved by designers, illustrators of historical novels, pageant producers and students of many kinds, and that this one will be as eagerly consulted."

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 1 '45 310w

Wis Lib Bul 41:98 O '45

WILCOX, WENDELL. Everything is quite all right. 184p $2.50 Ackerman

45-9220

Simple love story of a country girl who came to the city to stay with an aunt, took a place as servant girl, and was ill-treated by her mistress. The woman's husband fell mildly in love with Elsie, and when she found she was to have a baby Elsie went back to the farm, and married the first man who proposed.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy

Book Week p10 S 23 '45 450w

New Repub 113:724 N 26 '45 120w

"Like the title of his first novel, Mr. Wilcox's writing, admired by Gertrude Stein, is often New Yorkerish: little gestures are reported so faithfully that they often become the movements of entire lives; little sounds, in daylight and night, fall like clashes, consonant and dissonant. But too often the pleasant effect of this devoted attention to the commonplace is marred. A statement of simple truth becomes a statement of the obvious. Characters are forgotten while sharply vulgar incidents are retained." William Kehoe

+ — N Y Times p33 O 7 '45 310w

"Mr. Wilcox, whose work has stirred Gertrude Stein to a rumble or two of praise, is not an unperceptive writer and his portrait of a young girl, listlessly troubled by the contradictions of her impulses and actions, is done with considerable skill and with occasional crabbed touches of humor. A fairly successful try, marred chiefly by the author's habit of patronizing his characters and his determination to have the last word himself."

+ — New Yorker 21:98 O 6 '45 120w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p22 O 14 '45 180w

WILEY, SAMUEL WIRT. History of the Y.M.C.A.-church relations in the United States. 227p $2 Assn. press

267.31 Young men's Christian associations
45-981

"In this study, an attempt has been made to get back of the declared policies of the Y.M.C.A.'s, in relation to the churches, to the actual service of the Associations to the churches and of the churches to the Associations—to the actual service of the Associations rendered on behalf of the churches and to the actual collaboration of the churches and Associations on co-operative projects. An attempt was made to examine the changes that have taken place in the policies, point of view, activities, and practices of both churches and Associations, and to discover the effect of such changes upon the relations of the two. Points of tension and dissatisfaction were identified. The nature and origin of these tensions and strains were studied. On the other hand, the conditions in which appreciation and co-operation have been most enthusiastic and effective were sought. The difference in relations with different denominations and with their local churches was examined." (Introd) Bibliography. Index.

Christian Century 62:210 F 14 '45 30w

Reviewed by W. F. Thompson

Churchman 159:18 Je 15 '45 180w

WILHELM, GALE. Never let me go. 215p $2.50 Morrow

45-9837

Psychological novel in which a beautiful, wealthy young woman goes into a business office in the vain hope of escaping the clutches of an abnormally jealous mother. When she finally gets up her courage to marry, the mother tries to wreck the marriage. What the mother does not manage, a possessive sister-in-law almost accomplishes.

WILHELM, GALE—Continued

"And though its subject is oft-used clay . . . Miss Wilhelm is original and deft and talented enough to shape it in a fascinating mold of her own and fill it with fresh, compelling narrative and three-dimensional characters. That she is primarily interested in psychology—and, more specifically abnormal psychology—is evident throughout." Edith Roberts

+ Book Week p5 Mr 11 '45 270w

Kirkus 13:5 Ja 1 '45 110w

"In her early novels—for instance, in 'We Too Are Drifting'—Gale Wilhelm tended to overwrite and to underpunctuate, but the thrust of her emotion still came through. Now in her sixth novel she moves with calculated ease, and her style is almost perfect for the story she has to tell. The trouble is that the story, measured by any standards except those of women's magazine fiction, just isn't worth telling." Nancy Flagg

— N Y Times p24 Mr 11 '45 230w

"Miss Wilhelm has always inspired the suspicion that she will someday do a really first-rate piece of work, but 'Never Let Me Go' is not it."

New Yorker 21:93 Mr 17 '45 120w

"Though this novel will not rank as one of Gale Wilhelm's best works, it is an extremely readable story which should find many readers, though some may regretfully feel that the author just brushed over the surface of a fascinating study." Elaine Werby

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 18 '45 320w

"If 'Never Let Me Go' as it stands is what Miss Wilhelm was trying to do, that is her business. But looking over her past performances, one is inclined to doubt it. 'We Too Are Drifting' and 'Twilight in Valhalla,' for instance, though narrowly eclectic in their subject matter and precious, often tortured in style, were intensely poetic and sincere. . . In 'Never Let Me Go' this diligently nurtured emotional sincerity has degenerated into the emotional cliché—a matter, I suspect, of unhappy accident rather than of shoddy intent. The final effect of shallowness arises, perhaps, out of certain mistakes Miss Wilhelm has made in working out her scheme for 'Never Let Me Go.'" F. H. Bullock

— Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 11 '45 650w

WILKINSON, ALBERT EDMUND. Encyclopedia of fruits, berries, and nuts and how to grow them; il. by Tabea Hofmann. (New home lib) 271p 69c Blakiston

634 Fruit culture. Berries. Nuts Agr45-140

"This book has been planned especially for the home gardener. It is a practical guide for the successful growing of fruits, berries, and nuts on your own grounds. All varieties which can be grown in the United States are included, thus making the book suitable for all parts of the country. Part I is the 'Encyclopedia of Fruits, Berries, and Nuts,' in which all the familiar and also the less well-known fruits, berries, and nuts are taken up in alphabetical order. . . Part II is the 'Gardener's Guide.' This division of the book brings together all the important general instructions and suggestions which apply to home fruit gardens as a whole." Pref

Booklist 41:271 My 15 '45

Bookmark 6:8 My '45

Springf'd Republican p6 My 18 '45 420w

"Although a considerable percentage of the fruit and nut-bearing plants listed in this authoritative book can have no more than academic interest to the average home gardener, such a person's practical needs are well served by the hundred or so pages devoted to the selection and culture of such kinds as he will find worth growing."

+ Weekly Book Review p18 S 9 '45 130w

Wis Lib Bul 41:110 N '45

WILKINSON, BONARO (MRS HARRY ALLEN OVERSTREET). Freedom's people; how we qualify for a democratic society. 115p $2 Harper

321.8 Democracy 45-7426

"This book is about the daily habits and behaviors of those people who can feel at home in a free society, and of those who cannot—those who, in spite of all their democratic professions, remain unintentional emotional misfits in a democracy. . . What I have tried to do in this book is to measure our run-of-the-mill behaviors in terms of their effect upon a free society." Pref

Reviewed by William Shelton

Book Week p4 S 9 '45 90w

Booklist 42:32 O 1 '45

Bookmark 6:4 N '45

"This book has warning, direction and lift for our travailing democracy."

Christian Century 62:1012 S 5 '45 70w

"In 115 pages, the author can do little more than state her thesis with limited documentation. She touches only slightly, or not at all, on democracy on the motor highways, democracy on a presidential election, or democracy subjected to high pressure advertising. But her little book, with its simple comments, reminds one of the small boy with his simple comment in 'The Emperor's New Clothes.'" H. J. S.

Christian Science Monitor p12 S 1 '45 750w

"A discussion which demands the best of its listener—in accessible form. The sort of book which is of constructive value for parents and teachers, and which has reached some through the pages of National Parent-Teacher."

+ Kirkus 13:255 Je 1 '45 150w

"However much we may admire the intent of the book, and with every word in it one can only be in hearty agreement, it is unfortunate that its tone has a little of that irritating quality found too often in secular sermons, the discovery of the obvious and the everlasting anecdote of the woman met in Texas or the young man in Central Park. . . The technique is too studied, the aphorisms are too neat, and the anecdotes too pat. The subject with which this book deals is important and pressing. It needs to be handled in many manners. The inspirational address to parent-teachers is only one." W. S. Lynch

— + Sat R of Lit 28:28 Ag 25 '45 700w

WILKINSON, L. P. Horace and his lyric poetry. 186p $2.75 Macmillan [8s 6d Cambridge]

874.5 Horace (Quintus Horatius Flaccus) 45-9796

"This book is written primarily for classical students who are not Horatian specialists, but it is also intended 'to be within the scope of anyone who can read Latin or could once read it.' It claims no conspicuous originality or novelty. But it does claim, and justly, to make more widely available the greater understanding of Horace which has come from research; and, for personal contribution, it seeks to readjust the emphasis in regard to Horace—the reader's mind is directed away from his political and moral significance towards a truer appraisal of his character and of his importance as a serious poetic artist." (Manchester Guardian) Index of proper names.

"For the reasonably literate reader Prof. Wilkinson has made a conscientious and successful attempt to interpret Horace and his lyric poetry." L. K.

+ Book Week p25 N 18 '45 180w

Christian Science Monitor p13 Ja 5 '46 500w

"There is material here to interest both the student and the amateur. Add the writer's scholarship, his deep sympathy with the poet, the insight and justness of his criticism, and the immanence of Horace in every page—and it will be strange if this study does not give to many readers the pleasure it has given to the reviewer." W. H. S.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 O 10 '45 380w

Reviewed by Elmer Davis
Sat R of Lit 29:8 Ja 19 '46 2500w

"The book may be warmly commended not only to professional scholars but to all who, to quote the publishers, can read Latin or could once read it and to all students of poetry with a turn for analytic appreciation."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p453 S 22 '45 800w

"Long and devoted meditation upon the Odes have gone to the making of this attractive and gracious commentary upon them."
+ Weekly Book Review p22 N 4 '45 400w

WILLIAMS, BEN AMES. It's a free country. 130p $1.75 Houghton
45-6220

The scene is a mid-western farm community. Eddie, a good-natured, not too bright farm boy, and Lena, a very intelligent high school girl are caught by their passions, and marry so that their baby will be born in wedlock. Eddie is nice, but no go-getter, and his favorite remark to cover all contingencies is, "It's a free country." But the farm wears out, their money goes, the depression adds its troubles to Lena's almost yearly pregnancies. When it becomes evident that the brightest child in Eddie and Lena's flock is following in her mother's footsteps, Lena takes matters into her own hands.

"There have been many novels on the bleakness of farm life in the United States. Elizabeth Maddox Roberts in 'The Time of Man' wrote enduringly on a kindred theme, but Williams' skeleton is not covered with similar flesh and blood. The staccato, oversimplified language . . . is not adequate for the tragic burden it is compelled to bear." Jack Conroy
— Book Week p9 Jl 22 '45 360w
Kirkus 13:162 Ap 15 '45 250w

"It is a grim, brutal story, one which has been told before and should be told again. But if the present work is any indication, Mr. Williams is not the man to tell it. In his hands it becomes a dreary, shallow, often specious recital of well-known facts. His characters, who might have been vehicles for a moving book, are never fully realized and consequently leave hardly a mark on the reader. The political issues, too, come in for their share of the beating, generally in the form of a brush-off. Surely, in a novel as consciously social in purpose as this one, complicated problems such as our foreign policy, strikes in wartime, etc., rate more than the sentence or two with which the author disposes of them." Vivian Wolfert
— N Y Times p24 Jl 29 '45 400w

"Just medium Williams, which is faint enough praise."
New Yorker 21:59 Jl 21 '45 150w

Reviewed by Grace Frank
Sat R of Lit 28:16 Jl 28 '45 750w

"There's very little to recommend Ben Ames Williams's slim novel." Edrie Van Dore
Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 12 '45 250w

"By writing parts of it in a sort of shorthand prose, Mr. Williams gets a novel down in 130 pages. He gets a reader down in less than that, and if he had weeded out the profanity and the rancid political ranting, it might have helped. . . Mr. Williams writes with a great deal of indignation, but it is never quite clear whether he is angry at his characters, his country or biology." Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p23 Jl 29 '45 220w

WILLIAMS, BERYL (MRS SAMUEL EPSTEIN). Fashion is our business. 204p il $2 Lippincott

646.01 Fashion. Costume design 45-2917

"Considering that a thousand women attended the fashion show that launched this book, while 8,000 tried to, and countless others heard the account of it over the air, it might seem absurd to review it among the juveniles. Yet it is rightly offered on this list, for though any one who 'thinks clothes are pretty exciting' will read it without stopping, those who get most from it will be girls at the age that reads career books. . . It presents the personality, record and climb to success of twelve celebrated American designers of whom two are men: these appear also in photographs of themselves and of typical examples of their art." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p13 Je 3 '45 140w
Booklist 42:8 S '45
Kirkus 13:137 Mr 15 '45 90w

"One of the best of the career books. Unusually interesting biographies of twelve leading fashion designers. . . Book makes fascinating reading about these famous people, but it also contains many useful little details about clothing that every girl will find worth knowing." F. W. Butler
+ Library J 70:416 My 1 '45 70w

"The accent is upon simplicity and suitability to the occasion and to the individual. The inculcation of these standards of dress are well worth risking any possible increase in feminine vanity which might result from reading this entertaining book." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p29 Mr 11 '45 150w

"One reads these twelve short biographies of outstanding designers of clothes for women with a sense of refreshment. There have been so many fictionized 'career' stories that lack reality and humor. These have both, because these are true stories reported by a writer with an eye for the points that are important to girls who need to make their own living and want to do it through creative art." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:31 Ap 21 '45 300w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 25 '45 400w
Wis Lib Bul 41:51 My '45

WILLIAMS, ERIC. Capitalism and slavery. 285p $3 Univ. of N.C. press

330.942 Great Britain—Industries and resources. Slavery 44-47876

"Slavery and the slave trade contributed immensely to the rise of British commerce, industry and capitalism. Why, then, did Britain outlaw the slave trade in 1807 and slavery itself in 1833? The answer, Professor Williams submits in this learned and illuminating monograph, is purely economic. . . The major part of Mr. Williams's study is devoted to analysis of the relations between the West Indian sugar economy and the growth of British commerce and industry." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by Elizabeth Donnan
Am Hist R 50:782 Jl '45 500w

Reviewed by Wilson Gee
Am Soc R 10:566 Ag '45 550w

"Well written, soundly thought through and richly documented, 'Capitalism and Slavery' is noteworthy not only as a contribution to history but in meaning for today. As Williams points out, there are significant parallels between the period with which he deals and our own." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 F 11 '45 360w
Booklist 41:282 Je 1 '45

"Because we believe that Mr. Williams is better than his philosophy, we can understand his inconsistency of condemning some Churchmen for practicing his own economic determinism, but it is not so easy to justify his scholarship, when he calls these exceptions the Church. The economic factors in a problem of human relations are not inevitable. If they were, they would be present always in similar relationships. Economic factors are static, they become dynamic in the atmosphere of moral convictions. If slavery is only a matter of bank balance, then what is wrong with it?" John Monaghan
Commonweal 41:452 F 16 '45 500w

"A scholarly but incisively written study. . . Professor Williams, I think, pushes his economic determinism too far at times. True, the Abolitionists could make little headway as long as the economic climate was adverse. But their efforts certainly hastened the end and most of the active 'saints' were truly disinterested even if rationalized self-interest was the motive of some of their financial backers. However, we can agree about Wilberforce, one of the most disagreeable 'do-gooders' in history, whom Professor Williams finds 'small' and 'smug' and, as a leader, 'addicted to moderation, compromise, and delay.'" Keith Hutchison

WILLIAMS, ERIC—Continued
+ — Nation 160:226 F 24 '45 500w

Times [London] Lit Sup p250 My 26 '45 750w

"Mr. Williams' monograph is one of the most learned, most penetrating and most significant that has appeared in this field of history. It would be cause for gratification if he would turn his attention [to] the economics of American abolitionism." H. S. Commager
+ Weekly Book Review p5 F 4 '45 1100w

WILLIAMS, GURNEY, ed. See Collier's, the national weekly. Stop or I'll scream!

WILLIAMS, HENRY LIONEL. Fundamentals of radio and how they are applied. (New home lib) 204p 69c Blakiston

621.384 Radio 45-8502

"Simple explanation of radio theory and practice covering radio waves, vacuum and gas tubes, rectifiers, oscillators, modulators, amplifiers, antennas, transmitting and receiving circuits." Library J

Library J 70:892 O 1 '45 30w

"Excellent explanation for the layman." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 70:1137 D 1 '45 70w

Springf'd Republican p6 S 4 '45 130w

WILLIAMS, JAMES ROBERT. Born thirty years too soon. [126p] $1.25 Scribner

741.5 Humor, Pictorial. Caricatures and cartoons 45-7944

"A volume of the comic cartoons such as are regularly published under that same title in many newspapers of the country. This compilation of humorous sketches will be especially appreciated by persons who were children in the eighties, the nineties or the early years of the present century. . . Mr Williams vividly but gently burlesques the era of long skirts and long hair and high pompadours, of the knee pants that preceded knickers, of baggy, wrinkled stockings and high buttoned shoes." Springf'd Republican

"One of the rare qualities this series of 'funnies' can boast is that the cartoons are really funny. At the same time, their humor is mellowed by the nostalgic memories they awaken of 'the good old days' before the first World war." E. A. F.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d S 2 '45 240w

"Newspaper cartoons appearing under this title bear up better in book form than most collections of comics. . . Each of the hundred or more pictures is just enough more than the truth to show how true it is, and to bring out, along with laughter, some surge of memory."
+ Weekly Book Review p14 S 30 '45 180w

WILLIAMS, JAMES ROBERT. Why mothers get gray. [124p] $1.25 Scribner

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 45-2871

"One of the most popular of the family-life cartoon series is here made available in book form." Wis Lib Bul

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 My '45

"Devotees of Mr. Williams' sly art will need no further endorsement. Others will find that the parents and progeny represented here, like all true universals, are as funny as life itself and much easier to contemplate." James MacBride
+ N Y Times p24 Mr 25 '45 120w

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 10 '45 140w

Wis Lib Bul 41:52 My '45

WILLIAMS, JOHN PAUL. New education and religion; a challenge to secularism in education. 198p $2.50 Assn. press

268 Religious education. Church and education 45-4084

"Author, associate professor of religion at Mount Holyoke College, stresses great need for religion in American education. Examines historical and psychological data necessary for understanding of the problem, reveals how inadequate the present system of leaving it to home and Sunday school is, and suggests following solution: 1. strengthen present Sunday school and teach there sectarian religion; 2. maintain existing parochial schools; 3. encourage greater home responsibilities; and, 4. teach in the public schools the facts of religions and democracy as a religion." (Library J) No index.

Reviewed by Evelyn Luchs
Christian Century 62:551 My 2 '45 750w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell
Churchman 159:15 O 1 '45 2500w

"Intelligent and provocative discussion which should greatly interest educators and religious leaders. Religious Book Club selection for March. Recommended." G. W. Wakefield
+ Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 120w

School & Society 61:92 Mr 24 '45 10w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:28 D '45 240w

WILLIAMS, OSCAR. That's all that matters. 95p $2 Creative age

811 45-4935

New volume of poetry by the author of The Man Coming Toward You (Book Review Digest, 1940). "In his new volume, he evokes some sharp pictures of a nightmare world wherein reality and his own peculiar wild vision often fuse with surprising results." (New Yorker)

"Mr. Williams' new book contains five or six of his very best and most brilliant things, together with a fascinating exhibit of his very worst. And his worst, one mustn't hesitate to say, are really so appallingly bad and amateurish, and in such atrocious taste, that one is simply staggered by the thought that one poet is capable of the two extremes." Conrad Aiken
+ — New Repub 112:514 Ap 16 '45 240w

"Oscar Williams is a poet in furious combat with his times. He attempts to shout down the din of today's industrialized society, to compete with the billboards and the neon signs, to make himself heard above the juke boxes and the traffic. Where many another poet finds it wiser to write for the meditative periphery of modern man's life, Williams wades into the middle of the battle. . . Williams is well armed with words and has courage. But when a poet disputes a passage with a subway the odds are not on the poet." Coleman Rosenberger

N Y Times p8 Jl 15 '45 200w

New Yorker 21:72 Je 23 '45 40w

"In Oscar Williams' collection of his own poems, That's All That Matters, we see the skilled, grown-up work of a man who has proved his concern for modern poetry and who has become a figure in that landscape. There is nothing sporadic or fluctuating in the book, the poems are all eminently pat, sure. The critical problem becomes, not one of moving a touchstone along the pages and recording its reaction for the benefit of the talented amateur, but one of judging the whole collection, a finished work." Mona Van Duyn
+ Poetry 67:155 D '45 600w

Reviewed by Dudley Fitts
Sat R of Lit 28:31 D 15 '45 110w
Times [London] Lit Sup p453 S 22 '45 300w
Reviewed by J. M. Brinnin
Weekly Book Review p18 O 14 '45 500w
Reviewed by Louis Untermeyer
Yale R n s 35:337 winter '46 140w

WILLIAMS, OSCAR, ed. War poets; with an introduction by [the editor]. 485p il $5 Day

821.08 American poetry—Collections. English poetry—Collections. War poetry 45-5557

"An anthology of the war poetry of the twentieth century." (Subtitle) Contents are grouped under the following headings: The poetry of World war I; Poems by the men in the armed forces of England and America; War poems by the civilian poets.

"A considerable number of the poems in this anthology have only a slight connection with war—a fact which makes the anthology more varied, but which somewhat blurs its significance. . . But as a whole the volume is well planned and valuable, though a selection made at the present time obviously cannot be final. There are doubtless many war poems now being conceived and written which a later anthologist of war poetry will want to use; we may hope that Mr. Williams himself may employ his critical taste to collect them." Theodore Spencer
+ Atlantic 176:135 S '45 480w
Booklist 42:10 S '45
Reviewed by Earle Birney
Canadian Forum 25:144 S '45 750w

"One of the most reassuring collections as far as the endurance of poetry is concerned, is this volume which Oscar Williams has got together. . . Valuable comments by the poets precede the poetry selections." Pearl Strachan
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ag 18 '45 450w
Reviewed by F. W. Dupee
Nation 161:138 Ag 11 '45 180w

"Its real fault is not misrepresenting poets' opinions, but the attempt to limit the portion of human life with which they are permitted to deal. They musn't be jubilant in victory or sorrowful in defeat; they mustn't sing of political matters; they mustn't—oh, naughty children—express love for their own country or hatred or compassion for others; in wartime they must have no emotions except pity and rebellion. One effect of such restrictions would be to make poetry a very minor branch of literature. Another effect would be to separate poets more effectively than ever from the public, which feels other emotions in war and peace and would like to have them expressed. Mr. Williams complains in his introduction that good poetry isn't being read; but what he achieves with his anthology, which contains many good poems, is to make them seem unreadable." Malcolm Cowley
New Repub 113:258 Ag 27 '45 2150w

"The result seems overlong. Certain excellent poems appear to be surrounded by rather large areas of dull observation and fancy double talk. On the other hand, such a comprehensive selection gives the reader a general sense of the poetic climate, and every serious reader can try to make out for himself in what direction postwar poetic tides may flow."
New Yorker 21:70 Jl 28 '45 160w

"On all but a few counts Mr. Williams's labors have been highly successful. He has gathered together a surprising amount of excellent and impressive poetry and he has given the poets a chance to say in prose, as a sort of collective foreword, what they think of the relationship between war and poetry. . . The most serious defect in the collection, and it does not cancel the book's many excellencies, is the result of the editor's method of choice." Raymond Holden
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:20 N 10 '45 850w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:13 S '45 240w
Reviewed by Louis Untermeyer
Yale R n s 35:337 winter '46 200w

WILLIAMS, PAUL R. Small home of tomorrow. 95p il pa $2 Murray & Gee

728 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 45-6335

"This book of house plans comes from California and shows the influence of that locality and climate. Will be of interest however to any one who follows new trends in architecture, and may suggest ideas which are adaptable elsewhere." Wis Lib Bul

+ Churchman 159:16 S 15 '45 60w
Wis Lib Bul 41:82 Jl '45

WILLIAMS, ROGER JOHN. What to do about vitamins. 56p $1 Univ. of Okla. press

612.39 Vitamins 45-5200

"An explanation of the part played by vitamins in our daily diet, with graphs and tables indicating the vitamin content of various foods. The material, based on studies carried out at the University of Texas, is intended to assist the layman in the proper choice of foods." N Y New Tech Bks

"It's written with pleasant informality in everybody's language, but with no lack of scientific authority. It meets a real need, and meets it well." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 Je 17 '45 90w
Booklist 42:8 S '45
Reviewed by H. S. Mitchell
J Home Econ 37:655 D '45 300w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:31 Ap '45

WILLIAMS, TENNESSEE. The glass menagerie; a play. 124p il $2 Random house

812 45-7913

A play which tells the story of a mother who is anxious for her daughter to be married and the daughter's experiences with a man whom her brother brought home at the mother's request.

Reviewed by H. T. Murdock
Book Week p7 S 9 '45 310w
Booklist 42:11 S '45
Christian Science Monitor p16 S 29 '45 30w
Cleveland Open Shelf p21 N '45

"The tiny cast makes the most out of every line of a play that combines tragedy with flashes of humor and poignant characterization."
+ Kirkus 13:213 My 15 '45 40w

"Highly recommended."
+ Library J 70:821 S 15 '45 50w

"Mr. Williams has succeeded in projecting his people above and beyond their airless world: all of them are universals in the best sense of the term, yet all are compellingly real as persons, too." James MacBride
+ N Y Times p8 S 2 '45 360w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:6 D '45 160w

"The most interesting thing about the printed version of 'The Glass Menagerie' is the author's wistful regret that the producers didn't incorporate his device to gain emphasis by throwing pictures and legends on a screen, and his indications in the text where that should be done. Even in reading the play these magic lantern effects are totally unnecessary and after the first two or three you pay no attention to them." W. P. Eaton
Weekly Book Review p22 S 16 '45 100w

WILLIAMS, WILLIAM CARLOS. The wedge. ltd ed 110p $3.50 Cummington press

811 45-236

"William Carlos Williams' first full-size book of verse since his 'Complete Collected Poems, 1906-1938' sharply defines a figure whose position in American writing is one of the most curious of the time. This New Jersey pediatrician and part-time writer is that nearly unique phenomenon—an American man of letters whose fiction and poetry can confront each other without embarrassment. His work is the product of an original sensibility, equally at home with prose narrative or verse." N Y Times

WILLIAMS, W. C.—Continued

"Here the shorter poems are the best, several of them being, for Williams, unusually moody. . . It is largely the war which has brought on this melancholy, and the melancholy comes off better in the short poems. . . Why Williams, always sensitive and a craftsman, does not succeed better in his more ambitious pieces is not entirely clear. Perhaps the temperament and method are both too acutely limited. The philosophy by which he tries to reconcile nature and industrial civilization, the flower and the factory, and so to domesticate poetry in the present world, is not as deep as it is wide: it is the hearty and uncomplicated naturalism of the camera. And it reflects itself in a rather hard-and-fast technique." F. W. Dupee
+ — Nation 160:421 Ap 14 '45 650w

Reviewed by F. O. Matthiessen
New Repub 112:232 F 12 '45 400w

"His capacity for discrimination lags behind his gift for keeping his eyes rooted on the object. When he stares at an 'idea,' we can only wish he might have managed not to: an out-of-focus effect usually sets in. His unsynchronized leaps into the arenas of formal ideas have always caused his admirers embarrassed dismay. . . The poetry is another matter. In such poems as 'Burning the Christmas Greens,' 'Eternity,' 'A Vision of Labor,' 'The Semblables' and 'The Hounded Lovers,' he produces some of the magically intense effects we have come to expect of him." Weldon Kees
+ — N Y Times p5 F 11 '45 600w

"I find no qualitative change in Dr. Williams' latest volume of verse. His position as a latter-day Imagist of a rather astringent nature has been assured for nearly three decades. He continues to charge commonplace things with a high poetic voltage (a virtue he needlessly champions), and his poetry continues to pose an exciting conflict between the sentimental and what Wallace Stevens terms the 'anti-poetic' (a phrase which Dr. Williams violently and anti-poetically rejects). Dr. Williams is still at his best, it seems to me, when he fuses the sensitivity and perception of his sentimental self with the force and skepticism of his anti-poetic self. Perhaps I should add that I find little more than a thread of rationalization connecting the poet's critical theories (as repeated in his preface) and his poetic practice." M. W. Stearns
+ — Poetry 66:35 Ap '45 1450w

" 'The Wedge' is probably the best of Dr. Williams's single books of poetry, and the kind of poetry that it contains exists independently of what is read in fashion or out of fashion, but it has the currently unfashionable character of being without rhymes. It is formal, unrhymed verse; and at its best it is written with more firmness and more control than most of the poetry that makes an ostentatious claim to being 'conventional.' " Horace Gregory
+ Sat R of Lit 27:50 D 2 '44 260w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Drew
Weekly Book Review p23 Mr 11 '45 400w

WILLIAMSON, THAMES ROSS. Christine Roux. 277p $2.50 Current bks.
45-9930

"The story of an exceedingly pious young novice who is turned out of her convent, during the difficulties between the Church and the French State in 1905 that resulted in the closing of all Church establishments in France, and forced to adjust herself to secular life in Paris." New Yorker

Reviewed by Marion Strobel
Book Week p5 N 25 '45 310w

"Very likely Christine Roux was better suited to be Theo's wife than a missionary, but certainly the law of 1905 closing the convents did not increase the birth rate in France. Mr. Williamson's writing is better than his subject matter." E. V. R. Wyatt
— + Commonweal 43:291 D 28 '45 650w

"A delicate handling of the conflict of senses set against spirit, passion against prudery, convincing enough, though there's a strange elusive impression of its being outmoded. The jacket will make it somewhat inevitable that the book be classified as a religious novel. It is hardly that, though Christine's instinctive turning to the cloistered life as an escape is part of the psychological approach."
+ Kirkus 13:459 O 15 '45 240w

"A charming, unusual novel, written with such skill and warmth that you probably won't object to the occasionally heavy tread of coincidence."
+ New Yorker 21:106 N 24 '45 80w

"It is a simple story, easily told, yet the simplicity and ease in telling are really reflections of the author's skill and his understanding of Christine's perplexity. All religious experiences are tumultuous; all emotional attachments are complex. Mr. Williamson is to be admired for the manner in which he has exhibited in a clear, warm narrative the immensely tangled matter of a mystical training at war with the combined powers of spring and youth for possession of a girl's heart. There is a quality about the book reminiscent of Louis Hemon's 'Maria Chapdelaine.' Christine, like Maria, has a haunting quality that is more real than flesh." Thomas Sugrue
+ Weekly Book Review p4 N 25 '45 650w

WILLIS, GEORGE WILLIAM. Wild faun. 179p $2 Greenberg
45-3931

Tragic story of a pianist who prostitutes his very real talents to cadging on the fading, middle-aged, pseudo-sophisticated women who gather at the cocktail bar where he plays every afternoon.

" 'The Wild Faun' is a novel of moderate merit. It isn't entirely convincing, but it has some scenes of considerable power." S. I. Hayakawa
Book Week p8 My 20 '45 250w

"Two years ago the author of this slap-happy muddle was represented by 'Tangleweed,' [Book Review Digest, 1943] a reasonably honest attempt to explore the psyche of a trap-drummer; the present novel, we are told, is the second in a trilogy dealing with musicians and their problems. But Monte Barron's yammerings about music are no more convincing than Monte himself. Mr. Willis—deserting Euterpe for Priapus—has produced a cut-rate aphrodisiac." James MacBride
— N Y Times p17 Je 3 '45 180w
— Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 15 '45 270w

WILLISON, GEORGE FINDLAY. Saints and strangers. 513p $3.75 Reynal
974.4 Pilgrim fathers. Massachusetts—History—Colonial period 45-6745

History of the Pilgrim fathers and their friends and foes, beginning with the youth of William Brewster of Scrooby, England, in the last quarter of the sixteenth century, and ending with the absorption of the Plymouth colony into Massachusetts in 1691. Includes an alphabetical list of the members of the Pilgrim company, a bibliography, and detailed index.

"If it is hard to find anything startlingly new concerning the genesis, budding, and fruition of the Plymouth Colony in Saints and Strangers, it is equally hard to recall a single book, suitable for the general reader rather than for the student, which gives the famous old story in such sweeping detail." Bruce Lancaster
+ — Atlantic 176:149 O '45 360w

"[A] superb book. Willison is not a stylist, as is Samuel Eliot Morison . . . nor is he such a scholar as the late Edward Channing. But Willison bangs this into you: 'My sole unqualified recommendation is, read what the Pilgrims themselves said of their aims, attributes and accomplishments.' That seems to me the Priority Message of 1945, or any year: to get at a story from the roots, not from the guys who clip the leaves and sell them at third-hand." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p1 Ag 5 '45 1000w
Booklist 42:35 O 1 '45
Bookmark 6:11 N '45

"The style of the book is robust and often dryly humorous. The book is of practical use on account of its lists of all passengers coming to Plymouth on any of the Pilgrim ships, or singly, before 1631." W. K. R.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 6 '45 550w
Cleveland Open Shelf p23 N '45

Reviewed by R. J. Purcell
Commonweal 43:22 O 19 '45 900w
Current Hist 9:461 N '45 100w

"A tangled tale clarified for moderns—exceedingly interesting as illumination on those of our forefathers too often confused with the Puritans to the North of them—but slow reading because of liberal quotation from ancient records. An important work."
+ Kirkus 13:16 Ja 1 '45 250w

"With all this admirable work, done with such human tenderness and natural good humor, with all the virtues of the book as history, Mr. Willison has succeeded brilliantly in every detail but one: he has not been able to make his Pilgrims attractive, either as saints or sinners." K. A. Porter
+ — Nation 161:376 O 13 '45 1800w

"The story has been skillfully pieced together and told with a measure of humor and insight. Indeed, I imagine that no one since Bradford has done the job so well, and it will probably be many a year before anyone feels tempted to write again the history of the Pilgrims. So, at least, we may hope." Richard Hofstadter
+ New Repub 113:805 D 10 '45 800w

"The book is a sheer joy to read, because the vast work that went into assembling the facts has been so completely digested. Much of the earlier digging in the old records has been done by men who could neither digest nor write, each adding one little piece more to the picture. Mr. Willison has put these pieces of the puzzle together, created the whole picture and filled it with convincing life. It was the Victorians who rescued the Pilgrims from obscurity and who named them, and now comes Mr. Willison to rescue them from the Victorians." Esther Forbes
+ N Y Times p1 Ag 5 '45 1800w

"This has been told before, but Mr. Willison, by ignoring all the nonsense that has been written about the Pilgrims and by showing that they were not quite the crowd of crape-draped killjoys they are supposed to have been, has told their story in a new, interesting, and highly readable way. He has managed to get some humor into it, too."
+ New Yorker 21:72 Ag 11 '45 120w

"As a contribution to a popular understanding of the Pilgrims of reality, this book deserves a welcome. It has had its predecessors; it will have its successors. If it is as widely read as it deserves to be, it will weaken the grip of the Pilgrim-Puritan myth for half a dozen years. A similar book on the Puritans would not be an unworthy enterprise for Mr. Willison to consider." Allan Nevins
+ Sat R of Lit 28:11 Ag 18 '45 1800w

"Packed with much unorthodox detail, Author Willison's book is one of the most readable histories of the Plymouth Colony's misfortunes."
+ Time 46:106 Ag 6 '45 700w

"A straightforward and readable account of the Pilgrims, thoroughly documented and quoting largely from original sources, it presents the Founding Fathers as the determined, vigorous, human men that they must have been."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:34 D '45 300w

"I cannot remember that in our time any one else has written a general history of Plymouth at once full and fair, with justice done alike to the rigor and the passion of the Pilgrims, to their honor and dishonor, to their pettiness and obstinacy and belligerence and to their unsurpassed achievements And the excellence of Mr. Willison's history is paralleled by the charm of his prose. He is excellent with Robinson, the great pastor who never reached Plymouth, with Elder Brewster, the Winslows, a dozen other Saints whose names have rung down the centuries. He is superb with Bradford, who is obviously his hero, and hardly less so with Myles Standish." Bernard De Voto
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ag 5 '45 1400w
Wis Lib Bul 41:100 O '45

WILLOUGHBY, BARRETT. See Willoughby, F. B.

WILLOUGHBY, FLORANCE (BARRETT) (MRS LARRY O'CONNOR). The golden totem. 314p $2.50 Little 45-2265

A romantic tale of love and adventure—and gold mining—in Alaska.

"Of its kind, amply active—and Barrett Willoughby's background adds a certain authenticity."
+ Kirkus 13:39 F 1 '45 120w

"There is a great deal of plot, some spirited action and a smattering of authentic atmosphere. There is something in the Willoughby books reminiscent of the old C. N. and A. M. Williamson days when scenery played the leading role and love-making was achieved between vivid landscapes." Isabelle Mallet
N Y Times p24 Mr 11 '45 180w

"As the story runs its course, we catch interesting glimpses of Alaska's great mining industry, the second most important in the territory. Northern enthusiasts will want to read this book, for while Lynn Clonard is a charming and believable girl, the real heroine of 'The Golden Totem' is Alaska herself." Evelyn Stefansson
+ Weekly Book Review p8 Mr 18 '45 500w

WILLOUGHBY, HAROLD RIDEOUT. Soldiers' Bibles through three centuries. 43p pa $1 Univ. of Chicago press
220.5 Bible. Whole—History. Bible. Whole—Selections A44-3608

"Professor Willoughby tells the story of the use of the Bible by soldiers of England and America from 1643, when Cromwell inaugurated the custom with the distribution of a sixteen-page pamphlet of biblical material. . . The story of the subsequent checkered career of this 'version,' which was reprinted and distributed as recently as World War I by the American Tract Society to the number of 126,000, will be read with interest. Then follows the story of American War Bibles, which begins with the account of the first American-made Bible, that of Robert Aitken, of Philadelphia. . . Other features of this interesting monograph are the story of the efforts of the American Bible Society to supply copies of the Bible to the soldiers on both sides during the Civil War, [and] a brief account of the attempt of the Confederacy to provide their own Bibles." Crozer Q

"As always, Professor Willoughby has done his bibliographical research with meticulous care."
Christian Century 61:1140 O 4 '44 420w

"Not only the general reader but bibliophiles will prize this important chapter in the history of the Bible." M. S. Enslin
+ Crozer Q 22:187 Ap '45 300w

WILLS, ROYAL BARRY. Houses for homemakers. 95p il $2.50; pa $1 Watts, F.
728.6 Architecture, Domestic—Designs and plans 45-8351

Sketches and floor plans for fifty houses with a probable price range of two to twelve thousand dollars. Includes ten pages of details and one hundred "hints for home builders."

Book Week p8 D 23 '45 90w
Booklist 42:53 O 15 '45

WILSON, CHARLES MORROW, ed. New crops for the New World. 295p il $3.50 Macmillan

630.97 Agriculture—America. Agriculture—Tropics. Plants—Migration. Botany, Economic Agr45-341

Chapters by authorities on the present and future of the American tropics. Partial contents: The undeveloped field of tropical fruits, by Wilson Popenoe; The fashioning of livestock breeds, by A. O. Rhoad; Palm oils and waxes, by M. L. Bomhard; Rubber returns to Latin America, by W. N. Bangham; Cinchona, the "fever tree," by Wilson Popenoe; Drug and medicinal crops, by E. C. Higbee; Biological control of insect pests, by C. P. Clausen; Silks from South America, by G. E. Adames; Flowers for the New World, by B. Y. Morrison; Launching new crops for the Americas, by V. C. Dunlap. Illustrated with photographs. Index.

Reviewed by A. G. Peterson
Ann Am Acad 242:189 N '45 500w

Booklist 42:8 S '45

Bookmark 6:7 N '45

"Mr. Wilson has produced a technical book in popular fashion. His photographs and illustrations, however, hardly do justice to the theme, and maps could have been added for greater service to the average reader." R. K. S.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 S 6 '45 420w

Current Hist 9:325 O '45 90w

Kirkus 13:152 Ap 1 '45 130w

"This is a handbook of data to which the reader will go for specific information. It is a far cry from lists of plants, however, for much history and local color are woven into the articles, making pleasant as well as informative reading. It is noteworthy that the book ends with brief excerpts from the writings of Donald Culross Peattie, whose books on nature have delighted such a wide group of readers."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 Jl '45 250w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:51 D '45 260w

Wis Lib Bul 41:99 O '45

WILSON, EARL. I am gazing into my 8-ball. 182p $2 Doubleday

817 45-2307

Collection of articles written by the author as night-club editor (in his own words Saloon Editor) of the New York Post.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Mr 4 '45 750w

"Not for the blue nose nor the primly proper, nor yet is it another Low Man—but, once the properties are discarded, an entertaining strip-tease of round-about-town names and activities, as reported by the columnist of the New York Post, who calls himself Saloon Editor. . . A frank tour of legs and busts—a blueprint of artificial aids to beauty—a certain hilarity of attitude. . . The market is fairly evident—and it's not public libraries."
Kirkus 12:559 D 15 '44 170w

"Mr. Wilson, for all his jubilation, and irreverence, is at his best when he is writing straight. His efforts at humor are weak and his maudlin curiosity about foundation garments becomes rather tiresome. Furthermore, in his gagged-up interviews one doesn't seem able to fathom where Mr. Wilson ends and his subjects begin. His profligate use of the perpendicular pronoun and his amazement over his own amazement becomes an affected naïveté that palls with the pages." Lewis Funke
— + N Y Times p22 Mr 25 '45 400w

"The book is supposed to be funny, and is, in a few spots, but it depends too much on false bosoms, G-strings, and the sort of references to the human anatomy that used to enliven the pages of Captain Billy's Whiz Bang."
New Yorker 21:83 Mr 3 '45 130w

"Among newspapermen, on and off the so-called Broadway beat, Earl Wilson enjoys a double affection because he's a reporter who is expert at his craft, and entertaining always because he's different. That about answers his compendium of screwballiana, as assembled in 'I Am Gazing Into My 8-Ball,' so far as the reader will be concerned." Abel Green
Sat R of Lit 28:15 Mr 10 '45 1100w

Reviewed by Bennett Cerf
Weekly Book Review p12 Mr 4 '45 270w

WILSON, EARL J., and others. Betio beachhead. 160p il maps $2.50 Putnam

940.542 Tarawa, Battle of, 1943 45-3485

Detailed account of the bloody battle on Tarawa, composed of prose by four marines, three of them combat correspondents, and over seventy official photographs.

Book Week p5 My 13 '45 180w

Booklist 41:320 Jl 1 '45

Reviewed by Hy Hurwitz
Boston Globe p17 My 9 '45 120w

Christian Science Monitor p16 O 13 '45 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45

"'Betio Beachhead' inevitably will be compared with Robert Sherrod's 'Tarawa,' which was published more than a year ago [Book Review Digest, 1944]. The authors of the official Marine book had the advantage of all the battle reports, while Sherrod admittedly wrote only from his own observations, but in some ways the two approaches to the story come off to Sherrod's advantage. His book was a warmly personal account which took the reader ashore on that bleeding atoll and let him see its horror first hand. Too often the reports the Marine correspondents found in the files summed up a tragic landing experience in blunt syllables like 'heavy opposition' or bleak phrases. . . What the book lacks in portraying human reactions to the horror of such an invasion as Tarawa, however, it makes up as a blueprint of assault, a painstaking and helpful study of the newly devised American techniques of island capture in the Pacific." Barrett McGurn
+ — N Y Times p3 My 6 '45 1400w

"Seventy-two photographs, unfortunately without captions, fill out what is one of the most comprehensive documents on any of this war's battles."
New Yorker 21:84 Ap 28 '45 60w

"The text is made almost unnecessary at times by the photographs that accompany it. Seventy-two of the 160 pages of this book are given over to photographs of the battle, some printed for the first time. Not a few of them are unforgettable—such as those of the Japanese who committed suicide by shooting off their own heads, or of American marines fighting grimly while their comrades lay dead near by, or, most poignant of all, that of a broken-open knapsack lying at the water's edge, spilling forth snapshots of a family that never will be seen again. These pictures alone make 'Betio Beachhead' a good book to keep." Herbert Kupferberg
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ap 29 '45 450w

WILSON, EUGENE EDWARD. Air power for peace. 184p $2 McGraw

358.4 Aeronautics, Military. Aeronautics, Commercial 45-3574

This summary of the history of American aviation during the period between two wars is written to show that air power development can be a potent force for national economic security in peace time, as well as for national defense in war.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Book Week p2 My 13 '45 180w

Booklist 41:295 Je 15 '45

Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 40w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:47 D '45 230w

WILSON, FRANCESCA M. In the margins of chaos; recollections of relief work in and between three wars; with a foreword by J. L. Hammond. 313p il $3 Macmillan [18s Murray]

940.477842 Reconstruction (1914-1939). European war, 1914-1918—Hospitals, charities, etc. World war, 1939—Civilian relief [44-6265]

"For twenty-five years, World War and all, Miss Wilson has been doing relief work everywhere in Europe, in Russia, and in parts of Africa. This is the story of her adventures, but, beyond that, since the author has an awareness of history and a good eye for the details of everyday life, it is a rather different travel book that describes, even though indirectly, the slow crumbling of an era that has now finally gone down to ruin." New Yorker

Booklist 41:208 Mr 15 '45

Bookmark 6:6 My '45

"Miss Wilson's book is far more than a mere study of relief work. It is the graphically told story of many hundreds of people and of many lands." E. S. P.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 31 '45 350w

Current Hist 8:443 My '45 30w

Foreign Affairs 23:7 O '44 20w

Kirkus 13:13 Ja 1 '45 150w

"Writing, vivid, even charming, simple but packed with reliable information, has intense human appeal and reveals the misery and heartbreak of the results of war and of the incredible inhumanity of man toward man. Book has great political importance and will be of incalculable value for all relief workers. Recommended for all libraries and all intelligent men and women." G. O. Kelley

+ Library J 70:163 F 15 '45 110w

Manchester Guardian p3 My 26 '44 300w

New Yorker 21:82 Mr 3 '45 80w

"The volume has value for its local color and for its light on politics and history. It throws some light, moreover, on the social and economic conditions that will follow V-E Day, but it seems to the reviewer that it would be stretching matters to call this an important book. The average reader, for example, is likely to have no more than a vague interest in Miss Wilson's many fellow relief workers. There are times when it seems a little on the naive side. And some of the conclusions are at least debatable." H. C. Wolfe

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:66 Ap 14 '45 270w

"Throughout the reader's attention is directed away from the author's own personality to the people she worked among and the problems she had to tackle, sometimes as one of a team, sometimes almost single-handed. And the treatment of the story is so objective that one comes almost to take for granted the gifts of improvisation and organisation, imagination and foresight, as well as the humour, patience and strength of purpose necessary to cope with egoists, dullards and obstructionists, which all helped to give to these adventures in humanity the success they so well deserved." J. W. Harvey

+ Spec 172:528 Je 9 '44 800w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon

Springf'd Republican p4d My 6 '45 650w

Reviewed by J. C. Hyman

Survey 81:336 D '45 360

"By the same virtue that made her a first-class relief worker, the virtue of vitality, Miss Wilson has been enabled to write a very good book about her varied experiences. Exuberant may seem the wrong word to apply to a woman of perfect taste, quiet strength of purpose, reticent modesty. Yet there is an exuberance of the spirit, welling up in happy recollections, deep likes and dislikes, interest in men and women, delight in Nature. That quality keeps Miss Wilson's pages vividly alive."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p278 Je 10 '44 700w

"When many a war book of the year has become an historical document, this one will be actively at work not only as record of the past but as vital stimulus and supply for the future lying just beyond victory." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Mr 4 '45 650w

Wis Lib Bul 41:65 Je '45

WILSON, FRANCIS MAIRS HUNTINGTON. Memoirs of an ex-diplomat. 373p $3 Humphries

B or 92 Diplomatic memoirs 45-3086

Reminiscences of a former United States diplomat and under-secretary of state, who traveled extensively in Europe and South America, and lived for nine years in Japan, where he was second secretary of the legation at Tokyo. Index.

"The volume fills a worthy place beside other similar books which help to supplement the official records of diplomatic history with the sidelights of personal reminiscence." J. M. Mathews

+ Am Pol Sci R 39:824 Ag '45 230w

Foreign Affairs 24:164 O '45 40w

Reviewed by Quincy Wright

J Pol Econ 53:181 Je '45 1500w

"F. M. Huntington Wilson explains in a foreword that he originally intended to write 'a book of essays on foreign policy and other vital concerns of our country, based upon experience in the diplomatic service and the department of state,' but that his publisher persuaded him to write his memoirs instead. The result is a mixture, with now an essay and now a reminiscence; sometimes amusing, sometimes instructive, and always lively." R. B. Pease

+ Springf'd Republican p6 My 11 '45 700w

"Mr. Wilson is much more than an ex-diplomat. He is a candid, vivacious and entertaining writer. Whether he is describing early days in Chicago, or the reception of a 'Yankee' boy in a Southern school, or Japan in the time of the Russo-Japanese war, or his varied experiences in Latin-America or his own decidedly private affairs, he is always lively. Even his prejudices, which are numerous, are expressed with charming vigour and humour."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p328 Jl 14 '45 240w

"Of fine wines and intriguing foods, of decorative women and illustrious persons, of parties dull and official or lively with good company, of Old World towns in graceful decay or South American cities with Spanish melancholy brooding beneath sparkling exteriors, Mr. Huntington Wilson . . . writes with ease and flavor. On the personal side we get a type dear to the heart of Henry James—the Victorian child dragging at the heels of an adult family who shuttle between European capitals and an ever-shifting American home. Vivid, too, is the picture of the snappily dressed young man from Yale, innocent of law, and almost equally of history and economics, camping on Senatorial doorsteps while influential seniors pull the White House wires that are to yield the Far Eastern post under that 'amiable and wise President,' McKinley." Frances Witherspoon

+ Weekly Book Review p19 Ap 22 '45 430w

WILSON, FRAZER ELLS. Arthur St. Clair, rugged ruler of the old Northwest; an epic of the American frontier. 253p il $3 Garrett

B or 92 St Clair, Arthur 44-9821

"Arthur St. Clair, Scottish-born British officer, retired from the Army in 1762. . . Because of his military service, he obtained large grants of land in the Ligonier Valley of western Pennsylvania. . . When the Revolution began, he cast his lot with the Colonies and was drawn into a military and political career that brought him prominence but little fame. . . Mr. Wilson has written a frankly laudatory biography of St. Clair in an attempt to make him better known in our time and to defend those actions of his that lost him public favor in his own." N Y Times

"In retelling the story of St. Clair, Mr. Wilson has presented little new material. But he has weighed the several previous accounts carefully and drawn some original conclusions. And although he sometimes seems to treat St. Clair with more leniency than the facts of history warrant, he makes a convincing defense of St. Clair's military failures. He is less successful in explaining away St. Clair's paternal, overbearing treatment of the citizens of his frontier domain, in which he showed himself out of step with his country and his times." N. K. Burger

WILSON, F. E.—Continued

+ — N Y Times p14 F 11 '45 500w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens

Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 10 '45 330w

WILSON, HELEN VAN PELT. Perennials preferred; drawings by Kathleen Voute. 256p il $2.75 Barrows

635.932 Perennials Agr45-143

Advice and suggestions on growing perennials in the home garden. Partial contents: First principles for perennial borders; The ABC of soils, compost and fertilizers; The comforts of moisture and mulch; Supports for giants and spreaders; Important perennials for spring, summer, autumn, winter; Quality edgings make the border; Grown to be gathered. Glossary. Index.

Booklist 41:283 Je 1 '45

Bookmark 6:9 My '45

"Read any dozen pages in this newest of Miss Wilson's gardening books and you'll agree that its title has been well chosen. Read a dozen more, and if you don't start making notes on perennials you simply must get for your own place, you're an awfully cold-blooded, unsusceptible sort of gardener." R. S. Lemmon

+ Weekly Book Review p13 Jl 8 '45 150w

WILSON, JOHN DOUGLAS, and ROGERS, CLELL M. Simplified carpentry estimating. 2d ed 288p il $3 Simmons-Boardman

694 Building—Estimates. Architecture, Domestic

"Detailed rules, tables, and procedures for calculating the required quantities of cement, sand, rock, framing lumber, doors, windows, and hardware needed for a given building. The text is intended for the carpenter apprentice having no previous experience in 'taking-off' a bill of materials. It includes carpentry mensuration, short cuts in estimating, labor hours per unit of work, and building information tables. A final chapter, deals with the financing of a home, and the selection of technical services." (N Y New Tech Bks) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1940.

Library J 70:638 Jl '45 120w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:21 Ap '45

WILSON, LOUIS ROUND. Library planning; a working memorandum prepared for the Am. lib. association. (Planning for libs) 93p pa $1.50 A.L.A.

027.073 Libraries 44-40168

"A summary of what library organizations and individual libraries in the U.S. have accomplished since about 1936 in the way of planned activities for the improvement and development of library service, with recommendations regarding problems which need to be considered in the future. Does not include material on international library projects, and the plans of state library associations are covered only by a general statement as to their objectives. Although there is no evaluation of the plans described, this summary indicates the direction in which libraries are moving, and with the suggestions for further study, should be useful to planning groups." Booklist

Booklist 41:6 S '44

"This reviewer finds it difficult to determine whether the pamphlet fully achieves its primary objective. The scope is broad, but the limitations of the size of the publication do not permit extended treatment of any major aspect of the general subject. The opinions expressed are those of the author and do not necessarily represent the American Library Association. Nevertheless, the recommendations are conservative, and there are few statements which can be regarded as controversial. In reality, we have a scholarly survey of important library developments up to the present time, particularly emphasizing the activities of the last six or seven years. Even though many of the projects discussed are not strictly concerned with planning, librarians will find the survey extremely valuable. . . The bibliography of references on pages 85-93 is very valuable and will serve as a check list of material for every professional librarian. Those responsible for the determination of goals for future progress will find this pamphlet to be a splendid introduction." H. L. Hamill

+ Library Q 15:151 Ap '45 700w

WILSON, LOUIS ROUND, and TAUBER, MAURICE FALCOLM. The university library; its organization, administration and functions. (Studies in lib. science) 570p $5 Univ. of Chicago press

027.7 Libraries, University and college A45-4044

"Considers systematically the principles and methods of university library organization and administration and formulates generalizations concerning them which may be useful to university librarians." (School & Society) The authors are professor emeritus of library science, and dean emeritus of the Graduate library school of the University of Chicago respectively. Chapter bibliographies. Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 S 2 '45 390w

Booklist 42:31 O 1 '45

"Professors and students of library service will find this study one of their most useful textbooks. Many of the complicated problems in typography and organization of the material have been successfully mastered, and despite wartime restrictions the publishers have produced an attractive, compact volume." C. M. Adams

+ Library J 70:816 S 15 '45 2600w

N Y Times p27 Ag 12 '45 230w

"A notable addition to a series which has been remarkable from its inception for summarizing the tremendous amount of articles and brief monographs on various phases of library science. The present volume is the most generally interesting since 'The Medieval Library,' by James Westfall Thompson, which is already a classic. The authors here are very well qualified for a study of the University Library as it has become today, because of their different generations and backgrounds." D. G. Wing

+ Sat R of Lit 28:31 Ag 18 '45 600w

School & Society 62:128 Ag 25 '45 40w

Special Libraries 36:451 N '45

"The volume is the first comprehensive study of the university library, and every librarian interested in research will find it informative and useful. Unfortunately, The University Library evinces the weaknesses apparent in much library literature. The authors are content to describe established practice, and rarely venture a critical comment. Controversial matters are passed over, and points which seem obvious are discussed at length. It is also regrettable that the authors followed the annoying practice of printing summaries at the ends of chapters."

+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 1:73 D '45 360w

WILSON, MARGERY. How to live beyond your means. 243p $2.95 Lippincott

170 Conduct of life. Psychology, Applied. Happiness 45-5371

In this guide to a fuller life "women are told, with many illustrations from real life, how to get more friends, more fun out of life, more health and more done; how to get greater return on time and effort put into writing letters, reading books and the daily round of housework; how to get more out of money spent in entertaining and more happiness for the amount of love invested in getting it." (Weekly Book Review)

Reviewed by Veronica Dengel
Book Week p9 Jl 29 '45 650w

Booklist 41:332 Jl 15 '45

"There's sound advice on how to have more fun, better health; there are tips on your home and the household arts, gardening, time-saving cookery, reading, entertaining. A lift for the ladies who love her."
+ Kirkus 13:123 Mr 15 '45 80w

School & Society 62:48 Jl 21 '45 20w

Weekly Book Review p14 Je 17 '45 130w

Wis Lib Bul 41:97 O '45

WILSON, MITCHELL A. None so blind. 198p $2.50 Simon & Schuster
45-9239

The scene of this psychological novel is a lonely section of the Atlantic coast not far from Norfolk. Lieutenant Scott Burnett, recovering from a war neurosis, is in charge of the Mounted beach patrol station when he meets a fascinating young woman gathering driftwood, and comes under her sway. Her blind artist husband adds complications, and only time and a good woman who stood by can rescue Scott from sheer tragedy.

Reviewed by Edith Roberts
Book Week p3 O 28 '45 310w

"Highly successful and absorbing, this has a dual attraction for the mystery market."
+ Kirkus 13:349 Ag 15 '45 170w

"Interesting as [the] situation is, the book isn't quite a successful novel, partly because the reader is unlikely to be nearly as credulous as the young man whom the lovers choose to do their dirty work for them and partly because the author, up to now a writer of mystery stories, has not done a really thorough job of retooling."
— + New Yorker 21:97 O 27 '45 90w

"There is no denying the skill with which tension is projected here; the final switch of accent, the illuminating second solution after a first has seemed clear, is in the very best mystery story tradition. It makes a strong, exciting story, and it suggests as an afterthought that there is little point in quarreling with Mr. Wilson . . . for doing what he can do very well." R. L. North
+ Sat R of Lit 28:46 N 17 '45 230w

"The reader rather deplores the happy ending, such as it is. The book is too tense, Burnett it too neurotic, to make such a comfortable ending seem plausible. Some of the best parts of the book are Burnett's struggle with his mental condition. His agony is almost an agony for the reader. Do service men who have undergone a terrific experience suffer like that? The writer makes it seem real. The book holds the reader breathless to the end." M. M. Dickey
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 18 '45 400w

WILSON, PHILIP WHITWELL. Black tarn. 251p $2.50 Farrar
45-5130

Detective story.

Book Week p8 Jl 8 '45 180w

"Lavish production presented with humor and intelligence; good successor to Bride's Castle."
+ Kirkus 13:146 Ap 1 '45 80w

"The mystery addict is advised to scan Mr. Wilson's opening chapter with extra care—and by no means to neglect the significance of Ruth's word-game and the misuse of Billingsgate by the loan-shark. The lay reader (who won't mind if the killer's motive seems a trifle clouded, when all is said and done) will find 'Black Tarn' a welcome addition to his vacation rucksack." C. V. Terry
+ N Y Times p7 Je 24 '45 450w

"Rewarding."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:34 Je 30 '45 40w

"In addition to fine stuff in the old tradition, you get a glamorous actress, sweethearts in the pantry, a notorious private banker and secrets from the past that will amaze and amuse you. This contains the biggest surprise of the season. Stands to reason, too. Grade A." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Je 24 '45 180w

WILSON, RUFUS ROCKWELL, ed. Intimate memories of Lincoln. 629p $5 Primavera press, inc, Elmira, N.Y.

B or 92 Lincoln, Abraham

"This is a companion volume to 'Lincoln Among His Friends,' compiled by the same editor in 1942 [Book Review Digest, 1942] and like its predecessor contains 60-odd articles about Lincoln, including first and secondhand reminiscences, anecdotes and tributes. Almost the entire range of Lincoln's life and career is covered, from his early days in New Salem to the war years at Washington." Springf'd Republican

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 3 '45 480w

"The editor of this volume has been so intent upon gathering every scrap of information about Lincoln from all possible sources that he has included many items which are both trivial and dull. Unfortunately, the less significant items are placed at the beginning of the book, where they may easily discourage the reader from going on to the more interesting items that appear later on." I. A.
N Y Times p16 O 14 '45 110w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 19 '45 600w

"'Scientific' historians will object that the reminiscences which Mr. Wilson has brought together are of uneven value, and that they need more editorial explanation and qualification than his brief biographical prefaces. To deny that they, like all reminiscences, are marked by inconsistency, error and repetition would be to deny the obvious. Nevertheless, these recollections make Lincoln a real and appealing figure, and it is a convenience, to say the least, to have them in one readily accessible volume." P. M. Angle
+ Weekly Book Review p25 Ag 26 '45 500w

WILSON, MRS RUTH (DANENHOWER). Jim Crow joins up; a study of Negroes in the armed forces of the United States. 129p $2.50 Press of William J. Clark, 655 6th av, N.Y. 10

940.5403 World war, 1939—Negroes
44-9302

"Ruth Danenhower Wilson's book—she is a white woman who comes of a Navy family—is a first-hand report of the status of Negroes, both men and women, in the armed forces at home. In it, she describes what she saw and heard in twenty-two posts and stations throughout the United States. Her manuscript, she writes, was reviewed by the Office of Public Relations of the Navy Department and the Bureau of Public Relations of the War Department and was published 'as amended by them.'" Sat R of Lit

"Writing with obvious restraint, keeping well within her facts, avoiding the more explosive aspects of her subject, Miss Wilson sets forth the results of her investigation in as revealing a manner as the necessity of clearing her manuscript with public relations officers and the inherent delicacy of the subject would permit." Willard Waller
+ Am J Soc 51:174 S '45 170w

Booklist 42:15 S '45

Christian Science Monitor p12 F 10 '45 700w

Foreign Affairs 23:516 Ap '45 10w

Reviewed by H. A. Overstreet
Sat R of Lit 28:10 Mr 3 '45 650w

WILSON, WOODROW. Selections for today; ed. by Arthur Bernon Tourtellot. 258p $2.75 Duell

308 U.S.—Politics and government. U.S.—Foreign policy 45-5469

A collection of selections from Woodrow Wilson's addresses and speeches made during his presidency. The materials are grouped under three heads: The American heritage; The American spirit; America's place in the world. An appendix contains the first draft of the Covenant of the League of nations. Bibliography.

Reviewed by J. S. G. Carson
Am Pol Sci R 39:1236 D '45 170w

Reviewed by Walter Johnson
Book Week p4 Je 3 '45 400w

Booklist 42:6 S '45

Foreign Affairs 24:163 O '45 30w

"Eloquent, timeless prose which carries a strong moral message."
+ Kirkus 13:154 Ap 1 '45 130w

"It is amazing how the old eloquence resounds, even in cold print; and it is equally amazing—also not a little chilling—to discover what a prophet the man was. Even his contemporaries admitted that he was a master of English, but it took the experience of the past quarter of a century to convince us that his most terrific jeremiads were understatements of what the future held for the world." G. W. Johnson
+ N Y Times p3 Je 10 '45 500w

"These lines of Wilson's contain a great deal of prophecy and a great deal of pathos; in between the lines, there is also a surprisingly vivid picture of the man. Mr. Tourtellot, who must have gone through mountains of material, has done a careful, understanding, intelligent job."
+ New Yorker 21:80 Je 2 '45 80w

Reviewed by George Barrett
Sat R of Lit 28:14 Jl 7 '45 270w

Reviewed by R. A. Brown
Springf'd Republican p6 My 22 '45 420w

WILTSE, CHARLES MAURICE. John C. Calhoun, nationalist, 1782-1828. 477p il $3.75 Bobbs

B or 92 Calhoun, John Caldwell 44-8938

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"This study of Calhoun's earlier career, much the ablest and most thorough yet published, must take its place at once as the standard account. The author has not only reworked to good advantage the materials which previous biographers used, but he has also exploited other sources, both in print and in manuscript, to which his predecessors did not have access or the value of which they did not appreciate." R. N. Current
+ Am Hist R 50:550 Ap '45 650w

"In this volume, Mr. Wiltse paints clear-cut word pictures of Calhoun and his contemporaries and makes of the biography an absorbing story of politics as played by the master politicians of the period. . . Well written, with forcefully expressed conclusions that are established by proper documentation, this volume is a genuine contribution to the historical biography of America." R. S. Rankin
+ Am Pol Sci R 39:195 F '45 380w

Booklist 41:184 F 15 '45

Bookmark 6:13 My '45

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 8:155 F '45 140w

Reviewed by Daniel Aaron
New Repub 112:338 Mr 5 '45 390w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:15 Mr '45 320w

WIMBERLY, LOWRY CHARLES, ed. Mid country; writings from the heart of America; with an introd. by B. A. Botkin. (Univ. of Neb. publication) 510p $3.50 Crowell

810.8 American literature—Collections 45-9036

"Anthology of short stories, tall tales, reminiscences, poems, descriptions—from the country between Rockies and Appalachians, Louisiana and Montana. 78 titles, plus introduction by B. A. Botkin and biographical notes on the authors, who include Porter, Dobie, Caldwell, Sandoz, Welty, Stegner, Fletcher, Stuart, Derleth, Le Sueur, Simon." Library J

"It is understandable that old Indian fighters or veteran hunters might prefer to write their recollections of the Custer battlefield or a buffalo slaughter, but it seems odd that younger authors who never saw a herd of longhorns stampede should limit themselves to ranch life and tenant farmers. This shift of emphasis entirely away from the more sophisticated aspects of Midwestern life is somewhat unfortunate. But 'Mid Country' is an eminently readable anthology which will introduce new names to many a reader." J. T. Flanagan
Book Week p5 O 21 '45 650w

Booklist 42:73 N 1 '45

Reviewed by Horace Reynolds
Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 5 '46 250w

Kirkus 13:387 S 1 '45 150w

"Most are written with the realism which has become regional romanticism, and make a sensitive, gripping, warm book. Grand for reading and useful in libraries as a sort of midwestern literary Baedeker and reference aide." E. L. Lewis
+ Library J 70:889 O 1 '45 90w

"Although there is a notable omission of any record of city life or of prosperity in these pages, an omission which might lead a foreigner to conclude that all Americans between Philadelphia and the Coast spend their days sweating over the soil, Americans are nevertheless presented here in a wide variety of activities. . . Some of the writing in 'Mid Country' is superb. . . Most notable of all the qualities found in this collection of seventy or more pieces, however, is honesty." W. E. Wilson
+ — N Y Times p26 O 28 '45 450w

"Though Mr. B. A. Botkin in an informing introduction identifies 'Mid Country' as the land between the Alleghenies and the Rockies, the editor refuses to be fenced in. He includes a number of pieces from west of Colorado and more from the deep South. As a result there is no focus in this collection and it has little impact. There is another drawback to Mr. Wimberly's principle of selection. He has made up his anthology from the files of the regional magazines scattered between Iowa City, Albuquerque, and Missoula, Montana. This cuts him off from the best work of his best writers and from the entire work of many 'Mid Country' writers. . . There are first-rate pieces in this collection, alongside of fourth-rate pieces." Walter Havighurst
Sat R of Lit 28:15 N 3 '45 1000w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:11 D '45 280w

" 'Mid Country' shows the excellence of the regional press and, in full measure, its apparently inherent defects. Its virtues are those that produce straight-forward reporting of experience, sometimes retrospective or even historical but always straight out of the life at hand. There is a good deal of such documentation here, most of it adequate and some of it very fine. It covers a variety of scenes and people: the oil fields, the cane brakes, the wheat country, the sand-hill country (in a superb piece by Mari Sandoz), the cattle country, cockfighting, coyote hunting, rattlesnake hunting, some excellent Indian stuff, a couple of tall tales, some folklore that escapes being folksy. This is all alive and absorbing and it justifies the book." Bernard De Voto
+ Weekly Book Review p1 O 14 '45 900w

Wis Lib Bul 41:126 D '45

WIMSATT, GENEVIEVE BLANCHE. A lady like the moon. 304p $2.75 Ackerman

45-9498

"Round Moon, of the tiny feet, was a singing girl who became wife to the last of China's Ming emperors. Loving the illiterate General Wu with the faith of devotion, she found her trust betrayed and her lover the assassin of his liege lord. She faded out of history and into legend as the abbess of a Buddhist convent in Yunnan." (N Y Times) This recounting of her story is based on much research. The author lived for many years in China.

Kirkus 13:380 S 1 '45 130w

"Genevieve Wimsatt has told Round Moon's tragic story with integrity and considerable beauty. Full grandeur seems just missed, but this is matter calling for the epic touch." J. F. Smith

+ — N Y Times p14 N 4 '45 100w

New Yorker 21:102 N 3 '45 140w

"It is impossible to make vivid the gorgeousness, the lavishness of living among the courts and the wealthy households, or the tenseness which each crisis brings. But any reader of the novel cannot fail to treasure Round Moon, with her daintiness, her charm, her loyalty, her rightness, her brave heart. Nor can a reader fail to appreciate the scholarship of the book, and its beautiful English." M. M. Dickey

+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 11 '45 1000w

WINDEATT, MARY FABYAN. Warrior in white. 156p il $1.75 Sheed

B or 92 John Masias—Juvenile literature 44-51198

The story of Blessed John Masias, retold for Catholic children.

Cath World 160:281 D '44 50w

"Interest will be limited to those of the Catholic faith for whom it will prove very absorbing and inspirational." M. L. Goodwin

+ Library J 70:121 F 1 '45 30w

WINN, MATT JOSEPH. Down the stretch [his] story as told to Frank G. Menke. (Smith & Durrell publication) 299p il $3.50 Barnes, A.S.

798.4 Horse racing 45-1614

"The American racing scene for seven decades is recalled through the nostalgic reminiscences of its most colorful and typical representative. The man who has never missed a Kentucky derby and who has managed, at one time or another, 11 famous race tracks in both the U.S. and Mexico has many observations to make on the sport and many stories to tell of horses, jockies, trainers, breeders, and of classic races. A condensed history of the Kentucky derby, Colonel Winn's first and still favorite association, is appended, showing in table form the data of its 70 races." Booklist

Book Week p2 F 18 '45 300w

Booklist 41:298 Je 15 '45

Reviewed by Dan Parker

N Y Times p8 Mr 18 '45 1050w

"The book is a bit rambling—justified by the fact that it is made up of reminiscences of an old man. At any rate, it's interesting—whether you 'play the horses' or not." J. E. English

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 21 '45 330w

Weekly Book Week p12 Je 24 '45 200w

WINSLOW, MRS ANNE GOODWIN. Winter in Geneva, and other stories. 248p $2.50 Knopf 45-2835

A novelette and seven short stories by the author of The Dwelling Place (Book Review Digest, 1943). Contents: A winter in Geneva; One above; Divine fire; Many waters; The ring; For Ulisse; Memorandum; Allan Percy's son.

Reviewed by Marion Strobel

Book Week p19 Mr 25 '45 400w

Booklist 41:256 My 1 '45

"There is an elusive quality to the eight stories in this volume that is difficult to define. To read them is like sitting down with a person of rare culture and charm and listening to reminiscences from a life rich in experience."

+ Boston Globe p15 Mr 14 '45 130w

"Wit and wisdom; a quality that one would describe as elegance had not the word, too inaptly, a connotation of Victorian ornateness; a smooth technique and a firm, quiet hand on shadings and shadows that, less carefully controlled, might run away into fantasy—these are the qualities of Mrs. Winslow's work. With these goes a relentless probing beneath the surface. It is significant that again and again she uses the word 'shallow' to express her utmost disapproval." W. K. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 27 '45 600w

"Stories of mood and personalities—rather than of incident. . . There is none of the spiritual quality that made The Dwelling Place appeal to many readers. But there is the same deftness and simplicity."

+ Kirkus 13:20 Ja 15 '45 130w

"Mrs. Winslow's style is meditative, and she has a habit of interpolating reflective comment in her narrative. In the first and last stories this device is integral to the subject, for the paragraphs of exposition are actually, revelations of the central character, and thus serve a genuinely dramatic function. In many of her stories, however, this device is a kind of excresence. Often charming, Mrs. Winslow's little essays obstruct rather than express her themes." Ruth Page

+ — N Y Times p6 Ap 8 '45 500w

"In some of the tales of this collection (not the title story, which is the least interesting of the lot), Mrs. Winslow occasionally forgets that she is writing fiction, and in these off moments she is enchanting—reminiscing about her childhood, reflecting with wit and wisdom on the foolishness of the human race, and having her satiric but sympathetic say about the South."

— + New Yorker 21:97 Mr 24 '45 160w

"This is in many ways a liberating book, largely because it is so beautifully written, with so deep a respect for the meaning and implication of words." E. M. B.

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 3 '45 220w

"Mrs. Winslow's women are sheltered, refined in life and in spirit. The virtue of their ladylikeness is the reverse face of the coin of their security. Propriety they wear, not like a well chosen Lily Dache hat but as of the very color and substance of their blood. In tone color and feeling the stories are all pre-World War II. By this much are her gemlike stories limited. But they give a most exquisitely conceived, exquisitely written account of a lively, lagoonlike world which will reward exploration." F. H. Bullock

Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 8 '45 800w

WINTER, ELLA (MRS DONALD OGDEN STEWART). I saw the Russian people. 309p il $3 Little

914.7 Russia—Social conditions. Russia—Social life and customs 45-9851

Miss Winter is an American press correspondent who went to Russia in 1944 for the New York Post. Her interviews answer some questions about the Russian home front: the love of learning; their sense of fun despite black markets and devastation; the resourcefulness of women soldiers and guerrillas; the care given to children; and the longing to be understood by the Americans. Index.

Reviewed by Claire Danziger

Book Week p8 N 25 '45 330w

Booklist 42:127 D 15 '45

Kirkus 13:415 S 15 '45 150w

Reviewed by L. R. Miller

+ Library J 70:1088 N 15 '45 120w

"The amazing diversity and contrast of Miss Winter's experiences account in considerable measure for her successful journalism. There are chapters on shopping in Moscow, divorce courts, the siege of Leningrad, Soviet schools, the cruel horrors of German prison camps, books and plays, beauty parlors, juvenile delinquency, disabled soldiers, candy factories, ballet and circus schools, collective farms. . . There is a kaleidoscopic, colorful, entertaining and also highly informing account of how the Russians live, which makes the best of reading." F. R. Dulles

+ N Y Times p22 Ja 6 '46 470w

WINTER, ELLA—Continued

"She did see the Russian people. She saw almost every one of them and has recorded, in sometimes exasperating detail, everything they told her and she told them. . . Many of her findings will sound familiar to newspaper readers, but the chapters on the Russian school system seem to be news, and interesting news."
New Yorker 21:112 N 24 '45 120w

Reviewed by L. T. Mowrer
Sat R of Lit 28:11 D 8 '45 1150w

"There is a good deal of information in these chatty pages. Some of the most interesting chapters deal with education in Russia in the regular schools and in special institutions such as the ballet and circus schools, the trade schools and the military academies. . . The author, certainly saw the Russian people, and her book tells a great deal about them as individuals. If it leaves unanswered the great question of how Russia and the United States are to get along together in the future as world powers, it shows that the people at least are disposed to be friendly and sincere." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p6 D 6 '45 300w

Reviewed by Eleanor Lattimore
Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 20 '46 2000w

WINTON, ANDREW LINCOLN, and WINTON, MRS KATE GRACE (BARBER). Analysis of foods. 999p il $12 Wiley

543.1 Food—Analysis 45-4502

"This volume constitutes a comprehensive and authoritative compilation of practical information for practicing food analysts engaged in Federal, State or municipal inspection, in quality control in the plant, and in research and testing in the laboratory. And it is so arranged as to be useful to the student and beginner." Chem & Met Eng

---

"In essence, it is a well-planned compilation of the literature on methods of food analysis, and as such probably has little use as a textbook for students. On the other hand, its brevity and concise manner of presenting the methods serve to make it a useful volume to the food analyst already in the field, and particularly to the beginner." G. L. Marsh
+ Am Chem Soc J 67:2057 N '45 650w
Booklist 42:8 S '45

Reviewed by F. K. Lawler
Chem & Met Eng 52:223 Ag '45 350w
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '45
Library J 69:1048 D 1 '44 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:36 Jl '45
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:57 S '45 240w

WINWAR, FRANCES. Life of the heart; George Sand and her times, a biography. 312p pl $3 Harper

B or 92 Sand, George, pseud. of Mme. Dudevant 45-9439

A life of George Sand, which also covers much of the history of nineteenth century France, and analyses many of the famous men of the day. Illustrated with photographs. Index.

"For my money the best biographical job of them all on the supercharged French woman—not excepting George Sand's own—has been done by Miss Frances Winwar in 'The life of the Heart.' In it the best woman autobiographer of the 19th century has met her match and gotten, at long last, her full due from the best woman biographer of the 20th. For not only has Miss Winwar captured and concentrated in a single volume and made excitingly accessible the facts of George Sand's long literary-amatory life and the spirit moving behind them, but she has been able from the vantage ground of another century to frame George Sand in history, and give her for the first time her proper dynamic spot in the social revolution of her times and ours." F. H. Bullock
+ Book Week p33 N 11 '45 700w
Booklist 42:109 D 1 '45
Christian Science Monitor p14 D 1 '45 600w
Current Hist 9:551 D '45 80w
Kirkus 13:388 S 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by Eric Bentley
New Repub 114:26 Ja 7 '46 750w

"A great biography refers us back to the artist's work. 'The Life of the Heart' only refers us back to the personality. It is, in a way, definitive. There could be very little more to say on this particular facet of George Sand's life. If Miss Winwar over-romanticizes occasionally, if the material sometimes seems to be slanted toward Hollywood, the reader can at least be sure that the pertinent facts and attitudes of the period are reproduced faithfully." Howard Moss
N Y Times p9 D 23 '45 1200w

"George Sand was her own best novel, Miss Winwar says; having decided that, she writes this biography with a novelist's ardor. Miss Winwar, a member of the omniscient school of biography writing—she knows precisely what her heroine was thinking about in 1808, at the age of four—tells, in a flushed but sometimes pleasantly ornate prose, a story lavishly strewn with background characters and scenery. The book is interesting if—and even if not—true."
— + New Yorker 21:106 N 10 '45 110w

"Miss Winwar has made her book as easy to read as a detective story and as clear as a Somerset Maugham novel. She rates her heroine more highly than she deserves, but that is an author's privilege. . . Frances Winwar has done it again. She has taken an almost legendary literary figure in a storied and peopled epoch and given us a fast-moving account in which her masterly handling of material and the reader's joy of recognition produce a most satisfactory reading adventure." W. S. Lynch
+ Sat R of Lit 28:11 N 10 '45 300w

"Written about one of the most fruitful of all literary periods, 'The Life of the Heart' involved an enormous amount of reading and research and presented a difficult problem of selection which the author has handled with great skill. In her latest book, Miss Winwar has produced another of her colorful, lively and thoroughly satisfying biographies." C. K. Bausman
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 25 '45 700w

"Biographer Frances Winwar has retold the story of George Sand with a tenderness, knowledge and enthusiasm that are likely to stir up the old debate and make The Life of the Heart a best-seller."
+ Time 46:102 O 29 '45 1650w

"Minor errors flourish—the worst of them on matters that have no apparent relation to George Sand. . . However, the reader who is not distressed by such things will enjoy the book. The master features of George Sand's life are graphically displayed. . . Many of the famous men she encountered—especially Sainte-Beuve, Balzac, Merimee, Musset and Chopin—have been instilled with the breath of life, at least for the moment of the encounter. There are numerous strokes of humor, good sense and intuition; the biographer has wit for a sentence if not wisdom for a book. Finally she conveys to us in frank, dramatic and loving detail the insight George Sand possessed of her own nature." Marion Lowenthal
+ — Weekly Book Review p6 O 28 '45 1550w

WIPRUD, ARNE CLARENCE. Justice in transportation; an exposé of monopoly control; with an introd. by Thurman Arnold. 197p $2.50 Ziff-Davis

385 Transportation—U.S. 45-4694

"American railroads are accused of monopolistic practices in rate making and in extending control over air, highway and inland waterway transport in this book by a special assistant to the attorney general of the United States." Book Week

---

Reviewed by G. L. Wilson
Ann Am Acad 241:185 S '45 650w
Book Week p4 Je 24 '45 230w

Current Hist 9:323 O '45 70w

Reviewed by B. B. Seligman
New Repub 113:51 Jl 9 '45 600w

Reviewed by T. W. Van Metre
Pol Sci Q 60:608 D '45 1800w

WISE, JAMES WATERMAN. The Springfield plan; photographs by Alexander Alland. 136p $2.50 Viking

370.9744 Education—Aims and objectives. Toleration. Education—Springfield, Massachusetts 45-35131

"In place of mere lip service to the ideals of democracy, the Springfield, Massachusetts, schools have put into practice a program that has reached beyond the schools and stimulated similar ventures among adults. Each classroom and subject offers opportunity to teach the background of the many nationalities and religions represented in the community and to demonstrate the meaning of living together and of good citizenship in the community and in the nation. Presented not in a continuous narrative but by full-page photographs with text on the facing page to explain the workings of the plan and what the Springfield people think of it." Booklist

---

"The book is one which may well serve as a guide to any community which believes that people of good will need to be 'more articulate in defense of their principles.'" P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p8 Ag 19 '45 450w

Booklist 41:333 Jl 15 '45

Bookmark 6:5 N '45

Reviewed by George Streator
Commonweal 42:410 Ag 10 '45 1300w

"This stimulating book is warmly recommended to all adults and young people. It is not only full of meat, but is positively exciting." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 21:467 N '45 110w

"An exciting idea vividly presented in dramatic photographs and brief topical text."
+ Kirkus 13:255 Je 1 '45 170w

Reviewed by G. E. Cartmell
Library J 70:754 S 1 '45 80w

Reviewed by Naomi Horowitz
New Repub 113:381 S 24 '45 180w

"This pictorial record of the city-wide project for democratic living that has been evolved in recent years in a busy Massachusetts manufacturing city offers convincing evidence—the eager faces of children absorbed in their tasks—of the success that has been achieved. The illuminating text by Mr. Wise that accompanies Mr. Alland's excellent photographs explains how this was accomplished." F. S. Adams
+ N Y Times p6 Ag 12 '45 330w

"The text that makes a background for these unusual photographs of an unusual, perhaps historical, plan is clear, readable and convincing. It gives in words what the photographs give—an 'uncluttered' presentation of people—people living and working together under a common and clearly understood objective. . . Every page of this book shows democracy at work. Race, creed, color are disregarded. Age is unimportant. From the children in the lowest grade in school to the old men whose wise faces appear in committee meetings—all have a share in this experiment." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:34 Ag 11 '45 360w

Reviewed by Ordway Tead
Sat R of Lit 28:22 S 15 '45 280w

Reviewed by V. T. Thayer
Survey G 34:449 N '45 250w

"I do not see how it is possible to view these pictures and read the simple accompanying text unmoved. I remember hearing a famous bridge expert say that America was the hardest country in the world in which to sell an idea and the easiest in which to sell a system. Springfield has not brought a system to market; she has set in motion an idea." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ag 5 '45 850w

Wis Lib Bul 41:110 N '45

WISE, THOMAS JAMES. Letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn; a further inquiry into the guilt of certain nineteenth-century forgers; ed. by Fannie E. Ratchford. 591p il $7.50 Knopf

094.4 Literary forgeries and mystifications. Bibliography—First editions 44-47958

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Am Hist R 50:603 Ap '45 80w

"These letters form an important addition to the literature of bibliography, and it is high time they were printed. It is too bad that they could not have been printed in their entirety, but it is to be supposed that their bulk made such a project commercially impossible." George Goodspeed
+ Atlantic 175:137 Mr '45 850w

Booklist 41:191 Mr 1 '45

Times [London] Lit Sup p200 Ap 28 '45 1750w

"Collectors of rare books will be eager to read Miss Ratchford's edition of the letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn, but many others are likely to be fascinated by its documentation of a spectacular career of fraud. . . One is glad that Wrenn never knew the truth about Wise, and glad that the Wrenn Collection, now at the University of Texas, where Miss Ratchford is custodian of the rare books collections, is worth far more than Wrenn paid Wise. Nevertheless, this book is a warning to bibliophiles, though Thomas J. Wise was unique." B. C. Clough
+ Weekly Book Review p23 Mr 4 '45 1100w

Reviewed by D. G. Wing
Yale R n s 34:757 summer '45 700w

WISH, HARVEY. Contemporary America; the national scene since 1900. 657p il $4 Harper

973.9 U.S.—History—20th century 45-4482

Textbook history of the United States from 1900 to 1944. "I have sought to present patterns of historical behavior rather than a mere catalogue of the 'past everything.' . . By a detailed picture of the impact of the metropolis and mature capitalism on American behavior this book seeks to integrate (where the facts justify it) the social, economic, and political phases of our times." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by A. F. Tyler
Ann Am Acad 242:181 N '45 400w

"To the millions of unfortunate students who have had to learn their American history from dull and stuffy textbooks, this volume would have been a boon. Wish has written an admirable and comprehensive survey of America from 1900 to 1944. His book is broad in scope and sound in its interpretations." Walter Johnson
+ Book Week p3 Jl 8 '45 310w

Booklist 42:127 D 15 '45

"The book is competently written, mildly liberal in viewpoint, and exploits to good advantage the available secondary sources. It is, moreover, extremely readable and surprisingly free from major errors." Henry David
+ Nation 161:290 S 22 '45 500w

"The author is an able and—in other works—notably liberal young historian. But one need only read his delicate handling of the Sacco-Vanzetti case to see what a deadening effect writing a textbook can have. Another textbook vice is the inevitable string of ghastly three-line literary judgments that result from the writers' attempts to do 'justice' to 'cultural trends.'"
— + New Repub 113:86 Jl 16 '45 240w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:35 D '45 320w

WITHERS, CARL (JAMES WEST, pseud). Plainville, U.S.A. 238p $2.75 Columbia univ. press

323.354 Sociology, Rural. Social surveys A45-1863

"In this book I have attempted to describe from the viewpoint of an anthropologist, but with a minimum of anthropological language,

WITHERS, CARL—Continued
certain phases in the life of a small contemporary American rural community. The materials on which it is based were collected between June, 1939, and August, 1940, and during July and August, 1941, as part of a larger research project on acculturation, financed by the Social Science Research Council of Columbia University, and directed by Professor Ralph Linton, Chairman of the Department of Anthropology of the same institution. The present study was undertaken to attempt to learn specifically and in detail how one relatively isolated and still 'backward' American farming community reacts to the constant stream of traits and influences pouring into it from cities and from more 'modern' farming communities." (Introd) Index.

"Plainville is an important book today. It will be even more important to American historians a hundred years hence." H. L. Carter
+ Am Hist R 51:174 O '45 280w

"In the main, the book is an excellent example of what a rural sociology ought to be. A multiplication of such studies would help us understand the larger statistical surveys and would, also, stimulate rural sociologists to surveys of more scientific and practical import than many they now make." E. C. Hughes
+ — Am J Soc 51:166 S '45 500w

"Those who do not know American rural life, especially 'backwoods' rural life, will find this book as interesting as a novel, because the type of life that Plainvillers live will seem novel to them. The author leaves no phase of life untouched or undescribed. Those who are interested in a highly analytical account of contemporary rural life will also read the book with interest, if for no other reason than to observe what among the commonplace an anthropologist considers significant." C. C. Taylor
+ Ann Am Acad 242:198 N '45 400w

"The parallel between Plainville U.S.A. and the well known Middletown is obvious. The work is as expertly done in one as in the other. But the 'atypical' character of the community makes the former seem more like a footnote, rather than a chapter, in the social history of America." W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 62:653 My 30 '45 500w

"Well arranged, comprehensive and particularly pleasing in presentation. Interesting now as a detailed picture of life in a rural town and will be fascinating to future generations. Gradations in customs and manners are shown objectively and yet with a warmly human touch. In approach and interpretation it sets a standard for these studies. For most libraries." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 70:265 Mr 15 '45 70w

Reviewed by Margaret Marshall
Nation 160:652 Je 9 '45 1450w

New Repub 112:798 Je 4 '45 120w

"A book that has not only considerable significance in its social warning but a genuine charm in its descriptive human detail." Rebecca Pitts
+ N Y Times p7 Ap 8 '45 550w

Springf'd Republican p4d My 6 '45 950w

Reviewed by Josephine Strode
Survey 81:245 S '45 500w

Times [London] Lit Sup p471 O 6 '45 550w

WITHERS, WILLIAM. Public debt. 110p $1.75 Day

336.34 Debts, Public. Finance—U.S. 45-361

"Professor at Queens College analyzes in small but concentrated volume burning problem of public debt. After short historical review the more important theories are examined. Author points out dangers of inflation and deflation and stresses new role of public debt and taxation as important factors in balancing the economic system. Concrete suggestions for postwar policy are put forward." Library J

Reviewed by F. M. Stewart
Am Pol Sci R 39:1232 D '45 700w

Current Hist 8:440 My '45 70w

"Strongly recommended for all libraries whose readers possess some understanding of economic problems." H. H. A. Bernt
+ Library J 70:32 Ja 1 '45 110w

"The first chapter is marred by a few rather hasty generalizations such as, 'War unavoidably increases the political powers of business men because military mechanisms are dependent upon the factories that they manage.' Dealing with his main subject, the author is much more objective; the book is a real contribution to intelligent citizenship, and it is written for the intelligent citizen." C. E. Noyes
+ — Nation 160:255 Mr 3 '45 420w

New Repub 112:341 Mr 5 '45 150w

WITTKE, CARL FREDERICK. Against the current; the life of Karl Heinzen (1809-80). 342p il $3.75 Univ. of Chicago press

B or 92 Heinzen, Karl Peter A45-754

"Author, dean of Oberlin College and outstanding authority on history of immigration to U. S., tells moving life story of Karl Heinzen, half-forgotten German radical exile. This first full-length biography is based on hitherto unknown source material. It describes very vividly all the tribulations through which the hero went in Prussia and Switzerland and how he finally established himself in this country as editor of a crusading newspaper. Heinzen belonged to generation of Carl Schurz, but lacked the latter's versatility and sense of statesmanship." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by Dieter Cunz
Am Hist R 50:815 Jl '45 800w

Reviewed by Gerhard Krebs
Am Pol Sci R 39:400 Ap '45 500w

"Professor Wittke, always the thorough, precise historian, has given us a well-rounded study of a true revolutionist. It is a work that will stand with Claude Fuess's life of Carl Schurz. Schurz and Heinzen were direct opposites, yet the products of the same revolution. This biography is important in that it pictures the typical German mind, and in many cases the arrogant German immigrant's attitude toward the United States. It has a tendency toward making one think in terms of new immigration laws and more stringent examinations for citizenship." J. J. Flynn
+ Ann Am Acad 241:197 S '45 450w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 F 4 '45 650w

"Remarkably well-written book will appeal especially to readers of foreign origin; recommended for larger public and college libraries." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 70:68 Ja 15 '45 110w

"Professor Wittke's life of the great German American Karl Heinzen is appropriately solid and business-like. To read it made me realize how excessively my knowledge of German socialism a hundred years ago was limited to what Marx and the Marxists have told me. In freeing an independent radical from the disgrace and obscurity conferred upon him by the disingenuous slurs of doctrinaires Professor Wittke has performed one of the finest services of scholarship. And he has written an interesting book." E. R. Bentley
+ Nation 160:163 F 10 '45 100w

"Heinzen limited his influence by free employment of invective and inability to compromise. Nor were his efforts furthered by that failure to master English, a defect which unfortunately characterized several generations of progressive-minded Germans—a culture problem that deserves more attention than Dean Wittke gives it. . . Heinzen was more of a sentimentalist than he knew. A believer in 'humanity' undifferentiated, he never grasped the nature of politics. He rejected the Marxist class analysis—without, apparently, having understood it; and was clearly not the 'Socialist' depicted by his biographer, who shares the misunderstanding. Aside from the weaknesses mentioned, this is an excellent study." S. L. Jackson
+ — New Eng Q 18:282 Je '45 350w

"Dean Wittke's biography of this strange and able man is a distinguished book, being scholarly and objective as well as human and quite urbane." G. N. Shuster
+ N Y Times p22 F 4 '45 1000w

"The chapters on Heinzen's activities during the revolution of 1848 and the passages on his feud with Marx and Engels and other leaders of the German Left are rather sketchy and unsatisfactory, so is the part giving Heinzen's position during the Civil War. But the other chapters offer a wealth of valuable information about Heinzen and that whole group of German immigrants of the middle nineteenth century whose ideas and activities influenced broad spheres of American life in their time." F. C. Weiskopf
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:15 F 3 '45 270w

WODEHOUSE, HELEN. One kind of religion. 208p $2.75 Macmillan [8s 6d Cambridge]

201 Religion—Philosophy [45-4820]

"The claim made in Dr. Wodehouse's title is modest and the argument is sustained with a reverence and humility fitting the title. It is an argument which deserves to be treated with equal respect, for this serious and persuasive study is a real contribution to theological literature. Dr. Wodehouse describes her 'one kind of religion' sufficiently clearly for ordinary persons when she says that she uses the name of God 'for that which I worship and that whose presence upholds me, for the sum of the substance of all good.' " Times [London] Lit Sup

---

"The book is both powerful and beautiful, and even for the orthodox Christian, who believes that there is infinitely more still to be said . . . there is much to be gained by the exploration of her thought." Nancy Caudle
+ Canadian Forum 25:98 Jl '45 450w

"This book, so modestly named, is the most stimulating theological volume that I have read in a long time. Sustained by a Christian background, a sensitive, poetic nature, and a well-disciplined philosophical mind, the author bravely sets forth a thesis popular neither with the traditionalist in theology nor with the secularist in philosophy." E. E. Aubrey
+ Crozer Q 23:88 Ja '46 1150w

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p20 Ja 13 '45 950w

WODEHOUSE, ROGER PHILIP. Hayfever plants; their appearance, distribution, time of flowering, and their role in hayfever, with special reference to North America. (New ser. of plant science bks) 245p il $4.75 Chronica botanica

581.67 Botany—U.S. Hayfever plants 45-5460

"The study of hayfever falls into two categories, the clinical and the botanical. Dr. Wodehouse, whose Pollen Grains, published in 1935, is a standard work in its field, has presented in [this volume] a comprehensive and authoritative treatment of the botanical aspects of the affliction. Hayfever is caused by an allergic reaction to the pollen of the anemophilous or wind-pollenated flowers. . . After discussing briefly hayfever toxicity, regional surveys of suspected plants, and methods of measuring atmospheric pollution, the author describes in detail the plants, flowers, pollen grains, quantities of pollen shed, and the time of shedding of all the species in the United States known to cause hayfever." U S Quarterly Bkl

---

Booklist 42:8 S '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Jl '45

"The book is a valuable reference work for physicians, and for patients suffering from hayfever."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:43 S '45 200w

WOELFEL, NORMAN, and TYLER, I. KEITH, eds. Radio and the school; a guidebook for teachers and administrators; prepared by the staff of the Evaluation of school broadcasts project. 358p il $2.12 World bk [5s Harrap]

371.333 Radio in education 45-6464

"This volume was prepared by the staff of the Evaluation of School Broadcasts Project, a research and service enterprise conducted for a period of five years under the sponsorship of the Federal Radio Education Committee of the Federal Communications Commission and supported by grants from the General Education Board. The twelve chapters provide both information regarding the availability of serviceable teaching aids in the form of broadcasts, records, and transcriptions, and an evaluation of various types of radio offerings for particular educational objectives." El School J

"A useful guidebook for teachers and school administrators who may desire reliable information regarding the use of radio in education."
+ El School J 46:236 D '45

School & Society 62:256 O 20 '45 90w

Social Studies 36:376 D '45 50w

WOLFE, BERNARD. Plastics; what everyone should know. 189p il $2.50 Bobbs

668.4 Plastics 45-9693

"Plastics are much more than synthetic substitutes for wood, metal, or textiles; they are new creations of the laboratory. Bernard Wolfe is a science writer and radio commentator who has long been intrigued by their potentialities as materials of tomorrow. Here he tells the story of their discovery and early development, and then groups them on the basis of their chemical composition. Each main type is then made the subject of a well-written and informative chapter." Scientific Bk Club R

Reviewed by Rufus Oldenburger
Book Week p22 N 18 '45 290w

Kirkus 13:291 Jl 1 '45 110w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 70:1137 D 1 '45 60w

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:3 O '45 90w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p12 Ja 6 '46 60w

WOLFE, MRS LINNIE (MARSH). Son of the wilderness; the life of John Muir. 364p $3.50 Knopf

B or 92 Muir, John 45-5892

Portrait of the Scotch-American naturalist, geologist, inventor, and explorer, whose name is remembered especially in connection with our national parks. The book is based upon all available journals and literary remains, and describes both Muir, the man, and the scientist. Index.

"The author of this biography has devoted many years to unearthing journals and letters pertaining to Muir, and to touring the country in his footsteps. If industry and a minute knowledge of the subject were enough to make a great biography, this would be one of the greatest. But Mrs. Wolfe has let her love for the memory of John Muir overshadow her critical judgment, and the result is none too happy. Then, too, one should never write a biography with the subject's daughters looking over one's shoulder." Leonard Dubkin
Book Week p8 Jl 22 '45 270w

Booklist 42:17 S '45

Bookmark 6:14 N '45

"Mrs. Wolfe has come to this biography from long immersion in the journals and notes of this son of the mountains. . . Her book is a product of knowledge, thought, and skill. It will stimulate many readers to go to Muir himself." Horace Reynolds
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 17 '45 550w

WOLFE, LINNIE—Continued

"A book which should find readers everywhere, in this field—but of particular value in California."

+ Kirkus 13:215 My 15 '45 250w

"This is the inspiring story, simply told, of a great American whose genius and vision should have the undying respect and gratitude of our nation. . . Highly recommended." H. G. Kelley

+ Library J 70:635 Jl '45 70w

"Few secondary figures in American history have had biographies more lovingly researched and more carefully written than this definitive study of Muir's odd career." Richard Hofstadter

+ N Y Times p7 Jl 29 '45 900w

"Very earnest, very well documented, and considering the material the author had to work with, rather unforgivably dull."

New Yorker 21:70 Jl 28 '45 60w

"Here one finds a well-balanced account of John Muir's life, his association with numerous contemporaries, his far-reaching influence upon the lives of countless persons, his contributions to science, especially in the field of glacial geology, and his leadership in the conservation movement. There is much of his philosophy, with emphasis appropriately placed upon him as a pragmatist, down-to-earth realist. Much is told of his innumerable warm friendships and his rich family life. Mrs. Wolfe is to be congratulated for her work; she has painted a portrait of a genius who 'comes alive' as her words are read."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:2 Ag '45 240w

Time 46:106 Jl 30 '45 500w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:15 D '45 120w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton

Weekly Book Review p1 Jl 15 '45 1600w

Wis Lib Bul 41:100 O '45

WOLFE, ROLLAND EMERSON. Meet Amos and Hosea, the prophets of Israel. 180p $2 Harper

224.8 Bible. Old Testament—Amos. Bible. Old Testament—Hosea 45-3136

"The Prophets of Israel uttered their oracles to their own time, but they continue to speak them to every time, not least to our own. Prof. Rolland Wolfe, who teaches biblical literature at Tufts . . . through the instruments of literary criticism has attempted to reconstruct their form and structure. He finds that the vicissitudes through which the books of Amos and Hosea have passed have reduced them in their present state to something of a chaotic jumble, and that less than half of the material represents their actual words." Christian Century

---

"Critically, it must be admitted, there is much that is attractive in Professor Wolfe's acute diagnosis and interpretation. . . But there are several lines of reasoning which might constitute objections to this new suggestion. Do not the critical operations sometimes do violence to literary forms perceptible in the present text? Is it necessary to deal quite so radically with the text?" James Muilenberg

+ — Christian Century 62:552 My 2 '45 650w

Christian Science Monitor p16 Je 9 '45 550w

"Highly recommended—especially to teachers." J. H. Titus

+ Churchman 159:16 O 15 '45 160w

"This volume will serve a useful purpose in making dramatic the meaning of these two prophets of Israel. It is hoped that Professor Wolfe will continue this series in order to make available to the average reader the fruit of higher criticism upon other prophets of Israel." J. B. Pritchard

+ Crozer Q 22:274 Jl '45 700w

"This is a book which can be commended to serious students of the Bible who are ready to accept the results of Biblical scholarship."

+ Kirkus 13:59 F 1 '45 150w

Wis Lib Bul 41:65 Je '45

WOLFE, THOMAS. A stone, a leaf, a door; poems; selected and arranged in verse by John S. Barnes; with a foreword by Louis Untermeyer. 166p $2.50 Scribner

811 45-35192

An experiment in which some of Thomas Wolfe's prose-poetry has been reprinted in the form of verse. "Here again is great variety, ranging from long, swinging dithyrambs that might have come from Blake's 'Prophetic Books' or Whitman's 'Leaves of Grass' to the crisper phrasing we associate with H. D. or Amy Lowell." (N Y Times)

"The sweep of America is here. The sun-baked fields of the South. The slums of New York and Chicago, the cool serenity of mountains. But Wolfe himself remains in a country he loves, a wanderer, a seeker for some far and half-forgotten grotto. And the song he sang was the song of a man who walked alone in darkness. One needs to hear the sound of a human voice—even one's own—on such a journey." Sterling North

+ Book Week p2 S 23 '45 500w

Booklist 42:54 O 15 '45

"Mr. Barnes has been highly successful in his experiment. Yet his very success has produced a strange book. Wolfe was a man who not only absorbed experiences and retained them but also reflected much that he read. There are passages that sound like Baudelaire, like Poe, like Whitman—even like a free-verse Shelley. This is not surprising, of course, because Wolfe was himself so pre-eminently the romantic. Mr. Barnes, with no guide but his natural ear, seems to have reproduced the separate cadences of the prose much as the author intended them." Robert Hillyer

+ N Y Times p7 S 30 '45 900w

"An occasional good epithet only accents the prevailing enervating and fibreless effect."

— New Yorker 21:99 O 6 '45 50w

"It is possible to read and enjoy 'A Stone, A Leaf, A Door' as a book of poems and to disregard the novels from which they were drawn. Here, from beginning to end, one is confronted by an impassioned youth imprisoned in flesh and spirit seeking escape from personal exile and ranging from the womb to the grave in a rhapsodic state of despair and exultation. The book is a theme with variations, and the theme is the author himself seizing on natural images to symbolize his embattled existence and destiny." Alfred Kreymborg

+ Sat R of Lit 28:32 N 3 '45 850w

Reviewed by C. M. Sauer

Springf'd Republican p4d D 16 '45 360w

Time 46:106 O 1 '45 250w

Reviewed by Horace Gregory

Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 13 '46 2000w

Reviewed by Louis Untermeyer

Yale R n s 35:337 winter '46 170w

WOLFERT, IRA. American guerrilla in the Philippines. 301p $2.75 Simon & Schuster

940.542 Richardson, Iliff David. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Philippine islands 45-3349

The hero of this true story is Lieutenant I. D. Richardson, USNR, who was executive officer to Lieutenant Kelly of the "expendables." When all the PT boats were destroyed, Richardson, with ten AAF pilots tried to sail a native boat to Australia, but they were shipwrecked. On Leyte again he joined the guerrilla band, worked under Colonel Ruperto Kangleon, helped keep MacArthur informed by radio, and was one of the first men the general asked to see when he came back to Leyte.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 175:129 My '45 400w

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky

Book Week p1 Ap 22 '45 1050w

Booklist 41:253 My 1 '45

Bookmark 6:13 My '45

"A well-told tale of extraordinary personal adventure is unquestionably the world's most exciting reading matter. That is why 'American Guerrilla in the Philippines' is going to be bought widely and passed from hand to hand." Ray McPartlin

+ Boston Globe p17 Ap 25 '45 330w

"The book possesses the almost irresistible appeal of a story too fantastic to seem real, yet demonstrably true."
+ Cath World 161:446 Ag '45 150w

"Like many educated men, Richardson likes to use the vernacular and his style, as rendered by Wolfert, is vivid and racy; too racy in places, perhaps, for some tastes, but the language is always in keeping with the surroundings and the characters, and apparently is never used for shock effect. But this method of telling the story is a little disconcerting at times, because the reader can't always make out who is who, or what is going on where." L. A. S.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 20 '45 300w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45

Foreign Affairs 24:162 O '45 30w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 21:278 Jl '45 80w

"Not so young nor so personal an account as St. John's, but more substantial."
Kirkus 13:48 F 1 '45 170w

"Interesting, particularly accounts of ingenuity of the American fugitives who created telegraph lines from barbed wire, filed bullets from brass curtain rods and made automotive fuel from home-distilled alcohol. Also includes love theme. Recommended for adults." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 70:219 Mr 1 '45 130w

"American Guerrilla in the Philippines offers convincing evidence of the extent of [Wolfert's] skill and can be unreservedly set down as one of the most interesting and valuable personal narratives of the war." Richard Watts
+ New Repub 112:713 My 21 '45 1250w

"The character of his hero fascinates the author, and justifiably so. This journal of action is sounder than many a more formal approach to the American character and should not be overlooked by psychologists, anthropologists and social historians. . . Whatever it may lack considered as history or as the last word on war's actuality, the book remains a swift-paced adventure story, easily absorbed and absorbing, with a credible and likable hero of whom Americans may well be proud." D. A. Stauffer
+ N Y Times p1 Ap 22 '45 2050w

New Yorker 21:85 My 5 '45 200w

"Although successive episodes crowd each other, Wolfert has built up a suspense that will permit the reader only with the greatest reluctance to lay this book aside before reaching the end. . . Mr. Wolfert does not need the 'boy meets girl' episodes to hold the interest of the average reader, and it is possibly a defect—not of course, for Hollywood purposes—to over-emphasize the love story. There's excitement and delight enough in watching the lieutenant and his guerrilla companions plague and punish and frustrate the Japanese without dragging in, rather indiscreetly, the love affair that might more appropriately remain the private property of Lieutenant Richardson. . . The story of his and the guerrillas' activities will fascinate the reader. It is a story of courageous initiative, inventiveness, and cunning." Donald Armstrong
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:7 Ap 21 '45 800w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 29 '45 700w

Time 45:100 Ap 30 '45 60w

"Although the book has faults of style and composition, its sincerity, its journalistic crispness, give it a flavor of authenticity that would be difficult to approach in studied prose. It has no value as a document on the total effect of guerrilla activities after the fall of Corregidor and Bataan, but it will contribute to the human understanding of these men, cut off from the world, and beating out a living in the jungles."
+ — U S Quarterly Bkl 1:8 D '45 240w

"It is good to have this tremendous story of adventure and achievement in the Pacific war, if only as a testimonial to the many such stories that must of necessity go unrecorded. Yet few could hope to match this tale for sheer heroism and amazing incident; it is easy to see how the author, when he ran afoul of it, could not rest until he had put it down. He has written it in a vivid, staccato style that fits in admirably with the rush and drama of the narrative. It sounds like a man telling his own story, pouring it out helter-skelter, breaking off now and then to supply a wealth of fascinating detail or inject some startling observation; and the author has managed to communicate his own enthusiasm to the work, his own sense of admiration and excitement and humility." Lincoln Colcord
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ap 22 '45 1250w

Wis Lib Bul 41:68 Je '45

WOLFSON, VICTOR. Lonely steeple. 260p $2.50 Simon & Schuster
45-6107

Tragic story of a New England woman, whose mind was warped by a brutal shock in her childhood. She married a man who wanted her to bolster his own weak morale, but when the experiment failed, he divorced her. For a time Addie was happy in the love of a good, gentle man, and then her divorced husband, with his wife and child, returned to town. The end was insanity for Addie and tragedy for the family next door.

"For his first novel, Victor Wolfson has chosen for himself an almost impossible task and so well has he succeeded that it becomes more than a tour de force, an experiment in skill, and, it seems to me, puts him well up at the top among writers of psychological horror stories." T. S. Winslow
+ Book Week p3 S 16 '45 600w

Booklist 42:150 Ja 1 '46

Kirkus 13:228 Je 1 '45 170w

"A melodramatic plot, but never strained or false or implausible, despite an almost painful intensity of style. Not for small libraries." M. H. McElfresh
Library J 70:820 S 15 '45 80w

"One fact soon overtakes you in this story of poor paranoid Addie Eldredge and that is that something is bound to happen. . . This creates an atmosphere of suspense at first: then suspense gives way to irritation and at last to boredom. The story is cluttered up with plants and forebodings, and before you know it, you are back in the movie theatre watching the building up of an obvious horror-climax." Isaac Rosenfeld
New Repub 113:582 O 29 '45 500w

"It is an unpretentious debut and within its scope a commendable one. For in 'The Lonely Steeple,' in spite of some deficiencies, including a rather meager plot line, Mr. Wolfson has managed to create a psychological melodrama that succeeds in maintaining itself most of the way. . . The intensity with which Mr. Wolfson makes Addie tell her grim saga, the cold scalpel that she applies to her emotional life are the novel's main preservers. Without these assets 'The Lonely Steeple' would be dull indeed." Lewis Funke
+ — N Y Times p22 S 23 '45 450w

"Nobody, I feel sure, is ever going to call 'The Lonely Steeple,' by Victor Wolfson, 'a woman's novel.' His publishers, as if they were determined to frighten off the trade, insist that 'it is not a novel for escapists' and that it is 'thoroughly tragic in the deepest sense,' and then quote Louis Untermeyer as saying that, besides having the intensity of a Greek play, it is written in a hypnotic style. I dissent. . . It could be that an insane woman might write this way and that it is a hypnotic way of writing, but I am inclined to dismiss both these notions. I also think we can dismiss Mr. Wolfson's elaborate pretense that an insane woman could sit down and write a book, even so disjointed and erratic a volume as this." Hamilton Basso
New Yorker 21:81 S 29 '45 450w

WOLFSON, VICTOR—Continued

"The author, heretofore known chiefly as a dramatist, has brought to this story some of the qualities especially associated with the theatre: suspense, moving situations, and a problem not finally resolved until the last act. But his mastery of his material, his creation of character and atmosphere, the tightness of his whole design, these belong to the best traditions of the novel as well as the play, and they show him to be an accomplished and distinguished craftsman in the art of fiction." Grace Frank

+ Sat R of Lit 28:40 O 20 '45 600w

"It is a heart-rending tale because it is such a hopeless one. The shocking climax on which now, at last, she can look back with clarity if not with detachment, is made awful because it is contrasted so clearly with the very considerable gentleness and kindness which Addie had received, not only from Halsey and a neighbor woman, but even from Ed Purdy and his second wife. This is more than a tale of poverty and outrage, of incest and murder: it is an intimate analysis of a human being pushed inevitably beyond the borders of sanity." Iris Barry

+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 23 '45 650w

WOLLHEIM, DONALD A., ed. Portable novels of science; sel. and with introductions. (Viking portable lib) 737p $2 Viking

45-35183

Contents: The first men in the moon, by H. G. Wells; Before the dawn, by John Taine; The shadow out of time, by H. P. Lovecraft; Odd John, by Olaf Stapledon.

"The 'Viking Portables' standard is too high to stoop to this sort of anthology." Sterling North

— Book Week p2 O 14 '45 600w

Booklist 42:58 O 15 '45

"These combine exciting sicentific speculation with good writing, thereby earning a place of their own in literature."

+ Kirkus 13:321 Ag 1 '45 110w

WOOD, KERRY. Three mile bend; il. by Hugh Weatherby. 170p $3 Humphries [12s Hatchard]

574.971 Natural history—Alberta, Canada [45-35203]

"Chatty, informal chapters about the natural history of a bend in a river in Alberta, Canada. It is a picnic spot enjoyed by people from a near-by town, and the author uses it as a departure point for wild-life anecdotes, hunting stories, and animal fables. Cartoon-like illustrations emphasize the humor." Booklist

Booklist 42:72 N 1 '45

"These short stories are various enough to please most tastes, supposing the reader to be fond of nature and of wild animals. There are slight sketches, legends and tales with a liberal touch of farce, but every story indicates a real love and knowledge of trees, flowers, birds and beasts. . . In short this is a fresh, lively and attractive book."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p608 D 22 '45 150w

WOODALL, SALLY LEE. Puffy goes to sea; drawings by Mariinsky. [70p] $2 U.S. camera

45-3541

Adventures of a small fish dissatisfied with life in his home river. Puffy swam out to sea, but was so horrified at the sights he saw there, that he was thankful to swim back to his peaceful river.

"Mariinsky's stunning pictures make this book. Never, short of nature itself, will you find such gorgeous deep-sea colors. Mariinsky's fish are wonderful and funny and completely fascinating. But the story doesn't measure up to the pictures." P. A. Whitney

+ — Book Week p11 Je 24 '45 90w

Kirkus 13:159 Ap 1 '45 130w

"Both author and artist seem to have their eye on an adult audience, for the story is wordy and over-elaborate for children." A. T. Eaton

N Y Times p18 My 13 '45 100w

WOODBURY, HELEN (MRS TRELL W. YOCUM), ed. The faith of man speaks; an anthology of consolation. 133p $1.75 Macmillan

242 Consolation 45-4693

"Brief selections of poetry and prose from the far past, the nearer past and the present, in defiance of death, affirmation of life, and confirmation of faith in the things of the spirit." (Christian Century) Index of authors and sources.

Booklist 42:31 O 1 '45

Christian Century 62:887 Ag 1 '45 40w

"Clergymen of all faiths and others wishing as a handy reference book a symposium of some of the great utterances of some of the world's great believers will find this volume helpful."

+ Kirkus 13:62 F 1 '45 80w

"This book brings together a rich and varied selection of the expressions of the faith of man as he has faced the sorrow of life and the mystery of death." D. J. Campbell

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 24 '45 280w

WOODS, HENRY FITZWILLIAM. American sayings; famous phrases, slogans, and aphorisms. 310p $2.50 Essential bks.

973 Quotations. U.S.—History

Explains the origins of some three hundred popular American sayings and phrases. After repeating the slogan, the book tells who said it, when, and why. Quotations are grouped under four main headings: Political and civil; War; Sociological and economic; and Popular. Bibliography. Index of phrases and one of names.

Book Week p5 D 23 '45 60w

Booklist 42:161 Ja 15 '46

"A much larger book of American sayings than this could be accumulated. There is little here, for instance, from the rich, slangy fields of American song, melodrama, and minstrelsy. . . But maybe Mr. Woods was wise to limit the number as he has. You can have too much of even a good thing. There is much here for everyone. Every reader will find here old favorites and others he will be glad to learn of. Learn, we all can, from Mr. Woods' careful notes." R. M. H.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 Ja 12 '46 550w

"A list of phrases, slogans and aphorisms with paragraphs explaining their origin, authors and use. The particular value lies in their immediacy. . . Unfortunately, there's a tendency to accept superficial scholarship in running down sources, which hurts the book from the angle of permanent use."

+ — Kirkus 13:500 N 15 '45 170w

"As far as the book goes it is excellent. However, the well-known utterances included herein are but a drop in the bucket. . . It appears that the two Roosevelts, F. D. and Theodore, were the most prolific phrase makers in our history. The former contributes twenty-eight, the largest number, to Mr. Woods' collection, and the latter twenty-four, the second largest number. Woodrow Wilson supplies fourteen, Bryan twelve and Lincoln ten. It is to be hoped Mr. Woods will continue his compilation." John Weld

+ N Y Times p16 Ja 6 '46 230w

Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 2 '46 330w

"To read Mr. Woods's book is to take a pleasant voyage through America's past, political, social, economic, to hear America's story in the slogans of our ancestors. . . A book like this was inevitable at this time: It follows naturally in the wake of such larger craft as the 'Dictionary of American English' and 'Names on the Land,' Mr. Stewart's fine study of American placenames. Some readers will wish that Mr. Woods's collection had more breadth and size in selection, more charm, grace, and interest in its commentary." Horace Reynolds

Weekly Book Review p16 Ja 20 '46 600w

WOODWARD, HELEN (ROSEN) (MRS WILLIAM E. WOODWARD). Money to burn. 214p $2 McKay

45-4379

Detective story.

Kirkus 13:167 Ap 15 '45 80w

"Mrs. Woodward's essay into the detective-story field is marked by incisive writing, good characters and a tricky plot." E. H.

+ New Repub 112:718 My 21 '45 90w

"The denouement is rather stagy and long drawn out, but otherwise the story is skilfully plotted and well told."

+ — N Y Times p22 My 20 '45 180w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p18 Je 10 '45 90w

WOODWARD, WILLIAM E. Tom Paine: America's godfather, 1737-1809. 359p il $3.50 Dutton

B or 92 Paine, Thomas 45-5359

The present biography of Thomas Paine contradicts the idea that he was "a filthy, little atheist." The author denies categorically that he was any one of the three. He gives the facts of his life, as he found them, examines his writings, and shows the part Paine played in the American Revolution. Index.

"This book is more a slapdash history of the American and French revolutions, punctuated by copious quotations from the writings of Tom Paine, than a biography. It shows signs of hasty editing; it abounds in enthusiastic assertion; of Paine himself it reveals little that could not be gleaned from his own words." C. W. Morton

— Atlantic 176:138 S '45 300w

Reviewed by J. A. Brandt

Book Week p3 Jl 1 '45 900w

Booklist 41:339 Jl 15 '45

Bookmark 6:14 N '45

Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 14 '45 600w

Kirkus 13:175 Ap 15 '45 250w

"Though uncritical and eulogistic, like most of the recent biographies of Paine, it is entertaining to a high degree. Recommended for larger libraries, and for those smaller libraries which do not have any of the other recent biographies of Paine." G. W. Wakefield

+ — Library J 70:586 Je 15 '45 110w

Reviewed by Coleman Rosenberger

Nation 160:723 Je 30 '45 500w

"Mr. Woodward's appreciative opus is pleasantly entertaining. Except perhaps for the fact that he has tried and found wanting a type of 'smokeless' candle just like one Paine was unduly proud of inventing, it is hard to see what, if anything, Mr. Woodward has added to our knowledge of his subject. And when he endorses Elbert Hubbard's curious statement that Paine was 'the first of all men' to suggest the Federal Union of States, propose arbitration and international peace, and the abolition of Negro slavery, he must be forgetting much of the history he knows."

+ — New Repub 113:142 Jl 30 '45 120w

"Lively, well-documented, and extremely readable biography."

+ New Yorker 21:90 Je 30 '45 140w

"Mr. Woodward attests many times throughout the book that he is, in effect, sticking to the available facts. . . His book is full of published documents, record upon official record, letter upon letter. If nothing else, the book is certainly a tribute to the author's monumental work of research. But the book is more than that. Much more. It is an exciting, burning record of a man's doctrine and faith that became that of a whole people and nation; that outlawed him from England; brought him, in the space of a few years' time, both adulation and imprisonment in France; and returned him to America to the contempt and ostracism of his own countrymen." D. L. Horner

+ Sat R of Lit 28:12 Jl 7 '45 1050w

"Woodward's story is simply written, and dedicated to the purpose of defending Paine against detractors past and present, real and imaginary. The author quotes liberally from the better known essays, like 'Common Sense,' 'The American Crisis,' 'The Rights of Man' and 'The Age of Reason.' He refers also to some of Paine's earlier, minor writings in the Pennsylvania magazine. To those unfamiliar with some really exciting documents, these extracts will be a stimulating introduction; one hopes it will be followed up." S. L. Jackson

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 24 '45 600w

"Tom Paine has suffered appalling injustice, it is true. He was an ardent patriot, he was generous to a fault, he was brave, he was decent. Finally, he was incomparably the finest press-agent this country has ever produced. But he was essentially second-rate, and that is why the hyenas were able to drag him down and keep his memory befouled for generations. They can't do it to a first-rater. Nevertheless, to see coming to his rescue a champion bursting with rage and wit and 'dealing destruction's devastating doom' to his slanderers is a pleasant and goodly sight. Mr. Woodward deserves a salute, for he wields the sword of justice—and, oh boy, does he swing it!" G. W. Johnson

Weekly Book Review p1 Je 24 '45 1850w

Wis Lib Bul 41:101 O '45

WOODY, REGINA J. Stars came down; pictures by Rafaello Busoni. [58p] $2 Harcourt

After living underground for all of her six years of life the Princess Bettina finds the stars very beautiful. She wishes for them to be in the valley where the people live as well as in the sky and this story is of how her birthday wish was made to come true.

"It is as modern as the vacuum cleaner the houseman runs over the palace carpets, and yet it has all the imaginative trappings of a fairy tale. . . Rafaello Busoni's lovely illustrations carry out the fairy tale quality of the story."

+ Book Week p17 N 11 '45 230w

Booklist 42:97 N 15 '45

Churchman 159:7 N 15 '45 20w

Kirkus 13:472 O 15 '45 70w

"This modern fairy tale has humor and charm and will be enjoyed by eight and nine-year-old girls." J. E. Lynch

+ Library J 70:1138 D 1 '45 70w

"How much of the sociological implication children 8 to 12 will comprehend is debatable, but doubtless they will approve of Bettina. The pictures are unfortunate, badly reproduced, harsh in color and far from ingratiating." Phyllis McGinley

— + N Y Times p8 N 11 '45 230w

"This is a story that might easily be sentimental; but it isn't. The characters are well drawn and the dialogue is fresh and natural. The drawings, some in color and some in black and white, have the same quality that characterizes the story. They are romantic and yet they are modern. Little girls will find it a satisfying book." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:54 N 10 '45 450w

"A charming little story about a princess which combines all the attractive features of a fairy tale, with a thoroughly up-to-date situation and plot. . . A humorous and delightful story, which children and grownups will both appreciate." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 28 '45 150w

Weekly Book Review p8 N 11 '45 310w

WOOLBERT, ROBERT GALE, comp. Foreign affairs bibliography. (Council on foreign relations. Publications) 705p $6 Harper

016.327 International law and relations—Bibliography

"A selected bibliography of the most significant books published throughout the world between 1932 and 1942, covering the field of international relations—contemporary history, politics, diplomacy, economics and finance, international law and world organization, as well as related subjects such as political philosophy, comparative government, social development, religion, cultural relations, population and racial problems, and modern warfare. The first part of the book is devoted to these categories, followed by sections on the First and Second World Wars. The remainder of the volume takes up in turn each continent, region and country. In all there are some 10,000 titles in 40 different languages classified under about 500 headings with appropriate cross references. Each entry is briefly appraised and supplied with full bibliographical data—the author's full name, the place and date of publication, the name of the publisher and the number of pages. This is a continuing volume to Foreign Affairs Bibliography, 1919-1932, by William L. Langer and Hamilton Fish Armstrong. [Book Review Digest, 1933]." (Foreign Affairs) Index to authors.

"Concerning this volume one may quote with full endorsement the statement on the dust jacket that it is an indispensable reference work in libraries and editorial offices and on the desks of writers and scholars."
+ Am Hist R 51:145 O '45 300w

"It should prove an invaluable aid to scholars, teachers and other seekers after detailed information on world affairs." W. F. M.
+ Book Week p8 Je 17 '45 90w
Booklist 41:315 Jl 1 '45
Foreign Affairs 23:689 Jl '45 150w
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:63 S '45 160w

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (GEORGE HOPLEY, WILLIAM IRISH, pseuds). Night has a thousand eyes. 301p $2.50 Farrar
45-10479

A mystery-horror tale, with psychic overtones.

Reviewed by James Sandoe
Book Week p16 D 9 '45 380w

"For all its defects, repetition, forcing, a spot job of double audience appeal (mystery cum psychical research)."
+ — Kirkus 13:443 O 1 '45 90w
New Repub 113:910 D 31 '45 60w

"The author, a literary craftsman who is equally at home on several levels, tells his tale with a gusto Karloff might envy: the pace never slackens, from the superb cinematic opening (it goes without saying that this book will make a Grade-A horror special) to the gelid pay-off. [The author] is always one jump ahead of the reader—yet not too far ahead to make him a willing, if panting, collaborator. . . It is quite true that last big moment may suffer a bit from the law of diminishing returns—even if you haven't guessed from just what quarter that not-to-be-avoided lion will strike. But addicts of the grand guignol will hardly balk at that. The present reader can only advise you to leave the night-light burning if you insist on finishing this one in bed." James MacBride
+ N Y Times p44 D 2 '45 450w

"Detective Tom Shawn doubles or triples as deep thinker, bodyguard and sweetheart while the ingredients come to a tall conclusion suitable for a wide audience of good-natured fans willing to smile when they can't swallow some of the morsels. This has suspense, all right, especially if you care what may happen to the doomed millionaire. We admired the police work more than the character analysis, and that goes for the heroine's brand of mental derangement, a star phobia started by a drop of soup. Taken as a gooseflesh novelty on the woozy side, it does nicely." Will Cuppy
+ — Weekly Book Review p29 N 25 '45 180w

WOOTTON, BARBARA FRANCES (ADAM) (MRS GEORGE PERCIVAL WRIGHT). Freedom under planning. 180p $2 Univ. of N.C. press [6s Allen, G]

338.91 Economic policy 45-9884

A short book, by an English economist, dealing with the controversial question of economic planning,—does it or does it not lead to authoritarianism and loss of freedom by the people. The author devotes much of her book to criticism of the views set forth by Professor F. A. Hayek in his book, Road to Serfdom.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 N 25 '45 360w
Booklist 42:124 D 15 '45
Kirkus 13:489 N 1 '45 80w

"This is an admirable and timely book because it is in method as honest as in clarity it is remarkable. If the business men who have fallen under the spell of Professor Hayek's ability to make confusion and value-judgments seem like the day of judgment—in which Mr. Attlee emerges as the vanquished and not the victor—would take a carefully planned dose of Mrs. Wootton's excellent medicine they might come to see what they have not yet begun even to try to understand." H. J. L.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 S 7 '45 250w

"This book is at the heart of an intensely controversial field, and the author holds firm convictions on one side of that controversy. Yet there is a fairness in her treatment of the subject which goes deeper than good manners. She disregards the weak points of her opponents' argument and employs the strong points for a careful probing of her own case. She scrupulously avoids the use of fighting words with double meanings. She defines candidly both freedom and planning, and her definitions meet the issue squarely. The result is an argument which consists of scrupulous inquiry rather than invective or innuendo." George Soule
+ New Repub 113:682 N 19 '45 700w

"A large part of the argument follows familiar lines. Mrs. Wootton is at her best where she is breaking comparatively new ground, as in her discussion of wages under planning. . . Mrs. Wootton is much less satisfying when she comes to deal with the political aspects of planning." G. D. H. Cole
+ — New Statesman & Nation 30:132 Ag 25 '45 600w
Springf'd Republican p4d N 25 '45 350w

WORDEN, MRS FELICE. Sketch book of dogs. [127p] il $2 Ackerman

636.7 Dogs—Pictures, illustrations, etc.
Agr45-311

A collection of 116 drawings with brief text, showing the breeds and varieties of dogs recognized by the American Kennel Club.

"The sketches seem a bit static to one used to Diana Thorne and other artists of delightful action-drawings; but they are, doubtless, preferred that way by the dog exhibitor, who seems interested primarily in specific standardized poses and shapes. Certainly the volume is an artistic advance over the usual run of dog handbooks."
+ — Christian Science Monitor p22 O 20 '45 150w

"Six to a dozen lines of narrative accompany each sketch. They lack salient information, however. This reviewer cannot hold to the foreword, which points out that the book fills a long felt need in the dog world for an interesting and educational work; that it should be in the library of every dog fancier and that anatomy and type are clearly depicted in the book." Charlena Kibbe
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 19 '45 500w

WORMSER, RENE ALBERT. Collection of international war damage claims; a practical guide for laymen and lawyers to the kinds of war damage claims that may be brought, the rules which govern their allowance, the methods of presentation, proof and determination, with particular regard to the treatment of claims after World war II. 411p $7.50 Alexander pub.

341.3 Claims. International law and relations 45-1433

"Suggestions covering the types of international claims that may be brought against governments as a result of war damages. Since such claims are usually defined by international law, with exceptions specified in peace treaties, the author is able to indicate general rules covering their collectibility." Current Hist

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 8:544 Je '45 50w

"In such small compass, it is not surprising that some of the fundamental subjects such as nationality or citizenship and exhaustion of local remedies are covered in a rather brief fashion. The volume, however, is an introductory manual on the subject of international reclamations and points the way, through the text and footnotes, to more detailed information, to which the student or the practitioner may refer." L. H. Woolsey
+ — Harvard Law R 58:905 Jl '45 400w

WORTHINGTON, ALBERTA, comp. International airways. (Reference shelf) 275p $1.25 Wilson, H.W.

387.7 Aeronautics, Commercial 45-7439

Articles on international airways reprinted from magazines and periodicals. "The volume is limited to discussion of the commercial aspects of international aviation, with no attempt to enter into the military problems involved, nor into the question of an international air police force." (Pref)

Booklist 42:21 S '45
Wis Lib Bul 41:98 O '45

WORTS, GEORGE FRANK. Five who vanished. 343p $2 McBride
45-2791

Mystery story.

"Best of the week."
+ Boston Globe p15 Mr 14 '45 60w
Kirkus 12:540 D 1 '44 50w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p20 Mr 4 '45 130w

WRIGHT, MRS FRANCES (FITZPATRICK). Lucy Ellen's heyday. 199p $2 Farrar
45-8410

Lucy Ellen, heroine of Lucy Ellen's College Daze (Book Review Digest, 1943) starts back to college after summer vacation but is soon called home, father is sick, brother has joined the Air Force, and Lucy Ellen must manage the family farm in Tennessee.

Kirkus 13:342 Ag 1 '45 80w

"Story is slight with a small and wholesome love element and is told with a certain lightness that young teen-agers will enjoy. Could be used as very light reading for older girls who feel they have outgrown juvenile books." Olive Brain
Library J 70:982 O 15 '45 50w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 O 7 '45 320w

WRIGHT, FRANK LLOYD. When democracy builds. 130p pl $4 Univ. of Chicago press

720 Architecture. City planning A45-3051

"Beginning with a spirited enthusiastic attack on the American machine-made way of life, especially on the centralization in our vertically congested cities, the famous architect goes on to give his ground plan for a more truly democratic society. Mr. Wright is an evangelical artist who believes that, since politics, religion, philosophy, and economics have failed, 'organic Architecture is perhaps the only interpreter now that can light the way.' He casts a cold eye on current concepts of money, rent, full employment, and housing, and excoriates the selfish forces which he thinks keep American economy muscle bound." New Yorker

Reviewed by Robert Lasch
Book Week p9 My 20 '45 90w
Booklist 41:298 Je 15 '45

"Mr. Wright brings city planning into the category of entertaining reading, not only as a 'modernist' with his feet on the ground, but also as a keen student of democracy both in principle and operation." W. C. Harvey
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 28 '45 700w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 8:543 Je '45 50w
Kirkus 13:101 Mr 1 '45 110w

"Libraries that have earlier books will not need this one. Book has very little general interest." K. T. Willis
Library J 70:354 Ap 15 '45 110w

Reviewed by Albert Guérard
Nation 161:16 Jl 7 '45 300w

"What is most valuable in this overly repetitive prose-poem is its sincerity. Forces now at work are metamorphosed into ideals. Even if we were to modify his proposals at every turn and in every detail, the kernel of his idealism might be strong enough to survive. The doctrine is radical in Wright's own sense, that is, of having roots. The blossoms, if such there are to be, might surprise him exceedingly, but they would be preferable to many of our present stock of petunias." C. L. V. Meeks
+ — N Y Times p5 My 13 '45 1100w

"In spite of a style that is little short of deplorable—'The old City is nothing more than much more of the already much too much in all the Hell there is'—what he has to say is interesting and deserves attention. There are photographs of models of the kind of community architecture Mr. Wright advocates."
New Yorker 21:83 Ap 28 '45 160w

"It is particularly interesting that an architect of Wright's great stature should, in the silver years of his life, have the courage and energy to lay his dreams before us with such clarity. Dreams may be fragile things before the harsh realities of a world at war. We are, nevertheless, trying to envisage a brave new world and those who read this book will be refreshed and encouraged to hope that some of the seeds he so lavishly spreads will take strong root." E. J. Kahn
+ Sat R of Lit 28:26 My 19 '45 550w

Reviewed by Archie Burack
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 24 '45 330w

WRIGHT, GEORGE ERNEST, and FILSON, FLOYD VIVIAN, eds. Westminster historical atlas to the Bible; with an introductory article by William Foxwell Albright. (Westminster aids to the study of the Scriptures) 114p il maps $3.50 Presbyterian bd.

220.91 Bible. Whole—Atlases 45-2903

"The historical text, which would amount to about 300 pages of ordinary size, gives a scholarly account of the course of biblical history set in proper relation to the events and cultures of neighboring nations. The results of modern investigations have been utilized and the processes of archeological research are described and illustrated. . . History and geography are not treated separately but in close and constant connection. The large page (11½ by 16 inches) provides for large and clear maps. There are also many illustrations." (Christian Century) Index.

Booklist 41:247 My 1 '45
Bookmark 6:4 My '45

WRIGHT, G. E.—Continued

"Everything that is needed to make a satisfactory treatment of the historical geography of Palestine is to be found in this excellent new atlas. . . The historical material is well organized and clearly presented. The geographical and descriptive matter is equally excellent."

+ Christian Century 62:368 Mr 21 '45 130w

"A volume very well worth while. . . Opened up, the Atlas wants, for convenient perusal of its text and satisfactory consultation of its map plates, a table of liberal surface and proper height—not forgetting space for the lamp. With its two-column pages, with print of correct face and point, and with maps drawn to suit the measure of the sheet on which they are stamped, nothing could be more agreeably got up. But the material is the thing. Here is no past of remote date. Here is Scriptural history lived afresh and made of the present moment. What excavation, criticism, and scholarship generally have accomplished since the last handbooks on Palestine were compiled is here set forth." W. P. T.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 31 '45 270w

Cleveland Open Shelf p21 N '45

"This reviewer is of the opinion that the volume would profit by a complete bibliography, by a map of modern Palestine more complete than the map which includes excavated sites, and by notations on one of the Jerusalem maps showing elevation above sea level at a dozen or so points in and about Jerusalem. Quite apart from the above comments, however, the Westminster Historical Atlas to the Bible is a work which merits positive commendation for the high quality of its scholarship and for its many attractive features. Professors Wright and Filson, along with their associates and the Westminster Press, have rendered an outstanding service to biblical studies." R. S. Haupert

+ — Crozer Q 22:274 Jl '45 500w

"This is a much needed and valuable reference book, not only for ministers and Bible teachers, but for all who want a clear exposition of the new light which historical and archeological research has thrown upon the old Book in the lands and people with which it deals."

+ Kirkus 13:133 Mr 15 '45 130w

Wis Lib Bul 41:45 Ap '45

WRIGHT, HELEN RUSSELL, ed. Social service in wartime. 201p $2 Univ. of Chicago press

360.973 Social work. World war, 1939—War work A44-3190

Significant facts about the problems and achievements of social workers in wartime. Contents: Social services at the outbreak of the war; The effect of the war on the public assistance programs; The impact of the war on social work with children; The social service program of the American Red cross; Travelers aid service in wartime; Food and the peace; Wartime developments in federated financing of social work; Social work after the war. "The papers presented in this volume were delivered under the auspices of the Charles R. Walgreen Foundation in the autumn of 1943." (Pref) Index.

"It seems unfortunate to this reviewer that more attention is not given to the challenging future and to the opportunities for the exercise of creative imagination in this rapidly expanding and important profession of social work. Academic institutions which are preparing students for employment in the field of social work need to give them not only specific knowledge of problems, but an insight into its challenges. With one or two exceptions, none of the papers would act as a recruiting agent for vigorous and zestful young people contemplating entrance into the field of social work. Had the book included some of the newer developments, and had the authors transmitted more of themselves and their enthusiasms, the volume's influence would be greater." H. I. Clarke

Am Pol Sci R 39:211 F '45 500w

"This whole symposium reveals clearly that social welfare has by no means reached its final frontier but is still forging its philosophy and its concrete implementation." A. J. Todd

Am Soc R 10:110 F '45 450w

"As far as it goes, this is an excellent little book. . . But this is a bad little book, too. It is bad because it makes things seem too good, too well-planned, too much the thing that was needed and wanted. The programs are presented with equal emphasis as part of a logically conceived entirety. There is no suggestion of competition, no hint of conflicting goals. There is no discussion of our miserable failures. . . If we are looking for the larger significance of the war on our traditional welfare concepts, we might better ponder, as the book fails to do, the enormous programs that are serving the members of the armed forces, the former members, and their families." Geoffrey May

Ann Am Acad 237:226 Ja '45 550w

Reviewed by J. P. Anderson

Survey 80:333 N '44 450w

WRIGHT, LOUIS BOOKER, and MACLEOD, JULIA H. The first Americans in North Africa. 240p il $3 Princeton univ. press

973.47 U.S.—History—Tripolitan war, 1801-1805. Eaton, William A45-4437

"A history of early U. S. international relations and of 'William Eaton's struggle for a vigorous policy against the Barbary Pirates 1799-1805,' written from original documents in the Huntington Library. The folly of bribery, appeasement, corruption in dealings between 'powers' is illustrated. William Eaton leads a one-man rebellion to change conditions and with the help of eight Marines, captured Derna, marched to the shores of Tripoli and won recognition for the U.S.A." Library J

"The vigorous personality of William Eaton, chief American figure in the incident, is clearly portrayed, and the exciting narrative holds its full due of reading interest without loss of sound historical scholarship." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Ag 19 '45 80w

"It is an excellent introduction to the history of more recent North African campaigns."

+ Christian Century 62:1065 S 19 '45 170w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 18 '45 700w

Current Hist 9:327 O '45 60w

"Because of its limited period, the volume is, mainly, important for college libraries, large libraries and special collections of U.S. history." H. A. Wooster

Library J 70:530 Je 1 '45 110w

N Y Times p20 O 21 '45 220w

Time 46:100 Ag 27 '45 1200w

Reviewed by Avery Craven

Weekly Book Review p12 S 30 '45 650w

WRIGHT, RICHARD. Black boy; a record of childhood and youth. 228p $2.50 Harper

B or 92 45-2254

"This is not an up-to-now life story. It stops at the point where Richard Wright says 'Goodbye' to the South, 'heading North.' Thus, the more recent years of political activity and literary achievement are not included. However, these early years yield more than enough for one volume. The season is unlikely to supply a more vivid autobiography. Here may be seen the 'grim bare bones' of what it feels like to be a lower-class Negro youth growing up in the Black Belt." Library J

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 175:131 Mr '45 650w

Reviewed by H. R. Cayton

Book Week p3 Mr 4 '45 1100w

Booklist 41:224 Ap 1 '45

"It's to America's credit that this book has been written and will be given wide circulation. Nowhere except in America could it have been written. Nowhere except in America could such a rebel thrive. But what made him a rebel should be on America's conscience." E. A. Laycock

+ Boston Globe p15 F 28 '45 550w

"There are a few really objectionable passages in the book, for though the author never excuses immorality, he does describe sordid scenes without delicacy or reticence. . . All this coarseness could be removed without essentially weakening the fundamental theme. We would suggest an expurgated edition. It would serve a great need, for the safety of democracy and intellectual honesty demand that Americans know the horrible story of racial injustice. In interesting, gripping pages Mr. Wright here tells that story, giving evidence of a generous share of the Negro's excellence in the expressive arts." Michael McLaughlin

+ — Cath World 161:85 Ap '45 500w

"A moving human record and an important social document. This story of a Negro's childhood and youth in the South should remove the last touch of complacency in American thinking on the racial problem. It should also help toward a solution by awakening a sense of responsibility. It is not a pleasant story. It contains much that is shocking." L. A. S.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 9 '45 650w

Reviewed by George Streator

Commonweal 41:568 Mr 23 '45 650w

"The whole tragedy of a race seems dramatized and high (or low?) lighted in this record; it is virtually unrelieved by any vestige of human tenderness or humor; there are no bright spots. And yet it rings true. It is an unfinished story of a problem that has still to be met. Perhaps this will force home unpalatable facts of a submerged minority, a problem far from being faced squarely."

+ Kirkus 13:9 Ja 1 '45 260w

"Well recommended." L. D. Reddick

+ Library J 70:163 F 15 '45 110w

"Richard Wright's 'Black Boy' is a remarkably fine book. . . But if 'Black Boy' were no more than a document of misery and oppression, it would not have the distinction which in fact it does have. Our literature is full of autobiographical or reportorial or fictional accounts of misery and oppression. I am sure that these books serve a good purpose; yet I find that I feel a little coolness toward the emotions they generate, for it seems to me that too often they serve the liberal reader as a means of 'escape.' With honest kinds of 'escape' there can be no quarrel. . . But the moral 'escape' that can be offered by accounts of suffering and injustice is quite another thing." Lionel Trilling

+ — Nation 160:390 Ap 7 '45 1400w

"Richard Wright's harrowing 'record of childhood and youth,' as a document, points to failure; as a book, it is a triumphant gain. In itself, it is a record of physical and spiritual poverty and hunger unparalleled in American writing, written with more distinction than one could have foreseen after Native Son. . . Where fiction, and particularly melodramatic and didactic fiction, crippled Wright's prose, truth in the form of autobiographical narrative has set it free. To the burden of being born black in the Deep South, there was added to Wright's childhood misfortunes a tragic family situation. . . But if his early years were doubly cruel, his experience has given his book an extra dimension, and he has observed his family and his race with the same unsparing vision that he has turned upon the white man and the world he has made. Black Boy is the fulfilment of the knowledge and power that was intermittent in Native Son and the stories in Uncle Tom's Children." George Mayberry

+ New Repub 112:364 Mr 12 '45 450w

"In this poignant and disturbing book one of the most gifted of America's younger writers turns from fiction to tell the story of his own life during the nineteen years he lived in the South. The book is poignant because Richard Wright as a child and adolescent was a highly sensitive individual subjected to a series of cruel and almost unbearable shocks. It is disturbing because one wonders how many similarly sensitive individuals have been crushed by the circumstances which did not crush Richard Wright." R. L. Duffus

+ N Y Times p3 Mr 4 '45 1100w

"A book that had to be written by a Negro, and we are fortunate that we had so gifted a writer as Mr. Wright to write it. It comes out of life, it is a part of life, and it lets a light into places that have not seen this kind of light before. One of the virtues of Mr. Wright's book (to my mind an enormous one) is that it does not once mention 'the Negro problem' or use any of those worn and lifeless sociological phrases that have been bandied about for years." Hamilton Basso

+ New Yorker 21:86 Mr 10 '45 550w

"As a literary work 'Black Boy' belongs to the category of unashamed autobiography and suggests in method Jack London's 'John Barleycorn' or Rousseau's 'Confessions.' The writer purports to tell the whole truth, to conceal nothing, to expose his emotional weaknesses, the indignities he endured, the sins and errors into which he fell. The world of Mississippi was a world in which everybody, white and black, pushed him around; and the story of these cruelties is the story of his life. There are, of course, random instances of kindly treatment but these are rare, and the total effect of the volume is an effect of passive suffering, punctuated by outbursts of blind emotional rebellion. Only at the end does the central figure take positive action and escape to Chicago. Mr. Wright has chosen this method to illustrate the wrongs of his race, but the effect of his procedure is to weaken his book as a literary work." H. M. Jones

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:9 Mr 3 '45 1300w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon

Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 4 '45 800w

"In this terrible picture of life in the United States, in this personal testimony that, for frankness, makes Rousseau's 'Confessions' read like a novel of manners, Mr. Wright has placed the blame where it belongs. He has not spared himself in revealing his intractable, unruly nature as a little boy; he has not recalled his parents in a haze of sentimental nostalgia; hence his account of what made life in the South unbearable for a sensitive Negro lad is many times more convincing than the fictive development in 'Native Son.'" Harry Hansen

+ Survey G 34:68 F '45 1400w

"Richard Wright is not representative of his people, any more than any leader is 'representative' of his group (though he sometimes appears to be trying to generalize racial characteristics from his own uncommon and often abnormal experiences). To read Black Boy, however, cannot help but sharpen the perceptions that the reader turns back upon the problems of race, as well as on the tortures of the artist who struggles through darkness into light."

+ Theatre Arts 29:382 Je '45 450w

"Richard Wright, 36, is generally accounted the most gifted living American Negro writer. His new book makes it clearer than ever that he has one of the most notable gifts in U.S. writing, black or white: a narrative style that is simple, direct, almost completely without pretense or decoration, yet never flat."

+ Time 45:94 Mr 5 '45 1000w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:15 Je '45 280w

"One rises from the reading of such a book with mixed thoughts. Richard Wright uses vigorous and straightforward English; often there is real beauty in his words even when they are mingled with sadism. . . Yet at the result one is baffled. Evidently if this is an actual record, bad as the world is, such concentrated meanness, filth and despair never completely filled it or any particular part of it. But if the book is meant to be a creative picture and a warning, even then, it misses its possible effectiveness because it is as a work of art so patently and terribly overdrawn." W. E. B. Du Bois

+ — Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 4 '45 1100w

Wis Lib Bul 41:47 Ap '45

WRIGHT, RICHARD—Continued

"This book has tremendous power. Its intensity of feeling, sustained drama, and sheer eloquence make reading it an unforgettable experience. This is because it is the product of a remarkable combination: an author of superb talent, a life story of pathos and tragedy, and a human theme of monumental significance." Raymond Kennedy

+ Yale R n s 34:762 summer '45 1100w

WRIGHT, SEWELL PEASLEE, ed. Chicago murders. (Regional murder ser) 213p $2.75 Duell

364 Murder 45-6043

"The second volume in a 'regional murder series.' The accounts, all factual, of various types of slaughter on the shores of Lake Michigan are by Elizabeth Bullock, Nellise Child, Otto Eisenschiml, John Barlow Martin, Leroy F. McHugh, Craig Rice, and Vincent Starrett." New Yorker

Reviewed by Lee Wright
Book Week p15 Je 10 '45 310w

Kirkus 13:240 Je 1 '45 130w

New Repub 113:198 Ag 13 '45 200w

New Yorker 21:72 Je 16 '45 110w

"Very good."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:42 Je 23 '45 30w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p19 Je 17 '45 150w

WRISTON, HENRY MERRITT. Strategy of peace. 159p $1; pa 50c World peace

327.73 Peace. U.S.—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—Peace 44-8597

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"Dr. Wriston wants 'a return to a passionate faith in reason' and thinks that geopolitics is a bad thing because it conceals 'a dangerous political philosophy—power politics.' Under these circumstances, it is not strange that his 'peace treaty' has nothing to do with the causes of war in general or of this war in particular or of durable peace in particular or in general." F. L. Schuman

— Am Pol Sci R 39:170 F '45 300w

Bookmark 5:14 N '44

Reviewed by J. W. Ryan
Pol Sci Q 60:133 Mr '45 1050w

WRITERS' PROGRAM, LOUISIANA. Gumbo ya-ya; a collection of Louisiana folk tales; comp. by Lyle Saxon and Edward Dreyer. 581p il $5 Houghton

917.63 Louisiana—Social life and customs. Folklore—Louisiana 45-10059

"For years the staff of the Federal Writers' Project stored up everything it could discover about the Louisianians, their daily (and nightly) customs and beliefs and practices. . . Mr. Saxon has labored with his assistants to edit the findings of a large group of men and women, white and Negro. . . Here are the formal, stately city Creoles . . . the fun-loving, gusty country Cajuns . . . the pathetic, sprightly people of cream and tan skins; the rambunctious Irish of the rowdy Irish Channel; the beer-guzzling Germans; the hard-drinking, hard-worshipping Italians; the pirates, praline makers, lottery vendors; the first artists of jazz, chimney-sweepers, whores, thieves, buried-treasure hunters and, not least, the capricious ghosts of Louisiana." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by Arna Bontemps
Book Week p14 D 9 '45 600w

Kirkus 13:450 O 1 '45 120w

"The book is like an old desk belonging to no-telling-who, so outlandish, occasionally, are the stuffings of the pigeonholes; the accumulation is curious and interesting, but only some of it worth keeping. Still, there is a romantic, or a hilarious, or a wild note here and there that justifies your looking through the book." Eudora Welty

N Y Times p5 Ja 20 '46 650w

"A big, rich, juicy book; amiable and good natured; warm and colorful; pleasant to read and delicious to savor. And because—the Lord be praised—it is not that dreadful thing called a 'must' book it is the better to have by one's bed." D. L. Cohn

+ Sat R of Lit 28:11 D 22 '45 700w

Time 46:102 D 24 '45 380w

Reviewed by H. T. Kane
Weekly Book Review p5 D 16 '45 850w

WROTH, LAWRENCE COUNSELMAN. Early cartography of the Pacific. 268p maps pa $3 Bibliographical soc. of Am.

990 Pacific ocean. Maps, Early

"In this monograph the author traces the way in which European map makers recorded knowledge of the Pacific areas from the pre-Christian era to the voyages of Captain Cook in the eighteenth century. It is a timely, scholarly work, developed from a commentary on an exhibition of maps at the John Carter Brown library in Providence, Rhode Island." Booklist

"Making its appearance at a time when Americans have a keen interest in the Pacific, this well annotated volume is a valuable contribution to the growing literature on the history of cartography in the English language. One could wish that a larger number of the maps that serve as prototypes had been reproduced." C. E. LeGear

+ Am Hist R 50:826 Jl '45 320w

Booklist 41:320 Jl 1 '45

Reviewed by C. C. Lingard
Canadian Hist R 26:192 Je '45 450w

"Sound scholarship and a finished, quiet style combine to make Mr. Wroth's account of early maps of the Pacific a highly readable contribution to the literature of cartography." E. B. G.

+ N Y Times p18 F 11 '45 130w

WYCKOFF, MARJORIE MORRISON, ed. Child's book of hymns; il. by Masha. 44p $1.50 Random house

783.9 Children's hymns

Eighteen favorite hymns, illustrated for children, and with simplified music. Contents: When morning gilds the skies; Come, ye thankful people, come; I would be true; I love to tell the story; Away in a manger; Jesus loves me; Fairest Lord Jesus; I think when I read; Dare to be brave, dare to be true; Father, we thank Thee; Jesus wants me for a sunbeam; Jesus Christ is risen today; Brighten the corner; The church in the wildwood; America, the beautiful; Saviour, like a shepherd; Now the day is over; Doxology.

"Masha's pastels present so tenderly the charm of childhood, and she has such a talent for portraying very young angels, that no more suitable artist could have been chosen for the book." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p9 D 16 '45 130w

"Masha has a faculty for detail work that children often enjoy in contrast to the bold simplicity of much of today's picture making."

+ Kirkus 13:525 D 1 '45 80w

"Like Masha's preceding collections of carols, prayers and Bible stories, and her setting of Louise Raymond's 'Child's Story of the Nativity,' this ingratiating book has large pages, on one side a picture in pastel colors touched with gold, on the other the printed matter. Hymns in this collection include not only serene old favorites such as 'I think When I Read,' 'Fairest Lord Jesus,' 'When Morning Gilds the Skies,' but several swinging tunes wide-spread by radio; they were not all, or even most of them, written for children, but children have loved to sing them all." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 D 23 '45 180w

WYLIE, IDA ALEXA ROSS. Ho, the fair wind. 373p $2.50 Random house
45-10241

"The whaling era was ending and the Methodist camp meeting days beginning when Ellen, Concord blue blood and friend of Emerson, came to Martha's Vineyard to marry Hebron Allen, lay preacher. But the man of God was to lose the lady to the wild half-Portuguese son of nature, Joss, after a romance high-lighted by melodramatic situations." Library J

Reviewed by F. N. Litten
Book Week p5 D 23 '45 400w

Booklist 42:129 D 15 '45

"A first rate story with an unusual setting—and a rather too melodramatic finish."
+ — Kirkus 13:377 S 1 '45 230w

"Background authentic, characters not convincing; readable but not important." G. W. Hill
+ — Library J 70:1026 N 1 '45 70w

"The island is real, with its scrub, its windblown sand, its whaling captains' homes stuffed with far-Pacific curios and surmounted each by a widow's walk. The beaches boom with real surf, into which, one fantastic midnight, a carriage loaded with lunatics and drawn by a mad stallion plunges to destruction." Elliott Merrick
+ N Y Times p44 D 2 '45 310w

"Most of the ingredients in this first historical novel of Miss Wylie's are of the tried and true variety, and they have been mixed by an experienced hand. . . On occasion the author goes clean overboard in her desire to be graphic about her characters. . . Nor is the humor of 'My Life with George' present. At that, the book is an acceptable addition to the islands' growing bibliography. If it never conveys entirely the true quality of these outposts, it gives at times a reasonable simulacrum thereof." T. M. Purdy
+ — Sat R of Lit 29:30 Ja 5 '46 550w

" 'Ho, the Fair Wind' is an engrossing tale, full of tension, acting and likable people. It is sure to delight Miss Wylie's host of admirers and win her new ones." Jennings Rice
+ Weekly Book Review p6 D 9 '45 750w

WYMAN, WALKER DEMARQUIS. Wild horse of the West; il. by Harold Bryant. 348p $3.50 Caxton printers
636.1 Horses Agr45-147

" 'What has happened to that horse since 1890 is the chief contribution of this study,' but this fascinating account goes back to the first days of the feral (escaped) horse in United States territory. Around 1600, Spanish estrays, springing from expeditions and missions, fanned northwards from Texas; their impact on Indian and rancher greatly affected our history, from the days when Comanches became the greatest cavalry of all time and wealth was measured in horses, to recent years when stockmen and governmental agencies have destroyed all but a fraction as worthless pests. Attractively illustrated." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

"Dr. Wyman has written a book whose unquestioned usefulness is considerably diminished by looseness of organization, repetitiousness, occasional contradictions, some misinformation, and an elasticity of judgment that has the author reversing some of his most important conclusions from part to part. He has beaten all the covers and turned up an astonishing amount of information about the mustang and its various successors which up to recently roamed the West in wild herds, but he has not dealt critically with the information. . . This book can serve the student of the West, since it brings together a great deal of hitherto widely dispersed information. The student will need to exercise constant care with it, however, and will wish that the author had given it a straightforward, logical continuity." Bernard Devoto
+ — Am Hist R 51:174 O '45 320w

"Wyman examines authoritatively the various theories as to the origin of the wild horses of the plains, which eventually competed with the buffalo, transformed the culture of the plains Indians, and still later constituted a major economic factor in Western ranching. Though the writing in this book does not match the subject matter in vitality and interest, the work constitutes a valuable addition to Western Americana." J. T. Frederick
+ — Book Week p2 Ap 29 '45 180w

Booklist 42:9 S '45

Kirkus 13:79 F 15 '45 120w

Reviewed by E. L. Lewis
Library J 70:266 Mr 15 '45 90w

"Dr. Wyman presents merely the facts as to the liquidation of the wild horse; he declines to side with either the sentimentalists or the mustangers. . . Harold Bryant's illustrations are splendid." Hoffman Birney
+ N Y Times p17 My 27 '45 280w

"Scholarly insight and literary style are matched by the illustrations. Supported by accurate knowledge and executed by an artist of the plains, these are really superb. Not to be overlooked is the dedication. It is in the best tradition both of enlightened family life and of the range which the author knows so well." J. A. Kinneman
+ Social Educ 9:328 N '45 550w

Y

YAKHONTOFF, VICTOR A. USSR foreign policy. 311p $3.50 Coward-McCann
327.47 Russia—Foreign relations 45-10377

"A sympathetic survey of Soviet foreign policy from the Brest Litovsk treaty after World war I through the San Francisco conference, done with careful documentation and with the intent of answering many questions which have helped to build the 'Russian enigma' theory. The author, now a United States citizen, was an officer in the Imperial Russian army and has followed military and diplomatic developments which have affected his country since, as well as before, the 1917 revolution." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 42:159 Ja 15 '46

"Yakhontoff has discovered that Litvinov 'resigned' as Foreign Commissar in May, 1939. I thought he was dismissed as a preliminary to the signing of the Soviet-Nazi pact. This is typical of the book. It is completely devoid of critical judgment or evaluation. It accepts the Stalinist interpretation of Soviet foreign policy without the slightest doubt or question. Most of its sources are Soviet Stalinist or foreign pro-Stalinist. . . The book would go very well as a textbook in a Soviet high-school. Even so, it has many defects." Louis Fischer
— Sat R of Lit 28:45 N 10 '45 650w

"This reviewer happens to believe that the Soviet Union followed a wholly justifiable policy both in the fateful months preceding the outbreak of the European war in 1939 and in those immediately following the start of hostilities. But Mr. Yakhontoff's unqualified acceptance of every phase of that policy appears at times to be almost naive. His sympathies betray him into making some highly questionable statements upon the disinterestedness of Russian motives and to rely at times much too heavily upon the conclusions of other pronounced Russophiles. . . While 'U.S.S.R. Foreign Policy' is somewhat disappointing in its lack of critical appraisal and of any unifying concept drawing the events of the last twenty-five years into an understandable pattern, it nevertheless remains a valuable record of the Russian point of view toward international affairs. And there is a great deal in that record which should make non-Russians both less quick to believe always the worst of Soviet policy and more candid in reviewing the policies of other countries." F. R. Dulles
+ — Weekly Book Review p12 Ja 13 '46 800w

YANG, MARTIN C. See Yang, Mou-ch'un

YANG, MOU-CH'UN. A Chinese village: Taitou, Shantung province. 275p il maps $3 Columbia univ. press

915.1144 Taitou, Shantung province. Social surveys. China—Social life and customs
A45-4581

"The story of Taitou, a small village in Shantung Province, in the north of China, not far from Tsingtao. . . Taitou is Mr. Yang's own village and so he was under no necessity to get acquainted with 'the natives' before he started to work. The usual anthropologist, by the nature of his job, is apt to fall short of his own hopes in this respect. Mr. Yang already knows his village through and through, all the old wives' tales, the reasons they plant sweet-potatoes in Chen's field instead of peanuts, the sort of implements used in this particular portion of China, and why they are unlike implements used elsewhere. Mr. Yang knows wherein his village is like other villages and wherein—and why—it is not. To read him thoroughly is to know China better than any American has ever yet learned to know it through the printed page." Sat R of Lit

"The author had to do his job at long range and from recollection. He could not include consideration of wartime changes, or deal with new problems of the peace from firsthand knowledge. But with these handicaps in mind it must be said that he has done a remarkably enlightening piece of work most creditable to its sponsors, the Department of Anthropology of Columbia University." Randall Gould
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 S 17 '45 550w

Current Hist 9:550 D '45 100w

Reviewed by Adrienne Koch
N Y Times p4 O 28 '45 700w

"This book, by the very fact that it is a book instead of merely another doctor's thesis, is probably one of the most interesting publications of the decade. Mr. Yang has done an exhaustive job of ethnological research, but to dismiss his achievement with these big words is to do him a crying injustice. Never mind the word 'research' if it worries you; 'A Chinese Village' is good reading for anybody. . . For anybody who reads this book it will be inexcusable hereafter to accept the foolish myths we have believed all these years of ignorance. 'A Chinese Village' is as absorbing as any novel of Chinese life; for the person sincerely interested in China it is far better." Emily Hahn
+ Sat R of Lit 28:10 O 6 '45 750w

YANK, the army weekly. Best from Yank; the army weekly; sel. by the editors. 304p $3.50 Dutton

940.549 World war, 1939—Human caricatures, etc. World war, 1939—Pictorial works. World war, 1939—Poetry. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American
45-3686

Collection of stories, poems, cartoons, records of personal experiences, and photographs, chosen from the army newspaper, Yank.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p4 Ap 29 '45 360w

Booklist 41:268 My 15 '45

Bookmark 6:10 My '45

"No punches are pulled. The writing is by enlisted men for enlisted men, not for home consumption; the language of the front lines is not that of the drawing room. . . This couldn't be anything but a great book. Written by them, it was bound to have the same strength and force of the men who made American military might invincible." Gene Casey
+ Boston Globe p17 Ap 25 '45 270w

"Some of the best writing to come out of this war has been done by combat correspondents. Some of the best of that writing is included in The Best From Yank. That best is very good, indeed." L. A. S.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 23 '45 350w

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Jl '45

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Horn Bk 21:278 Jl '45 40w

Kirkus 13:197 My 1 '45 150w

"Recommended." H. S. Taylor
+ Library J 70:353 Ap 15 '45 80w

Reviewed by John Daly
New Repub 112:680 My 14 '45 1350w

"Apart from Sgt. George Baker's disarming Sad Sack, the cartoons are not distinguished. Most of them are also poorly presented on the pages of the book. Even in Yank, which has a larger page size to play with, cartoons are for the most part poorly displayed. But in its main function of presenting war honestly in GI terms this collection from Yank is good work. This is how our men are doing the job—without joy but faithfully and well." Brooks Atkinson
+ — N Y Times p3 Ap 22 '45 900w

New Yorker 21:83 Ap 28 '45 90w

"I feel sorry for civilians. I feel sorry for them because they can't fully enjoy Yank. For Yank, the Army Weekly—a kind of G.I. Collier's—is put out strictly for soldiers by soldiers. This becomes clear even in a selection for civilian readers of the best from its pages. . . I should like to blow my top briefly. It's to gripe about the disappointing job of bookmaking—by some civilian publisher—that has been done on our Yank. In the original the magazine is one of the liveliest in America today. Compared to it, this layout in monotonous double columns is about as exciting as the telephone book. Similarly, I am pained by the way most of the cartoons are squeezed in as filler at the page bottoms. . . You, too, can be proud of all these things in Yank and of the men who produce them but you can't be half so proud as I am. I know." Maurice Basseches
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:11 Ap 21 '45 750w

"In a sense, a book will not be telling you this when you read this anthology. HE—the serviceman—will be doing the talking. In person. In his own words. With a full awareness of how 'deadly, bloody, and filthy' war is. 'The Best from Yank' is his book. That is the best of all good reasons why it should be yours." J. M. Brown
+ Sat R of Lit 28:18 My 19 '45 1900w

"One of the most significant and fascinating books of the war. . . The editors have expertly sifted all this material to produce a book which we shall read now with profit and varying emotions—and shall turn back to many years hence to recapture the feel of these war years. . . It's the best book bargain of the year, and probably the best means of understanding (or at least half comprehending) the war which we home folks will find between book covers." M. H. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 22 '45 550w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:8 S '45 160w

"The introduction warns that there is a lot of technical jargon that civilians may find obscure. Part of this difficulty could easily have been corrected by a short glossary, at least of the terms indicated only by initials. . . One other crutch the editors might have offered the limping civilian is datelines. . . But even with these difficulties, which after all are not overwhelming, 'The Best From Yank' is the best and easiest kind of reading a civilian can do to find out what our Army is like. And there is one short bit which every civilian ought to read. It is almost worth a whole war. Turn to Sergeant Leonard Silk's 'Soldier Meet Civilian.' Don't miss it." John Hersey
+ — Weekly Book Review p1 Ap 22 '45 1500w

Wis Lib Bul 41:82 Jl '45

YARDLEY, HERBERT OSBORN, and GRABO, CARL HENRY. Crows are black everywhere. 247p $2.50 Putnam
45-2059

A novel of international intrigue in Chungking in 1940. Among the chief characters are an American woman journalist, American flyers, Chinese patriots and traitors, and Japanese spies.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Mr 11 '45 340w

Booklist 41:256 My 1 '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '45

"The cipher material is the best part of the book, as it should be in the hands of Herbert Yardley, author of The American Black Chamber, authoritative book on the subject. Background of Chinese life, of venality in high places, shows familiarity with the scene. Plus market in mystery and spy department."
+ Kirkus 13:115 Mr 15 '45 170w

"Some of it—despite its swarming cast and their hopped up dialogue—is really exciting." James MacBride
N Y Times p14 Mr 4 '45 180w

"Good material, but it needs more orderly assembling."
+ — New Yorker 21:91 Mr 10 '45 90w

"The book gives an excellent picture of bombed Chungking. The action is swift. The dialog is natural and in places lends humor to the serious theme. We suspect the book may be fictionalized history in part." Roscoe Scott
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 15 '45 300w

"Major Yardley served with Chiang Kai-shek for two years and has spent most of his career in military intelligence. He certainly knows his intrigue and writes like an old China hand." Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p16 Mr 4 '45 130w

YATES, ELIZABETH (MRS WILLIAM MCGREAL). Wind of spring. 215p $2.50 Coward-McCann
45-2696

The story of Susie Minton, who in the last decade of the nineteenth century started out on her life work as a maid "in service." Her life in the great houses of England, and those not so great, is depicted thru three wars, the Boer war in which she lost her lover; the first World war in which she lost her son; and the second World war. Susie's character, which was staunch and fine to begin with, developed steadily until even the stern, unbending woman for whom she had worked so long finally realized how great a treasure Susie Minton had been.

"About halfway through 'Wind of Spring' you are likely to wonder what it is that is holding you to the book. Certainly nothing much seems to happen except that Susie changes from service in one household to service in another. The households differ, but the work remains much the same, now a little easier, now a little harder, and the changes are gently made. Occasionally something happens to Susie aside from her work, but so quietly are these extraneous events related that they, and the wars too, seem almost the expected fruits of the passing of the days. There doesn't seem to be much in any of this to grip the imagination or hold the attention. And yet, the reader's attention is held, and one is reluctant to lay down even the finished book." Dorothy Sparks
+ Book Week p12 Mr 11 '45 550w
Booklist 41:226 Ap 1 '45
Kirkus 13:39 F 1 '45 170w

"Elizabeth Yates carves her stories out of a gentle, serene faith which often transcends literary limitations. Her deep belief in man's ultimate humanity to man colors and warms implausible characterizations till her people seem to live in a state of mind where perfection is within easy reach." Isabelle Mallet
N Y Times p28 Mr 25 '45 200w
Springf'd Republican p4d Mr 18 '45 300w

"This is a quiet and beautifully composed story." George Conrad
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 4 '45 450w

YATES, MRS MARGARET (TAYLER), and BRAMLETTE, PAULA. Widow's walk. 249p $2 Dutton
45-6565

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p17 S 23 '45 90w

"Spry entertainment."
+ Kirkus 13:230 Je 1 '45 60w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p26 Ag 12 '45 130w

"Plenty of 'atmosphere,' interesting data on early Nantucket history, pleasant bits of romance, and native humor and deceptively chuckleheaded detective. Refreshing."
+ Sat R of Lit 28:30 S 8 '45 40w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 19 '45 240w

"Salty scenery, whaling lore and middling merriment adorn this lightweight tale, suitable for warm-weather perusal." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p14 Ag 12 '45 230w

YATES, RAYMOND FRANCIS. Atom smashers; a story of discovery. 182p il $2 Didier
541.2 Atomic power 45-9945

"An account of the technique of freeing energy from the atom, told in understandable nontechnical language." School & Society

Library J 70:1091 N 15 '45 50w

Reviewed by Waldemar Kaempffert
N Y Times p18 D 9 '45 240w
School & Society 62:328 N 17 '45 20w

Reviewed by H. M. Davis
— Springf'd Republican p6 N 2 '45 420w

"One fundamental prerequisite for writing a book about any subject is thorough understanding of the subject. Unfortunately, Mr. Yates has not yet mastered the elements of the physics he so glibly expounds. . . However, Mr. Yates describes the operations of a cyclotron in a manner that is clear and exciting. In general the pace of the book is rapid, and it covers much of the ground work that preceded the atomic bomb." A. K. Solomon
Weekly Book Review p18 O 14 '45 310w

YATES, RAYMOND FRANCIS. Fun with electrons; il. with 78 diagrams and 30 photographs. 159p $2.75 Appleton-Century
537 Electronics 45-9520

After an opening chapter on the history and new concepts of electronics, the author gives directions for the making of a laboratory from inexpensive materials. Includes diagrams, photographs, and experiments for amateurs. For junior and senior high schools.

Booklist 42:134 D 15 '45

"Good stuff for high-school age, electrically minded boys."
+ Kirkus 13:473 O 15 '45 90w

"Suggestions for making equipment are very practical, since inexpensive material such as that found in junk yards is recommended. 78 diagrams and 30 photographs add value to book." Nelle McCalla
+ Library J 70:1192 D 15 '45 110w

YAUKEY, MRS GRACE SYDENSTRICKER (CORNELIA SPENCER, pseud). Land of the Chinese people; phot. by courtesy of Asia and World outlook. (Portraits of the nations ser) 120p $2 Lippincott
951 China—History. China—Social life and customs 45-4043

This is a history of the Chinese people and a description of their way of life, written for young readers and fully illustrated with photographs.

Booklist 41:306 Je 15 '45

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 21:276 Jl '45 80w

"Less effective, on the whole, than Enid Meadowcroft's China Story, but a more colorful book. The author knows China intimately, she gives a more detailed story of China, but sees it through much the same eyes."
+ — Kirkus 13:224 My 15 '45 110w

YAUKEY, G. S.—Continued
"Important contribution to children's books about peoples of other countries." Alice Vielehr
+ Library J 70:534 Je 1 '45 70w

"Children as young as 10 will have no difficulty in following China's story as Cornelia Spencer has told it; older boys and girls will also enjoy the book, and the magnificent photographs with which it is illustrated will delight any one interested in China, regardless of age." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p19 Jl 15 '45 180w

"This is an intelligent and human introduction to China's land and people, far more interesting than the frequent attempts to present factual material on China in story form. As in the other books of this series the first few chapters give an account of the land itself, its boundaries and topography, its crops and industries, the cities and the countryside. There follows six chapters of China's history." R. A. H.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:46 O 20 '45 300w

"The photographs are superb for their purpose, and there are so many that the book's value as a family work of reference remains after reading for entertainment is accomplished."
+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 20 '45 240w

Wis Lib Bul 41:115 N '45

YORCK, RUTH (LANDSHOFF). Lili Marlene; an intimate diary. 220p $2.50 Reader's press
45-7349

"One upper middle-class woman's growth from political indifference to active underground participtation as she saw her friends, family, and country degraded by Nazi domination. The first-person style is dramatic and convincing and the picture of the average German of several economic and social levels is human though not sentimental." Booklist

Booklist 42:20 S '45

Kirkus 13:274 Jl 1 '45 130w

Reviewed by K. T. Willis
Library J 70:636 Jl '45 50w

"Credible and even suggestive up to the point where Miss Yorck's protagonist becomes an active worker in the underground; lapsing, from there out, into familiar melodrama." Diana Trilling
+ — Nation 161:139 Ag 11 '45 50w

"The whole picture presented in 'Lili Marlene' and the problems posed are arresting. One would wish for a more forceful medium of presentation than the rather overworked and never-too-realistic diary." V. H. Fuller
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 31 '45 300w

YORDAN, PHILIP. Anna Lucasta. 184p il $2 Random house
812 45-1940

A play in which the characters are all Negroes. Anna Lucasta, daughter of a Pennsylvania family, has been put "on the streets" by her harsh father. When a Southern friend sends his son, with quite a sum of money, to Anna's father, asking him to find a suitable wife for young Rudolf, they decide to recall Anna, and get the money. But things did not turn out quite as planned.

"Not a unique or highly original theme, but the characterization is deft, the situations believable, the dialogue pungent; and there is an implied social criticism of circumstances which make the Lucastas what they are. It reads well and, judging by its career, it acts better." H. T. Murdock
+ Book Week p4 F 18 '45 360w

Booklist 41:207 Mr 15 '45

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 My '45

Kirkus 13:11 Ja 1 '45 30w

"Interesting to read and to act, it is authentically effective and theatrically interesting. Recommended."
+ Library J 70:267 Mr 15 '45 60w

"On one hand, to praise this occasion of 'Anna Lucasta' merely because it is the work of Negro players needing encouragement, etc., may be well meant enough, but is only a form of condescension. On the other hand, there may be those who, for all their supposed Broadway, big-city sophistication, find that this sort of thing, falling snow and tripe, is just what they like." Stark Young
New Repub 111:339 S 18 '44 550w

Reviewed by C. V. Terry
N Y Times p8 My 6 '45 130w

"It sounds like the work of a Hollywood scenario writer on a spree of escape from the taboos of his unusual medium." W. P. Eaton
+ Weekly Book Review p12 Ag 12 '45 90w

YOSELOFF, THOMAS. Fellow of infinite jest. 232p $3 Prentice-Hall
B or 92 Sterne, Laurence 45-8509

Popular biography of an eighteenth century English writer, author of Tristram Shandy and A Sentimental Journey.

"An author probably ought not to be held responsible for the blurb on his book's jacket, but Yoseloff ought to inform his publishers some day that their assurance that his work is 'The first popular life of the creator of "Tristram Shandy"' needs a little qualification. There have been a dozen lives of Sterne before this. . . Yoseloff's work is pedestrian. It is repetitious and marred by pedantry. The vaunt on the jacket is particularly unfortunate when one reflects that hardly three months have elapsed since we were given a charming and stimulating sketch of Sterne by Peter Quennell in 'The Profane Virtues.'" Bergen Evans
— Book Week p6 O 7 '45 450w

"Mr. Yoseloff's book is better than his blurb. He has a good straightforward narrative style and a gift for characterization which, though never subtle nor profound, is lively and entertaining." S. C. C.
+ Christian Science Monitor p17 D 15 '45 650w

"It falls between two stools,—not erudite enough for scholars, not colorful enough for popular taste."
Kirkus 13:386 S 1 '45 110w

"Well-designed and executed biographical study of Laurence Sterne, competently written except for an occasional mixed or limping metaphor. . . Libraries owning definitive Wilbur Cross biography can still use this. Recommended." E. F. Walbridge
+ Library J 70:890 O 1 '45 130w

"As I believe strongly in the virtue of sympathetic biography, I greet as the chief merit of Mr. Yoseloff's essay on Sterne his almost complete surrender to his author. This makes his biography an admirable introduction to Sterne's work, even while it is often deplorably misleading in its history of the world in which Sterne lived." R. E. Roberts
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:13 O 27 '45 1100w

"Mr Yoseloff is intent on rehabilitating Sterne rather than on enlarging on his weaknesses. . . The amiable figure thus presented is fully as interesting and at least as credible as the immoral rake the Victorians held up to pious indignation. Readers curious to make the acquaintance of the frolicsome Yorkshire parson might do worse than to start with this account of his life by one of his most sympathetic critics." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p6 O 16 '45 480w

"Sometimes it is not an advantage to an author to be commemorated in a biography that is as nearly as possible definitive. The existence of a book at once so scholarly and so readable as Wilbur L. Cross's 'Life and Times of Laurence Sterne,' first published in 1909 and extensively revised in 1925, has undoubtedly served to deter a generation of aspiring biographers. . . Mr. Yoseloff is one of the first to challenge comparison with an established biographical masterpiece. He deserves credit for his daring, though it must be admitted that he does not come off too well from the encounter." G. F. Whicher
+ — Weekly Book Review p10 O 28 '45 800w

YOST, EDNA. Normal lives for the disabled; in collaboration with Dr Lillian M. Gilbreth. 298p $2.50 Macmillan

331.86 Disabled—Rehabilitation, etc. 44-9382

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

Reviewed by Louis Long
Am J Pub Health 35:416 Ap '45 90w

"This book will be of considerable interest to relatives and friends of wounded men as well as to social workers and other professional persons. For the sociologist, too, who is concerned with the effect of physical and mental handicaps on social participation and adjustment it should prove suggestive and stimulating." E. B. Harper

+ Am Soc R 10:807 D '45 750w

Cleveland Open Shelf p2 Ja '45

Reviewed by Alice Sowers
J Home Econ 37:175 Mr '45 450w

"Addressed mainly to the handicapped themselves, the book will prove of interest to all who deal with handicapped people, as it cites concrete examples of successful adjustment, gives advice on what to do and where to go for information, and discusses the psychological and spiritual approach to the problems of the disabled."

+ Management R 34:66 F '45 140w

"It may be predicted that this readable little book will find favor. Not only can the reader glean information from its pages, but he will also gain a feeling of confidence from the portrayal of man's successful struggle against his own limitations." J. F. Santee

+ Social Studies 36:89 F '45 950w

"So comprehensive is this book that it is at once a chart for the disabled, for their families, for workers in the field and for employers who should now be planning jobs for the disabled veteran. This year may bring similar books to the reading public, but so far this one is tops."

+ Springf'd Republican p4 F 10 '45 550w

"The book will be useful to civilian war workers, to veterans of the armed forces who have sustained injuries, and to their friends and families."

+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:47 Mr '45 130w

"Constantly holding to plain statements, facing facts and convinced of the powers of the human spirit, the book stimulates because it convinces."

+ Weekly Book Review p16 Mr 11 '45 350w

Wis Lib Bul 41:27 F '45

YOUMANS, MRS ELEANOR (WILLIAMS). Mount Delightful; the story of Ellen Evans and her dog Taffy; il. by Sandra James. 155p $1.75 Bobbs

44-8260

Story of life in the Ohio settlement of Welsh Hills in 1832. The settlers were mainly Welsh and the book is based on the experiences of the author's grandmother who came from Wales with her family, just as the Nancy and Ellen of the story did. For girls of eight to twelve.

"Nice—in the nicest sense of the word."

+ Kirkus 12:321 Jl 15 '44 70w

"This is a simple story of home-building. There isn't much plot, nor much more characterization—except of Taffy. But the book, one of the very few which deals with the Welsh settlers of America, has a natural warmth and a concreteness of detail to please girls of 8 to 11." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p25 F 11 '45 130w

"The everyday happenings in the little community form a fascinating background for the story." L. R. S.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 31 '44 80w

YOUNG, BARBARA. This man from Lebanon; a study of Kahlil Gibran. 188p il $2.50 Knopf

B or 92 Gibran, Kahlil 45-397

An interpretation of the Lebanese-American poet and painter, author of The Prophet. The author is Gibran's literary executor. The book contains a useful chronology.

Reviewed by Sherman Conrad
Book Week p6 F 4 '45 300w

Booklist 41:224 Ap 1 '45

"Barbara Young has done excellent service in presenting such an entrancing portrait of this artist and mystic who was a 'spiritual brother to all men.' " James van Zant

+ Churchman 159:14 Mr 15 '45 300w

"The market is definitely among his followers."

Kirkus 12:527 N 15 '44 100w

"Author, also a poet, is his adoring disciple. She assumes a familiarity with his works which few readers will possess, and obscures his personality with excessive reverence. This book may be added to all-inclusive collections of poetry and to collections of religious poetry." J. L. Ross

Library J 70:69 Ja 15 '45 60w

"It has been Miss Young's desire to communicate Kahlil Gibran's personality and all it stood for to the world. In this she has succeeded. The impression is strong that she has so ardently imbibed of the spirit of the master that his written works have been more than books to her. . . It is difficult to criticize a book which so passionately embraces the art of praising; yet there is one reprehensible reference: Miss Young quotes Nietzsche on Wagner, and says it describes Kahlil Gibran also. There is so great a divergence in the three personalities as to make the reference far-fetched, to say the least." John Cournos

+ — N Y Times p22 Ja 14 '45 450w

"Since the appearance of 'The Prophet' in 1923, readers have been eagerly awaiting a biography of its author, Kahlil Gibran. While Barbara Young's book is not strictly a biography, but rather a record and evaluation of his work, it will be read with pleasure and satisfaction by his many followers and admirers. The actual biographical material takes the form of a chronology at the end of the volume." C. K. Bausman

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 28 '45 500w

Time 45:98 Ja 22 '44 650w

"A book about Kahlil Gibran is so welcome to his admirers that they will forgive its author almost anything, and in the case of Miss Barbara Young they may have to go the limit. Miss Young was a close friend of Gibran's during the last seven years of his life; she edited several of his books; she took down the text of many of his poems as he composed them; he made her his literary executor. She is thus admirably equipped to interpret the man and in the thirteen years since his death she might conceivably have gathered a rich harvest of material concerning him. But if we are to judge by this book she has disdained research and contented herself with expanding and furbishing her personal memories, while spreading the gospel of a man more godlike than other men, something which Gibran, in his honest earthiness, would not have liked." Thomas Sugrue

Weekly Book Review p14 Ja 21 '45 1200w

YOUNG, CLARENCE BERNARD FEHRLER. Chemistry for electroplaters. 205p $4 Chemical pub. co.

541.37 Chemistry. Electroplating 45-6384

"Written in simple language for the electroplater without a background of chemistry. Theory presented in a way to give the principles of chemistry and chemical phenomena involved, so that the electroplater can become familiar with the fundamentals behind his work and provide an initiative for solution of some of his problems. Dr. Young is experienced in teaching chemistry to electroplaters and has had practical experience as a consultant to various companies using electroplating technique." Library J

Booklist 42:72 N 1 '45

Chem & Eng N 23:1576 S 10 '45 20w

YOUNG, C. B. F.—Continued

Chem & Met Eng 52:263 S '45 60w
Library J 70:688 Ag '45 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 30:36 Jl '45

YOUNG, ELLA. Flowering dusk; things remembered accurately and inaccurately. 356p il $3.50 Longmans

B or 92 45-5807

Random recollections of this Irish author's life in Ireland and in America, written in a delicate, lyric prose. Among the many famous persons who appear in her pages are Padraic Colum, Yeats, Lady Gregory, George Russell, Maud Gonne, and James Stephens. Index.

"'Flowering Dusk' is an enchanting, intimate and important book by, and about, one of the most sensitive literary artists of our time." Wendell Johnson

+ Book Week p3 Jl 1 '45 350w
Booklist 41:339 Jl 15 '45

"This is an interesting, in many ways a fascinating book, but it is also deeply disappointing. . . This book will be greeted rapturously by those who swallow the nonsense about the Celtic twilight and the dreamy Celt. But to those who are aware of the clear-eyed sanity of the Irish mind, which is not unrelated to the depth of the religious faith to which the Irish have clung through a long martyrdom, the flowers which perfume the dusk of Ella Young's life carry a deathly smell and her book brings sorrow and disappointment." B. M. Kelly

+ — Cath World 161:517 S '45 550w

Reviewed by David Marshall
Commonweal 42:484 Ag 31 '45 420w

"Anyone who has any connection, however remote or sentimental, with the Irish cause, will welcome this book, for without being precise history, it calls forth all the familiar thoughts and emotions of the great Irish Rising between 1912 and 1922, all its passion for beauty, for saintliness, for spirituality, along with its more foolish and flummery trappings."

+ Kirkus 13:234 Je 1 '45 210w

"Out of a rich, full life, glowing and brilliant, comes Ella Young's autobiography. . . As in everything she has ever said or written her words spell enchantment—they fairly sing. Universally recommended." M. H. Zipprich

+ Library J 70:355 Ap 15 '45 90w

"The author's Irishness is displayed, at times, with a rather self-conscious, arty, of-the-lecture-platform manner; nor is the cliché altogether alien to Miss Young's prose. . . Miss Young seems to be essentially an amateur, at times in the best sense of the word, at times in its less happy connotations: the effect of her book, therefore, can be either disarming or annoying." Rolfe Humphries

Nation 161:65 Jl 21 '45 210w

"The first half of Ella Young's autobiography is a revealing sketch of the Irish literary renaissance from its early days until 1925, when the author came to the United States. The American section is a letdown. In a country which is broad and unique and filled with amazing characters, she has made only limited observations, formed ordinary opinions, and met the garden variety of our esthetic dilettantes, quaintly rich, and quietly mad." Thomas Sugrue

+ — N Y Times p25 Ag 12 '45 700w

"Miss Young is rather a charming writer, with a sensitive ear for language and a deep affection for the myths and fables of her native land, and her book, in which she tells the story of her life, ought to be of considerable interest to everyone who cares about the so-called Celtic Renaissance. However, people who don't believe in fairies and fairy music may find the atmosphere of other-worldliness much too rarefied at times."

+ New Yorker 21:59 Je 30 '45 140w

"This delightful book, full of infinite variety, where the prankish elf Gilpin and the Black and Tans are found cheek-by-jowl, and lectures on Irish folk tales jostling Navajo ceremonial dances, presents a picture of Ireland and America with deep sincerity and affection." C. K. Bausman

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 15 '45 440w

"The sub-title: 'Things Remembered Accurately and Inaccurately,' reveals the charming formula of the book before you begin to read it. . . Ella Young has certainly lived in this world with the most exquisite integrity and beyond all analytical good and evil. . . And so, Miss Young, who never if she could help it, walked outright on the open highways—she was always wandering into the fields to pick wildflowers—does succeed in giving us her own special scent of the times she lived in. She succeeds in giving us the essence of a life that has been lived beautifully, even when the world about her seethed with ugliness. That is her personal triumph." Kathleen Coyle

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 8 '45 1000w
Wis Lib Bul 41:100 O '45

YOUNG, MARGUERITE. Angel in the forest; a fairy tale of two utopias. 313p $3 Reynal

335.9772 New Harmony, Indiana. Utopias 45-3563

In poetic prose and in a somewhat unconventional manner, this American writer, heretofore known as a poet. tells the story of two early eighteenth century experiments in socialistic or communistic living, Father Rapp's settlement at New Harmony, Indiana, and the English socialist, Robert Owen's, later attempt in the same place.

Reviewed by Harlow Lindley
Am Hist R 51:162 O '45 310w

Reviewed by Sally Benson
Book Week p1 Ap 8 '45 2900w
Booklist 41:249 My 1 '45

"This is a book whose riches cannot be skimmed lightly. If, however, one savors it slowly and absorbs its meaning, its pages offer rewards both as literature and as history, both in understanding the individual and as a testament to humanity." G. C. Bartter

+ Boston Globe p19 Ap 18 '45 330w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 62:709 Je 13 '45 900w

"It is a good subject. . . Unfortunately, Miss Young is more interested in the way she says something than in what she says. She writes the most heavily mannered prose I have read in many a day. . . It makes all the characters in Miss Young's fairy tale think alike. It gives the book a circular, not a forward motion. Surely, preoccupation with style is partly responsible for Miss Young's failure to compose her story well, and so to mix fact and fancy that the reader does not know where one ends and the other begins." Horace Reynolds

— + Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 19 '45 400w
Cleveland Open Shelf p10 My '45
Commonweal 42:195 Je 8 '45 30w

"An interesting, showy but intensive study of curious, wonderful and far-reaching patterns of thought and living."

+ Kirkus 13:32 Ja 15 '45 120w

"This chronicle is subtitled 'A Fairy Tale of Two Utopias.' Considering the accuracy of the historical details and the satirical vein of writing the fairy tale part is hard to understand. The writing is involved and uneven, and the story is overloaded with details. At times the reader is persuaded that there is little sympathy between the author and her historical personages. Good picture drawing but hard to read." Katharine Shorey

+ — Library J 70:266 Mr 15 '45 100w

"Marguerite Young's first prose volume is repetitive, obscure, diffuse, overwritten, tiresomely obsessed with copulation and with analogical images of flowers, insects, and birds, scornful at many points of coherence, continuity, and form; yet it is a book of astonishing subtlety and brilliance, a genuine work of art, and together with her two previous volumes of verse it should establish its author as one of the truly notable writers of her generation. Its faults are in no sense deficiencies." Martin Lebowitz

— + Nation 160:547 My 12 '45 900w

Reviewed by Marjorie Farber
New Repub 112:522 Ap 16 '45 1150w

"Miss Young's prose is too much worked over, too heavily enriched like fruit cake. She has fallen into some not especially admirable mannerisms: long lists of incongruities, old saws and maxims forced to fit unusual contexts. But if she can leaven her style, fuse poetry with forward movement, and perception with action, her forthcoming novel, 'The Worm in the Wheat,' may well show her to be one of the best of the younger woman writers in America." Carlos Baker
N Y Times p7 Ap 8 '45 1050w

"Miss Marguerite Young's 'Angel in the Forest' is one of the most interesting books of non-fiction I've come across in some time. . . There were times when I felt that Miss Young was attempting to do in prose what might better have been done in poetry, and times when I thought she was attempting to say poetically what might have been better said in straightforward prose. . . But there is not a page of her volume that doesn't show signs of a definite talent, and the short chapters about present-day New Harmony, interspersed with those about the New Harmony of the past, struck me as being very good indeed." Hamilton Basso
+ — New Yorker 21:83 Ap 7 '45 360w

Reviewed by B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 28:48 Ap 14 '45 1550w

Time 45:100 My 7 '45 1150w

"As a literary composition, as a kind of poetic brooding upon the history here involved, interrupted by vivid portraiture or scene, and lighted by witty comment—which occasionally overreaches itself—it is original and compelling."
U S Quarterly Bkl 1:11 S '45 160w

"This is a true book, conceived as great poems are conceived, and composed with the same exciting, inexhaustible energy. In the end it is history, too—more than exists elsewhere. But all the while it has the supreme advantage of sounding and feeling true, both about its subject and about human life wherever it is lived. A sober history of New Harmony would not be a true history, for New Harmony was not a sober thing. It was more or less a mad thing. Miss Young, though with method, is appropriately and beautifully mad." Mark Van Doren
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ap 8 '45 1050w

Wis Lib Bul 41:66 Je '45

YOUNG, STANLEY PAUL, and GOLDMAN, EDWARD ALPHONSO. Wolves of North America. 636p il maps $6 Am. wildlife inst.

599.74442 Wolves 44-6889

"An important book for libraries with special wildlife collections. Part I, Their history, life habits, economic status, and control, by Stanley P. Young; part II, Classification of wolves, by Edward A. Goldman. Photographs, color plates, and maps of wolf runways. Both authors are biologists with the Division of wildlife research, Department of the interior." Booklist

Booklist 41:135 Ja 1 '45

"Such a work must provide extraordinarily authentic matter for a naturalist, as it will furnish—pictures and all—irresistible allurement for a casual reader."
+ Christian Science Monitor p15 F 3 '45 150w

Z

ZABRISKIE, GEORGE. Like the root; a poem; il. by Elizabeth Hewlett Capehart Zabriskie. 76p $2 Coward-McCann

811 45-35077

"The unifying idea of Mr. Zabriskie's poem is that of cyclic continuity in the nature of time and life. This concept is emphasized in the change from morning to night and in the changing seasons. . . Within the cyclic nature of this world are the forces that govern human destiny, above all the fertility legend, of being reborn from death. . . As used by Zabriskie, these cyclic forces constitute a deterministic science of behavior." Poetry

"Deeply subjective Proustian poetry, much of it fine, some of it marred by a penchant for the scatological."
+ — Kirkus 13:120 Mr 15 '45 90w

Reviewed by F. C. Flint
N Y Times p8 Ag 26 '45 180w

New Yorker 21:66 Je 16 '45 30w

"There is a lack of human history in Zabriskie's myth. . . It is efforts like Zabriskie's that will one day establish a tradition in American poetry. Frequently he writes well with a simple, stark beauty. . . But myth will never be created without the element of humanity, the idea of man with all his weaknesses standing in promise at the center of the universe." James Schevill
+ — Poetry 66:290 Ag '45 600w

Reviewed by Dudley Fitts
Sat R of Lit 28:30 D 15 '45 310w

ZACHARIASEN, WILLIAM HOULDER. Theory of X-ray diffraction in crystals. 255p $4 Wiley

548.8 Crystallography, Mathematical. Diffraction 45-1406

"Both the theory of space latitudes and their symmetry properties and the theory of X-ray diffraction in crystals are discussed in this advanced textbook for graduates of physics and chemistry. Higher mathematics is a prerequisite. Some of the material is based on the author's original researches. Bibliographic references to additional material on crystal structure is given at the end of most chapters." N Y New Tech Bks

"As to style this work is precise and formal. The subject matter is arranged in good order and reflects indirectly the author's extensive background in structure determinations." L. K. Frevel
+ Chem & Eng N 23:945 My 25 '45 230w

Library J 69:1048 D 1 '44 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:5 Ja '45

"In this book there is presented a logical, rigorous, and comprehensive treatment of both the theory of crystal symmetry and the theory of X-ray diffraction in real and ideal crystals. These fundamental theories are treated in a complete, concise, and admirable manner free from the distractions of experimental details and techniques."
+ U S Quarterly Bkl 1:49 Je '45 160w

ZEITLIN, JOSEPH. Disciples of the wise; the religious and social opinions of American rabbis. 233p $3 Teachers college

296 Rabbis. Jews—Religion A45-3960

"The basic data for this study are drawn from well conceived questionnaires which were filled out by one-third of the total membership of rabbis of the Reformed and Conservative wings, and one-third of the Rabbinical Council of America. The study presents the attitudes of American rabbis on theology, problems of Jewish life and adjustment, the social function of religion, economic reconstruction, education, civil liberties, peace and internationalism, race relations, and sexual equality and sexual morality." (U S Quarterly Bkl) Index.

School & Society 62:48 Jl 21 '45 30w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:18 D '45 240w

ZELOMEK, A. WILBERT. Here comes tomorrow. 131p $2 Ziff-Davis

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy 44-47247

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"Zelomek is optimistic about this period. He looks forward to a plateau of prosperity based presumably upon the accumulation of wartime savings and backlogs of deferred demand. But the matter is never analyzed quantitatively or in any detail. Moreover, his pessimism concerning housing and aircraft production, and his prognostication that national income will be 'somewhere between 110 and 125 billion dollars annually during most of the next decade,' are at variance with his own superficial optimism. And even he is careful to emphasize that the alleged postwar prosperity is based purely on fortuitous forces which will have spent themselves by the end of the period. No one who describes so many things could be wrong on all of them." P. A. Samuelson

ZELOMEK, A. W.—Continued

Ann Am Acad 238:193 Mr '45 320w

Foreign Affairs 23:516 Ap '45 40w

"The eleven short essays in Here Comes Tomorrow read like so many weekly columns written for the hurried business man who wants a quick sketch of the background of relief to Europe, reconversion, the price level, post-war federal budget, housing, and so on, along with some predictions. Mr. Zelomek has inclosed a wide assortment of data in his economic capsules and takes a refreshingly common-sense point of view in most of his comment. His positive statements are on a level that will seem elementary to economists . . . but the intended readers of the book are probably the laymen who have been swamped with the conflicting and obscure economics of the daily press; for them Mr. Zelomek's book may prove a handy organizer or check list of topics and a guide to the broad outlines of the problems." Carl Shoup

Pol Sci Q 60:157 Mr '45 190w

"Mr. Zelomek is a working economist who has made a living giving advice to business men who want immediate questions answered about markets, prices, wages, taxes, and the like. He utilizes his knowledge and his skills to write a sober and balanced book about the foreground problems likely to face us with demobilization."

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 4 '45 300w

ZIFF, WILLIAM BERNARD. The gentlemen talk of peace. 530p $3 Ziff-Davis

940.531 World war, 1939—Peace. World politics 44-47163

For descriptive note see Annual for 1944.

"Mr. Ziff writes with an easy pen. Perhaps his words come a little too easily, and in many cases he has possibly forgotten the wise rule that the adjective may be the enemy of the noun; for such phrases as 'screaming armies,' 'smashing innovations,' 'pure, naked, merciless, killing power,' and 'utterly invincible,' which run through the volume, tend not to strengthen but rather to weaken the effectiveness of a very readable prose." L. A. Mander

+ — Ann Am Acad 239:183 My '45 1000w

"Mr. Ziff, who professes the Jewish religion, finds that the problem of nationality is complicated by 'the tragic struggle of race.' He does not draw a distinction between the Hebrew race and the Jewish faith. In general, this may be called a stimulating volume which could have been improved by scientific accuracy. The talk about peace continues." J. F. Thorning

+ Cath World 161:279 Je '45 340w

"If the impossibility of this grandiose scheme is not obvious to all except its author, the first four-fifths of his book furnishes a demonstration. . . The first part of the book gives solemn warning of difficulties ahead in the making of a durable peace. The last part, though this is contrary to the author's intention, places a buoy which marks a route where the pilots of peace will find no channel. It is a pity that such a realistic (though not entirely fair) delineation of the problem should end in a proposed solution of it which is pure fantasy." W. E. Garrison

— Christian Century 62:629 My 23 '45 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja '45

Foreign Affairs 23:510 Ap '45 120w

"Mr. Ziff's '530-page telegram to the American people' might as well have been reduced to the traditional 10 words and sent as a night letter to nowhere, for all the good it will do anybody except Mr. Ziff and his publishers. Yet an examination of the nature of his dilemma will not be without value, for all of us are implicated in the muddle of Mr. Ziff's world." R. N. Kelly

— New Repub 112:236 F 12 '45 850w

"Ziff's overview of world politics is worth while reading, for he is, on the whole, stimulating and suggestive; he has an ability to convey emotion with sincerity. When he deals with various peace proposals, he demonstrates his ability to present much information in a swift and readable narrative; but when he expounds his viewpoint on how to save the world from itself, he is positively naïve, offering us but a pretty piece of theorizing, in which he argues from major premises laid down by himself and complacently ignores the basic facts of international politics." J. S. Roucek

+ — Pol Sci Q 60:131 Mr '45 850w

Reviewed by J. D. de Constant

Survey G 34:70 F '45 50w

ZIM, HERBERT SPENCER. Rockets and jets; il. with drawings by James MacDonald and with photographs. 326p $3 Harcourt

629.13338 Rockets (aeronautics). Jet propulsion 45-3878

An attempt to describe the rockets known to date, and a study of their limitations and future possibilities. "There is a brief history of the use of various rockets, a description of the modern types used in battle today, and of those that may be used in the future. Certain problems such as decomposition or combustion, the employment of liquid fuels and the proper functioning of motors are discussed. The better known experimental models built in America and Europe are described. High altitude rockets are considered as well as the problem involved in future interplanetary travel. The book ends with information concerning the jet-propelled plane, German robot bombs, the future of rockets, the American Rocket Society, and societies in other countries." (Scientific Bk Club R)

"It is a fascinating and surprising book and a very readable one." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 Ap 29 '45 110w

Booklist 41:283 Je 1 '45

Horn Bk 21:201 My '45 70w

"An up-to-the-minute account which is as complete as military secrecy will permit—and, really, except for a few complicated technical details, not much seems missing. . . I should say this is sure-fire with all ages and both sexes."

+ Horn Bk 21:208 My '45 110w

"A reliable clarifier on scientific subjects."

+ Kirkus 13:182 Ap 15 '45 100w

"Written in simple, interesting style."

+ Library J 70:533 Je 1 '45 70w

"Fascinating material for the general reader on the senior high school age level and will be read by scientifically minded boys a little younger." E. D. Briggs

+ Library J 70:640 Jl '45 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 30:13 Ja '45

Sat R of Lit 28:82 N 10 '45 30w

"Mr. Zim has already established an enviable reputation as a writer of books on applied science for young readers. Modern youth, however, is often the intellectual equivalent of many an 'oldster,' and so it seems that this present book, designated as a 'juvenile,' holds just as much interest for more mature readers. . . Its graphic drawings and photographs furnish excellent supplementary information."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 Ap '45 180w

U S Quarterly Bkl 1:58 S '45 160w

"The book is written for the non-technical reader, and is fully up to the high standard of writing set by the author's previous books, on submarines, air navigation, etc." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 6 '45 160w

Wis Lib Bul 41:81 Jl '45

ZIMMERMAN, OSWALD THEODORE, and LAVINE, IRVIN. Industrial research service's conversion factors and tables. 262p $2.75 Industrial research service

530.83 Physics—Tables, etc. 44-7943

"A rough calculation indicates that there are more than 6,000 entries in this little book of conversion factors. Each gives a multiplier to convert from one unit of measurement to another. All sorts are listed—from common engineering terms such as B.t.u., miles, pounds and r.p.m. to unusual units like cubits, kines, labors and spaces. In addition, there are temperature, hydrometer and viscosity conversion tables. The book should prove to be a handy and useful reference and desk companion for all engineers." Chem & Met Eng

---

Chem & Met Eng 52:223 Ag '45 70w
Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 60w

ZUCKER, MORRIS. Philosophy of American history. 2v 794;1070p ea $4.50; set $8.50 Arnold-Howard pub. co, 31-03 37th st, Long Island City 3, N.Y.

973 U.S.—History—Philosophy 45-1094

"In the title of Mr. Zucker's essay the accent should fall on the word 'philosophy.' It is a new theory of history that he propounds and it is in his first volume that his original contribution to an ancient art must be looked for. The second volume is the application of the discovery to the American scene. Like many other students of history, Mr. Zucker is bothered by the absence of certainty in historical writings, which makes social prediction impossible and individual enlightenment precarious. He has a powerful wish to see history become a science and this wish has become father to two excessively large books. According to their author, and in virtue of these very books, history now is a science; all previous views of the subject are obsolete; and a henceforth inescapable Field Theory must rule our researches and their presentation: Mr. Zucker has presumably given us both principle and example." Sat R of Lit

---

"Perhaps Mr. Zucker would have avoided some of the contradictions in his work had he not been inclined to identify a passion for certitude with the scientific temper. His two volumes as they stand, full of derision for his fellow intellectuals accompanied by occasional, half-concealed attempts to forestall criticism, are like all serious efforts at historical synthesis a contribution, no matter how much less than he thinks, to objective historical knowledge. His historical creed is undoubtedly more wholesome, though less original or intellectually stimulating, than that of Oswald Spengler, whom he despises. The late Justice Holmes wrote to Sir Frederick Pollock that he regarded Spengler as 'an odious animal who must be read.' Mr. Zucker, being, unlike Spengler, a humanitarian, is doubtless a much more attractive animal, but one reviewer sympathetic to his aspirations for American democracy does not believe that he must be read." W. H. Coates
— + Am Hist R 51:125 O '45 2000w

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Ja 14 '45 750w

"At times the reader will find issues oversimplified; at other times he may complain of unnecessary divisions. Those religiously inclined will disagree with some of the conclusions reached. It is difficult to find in the work, despite its length and detail, much that is novel." Paul Kiniery
Commonweal 41:570 Mr 23 '45 400w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 8:246 Mr '45 1350w

Reviewed by Henry David
Nation 161:113 Ag 4 '45 480w

Reviewed by R. L. Schuyler
Pol Sci Q 60:453 S '45 1800w

"The reader of Mr. Zucker's ambitious work will find himself responding to contradictory impressions. Clearly the author is moved by a sincere feeling for humanity, particularly the exploited, the oppressed, and the war weary. Mr. Zucker has also done what seemed to him a conscientious job of reading. He quotes with a liberality which almost impoverishes the reader's stock of patience, and he comments on the same copious plan. But where one expects an historian to reveal his gifts—precision of utterance, concreteness of detail, organizing power, and sense of life, Mr. Zucker is unfortunately wanting. So deficient is he in these regards that again and again he unwittingly misrepresents the writers he quotes. . . He does not see far enough into his own propositions and constantly mistakes cloudy tautologies for explanations. To become a twentieth century Vico, it is not enough to choose the role and read one's contemporaries: one must have the historical sense and the ability to impart it with knowledge, accuracy, and force." Jacques Barzun
Sat R of Lit 28:22 Mr 31 '45 700w

"Mr. Zucker is determined to make history a science. He has evidently labored long, diligently and sincerely, for these two volumes contain a staggering amount of material. He is obviously a humane, conscientious gentleman who hopes for a better world. Unfortunately, these volumes are often stilted, tautologous and misleading. Some readers, as does this reviewer, will feel that the implications of the historical field theory are undemocratic. The most damning criticism, however, is that Mr Zucker fails to demonstrate those qualities which a great historian must possess—objectivity, ability to state facts and conclusions with precision and clarity, a feeling for the subject, and the power to organize material forcefully and interestingly." R. A. Brown
— + Springf'd Republican p6 Ap 26 '45 330w

Reviewed by Oscar Zeichner
Survey G 34:489 D '45 650w

ZWENG, CHARLES ALFONSO, ed. Aviation dictionary. 366p il $6 Pan Am. navigation

629.1303 Aeronautics—Dictionaries 44-7379

"This dictionary defines about five thousand terms pertaining to aeronautics, navigation and meteorology. In most cases the definitions are couched in language that can be understood by the beginner in aviation. Some slang terms are included. Short biographical sketches of a few Americans prominent in aviation are included." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Library J 69:815 O 1 '44 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:58 O '44

"While this dictionary contains a great deal of useful material, its uneven quality, and lack of clarity and consistency in definitions make it unsatisfactory for reliable reference use. It is not recommended."
— Subscription Bks Bul 16:44 Jl '45 500w

ZWENG, CHARLES ALFONSO. Parachute technician. 111p il $3 Pan Am. navigation

629.134386 Parachutes 45-933

"A manual of instruction for applicants seeking parachute technician ratings. It explains the operation of the parachute; the construction of the canopy, harness, and pack; folding and packing procedures; inspection and maintenance. One section contains typical multiple-choice examinations covering the written test and includes typical questions on Civil Air regulations for parachutes. There are numerous photographs and a glossary." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Library J 70:120 F 1 '45
N Y New Tech Bks 30:37 Jl '45

Subject and Title Index

To Author Entries, March, 1945-February, 1946

Owing to the fact that the Book Review Digest year does not correspond to the calendar year, running instead from March to March, index entries for January and February of each year refer to the volume dated the previous year; i.e., January and February 1946 will be found in the 1945 Annual. These entries are thus indicated in the index; (Ja '46) (1945 Annual); (F '46) (1945 Annual).

ABC of physics. Meyer, J. S. (Ap '45)
ABC play book. Cunningham, V. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Abbreviations
Shankle, G. E. Current abbreviations. (Ap '45)
Abstract and surrealist art in America. Janis, S. (Mr '45)
Accident, manslaughter or murder? Thayer, L. (Ag '45)
Accidents
Prevention
Judson, H. H., and Brown, J. M. Occupational accident prevention. (Mr '45)
Accidents, Industrial
Judson, H. H., and Brown, J. M. Occupational accident prevention. (Mr '45)
According to Paul. Rall, H. F. (Ap '45)
Acculturation
Malinowski, B. Dynamics of culture change. (Ag '45)
Warner, W. L., and Srole, L. Social systems of American ethnic groups. (O '45)
Acetylene
Nieuwland, J. A., and Vogt, R. R. Chemistry of acetylene. (S '45)
Action at world's end. Chambers, W. (My '45)
Action tonight. Horan, J. D. (S '45)
Activity book no. 2; library projects for children and young people. Fargo, L. F. (O '45)
Actors and actresses
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Granach, A. There goes an actor. (Ag '45)
Hunter, R. Come back on Tuesday. (Ap '45)
Lawrence, G. A star danced. (S '45)
Oswald, M. One small voice. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Stone, F. A. Rolling Stone. (Ap '45)
Tucker, S. Some of these days. (Ap '45)
Administration of the college library. Lyle, G. R., and others. (Mr '45)
Administrative theories of Hamilton and Jefferson. Caldwell, L. K. (Ap '45)
Admiral de Grasse and American independence. Lewis, C. L. (O '45)
Admirals
Generals and the admirals. (Je '45)
Adolescence
Grossman, J. S. Do you know your daughter? (Ap '45)
Adsorption
Mantell, C. L. Adsorption. (Mr '45)
Adult adjustment. Cartwright, M. A., and Burch, G. (O '45)
Advance through storm. See Latourette, K. S. History of the expansion of Christianity, v7. (Ag '45)
Advanced theory of statistics. Kendall, M. G. (S '45)
Advances in nuclear chemistry and theoretical organic chemistry. Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. (D '45)
Advances in protein chemistry. v 1. Anson, M. L., and Edsall, J. T., eds. (My '45)
Adventure for beginners. Friskey, M. (Mr '45)
Adventure in diplomacy. Pendar, K. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Adventure in radio. Cuthbert, M. R., ed. (D '45)
Adventure, rare and magical. Fenner, P. R., comp. (D '45)
Adventures and escapes of Gustavus Vasa. Van Loon, H. W. (N '45)
Adventures in grace. Maritain, R. (S '45)
Adventures in heaven. Angoff, C. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Adventures of Sir Ignatius Tippitolio. Smith, G. (D '45)
Adventures with the gods. Sellew, C. F. (D '45)
Advertising
Kidd, E. Just like a woman! (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Miller, G. L. How advertising is written—and why. (Ag '45)
Reiss, O. F. How to develop profitable ideas. (S '45)
Aerodynamics
Landé, A. Physics of flight. (Je '45)
Mises, R. von, and others. Theory of flight. (Je '45)
Parkinson, L. R. Aerodynamics. (Ap '45)
Truitt, R. W. Intermediate aerodynamics. (Mr '45)
Aeronautical dictionary. Dickinson, T. A. (Mr '45)
Aeronautics
Carlisle, N. V., and others. Modern wonder book of the air. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Francis, D. E. Aviation. (D '45)
Dictionaries
Ahrens, L., comp. Dictionary of aeronautics. (N '45)
Dickinson, T. A. Aeronautical dictionary. (Mr '45)
Klein Seralles, J. English-Spanish and Spanish-English dictionary of aviation terms. (N '45)
Zweng, C. A., ed. Aviation dictionary. (Ap '45)
Juvenile literature
Lloyd, T. Sky highways. (Je '45)
Laws and regulations
Goodman, G. Government policy toward commercial aviation. (My '45)
Mance, H. O. International air transport. (Ap '45)
Yearbooks
Airman's almanac, 1945. (Je '45)
Aeronautics, Commercial
Goodman, G. Government policy toward commercial aviation. (My '45)
Mance, H. O. International air transport. (Ap '45)
Putnam, C. High journey. (Je '45)
Van Zandt, J. P. Civil aviation and peace. (Ap '45)
Van Zandt, J. P. Geography of world air transport. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wilson, E. E. Air power for peace. (Ag '45)
Worthington, A., comp. International airways. (D '45)
Aeronautics, Military
Wilson, E. E. Air power for peace. (Ag '45)
Aeronautics as a profession
Henry, J. F., ed. Your future in aviation. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Aesthetic adventure. Gaunt, W. (Je '45)
Africa
Description and travel
Robeson, E. C. G. African journey. (S '45)
Native races
Robeson, E. C. G. African journey. (S '45)
Race problems
Malinowski, B. Dynamics of culture change. (Ag '45)

Africa, Central
Description and travel
Gatti, A. South of the Sahara. (D '45)
Africa, North
Antiquities
Elderkin, K. D. M. From Tripoli to Marrakesh. (My '45)
Description and travel
Elderkin, K. D. M. From Tripoli to Marrakesh. (My '45)
African journey. Robeson, E. C. G. (S '45)
After Bernadette. Sharkey, D. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
After-conduct of discharged offenders. Glueck, S. and E. T. (O '45)
After materialism—what? Tute, R. C. (S '45)
Against the current. Wittke, C. F. (Mr '45)
Against these three. Cloete, S. (S '45)
Age of Jackson. Schlesinger, A. M. (O '45)
Age of thunder. Prokosch, F. (Ap '45)
Agricultural colonies
Pelzer, K. J. Pioneer settlement in the Asiatic tropics. (D '45)
Agricultural extension work
Bailey, J. C. Seaman A. Knapp. (O '45)
Brunner, E. de S., and others, eds. Farmers of the world. (N '45)
Agricultural machinery
Jones, M. M. Shopwork on the farm. (N '45)
Agricultural pests
Pyenson, L. Pest control in the home garden. (My '45)
Agriculture
Economic aspects
Brandt, K. Reconstruction of world agriculture. (My '45)
Golob, E. O. Méline tariff. (My '45)
Moore, A. Farmer and the rest of us. (My '45)
Shannon, F. A. Farmer's last frontier. (O '45)
Handbooks, manuels, etc.
Wilcox, E. V. Modern farmers' cyclopedia of agriculture. (Je '45)
Study and teaching
Cocannouer, J. A. Trampling out the vintage. (Ap '45)
America
Wilson, C. M., ed. New crops for the New World. (D '45)
Asia, Southeast
Pelzer, K. J. Pioneer settlement in the Asiatic tropics. (D '45)
Great Britain
Menzies-Kitchin, A. W. Future of British farming. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Oxford. University. Agricultural economics research institute. Country planning. (O '45)
Tropics
Wilson, C. M., ed. New crops for the New World. (O '45)
United States
Howard, R. W. Two billion acre farm. (Mr '45)
Moore, A. Farmer and the rest of us. (My '45)
Shannon, F. A. Farmer's last frontier. (O '45)
Yunnan, China
Fei, H., and Chang, T. Earthbound China. (D '45)
Agriculture, Cooperative
Infield, H. F. Cooperative communities at work. (Ap '45)
Ahoy, shipmate! Lent, H. B. (S '45)
Air
Keenan, J. H., and Kaye, J. Thermodynamic properties of air. (D '45)
Air brakes
Drennan, C. M. HSC high-speed brake equipment. (Ag '45)
Air compressors
Feller, E. W. F. Air compressors. (Ap '45)
Air-conditioned nightmare. Miller, H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Air conditioning
Raber, B. F., and Hutchinson, F. W. Refrigeration and air conditioning engineering. (Je '45)
Air power for peace. Wilson, E. E. (Ag '45)
Aircraft mechanical drawing. Davis, D. J., and Goen, C. H. (Je '45)
Aircraft vibration and flutter. Freberg, C. R., and Kemler, E. N. (My '45)
Airframe materials. Stewart, F. S. (Je '45)
Airman's almanac, 1945. (Je '45)
Airplane industry and trade
Berghell, A. B. Production engineering in the aircraft industry. (Ap '45)
Airplane models
Powell, J. D. Junior model planes. (N '45)
Airplanes
Andrews, J. P. Your personal plane. (S '45)
Chapelle, G. L. M. How planes are made. (D '45)
Landé, A. Physics of flight. (Je '45)
Mises, R. von, and others. Theory of flight. (Je '45)
Design and construction
Davis, D. J., and Goen, C. H. Aircraft mechanical drawing. (Je '45)
Faltus, R., and Steinmetz, C. W. Manual of aircraft layout. (Je '45)
Materials
Stewart, F. S. Airframe materials. (Je '45)
Airplanes, Military
Collison, T. Superfortress is born. (S '45)
Ray, J. R. Story of the U.S. army air forces. (Ag '45)
Airports
Rhyne, C. S. Airports and the courts. (My '45)
Airports and the courts. Rhyne, C. S. (My '45)
Airways
Lloyd, T. Sky highways. (Je '45)
Aladdin's lamp. Munson, G. B. (My '45)
Alaska
Description and travel
Brevig, T. L. Apaurak in Alaska. (My '45)
Poor, H. V. Artist sees Alaska. (D '45)
Sundborg, G. Opportunity in Alaska. (D '45)
History
Tompkins, S. R. Alaska. (D '45)
Industries and resources
Sundborg, G. Opportunity in Alaska. (D '45)
Album of American history: 1783-1853. Adams, J. T., ed. (O '45)
Alcohol
Talalay, A., and Magat, M. Synthetic rubber from alcohol. (S '45)
Alcoholism
Seliger, R. V., and Cranford, V. Guide on alcoholism for social workers. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Aleutian and Commander islands and their inhabitants. Hrdlička, A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Aleutian islands
Hrdlička, A. Aleutian and Commander islands and their inhabitants. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wheaton, H. Prekaska's wife. (Ag '45)
Aleuts
Hrdlička, A. Aleutian and Commander islands and their inhabitants. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Alexandrov, Victor
Alexandrov, V. Journey through chaos. (S '45)
Alias Jane Smith. Kelland, C. B. (Mr '45)
Alignment charts, construction and use. Kraitchik, M. (Ag '45)
All brave sailors. Beecher, J. (O '45)
All God's children. Cohen, A. E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
All in line. Steinberg, S. (Ag '45)
All our lives. Miller, H. W. (Ag '45)
All out for the sack race! Day, R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

All souls' day
  Price, L. Litany for All souls. (Ag '45)
All summer long. Hobson, W. (O '45)
All those Buckles. Gaggin, E. R. (Ag '45)
All trivia. Smith, L. P. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Allenby, Edmund Henry Hynman Allenby, 1st viscount
  Wavell, A. P. W. Allenby in Egypt. (Ap '45)
Allenby in Egypt. Wavell, A. P. W. (Ap '45)
Alloys
  Masing, G. Ternary systems. (Ap '45)
Allston family
  Allston, R. F. W. South Carolina rice plantation. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Almighty atom. O'Neill, J. J. (D '45)
Alphabet books
  Friskey, M. R. Adventure for beginners. (Mr '45)
Althusius, Johannes
  Gerbrandy, P. S. National and international stability. (My '45)
Always with me. Nichols, M. G. (My '45)
Amaru. Frisbie, R. D. (Ag '45)
Amateur theater handbook. Davis, E. C. (N '45)
Amateur theatricals
  Davis, E. C. Amateur theater handbook. (N '45)
America. Benet, S. V. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
America and the new world, by Norman Angell and others. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
America in fiction. Coan, O. W., and Lillard, R. G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
America is West. Flanagan, J. T. ed. (N '45)
America: partner in world rule. Chamberlin, W. H. (S '45)
American boy's omnibus. Pashko, S. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
American champions. Cook, G. E. (O '45)
American child. Engle, P. (N '45)
American chronicle. Baker, R. S. (Ap '45)
American dialect dictionary. Wentworth, H. (N '45) (1944 Annual) American diaries. Matthews, W., and Pearce, R. H., comps. (F '46) (1945 Annual) American drama
Collections
  Galbraith, E. E., ed. Plays without footlights. (S '45)
American emperor. Brown, R. J. (D '45)
American fiction
Bibliography
  Coan, O. W., and Lillard, R. G. America in fiction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
American guerrilla in the Philippines. Wolfert, I. (My '45)
American handbook. United States. Office of war information. (My '45)
American labor unions. Peterson, F. (N '45)
American language. Mencken, H. L. (O '45)
American literature
Collections
  Bedside tales. (Ap '45)
  Flanagan, J. T., ed. America is West. (N '45)
  Holbrook, S. H., ed. Promised land. (N '45)
  Lee, C., ed. North, East, South, West. (D '45)
  Seaver, E., ed. Cross section 1945. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Stover, E. M., ed. Son-of-a-gun stew. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Wimberly, L. C., ed. Mid country. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
West
  Flanagan, J. T., ed. America is West. (N '45)
  Holbrook, S. H., ed. Promised land. (N '45)
American malleable iron. Malleable founders' society. (N '45)
American medical practice in the perspectives of a century. Stern, B. J. (Ap '45)
American poetry
Collections
  Benét, W. R., and Aiken, C. P., eds. Anthology of famous English and American poetry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  McCord, D. T. W., ed. What cheer. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Seaver, E., ed. Cross section 1945. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Williams, O., ed. War poets. (S '45)
American policy toward Palestine. Friedrich, C. J. (Ap '45)
American republics
  Ball, M. M. Problem of inter-American organization. (Je '45)
  Carnegie endowment for international peace. Division of international law. Handbook of international organizations in the Americas. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
American sayings. Woods, H. F. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
American Senate and world peace. Colegrove, K. W. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) American soldiers in Siberia. Kindall, S. G. (D '45)
Americanisms
  Mencken, H. L. American language. (O '45)
  Wentworth, H. American dialect dictionary. (N '45) (1944 Annual)
Americanization
  Sickels, A. L. Around the world in St. Paul. (Ja '46) (1945 Anuual)
America's Far Eastern policy. Bisson, T. A. (Mr '45)
America's place in the world. Peffer, N. (O '45)
America's role in the world economy. Hansen, A. H. (My '45)
America's stake in Britain's future. Soule, G. H. (N '45)
Amino acid composition of proteins and foods. Block, R. J., and Bolling, D. (O '45)
Amino acids
  Block, R. J., and Bolling, D. Amino acid composition of proteins and foods. (O '45)
  Sahyun, M., ed. Outline of the amino acids and proteins. (Ap '45)
Amplifiers, Vacuum tube
  Bode, H. W. Network analysis and feedback amplifier design. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Amsterdam, Netherlands
Prisons and reformatories
  Sellin, J. T. Pioneering in penology. (Je '45)
Amusements
  Boy's fun book. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Horowitz, C. Child's treasury of things-to-do. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Ickis, M. Pastimes for the patient. (Ag '45)
  Lariar, L. Bed and bored. (S '45)
  Pashko, S. American boy's omnibus. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Anahita and her dancing bear. Butler, N. (F '46) (1935 Annual)
Analysis of drill-jig design. Karash, J. I. (Mr '45)
Analysis of foods. Winton, A. L. and K. G. B. (O '45)
Anatomy, Artistic
  Lenssen, H. Art and anatomy. (S '45)
Anatomy of peace. Reves, E. (Ag '45)
Ancestors' brocades. Bingham, M. T. (My '45)
And blackthorns. Eng title of: Banshee harvest. Phelan, J. L. (Mr '45)
And die she did. Oellrichs, I. (Ap '45)
And the field is the world. De Jong, D. (N '45)
And the wind blows free. Glidden, F. D. (Ag '45)
And you, Thoreau! Derleth, A. W. (S '45)
Anesthetics
  Keys, T. E. History of surgical anesthesia. (D '45)
  Raper, H. R. Man against pain. (N '45)
Angel in the forest. Young, M. (My '45)
Angel of peace. Comenius, J. A. (D '45)
Animal fair. West, E. (O '45)
Animal painting and illustration
  Tunnicliffe, C. F. Bird portraiture. (S '45)
Animals, Habits and behavior of Benchley, B. J. My animal babies. (Je '45)
  Noble, R. C. Nature of the beast. (My '45)
Anna Lucasta. Yordan, P. (Mr '45)
Annals of the New York stage; v 14. Odell, G. C. D. (Ag '45)
Annihilation of man. Paul, L. A. (Je '45)
Anniversaries and holidays. Hazeltine, M. E. (Mr '45)
Annual flowers. Jenkins, D. H. (S '45)
Antheil, George
  Antheil, G. Bad boy of music. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Anthology of famous English and American poetry. Benét, W. R., and Aiken, C. P., eds. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Anthropology
Linton, R., ed. Science of man in the world crisis. (Mr '45)
Venable, V. Human nature. (Je '45)
Antibiotic substances
Herrell, W. E. Penicillin and other antibiotic agents. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Kolmer, J. A. Penicillin therapy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Waksman, S. A. Microbial antagonisms and antibiotic substances. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Antique cat. Bradbury, B. (D '45)
Anti-rent troubles, New York, 1839-1846
Christman, H. Tin horns and calico. (Ap '45)
Any number can play. Heth, E. H. (N '45)
Any shape or form. Daly, E. (Je '45)
Anything can happen. Papashvily, G. and H. W. (Mr '45)
Apartment in Athens. Wescott, G. (Mr '45)
Apaurak in Alaska. Brevig, T. L. (My '45)
Apology for the arts. Dixon, W. M. (Ap '45)
Appalachian mountains
McNeer, M. Y. Story of the southern highlands. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Appleby's end. Stewart, J. I. M. (Mr '45)
Applied fundamentals of machines. Cornetet, W. H., and Fox, D. W. (O '45)
Applied mathematics for radio and communication engineers. Smith, C. E. (D '45)
Appointment in Manila. Chamberlain, E. (N '45)
Appreciation of music. Welch, R. D. (S '45)
Approaches to national unity. Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. (D '45)
Approaches to world peace. Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Aquariums
Boardman, E. T. Guide to higher aquarium animals. (My '45)
Arab island. Stark, F. M. (D '45)
Arabs
Stark, F. M. Arab island. (D '45)
Aragon, poet of the French resistance. Aragon, L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Arbitration, Industrial
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. (My '45)
Arc welding, engineering and production control. Brooking, W. J. (Je '45)
Architectural drawing
Dalzell, J. R. Building trades blueprint reading. (O '45)
Architecture
Creighton, T. H. Planning to build. (Je '45)
Wright, F. L. When democracy builds. (My '45)
Dictionaries
Ware, D. Short dictionary of architecture. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
England
Briggs, M. S. Building to-day. (My '45)
United States
Nicholson, E. Contemporary shops in the United States. (D '45)
Architecture, Domestic
Davis, D., and others. Georgetown houses of the federal period, Washington, D.C. (Ap '45)
Johnstone, B. K., and others. Building or buying a house. (My '45)
Wilson, J. D., and Rogers, C. M. Simplified carpentry estimating. (O '45)
Designs and plans
Dunham, C. W., and Thalberg, M. D. Planning your home for better living. (D '45)
Nelson, G., and Wright, H. N. Tomorrow's house. (D '45)
Williams, P. R. Small home of tomorrow. (O '45)
Wills, R. B. Houses for homemakers. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Arctic adventure. MacMillan, W. (S '45)
Arctic regions
Stefansson, E. Within the circle. (Mr '45)
Are men equal? Myers, H. A. (My '45)
Argentina
Josephs, R. Argentine diary. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Economic conditions
Weil, F. J. Argentine riddle. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
History
Rennie, Y. F. Argentine republic. (My '45)
Politics and government
Weil, F. J. Argentine riddle. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Argentine diary. Josephs, R. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Argentine republic. Rennie, Y. F. (My '45)
Argentine riddle. Weil, F. J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Aristotle
Cherniss, H. F. Aristotle's criticism of Plato and the Academy, v 1. (D '45)
Arithmetic
Sticker, H. Art of calculation. (D '45)
Walling, S. A., and others. Nautical mathematics, and Marine navigation. (Mr '45)
Arizona star. Baldwin, F. (My '45)
Armament and history. Fuller, J. F. C. (N '45)
Armaments
Fuller, J. F. C. Armament and history. (N '45)
Strausz-Hupé, R. Balance of tomorrow. (O '45)
Armenia
Der Nersessian, S. Armenia and the Byzantine empire. (N '45)
Arms and policy. Nickerson, H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Arnhem lift. Hagen, L. E. (N '45)
Around the world in St. Paul. Sickels, A. L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Arrow fly home. Gibson, K. (My '45)
Art
Goldwater, R. J., and Treves, M., eds. Artists on art. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Exhibitions
New York. Museum of modern art. Art in progress. (Mr '45)
Galleries and museums
Taylor, F. H. Babel's tower. (Ag '45)
History
Gaunt, W. Aesthetic adventure. (Je '45)
Philosophy
Ducasse, C. J. Art, the critics, and you. (My '45)
Psychology
Kepes, G. Language of vision. (Ag '45)
Armenia
Der Nersessian, S. Armenia and the Byzantine empire. (N '45)
England
Gaunt, W. Aesthetic adventure. (Je '45)
Kansas City, Missouri
Fortune, C. Notes on art for Catholics. (My '45)
Art, Abstract
Hiler, H., and others. Why abstract? (D '45)
Janis, S. Abstract and surrealist art in America. (Mr '45)
Art, Persian
Pope, A. U. Masterpieces of Persian art. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Art and anatomy. Lenssen, H. (S '45)
Art in progress. New York. Museum of modern art. (Mr '45)
Art in the new land. Simon, C. M. H. (N '45)
Art metal work and jewelry. Haas, L. J. (D '45)
Art of calculation. Sticker, H. (D '45)
Art of medicine in relation to the progress of thought. Clark-Kennedy, A. E. (N '45)
Art of Newman's Apologia. Houghton, W. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Art of resuscitation. Flagg, P. J. (Ap '45)
Art of war. Sun Tzu. (My '45)
Art, the critics, and you. Ducasse, C. J. (My '45)
Artie and the princess. Chanslor, T. (Je '45)

Artie Greengroin, pfc. Brown, H. P. M. (S '45)
Artificial insemination of farm animals. Perry, E. J., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Artist sees Alaska. Poor, H. V. (D '45)
Artists
Goldwater, R. J., and Treves, M., eds. Artists on art. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Seymour, R. F. Some went this way. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Artists, American
Fielding, M. Dictionary of American painters, sculptors and engravers. (N '45)
Simon, C. M. H. Art in the new land. (N '45)
Artists on art. Goldwater, R. J., and Treves, M., eds. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
As much as I dare. Johnson, B. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Asia

Politics
Jaffe, P. J. New frontiers in Asia. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Asia for the Asiatics? Ward, R. S. (S '45)
Asia on the move. Lasker, B. (Ap '45)
Asian legacy and American life. Christy, A., ed. (Ag '45)
Ask no quarter. Marsh, G. T. (My '45)
Aspergillus
Thom, C., and Raper, K. B. Manual of the aspergilli. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Asphalt
Abraham, H. Asphalts and allied substances. (Je '45)
Asphalts and allied substances. Abraham, H. (Je '45)
Assignment without glory. Spinelli, M. (Mr '45)
Association and associations
Huszar, G. B. de. Practical applications of democracy. (My '45)
Astronomical air navigation. Hadingham, R. (Ap '45)
Astronomical instruments
Dimitroff, G. Z., and Baker, J. G. Telescopes and accessories. (Ap '45)
Astronomy
Allen, J. S. Astronomy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Fath, E. A. Elements of astromomy. (Ag '45)
Sutherland, L. Book of the stars. (O '45)

Juvenile literature
Meyer, J. S. Picture book of astronomy. (Je '45)

At his side. Korson, G. G. (My '45)
At home with music. Spaeth, S. G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad
Rister C. Santa Fe. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Atom smashers. Yates, R. F. (D '45)
Atomic artillery and the atomic bomb. Robertson, J. K. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Atomic bomb
Hawley, G. G., and Leifson, S. W. Atomic energy in war and peace. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Robertson, J. K. Atomic artillery and the atomic bomb. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Smyth, H. D. Atomic energy for military purposes. (N '45)
Atomic energy
Dietz, D. Atomic energy in the coming era. (D '45)
Hawley, G. G., and Leifson, S. W. Atomic energy in war and peace. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Robertson, J. K. Atomic artillery and the atomic bomb. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Atomic energy for military purposes. Smyth, H. D. (N '45)
Atomic energy in the coming era. Dietz, D. (D '45)
Atomic energy in war and peace. Hawley, G. G., and Leifson, S. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Atomic power
Cousins, N. Modern man is obsolete. (D '45)
De Ment, J. A., and Dake, H. C. Uranium and atomic power. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
O'Neill, J. J. Almighty atom. (D '45)
Yates, R. F. Atom smashers. (D '45)

Atonement
Weatherhead, L. D. Plain man looks at the cross. (My '45)
Audels power plant engineers guide. Graham, F. D. (D '45)
Audels questions and answers for electricians examinations for all grades. Anderson, E. P. (D '45)
Augustine, Saint, bp of Hippo
Bourke, V. J. Augustine's quest of wisdom. (D '45)
Simpson, W. J. S. St Augustine's episcopate. (Ag '45)
Augustine's quest of wisdom. Bourke, V. J. (D '45)
Augustus. Bishop, C. H. (D '45)
Augustus saves a ship. Henderson, Le G. (Ag '45)
Authoritarian attempt to capture education. Conference on the scientific spirit and the democratic faith. (S '45)
Authors
Slochower, H. No voice is wholly lost. (Ag '45)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Baker, R. S. American chronicle. (Ap '45)
Bromfield, L. Pleasant Valley. (My '45)
Fergusson, H. Home in the West. (Mr '45)
James, M. Cherokee strip. (O '45)
Johnson, B. As much as I dare. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Kaye-Smith, S. Kitchen fugue. (O '45)
La Farge, O. Raw material. (S '45)
Rilke, R. M. Letters, 1892-1910. (O '45)
Service, R. W. Ploughman of the moon. (N '45)
Sitwell, O. Left hand, right hand! (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Taylor, B., and Hayne, P. H. Correspondence. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Thackeray, W. M. Letters and private papers. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Autobiographical writings. Franklin, B. (D '45)
Autobiography of science. Moulton, F. R., and Schifferes, J. J., eds. (S '45)
Automobiles

Juvenile literature
Marshak, I. I. How the automobile learned to run. (D '45)

Aviation. Francis, D. E. (D '45)
Aviation dictionary. Zweng, C. A., ed. (Ap '45)
Aviation radio. Roberts, H. W. (Je '45)
Aviators

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Scott, R. L. Runway to the sun. (O '45)

Away we go. Harris, L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Axis rule in occupied Europe. Lemkin, R. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Aztec and Maya papermakers. Von Hagen, V. W. (O '45)
Aztecs
Von Hagen, V. W. Aztec and Maya papermakers. (O '45)

The B.O.W.S. Gillmore, M., and Collinge, P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Babel's tower. Taylor, F. H. (Ag '45)
Bach, Johann Sebastian
David, H. T., and Mendel, A., eds. Bach reader. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Back to life. Kupper, H. I. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Backgrounds of conflict. London, K. (S '45)
Bacterial cell in its relation to problems of virulence, immunity and chemotherapy. Dubos, R. J. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bacteriology
Gershenfeld, L. Bacteriology and allied subjects. (S '45)
Bacteriology and allied subjects. Gershenfeld, L. (S '45)
Bad boy of music. Antheil, G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bailey, Frank
Bailey, F. It can't happen here again. (Mr '45)

Bailey, Margaret Emerson
Bailey, M. E. Good-bye, proud world. (My '45)
Baker, Ray Stannard
Baker, R. S. American chronicle. (Ap '45)
Balance of tomorrow. Strausz-Hupé, R. (O '45)
Baldwin IV, king of Jerusalem

Fiction

Kossak-Szczucka, Z. Leper king. (S '45)
Balkan background. Newman, B. (Mr '45)
Balkan federation. Stavrianos, L. S. (Je '45)
Balkan states
Dennen, L. Trouble zone. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Newman, B. Balkan background. (Mr '45)
Stavrianos, L. S. Balkan federation. (Je '45)
Ballad and the source. Lehmann, R. (Ap '45)
Ballad of the bones. Reece, B. H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Ballads, American
Spaeth, S. G. Read 'em and weep. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Ballet
Ambrose, K. Ballet-lover's pocket-book. (Ap '45)
Ballet-lover's pocket-book. Ambrose, K. (Ap '45)
Bank of England
Clapham, J. H. Bank of England. (O '45)
Banks and banking

United States

Popple, C. S. Development of two bank groups in the central Northwest. (My '45)
Redlich, F. Essays in American economic history. (Ap '45)
Banjo Billy and Mr Bones. Justus, M. (Ap '45)
Banshee harvest. Phelan, J. L. (Mr '45)
Baptists. Pennsylvania. Philadelphia association
Torbet, R. G. Social history of the Philadelphia Baptist association. (S '45)
Baptists in Philadelphia
Torbet, R. G. Social history of the Philadelphia Baptist association. (S '45)
Barbarigo, Andrea
Lane, F. C. Andrea Barbarigo, merchant of Venice. (Ap '45)
Barbosa, Ruy
Turner, C. W. Ruy Barbosa. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Barington. Wallace, E. T. (S '45)
Barrow, Joe Louis. See Louis, J.
Barschak, Erna
Barschak, E. My American adventure. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Baseball
Graham, F. Brooklyn Dodgers. (Ag '45)
Stockton, J. R. Gashouse gang and a couple of other guys. (Je '45)
Basic English
Richards, I. A., and Gibson, C. Learning Basic English. (O '45)
Basic problems of sales management. La Clave, F. (S '45)
Basic writings. Thomas Aquinas, Saint. (My '45)
Basis of lasting peace. Hoover, H. C., and Gibson, H. (Je '45)
Basis of Soviet strength. Cressey, G. B. (S '45)
Bass fishing
Gasque, J. Bass fishing. (N '45)
Hollis, H. C. Bass tackle and tactics. (S '45)
Bass tackle and tactics. Hollis, H. C. (S '45)
Batrachia
Boardman, E. T. Guide to higher aquarium animals. (My '45)
Battle, Kemp Plummer
Battle, K. P. Memories of an old-time tar heel. (D '45)
Battle below. Casey, R. J. (S '45)
Battle within. Gibbs, P. H. (Mr '45)
Battlefields in Britain. Wedgwood, C. V. (My '45)
Battles
Wedgwood, C. V. Battlefields in Britain. (My '45)
Baudelaire, Charles Pierre
Bennett, J. D. Baudelaire. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Bay Mild. Kintziger, L. J. (O '45)
Beach red. Bowman, P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Beachhead on the wind. Jonas, C. (O '45)
Bears

Legends and stories

Weston, C. G. Bhimsa, the dancing bear. (D '45)
Beauty, Personal
Dengel, V. Hold your man! (O '45)
Bed and bored. Lariar, L. (S '45)
Bedelia. Caspary, V. (S '45)
Bedside book of famous French stories. Becker, B., and Linscott, R. N., eds. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bedside tales. (Ap '45)
Bedside treasury of love. Harré, T. E., comp. (O '45)
Beethoven, Ludwig van
Tovey, D. F. Beethoven. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Beginning of the world. Crawford, E. D., ed. (Ag '45)
Behemoth. Neumann, F. L. (Je '45)
Behold our green mansions. Boerker, R. H. D. (S '45)
Behold your King. Bauer, F. A. M. (O '45)
Belgium

Civilization

Goris, J. A., ed. Belgium. (Je '45)

History

Eppstein, J., ed. Belgium. (My '45)
Goris, J. A., ed. Belgium. (Je '45)
Belinda's new shoes. Bromhall, W. (O '45)
Bell for Adano; a dramatization of the novel. Osborn, P. (Je '45)
Bellamy, Edward
Morgan, A. E. Edward Bellamy. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Beloved crusader. Flick, E. M. E. (Ap '45)
Beloved Son. Wagstaff, B. S. (Ap '45)
Beneath the stone. Tabori, G. (O '45)
Beneath the stone the scorpion. Eng title of: Beneath the stone. Tabori, G. (O '45)
Benjamin Franklin reader; ed. by N. G. Goodman. Franklin, B. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Bermuda

History

Sources

Norwood, R. Journal. (D '45)
Bernadette Soubirous, Saint
Sharkey, D. C. After Bernadette. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Berries
McKenny, M. Book of wayside fruits. (Je '45)
Wilkinson, A. E. Encyclopedia of fruits, berries and nuts. (Je '45)
Best American short stories, 1945. Foley, M., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Best cartoons of the year. Lariar, L., ed. (D '45)
Best film plays of 1943-1944. Gassner, J., and Nichols, D., eds. (Ag '45)
Best from Yank. Yank (periodical). (My '45)
Best is yet. . . Ernst, M. L. (My '45)
Best one-act plays of 1944. Mayorga, M. G., ed. (O '45)
Best plays of 1944-45. Mantle, B., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Best sermons; 1944 selection. Butler, G. P., ed. (Ap '45)
Best sports stories of 1944. Marsh, I. T., and Ehre, E., eds. (S '45)
Betio beachhead. Wilson, E. J., and others. (Je '45)
Betsy and the boys. Haywood, C. (S '45)
Better colleges—better teachers. Cooper, R. M. (Ap '45)
Between eternities. Crowell, G. N. (My '45)
Bewitched lands. Costa du Rels, A. (N '45)
Beyond all fronts. Jordan, M. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Beyond personality. Lewis, C. S. (My '45)
Beyond the sound of guns. Loring, E. B. (D '45)
Bhimsa, the dancing bear. Weston, C. G. (D '45)

Bible. Whole
Selections
  Willoughby, H. R. Soldiers' Bibles through three centuries. (My '45)
About the Bible
  Harris, P. News from north of the Nile. (S '45)
  Stimpson, G. W. Book about the Bible. (Ag '45)
Atlases
  Wright, G. E., and Filson, F. V., eds. Westminster historical atlas to the Bible. (Mr '45
Dictionaries and encyclopedias
  Miller, M. S. and J. L. Encyclopedia of Bible life. (Ap '45)
History
  Willoughby, H. R. Soldiers' Bibles through three centuries. (My '45)
Introductions
  Chase, M. E. Bible and the common reader. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Juvenile literature
  Jones, M. A. Tell me about the Bible. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bible. Old Testament
Single books
Amos
  Wolfe, R. E. Meet Amos and Hosea. (Ag '45)
Hosea
  Wolfe, R. E. Meet Amos and Hosea. (Ag '45)
Bible. New Testament
Selections
  Bible. New Testament. Story of Jesus. (Ap '45)
About the New Testament
  Hunter, A. M. Message of the New Testament. (Ag '45)
  Lamsa, G. M. New Testament commentary from the Aramaic and the ancient eastern customs. (Ag '45)
Versions
  Goodspeed, E. J. Problems of New Testament translation. (Ag '45)
Parts of the New Testament
Gospels
  McGinley, L. J. Form-criticism of the synoptic healing narratives. (Ap '45)
  Rawlinson, A. E. J. Christ in the Gospels. (Ap '45)
Gospels—Pictorial illustrations
  Bible. New Testament. Gospels. Jesus Christ. (My '45)
Bible and the common reader. Chase, M. E. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Bible as literature
  Chase, M. E. Bible and the common reader. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Bible speaks to our day. Barclay, G. (S '45)
Bible stories
  Crawford, E. D., ed. Beginning of the world. (Ag '45)
  Crawford, E. D., ed. Jesus shows the way. (D '45)
  Luckhardt, M. M. C. Light on our path. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Bibliography
Best books
  Hackett, A. P. Fifty years of best sellers, 1895-1945. (S '45)
  Jones, P., comp. One thousand books for hospital libraries. (My '45)
First editions
  Wise, T. J. Letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Bibliography of early secular American music. Sonneck, O. G. T. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Bibliography of [his] published writings. Mill, J. S. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Big business in a democracy. Adams, J. T. (O '45)
Big democracy. Appleby, P. H. (Je '45)
Big distance. Hough, D., and Arnold, E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Big fire. Olds, E. (D '45)
Big government. Pusey, M. J. (Je '45)
Big green umbrella. Coatsworth, E. J. (My '45)
Big Red. Kjelgaard, J. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
The big three. Dallin, D. J. (S '45)
Bioenergetics and growth. Brody, S. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Biographical roundup. Carnegie, D. (Ap '45)
Biography (individual)
  Adams, S. H. A. Woollcott. (Je '45)
  Alexandrov, V. Journey through chaos. (S '45)
  Antheil, G. Bad boy of music. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Anthony, K. S. The Lambs. (Ap '45)
  Ayling, K. Old Leatherface of the Flying Tigers. (S '45)
  Bailey, F. It can't happen here again. (Mr '45)
  Bailey, J. C. Seaman A. Knapp. (O '45)
  Bailey, M. E. Good-bye, proud world. (My '45)
  Baker, R. S. American chronicle. (Ap '45)
  Baringer, W. E. House dividing. (O '45)
  Barschak, E. My American adventure. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Battle, K. P. Memories of an old-time tar heel. (D '45)
  Bell, H. C. F. Woodrow Wilson and the people. (Ag '45)
  Benard, E. D. Preface to Newman's theology. (S '45)
  Bergmann, L. N. Music master of the Middle West. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Bingham, M. T. Ancestors' brocades. (My '45)
  Bodein, V. P. Social gospel of Walter Rauschenbusch and its relation to religious education. (D '45)
  Borden, L. P. Francesca Cabrini. (Ag '45)
  Bourke, V. J. Augustine's quest of wisdom. (D '45)
  Bowers, C. G. Young Jefferson. (Ap '45)
  Broderick, J. T. Willis Rodney Whitney. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Brodie, F. M. No man knows my history. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Browne, C. A. Thomas Jefferson and the scientific trends of his time. (N '45)
  Buckley, J. H. William Ernest Henley. (D '45)
  Bullock, H. D. My head and my heart. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Cailliet, E. Pascal, genius in the light of Scripture. (N '45)
  Calkins, R., ed. Daniel Evans. (My '45)
  Cammaerts, E. Flower of grass. (O '45)
  Cannell, K. B. E. Jam yesterday. (N '45)
  Cannon, W. B. Way of an investigator. (S '45)
  Caruso, D. P. B. Enrico Caruso, his life and death. (Je '45)
  Cierplikowski, A. Antoine. (Je '45)
  Clemens, C. Man from Missouri. (N '45)
  Cobb, E. My wayward parent. (D '45)
  Cocannouer, J. A. Trampling out the vintage. (Ap '45)
  Cowdrey, B., and Williams, H. W. William Sidney Mount. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Cranston, R. Story of Woodrow Wilson. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Cromwell, O. Writings and speeches. (S '45)
  Croy, H. Wonderful neighbor. (D '45)
  Daniels, J. Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Davenport, J., and Murphy, C. J. V. Lives of Winston Churchill. (S '45)
  David, H. T., and Mendel, A., eds. Bach reader. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Davis, K. S. Soldier of democracy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Dickey, D. C. Seargent S. Prentiss. (D '45)
  Doyle, C. H. Life of Pope Pius XII. (Ag '45)
  Dunn, E. C. Pursuit of understanding. (D '45)
  Earhart, M. Frances Willard. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Einstein, A. Mozart. (Mr '45)
  England, M. Knight there was. (N '45)
  Ernst, M. L. Best is yet. . . (My '45)
  Eskelund, K. My Chinese wife. (S '45)
  Espey, J. J. Minor heresies. (My '45)
  Eve, A. S., and Creasey, C. H. Life and work of John Tyndall. (N '45)
  Fergusson, H. Home in the West. (Mr '45)
  Flick, E. M. E. Beloved crusader. (Ap '45)

Footman, D. Red prelude. (Je '45)
Fränkel, H. F. Ovid. (N '45)
Franklin, B. Autobiographical writings. (D '45)
Graham, F. Al Smith, American. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Grant, E. M. Career of Victor Hugo. (S '45)
Gray, A. K. Teresa. (N '45)
Gumpert, M. Hahnemann, the adventurous career of a medical rebel. (D '45)
Harrold, C. F. John Henry Newman. (D '45)
Hart, H. D. Lincoln, the man of the ages. (O '45)
Henry, R. S. "First with the most" Forrest. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Hicks, F. C. William Howard Taft. (N '45)
Hinkley, L. L. Brontës: Charlotte and Emily. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hinshaw, D. Man from Kansas. (D '45)
Hood, T. Letters. (O '45)
Hoole, W. S. Sam Slick in Texas. (N '45)
Houghton, W. E. Art of Newman's Apologia. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hunter, R. Come back on Tuesday. (Ap '45)
Hutchings, A. J. B. Schubert. (N '45)
Hutheesing, K. N. With no regrets. (O '45)
James, M. Cherokee strip. (O '45)
James, W. M. Admiral Sir William Fisher. (Mr '45)
Johnson, B. As much as I dare. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Judson, A. C. Life of Edmund Spenser. (D '45)
Kaye-Smith, S. Kitchen fugue. (O '45)
Kesten, H. Copernicus and his world. (Ap '45)
Kingdon, F. An uncommon man. (Je '45)
Krutch, J. W. Samuel Johnson. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Kurtz, M. R. My rival, the sky. (Ag '45)
La Farge, O. Raw material. (S '45)
Larson, H. Björnstjerne Björnson. (My '45)
Larson, M. G. Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery. (O '45)
Lawrence, G. A star danced. (S '45)
Le Massena, C. E. Galli-Curci's life of song. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lennon, F. B. Victoria through the looking-glass. (Ap '45)
Lewis, C. L. Admiral de Grasse and American independence. (O '45)
Lieb, F. G. Connie Mack. (Je '45)
Lied, J. Prospector in Siberia. (D '45)
Longaker, J. M. Ernest Dowson. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
McNaughton, F., and Hehmeyer, W. This man Truman. (O '45)
Maritain, R. Adventures in grace. (S '45)
Markowa, E. Glowing lily. (O '45)
Masefield, J. New chum. (My '45)
Mathews, J. J. Talking to the moon. (S '45)
Mayerberg, S. S. Chronicle of an American crusader. (My '45)
Maynard, T. Too small a world. (My '45)
Mecklin, J. M. My quest for freedom. (Ag '45)
Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, F. Letters. (Ag '45)
Merriman, R. B. Suleiman the Magnificent. (Mr '45)
Meyer, A. E. Voltaire: man of justice. (My '45)
Miller, H., and Cooper, P. Footloose fiddler. (Ag '45)
Miller, H. W. All our lives. (Ag '45)
Miller, M. Joe Louis: American. (D '45)
Moody, J. John Henry Newman. (D '45)
Morgan, A. E. Edward Bellamy. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Morneweck, E. F. Chronicles of Stephen Foster's family. (N '45)
Mowrer, P. S. House of Europe. (N '45)
Nichol, F. D. Midnight cry. (Je '45)
Niebuhr, R., ed. This ministry. (O '45)
Norris, G. W. Fighting liberal. (Je '45)
Olmsted, J. M. D. François Magendie. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Olschki, L. Machiavelli the scientist. (S '45)
Orcutt, R. Merchant of alphabets. (Ag '45)
Osland, B. Long pull from Stavanger. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Oswald, M. One small voice. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Papashvily, G. and H. W. Anything can happen. (Mr '45)
Patterson, G. J. Journal of a southern student. (S '45)
Pellowe, W. C. S. Mark Twain. (D '45)
Pinchon, E. Dan Sickles. (Ag '45)
Pohl, F. J. Amerigo Vespucci, pilot major. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Polner, T. I. Tolstoy and his wife. (S '45)
Porter, M. B. Straight down a crooked lane. (O '45)
Power, T. F. Jules Ferry and the renaissance of French imperialism. (My '45)
Quiller-Couch, A. T. Memories and opinions. (Ag '45)
Randall, J. G. Lincoln, the president. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Rilke, R. M. Letters, 1892-1910. (O '45)
Rilke, R. M. Rodin. (D '45)
Robertson, A. Dvorak. (N '45)
Rogers, P. Father Theobald Mathew. (Je '45)
Rojas, R. San Martin. (My '45)
Rony, G. This, too, shall pass away. (Je '45)
Santayana, G. Middle span. (My '45)
Sargent, D. Mitri. (S '45)
Schauffler, R. H. Florestan. (O '45)
Scott, R. L. Runway to the sun. (O '45)
Service, R. W. Ploughman of the moon. (N '45)
Seymour, R. F. Some went this way. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Shipton, C. K. Roger Conant, a founder of Massachusetts. (Ap '45)
Sigaud, L. A. Belle Boyd. (Mr '45)
Simkins, F. B. Pitchfork Ben Tillman. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Simon, C. M. H. Straw in the sun. (My '45)
Simpson, W. J. S. St Augustine's episcopate. (Ag '45)
Sitwell, O. Left hand, right hand! (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Smith, R. M., and others. Shelley legend. (D '45)
Stebbins, L. P. and R. P. Frank Damrosch. (Ag '45)
Stone, F. A. Rolling Stone. (Ap '45)
Stone, G. T. My caravan of years. (O '45)
Stong, P. D. Marta of Muscovy. (S '45)
Sullivan, W. L. Under orders. (S '45)
Surmelian, L. Z. I ask you, ladies and gentlemen. (Ag '45)
Sykes, G. Westerly trend. (Je '45)
Taylor, B., and Hayne, P. H. Correspondence. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Tchaikovski, P. I. Diaries. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Temple, S. My young life. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Thackeray, W. M. Letters and private papers. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Towne, C. H. So far so good. (S '45)
Tryon, L. R. Poor man's doctor. (S '45)
Tucker, S. Some of these days. (Ap '45)
Turner, C. W. Ruy Barbosa. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wade, G. I. Thomas Traherne. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wagner, F., and Cooper, P. Heritage of fire. (D '45)
Waldman, M. Elizabeth and Leicester. (D '45)
Wallace, P. A. W. Conrad Weiser. (N '45)
Walmsley, L. Turn of the tide. (Ag '45)
Walpole, H. Correspondence with M. and A. Berry and B. C. Seton. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wavell, A. P. W. Allenby of Egypt. (Ap '45)
Wechsberg, J. Looking for a bluebird. (Mr '45)
Welch, D. Maiden voyage. (Ap '45)
Whicher, G. F. Walden revisited. (S '45)
White, N. I. Portrait of Shelley. (Ap '45)
Wilson, F. E. Arthur St Clair. (Ap '45)
Wilson, F. M. H. Memoirs of an ex-diplomat. (Je '45)
Wilson, R. R., ed. Intimate memories of Lincoln. (O '45)
Wiltse, C. M. John C. Calhoun, nationalist. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Winwar, F. Life of the heart. (D '45)
Wittke, C. F. Against the current. (Mr '45)
Wolfe, L. M. Son of the wilderness. (S '45)
Woodward, W. E. Tom Paine. (S '45)
Wright, R. Black boy. (Mr '45)
Yoseloff, T. Fellow of infinite jest. (N '45)
Young, B. This man from Lebanon. (Mr '45)
Young, E. Flowering dusk. (S '45)

Juvenile literature

Baker, N. B. Lenin. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Brown, R. J. American emperor. (D '45)
Burton, J. Garibaldi, knight of liberty. (N '45)
Carroll, M. T. Keep my flag flying. (D '45)

- Biography (individual)—Continued
  - Carson, J. M. H. Son of thunder. (D '45)
  - Criss, M. Dom Pedro of Brazil. (Ap '45)
  - Hawthorne, H. Give me liberty. (Ag '45)
  - Henry, M. Robert Fulton. (D '45)
  - Long, L. Square sails and spice islands. (N '45)
  - McGuire, E. Daniel Boone. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Malvern, G. Good troupers all. (N '45)
  - Maurois, A. Franklin, the life of an optimist. (Ag '45)
  - Mayo, W. Mozart. (Ag '45)
  - Mayo, W. Tchaikovsky. (Ag '45)
  - Newcomb, C. Larger than the sky. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Nicolay, H. Born to command. (Je '45)
  - Purdy, C. L. S. Victor Herbert, American music-master. (Ap '45)
  - Ruttkay, G. Chopin. (Ag '45)
  - Stevenson, A. Kit Carson, boy trapper. (D '45
  - Sze, M. Echo of a cry. (N '45)
  - Van Loon, H. W. Adventures and escapes of Gustavus Vasa. (N '45)
  - Wagoner, J. B. Julia Ward Howe. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Biography (collective)
  - Bontemps, A. W. We have tomorrow. (N '45)
  - Bullard, R. L. Fighting generals. (S '45)
  - Bulman, D., ed. Molders of opinion. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Business executives and corporation encyclopedia. (My '45)
  - Canby, H. S. Family history. (N '45)
  - Carnegie, D. Biographical roundup. (Ap '45)
  - De Weerd, H. A. Great soldiers of World war II. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  - Ewen, D. Men and women who make music. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Fielding, M. Dictionary of American painters, sculptors and engravers. (N '45)
  - Fülöp-Miller, R. Saints that moved the world. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Generals and the admirals. (Je '45)
  - Goebel, D. B. and J. Generals in the White House. (Mr '45)
  - Hyde, M. A., ed. Modern biography. (My '45)
  - Moore, J. A. Famous leaders of industry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Oestreicher, J. C. World is their beat. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Quennell, P. C. Profane virtues. (S '45)
  - Richardson, B. A. Great American Negroes. (D '45)
  - Stebbins, L. P. and R. P. Trollopes. (D '45)
  - Van Doren, C. C. Carl Van Doren; sel. by himself. (S '45)
  - Wallace, A. In spite of all. (S '45)
  - Ward, A. C. Seven painters. (N '45)
  - Who's who in poetry in America. (N '45)
  - Juvenile literature
    - Simon, C. M. H. Art in the new land. (N '45)
- Biography of a cathedral. Anderson, R. G. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
- Biological physics
  - Schrödinger, E. What is life? (S '45)
- Bird girl, Sacagawea. Seymour, F. W. S. (D '45)
- Bird in hand. Molloy, A. S. B. (D '45)
- Bird portraiture. Tunnicliffe, C. F. (S '45)
- Birds
  - Griscom, L. Modern bird study. (S '45)
  - Juvenile literature
    - Pistorius, A. What bird is it? (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Legends and stories
    - Wells, Z. R. and C. Raffles. (S '45)
  - Migration
    - Griscom, L. Modern bird study. (S '45)
  - Pictorial works
    - Tunnicliffe, C. F. Bird portraiture. (S '45)
  - South Sea islands
    - Mayr, E. Birds of the Southwest Pacific. (Mr '45)
- Birds of the Southwest Pacific. Mayr, E. (Mr '45)
- Birth
  - Rosenberg, B. D. Special delivery. (Ap '45)
- Birth control
  - Burch, G. I., and Pendell, E. Population roads to peace or war. (D '45)
- Birth of mischief. Sabatini, R. (O '45)
- Birth of Venus. Knowles, S. (N '45)
- Birthday murder. Lewis, L. (Ap '45)
- Birthday of a nation—July 4, 1776. Rogers, F., and Beard, A. (My '45)
- Bjørnson, Bjørnstjerne
  - Larson, H. Björnstjerne Björnson. (My '45)
- Black boy. Wright, R. (Mr '45)
- Black eye. Little, C. and G. (D '45)
- Black metropolis. Drake, St Clair, and Cayton, H. R. (D '45)
- Black moon. McMeekin, C. (S '45)
- Black rose. Costain, T. B. (O '45)
- Black spaniel mystery. Cavanna, B. (Ag '45)
- Black stallion returns. Farley, W. (Ja '45) (1945 Annual)
- Black tarn. Wilson, P. W. (Ag '45)
- Black weather. Roueché, B. (S '45)
- Black widow. Thorp, R. W., and Woodson, W. D. (Ap '45)
- Black widow spiders
  - Thorp, R. W., and Woodson, W. D. Black widow. (Ap '45)
- Blondes don't cry. Mace, M. (My '45)
- Blood from a stone. Wallis, R. O. S. (My '45)
- Blood on Nassau's moon. McCully, W. (Ap '45)
- Blood on the cat. Rutledge, N. (Ap '45)
- Blood, sweat, and lipstick. Danenberg, E. N. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Blue Danube. Bemelmans, L. (My '45)
- Blueprint reading for the building trades. Kenney, J. E. (Ap '45)
- Blueprints
  - Dalzell, J. R. Building trades blueprint reading. (O '45)
  - Kenney, J. E. Blueprint reading for the building trades. (Ap '45)
  - Svensen, C. L., and Street, W. E. Manual of blueprint reading. (Mr '45)
- Bogey of economic maturity. Terborgh, G. W. (N '45)
- Bohemian literature. See Czechoslovak literature
- Boiler room questions and answers. Higgins, A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Boilers
  - Higgins, A. Boiler room questions and answers. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Boiling points
  - Swietoslawski, W. Ebulliometric measurements. (O '45)
- Bollmann, Erick
  - Redlich, F. Essays in American economic history. (Ap '45)
- Bolts of melody. Dickinson, E. (My '45)
- Bones of contention. Vansittart, R. G. V. (S '45)
- Book about the Bible. Stimpson, G. W. (Ag '45)
- Book for baby. Brann, E. (N '45)
- Book for junior woodsmen. Mason, B. S. (D '45)
- Book of knitting patterns. Thomas, M. H. (My '45)
- Book of pottery and porcelain. Cox, W. E. (Je '45)
- Book of the stars. Sutherland, L. (O '45)
- Book of wayside fruits. McKenny, M. (Je '45)
- Book of words. Eng title of: Word in your ear, and Just another word. Brown, I. J. C. (O '45)
- Booker T. Washington (steamship)
  - Beecher, J. All brave sailors. (O '45)
- Books
  - Prices
    - United States cumulative book auction records. (My '45)
  - Reviews
    - Farrell, J. T. League of frightened philistines. (Ag '45)
    - Review index. (My '45)
- Books and reading
  - Hackett, A. P. Fifty years of best sellers, 1895-1945. (S '45)
  - Rankin, M. Children's interests in library books of fiction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual.
- Boom of the eighties in southern California. Dumke, G. S. (Je '45)

Boone, Daniel
Juvenile literature
McGuire, E. Daniel Boone. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Border city. Stilwell, H. (Je '45)
Border iron. Best, H. (D '45)
Born free and equal. Adams, A. E. (Ap '45)
Born thirty years too soon. Williams, J. R. (D '45)
Born to be murdered. Allan, D. (Je '45)
Born to command. Nicolay, H. (Je '45)
Boston
Commerce
Baxter, W. T. House of Hancock. (S '45)
Boswell, James
Quennell, P. C. Profane virtues. (S '45)
Botany
Terminology
Jaeger, E. C. Source-book of biological names and terms. (My '45)
Brazil
Foster, M. M. and R. S. Brazil (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Great Britain
Brimble, L. J. F. Flowers in Britain. (O '45)
Islands of the Pacific
Merrill, E. D. Plant life of the Pacific world. (D '45)
Latin America
Verdoorn, F., ed. Plants and plant science in Latin America. (N '45)
United States
Wodehouse, R. P. Hayfever plants. (D '45)
Botany, Economic
Wilson, C. M., ed. New crops for the New World. (O '45)
Juvenile literature
Lucas, J. M. Indian harvest. (D '45)
Bougainville, Battle of, 1943
Monks, J. A ribbon and a star. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bound with two chains. Janta, A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Boundaries
Hill, N. L. Claims to territory in international law and relations. (Ag '45)
Jones, S. B. Boundary-making. (D '45)
Boundary-making. Jones, S. B. (D '45)
Boy almighty. Feikema, F. F. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Boyd, Belle
Sigaud, L. A. Belle Boyd. (Mr '45)
Boy's fun book. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bramble bush. Dickson, M. S. (D '45)
Brave companions. Knight, R. A. (D '45)
Brave nurse. Newcomb, E. (O '45)
Brazil
Freyre, G. Brazil. (O '45)
Phillips, H. A. Brazil. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Description and travel
Foster, M. M. and R. S. Brazil. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hager, A. R. Brazil, giant to the south. (Ap '45)
Industries and resources
Cooke, M. L. Brazil on the march. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Relations (general) with the United States
Cooke, M. L. Brazil on the march. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Brazil, giant to the south. Hager, A. R. (Ap '45)
Brazil on the march. Cooke, M. L. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Brazilian literature
Freyre, G. Brazil. (O '45)
History and criticism
Verissimo, E. Brazilian literature. (Mr '45)
Brazilian literature. Verissimo, E. (Mr '45)
Bread upon the waters. Pesotta, R. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Breakfast at the Hermitage. Crabb, A. L. (Ap '45)
Brendon chase. Watkins-Pitchford, D. J. (D '45)
Brick foxhole. Brooks, R. (Je '45)
The bridge. Burnshaw, S. (S '45)
Bright star or dark. Harnden, R. P. (D '45)
Bright tomorrow. Wendt, L. (Je '45)
Bring the bride a shroud. Hitchens, D. B. (N '45)
Bringing our world together. Fleming, D. J. (O '45)
British portrait painters. Russell, J. (My '45)
Broad margin. Beverley-Giddings, A. R. (O '45)
Broadsides
Klingberg, F. J., and Hustvedt, S. B., eds. Warning drum. (Ap '45)
Broken pitcher. Gilpatrick, N. (Ap '45)
Bronte, Charlotte
Hinkley, L. L. Brontës: Charlotte and Emily. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Bronte, Emily Jane
Hinkley, L. L. Brontës: Charlotte and Emily. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Bronze arrow mystery. Wadsworth, L. A. (Ap '45)
Brook of our own. Harkness, M. G. (D '45)
Brooklyn
Historic houses, etc.
Dilliard, M. E. Old Dutch houses of Brooklyn. (D '45)
Brooklyn, New York. Baseball club (National league)
Graham, F. Brooklyn Dodgers. (Ag '45)
Brooklyn bridge
Steinman, D. B. Builders of the bridge. (My '45)
Brooklyn Dodgers. Graham, F. (Ag '45)
Bugles in her heart. Turner, L. L. (Ap '45)
Build together Americans. DuBois, R. D. (S '45)
Builders of the bridge. Steinman, D. B. (My '45)
Building
Briggs, M. S. Building to-day. (My '45)
Creighton, T. H. Planning to build. (Je '45)
Dunham, C. W., and Thalberg, M. D. Planning your home for better living. (D '45)
Gay, C. M., and Fawcett, C. D. Mechanical and electrical equipment for buildings. (Je '45)
Johnstone, B. K., and others. Building or buying a house. (My '45)
Siegele, H. H. Quick construction. (D '45)
Estimates
Cooper, G. H. Building construction estimating. (S '45)
Wilson, J. D., and Rogers, C. M. Simplified carpentry estimating. (O '45)
Repair and reconstruction
Home mechanic's handbook. (D '45)
Building construction estimating. Cooper, G. H. (S '45)
Building Lenin's Russia. Liberman, S. I. (N '45)
Building of the Burma road. T'an, P. (N '45)
Building or buying a house. Johnstone, B. K., and others. (My '45)
Building today. Briggs, M. S. (My '45)
Building trades blueprint reading. Dalzell, J. R. (O '45)
Bultmann, Rudolf Karl
McGinley, L. J. Form-criticism of the synoptic healing narratives. (Ap '45)
Bunyan, Paul
Untermeyer, L. Wonderful adventures of Paul Bunyan. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Burbank among the Indians. Burbank, E. A. (Mr '45)
Buried treasure. Cothren, M. B. (S '45)
Burlap. Denis, M. (Ag '45)
Burma road
T'an, P. Building of the Burma road. (N '45)
Burned fingers. Norris, K. T. (Mr '45)
Burning-glass. De La Mare, W. J. (D '45)
Burning gold. Andrews, R. H. (S '45)
Burro of Barnegat road. Goetz, D. (O '45)
Business
Ruml, B. Tomorrow's business. (Mr '45)
Weissman, R. L. Small business and venture capital. (My '45)

- Business conferences
  - Hannaford, E. S. Conference leadership in business and industry. (Ag '45)
- Business executives and corporation encyclopedia. (My '45)
- Business executive's guide. Lasser, J. K. (D '45)
- Business leadership in the large corporation. Gordon, R. A. (S '45)
- Business management
  - Lasser, J. K. Business executive's guide. (D '45)
- Business men
  - Moore, J. A. Famous leaders of industry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Buying
  - Cady, E. L. Industrial purchasing. (S '45)
- By bread alone. De Sherbinin, B. (Mr '45)
- By the waters of Babylon. Lister, S. (O '45)
- Byron, George Gordon Noël Byron, 6th baron
  - Gray, A. K. Teresa. (N '45)
  - Trueblood, P. G. Flowering of Byron's genius. (O '45)
  - Fiction
    - Landau, M. A. For thee the best. (D '45)
- Byzantine empire
  - Der Nersessian, S. Armenia and the Byzantine empire. (N '45)

- C. C. F. See Cooperative commonwealth federation
- Cabbages and crime. Nash, A. (S '45)
- Cable car days in San Francisco. Kahn, E. M. (Mr '45)
- Cabrini, Mother Francesca Saverio
  - Borden, L. P. Francesca Cabrini. (Ag '45)
  - Maynard, T. Too small a world. (My '45)
- Caddie Woodlawn; a play. Brink, C. R. (D '45)
- Calabashes and kings. Porteus, S. D. (D '45)
- Calamity at Harwood. Bellairs, G. (S '45)
- Calcium
  - Mantell, C. L., and Hardy, C. H. Calcium, metallurgy and technology. (O '45)
- Calcium, metallurgy and technology. Mantell, C. L., and Hardy, C. H. (O '45)
- Calendars
  - Hazeltine, M. E. Anniversaries and holidays. (Mr '45)
- Calhoun, John Caldwell
  - Wiltse, C. M. John C. Calhoun, nationalist. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
- California
  - Description and travel
    - Evans, G. W. B. Mexican gold trail. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Economic conditions
    - Dumke, G. S. Boom of the eighties in southern California. (Je '45)
  - Gold discoveries
    - Evans, G. W. B. Mexican gold trail. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - History
    - Atherton, G. F. H. Golden Gate country. (Ap '45)
    - Sources
      - Nasatir, A. P. French activities in California. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Call back yesterday. Shipman, N. (S '45)
- Call me Charley. Jackson, J. (D '45)
- Call us to witness. Warfield, H. and G. (S '45)
- Calling all ducks. DeVoe, R. G. (D '45)
- Calling Dr Owl. Kelen, I. (S '45)
- Calling South America. Lansing, M. F. (My '45)
- Calvin, Delano Dexter, 1798-1884
  - Calvin, D. D. Saga of the St Lawrence. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Cammaerts, Emile
  - Cammaerts, E. Flower of grass. (O '45)
- Camping
  - Anderson, L. A. Hunting, fishing, and camping. (O '45)
  - Jaeger, E. Wildwood wisdom. (Mr '45)
  - Mason, B. S. Book for junior woodsmen. (D '45)
- Can democracy recover? Marlio, L. (Je '45)
- Can representative government do the job? Finletter, T. K. (My '45)
- Can these bones live? Babson, R. W., and Zuver, D. D. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Canada
  - Peat, L. W. Canada: new world power. (O '45)
  - Economic policy
    - Coldwell, M. J. W. Left turn, Canada. (Ag '45)
  - Foreign relations
    - United States
      - Brebner, J. B. North Atlantic triangle. (N '45)
  - Pictorial works
    - Buchanan, D. W., ed. This is Canada. (O '45)
  - Politics and government
    - Clokie, H. M. Canadian government and politics. (My '45)
    - King, W. L. M. Canada and the fight for freedom. (My '45)
    - Pierce, L. A. A Canadian people. (O '45)
- Canada and the fight for freedom. King, W. L. M. (My '45)
- Canada: new world power. Peat, L. W. (O '45)
- Canadian government and politics. Clokie, H. M. (My '45)
- A Canadian people. Pierce, L. A. (O '45)
- Canadian restoration. Newton-White, E. (My '45)
- Canals, Interoceanic
  - Mack, G. Land divided. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
- Canby family
  - Canby, H. S. Family history. (N '45)
- Cane sugar handbook. Spencer, G. L., and Meade, G. P. (S '45)
- Cannell, Mrs Kathleen Biggar (Eaton)
  - Cannell, K. B. E. Jam yesterday. (N '45)
- Cannery row. Steinbeck, J. (Mr '45)
- Canning, Elizabeth
  - De La Torre-Bueno, L. Elizabeth is missing. (Je '45)
- Cannon, Walter Bradford
  - Cannon, W. B. Way of an investigator. (S '45)
- Canyon passage. Haycox, E. (Ap '45)
- Capitalism
  - Rochester, A. Capitalism and progress. (N '45)
- Capitalism and progress. Rochester, A. (N '45)
- Capitalism and slavery. Williams, E. (Ap '45)
- Captain from Castile. Shellabarger, S. (Mr '45)
- Captain of St Margaret's. Molnár, F. (Ap '45)
- Care and use of hand tools. Toliver, R. R. (Je '45)
- Career of Victor Hugo. Grant, E. M. (S '45)
- Careers in business for women. Smedley, D. O., and Robinson, L. (Ag '45)
- Careers in science. Pollack, P. (Ag '45)
- Careers in the steel industry. Leyson, B. W. (Ag '45)
- Caricatures and cartoons
  - Day, R. All out for the sack race! (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Fisher, L. Cartooning for fun and profit. (D '45)
  - Klingender, F. D., ed. Hogarth and English caricature. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Lariar, L., ed. Best cartoons of the year. (D '45)
  - Partch, V. F. Water on the brain. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Petty, M. This Petty pace. (D '45)
  - Rea, G. Gardner Rea's sideshow. (D '45)
  - Richter, M. This one's on me. (N '45)
  - Saturday evening post (periodical). Funny business. (N '45)
  - Steig, W. Persistent faces. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Steinberg, S. All in line. (Ag '45)
  - Webster, H. T. Webster unabridged. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  - Williams, J. R. Born thirty years too soon. (D '45)
  - Williams, J. R. Why mothers get gray. (Ag '45)
- Carmen Jones. Hammerstein, O. (Mr '45)
- Carol Brant. Varga, M. (N '45)

Carols
Bozyan, H. F., and Lovett, S., eds. Yale carol book. (Ap '45)
Carrier war. Jensen, O. O. (Ap '45)
Carroll, Lewis, pseud (Charles Lutwidge Dodgson)
Lennon, F. B. Victoria through the looking-glass. (Ap '45)
Carrot seed. Krauss, R. (Ag '45)
Carson, Christopher
Juvenile literature
Stevenson, A. Kit Carson, boy trapper. (D '45)
Cartels. Berge, W. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Cartooning for fun and profit. Fisher, L. (D '45)
Caruso, Enrico
Caruso, D. P. B. Enrico Caruso, his life and death. (Je '45)
Cascade range
Case, R. O. and V. Last mountains. (N '45)
Case for equity. Hill, K. (N '45)
Case of the copy-hook killing. Howes, R. (S '45)
Case of the gilded fly. Eng title of: Obsequies at Oxford. Montgomery, R. B. (Ap '45)
Case of the golddigger's purse. Gardner, E. S. (Je '45)
Case of the half-wakened wife. Gardner, E. S. (N '45)
Cass Timberlane. Lewis, S. (N '45)
Cassatt, Mary
Cassatt, M. Mary Cassatt, by Margaret Breuning. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Catherine I, empress of Russia
Stong, P. D. Marta of Muscovy. (S '45)
Catholic looks at the world. McMahon, F. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Catholic schools of England and Wales. Evennett, H. O. (S '45)
Cathy. Johnson, S. J. (Je '45)
Cats
Legends and stories
Bradbury, B. Antique cat. (D '45)
Pictures, illustrations, etc.
Bacon, P. Starting from scratch. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Cats don't smile. Hitchens, D. B. (Ap '45)
Cement industries
Hadley, E. J. Magic powder. (Je '45)
Cenci. See Shelley, P. B. Stage version of Shelley's Cenci. (O '45)
Censored, the goat. Stong, P. D. (D '45)
Central Europe
Gross, F. Crossroads of two continents. (My '45)
Chagall, Marc
Venturi, L. Marc Chagall. (N '45)
Chain of command. Stavis, B. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Challenge at Changsha. Hughes, P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Challenge of Red China. Stein, G. (D '45)
Challenge to musical tradition. Katz, A. T. (D '45)
Chamber music
Tovey, D. F. Essays in musical analysis; chamber music. (Mr '45)
Chambers's technical dictionary. (My '45)
Chang Hsi andthe treaty of Nanking. Chang Hsi. (D '45)
Channeling research into education. Ivey, J. E. (My '45)
Chanticleer's muffled crow. Dean, A. (O '45)
Chapin sisters. Rowe, F. (D '45)
Character formation through books. Kircher, C. J. (My '45)
Characters and characteristics
Carr, W. Know thyself! (My '45)
Charity Strong. Allis, M. (N '45)
Charlot murals in Georgia. Charlot, J. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Charlotte and Emily. See Hinkley, L. L. Brontës: Charlotte and Emily. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Cheeky Chipmunk. Evers, H. and A. (My '45)
Chemical constituents of petroleum. Sachanen, A. N. (D '45)
Chemical elements
Weeks, M. E. Discovery of the elements. (Ag '45)
Chemical engineering
Mantell, C. L. Adsorption. (Mr '45)
Shreve, R. N. Chemical process industries. (Ag '45)
Chemical industries
Landis, W. S. Your servant the molecule. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Shreve, R. N. Chemical process industries. (Ag '45)
Chemical plants
Equipment
Hesse, H. C., and Rushton, J. H. Process equipment design. (My '45)
Chemical process industries. Shreve, R. N. (Ag '45)
Chemistry
Brinkley, S. R. Introductory general chemistry. (Ag '45)
Landis, W. S. Your servant the molecule. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Young, C. B. F. Chemistry for electroplaters. (O '45)
Dictionaries
Heilbron, I. M., and Bunbury, H. M., eds. Dictionary of organic compounds. (Ag '45)
Chemistry, Analytic
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Major instruments of science and their applications to chemistry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Quantitative
Arenson, S. B., and Rieveschl, G. Introduction to quantitative analysis. (Mr '45)
Chemistry, Medical and pharmaceutical
Allport, N. L. Chemistry and pharmacy of vegetable drugs. (Je '45)
Chemistry, Organic
Wertheim, E. Textbook of organic chemistry. (D '45)
Wheland, G. W. Theory of resonance and its application to organic chemistry. (Mr '45)
Dictionaries
Heilbron, I. M., and Bunbury, H. M., eds. Dictionary of organic compounds. (Ag '45)
Chemistry, Physical and theoretical
Prutton, C. F., and Maron, S. H. Fundamental principles of physical chemistry. (Mr '45)
Wheland, G. W. Theory of resonance and its application to organic chemistry. (Mr '45)
Chemistry, Technical
Landis, W. S. Your servant the molecule. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Chemistry and pharmacy of vegetable drugs. Allport, N. L. (Je '45)
Chemistry and technology of food and food products. Jacobs, M. B., ed. (My '45)
Chemistry for electroplaters. Young, C. B. F. (O '45)
Chemistry of acetylene. Nieuwland, J. A., and Vogt, R. R. (S '45)
Chemistry of coal utilization, 2v. National research council. Committee on chemical utilization of coal. (O '45)
Chemistry of leather manufacture. McLaughlin, G. D., and Theis, E. R. (D '45)
Chemists
Weeks, M. E. Discovery of the elements. (Ag '45)
Chemotherapy
Dubos, R. J. Bacterial cell in its relation to problems of virulence, immunity and chemotherapy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Chennault, Claire Lee
Ayling, K. Old Leatherface of the Flying Tigers. (S '45)
Cherokee strip. James, M. (O '45)
Chess
Chernev, I., and Harkness, K. Invitation to chess. (Je '45)
Chest
Diseases
Diagnosis
Hilleboe, H. E., and Morgan, R. H. Mass radiography of the chest. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Chicago murders. Wright, S. P., ed. (Ag '45)
Chief Justice Stone and the Supreme Court. Konefsky, S. J. (D '45)

Child and the emperor. Loewenstein, H. (My '45)

Child study

American council on education. Commission on teacher education. Helping teachers understand children. (D '45)
Chittenden, G. E. Living with children. (Mr '45)
Gesell, A. L. How a baby grows. (D '45)
Gesell, A. L., and Amatruda, C. S. Embryology of behavior. (Ap '45)

Children

Management

Chittenden, G. E. Living with children. (Mr '45)

Children as artists

Cohn, N. Little people in a big country. (My '45)

Children in China

Chin, S. H., and Fowler, V. Two lands for Ming. (My '45)

Children in literature and art

Burnett, W., ed. Time to be young. (My '45)

Children in Russia

Kennell, R. E. That boy Nikolka. (Ag '45)

Children in South Africa

Stinetorf, L. A. Children of South Africa. (D '45)

Children in the Philippine islands

Carveth, L. Jungle boy. (Ja '45) (1945 Annual)

Children of light and the children of darkness. Niebuhr, R. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Children of South Africa. Stinetorf, L. A. (D '45)
Children of the covenant. Scowcroft, R. P. (O '45)
Children's children. Peech, S. D. (N '45)
Children's hour. Peirce, W., il. (Mr '45)

Children's hymns

Wyckoff, M. M., ed. Child's book of hymns. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Children's interests in library books of fiction. Rankin, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Children's literature (books about)

Bibliography

Kircher, C. J. Character formation through books. (My '45)

History and criticism

Rankin, M. Children's interests in library books of fiction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Children's literature (individual titles)

Afanas'ev, A. N. Russian fairy tales. (D '45)
Ageton, A. A. Mary Jo and little Liu. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Alexander, F. B. Nancy and Jane. (My '45)
Allee, M. H. Smoke jumper. (N '45)
Allen, M. P. Mudhen. (N '45)
Andersen, H. C. Fairy tales. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Anderson, C. W. Touch of greatness. (D '45)
Arason, S. Golden hair. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Aulaire, I. M., d' and E. P. Too big. (N '45)
Baker, C. Necessary Nellie. (D '45)
Baker, E. W. Stocky, boy of west Texas. (Je '45)
Baker, N. B. Lenin. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Barksdale, L. That country called Virginia. (O '45)
Barne, K. In the same boat. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Barr, J. Conrad the clock. (My '45)
Barrett, L. L. Twinkle. (Ag '45)
Bartman, M. Yank in Sicily. (Mr '45)
Bechdolt, J. E., and Merwin, D. Dulcie sews a sampler. (D '45)
Becker, M. L., ed. Youth replies, I can. (D '45)
Beebe, C. Story of Jesus for boys and girls. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Beim, L. L. and J. Two is a team. (N '45)
Bell, M. E. Enemies in Icy strait. (N '45)
Bendick, J. Making the movies. (D '45)
Bernhard, J. B. Nine cry-baby dolls. (Je '45)
Best, A. C. Harvest of the Hudson. (N '45)
Best, H. Border iron. (D '45)
Bible. New Testament. Story of Jesus. (Ap '45)
Bishop, C. H. Augustus. (D '45)
Black, I. S. This is the bread that Betsy ate. (D '45)
Bonner, M. G. Surprise place. (N '45)
Booth, E. R. Nyanga's two villages. (S '45)
Borden, C. A. Oceania. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Bothwell, J. Little boat boy. (N '45)
Bradbury, B. Antique cat. (D '45)
Brann, E. Book for baby. (N '45)
Brindze, R. Gulf stream. (Ag '45)
Brock, E. L. Umbrella man. (Ag '45)
Bromhall, W. Belinda's new shoes. (O '45)
Bronson, W. S. Turtles. (S '45)
Brooks, W. R. Freddy and the popinjay. (D '45)
Brown, J. P. Friendship magic. (S '45)
Brown, M. W. House of a hundred windows. (Ag '45)
Brown, M. W. Little fisherman. (D '45)
Brown, R. J. American emperor. (D '45)
Brown, S. Talking skyscraper. (S '45)
Buck, P. S. Yu Lan, flying boy of China. (D '45)
Bunce, W. H. Horned snake medicine. (N '45)
Burrowes, E. Little Thunder. (S '45)
Burt, O. W. Peter's silver dollar. (O '45)
Burton, E. and L. Exciting adventures of Waldo. (N '45)
Burton, J. Garibaldi, knight of liberty. (N '45)
Butler, N. Anahita and her dancing bear. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Campbell, A. S. Wizard and his magic powder. (Je '45)
Campbell, S. A. Eeny, Meeny, Miney, Mo—and Still-Mo. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Carmer, C. L. Wildcat furs to China. (N '45)
Carroll, M. T. Keep my flag flying. (D '45)
Carroll, R. R. and L. School in the sky. (Je '45)
Carson, J. M. H. Son of thunder. (D '45)
Carveth, L. Jungle boy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Chalmers, A. Poppadilly. (D '45)
Chanslor, T. Artie and the princess. (Je '45)
Chapelle, G. L. M. How planes are made. (D '45)
Chin, S. H., and Fowler, V. Two lands for Ming. (My '45)
Chrestien, F. H. Evelyn and the fish. (Je '45)
Clymer, E. L. Grocery mouse. (Ag '45)
Clymer, E. L. Little Bear island. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Coatsworth, E. J. Big green umbrella. (My '45)
Cockrell, M. B. Shadow castle. (O '45)
Cohn, N. Little people in a big country. (My '45)
Collin, H. Wind island. (D '45)
Conger, E. M. Valery. (Ap '45)
Corcos, L. Size 1. (D '45)
Cothren, M. B. Buried treasure. (S '45)
Crane, A. Nick and Nan in Yucatan. (D '45)
Crawford, E. D., ed. Beginning of the world. (Ag '45)
Crawford, E. D., ed. Jesus shows the way. (D '45)
Credle, E. Janey's shoes. (S '45)
Criss, M. Dom Pedro of Brazil. (Ap '45)
Cross, G. Engine that lost its whistle. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Cummins, K. Stiggles. (D '45)
Cunningham, V. ABC play book. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Curtis, A. B. Winter on the prairie. (Je '45)
Cuthbert, M. R. ed. Adventure in radio. (D '45)
Davis, L. R. Very special pet. (O '45)
Davis, R. Gid Granger. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Dean, G. M. Wings over the desert. (D '45)
Dean, L. W. I become a ranger. (My '45)
De Leeuw, A. L. Doctor Ellen. (Ap '45)
De Leeuw, A. L. With a high heart. (D '45)
Denney, D. Little red engine gets a name. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Dennis, M. Burlap. (Ag '45)
DeVoe, R. G. Calling all ducks. (D '45)
De Witt, E. F. Old caboose. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Dickson, M. S. Bramble bush. (D '45)
Dixon, J. Count the puppies. (O '45)
Donahey, W. Teenie weenie neighbors. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Du Bois, T. M. Heroes in plenty. (D '45)
Duplaix, L. White bunny and his magic nose. (Je '45)
Duvoisin, R. A. Christmas whale. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Eberle, I. Very good neighbors. (S '45)

Eliot, E. A. C. Wind boy. (D '45)
Elting, M., and Gossett, M. We are the government. (D '45)
Erdman, L. G. Fair is the morning. (D '45)
Evans, K. Michael Angelo Mouse. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Evers, H. and A. Cheeky Chipmunk. (My '45)
Fahs, S. B. L. Jesus, the carpenter's son. (S '45)
Farjeon, E. Prayer for little things. (Je '45)
Farley, W. Black stallion returns. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Faulkner, G., and Becker, J. Melindy's medal. (Ag '45)
Fenner, P. R., comp. Adventure, rare and magical. (D '45)
Ferris, H. J. Watch me, said the jeep. (Ap '45)
Fish, H. D. Little red hen. (Ag '45)
Fishel, R. M., and Smith, W. W. Terry and Bunky play football. (D '45)
Fitch, F. M. One God. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Follett, D. W. Gunner and the Dumbo. (N '45)
Ford, E. Larry Scott of the Sun. (S '45)
Foster, S. C. Songs for boys and girls. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Friskey, M. R. Adventure for beginners. (Mr '45)
Friskey, M. R. Sandy and the Indians. (My '45)
Gaggin, E. R. All those Buckles. (Ag '45)
Gall, A. C., and Crew, F. H. Splasher. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Gallagher, L. B. Mary Bray, fashion designer. (O '45)
Galloway, P. F. W. S. Folk tales from Scotland. (Mr '45)
Garrard, P. Running away with Nebby. (Ap '45)
Gates, D. North fork. (D '45)
Gatti, A. South of the Sahara. (D '45)
Geismer, B. P., and Suter, A. B., comps. Very young verses. (Ap '45)
Gibson, K. Arrow fly home. (My '45)
Gleitsmann, H. Katrina. (D '45)
Glick, C. Mickey, the horse that volunteered. (My '45)
Goetz, D. Burro of Barnegat road. (O '45)
Goldzsmit, H. Matthew, the young king. (My '45)
Gollomb, J. Up at City high. (My '45)
Gray, E. J. Sandy. (My '45)
Greene, J. Forgetful elephant. (O '45)
Grumbine, E. E. Patsy succeeds in advertising. (My '45)
Hader, B. H. and E. Rainbow's end. (D '45)
Haines, D. H. Fortress. (Je '45)
Hall, M. Model child. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hall, W. N. Shoelace robin. (D '45)
Hall, W. N. Watch the puppy grow. (D '45)
Hamilton, E. P-zoo. (N '45)
Harris, L. Away we go. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hartwell, M. Into the ark. (N '45)
Haslip, J. Fairy tales from the Balkans. (Mr '45)
Hawthorne, H. Give me liberty. (Ag '45)
Hayes, F. S. Eskimo hunter. (N '45)
Hayes, M. Green Peace. (D '45)
Haywood, C. Betsy and the boys. (S '45)
Hazlett, E. E. Rig for depth charges! (D '45)
Henderson, Le G. Augustus saves a ship. (Ag '45)
Henry, M. Justin Morgan had a horse. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Henry, M. Little fellow. (Je '45)
Henry, M. Robert Fulton. (D '45)
Hess, F. Wacs at work. (Ap '45)
Hewson, I. M. Land of the Lost. (Ag '45)
Hoad, L. G. Kickapoo Indian trails. (My '45)
Hogan, I. Nicodemus and the goose. (My '45)
Hoke, H. L. Rags' day. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Holberg, R. L. Wonderful voyage. (D '45)
Hooks, A. Mr. Nosey. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hunt, M. L. Sibby Botherbox. (D '45)
Hurd, E. T. Jerry the jeep. (Ag '45)
Ives, V. Turkey. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Jackson, J. Call me Charley. (D '45)
Jacobs, H. H. Laurel for Judy. (D '45)
Johnson, E. M. Vengeance of the vixen. (N '45)
Johnson, M. S. and H. L. Dixie Dobie. (My '45)
Johnson, M. S. and H. L. Sir Lancelot and Scamp. (O '45)
Johnson, O. H. L. Tarnish. (Ap '45)
Johnson, S. J. Cathy. (Je '45)
Jones, J. M. O. Secrets. (N '45)
Jones, M. A. Tell me about the Bible. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Jordan, M. A. I won't, said the king. (D '45)
Jordan, N. R. Mother Goose handicraft. (N '45)
Judson, C. I. Petar's treasure. (D '45)
Justus, M. Banjo Billy and Mr Bones. (Ap '45)
Karsavina, J. Reunion in Poland. (D '45)
Kelen, I. Calling Dr Owl. (S '45)
Kelley, R. F., ed. Junior sports anthology. (O '45)
Kelway, P. Squirrel book. (My '45)
Kennedy, J. W. Here is India. (D '45)
Kennell, R. E. That boy Nikolka. (Ag '45)
King, D. N. Take the children. (D '45)
King-Hall, M. Sturdy rogue. (Je '45)
Kingman, L. Ilenka. (N '45)
Kiser, M. G. Sylvia sings of apples. (D '45)
Kjelgaard, J. Big Red. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Knight, R. A. Brave companions. (D '45)
Krauss, R. Carrot seed. (Ag '45)
Kredel, F., il. Riddles around the world. (D '45)
Laird, R. Stuffy. (N '45)
Lambert, J. Just Jenifer. (O '45)
Lansing, M. F. Calling South America. (My '45)
Lathrop, D. P. Skittle-skattle monkey. (D '45)
Laverty, M. Gold of Glanaree. (N '45)
Layton, M. Forest ranger. (N '45)
Leaf, M. Let's do better. (N '45)
Leech, T. and C. Ha-ha farm. (Ap '45)
Leighton, M. C. Singing cave. (Je '45)
Lenski, L. Spring is here. (My '45)
Lenski, L. Strawberry girl. (O '45)
Lent, H. B. Ahoy, shipmate! (S '45)
Lewis, C. A., and Cobb, M. Circus day. (O '45)
Lillie, A. M. Nathan, boy of Capernaum. (My '45)
Lloyd, T. Sky highways. (Je '45)
Long, L. Square sails and spice islands. (N '45)
Lovelace, M. H. Heaven to Betsy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lucas, E. Swamp Fox brigade. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lucas, J. M. Indian harvest. (D '45)
Luckhardt, M. M. C. Light on our path. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
McBride, M. M. Tune in for Elizabeth. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
McClintock, M. Story of war weapons. (S '45)
McCracken, H. Sentinel of the snow peaks. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
McCracken, R. Gentle giraffe. (D '45)
MacDonald, G. Little lost lamb. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Macdonald, Z. K. Flower of the fortress. (Ap '45)
McGavran, G. W. Mpengo of the Congo. (S '45)
McGinley, P. Plain princess. (D '45)
McGuire, E. Daniel Boone. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
MacKaye, D. L. and J. J. G. Twenty-fifth mission. (D '45)
McKee, R. Tootka. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
MacMillan, W. Arctic adventure. (S '45)
McNamara, J. Extra! (Je '45)
McNeer, M. Y. Story of the southern highlands. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Maloney, T. J. Judy at the zoo. (O '45)
Malvern, G. Jonica's island. (S '45)
Marais, J. Koos, the Hottentot. (D '45)
Maril, L. Crack and crunch. (Ag '45)
Maril, L. Mr. Bunny paints the eggs. (Je '45)
Marshak, I. I. How the automobile learned to run. (D '45)
Martin, F. G. M. No school Friday. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mason, B. S. Book for junior woodsmen. (D '45)
Mason, M. E. Happy Jack. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Maurois, A. Franklin, the life of an optimist. (Ag '45)
Mayer, E. H. Our Negro brother. (Ag '45)
Mayo, W. Mozart. (Ag '45)
Mayo, W. Tchaikovsky. (Ag '45)

Children's literature (individual titles)—Cont.
Meader, S. W. Skippy's family. (N '45)
Means, F. C. Moved outers. (Ap '45)
Meeks, E. K. Little red car. (D '45)
Meyer, J. S. Picture book of astronomy. (Je '45)
Milhous, K. Snow over Bethlehem. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Mitchell, L. S. Guess what's in the grass. (D '45)
Molloy, A. S. B. Bird in hand. (D '45)
Montgomery, R. G. Thar she blows. (S '45)
Montgomery, R. G. Thunderboats, ho! (Je '45)
Montgomery, R. G. Warhawk patrol. (Mr '45)
Mother Goose. Mother Goose tells time. (S '45)
Murtaugh, J., ed. Wonder tales of giants and dwarfs. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Nast, E. R. Woods story. (D '45)
Newcomb, C. Larger than the sky. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Newcomb, E. Brave nurse. (O '45)
Neyhart, L. A. Henry's Lincoln. (S '45)
Nolan, J. C. Patriot in the saddle. (O '45)
Norling, J. S. Pogo's mining trip. (D '45)
Novikoff, A. B. Climbing our family tree. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Olds, E. Big fire. (D '45)
Olds, H. D. Jill, movie maker. (My '45)
Osgood, H. E. K. Presents from Pam Pam. (D '45)
Owen, F. Morris, the midget moose. (N '45)
Packard, V. Jerry the giraffe. (S '45)
Parton, E. Year without a summer. (D '45)
Pauli, H. E. St. Nicholas' travels. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Perrault, C. French fairy tales. (D '45)
Perry, J. Electrical industry. (S '45)
Perry, J. Glass industry. (S '45)
Petersham, M. F. and M. Rooster crows. (D '45)
Phelps, F. B. Let's get to know God. (My '45)
Pinkerton, K. S. G. Windigo. (O '45)
Pistorius, A. What bird is it? (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Plowitz, K. Mr Finny. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Pollock, K. G. Sir Toby and the Murrays. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Price, O. M. Donkey for the King. (Je '45)
Quinn, V. Picture map geography of the Pacific islands. (D '45)
Renick, M. R. Skating today. (Ag '45)
Rey, H. A. Look for the letters. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Rey, M. E. W. Spotty. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Reyher, R. My mother is the most beautiful woman in the world. (D '45)
Richardson, M. R. Mule skinners. (D '45)
Riesenberg, F. Man on the raft. (D '45)
Rimington, C. This is the navy. (O '45)
Robinson, J. Things to make from odds and ends. (O '45)
Rogers, F., and Beard, A. Birthday of a nation—July 4, 1776. (My '45)
Rogow, W. Train book. (D '45)
Rue, F. C. Cocoa dancer. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Rush, W. M. Yellowstone scout. (D '45)
Ruttkay, G. Chopin. (Ag '45)
Sackett, B. Hurricane treasure. (O '45)
Savery, C. Emeralds for the king. (My '45)
Saville, M. Spy in the hills. (D '45)
Sawyer, R. This is the Christmas. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Scholz, J. V. Goal to go. (D '45)
Scoggin, M. C., ed. Chucklebait. (S '45)
Scott, S. Silly Billy. (N '45)
Self, M. C. Ponies on parade. (Je '45)
Sellew, C. F. Adventures with the gods. (D '45)
Seymour, A. H. Galewood crossing. (D '45)
Seymour, F. W. S. Bird girl, Sacagawea. (D '45)
Shapiro, I. John Henry and the double jointed steam-drill. (O '45)
Shore, M., and Oblinger, M. M. Slave who dreamed. (Ap '45)
Shurtleff, B. L. Short leash. (S '45)
Simmons, M. I. Kay Allen on overseas mission. (Je '45)
Simon, C. M. H. Art in the new land. (N '45)
Slobodkin, L. Clear the track for Michael's magic train. (D '45)
Smith, G. Adventures of Sir Ignatius Tippitolio. (D '45)
Sperry, A. Hull-down for action. (D '45)
Spiegel, D. Danny and Company 92. (N '45)
Steinbeck, J. Red pony. (D '45)
Steiner, C. Sleepy quilt. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Steiner, C. Surprise for Mrs Bunny. (O '45)
Stern, E. J. Wee Robin's Christmas song. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Stifter, A. Rock crystal. (D '45)
Stinetorf, L. A. Children of South Africa. (D '45)
Stone, C. R. Clorinda of Cherry Lane farm. (D '45)
Stong, P. D. Censored, the goat. (D '45)
Streatfeild, N. Theater shoes. (D '45)
Sze, M. Echo of a cry. (N '45)
Tatham, C. First book of boats. (O '45)
Thompson, M. W. Crossroads for Penelope. (N '45)
Tireman, L. S. Hop-a-long. (Ap '45)
Tousey, S. Fred and Brown Beaver ride the river. (Mr '45)
Townend, J. Railroad ABC. (Mr '45)
Tunis, J. R. City for Lincoln. (D '45)
Van der Haas, H. Orange on top. (My '45)
Van Loon, H. W. Adventures and escapes of Gustavus Vasa. (N '45)
Van Stockum, H. The Mitchells. (D '45)
Varga, M. Carol Brant. (N '45)
Wagoner, J. B. Julia Ward Howe. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wallower, L. Roll of drums. (O '45)
Watkins-Pitchford, D. J. Brendon chase. (D '45)
Weston, C. G. Bhimsa, the dancing bear. (D '45)
White, B. A. Lady Leatherneck. (S '45)
White, E. B. Stuart Little. (D '45)
Whitney, P. A. Silver inkwell. (N '45)
Wiese, K. You can write Chinese. (D '45)
Windeatt, M. F. Warrior in white. (Mr '45)
Woodall, S. L. Puffy goes to sea. (O '45)
Woody, R. J. Stars came down. (D '45)
Wright, F. F. Lucy Ellen's heyday. (D '45)
Yaukey, G. S. Land of the Chinese people. (Ag '45)
Youmans, E. W. Mount Delightful. (Mr '45)

Mystery stories

Blyton, E. Mystery island. (Ap '45)
Cavanna, B. Black spaniel mystery. (Ag '45)
Crespi, P., and Lee, J. Mystery of the Mayan jewels. (My '45)
Farmer, W. Fish Hook island mystery. (D '45)
Gowey, H. E. Room behind the mantle. (S '45)
Langdale, H. L. R. Lance of Mystery hollow. (N '45)
Lockwood, M. Lo and behold! (My '45)
Mallete, G. E. Mystery in blue. (D '45)
Orton, H. F. Mystery of the secret drawer. (O '45)
Selkirk, J. Mystery of the hectic holidays. (Mr '45)
Urmston, M. Mystery of the old barn. (Ag '45)
Wadsworth, L. A. Bronze arrow mystery. (Ap '45)

Children's literature (collective)
Association for childhood education. Literature committee. Told under the stars and stripes. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Children's plays
Brink, C. R. Caddie Woodlawn; a play. (D '45)

Children's poetry
Stevenson, R. L. Child's garden of verses. (Ap '45)
Wagstaff, B. S. Beloved Son. (Ap '45)

Collections

Geismer, B. P., and Suter, A. B., comps. Very young verses. (Ap '45)
Peirce, W., il. Children's hour. (Mr '45)

Children's questions and their implications for planning the curriculum. Baker, E. V. (O '45)

Children's songs
Foster, S. C. Songs for boys and girls. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wessells, K. T. Golden song book. (S '45)
Wheeler, O. Sing Mother Goose. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Child's book of hymns. Wyckoff, M. M., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Child's garden of verses. Stevenson, R. L. (Ap '45)
Child's treasury of things-to-do. Horowitz, C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Chile
Economic conditions
Ellsworth, P. T. Chile, an economy in transition. (S '45)
Chile, an economy in transition. Ellsworth, P. T. (S '45)
China
Crow, C. China takes her place. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Civilization
Payne, P. S. R. Forever China. (N '45)
Commerce
Abend, H. Treaty ports. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Tsang, C. China's postwar markets. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Description and travel
Lin, Y. Vigil of a nation. (Mr '45)
Economic conditions
Rosinger, L. K. China's crisis. (S '45)
Rowe, D. N. China among the powers. (Ap '45)
Shih, K. China enters the machine age. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Economic policy
Sun, K. China looks forward. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Foreign relations
Abend, H. Treaty ports. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Rowe, D. N. China among the powers. (Ap '45)
Great Britain
Chang Hsi. Chang Hsi and the treaty of Nanking. (D '45)
History
Booker, E. L., and Potter, J. S. Flight from China. (O '45)
Lattimore, O. Solution in Asia. (Mr '45)
Lattimore, O. and E. H. Making of modern China. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Lin, Y. Vigil of a nation. (Mr '45)
Pan, S. C. Y. China fights on. (Ag '45)
Rosinger, L. K. China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Tong, H. K., ed. China after seven years of war. (Ap '45)
Yaukey, G. S. Land of the Chinese people. (Ag '45)
Revolution, 1911-1912
Glick, C. Double ten. (Ap '45)
Politics and government
Eddy, G. S. I have seen God work in China. (My '45)
Forman, H. Report from Red China. (Ap '45)
Lin, M. Chungking dialogues. (My '45)
Powell, J. B. My twenty-five years in China (D '45)
Rosinger, L. K. China's crisis. (S '45)
Rosinger, L. K. China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Stein, G. Challenge of Red China. (D '45)
Sun, K. China looks forward. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Relations (general) with United States
Goetz, D. Dragon and the eagle. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Social life and customs
Chao, B. Y. How to cook and eat in Chinese. (Ag '45)
Eskelund, K. My Chinese wife. (S '45)
Espey, J. J. Minor heresies. (My '45)
Lin, Y. Golden wing. (O '45))
Ning Lao T'ai-t'ai. Daughter of Han. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Yang, M. Chinese village. (N '45)
Yaukey, G. S. Land of the Chinese people. (Ag '45)
Views
Buck, P. S., comp. China in black and white. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
China after seven years of war. Tong, H. K., ed. (Ap '45)
China among the powers. Rowe. D. N. (Ap '45)
China enters the machine age. Shih, K. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
China fights on. Pan, S. C. Y. (Ag '45)
China in black and white. Buck, P. S., comp. (F '46) (1945 Annual) China looks forward. Sun, K. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
China takes her place. Crow, C. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
China's crisis. Rosinger, L. K. (S '45)
China's postwar markets. Tsang, C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. Rosinger, L. K. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Chinese labor movement. Snow, H. F. (Ap '45)
Chinese language
Writing
Juvenile literature
Wiese, K. You can write Chinese. (D '45)
Chinese village. Yang, M. (N '45)
Chopin, Frédéric François
Juvenile literature
Ruttkay, G. Chopin. (Ag '45)
Christ in the Gospels. Rawlinson, A. E. J. (Ap '45)
Christian answer. Van Dusen, H. P., ed. (D '45)
Christian art and symbolism
Fortune, C. Notes on art for Catholics. (My '45)
Christian emphasis in Y.M.C.A. program. Limbert, P M. (S '45)
Christian ethics
Knight, F. H., and Merriam, T. W. Economic order and religion. (Mr '45)
Christian life
Kennedy, J. W. Haven house for the once born. (Ap '45)
Kopf, C. H. Personal crisis. (Ap '45)
Magner, J. A. Personality and successful living. (S '45)
Christian literature
Bibliography
Clarke, E. K. L. Eighteenth century piety. (Ap '45)
Christianity
Babson, R. W., and Zuver, D. D. Can these bones live? (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Bell, B. I. God is not dead. (O '45)
De la Bedoyere, M. Christianity in the market-place. (My '45)
Fleming, D. J. Bringing our world together. (O '45)
Houf, H. T. What religion is and does. (S '45)
Lewis, C. S. Beyond personality. (My '45)
Newton, J. F. Where are we in religion? (My '45)
Read, D. H. C. Prisoners' quest. (Je '45)
Van Dusen, H. P., ed. Christian answer. (D '45)
Addresses, essays, lectures
Barclay, G. Bible speaks to our day. (S '45)
Evidences
Cammaerts, E. Flower of grass. (O '45)
Lucas, E. D. Logic and reason in Christianity. (O '45)
Philosophy
Hopper, S. R. Crisis of faith. (Ap '45)
Christianity and other religions
Storrs, C. E. Many creeds, one cross. (Ap '45)
Greek
Knox, W. L. Some Hellenistic elements in primitive Christianity. (O '45)
Judaism
Asch, S. One destiny. (O '45)
Christianity and the cultural crisis. Kean, C. D. (O '45)
Christianity in the market-place. De la Bedoyere, M. (My '45)
Christianity where you live. Underwood, K. W. (O '45)

Christiansen, Frederik Melius
Bergmann, L. N. Music master of the Middle West. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Christine Roux. Williamson, T. R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Christmas
Pauli, H. E. St. Nicholas' travels. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Christmas stories
Sawyer, R. This is the Christmas. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Stifter, A. Rock crystal. (D '45)
Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. Fireside book of Christmas stories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Christmas whale. Duvoisin, R. A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Chronicle of an American crusader. Mayerberg, S. S. (My '45)
Chronicles of Stephen Foster's family. Morneweck, E. F. (N '45)
Chucklebait. Scoggin, M. C., ed. (S '45)
Chungking dialogues. Lin, M. (My '45)
Chungking diary. Eng title of: Forever China. Payne, P. S. R. (N '45)
Chungking listening post. Tennien, M. A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Church and education
Cassidy, F. P. Molders of the medieval mind. (Ap '45)
Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world. (N '45)
Williams, J. P. New education and religion. (My '45)
Church and labor
Oxnam, G. B. Labor and tomorrow's world. (D '45)
Church and politics
McMahon, F. E. Catholic looks at the world. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Church and social problems
Sheen, F. J. Seven pillars of peace. (Mr '45)
Roman Catholic church
McMahon, F. E. Catholic looks at the world. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Church and state
Neill, T. P. Weapons for peace. (D '45)
Church and state in Germany
Krzesiński, A. J. National cultures, Nazism and the church. (S '45)
Church and the returning soldier. Burkhart, R. A. (S '45)
Church attendance
Montgomery, D. K. Why go to church? (Ag '45)
Church calendar
Gibson, G. M. Story of the Christian year. (O '45)
Church college of the old South. Godbold, A. (Je '45)
Church history
Latourette, K. S. History of the expansion of Christianity: v7, Advance through storm. (Ag '45)
Church in our town. Smith, R. C. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Church life in England in the thirteenth century. Moorman, J. R. H. (D '45)
Church of the brethren
Bowman, R. D. Church of the brethren and war. (Ap '45)
Church of the brethren and war. Bowman, R. D. (Ap '45)
Church schools and colleges
Godbold, A. Church college of the old South. (Je '45)
Church unity
Capozzi, F. C. One world and one God. (D '45)
Church work
Burkhart, R. A. Church and the returning soldier. (S '45)
Churchill, Winston Leonard Spencer
Davenport, J., and Murphy, C. J. V. Lives of Winston Churchill. (S '45)
Cierplikowski, Antoine
Cierplikowski, A. Antoine. (Je '45)
Cinchona
Taylor, N. Cinchona in Java. (O '45)
Cinchona in Java. Taylor, N. (O '45)
Circus
Coplan, M. F. Pink lemonade. (Je '45)
Circus day. Lewis, C. A., and Cobb, M. (O '45)
Cities and towns
Great Britain
Stephenson, F., and Pool, P. Plan for town and country. (My '45)
New England
Webster, C. M. Town meeting country. (Ap '45)
Citizenship
Study and teaching
Mahoney, J. J. For us the living. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
City development. Mumford, L. (Je '45)
City for Lincoln. Tunis, J. R. (D '45)
City is the people. Churchill, H. S. (S '45)
City of Flint grows up. Crow, C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
City of trembling leaves. Clark, W. V. (Je '45)
City planning
Churchill, H. S. City is the people. (S '45)
Gutkind, E. A. Creative demobilisation, 2v. (S '45)
Hilberseimer, L. New city. (Je '45)
Mumford, L. City development. (Je '45)
Stephenson, F., and Pool, P. Plan for town and country. (My '45)
Wright, F. L. When democracy builds. (My '45)
Civil aviation and peace. Van Zandt, J. P. (Ap '45)
Civil engineering
Seelye, E. E. Data book for civil engineers; v 1, Design. (F '46) (1946 Annual)
Civil life in wartime Germany. Seydewitz, M. (Ap '45)
Civil rights
Lauterpacht, H. International bill of the rights of man. (S '45)
Civil service
Great Britain
Kingsley, J. D. Representative bureaucracy. (Je '45)
United States
Spero, S. D., and others, eds. Government jobs and how to get them. (S '45)
Civilization
Cousins, N. Modern man in obsolete. (D '45)
Huntington, E. Mainsprings of civilization. (Ag '45)
History
Hall, J. W., and Burke, M. Ladder of history. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Kroeber, A. L. Configurations of culture growth. (D '45)
Mumford, L. Condition of man. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Paul, L. A. Annihilation of man. (Je '45)
Civilization, Christian
Kean, C. D. Christianity and the cultural crisis. (O '45)
Civilization, Modern
Hromádka, J. L. Doom and resurrection. (Ap '45)
Civilization, Oriental
Christy, A., ed. Asian legacy and American life. (Ag '45)
Civilized diseases. Sokoloff, B. F. (Mr '45)
Claims
Wormser, R. A. Collection of international war damage claims. (O '45)
Claims to territory in international law and relations. Hill, N. L. (Ag '45)
Claire. Samson, E. (Ag '45)
Clear the track for Michael's magic train. Slobodkin, L. (D '45)
Clemens, Samuel Langhorne (Mark Twain, pseud)
Pellowe, W. C. S. Mark Twain. (D '45)
Climatology
Conrad, V. Methods in climatology. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Climbing our family tree. Novikoff, A. B. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Climbing plants
Graves, G. Trees, shrubs and vines for the northeastern United States. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Clorinda of Cherry Lane farm. Stone, C. R. (D '45)

Clouds
  Gillmer, T. C., and Nietsch, H. E. Clouds, weather and flight. (Mr '45)
Clouds, weather and flight. Gillmer, T. C., and Nietsch, H. E. (Mr '45)
Coaching roads of old New England. Marlowe, G. F. (Mr '45)
Coal
  National research council. Committee on chemical utilization of coal. Chemistry of coal utilization, 2v. (O '45)
Coal mines and mining

Juvenile literature
  Cothren, M. B. Buried treasure. (S '45)
Coal tar products
  National research council. Committee on chemical utilization of coal. Chemistry of coal utilization, 2v. (O '45)
Coasts, waves and weather. Stewart, J. Q. (O '45)
Cobb, Irvin Shrewsbury
  Cobb, E. My wayward parent. (D '45)
Cobb's cavalcade. Cobb, I. S. (S '45)
Cocannouer, Joseph A.
  Cocannouer, J. A. Trampling out the vintage. (Ap '45)
Cocks and bulls in Caracas. Briceño, O. (My '45)
Cocoa dancer. Rue, F. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Coffin, Henry Sloane
  Niebuhr, R., ed. This ministry. (O '45)
Cold (disease)
  Fabricant, N. D. Common cold and how to fight it. (Mr '45)
Cold storage
  Todoroff, A. How to build and operate a locker plant. (Ap '45)
Collection of international war damage claims. Wormser, R. A. (O '45)
Collective bargaining
  Chamberlain, N. W. Collective bargaining procedures. (My '45)
  Hill, L. H., and Hook, C. R. Management at the bargaining table. (Ag '45)
Collective bargaining procedures. Chamberlain, N. W. (My '45)
College and teacher education. Armstrong, W. E., and others. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Colleges and universities
  Donham, W. B. Education for responsible living. (Ap '45)
  Hawkes, H. E. and A. L. R. Through a dean's open door. (O '45)
  Institute for administrative officers of higher institutions. Higher education in the post-war period. (O '45)
  McVey, F. Le R. University is a place . . . a spirit. (Mr '45)

Middle ages
  Thorndike, L. University records and life in the middle ages. (My '45)

United States
  Eisenhart, L. P. Educational process. (My '45)
  Fine, B. Democratic education. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Hudson, H. H. Educating liberally. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Colonial agents of the southern colonies. Lonn, E. (O '45)
Colonies
  Du Bois, W. E. B. Color and democracy. (Ag '45)
  Walker, E. A. Colonies. (S '45)
Color
  Birren, F. Selling with color. (O '45)
Psychology
  Birren, F. Selling with color. (O '45)
Color and democracy. Du Bois, W. E. B. (Ag '45)
Color photography
  Friedman, J. S. History of color photography. (Ap '45)
Colorado River relocation center, Poston, Arizona
  Leighton, A. H. Governing of men. (S '45)
Combat in the air. Walters, M. O., ed. (Ap '45)
Come back on Tuesday. Hunter, R. (Ap '45)
Comet of 1577. Hellman, C. D. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Comets
1577
  Hellman, C. D. Comet of 1577. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Coming age of rocket power. Pendray, E. (Ag '45)
Coming home. Cohen, L. (Je '45)
Commander islands. See Kommander islands
Commerce
  Hirschman, A. O. National power and the structure of foreign trade. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Commercial policy
  Feis, H. Sinews of peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Hansen, A. H. America's role in the world economy. (My '45)
Commercial waxes, natural and synthetic. Bennett, H., ed. (Ap '45)
Commodore. Eng title of: Commodore Hornblower. Forester, C. S. (Je '45)
Commodore Hornblower. Forester, C. S. (Je '45)
Common ailments of man. Fishbein, M., ed. (O '45)
Common cold and how to fight it. Fabricant, N. D. (Mr '45)
Communication. Steig, A. (O '45)
Communism
  Infield, H. F. Cooperative communities at work. (Ap '45)
  Laidler, H. W. Social-economic movements. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  London, K. Backgrounds of conflict. (S '45)

China
  Forman, H. Report from Red China. (Ap '45)
  Stein, G. Challenge of Red China. (D '45)

Russia
  Barmine, A. One who survived. (S '45)
  Dallin, D. J. Real Soviet Russia. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Koestler, A. Yogi and the commissar. (Je '45)
  MacCurdy, J. T. Germany, Russia and the future. (Je '45)
  Ward, H. F. Soviet spirit. (Ap '45)
  White, W. L. Report on the Russians. (Ap '45)
United States
  Cannon, J. P. History of American Trotskyism. (S '45)
Community life
  Olsen, E. G., and others. School and community. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Competitive debate. Musgrave, G. M. (S '45)
Completion of independence. Krout, J. A., and Fox, D. R. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Compost
  Rodale, J. I. Pay dirt. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (My '45)
Conant, Roger
  Shipton, C. K. Roger Conant, a founder of Massachusetts. (Ap '45)
Concentration camps
  Adams, A. E. Born free and equal. (Ap '45)
Concrete, Reinforced
  Dunham, C. W. Theory and practice of reinforced concrete. (Ap '45)
Concrete construction
  Creager, W. P., and others. Engineering for dams. (S '45)
  Dunham, C. W. Theory and practice of reinforced concrete. (Ap '45)
Condensors (electricity)
  Georgiev, A. M. Electrolytic capacitor. (D '45)
Condition of man. Mumford, L. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Conduct of life
  Bro, M. H. Let's talk about you. (Je '45)
  Carr, W. Know thyself! (My '45)
  Elmore, C. H. Quit you like men. (Ap '45)
  Weil, H. Pioneers of tomorrow. (S '45)
  Wilson, M. How to live beyond your means. (S '45)
Conducted tour. Halpern, A.. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Confederate states of America
Biography
Freeman, D. S. Lee's lieutenants; v. 3, Gettysburg to Appomattox. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Conference leadership in business and industry. Hannaford, E. S. (Ag '45)
Configurations of culture growth. Kroeber, A. L. (D '45)
Congo. See Kongo
Connie Mack. Lieb, F. G. (Je '45)
Conrad the clock. Barr, J. (My '45)
Conscience and society. West, R. (Je '45)
Conscientious objectors
Hershberger, G. F. War, peace and nonresistance. (Je '45)
Consolation
Woodbury, H., ed. Faith of man speaks. (S '45)
Conspiracy in Algiers. Gosset, R. Pierre-. (N '45)
Constancia herself. Widdemer, M. (O '45)
Constant fire. Chalmers, A. K. (My '45)
Consumer education
Rondileau, A. Education for installment buying. (My '45)
Consumption (economics)
Gordon, L. J. Economics for consumers. (S '45)
Hayes, H. G. Spending, saving and employment. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Contemporary America. Wish, H. (O '45)
Contemporary American painting. Encyclopaedia britannica. (Ag '45)
Contemporary shops in the United States. Nicholson, E. (D '45)
Contemporary Spanish poetry. Turnbull, E. L., ed. & tr. (O '45)
Controllers for electric motors. James, H. D., and Markle, L. E. (O '45)
Convalescence
Lariar, L. Bed and bored. (S '45)
Convent boarding school. Kenny, V. A. (Mr '45)
Cookery
Brobeck, F. R. Serve it buffet. (Ap '45)
Brody, I. On the tip of my tongue. (Ap '45)
Deute, A. H. 200 dishes for men to cook. (My '45)
Griffin, M. How to cook. (Ag '45)
Holberg, R. L.. Take it easy before dinner. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Kaye-Smith, S. Kitchen fugue. (O '45)
Sense, E. Nutrition with Sense. (Ap '45)
Cookery (eggs)
Wallace, L. H. Egg cookery. (Je '45)
Cookery (fish)
Wall, R. Fish and game cookery. (D '45)
Cookery (game)
Ashbrook, F. G., and Sater, E. N. Cooking wild game. (D '45)
Wall, R. Fish and game cookery. (D '45)
Cookery, Chinese
Chao, B. Y. How to cook and eat in Chinese. (Ag '45)
Cooking wild game. Ashbrook, F. G., and Sater, E. N. (D '45)
Cooperation
Bergengren, R. F. I speak for Joe Doakes. (Ap '45)
Ward, L. R. Ourselves, inc. (O '45)
Cooperative commonwealth federation
Coldwell, M. J. W. Left turn, Canada. (Ag '45)
Cooperative communities at work. Infield, H. F. (Ap '45)
Copernicus, Nicolaus
Kesten, H. Copernicus and his world. (Ap '45)
Copernicus and his world. Kesten, H. (Ap '45)
Copyright
Nicholson, M. Manual of copyright practice for writers, publishers, and agents. (D '45)
Coroner's pidgin. Eng title of: Pearls before swine. Allingham, M. (Je '45)
Coroner's verdict: accident. Hosken, C. J. W. (Ag '45)
Corporate cash balances, 1914-43. Lutz, F. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Corporations
Directories
Business executives and corporation encyclopedia. (My '45)
Finance
Lutz, F. A. Corporate cash balances, 1914-43. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
United States
Gordon, R. A. Business leadership in the large corporation. (S '45)
Corpse who wouldn't die. Doherty, E. J. (S '45)
Correct exposure in photography. Morgan, W. D., and Lester, H. M. (Mr '45)
Cosmic rays
Auger, P. What are cosmic rays? (Mr '45)
Cossacks
Hindus, M. G. Cossacks. (D '45)
Costa Rica
Social life and customs
Biesanz, J. B. and M. Costa Rican life. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Costa Rican life. Biesanz, J. B. and M. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Costume design
Williams, B. Fashion is our business. (My '45)
Cosway, Maria (Hadfield)
Bullock, H. D. My head and my heart. (Ja '46) (1946 Annual)
Cotton manufacture
Smith, T. R. Cotton textile industry of Fall River, Massachusetts. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Cotton textile industry of Fall River, Massachusetts. Smith, T. R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Count the puppies. Dixon, J. (O '45)
Country chronicle. Petersen, H. (My '45)
Country church
Smith, R. C. Church in our town. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Country flavor. Pearson, H. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Country life
Pearson, H. S. Country flavor. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Petersen, H. Country chronicle. (My '45)
England
Thompson, F. Lark Rise to Candleford. (O '45)
Country mouse. Kent, L. A. (N '45)
Country planning. Oxford. University. Agricultural economics research institute. (O '45)
Country road. Grelle, L. R. (D '45)
Courts
Great Britain
Hanbury, H. G. English courts of law. (Je '45)
Cowboys
Thorp, N. H., and Clark, N. M. Pardner of the wind. (Ag '45)
Cows
Legends and stories
Conger, E. M. Valery. (Ap '45)
Crack and crunch. Maril, L. (Ag '45)
Crack-up. Fitzgerald, F. S. K. (S '45)
Cradle will fall. Seley, S. (My '45)
Creative demobilisation, 2v. Gutkind, E. A. (S '45)
Creative hands. Cox, D. E., and Weismann, B. W. (Je '45)
Credit
Munson, G. B. Aladdin's lamp. (My '45)
Weissman, R. L. Small business and venture capital. (My '45)
Crime and criminals
Craig, R. N., and others. Mental abnormality and crime. (Je '45)
Jackson, J. H., ed. Portable murder book. (O '45)
Reik, T. Unknown murderer. (Je '45)
United States
Glueck, S. and E. T. After-conduct of discharged offenders. (O '45)
Hynd, A. Giant killers. (S '45)

Crime and the human mind. Abrahamsen, D. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Crime wind. Holbrook, M. (My '45)
Criminal procedure
  New York (colony)
  Goebel, J., and Naughton, T. R. Law enforcement in colonial New York. (Mr '45)
Criminal psychology
  Abrahamsen, D. Crime and the human mind. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Craig, R. N., and others. Mental abnormality and crime. (Je '45)
  Reik, T. Unknown murderer. (Je '45)
Crimson feather. Mason, S. E. (Ag '45)
Crisis in heaven. Linklater, E. (Ap '45)
Crisis of faith. Hopper, S. R. (Ap '45)
Cromwell, Oliver
  Cromwell, O. Writings and speeches. (S '45)
Cross section 1945. Seaver, E., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Crossroads for Penelope. Thompson, M. W. (N '45)
Crossroads of two continents. Gross, F. (My '45)
Crows are black everywhere. Yardley, H. O., and Grabo, C. H. (Ap '45)
Croy, Homer
  Croy, H. Wonderful neighbor. (D '45)
Cruising yacht. Cooper, M. (Je '45)
Cry wolf. Carleton, M. C. (Mr '45)
Crystallography, Mathematical
  Zachariasen, W. H. Theory of X-ray diffraction in crystals. (Je '45)
Cuba
  Description and travel
  Barbour, T. Naturalist in Cuba. (D '45)
Cuckoo time. Temple, R. (My '45)
Cultural background of personality. Linton, R. (S '45)
Culture
  Brown, S. They see for themselves. (Je '45)
  Kroeber, A. L. Configurations of culture growth. (D '45)
  Linton, R. Cultural background of personality. (S '45)
Curbing inflation through taxation. Tax institute. (My '45)
Current abbreviations. Shankle, G. E. (Ap '45)
Currents and eddies. Schaldach, W. J. (Mr '45)
Curse of the bronze lamp. Carr, J. D. (Ag '45)
Curtain falls. Bernadotte, F. (N '45)
Curtain up. Eng title of: Theater shoes. Streatfeild, N. (D '45)
Cut is the branch. Butler, C. E. (Je '45)
Czechoslovak literature
  Translations into English
  Weiskopf, F. C., ed. Hundred towers (Ap '45)
Czechoslovakia
  Foreign relations
  Beneš, E. Edvard Beneš in his own words. (S '45)

Daisy Kenyon. Janeway, E. H. (D '45)
Damrosch, Frank Heino
  Stebbins, L. P. and R. P. Frank Damrosch. (Ag '45)
Dams
  Creager, W. P., and others. Engineering for dams. (S '45)
Dance on, tsigane. Bergman, C. (My '45)
Dancing
  Radir, R. A. Modern dance for the youth of America. (Mr '45)
Danger in paradise. Cohen, O. R. (Ap '45)
Daniels, Josephus
  Daniels, J. Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Danny and Company 92. Spiegel, D. (N '45)
Dante Alighieri
  Buxton, C. R. Prophets of heaven and hell. (D '45)
Dark danger. Horler, S. (Mr '45)
Dark medallion. Langley, D. (Je '45)
Dark night of the soul. Harkness, G. E. (Ag '45)
Dark prophecy. Alan, M. (N '45)
Dark rainbow. Butler, G. (D '45)
Dark sails. Miller, H. T. (D '45)
Darkening meadows. Nathan, R. (S '45)
Darkly the river flows. MacDonald, J. (Je '45)
Darling, this is death. Leffingwell, A. (Je '45)
Darwin, Charles Robert
  Von Hagen, V. W. South America called them. (Mr '45)
Dasha. Almedingen, M. E. von. (My '45)
Data book for civil engineers; v 1, Design. Seelye, E. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Daughter of Han. Ning Lao T'ai-t'ai. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Dawn of liberation. Churchill, W. L. S. (S '45)
Day of Paris. Kertesz, A. (Ag '45)
Days and nights. Simonov, K. (D '45)
Dayspring. Sylvester, H. (Ap '45)
De religione laici. Herbert of Cherbury, E. H. (My '45)
Dead lie still. Stuart, W. L. (D '45)
Dead men grin. Fischer, B. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Deadly Dove. King, R. (My '45)
Deans (in schools)
  Hawkes, H. E. and A. L. R. Through a dean's open door. (O '45)
Dear dollink. Gross, M. (N '45)
Dear Ruth. Krasna, N. (Je '45)
Death at the door. Malleson, L. B. (Ap '45)
Death in the mind. Lockridge, R., and Estabrooks, G. H. (O '45)
Death knell. Kendrick, B. H. (Mr '45)
Death looks down. Long, A. R. (Je '45)
Death, my darling daughters. Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Death of a swagman. Upfield, A. W. (D '45)
Death of Virgil. Broch, H. (S '45)
Death sails in a high wind. Du Bois, T. M. (N '45)
Death stalks the range. Rider, B. (O '45)
Death visits the apple hole. Cunningham, A. B. (My '45)
Debates and debating
  Musgrave, G. M. Competitive debate. (S '45)
Debts, Public
  Withers, W. Public debt. (Ap '45)
Declaration of independence
  Boyd, J. P., ed. Declaration of independence. (My '45)
  Juvenile literature
  Rogers, F., and Beard, A. Birthday of a nation—July 4, 1776. (My '45)
De Grasse, François. See Grasse-Tilly, François Joseph Paul, marquis de Degrees, Academic
  Atkinson, C. Pro and con of the Ph.D. (D '45)
  Atkinson, C. True confessions of a Ph.D. and recommendations for reform. (D '45)
Deism
  Herbert of Cherbury, E. H. De religione laici. (My '45)
Dementia
  Kasanin, J. S., ed. Language and thought in schizophrenia. (My '45)
Demobilization of wartime economic controls. Clark, J. M. (Ap '45)
Democracy
  Brogan, D. W. Free state. (S '45)
  Bryn-Jones, D. Toward a democratic new order. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Huszar, G. B. de. Practical applications of democracy. (My '45)
  London, K. Backgrounds of conflict. (S '45)
  Mahoney, J. J. For us the living. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Marlio, L. Can democracy recover? (Je '45)
  Myers, H. A. Are men equal? (My '45)
  Nearing, S. Democracy is not enough. (Je '45)
  Niebuhr, R. Children of light and the children of darkness. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Perry, R. B. Puritanism and democracy. (Mr '45)
  Tocqueville, A. C. H. M. C. de. Democracy in America. (My '45)
  Wilkinson, B. Freedom's people. (O '45)
Democracy and social policy. Walker, E. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Democracy in America. Tocqueville, A. C. H. M. C. de. (My '45)
Democracy is not enough. Nearing, S. (Je '45)
Democracy under pressure. Chase, S. (Mr '45)
Democracy's children. Duncan, E. M. (D '45)

Democratic education. Fine, B. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Demographic studies of selected areas of rapid growth. Milbank memorial fund. (Je '45)

Descartes, René
Maritain, J Dream of Descartes. (Mr '45)
Desert episode. Greenfield, G. C. (O '45)
Desert island decameron. Smith, H. A., ed. (S '45)
Design for America. Brameld, T. B. H. (O '45)
The desperate people. Graham, L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Destroyers
Shafter, R. A. Destroyers in action. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Destroyers in action. Shafter, R. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Detective stories (books about)
Burack, A. S., ed. Writing detective and mystery fiction. (Je '45)
Development of two bank groups in the central Northwest. Popple, C. S. (My '45)

Devil
Rougemont, D. de. Devil's share. (Mr '45)

Devil in literature
North, S., and Boutell, C. B., eds. Speak of the devil. (S '45)
Devil in the bush. Canaday, J. E. (D '45)
Devil's share. Rougemont, D. de. (Mr '45)

Diagnosis, Radioscopic
Hilleboe, H. E., and Morgan, R. H. Mass radiography of the chest. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Diamond tools. Grodzinski, P. (Je '45)

Diamonds
Grodzinski, P. Diamond tools. (Je '45)

Diaries

Bibliography
Matthews, W., and Pearce, R. H., comps. American diaries. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Diaries. Tchaikovski, P. I. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Diary of a public man . . . pref. notes by F. L. Bullard. (O '45)
Diary of world events. Hopkins, J. A. H., comp. (My '45)

Dibelius, Martin
McGinley, L. J. Form-criticism of the synoptic healing narratives. (Ap '45)

Dickinson, Emily
Bingham, M. T. Ancestors' brocades. (My '45)

Dictionaries, Polyglot
Ahrens, L., comp. Dictionary of aeronautics. (N '45)
Dictionary of aeronautics. Ahrens, L., comp. (N '45)
Dictionary of American painters, sculptors and engravers. Fielding, M. (N '45)
Dictionary of American politics. Smith, E. C., and Zurcher, A. J., eds. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Dictionary of engineering and machine shop terms. Sandy, A. H. (Ap '45)
Dictionary of gems and gemology. Shipley, R. M., and others. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Dictionary of organic compounds. Heilbron, I. M., and Bunbury, H. M., eds. (Ag '45)
Dictionary of sociology. Fairchild, H. P., ed. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Dictionary of word origins. Shipley, J. T. (D '45)
Died in the wool. Marsh, N. (Ap '45)
Diesel-electric plants. Kates, E. J. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Diesel engines
Kates, E. J. Diesel-electric plants. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Diet
Selling, L. S., and Ferraro, M. A. S. Psychology of diet and nutrition. (Ap '45)

Diffraction
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Major instruments of science and their applications to chemistry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Zachariasen, W. H. Theory of X-ray diffraction in crystals. (Je '45)
Dilemma in Japan. Roth, A. (O '45)

Dilthey, Wilhelm
Hodges, H. A. Wilhelm Dilthey. (My '45)
Dingo. Lamond, H. G. (Mr '45)
Diplomat in carpet slippers. Monaghan, J. (Je '45)

Diplomatic memoirs
Hayes, C. J. H. Wartime mission in Spain. (D '45)
Wilson, F. M. H. Memoirs of an ex-diplomat. (Je '45)

Disabled

Rehabilitation, etc.
Sharon, H. B. It's good to be alive. (My '45)
Smith, J. H., and Rambova, N. Road back. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Yost, E. Normal lives for the disabled. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Disciples of the wise. Zeitlin, J. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Discovering Plato. Koyré, A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Discovery of the elements. Weeks, M. E. (Ag '45)

Diseases
Fishbein, M., ed. Common ailments of man. (O '45)

Causes and theories of causation
Sokoloff, B. F. Civilized diseases. (Mr '45)
Dixie Dobie. Johnson, M. S. and H. L. (My '45)
Do you know your daughter? Grossman, J. S. (Ap '45)
Doctor Ellen. De Leeuw, A. L. (Ap '45)
Dr Parrish, resident. Thompson, S. (Mr '45)
Doctors at war. Fishbein, M., ed. (Je '45)
Doctor's job. Binger, C. (Ap '45)
Documented history of the Franciscan order. Huber, R. M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Documents of dying paganism. Friedländer, P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Dog of the desert. Idriess, I. L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Dogs
Cook, G. E. American champions. (O '45)

Legends and stories
Bartman, M. Yank in Sicily. (Mr '45)
Dennis, M. Burlap. (Ag '45)
Holland, R. P. My dog Lemon. (D '45)
Idriess, I. L. Dog of the desert. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Kjelgaard, J. Big Red. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Knight, R. A. Brave companions. (D '45)
Shurtleff, B. L. Short leash. (S '45)
Stieff, F. P. Unleash the dogs of war. (My '45)

Pictures, illustrations, etc.
Cook, G. E. American champions. (O '45)
Worden, F. Sketch book of dogs. (D '45)

Dollar
Burt, O. W. Peter's silver dollar. (O '45)
Dom Pedro of Brazil. Criss, M. (Ap '45)

Domestic animals
Hogner, D. C. Farm animals. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Perry, E. J., ed. Artificial insemination of farm animals. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Donkey for the King. Price, O. M. (Je '45)
Doom and resurrection. Hromádka, J. L. (Ap '45)
Door opens. Lothar, E. (D '45)
Double agent. Teilhet, H. T. (S '45)
Double ten. Glick, C. (Ap '45)

Dover, Thomas

Fiction
Andrews, R. H. Burning gold. (S '45)
Down the hatch. Devine, E., ed. (O '45)
Down the stretch. Winn, M. J. (Ag '45)

Dowson, Ernest Christopher
Longaker, J. M. Ernest Dowson. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Dragon and the eagle. Goetz, D. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Dragon harvest. Sinclair, U. B. (Ag '45)
Drake's cyclopedia of painting and decorating. Vanderwalker, F. N. (Je '45)

Drama

History and criticism
Granville-Barker, H. G. Use of the drama. (O '45)
Nathan, G. J. Theatre book of the year, 1944-1945. (D '45)

Technique
  Niggli, J. Pointers on playwriting. (D '45)
Dramas
  Biró, L. Gods and kings. (O '45)
  Burnshaw, S. The bridge. (S '45)
  Bús Fekete, L., and Fay, M. H. Embezzled heaven. (Ap '45)
  Dwiggins, W. A. Millenium 1. (Je '45)
  Eckstein, G. Pet shop. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Glennon, G. Emma. (O '45)
  Goggan, J. P. Hasty heart. (Je '45)
  Gorky, M. Seven plays. (Ag '45)
  Koestler, A. Twilight bar. (O '45)
  Krasna, N. Dear Ruth. (Je '45)
  La Farge, C. Mesa Verde. (S '45)
  Linklater, E. Crisis in heaven. (Ap '45)
  Osborn, P. Bell for Adano; a dramatization of the novel. (Je '45)
  Shelley, P. B. Stage version of Shelley's Cenci. (O '45)
  Van Druten, J. I remember mama. (Je '45)
  Williams, T. Glass menagerie. (O '45)
  Yordan, P. Anna Lucasta. (Mr '45)
Collections
  Galbraith, E. E., ed. Plays without footlights. (S '45)
  Jagendorf, M. A., comp. 20 non-royalty mystery plays. (Ag '45)
  Mantle, B., ed. Best plays of 1944-45. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Mayorga, M. G., ed. Best one-act plays of 1944. (O '45)
Drapery
  Germaine, I. M. Handbook of drapery patterns. (Je '45)
Drawing
  Fisher, L. Cartooning for fun and profit. (D '45)
Drawings
  Grosz, G. Drawings. (Mr '45)
  Leonardo da Vinci. Drawings. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Parker, K. T. Drawings of Hans Holbein in the collection . . . at Windsor castle. (S '45)
Dread journey. Hughes, D. B. F. (O '45)
Dream of Descartes. Maritain, J. (Mr '45)
Dreamers. Clark, J. B. (O '45)
Drilling and boring machinery
  Karash, J. I. Analysis of drill-jig design. (Mr '45)
Drink to the hunted. Marsh, E. (Je '45)
Ducks
  Farrington, S. K. Ducks came back. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Ducks came back. Farrington, S. K. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Ducks unlimited
  Farrington, S. K. Ducks came back. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Dulcie sews a sampler. Bechdolt, J. E., and Merwin, D. (D '45)
Dumbarton Oaks. Summers, R. E. (S '45)
Dumbarton Oaks plan for international organization. See Washington, D.C. Conversations on international organization, 1944
Dunn, Esther Cloudman
  Dunn, E. C. Pursuit of understanding. (D '45)
Durable fire. Roberts, D. J. (S '45)
Dvorak, Antonin
  Robertson, A. Dvorak. (N '45)
The dwarf. Lagerkvist, P. F. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Dwellings
  Johnstone, B. K., and others. Building or buying a house. (My '45)
Dynamic meteorology. Holmboe, J., and others. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Dynamic singing. Bachner, L. (My '45)
Dynamic world order. MacLean, D. A. (S '45)
Dynamics of culture change. Malinowski, B. (Ag '45)
Dynamics of time study. Presgrave, R. (N '45)
Dynamite on our doorstep. Brown, W. (D '45)

"E" company. O'Rourke, F. (O '45)
Early cartography of the Pacific. Wroth, L. C. (S '45)
Early stockaded settlements in the Governador, New Mexico. Hall, E. T. (Ap '45)
Earth might be fair. Emrich, R. S. (Mr '45)
Earthbound China. Fei, H., and Chang, T. (D '45)
Ease era. Mallon, P. R. (D '45)
East (Far East)
  Nelson, M. F. Korea and the old orders in eastern Asia. (S '45)
Relations (general) with United States
  Christy, A., ed. Asian legacy and American life. (Ag '45)
East (Near East)
  Stark, F. M. Arab island. (D '45)
East India company (England)
  Wilbur, M. K. E. East India company and the British empire in the Far East. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
East Indies
  Vlekke, B. H. M. Story of the Dutch East Indies. (O '45)
East of midnight. Rosaire, F. (Je '45)
Eastern Europe between the wars, 1918-1941. Seton-Watson, H. (N '45)
Eastern question (Balkan)
  Newman, B. Balkan background. (Mr '45)
Eastern question (Far East)
  Bisson, T. A. America's Far Eastern policy. (Mr '45)
  Fleisher, W. What to do with Japan. (Ap '45)
  Lattimore, O. Solution in Asia. (Mr '45)
Eastward in Eden. Laforest-Divonne, P., de. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Eaton, William
  Wright, L. B., and MacLeod, J. H. First Americans in North Africa. (N '45)
Fiction
  Case, J. Y. Written in sand. (Mr '45)
Ebulliometric measurements. Swietoslawski, W. (O '45)
Echo of a cry. Sze, M. (N '45)
Economic basis of politics. Beard, C. A. (N '45)
Economic conditions
  Arndt, H. W. Economic lessons of the nineteen-thirties. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Paul, L. A. Annihilation of man. (Je '45)
  Staley, E. World economic development. (Ap '45)
Economic democracy and private enterprise. O'Shaughnessy, M. J. (O '45)
Economic development of French Indo-China. Robequain, C. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Economic development of the Middle East. Bonne, A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Economic history of the Indiana oolitic limestone industry. Batchelor, J. A. (D '45)
Economic lessons of the nineteen-thirties. Arndt, H. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Economic order and religion. Knight, F. H., and Merriam, T. W. (Mr '45)
Economic policy
  Arndt, H. W. Economic lessons of the nineteen-thirties. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Boulding, K. E. Economics of peace. (Ap '45)
  Buchanan, N. S. International investment and domestic welfare. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Finer, H. Road to reaction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Fiske, E. R. Fiske plan for free enterprise and post-war employment. (Ap '45)
  Glenday, R. G. Future of economic society. (My '45)
  Gutkind, E. A. Creative demobilisation. 2v. (S '45)
  Hansen, A. H. America's role in the world economy. (My '45)
  Hayek, F. A. Road to serfdom. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Hirschman, A. O. National power and the structure of foreign trade. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Lasser, D. Private monopoly. (D '45)
  Lorwin, L. L. Time for planning. (My '45)
  Nourse, E. G. Price making in a democracy. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Wootton, B. F. A. Freedom under planning. (D '45)
Economic problems of Latin America. Harris, S. E., ed. (Mr '45)
Economic reconstruction. Harris, S. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Economics
- Boulding, K. E. Economics of peace. (Ap '45)
- Glenday, R. G. Future of economic society. (My '45)
- Knight, F. H., and Merriam, T. W. Economic order and religion. (Mr '45)
- Terborgh, G. W. Bogey of economic maturity. (N '45)
- Von Neumann, J., and Morgenstern, O. Theory of games and economic behavior. (Je '45)

History

- Heimann, E. History of economic doctrines. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Normano, J. F. Spirit of Russian economics. (Mr '45)
- Stark, W. History of economics in its relation to social development. (Ag '45)

Economics for consumers. Gordon, L. J. (S '45)

Economics of demobilization. Howenstine, E. J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Economics of peace. Boulding, K. E. (Ap '45)

Economist (periodical)
- Economist (periodical). Economist, 1843-1943. (O '45)

Educating liberally. Hudson, H. H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Education
- Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to national unity. (D '45)
- Dunn, E. C. Pursuit of understanding. (D '45)

Aims and objectives

- Brown, S. They see for themselves. (Je '45)
- Chatto, C. I., and Halligan, A. L. Story of the Springfield plan. (O '45)
- Conference on the scientific spirit and the democratic faith. Authoritarian attempt to capture education. (S '45)
- DuBois, R. D. Build together Americans. (S '45)
- Harvard university. Committee on the objectives of a general education in a free society. General education in a free society. (S '45)
- Hudson, H. H. Educating liberally. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Livingstone, R. W. Plato and modern education. (Ap '45)
- Wise, J. W. Springfield plan. (S '45)

Experimental methods

- Brown, S. They see for themselves. (Je '45)
- Mallon, P. R. Ease era. (D '45)

Philosophy

- Ortega y Gasset, J. Mission of the university. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

China

- Buck, P. S. Tell the people. (My '45)

Germany

- Richter, W. Re-educating Germany. (Mr '45)

Great Britain

- Evennett, H. O. Catholic schools of England and Wales. (S '45)

Mexico

- Dunne, P. M. Pioneer Jesuits in northern Mexico. (My '45)

South

- Godbold, A. Church college of the old South. (Je '45)
- Ivey, J. E. Channeling research into education. (My '45)

Springfield, Massachusetts

- Chatto, C. I., and Halligan, A. L. Story of the Springfield plan. (O '45)
- Wise, J. W. Springfield plan. (S '45)

United States

- California. University. Education and society. (Ap '45)
- Conference on the scientific spirit and the democratic faith. Authoritarian attempt to capture education. (S '45)
- Counts, G. S. Education and the promise of America. (S '45)
- Educational policies commission. Education for all American youth. (S '45)
- Eisenhart, L. P. Educational process. (My '45)
- Harvard university. Committee on the objectives of a general education in a free society. General education in a free society. (S '45)
- Redden, J. D., and Ryan, F. A. Freedom through education. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Education, Elementary

Curricula

- Baker, E. V. Children's questions and their implications for planning the curriculum. (O '45)

Education, Higher
- Atkinson, C. True confessions of a Ph.D. and recommendations for reform. (D '45)
- Barzun, J. Teacher in America. (Mr '45)
- Donham, W. B. Education for responsible living. (Ap '45)
- Fine, B. Democratic education. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Hudson, H. H. Educating liberally. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Institute for administrative officers of higher institutions. Higher education in the postwar period. (O '45)
- McVey, F. Le R. University is a place . . . a spirit. (Mr '45)
- Millett, F. B. Rebirth of liberal education. (Mr '45)
- Ortega y Gasset, J. Mission of the university. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Education and society. California. University. (Ap '45)

Education and the promise of America. Counts, G. S. (S '45)

Education for all American youth. Educational policies commission. (S '45)

Education for installment buying. Rondileau, A. (My '45)

Education for responsible living. Donham, W. B. (Ap '45)

Educational process. Eisenhart, L. P. (My '45)

Educational psychology
- Murphy, L. B., and Ladd, H. A. Emotional factors in learning. (Mr '45)

Educational research
- Ivey, J. E. Channeling research into education. (My '45)

Eeny, Meeny, Miney, Mo—and Still-Mo. Campbell, S. A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Effective personal letters. Butterfield, W. H. (D '45)

Efficiency, Industrial
- Muther, R. Production-line technique. (S '45)
- Smith, M. Handbook of industrial psychology. (Ag '45)

The egg and I. MacDonald, B. (N '45)

Egg cookery. Wallace, L. H. (Je '45)

Eighteen poems. Boyd, J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Eighteenth century piety. Clarke, E. K. L. (Ap '45)

Einstein theory of relativity. Lieber, L. R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Eisenhower, Dwight David
- Davis, K. S. Soldier of democracy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Nicolay, H. Born to command. (Je '45)

Electric apparatus and appliances
- Gay, C. M., and Fawcett, C. D. Mechanical and electrical equipment for buildings. (Je '45)

Electric circuits
- Bode, H. W. Network analysis and feedback amplifier design. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Reich, H. J. Theory and applications of electron tubes. (Ap '45)
- Van Giesen, D. W. Electrical drafting applied to circuits and wiring. (My '45)

Electric coils
- Dwight, H. B. Electrical coils and conductors. (O '45)

Electric controllers
- James, H. D., and Markle, L. E. Controllers for electric motors. (O '45)

Electric engineering
- Gay, C. M., and Fawcett, C. D. Mechanical and electrical equipment for buildings. (Je '45)
- King, R. W. P. Electromagnetic engineering, v 1. (D '45)

Newman, Q. B. Marine electric power. (O '45)
Tucker, D. J. Introduction to practical radio. (O '45)

Examinations, questions, etc.

Anderson, E. P. Audels questions and answers for electricians examinations for all grades. (D '45)

Juvenile literature

Perry, J. Electrical industry. (S '45)

Electric furnaces
Paschkis, V. A. Industrial electric furnaces and appliances. (O '45)
Electric lamps
Lincoln, E. S. Industrial electric lamps and lighting. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Electric lighting
Lincoln, E. S. Industrial electric lamps and lighting. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Electric plants
Kates, E. J. Diesel-electric plants. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Electric power
Crary, S. B. Power system stability. (O '45)
Electric waves
Ramo, S. Introduction to microwaves. (O '45)
Electric welding
Brooking, W. J. Arc welding, engineering and production control. (Je '45)
Electric wiring
Van Giesen, D. W. Electrical drafting applied to circuits and wiring. (My '45)
Electrical coils and conductors. Dwight, H. B. (O '45)
Electrical drafting applied to circuits and wiring. Van Giesen, D. W. (My '45)
Electrical essentials in marine service. See Dodds, J. M. Marine electricians' library, v 1. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Electrical industry. Perry, J. (S '45)
Electrical power sources in marine service. See Dodds, J. M. Marine electricians' library, v 2. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Electrical power uses in marine service. See Dodds, J. M. Marine electricians' library, v 3. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Electricity on ships
Dodds, J. M. Marine electricians' library. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Le Count, S. N., and Dusenbery, H. S. Practical marine electricity. (D '45)
Electrolytic capacitor. Georgiev, A. M. (D '45)
Electromagnetic engineering, v 1. King, R. W. P. (D '45)
Electromagnetism
King, R. W. P. Electromagnetic engineering, v 1. (D '45)
Electron microscope
Hawley, G. G. Seeing the invisible. (Mr '45)
Electronic equipment and accessories. Walker, R. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Electronics
Hudson, R. G. Introduction to electronics. (Je '45)
Walker, R. C. Electronic equipment and accessories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Yates, R. F. Fun with electrons. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Electroplating
Young, C. B. F. Chemistry for electroplaters. (O '45)
Elementary statistics. Levy, H., and Preidel, E. E. (N '45)
Elementary statistics and applications. Smith, J. G., and Duncan, A. J. (Ap '45)
Elements of administration. Urwick, L. (Ap '45)
Elements of astronomy. Fath, E. A. (Ag '45)
Eleven religions and their proverbial lore. Champion, S. G., comp. (O '45)
Elizabeth, queen of England
Waldman, M. Elizabeth and Leicester. (D '45)

Fiction

Irwin, M. E. F. Young Bess. (Ap '45)
Elizabeth and Leicester. Waldman, M. (D '45)
Elizabeth is missing. De La Torre-Bueno, L. (Je '45)
Embezzled heaven. Bús Fekete, L., and Fay, M. H. (Ap '45)
Embryology, Human
Gesell, A. L., and Amatruda, C. S. Embryology of behavior. (Ap '45)
Embryology of behavior. Gesell, A. L., and Amatruda, C. S. (Ap '45)
Emeralds for the king. Savery, C. (My '45)
Emergency rescue committee
Fry, V. Surrender on demand. (My '45)
Emma. Glennon, G. (O '45)
Emotional factors in learning. Murphy, L. B., and Ladd, H. A. (Mr '45)
Emotional problems of living. English, O. S., and Pearson, G. H. J. (D '45)
Employee counseling. Cantor, N. F. (Ag '45)
Employees, Training of
Dougherty, N. F. Occupational planning for tomorrow. (Ap '45)
Morgan, H. K. Industrial training and testing. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Employment management
Amiss, J. M., and Sutton, T. C. Industrial supervisor. (Mr '45)
Cantor, N. F. Employee counseling. (Ag '45)
Chase, S., and Tyler, M. Men at work. (Ag '45)
Halsey, G. D. Making and using industrial service ratings. (My '45)
Kalsem, P. J. Practical supervision. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lewisohn, S. A. Human leadership in industry. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Morgan, H. K. Industrial training and testing. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Rosenstein, J. L. Scientific selection of salesmen. (Ap '45)
Smith, M. Handbook of industrial psychology. (Ag '45)
Walters, J. E. Personnel relations. (S '45)
Encyclopedia of Bible life. Miller, M. S. and J. L. (Ap '45)
Encyclopedia of fruits, berries and nuts. Wilkinson, A. E. (Je '45)
Encyclopedia of the Negro. Du Bois, W. E. B., and Johnson, G. B., eds. (Je '45)
Encyclopedias and dictionaries
National encyclopedia; editor-in-chief, Henry Suzzalo. (My '45)
New standard encyclopedia of universal knowledge. (My '45)
Volume library. (N '45)
End of the trail. Field, P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Enemy unseen. Crofts, F. W. (My '45)
Enemies in Icy strait. Bell, M. E. (N '45)
Engine that lost its whistle. Cross, G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Engineering
Engineering preview. (S '45)

Contracts and specifications

Abbett, R. W. Engineering contracts and specifications. (Ap '45)

Dictionaries

Sandy, A. H. Dictionary of engineering and machine shop terms. (Ap '45)
Engineering contracts and specifications. Abbett, R. W. (Ap '45)
Engineering for dams. Creager, W. P., and others. (S '45)
Engineering mathematics. Sohon, H. (Mr '45)
Engineers
Borth, C. Masters of mass production. (Ag '45)
England
Description and travel

Dobie, J. F. Texan in England. (Je '45)

Social life and customs

Thompson, F. Lark Rise to Candleford. (O '45)
England in the eighteen-eighties. Lynd, H. M. (Ap '45)
English courts of law. Hanbury, H. G. (Je '45)
English drama
Collections

Galbraith, E. E., ed. Plays without footlights. (S '45)
English language
Mencken, H. L. American language. (O '45)

English language—Continued

Dialects

Wentworth, H. American dialect dictionary. (N '45) (1944 Annual)

Dictionaries

Jones, D. English pronouncing dictionary. (Ag '45)

Etymology

Shipley, J. T. Dictionary of word origins. (D '45)

Glossaries, vocabularies, etc.

Walpole, E. W. Golden dictionary. (Mr '45)

Pronunciation

Greet, W. C. World words. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Jones, D. English pronouncing dictionary. (Ag '45)

Slang

Colcord, J. C. Sea language comes ashore. (Mr '45)

Study and teaching

McIntosh, J. R. Learning by exposure to wrong forms in grammar and spelling. (Ap '45)

Terms and phrases

Taylor, A. M., comp. Language of World war II. (Mr '45)

Words

Brown, I. J. C. Word in your ear, and Just another word. (O '45)

English literature

History and criticism

Gaunt, W. Aesthetic adventure. (Je '45)
Rowse, A. L. English spirit. (Mr '45)
Turner, W. J., ed. Romance of English literature. (Ap '45)

English poetry

Collections

Benét, W. R., and Aiken, C. P., eds. Anthology of famous English and American poetry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
McCord, D. T. W., ed. What cheer. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wavell, A. P. W., comp. Other men's flowers. (Je '45)
Williams, O., ed. War poets. (S '45)

History and criticism

Beach, J. W. Romantic view of poetry. (Ap '45)
Dixon, W. M. Apology for the arts. (Ap '45)

English pottery and china. Sempill, C. A. (S '45)
English pronouncing dictionary. Jones, D. (Ag '45)
English-Spanish and Spanish-English dictionary of aviation terms. Klein Seralles, J. (N '45)
English spirit. Rowse, A. L. (Mr '45)
Enrichment of life. Elbin, P. N. (N '45)

Epidemics
Simmons, J. S., and others. Global epidemiology. (Je '45)

Equality
Myers, H. A. Are men equal? (My '45)

Erie, Lake
Hatcher, H. H. Lake Erie. (O '45)

Ernst, Morris Leopold
Ernst, M. L. Best is yet . . . (My '45)

Erosion
Shepard, W. Food or famine. (N '45)

Errores philosophorum. Giles of Rome. (S '45)

Eskelund, Karl
Eskelund, K. My Chinese wife. (S '45)

Eskimo hunter. Hayes, F. S. (N '45)

Eskimos

Alaska

Brevig, T. L. Apaurak in Alaska. (My '45)

Especially spaniels. Taber, G. B. (D '45)

Esperanto
Dubin, J. W. Green star. (Ap '45)

Espey, John Jenkins
Espey, J. J. Minor heresies. (My '45)

Essay on rime. Shapiro, K. J. (D '45)
Essay on the psychology of invention in the mathematical field. Hadamard, J. S. (Ag '45)

Essays
Leacock, S. B. Last leaves. (N '45)
Ludwig, E. Of life and love. (Ag '45)
Orcutt, W. D. From my library walls. (N '45)
Unamuno y Jugo, M. de. Perplexities and paradoxes. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Essays in American economic history. Redlich, F. (Ap '45)
Essays in musical analysis; chamber music. Tovey, D. F. (Mr '45)
Essays in the history of the American Negro. Aptheker, (F '46) (1945 Annual) Essentials of parliamentary procedure. Moore, Z. S. and J. B. (Ap '45)

Essex (aircraft carrier)
Markey, M. Well done! (D '45)

Esthetics
Ducasse, C. J. Art, the critics, and you. (My '45)
Guggenheimer, R. H. Sight and insight. (N '45)

Ethics
Flügel, J. C. Man, morals and society. (D '45)
Stevenson, C. L. Ethics and language. (Ag '45)

Ethics, Evolutionary
Quillian, W. F. Moral theory of evolutionary naturalism. (N '45)

Ethics and language. Stevenson, C. L. (Ag '45)

Ethnology

Africa

Malinowski, B. Dynamics of culture change. (Ag '45)

Alor (island)

Du Bois, C. A. People of Alor. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Malay archipelago

Cole, F. C. Peoples of Malaysia. (N '45)

Ethnopsychology
Kardiner, A., and others. Psychological frontiers of society. (S '45)

Europe

Commercial policy

Basch, A. Price for peace. (Je '45)

Description and travel

Busch, N. F. Lost continent? (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Economic policy

Basch, A. Price for peace. (Je '45)

History

Bryant, A. Years of victory, 1802-1812. (O '45)
Seton-Watson, H. Eastern Europe between the wars. (N '45)

1914-

Benns, F. L. Europe since 1914 and its world setting. (N '45)

Politics

Beneš, E. Edvard Beneš in his own words. (S '45)
Bojano, F. In the wake of the goose-step. (S '45)
Busch, N. F. Lost continent? (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Colton, E. T. Toward the understanding of Europe. (Ap '45)
Guérard, A. L. Europe free and united. (My '45)
Lanux, P. C. de. European manifesto. (S '45)
Poznański, C. Rights of nations. (S '45)
Scott, J. Europe in revolution. (D '45)
Seton-Watson, H. Eastern Europe between the wars. (N '45)
Steel, J. Future of Europe. (My '45)

Europe free and united. Guérard, A. L. (My '45)
Europe in revolution. Scott, J. (D '45)
Europe now. Kaltenborn, H. V. (My '45)
Europe since 1914 and its world setting. Benns, F. L. (N '45)
European manifesto. Lanux, P. C. de. (S '45)

European war, 1914-1918

Biography

Bullard, R. L. Fighting generals. (S '45)

Food question

Dickson, M. R. Food front in World war I. (My '45)

Hospitals, charities, etc.

Wilson, F. M. In the margins of chaos. (Ap '45)

Peace

Addams, J. Peace and bread in time of war. (Je '45)

Personal narratives, American

Kindall, S. G. American soldiers in Siberia. (D '45)

Personal narratives, German

Rommel, E. Infantry attacks. (Mr '45)

Evaluation and revision of the library school curriculum. Wight, E. A. (N '45)

Evaluation in teacher education. Troyer, M. E., and Pace, C. R. (My '45)

Evaluation of teacher merit in city school systems. Reavis, W. C., and Cooper, D. H. (Ag '45)

Evans, Daniel

Calkins, R., ed. Daniel Evans. (My '45)

Evelyn and the fish. Chrestien, F. H. (Je '45)

Ever after. Beebe, E. T. R. (N '45)

Ever New England. Chamberlain, S. (Ag '45)

Everything is quite all right. Wilcox, W. (N '45)

Everything rustles. Walker, M. (S '45)

Evidence, Circumstantial

Reik, T. Unknown murderer. (Je '45)

Evidence unseen. Davis, L. R. (Je '45)

Evil, Non-resistance to

Gregg, R. B. Power of non-violence. (D '45)

Evolution

Simpson, G. G. Tempo and mode in evolution. (Ag '45)

Juvenile literature

Novikoff, A. B. Climbing our family tree. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Evolution of the Dutch nation. Vlekke, B. H. M. (S '45)

Excess profits tax

Bickford, H. C. Excess profits tax relief. (My '45)

Gillim, M. H. Incidence of excess profits taxation. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Exchange

Halm, G. International monetary cooperation. (Je '45)

Exciting adventures of Waldo. Burton, E. and L. (N '45)

Executive in action. Dimock, M. E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Executives

Dimock, M. E. Executive in action. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Experience worketh hope. Gossip, A. J. (O '45)

Experimental sociology. Greenwood, E. (S '45)

Expert in murder. Heberden, M. V. (S '45)

Extra! McNamara, J. (Je '45)

Eye

Diseases and defects

Schwartz, L. H. Your eyes have told me. (S '45)

An eye for an eye. Bayer, O. W. (Ag '45)

Faces in a dusty picture. Kersh, G. (Mr '45)

Fact and fiction in modern science. Gill, H. V. (N '45)

Factory management

Amiss, J. M., and Sutton, T. C. Industrial supervisor. (Mr '45)

Berghell, A. B. Production engineering in the aircraft industry. (Ap '45)

Juran, J. M. Management of inspection and quality control. (Ag '45)

Muther, R. Production-line technique. (S '45)

Facts of life. Goodman, P. (S '45)

Fair is the morning. Erdman, L. G. (D '45)

Fairy tales

Afanas'ev, A. N. Russian fairy tales. (D '45)

Andersen, H. C. Fairy tales. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Cockrell, M. B. Shadow castle. (O '45)

Fenner, P. R., comp. Adventure, rare and magical. (D '45)

Murtaugh, J., ed. Wonder tales of giants and dwarfs. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Perrault, C. French fairy tales. (D '45)

Fairy tales from the Balkans. Haslip, J. (Mr '45)

Faith

Chalmers, A. K. Constant fire. (My '45)

Faith of man speaks. Woodbury, H., ed. (S '45)

Fall guy. Barry, J. (My '45)

Fall of the curtain. Eng title of: Curtain falls. Bernadotte, F. (N '45)

Fall of the old colonial system. Schuyler, R. L. (S '45)

Fall River, Massachusetts

Smith, T. R. Cotton textile industry of Fall River, Massachusetts. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Fallen angel. Holland, M. (Je '45)

Falmouth, Massachusetts

Faught, M. C. Falmouth, Massachusetts. (O '45)

Family

Elmer, M. C. Sociology of the family. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Foster, R. G. Marriage and family relationships. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Goldstein, S. E. Marriage and family counseling. (Ag '45)

Richardson, H. B. Patients have families. (My '45)

Taft, J., ed. Functional approach to family case work. (S '45)

Family history. Canby, H. S. (N '45)

Family on the hill. Flack, A. (My '45)

Family tree. Maple, F. (Je '45)

Famous leaders of industry. Moore, J. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Fantastic memories. Sandoz, M. Y. (Ap '45)

Far away music. Meeker, A. (D '45)

Far from the land. Monahan, J. (N '45)

Far shore. Miller, M. (My '45)

Farewell my heart. Molnár, F. (Ag '45)

Farm animals. Hogner, D. C. (Ja '45) (1945 Annual)

Farm life

Bromfield, L. Pleasant Valley. (My '45)

Gould, J. Farmer takes a wife. (D '45)

Lyon, M. Fresh from the hills. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

MacDonald, B. The egg and I. (N '45)

Farmer and the rest of us. Moore, A. (My '45)

Farmer takes a wife. Gould, J. (D '45)

Farmer's last frontier. Shannon, F. A. (O '45)

Farmers of the world. Brunner, E. de S., and others, eds. (N '45)

Fascism

London, K. Backgrounds of conflict. (S '45)

Warburg, J. P. Foreign policy begins at home. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

South America

Sharp, R. H. South America uncensored. (S '45)

United States

Piller, E. A. Time bomb. (O '45)

Fashion

Williams, B. Fashion is our business. (My '45)

Fashion is our business. Williams, B. My '45)

Fatal purchase. Rowe, A. V. (Je '45)

Fate and freedom. Frank, J. (Ag '45)

Fates are laughing. Crozier, W. P. (Ag '45)

Father Brown omnibus. Chesterton, G. K. (My '45)

Fathers of the church

Cassidy, F. P. Molders of the medieval mind. (Ap '45)

Fear makers. Teilhet, D. L. (S '45)

Fearful passage. Branson, H. C. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Federal finance in peace and war. Shirras, G. F. (D '45)

Federalism and regionalism in Germany. Brecht, A. (D '45)

Federation of Protestant welfare agencies, incorporated, New York

Stidley, L. A. Sectarian welfare federation among Protestants. (My '45)

Fellow of infinite jest. Yoseloff, T. (N '45)

Fergusson, Harvey
  Fergusson, H. Home in the West. (Mr '45)

Ferry, Jules François Camille
  Power, T. F. Jules Ferry and the renaissance of French imperialism. (My '45)

Fervent years. Clurman, H. (Ag '45)

Festivals
  Gibson, G. M. Story of the Christian year. (O '45)

Fiber to fabric. Potter, M. D. (O '45)

Fiction (books about)

Technique

  Burack, A. S., ed. Writing detective and mystery fiction. (Je '45)

Fiction (classified according to subject)

Actors and actresses

  Coxhead, N. Though they go wandering. (My '45)
  Marshall, E. Upstart. (My '45)

Adolescence

  Clark, W. V. City of trembling leaves. (Je '45)
  Karig, W. Lower than angels. (Mr '45)
  Kehoe, W. J. Sweep of dusk. (Ag '45)
  L'Engle, M. Small rain. (Ap '45)
  Marsh, E. Drink to the hunted. (Je '45)
  Maxwell, W. Folded leaf. (My '45)
  Rosaire, F. East of midnight. (Je '45)
  Wadelton, T. D. Silver buckles on his knee. (S '45)

Adventure

  Drago, H. S. River of gold. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Frisbie, R. D. Amaru. (Ag '45)
  Powers, T. Virgin with butterflies. (Ag '45)
  Shay, E. F., and Smith, K. Private adventure of Captain Shaw. (Mr '45)

Advertising

  Haberman, H. L. How about tomorrow morning? (Je '45)

Americans in England

  Allen, J. We always come back. (D '45)

Amnesia

  Newman, R. H. Identity unknown. (S '45)

Animal stories

Dogs

  Holland, R. P. My dog, Lemon. (D '45)
  Idriess, I. L. Dog of the desert. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Lamond, H. G. Dingo. (Mr '45)
  Shurtleff, B. L. Short leash. (S '45)
  Stieff, F. P. Unleash the dogs of war. (My '45)

Horses

  Steinbeck, J. Red pony. (D '45)

Army life

  Morris, T. No hidding place. (Ag '45)

Artists

  Sedgwick, F. M. Rim. (Je '45)
  Van de Water, F. F. Fool's errand. (Ag '45)

Authors

  Dark, E. O. Little company. (Je '45)

Aviators

  Redding, J. M., and Smith, T. Wake of glory. (N '45)

Biblical stories

  Bauer, F. A. M. Behold your King. (O '45)
  Heard, G. Gospel according to Gamaliel. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Robey, J. B. Innovator. (Mr '45)

Biographical novels

Baldwin IV

  Kossak-Szczucka, Z. Leper king. (S '45)

Byron, George Gordon Noel Byron, 6th baron

  Landau, M. A. For thee the best. (D '45)

Elizabeth, queen of England

  Irwin, M. E. F. Young Bess. (Ap '45)

Josephine

  Coryn, M. Marriage of Josephine. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Moses

  Mann, T. Tables of the law. (S '45)

Richard I, king of England

  Barnes, M. C. Passionate brood. (Ag '45)

Swift, Jonathan

  Clewes, W. Violent friends. (Mr '45)

Tzŭ-hsi, empress dowager of China

  Hunter, B. M. Manchu empress. (Ag '45)

Blind

  Kendrick, B. H. Lights out. (D '45)

Boarding houses

  West, E. Animal fair. (O '45)

Brothers

  Colwell, M. Wind off the water. (Ag '45)
  MacDonald, J. Darkly the river flows. (Je '45)

Character studies

  Baume, F. E. Yankee woman. (Ap '45)
  Brooks, R. Brick foxhole. (Je '45)
  Butler, G. Dark rainbow. (D '45)
  Corbett, E. F. Red-haired lady. (Ag '45)
  Dark, E. O. Little company. (Je '45)
  Downes, A. M. Heartwood. (O '45)
  Glaspell, S. Judd Rankin's daughter. (D '45)
  Govan, C. N. Jennifer's house. (Ap '45)
  Haberman, H. L. How about tomorrow morning? (Je '45)
  Hardwick, E. Ghostly lover. (My '45)
  Harnden, R. P. Bright star or dark. (D '45)
  Hilton, J. So well remembered. (S '45)
  Hostovsky, E. Seven times the leading man. (O '45)
  Hough, H. B. Roosters crow in town. (My '45)
  Hutchinson, R. C. Interim. (My '45)
  Isherwood, C. Prater Violet. (D '45)
  Jameson, S. Journal of Mary Hervey Russell. (Mr '45)
  Janeway, E. H. Daisy Kenyon. (D '45)
  Kintziger, L. J. Bay Mild. (O '45)
  La Penta, H. Piccola. (Ag '45)
  Lehmann, R. Ballad and the source. (Ap '45)
  Lewis, O. Uncertain journey. (O '45)
  Lofts, N. R. Jassy. (Ag '45)
  Loveridge, G. No one's kindness. (Ag '45)
  Mackenzie, C. North wind of love. (O '45)
  McLean, S. R. Moment of time. (My '45)
  Mann, H. Little superman. (N '45)
  Maxwell, W. Folded leaf. (My '45)
  Morris, W. Man who was there. (D '45)
  Roberts, D. J. Durable fire. (S '45)
  Sedges, J. Townsman. (Je '45)
  Smith, R. M. Human image. (Je '45)
  Stoddart, D. Prelude to night. (S '45)
  Swinnerton, F. A. Woman in sunshine. (Ap '45)
  Tarkington, B. Image of Josephine. (Ap '45)
  Van de Water, F. F. Fool's errand. (Ag '45)
  Voynich, E. L. B. Put off thy shoes. (Je '45)
  Webster, B. Mrs. Heriot's house. (Je '45)
  West, E. Animal fair. (O '45)
  Wickenden, D. Wayfarers. (S '45)
  Yates, E. Wind of spring. (Ap '45)

Children, Stories about

  Brinig, M. You and I. (D '45)
  Burnett, W., ed. Time to be young. (My '45)
  Harris, B. K. Sage quarter. (My '45)
  Hartley, L. P. West window. (O '45)
  Karig, W. Lower than angels. (Mr '45)
  La Penta, H. Piccola. (Ag '45)
  Neumann, D. Now that April's there. (My '45)
  Seley, S. Cradle will fall. (My '45)

Circus life

  McMeekin, C. Black moon. (S '45)

City life

  Raynolds, R. Obscure enemy. (S '45)

Clergy

  Street, J. H. The gauntlet. (N '45)

Convent life

Kenny, V. A. Convent boarding school. (Mr '45)
Williamson, T. R. Christine Roux. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Cookery

Jones, I. High bonnet. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Country life

Boynton-Hamilton, M. K. On winter's traces. (N '45)
Downes, A. M. Heartwood. (O '45)
Partridge, B. January thaw. (O '45)
Saltzman, E. Stuart's hill. (Je '45)

Crime and criminals

Queen, E., ed. Rogues' gallery. (N '45)

Dairying

Greene, J. E. Not in our stars. (O '45)

Drunkards

Bishop, J. Glass crutch. (D '45)
Taintor, E. September remember. (Je '45)

Dwarfs

Lagerkvist, P. F. The dwarf. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

European war, 1914-1918

Dos Passos, J. R. First encounter. (N '45)

Experimental forms

Nin, A. This hunger. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Patchen, K. Memoirs of a shy pornographer. (N '45)

Family chronicles

Beebe, E. T. R. Ever after. (N '45)
Ferber, E. Great son. (Mr '45)
Godden, R. Take three tenses. (Ap '45)
Keyes, F. P. W. River road. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lavin, M. House in Clewe street. (Je '45)
Main, M. F. Memory and desire. (D '45)
Maple, F. Family tree. (Je '45)
Meisenhelder, R. God bless our aunts. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Peech, S. D. Children's children. (N '45)

Family life

Clark, V. Horn of plenty. (O '45)
Coxhead, N. Though they go wandering. (My '45)
Flack, A. Family on the hill. (My '45)
Hillyer, L. Time remembered. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Hueston, E. P. No shortage of men. (O '45)
Kuhn, R. 34 Charlton. (Je '45)
Meeker, A. Far away music. (D '45)
Pinckney, J. Three o'clock dinner. (N '45)
Rives, F. You can't stop living. (My '45)
Samson, E. Claire. (Ag '45)
Turner, L. L. Bugles in her heart. (Ap '45)
Wickenden, D. Wayfarers. (S '45)

Fantasies

Angoff, C. Adventures in heaven. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Baker, F. Mr Allenby loses the way. (Ag '45)
Bemelmans, L. Blue Danube. (My '45)
Ford, C. H., ed. Night with Jupiter. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Henriques, R. D. Q. Home fires burning. (S '45)
Laforest-Divonne, P., de. Eastward in Eden. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lawson, R. Mr Wilmer. (Je '45)
Nordhoff, C. B., and Hall, J. N. High Barbaree. (N '45)
Robinson, H. M. Perfect round. (N '45)
Shattuck, R. Half-haunted saloon. (My '45)
Thurber, J. White deer. (N '45)
White, E. B. Stuart Little. (D '45)

Farm life

Wendt, L. Bright tomorrow. (Je '45)
Williams, B. A. It's a free country. (S '45)

Fascism

Henriques, R. D. Q. Home fires burning. (S '45)
Teilhet, D. L. Fear makers. (S '45)

Fishermen

Colwell, M. Wind off the water. (Ag '45)

Fishing

Ransom, E. I. Fishing's just luck. (My '45)

Friends, Society of

Kirkbride, R. De L. Winds, blow gently. (Ap '45)
West, J. Friendly persuasion. (D '45)

Frontier and pioneer life

Dick, I. Wild orchard. (Mr '45)
Fast, H. M. Patrick Henry and the frigate's keel. (My '45)
Sedges, J. Townsman. (Je '45)
Steele, W. D. That girl from Memphis. (Ag '45)
Van Every, D. Westward the river. (S '45)

Future life

Angoff, C. Adventures in heaven. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Gambling

Burnett, W. R. Tomorrow's another day. (D '45)
Heth, E. H. Any number can play. (N '45)
Hobson, W. All summer long. (O '45)

Ghost stories

Le Fanu, J. S. Green tea. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Leslie, J. A. C. Ghost and Mrs Muir. (N '45)

Gipsies

Bergman, C. Dance on, tsigane. (My '45)
Smith, E. F. Magic lantern. (My '45)

Greeks in America

Vardoulakis, M. Gold in the streets. (D '45)

Heredity and environment

Widdemer, M. Constancia herself. (O '45)

Historical novels

Costain, T. B. Black rose. (O '45)

Canada (Montreal)

Elwood, M. Heritage of the river. (S '45)

China

Hughes, P. Challenge at Changsha. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

England

Andrews, R. H. Burning gold. (S '45)
Barnes, M. C. Passionate brood. (Ag '45)
Dane, C. He brings great news. (O '45)
Irwin, M. E. F. Young Bess. (Ap '45)
Marshall, E. Upstart. (My '45)
Strode-Jackson, M. B. S. Tansy Taniard. (N '45)
Voynich, E. L. B. Put off thy shoes. (Je '45)

Europe

Landau, M. A. For thee the best. (D '45)

France

Coryn, M. Marriage of Josephine. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Shay, E. F., and Smith, K. Private adventure of Captain Shaw. (Mr '45)

Georgia

Miller, H. T. Dark sails. (D '45)

Germany

Peech, S. D. Children's children. (N '45)

Germany—Nazi movement

Dodd, M. E. Sowing the wind. (O '45)

Greece

Graves, R. Hercules, my shipmate. (N '45)
Landau, M. A. For thee the best. (D '45)

Ireland

Clewes, W. Violent friends. (Mr '45)

Italy

Gay, L. Unspeakables. (N '45)
Lagerkvist, P. F. The dwarf. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Jerusalem

Kossak-Szczucka, Z. Leper king. (S '45)

Massachusetts

Cochran, H. Silver shoals. (D '45)

Fiction—Historical novels—Continued

Mexico

Shellabarger, S. Captain from Castile. (Mr '45)

Missouri

Kroll, H. H. Fury in the earth. (Ap '45)

Napoleonic wars

Forester, C. S. Commodore Hornblower. (Je '45)

Nova Scotia

Raddall, T. H. Roger Sudden. (My '45)

Palestine

Bauer, F. A. M. Behold your King. (O '45)

Prussia

Sabatini, R. Birth of mischief. (O '45)

Rome (empire)

Crozier, W. P. Fates are laughing. (Ag '45)

Tasmania

Dick, I. Wild orchard. (Mr '45)

United States

Baume, F. E. Yankee woman. (Ap '45)
Roberts, K. L. Kenneth Roberts reader. (D '45)
Van Every, D. Westward the river. (S '45)

United States—Colonial period

Marsh, G. T. Ask no quarter. (My '45)

United States—Revolution

Fast, H. M. Patrick Henry and the frigate's keel. (My '45)

United States—Tripolitan war, 1801-1805

Case, J. Y. Written in sand. (Mr '45)

United States—1815-1861

Caldwell, J. T. Wide house. (My '45)

United States—War with Mexico

Gorman, H. S. Wine of San Lorenzo. (Je '45)

United States—Civil war

Dowdey, C. Where my love sleeps. (D '45)

Horror tales

Lovecraft, H. P., and Derleth, A. W. Lurker at the threshold. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Roueché, B. Black weather. (S '45)

Horse shows

Longstreet, S. Stallion road. (Je '45)

Hospitals and sanatoriums

Ashton, H. Yeoman's hospital. (Mr '45)
Feikema, F. F. Boy almighty. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Humor

Kent, L. A. Country mouse. (N '45)
Lawson, R. Mr Wilmer. (Je '45)
Molnár, F. Captain of St Margaret's. (Ap '45)
Partridge, B. January thaw. (O '45)
Powers, T. Virgin with butterflies. (Ag '45)
Roark, E. Memphis bragabouts. (F '46 (1945 Annual)
Rorick, I. S. Outside Eden. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Smith, H. A., ed. Desert island decameron. (S '45)
Temple, R. Cuckoo time. (My '45)
Van Duyn, J. H. D. I married them. (Je '45)
Walker, M. Everything rustles. (S '45)

Hunting

Clark, R. Pot luck. (S '45)
Ransom, E. I. Fishing's just luck. (My '45)

Immortality

Burnet, D. The pool. (S '45)

Indians of North America

Wars

Parkhill, F. Troopers west. (Mr '45)

Insane hospitals

Philtine, E. C. They walk in darkness. (Je '45)

Insanity

Wolfson, V. Lonely steeple. (N '45)

Intermingled lives

Osborne, L. P. They change their skies. (Je '45)

International intrigue

Chambers, W. Action at world's end. (My '45)
Sinclair, U. B. Dragon harvest. (Ag '45)
Yardley, H. O., and Grabo, C. H. Crows are black everywhere. (Ap '45)

International marriages

Marsh, E. Drink to the hunted. (Je '45)
Wernher, H. My Indian family. (S '45)

Jazz music

Cuthbert, C. Robbed heart. (D '45)

Jews and Jewish life

Buber, M. For the sake of heaven. (N '45)
Lister, S. By the waters of Babylon. (O '45)
Miller, A. Focus. (D '45)
Shneur, Z. Song of the Dnieper. (O '45)

Journalists

Sedgwick, A. C. Tell Sparta. (Ap '45)

Labor and laboring classes

Greene, J. E. Not in our stars. (O '45)
Yates, E. Wind of spring. (Ap '45)

Labor unions

Hayes, D. Who walk with the earth. (My '45)

Law and lawyers

Train, A. C. Mr Tutt finds a way. (Ap '45)

Locality

Africa

Burman, B. L. Rooster crows for day. (O '45)

Africa, North

De Jong, D. And the field is the world. (N '45)

Alaska

Willoughby, F. B. Golden totem. (Ap '45)

Aleutian Islands

Jonas, C. Beachhead on the wind. (O '45)

Argentina

De Sherbinin, B. By bread alone. (Mr '45)
Main, M. F. Memory and desire. (D '45)

Arizona

Baldwin, F. Arizona star. (My '45)
Steele, W. D. That girl from Memphis. (Ag '45)

Australia

Dark, E. O. Little company. (Je '45)

Australia (Queensland)

Lamond, H. G. Dingo. (Mr '45)

Austria (Vienna)

Baum, V. Once in Vienna. . . (Mr '45)

Bolivia

Costa du Rels, A. Bewitched lands. (N '45)

Brazil

Amado, J. Violent land. (Ag '45)
Escragnolle Taunay, A. de. Inocência. (Ap '45)

California

Booth, E. With sirens screaming. (O '45)
Camp, W. M. Skip to my Lou. (O '45)
Drago, H. S. River of gold. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Longstreet, S. Stallion road. (Je '45)
Moody, A. B. Sleep in the sun. (My '45)
Steinbeck, J. Cannery row. (Mr '45)

California (Hollywood)

Pratt, T. Miss Dilly says no. (Ap '45)

Canada

MacLennan, H. Two solitudes. (Mr '45)

Canada (Halifax)

Disney, D. C. The 17th letter. (Mr '45)

Canada (New Brunswick)
Tomkinson, G. Her own people. (D '45)

Canada (Ontario)
Campbell, G. M. G. Higher hill. (Je '45)

Canada (Toronto)
MacDonald, J. Darkly the river flows. (Je '45)

Carolinas
Abrahams, W. Interval in Carolina. (O '45)

China
Hughes, P. Challenge at Changsha. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Hunter, B. M. Manchu empress. (Ag '45)
Shu, C. Rickshaw boy. (S '45)
Standish, R. Small general. (N '45)
Wimsatt, G. B. Lady like the moon. (D '45)
Yardley, H. O., and Grabo, C. H. Crows are black everywhere. (Ap '45)

Connecticut
Allis, M. Charity Strong. (N '45)
Partridge, B. January thaw. (O '45)

Czechoslovakia (Prague)
Hostovsky, E. Seven times the leading man. (O '45)

Dakotas
Wendt, L. Bright tomorrow. (Je '45)

England
Balchin, N. Small back room. (Mr '45)
Butler, G. Dark rainbow. (D '45)
Carfrae, E. Tomorrow sometimes comes. (Mr '45)
Gibbs, P. H. Battle within. (Mr '45)
Priestley, J. B. Three men in new suits. (S '45)
Renault, M. Middle mist. (Mr '45)
Yates, E. Wind of spring. (Ap '45)

England (provincial and rural)
Ashton, H. Yeoman's hospital. (Mr '45)
Black, D. Shadows under the stars. (Ag '45)
Lehmann, R. Ballad and the source. (Ap '45)
Leslie, J. A. C. Ghost and Mrs Muir. (N '45)
Lofts, N. R. Jassy. (Ag '45)
Thirkell, A. M. Headmistress. (Mr '45)

England (Cambridge)
Douglas-Irvine, H. 77 Willow road. (Je '45)

England (Cornwall)
Ferguson, M. Sign of the ram. (Ap '45)
Voynich, E. L. B. Put off thy shoes. (Je '45)

England (Cumberland)
Hutchinson, R. C. Interim. (My '45)

England (Devonshire)
Smith, E. F. Magic lantern. (My '45)

England (London)
Cheyney, P. Sinister errand. (O '45)
Godden, R. Take three tenses. (Ap '45)
Johnson, P. H. Trojan brothers. (Ag '45)
Kent, M. Island of the innocent. (O '45)

England (Oxford)
Neumann, D. Now that April's there. (My '45)

England (Warwickshire)
Voynich, E. L. B. Put off thy shoes. (Je '45)

France
Comfort, A. Power house. (Ap '45)
Guerard, A. J. Maquisard. (N '45)
Hoff, R. Silver answer. (Ag '45)
Maurois, A. Woman without love. (N '45)
Prokosch, F. Age of thunder. (Ap '45)
Romains, J. Wind is rising. (N '45)
Samson, E. Claire. (Ag '45)
Sinclair, U. B. Dragon harvest. (Ag '45)

France (Normandy)
Sawdon, B. M. Son of Normandy. (S '45)

France (Paris)
Shay, E. F., and Smith, K. Private adventure of Captain Shaw. (Mr '45)

Georgia (Atlanta)
Peeples, E. A. Swing low. (Ap '45)

Germany
Bemelmans, L. Blue Danube. (My '45)
Dodd, M. E. Sowing the wind. (O '45)
Mann, H. Little superman. (N '45)
Marsh, E. Drink to the hunted. (Je '45)
Neumann, A. Six of them. (S '45)
Roane, M. Years before the flood. (Je '45)
Yorck, R. L. Lili Marlene. (N '45)

Greece (Athens)
Wescott, G. Apartment in Athens. (Mr '45)

Honduras
Osborne, L. P. They change their skies. (Je '45)

Illinois (Chicago)
Meeker, A. Far away music. (D '45)

India
Wernher, H. My Indian family. (S '45)

Indiana
West, J. Friendly persuasion. (D '45)

Indiana (Gary)
Nichols, E. J. Hunky Johnny. (S '45)

Iowa
Saltzman, E. Stuart's hill. (Je '45)

Ireland
Harnden, R. P. Bright star or dark. (D '45)
Lavin, M. House in Clewe street. (Je '45)
Phelan, J. L. Banshee harvest. (Mr '45)

Italy
Arnold, E. Tomorrow will sing. (Mr '45)
Clark, J. B. Dreamers. (O '45)
Curinga, N. V. Italian tragedy. (My '45)
La Penta, H. Piccola. (Ag '45)
Taddei, E. Pine tree and the mole. (S '45)

Kansas
Sedges, J. Townsman. (Je '45)

Kentucky
Litsey, S. There was a lady. (O '45)

Louisiana
Keyes, F. P. W. River road. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Louisiana (New Orleans)
Margulies, L., and Merwin, S. Flags were three. (My '45)

Maine
Colwell, M. Wind off the water. (Ag '45)
Mayo, E. R. Turn home. (Ap '45)
Ogilvie, E. Storm tide. (O '45)

Massachusetts
McLean, S. R. Moment of time. (My '45)
Vardoulakis, M. Gold in the streets. (D '45)

Massachusetts (Cape Cod)
Bassett, S. W. Silver Moon cottage. (O '45)
Shay, E. F., and Smith, K. Private adventure of Captain Shaw. (Mr '45)
Wolfson, V. Lonely steeple. (N '45)

Massachusetts (Martha's Vineyard)
Wylie, I. A. R. Ho, the fair wind. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Massachusetts (Nantucket)
Bruff, N. Manatee. (N '45)

Mexico
Hobart, A. T. N. Peacock sheds his tail. (O '45)
Niggli, J. Mexican village. (N '45)

Michigan
Moore, J. E. Indian Paul. (O '45)

Minnesota
Lewis, S. Cass Timberlane. (N '45)

Mississippi river
Hamilton, H. River song. (Ap '45)

Missouri
Grinstead, F. High road. (Mr '45)
Langley, D. Dark medallion. (Je '45)
Street, J. H. The gauntlet. (N '45)

Fiction—Locality—Continued

Missouri (Ozark mountains)

Camp, W. M. Skip to my Lou. (O '45)

Nevada (Reno)

Clark, W. V. City of trembling leaves. (Je '45)

New England

Driscoll, P. F. My Felicia. (N '45)
Hough, H. B. Roosters crow in town. (My '45)
La Penta, H. Piccola. (Ag '45)
Schrag, O. Sons of the morning. (D '45)

New Jersey

Colver, A. M. R. Homecoming. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

New Mexico

Sylvester, H. Dayspring. (Ap '45)

New York (city)

Allis, M. Charity Strong. (N '45)
Brandel, M. Rain before seven. (O '45)
Corbett, E. F. Red-haired lady. (Ag '45)
Haydn, H. C. Manhattan furlough. (My '45)
Kelland, C. B. Alias Jane Smith. (Mr '45)
Kuhn, R. 34 Charlton. (Je '45)
Stoddart, D. Prelude to night. (S '45)

New York (city) (Harlem)

Cuthbert, C. Robbed heart. (D '45)

New York (city) (Staten Island)

Karig, W. Lower than angels. (Mr '45)

New York (state)

Caldwell, J. T. Wide house. (My '45)
Clark, V. Horn of plenty. (O '45)
Flack, A. Family on the hill. (My '45)
Rowe, F. Chapin sisters. (D '45)

North Carolina

Harris, B. K. Sage quarter. (My '45)

Norway

Kielland, A. Shape of danger. (Mr '45)

Pennsylvania

Buck, P. S. Portrait of a marriage. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Meisenhelder, R. God bless our aunts. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Pennsylvania (Pittsburgh)

Cohen, L. Coming home. (Je '45)

Philippine Islands

March, A. Quit for the next. (My '45)

Philippine islands (Manila)

Mydans, S. S. Open city. (Mr '45)

Poland

Buber, M. For the sake of heaven. (N '45)
Kuncewiczowa, M. S. The stranger. (S '45)

Rhode Island (Newport)

Marsh, G. T. Ask no quarter. (My '45)

Russia

Almedingen, M. E. von. Dasha. (My '45)
Shneur, Z. Song of the Dnieper. (O '45)

Santo Domingo

Magaret, H. Who walk in pride. (My '45)

Scotland

Gunn, N. M. Silver darlings. (S '45)
Gunn, N. M. Young Art and Old Hector. (Mr '45)
Hanlin, T. Once in every lifetime. (N '45)
Marshall, B. World, the flesh and Father Smith. (S '45)

South America

Holbrook, M. Crime wind. (My '45)

South Carolina

Boynton-Hamilton, M. K. On winter's traces. (N '45)
Kirkbride, R. De L. Winds, blow gently. (Ap '45)

South Carolina (Charleston)

Molloy, R. Pride's way. (Je '45)
Pinckney, J. Three o'clock dinner. (N '45)

South Seas

Frisbie, R. D. Amaru. (Ag '45)
Nordhoff, C. B., and Hall, J. N. High Barbaree. (N '45)
Schenck, E. Lean with the wind. (N '45)

Spain (Madrid)

Alarcon, P. A. de. Scandal. (Ag '45)

Sweden

Morris, E. Three who loved. (Mr '45)

Switzerland

Ullman, J. R. White tower. (O '45)

Tennessee

Crabb, A. L. Breakfast at the Hermitage. (Ap '45)

Texas

Stilwell, H. Border city. (Je '45)

Turkey (Constantinople)

Gunther, J. Troubled midnight. (Mr '45)

United States (middlewestern)

Derleth, A. W. Shield of the valiant. (D '45)
Williams, B. A. It's a free country. (S '45)

United States (southern)

Byrd, S. Hurry home to my heart. (D '45)
Cook, E. B. These are my jewels. (D '45)
Doughty, L. S. Music is gone. (My '45)
Govan, C. N. Jennifer's house. (Ap '45)
Ingram, B. If passion flies. (N '45)

United States (western)

Drago, H. S. Iron bronc. (My '45)
Field, P. End of the trail. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Glidden, F. D. And the wind blows free. (Ag '45)
Gooden, A. H. Valley of dry bones. (My '45)
Halleran, E. E. Prairie guns. (Mr '45)
Haycox, E. Canyon passage. (Ap '45)
Maule, H. E., ed. Great tales of the American West. (S '45)
Nye, N. C. Wild Horse Shorty. (My '45)
Raine, W. M. Who wants to live forever? (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Rider, B. Death stalks the range. (O '45)
Robertson, F. C. Noose hangs high. (My '45)
Robertson, F. C. Round-up in the river. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Vermont

Downes, A. M. Heartwood. (O '45)
Kent, L. A. Country mouse. (N '45)
Van de Water, F. F. Fool's errand. (Ag '45)

Virginia

Beverley-Giddings, A. R. Broad margin. (O '45)
Dowdey, C. Where my love sleeps. (D '45)
Gogarty, O. S. Mr. Petunia. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Washington (D.C.)

Brooks, R. Brick foxhole. (Je '45)

Washington (state) (Seattle)

Ferber, E. Great son. (Mr '45)

Love stories

Abrahams, W. Interval in Carolina. (O '45)
Bailey, T. Red fruit. (Mr '45)
Baldwin, F. Job for Jenny. (N '45)
Bassett, S. W. Silver Moon cottage. (O '45)
Davis, L. R. Sea between. (My '45)
Deeping, W. Reprieve. (S '45)
Escragnolle Taunay, A. de. Inocência. (Ap '45)
Harré, T. E., comp. Bedside treasury of love. (O '45)
Jordan, E. G. Miss Warren's son. (S '45)
Kauffmann, S. This time forever. (My '45)
Landi, E. Pear tree. (My '45)
Loring, E. B. Beyond the sound of guns. (D '45)
Molnár, F. Farewell my heart. (Ag '45)
Morris, E. Three who loved. (Mr '45)
Norris, K. T. Burned fingers. (Mr '45)
Parsons, P. W. My love is young. (Ag '45)
Sawdon, B. M. Son of Normandy. (S '45)
Seifert, E. Orchard hill. (N '45)
Shann, R. I'll never forget you. (D '45)
Shipman, N. Call back yesterday. (S '45)
Stead, C., and Blech, W. J., eds. Modern women in love. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Taber, G. B. Give me the stars. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Thompson, S. Dr Parrish, resident. (Mr '45)

Lynching

Moore, J. E. Indian Paul. (O '45)

Maquis

Guerard, A. J. Maquisard. (N '45)

Marriage problems

Buck, P. S. Portrait of a marriage. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Carfrae, E. Tomorrow sometimes comes. (Mr '45)
Janeway, E. H. Daisy Kenyon. (D '45)
Lewis, S. Cass Timberlane. (N '45)
Marquand, J. P. Repent in haste. (D '45)
Nichols, M. G. Always with me. (My '45)
Shipman, N. Long road. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Sturgis, R. Half-past yesterday. (S '45)

Marriage versus a career

Coxhead, N. Though they go wandering. (My '45)

Mexicans in the United States

Moody, A. B. Sleep in the sun. (My '45)
Stilwell, H. Border city. (Je '45)

Migrant labor

Camp, W. M. Skip to my Lou. (O '45)

Mormons and Mormonism

Scowcroft, R. P. Children of the covenant. (O '45)

Mothers and daughters

Abbott, J. L. D. Mary Patten's daughters. (Ag '45)
Gilpatrick, N. Broken pitcher. (Ap '45)

Mothers and sons

Charles, J. Son and stranger. (Ap '45)

Mountaineering

Ullman, J. R. White tower. (O '45)

Moving pictures

Isherwood, C. Prater Violet. (D '45)
Temple, R. Cuckoo time. (My '45)

Murder stories

Jackson, J. H., ed. Portable murder book. (O '45)
Lee, M. V. Passport to oblivion. (D '45)

Musicians

Clark, W. V. City of trembling leaves. (Je '45)
L'Engle, M. Small rain. (Ap '45)
Willis, G. W. Wild faun. (Ag '45)

Mystery and detective stories

Alan, M. Dark prophecy. (N '45)
Allan, D. Born to be murdered. (Je '45)
Allan, F. K. First come, first kill. (S '45)
Allingham, M. Pearls before swine. (Je '45)
Armstrong, C. Innocent flower. (Ap '45)
Bailey, H. C. Wrong man. (O '45)
Barber, W. A., and Schabelitz, R. F. Noose is drawn. (N '45)
Barrington, H. Knight missing. (Ap '45)
Barry, J. Fall guy. (My '45)
Bayer, O. W. An eye for an eye. (Ag '45)
Bellairs, G. Calamity at Harwood. (S '45)
Boyd, E. M. Murder wears mukluks. (My '45)
Boyers, B. and A. Murder by proxy. (S '45)
Bramhall, M. Tragedy in blue. (Ag '45)
Branson, H. C. Fearful passage. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Brown, G. Murder in plain sight. (Ag '45)
Brown, Z. J. Philadelphia murder story. (Ap '45)
Burks, A. L. Tight rope. (S '45)
Burton, M. Not a leg to stand on. (S '45)
Campbell, A. O. No light came on. (My '45)
Canaday, J. E. Devil in the bush. (D '45)
Carleton, M. C. Cry wolf. (Mr '45)
Carr, J. D. Curse of the bronze lamp. (Ag '45)
Caspary, V. Bedelia. (S '45)
Chamberlain, E. Appointment in Manila. (N '45)
Chamberlain, G. A. Red house. (Je '45)
Chesterton, G. K. Father Brown omnibus. (My '45)
Cheyney, P. They never say when. (Mr '45)
Christie, A. M. Remembered death. (Mr '45)
Cohen, O. R. Danger in paradise. (Ap '45)
Coles, M. Green hazard. (Mr '45)
Coxe, G. H. Jade Venus. (Mr '45)
Coxe, G. H. Woman at bay. (D '45)
Crane, F. K. Indigo necklace. (Ap '45)
Crofts, F. W. Enemy unseen. (My '45)
Cumberland, M. Steps in the dark. (My '45)
Cunningham, A. B. Death visits the apple hole. (My '45)
Cunningham, A. B. Murder before midnight. (O '45)
Daly, E. Any shape or form. (Je '45)
Damer, A., and Scott, J. D. Too lively to live. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Dean, A. Chanticleer's muffled crow. (O '45)
Derleth, A. W. In re: Sherlock Holmes. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Derleth, A. W. No future for Luana. (My '45)
Disney, D. C. The 17th letter. (Mr '45)
Disney, D. M. Murder on a tangent. (My '45)
Doherty, E. J. Corpse who wouldn't die. (S '45)
Donnel, C. P. Murder-go-round. (S '45)
Dow, J. Little boy laughed. (S '45)
Dresser, D. Marked for murder. (D '45)
Dresser, D. Murder is my business. (Ag '45)
Du Bois, T. M. Death sails in a high wind. (N '45)
Eberhart, M. G. Wings of fear. (Mr '45)
Endore, G. Methinks the lady. (D '45)
Fast, J. Watchful at night. (N '45)
Fenisong, R. Lost Caesar. (O '45)
Fenwick, E. P. Two names for death. (My '45)
Ferguson, M. Sign of the ram. (Ap '45)
Ferrars, E. I, said the fly. (S '45)
Field, P. End of the trail. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Fischer, B. Dead men grin. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Footner, H. Orchids to murder. (Ap '45)
Furman, A. L., ed. Third mystery companion. (N '45)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the golddigger's purse. (Je '45)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the half-wakened wife. (N '45)
Goldstone, L. A. V as in victim. (D '45)
Goldthwaite, E. K. Scarecrow. (Ag '45)
Grey, R. Puzzle in porcelain. (D '45)
Gruber, F. Silver Tombstone. (D '45)
Halleran, E. E. Thirteen toy pistols. (N '45)
Heberden, M. V. Expert in murder. (S '45)
Heberden, M. V. Vicious pattern. (D '45)
Hill, K. Case for equity. (N '45)
Hitchens, D. B. Bring the bride a shroud. (N '45)
Hitchens, D. B. Cats don't smile. (Ap '45)
Holding, E. S. Net of cobwebs. (Mr '45)
Holland, M. Fallen angel. (Je '45)
Holman, H. Trout in the milk. (Ag '45)
Hosken, C. J. W. Coroner's verdict: accident. (Ag '45)
Howes, R. Case of the copy-hook killing. (S '45)
Hughes, D. B. F. Dread journey. (O '45)
Kendrick, B. H. Death knell. (Mr '45)
Kendrick, B. H. Out of control. (O '45)
King, R. Deadly Dove. (My '45)
Knight, K. M. Port of seven strangers. (N '45)
Knight, K. M. Stream sinister. (Ap '45)
Koehler, R. P. Murder expert. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lariar, L. Girl with the frightened eyes. (N '45)
Lawrence, H. Time to die. (Mr '45)
Lewis, L. Birthday murder. (Ap '45)
Little, C. and G. Black eye. (D '45)
Lobaugh, E. K. She never reached the top. (O '45)
Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. Payoff for the banker. (My '45)
Long, A. R. Death looks down. (Je '45)
Long, M. Short shrift. (Ag '45)
McCloy, H. One that got away. (D '45)
McCully, W. Blood on Nassau's moon. (Ap '45)
McDougald, R. Whistling legs. (N '45)
Mace, M. Blondes don't cry. (My '45)
Malleson, L. B. Death at the door. (Ap '45)
Malleson, L. B. Scarlet button. (N '45)
Marsh, N. Died in the wool. (Ap '45)
Martin, A. E. Outsiders. (Ap '45)
Mason, S. E. Crimson feather. (Ag '45)

Fiction—Mystery and detective stories—Cont.
Merwin, S. Knife in my back. (My '45)
Merwin, S. Message from a corpse. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Millar, M. Iron gates. (My '45)
Millhauser, B. Whatever goes up. (Ag '45)
Montgomery, R. B. Obsequies at Oxford (Ap '45)
Nash, A. Cabbages and crime. (S '45)
Nolan, J. C. I can't die here. (O '45)
Notley, J. F. Murder has an echo. (Ap '45)
Odlum, J. Mirabilis diamond. (N '45)
Oellrichs, I. And die she did. (Ap '45)
Paul, E. H. I'll hate myself in the morning. (Mr '45)
Phillpotts, E. They were seven. (S '45)
Plum, M. State department cat. (Mr '45)
Powell, R. P. Lay that pistol down. (Ag '45)
Queen, E. Murder is a fox. (Je '45)
Queen, E., ed. Rogues' gallery. (N '45)
Raison, M. M. Nobody loves a dead man. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Reilly, H. K. Murder on Angler's island. (Je '45)
Rice, C. Lucky stiff. (My '45)
Rinehart, M. R. Yellow room. (D '45)
Roden, H. W. One angel less. (My '45)
Rogers, J. T. Red right hand. (Je '45)
Rogers, S. You'll be sorry! (O '45)
Roos, K. There was a crooked man. (My '45)
Rowe, A. V. Fatal purchase. (Je '45)
Rowe, A. V. Up to the hilt. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Russell, C. M. No time for crime. (My '45)
Rutledge, N. Blood on the cat. (Ap '45)
Ryan, J. Man who asked why. (D '45)
Scherf, M. Owl in the cellar. (O '45)
Siller, V. Somber memory. (N '45)
Starr, J. Three short biers. (My '45)
Stevens, F. M. R. Midsummer nightmare. (S '45)
Stevens, F. M. R. Rumor hath it. (D '45)
Stewart, J. I. M. Appleby's end. (Mr '45)
Street, C. J. C. Shadow of a crime. (S '45)
Street, C. J. C. Too many suspects. (Ap '45)
Strong, L. A. G. Murder plays an ugly scene. (O '45)
Stuart, W. L. Dead lie still. (D '45)
Taylor, P. A. Proof of the pudding. (Ag '45)
Thayer, L. Accident, manslaughter or murder? (Ag '45)
Truesdell, J. Morgue the merrier. (Ag '45)
Upfield, A. W. Death of a swagman. (D '45)
Vickers, R. Four past four. (N '45)
Wallis, R. O. S. Blood from a stone. (My '45)
Walsh, M. Nine strings to your bow. (N '45)
Walz, A. King is dead on Queen street. (O '45)
Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. Death, my darling daughters. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. Puzzle for wantons. (O '45)
Wentworth, P. She came back. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Wentworth, P. Silence in court. (Ag '45)
White, W. A. P., ed. Great American detective stories. (N '45)
Wilson, P. W. Black tarn. (Ag '45)
Woodward, H. R. Money to burn. (Je '45)
Woolrich, C. Night has a thousand eyes. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Worts, G. F. Five who vanished. (Ap '45)
Yates, M. T., and Bramlette, P. Widow's walk. (S '45)

Negro problem

Cuthbert, C. Robbed heart. (D '45)
Himes, C. B. If he hollers let him go. (D '45)
Peeples, E. A. Swing low. (Ap '45)

Newspaper life

Stilwell, H. Border city. (Je '45)

Northwest mounted police

Disney, D. C. The 17th letter. (Mr '45)

Novels in verse

Bowman, P. Beach red. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Kantor, M. Glory for me. (D '45)

Opera singers

Baum, V. Once in Vienna. . . (Mr '45)

Oregon trail

Greve, A. W. Shadow on the plains. (Mr '45)

Peasant life

Loos, M., and Duranty, W. Return to the vineyard. (Mr '45)

Philosophical novels

Broch, H. Death of Virgil. (S '45)
Huxley, A. L. Time must have a stop. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Ullman, J. R. White tower. (O '45)

Physicians

Doughty, L. S. Music is gone. (My '45)
Slaughter, F. G. Touch of glory. (My '45)

Pirates

Andrews, R. H. Burning gold. (S '45)

Poles in the United States

Castle, W., and Joseph, R. Hero's oak. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Politics

Cohen, L. Coming home. (Je '45)
Langley, A. L. Lion is in the streets. (Je '45)

Poor

Curinga, N. V. Italian tragedy. (My '45)
Flack, A. Family on the hill. (My '45)

Prison life

Booth, E. With sirens screaming. (O '45)

Prize fighting

Karney, J. There goes Shorty Higgins. (Ap '45)

Pseudo-history and biography

Molnár, F. Captain of St Margaret's. (Ap '45)

Psychic phenomena

Hichens, R. S. Woman in the house. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Woolrich, C. Night has a thousand eyes. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Psychological novels

Charles, J. Son and stranger. (Ap '45)
Douglas-Irvine, H. 77 Willow road. (Je '45)
Endore, G. Methinks the lady. (D '45)
Ferguson, M. Sign of the ram. (Ap '45)
Gilpatrick, N. Broken pitcher. (Ap '45)
Hoff, R. Silver answer. (Ag '45)
Holding, E. S. Net of cobwebs. (Mr '45)
Hostovský, E. Hideout. (Mr '45)
Johnson, P. H. Trojan brothers. (Ag '45)
Kuncewiczowa, M. S. The stranger. (S '45)
Lehmann, R. Ballad and the source. (Ap '45)
MacDonald, J. Darkly the river flows. (Je '45)
Maier, H. Undertow. (D '45)
Maurois, A. Woman without love. (N '45)
Millar, M. Iron gates. (My '45)
Parrish, A. Poor child. (Mr '45)
Renault, M. Middle mist. (Mr '45)
Rosaire, F. East of midnight. (Je '45)
Roueché, B. Black weather. (S '45)
Simenon, G. Shadow falls. (O '45)
Tabori, G. Beneath the stone. (O '45)
Wilhelm, G. Never let me go. (Ap '45)
Wilson, M. A. None so blind. (D '45)

Quakers

See Fiction—Friends, Society of

Race problems

Lawrence, J. Let us consider one another. (Je '45)
Stilwell, H. Border city. (Je '45)

Radio

Hamilton, H. River song. (Ap '45)

Reconstruction (1939-)

Loos, M., and Duranty, W. Return to the vineyard. (Mr '45)

Refugees

Albrand, M. None shall know. (Ag '45)
Bodley, R. V. C. Gay deserters. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
De Jong, D. And the field is the world. (N '45)
Hostovský, E. Hideout. (Mr '45)
Neumann, R. Inquest. (Ag '45)
Osborne, L. P. They change their skies. (Je '45)

Religion

Burnet, D. The question. (N '45)

Religious psychology

Jordan, M. V. Now and forever. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Sylvester, H. Dayspring. (Ap '45)
Williamson, T. R. Christine Roux. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Roman Catholic faith

Buchanan, R. This bread. (O '45)
Gable, M., ed. Our Father's house. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Kenny, V. A. Convent boarding school. (Mr '45)

Roman Catholic priests

Hoff, R. Silver answer. (Ag '45)
Marshall, B. World, the flesh and Father Smith. (S '45)

Romance

Costain, T. B. Black rose. (O '45)
Strode-Jackson, M. B. S. Tansy Taniard. (N '45)

Rural life

Sedges, J. Townsman. (Je '45)

Satire

DeJong, D. C. Somewhat angels. (D '45)
Hobson, W. All summer long. (O '45)
Patchen, K. Memoirs of a shy pornographer. (N '45)
Stavis, B. Chain of command. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

School and college life

Corrigan, B. Voyage of discovery. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Gessner, R. Youth is the time. (Je '45)
Miers, E. S. Ivy years. (S '45)
Parsons, P. W. My love is young. (Ag '45)
Taber, G. B. Heart has April too. (Mr '45)

Scientific novels

Wollheim, D. A., ed. Portable novels of science. (D '45)

Sea stories

Cochran, H. Silver shoals. (D '45)
Forester, C. S. Commodore Hornblower. (Je '45)
Gilligan, E. Voyage of the Golden Hind. (Ap '45)
Norway, N. S. Most secret. (N '45)

Secret service

Albrand, M. None shall know. (Ag '45)

Servants

Wilcox, W. Everything is quite all right. (N '45)

Sex problems

Maurois, A. Woman without love. (N '45)

Short stories

Angoff, C. Adventures in heaven. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Becker, B., and Linscott, R. N., eds. Bedside book of famous French stories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bedside tales. (Ap '45)
Bloch, R. Opener of the way. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Burnett, W., ed. Time to be young. (My '45)
Campbell, W. E. M. Trial balance. (N '45)
Cerf, B. A., ed. Modern American short stories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Chesterton, G. K. Father Brown omnibus. (My '45)
Cobb, I. S. Cobb's cavalcade. (S '45)
Derleth, A. W. In re: Sherlock Holmes. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Fast, H. M. Patrick Henry and the frigate's keel. (My '45)
Feuchtwanger, L. Stories from far and near. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Fitzgerald, F. S. K. Portable F. Scott Fitzgerald. (N '45)
Foley, M., ed. Best American short stories, 1945. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Ford, C. H., ed. Night with Jupiter. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Freund, P. Three exotic tales. (S '45)
Gable, M., ed. Our Father's house. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Goodman, P. Facts of life. (S '45)
Gordon, C. Forest of the South. (N '45)
Grayson, C., ed. Half-a-hundred. (Ag '45)
Harré, T. E., comp. Bedside treasury of love. (O '45)
Hecht, B. Collected stories. (Ag '45)
James, H. Short stories . . . sel. and ed. by Clifton Fadiman. (N '45)
Le Fanu, J. S. Green tea. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
McLaughlin, R. Short wait between trains. (N '45)
Maule, H. E., ed. Great tales of the American West. (S '45)
Morris, E. Three who loved. (Mr '45)
O. Henry memorial award. Prize stories of 1945. (O '45)
O'Hara, J. Pipe night. (Ap '45)
Poe, E. A. Edgar Allan Poe; sel. and ed. by P. V. Stern. (N '45)
Queen, E., ed. Rogues' gallery. (N '45)
Ransom, E. I. Fishing's just luck. (My '45)
Rorick, I. S. Outside Eden. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sandoz, M. Y. Fantastic memories. (Ap '45)
Sansom, W. Fireman Flower. (My '45)
Seaver, E., ed. Cross section 1945. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Smith, H. A., ed. Desert island decameron. (S '45)
Street, J. H. Short stories. (Ag '45)
Train, A. C. Mr Tutt finds a way. (Ap '45)
Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. Fireside book of Christmas stories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Welch, D. Mr. Digby. (Je '45)
White, W. A. P., ed. Great American detective stories. (N '45)
Winslow, A. G. Winter in Geneva. (Ap '45)

Singers

Allis, M. Charity Strong. (N '45)

Sisters

Harris, B. K. Sage quarter. (My '45)
Ingram, B. If passion flies. (N '45)
Molloy, R. Pride's way. (Je '45)
Renault, M. Middle mist. (Mr '45)
Rowe, F. Chapin sisters. (D '45)

Slavery

Magaret, H. Who walk in pride. (My '45)

Slovenes in the United States

Nichols, E. J. Hunky Johnny. (S '45))

Small town life

Colwell, M. Wind off the water. (Ag '45)
Derleth, A. W. Shield of the valiant. (D '45)
Litsey, S. There was a lady. (O '45)
Wallace, E. T. Barington. (S '45)

Social conditions and problems

Kirkbride, R. De L. Winds, blow gently. (Ap '45)
Priestley, J. B. Three men in new suits. (S '45)
Steinbeck, J. Cannery row. (Mr '45)

Social life and customs

Alarcon, P. A. de. Scandal. (Ag '45)

Soldiers

Abrahams, W. Interval in Carolina. (O '45)
Brooks, R. Brick foxhole. (Je '45)
Newman, R. H. Identity unknown. (S '45)
Popkin, Z. Journey home. (S '45)
Waller, L. Three day pass. (N '45)

Spies

Chambers, W. Action at world's end. (My '45)
Cheyney, P. Sinister errand. (O '45)
Davis, L. R. Evidence unseen. (Je '45)
Disney, D. C. The 17th letter. (Mr '45)
Donnel, C. P. Murder-go-round. (S '45)
Gunther, J. Troubled midnight. (Mr '45)
Holbrook, M. Crime wind. (My '45)
Horler, S. Dark danger. (Mr '45)
Lee, M. V. Passport to oblivion. (D '45)
Leffingwell, A. Darling, this is death. (Je '45)
Lockridge, R., and Estabrooks, G. H. Death in the mind. (O '45)
Plum, M. State department cat. (Mr '45)
Spinelli, M. Assignment without glory. (Mr '45)
Teilhet, H. T. Double agent. (S '45)
Yardley, H. O., and Grabo, C. H. Crows are black everywhere. (Ap '45)

Fiction—Continued

Sports

Ransom, E. I. Fishing's just luck. (My '45)

Supernatural phenomena

Bloch, R. Opener of the way. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wadelton, T. D. Silver buckles on his knee. (S '45)

Tennessee Valley authority

Buckles, E. Valley of power. (N '45)

Theater and stage life

Johnson, P. H. Trojan brothers. (Ag '45)

Translated stories

Bohemian

Hostovský, E. The hideout. (Mr '45)
Hostovsky, E. Seven times the leading man. (O '45)

Chinese

Shu, C. Rickshaw boy. (S '45)

Danish

Jensen, J. V. Long journey. (My '45)

Dutch

De Jong, D. And the field is the world. (N '45)

French

Becker, B., and Linscott, R. N., eds. Bedside book of famous French stories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Maurois, A. Woman without love. (N '45)
Romains, J. Wind is rising. (N '45)

German

Buber, M. For the sake of heaven. (N '45)
Feuchtwanger, L. Stories from far and near. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lothar, E. Prisoner. (Je '45)
Mann, H. Little superman. (N '45)
Mann, T. Tables of the law. (S '45)
Neumann, A. Six of them. (S '45)

Hungarian

Molnár, F. Captain of St Margaret's. (Ap '45)
Molnár, F. Farewell my heart. (Ag '45)

Norwegian

Kielland, A. Shape of danger. (Mr '45)

Polish

Kossak-Szczucka, Z. Leper king. (S '45)
Kuncewiczowa, M. S. The stranger. (S '45)

Portuguese

Amado, J. Violent land. (Ag '45)
Escragnolle Taunay, A. de. Inocência. (Ap '45)

Russian

Dostoevskiĭ, F. M. Short novels. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Simonov, K. Days and nights. (D '45)

Spanish

Alarcon, P. A. de. Scandal. (Ag '45)
Costa du Rels, A. Bewitched lands. (N '45)

Swedish

Lagerkvist, P. F. The dwarf. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Travel

Burman, B. L. Rooster crows for day. (O '45)

Treasure trove

Cochran, H. Silver shoals. (D '45)

Tuberculosis

Feikema, F. F. Boy almighty. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Veterans

Beverley-Giddings, A. R. Broad margin. (O '45)
Colver, A. M. R. Homecoming. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Henriques, R. D. Q. Home fires burning. (S '45)
Heyliger, W. Home is a one-way street. (D '45)
Priestley, J. B. Three men in new suits. (S '45)
Robinson, H. M. Perfect round. (N '45)
Schrag, O. Sons of the morning. (D '45)

Voyages and travels

Van Every, D. Westward the river. (S '45)

War

Burnet, D. The question. (N '45)
Raynolds, R. Obscure enemy. (S '45)

Weird stories

Sandoz, M. Y. The maze. (D '45)

World war, 1939-1945

Allen, J. We always come back. (D '45)
Arnold, E. Tomorrow will sing. (Mr '45)
Balchin, N. Small back room. (Mr '45)
Black, D. Shadows under the stars. (Ag '45)
Bowman, P. Beach red. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Byrd, S. Hurry home to my heart. (D '45)
Carfrae, E. Tomorrow sometimes comes. (Mr '45)
Cheyney, P. Sinister errand. (O '45)
Clark, J. B. Dreamers. (O '45)
Comfort, A. Power house. (Ap '45)
Dodd, M. E. Sowing the wind. (O '45)
Gibbs, P. H. Battle within. (Mr '45)
Greenfield, G. C. Desert episode. (O '45)
Guerard, A. J. Maquisard. (N '45)
Gunther, J. Troubled midnight. (Mr '45)
Hostovský, E. Hideout. (Mr '45)
Idriess, I. L. Dog of the desert. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Jameson, S. Journal of Mary Hervey Russell. (Mr '45)
Jonas, C. Beachhead on the wind. (O '45)
Kersh, G. Faces in a dusty picture. (Mr '45)
Kersh, G. Sergeant Nelson of the Guards. (My '45)
Kielland, A. Shape of danger. (Mr '45)
Loos, M., and Duranty, W. Return to the vineyard. (Mr '45)
Lothar, E. Prisoner. (Je '45)
March, A. Quit for the next. (My '45)
Miller, M. Island 49. (Ag '45)
Monsarrat, N. Leave cancelled. (N '45)
Mydans, S. S. Open city. (Mr '45)
Norway, N. S. Most secret. (N '45)
O'Rourke, F. "E" company. (O '45)
Prokosch, F. Age of thunder. (Ap '45)
Redding, J. M., and Smith, T. Wake of glory. (N '45)
Sedgwick, A. C. Tell Sparta. (Ap '45)
Shurtleff, B. L. Short leash. (S '45)
Simonov, K. Days and nights. (D '45)
Sinclair, U. B. Dragon harvest. (Ag '45)
Tabori, G. Beneath the stone. (O '45)
Thirkell, A. M. Headmistress. (Mr '45)
Tregaskis, R. W. Stronger than fear. (Ag '45)
Wadelton, T. D. Silver buckles on his knee. (S '45)
Wescott, G. Apartment in Athens. (Mr '45)

Fifty years of best sellers, 1895-1945. Hackett, A. P. (S '45)

Fighters up. Friedheim, E., and Taylor, S. W. (Ap '45)

Fighting generals. Bullard, R. L. (S '45)

Fighting Jew. Nunberg, R. (O '45)

Fighting liberal. Norris, G. W. (Je '45)

Fighting the devil with the marines. Tower, H. H. (N '45)

Finance

Shirras, G. F. Federal finance in peace and war. (D '45)

France

Beik, P. H. Judgment of the old régime. (Ap '45)

United States

Fine, S. M. Public spending and postwar economic policy. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Kimmel, L. H., and others. Postwar fiscal requirements. (D '45)
Lutz, H. L. Guideposts to a free economy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Marsh, D. B. Taxes without tears? (Ag '45)
Withers, W. Public debt. (Ap '45)

Finance, Personal

Jordan, D. F., and Willett, E. F. Spend wisely and grow rich. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Financing American prosperity. Twentieth century fund, inc. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Financing full employment. Wernette, J. P. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Fire extinction
Juvenile literature
Olds, E. Big fire. (D '45)
Firearms
Balleisen, C. E. Principles of firearms. (S '45)
Juvenile literature
McClintock, M. Story of war weapons. (S '45)
Fireman Flower. Sansom, W. (My '45)
Fireside book of Christmas stories. Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
First aid in illness and injury
Wheeler, W. L. Medical care of merchant seamen. (O '45)
First Americans in North Africa. Wright, L. B., and MacLeod, J. H. (N '45)
First book of boats. Tatham, C. (O '45)
First come, first kill. Allan, F. K. (S '45)
First encounter. Dos Passos, J. R. (N '45)
First sports reader. Esquire (periodical). (Je '45)
First whisper of "The wind in the willows." Grahame, K. (Ap '45)
"First with the most" Forrest. Henry, R. S. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Fish and game cookery. Wall, R. (D '45)
Fish Hook island mystery. Farmer, W. (D '45)
Fisher, Sir William Wordsworth
James, W. M. Admiral Sir William Fisher. (Mr '45)
Fishery law and legislation
Leonard, L. L. International regulation of fisheries. (N '45)
Fishes
Boardman, E. T. Guide to higher aquarium animals. (My '45)
North America
LaMonte, F. R. North American game fishes. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Fishing
Anderson, L. A. Hunting, fishing, and camping. (O '45)
Schaldach, W. J. Currents and eddies. (Mr '45)
Fishing's just luck. Ransom, E. I. (My '45)
Fiske plan for free enterprise and post-war employment. Fiske, E. R. (Ap '45) 500 postwar jobs for men. Vocational guidance research. (Ja '46) (1945) Annual)
Five rivers. Nicholson, N. (N '45)
5000 quotations for all occasions. Henry, L. C., ed. (Ag '45)
Five who vanished. Worts, G. F. (Ap '45)
Flags were three. Margulies, L., and Merwin, S. (My '45)
Flanders
Social life and customs
Elst, J. V. Last flowering of the middle ages. (Mr '45)
Flavor. Crocker, E. C. (S '45)
Flavoring essences
Crocker, E. C. Flavor. (S '45)
Flick, Lawrence Francis
Flick, E. M. E. Beloved crusader. (Ap '45)
Flight
Mises, R. von, and others. Theory of flight. (Je '45)
Flight from China. Booker, E. L., and Potter, J. S. (O '45)
Flight into darkness. Gustafson, R. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Flint, Michigan
Crow, C. City of Flint grows up. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Florestan. Schauffler, R. H. (O '45)
Floriculture
Jenkins, D. H. Annual flowers. (S '45)
Florida
Dickinson, J. Journal. (D '45)
History
Martin, S. W. Florida during the territorial days. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Florida during the territorial days. Martin, S. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Flower of grass. Cammaerts, E. (O '45)
Flower of the fortress. Macdonald, Z. K. (Ap '45)
Flowering dusk. Young, E. (S '45)
Flowering of Byron's genius. Trueblood, P. G. (O '45)
Flowering tree. Houselander, F. C. (D '45)
Flowers
Brimble, L. J. F. Flowers in Britain. (O '45)
Flowers in Britain. Brimble, L. J. F. (O '45)
Fo'castle waltz. Slobodkin, L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Focus. Miller, A. (D '45)
Folded leaf. Maxwell, W. (My '45)
Folk music
Bayard, S. P., ed. Hill country tunes. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Folk songs, American
Wheeler, M. Steamboatin' days. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Folk tales from Scotland. Galloway, P. F. W. S. (Mr '45)
Folklore
Balkan states
Haslip, J. Fairy tales from the Balkans. (Mr '45)
Channel islands
Campbell, A. S. Wizard and his magic powder. (Je '45)
Louisiana
Writers' program, Louisiana. Gumbo ya-ya. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Russia
Afanas'ev, A. N. Russian fairy tales. (D '45)
Scotland
Galloway, P. F. W. S. Folk tales from Scotland. (Mr '45)
South Africa
Marais, J. Koos, the Hottentot. (D '45)
United States
Shapiro, I. John Henry and the double jointed steam-drill. (O '45)
Folklore, Negro
Botkin, B. A., ed. Lay my burden down. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Folklore, Norse
Undset, S., ed. True and untrue. (D '45)
Food
Macy, I. G., and Williams, H. H. Hidden hunger. (S '45)
Analysis
Jacobs, M. B., ed. Chemistry and technology of food and food products. (My '45)
Winton, A. L. and K. G. B. Analysis of foods. (O '45)
Food, Frozen
Pierce, A. L. Quick freezing. (Ag '45)
Preparation and storage
Todoroff, A. How to build and operate a locker plant. (Ap '45)
Food for the world. Schultz, T. W., ed. (Je '45)
Food front in World war I. Dickson, M. R. (My '45)
Food law and legislation
Herrick, A. D. Food regulation and compliance. (Je '45)
Food or famine. Shepard, W. (N '45)
Food regulation and compliance. Herrick, A. D. (Je '45)
Food supply
Brandt, K. Reconstruction of world agriculture. (My '45)
Schultz, T. W., ed. Food for the world. (Je '45)
Fool's errand. Van de Water, F. F. (Ag '45)
Football
Ward, A. Frank Leahy and the fighting Irish. (Ap '45)
Juvenile literature
Fishel, R. M., and Smith, W. W. Terry and Bunky play football. (D '45)
Footloose fiddler. Miller, H., and Cooper, P. (Ag '45)
For the sake of heaven. Buber, M. (N '45)
For the time being. Auden, W. H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
For thee the best. Landau, M. A. (D '45)

For us the living. Mahoney, J. J. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Forces that shape our future. Eagleton, C. (D '45)
Ford, John
Sensabaugh, G. F. Tragic muse of John Ford. (Ag '45)
Foreign affairs bibliography. Woolbert, R. G., comp. (S '45)
Foreign influences in American life. Bowers, D. F., ed. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Foreign policy begins at home. Warburg, J. P. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Foremen
Kalsem, P. J. Practical supervision. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Forest of the South. Gordon, C. (N '45)
Forest ranger. Layton, M. (N '45)
Forests and forestry
United States
Boerker, R. H. D. Behold our green mansions. (S '45)
Bruère, M. S. B. Your forests. (Ag '45)
Forever China. Payne, P. S. R. (N '45)
Forgery
Osborn, A. S. Questioned document problems. (S '45)
Forget your age! Steincrohn, P. J. (Je '45)
Forgetful elephant. Greene, J. (O '45)
Form-criticism of the synoptic healing narratives. McGinley, L. J. (Ap '45)
Formaldehyde
Walker, J. F. Formaldehyde. (Ag '45)
Forrest, Nathan Bedford
Henry, R. S. "First with the most" Forrest. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Fortress. Haines, D. H. (Je '45)
Fortress islands of the Pacific. Hobbs, W. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual) 48 million tons to Eisenhower. Leigh, R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Foster, Stephen Collins
Morneweck, E. F. Chronicles of Stephen Foster's family. (N '45)
Foundry practice
Malleable founders' society. American malleable iron. (N '45)
Four past four. Vickers, R. (N '45)
Four portraits. Eng title of: Profane virtues. Quennell, P. C. (S '45)
France
Church history
Anderson, R. G. Biography of a cathedral. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Civilization
Gilliam, F. E. France (N '45)
Colonies
Power, T. F. Jules Ferry and the renaissance of French imperialism. (My '45)
Economic policy
Beik, P. H. Judgment of the old régime. (Ap '45)
Golob, E. O. Méline tariff. (My '45)
Foreign relations
Great Britain
Royal institute of international affairs. France and Britain. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Free French movement
Davis, H. Half past when. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
History
Revolution
Thompson, J. M. French revolution. (My '45)
Consulate and empire, 1799-1815
Bryant, A. Years of victory, 1802-1812. (O '45)
German occupation, 1940-1945
Odic, C. J. Stepchildren of France. (N '45)
France. Gilliam, F. E. (N '45)
France and Britain. Royal institute of international affairs. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Franciscans
History
Huber, R. M. Documented history of the Franciscan order. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Frank Leahy and the fighting Irish. Ward, A. (Ap '45)
Franklin, Benjamin
Franklin, B. Autobiographical writings. (D '45)
Juvenile literature
Maurois, A. Franklin, the life of an optimist. (Ag '45)
Franklin, the life of an optimist. Maurois, A. (Ag '45)
Fred and Brown Beaver ride the river. Tousey, S. (Mr '45)
Freddy and the popinjay. Brooks, W. R. (D '45)
Frederick II, the Great, king of Prussia
Fiction
Sabatini, R. Birth of mischief. (O '45)
Free state. Brogan, D. W. (S '45)
Free will and determinism
Frank, J. Fate and freedom. (Ag '45)
Freedom and responsibility. Becker, C. L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Freedom is more than a word. Field, M. (My '45)
Freedom through education. Redden, J. D., and Ryan, F. A. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Freedom under planning. Wootton, B. F. A. (D '45)
Freedom's people. Wilkinson, B. (O '45)
French activities in California. Nasatir, A. P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
French fairy tales. Perrault, C. (D '45)
French in California
Nasatir, A. P. French activities in California. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
French revolution. Thompson, J. M. (My '45)
Fresh from the hills. Lyon, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Freud, Sigmund
Hoffman, F. J. Freudianism and the literary mind. (O '45)
Freudianism and the literary mind. Hoffman, F. J. (O '45)
Friendly persuasion. West, J. (D '45)
Friendly young ladies. Eng title of: Middle mist. Renault, M. (Mr '45)
Friendship magic. Brown, J. P. (S '45)
From democracy to Nazism. Heberle, R. (S '45)
From my library walls. Orcutt, W. D. (N '45)
From Omaha to Okinawa. Huie, W. B. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
From scenes like these. Wallace, E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
From script to print. Chaytor, H. J. (Ag '45)
From Tripoli to Marrakesh. Elderkin, K. D. M. (My '45)
Frontier and pioneer life
Southwest
Kupper, W. Golden hoof. (Je '45)
Texas
White, O. P. Texas. (N '45)
United States
Howard, R. W. Two billion acre farm. (Mr '45)
West
Gray, A. A. Men who built the West. (O '45)
Sykes, G. Westerly trend. (Je '45)
Fruit culture
Wilkinson, A. E. Encyclopedia of fruits, berries and nuts. (Je '45)
Fugue in time. Eng title of: Take three tenses. Godden, R. (Ap '45)
Full employment in a free society. Beveridge, W. H. (Mr '45)
Fulton, Robert
Juvenile literature
Henry, M. Robert Fulton. (D '45)
Fun on horseback. Self, M. C. (My '45)
Fun with electrons. Yates, R. F. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Functional approach to family case work. Taft, J., ed. (S '45)
Fundamental principles and processes of pharmacy. Burlage, H. M., and others. (Ap '45)
Fundamental principles of physical chemistry. Prutton, C. F., and Maron, S. H. (Mr '45)
Fundamentals of physics. Semat, H. (O '45)

Fundamentals of physics and their applications in modern life. Dees, B. C. (Ag '45)
Fundamentals of radio and how they are applied. Williams, H. L. (D '45)
Fundamentals of thermodynamics. Adams, A. S., and Hilding, G. D. (O '45)
Funny business. Saturday evening post (periodical). (N '45)
Fury in the earth. Kroll, H. H. (Ap '45)
Future of British farming. Menzies-Kitchin, A. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Future of economic society. Glenday, R. G. (My '45)
Future of Europe. Steel, J. (My '45)
Future of India. Moon, P. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Future of Japan. Johnstone, W. C. (Ag '45)
Future of the colonies. Huxley, J. S., and Deane, P. (D '45)

GI had fun. Schacht, A. (O '45)
G I Joe. Breger, D. (My '45)
G.I. Nightingale. Archard, T. (Je '45)
Galewood crossing. Seymour, A. H. (D '45)
Galli-Curci, Amelita
  Le Massena, C. E. Galli-Curci's life of song. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Gallitzin, Demetrius Augustine
  Sargent, D. Mitri. (S '45)
Gamaliel
  Fiction
  Heard, G. Gospel according to Gamaliel. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Game and game birds
  Holland, R. P. Shotgunning in the lowlands. (My '45)
Game protection
  Tansley, A. G. Our heritage of wild nature. (S '45)
Games
  Pashko, S. American boy's omnibus. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Von Neumann, J., and Morgenstern, O. Theory of games and economic behavior. (Je '45)
Gandhi, Mohandas Karamchand
  Gregg, R. B. Power of non-violence. (D '45)
Garden book. Jefferson, T. (My '45)
Gardener's almanac. Farrington, E. I. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Gardening
  Farrington, E. I. Gardener's almanac. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Jefferson, T. Garden book. (My '45)
Gardner Rea's sideshow. Rea, G. (D '45)
Garibaldi, Giuseppe
  Juvenile literature
  Burton, J. Garibaldi, knight of liberty. (N '45)
Garibaldi, knight of liberty. Burton, J. (N '45)
Gas turbines
  Sawyer, R. T. Modern gas turbine. (My '45)
Gashouse gang and a couple of other guys. Stockton, J. R. (Je '45)
The gauntlet. Street, J. H. (N '45)
Gay deserters. Bodley, R. V. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Gems
  Dictionaries
  Shipley, R. M., and others. Dictionary of gems and gemology. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
General education in a free society. Harvard university. Committee on the objectives of a general education in a free society. (S '45)
General Marshall's report. United States. Army. Chief of staff. (N '45)
General motors corporation
  Adams, J. T. Big business in a democracy. (O '45)
Generals
  Bullard, R. L. Fighting generals. (S '45)
  De Weerd, H. A. Great soldiers of World war II. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Generals and the admirals. (Je '45)
  Goebel, D. B. and J. Generals in the White House. (Mr '45)
Generals and the admirals. (Je '45)
Generals in the White House. Goebel, D. B. and J. (Mr '45)

Gentle giraffe. McCracken, R. (D '45)
Gentlemen talk of peace. Ziff, W. B. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Geography
  Juvenile literature
  Lloyd, T. Sky highways. (Je '45)
Geography of world air transport. Van Zandt, J. P. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Geologists
  Fenton, C. L. and M. A. Story of the great geologists. (S '45)
Geology
  Holmes, A. Principles of physical geology. (O '45)
  History
  Fenton, C. L. and M. A. Story of the great geologists. (S '45)
  United States
  Shuler, E. W. Rocks and rivers. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Geophysics
  Shuler, E. W. Rocks and rivers. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Georgetown, D.C.
  Historic houses, etc.
  Davis, D., and others. Georgetown houses of the federal period, Washington, D.C. (Ap '45)
Georgetown houses of the federal period, Washington, D.C. Davis, D., and others. (Ap '45)
German literature
  Liptzin, S. Germany's stepchildren. (Ap '45)
  History and criticism
  Lange, V. Modern German literature. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
German record. Ebenstein, W. (Ag '45)
German talks back. Hauser, H. (O '45)
Germans in history. Loewenstein, H. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Germany
  Claims
  Goldschmidt, S. Legal claims against Germany. (S '45)
  Economic policy
  Kuczynski, J. Germany: economic and labour conditions under fascism. (Je '45)
  History
  Eisler, G., and others. Lesson of Germany. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Fraser, L. M. Germany between two wars. (Mr '45)
  Loewenstein, H. Germans in history. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Steinberg, S. H. Short history of Germany. (Je '45)
  Historiography
  Engel-Jánosi, F. Growth of German historicism. (D '45)
  Allied occupation, 1918-1930
  Fraenkel, E. Military occupation and the rule of law. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Nazi movement
  Abrahamsen, D. Men, mind, and power. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Bernadotte, F. Curtain falls. (N '45)
  Eisler, G., and others. Lesson of Germany. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Koch-Weser, E. F. L. Hitler and beyond. (Ag '45)
  Kuczynski, J. Germany: economic and labour conditions under fascism. (Je '45)
  MacCurdy, J. T. Germany, Russia and the future. (Je '45)
  Mises, L. von. Omnipotent government. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Neumann, F. L. Behemoth. (Je '45)
  Politics and government
  Brecht, A. Federalism and regionalism in Germany. (D '45)
  Ebenstein, W. German record. (Ag '45)
  Heberle, R. From democracy to Nazism. (S '45)
  Jordan, M. Beyond all fronts. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Neumann, F. L. Behemoth. (Je '45)

Germany, a winter's tale, 1844. Heine, H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Germany between two wars. Fraser, L. M. (Mr '45)
Germany is our problem. Morgenthau, H. (N '45)
Germany, Russia and the future. MacCurdy, J. T. (Je '45)
Germany's stepchildren. Liptzin, S. (Ap '45)
Get a kick out of living. Panzer, M. (Je '45)
Ghost and Mrs Muir. Leslie, J. A. C. (N '45)
Ghostly lover. Hardwick, E. (My '45)

Ghosts
Clarke, I. C. G. Men who wouldn't stay dead. (N '45)
Stevens, W. O. Unbidden guests. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Giant killers. Hynd, A. (S '45)

Gibbon, Edward
Quennell, P. C. Profane virtues. (S '45)

Gibbons, James, cardinal

Juvenile literature

Newcomb, C. Larger than the sky. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Gibran, Kahlil
Young, B. This man from Lebanon. (Mr '45)
Gid Granger. Davis, R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Giolitti, Giovanni
Salomone, A. W. Italian democracy in the making. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Girl with the frightened eyes. Lariar, L. (N '45)

Girls
Bro, M. H. Let's talk about you. (Je '45)
Grossman, J. S. Do you know your daughter? (Ap '45)
Give me liberty. Hawthorne, H. (Ag '45)
Give me the stars. Taber, G. B. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Glass crutch. Bishop, J. (D '45)
Glass industry. Perry, J. (S '45)

Glass manufacture and trade

Juvenile literature

Perry, J. Glass industry. (S '45)
Glass menagerie. Williams, T. (O '45)
Global epidemiology. Simmons, J. S., and others. (Je '45)
Glorious company. Northcott, W. C. (O '45)
Glory for me. Kantor, M. (D '45)
Glory, hallelujah! Bakeless, K. L. (Mr '45)

Gloves
Collins, C. C. Love of a glove. (O '45)
Glowing lily. Markowa, E. (O '45)
Goal to go. Scholz, J. V. (D '45)

God
Lewis, C. S. Beyond personality. (My '45)
God bless our aunts. Meisenhelder, R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
God is not dead. Bell, B. I. (O '45)
Gods and kings. Biró, L. (O '45)
God's protective providence. See Journal. Dickinson, J. (D '45)

Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von
Buxton, C. R. Prophets of heaven and hell. (D '45)
Cassirer, E. Rousseau, Kant, Goethe. (S '45)
Gold and the gold standard. Kemmerer, E. W. (Ap '45)

Gold as money
Kemmerer, E. W. Gold and the gold standard. (Ap '45)
Gold in the streets. Vardoulakis, M. (D '45)
Gold of Glanaree. Laverty, M. (N '45)
Golden carpet. De Chair, S. S. (N '45)
Golden dictionary. Walpole, E. W. (Mr '45)
Golden fleece. Eng title of: Hercules, my shipmate. Graves, R. (N '45)
Golden Gate country. Atherton, G. F. H. (Ap '45)
Golden hair. Arason, S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Golden hoof. Kupper, W. (Je '45)
Golden song book. Wessells, K. T. (S '45)
Golden totem. Willoughby, F. B. (Ap '45)
Golden wing. Lin, Y. (O '45)

Golitsyn, Dmitril Dmitrievich. See Gallitzin, D. A.

Good and evil
Rougemont, D. de. Devil's share. (Mr '45)
Good-bye, proud world. Bailey, M. E. (My '45)
Good-bye to G.I. Droke, M. (N '45)
Good troupers all. Malvern, G. (N '45)

Gospel according to Gamaliel. Heard, G. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Governing of men. Leighton, A. H. (S '45)
Government control in war. Hankey, M. P. A. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Government jobs and how to get them. Spero, S. D., and others, eds. (S '45)
Government policy toward commercial aviation. Goodman, G. (My '45)

Grahame, Kenneth
Grahame, K. First whisper of "The wind in the willows." (Ap '45)

Grain
Farnsworth, H. C., and Timoshenko, V. P. World grain review and outlook, 1945. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Grain trade
Farnsworth, H. C., and Timoshenko, V. P. World grain review and outlook, 1945. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Grapes
Hedrick, U. P. Grapes and wines from home vineyards. (N '45)
Wagner, P. M. Wine-grower's guide. (N '45)
Grapes and wines from home vineyards. Hedrick, U. P. (N '45)

Grasse-Tilly, François Joseph Paul, marquis de
Lewis, C. L. Admiral de Grasse and American independence. (O '45)
Great American detective stories. White, W. A. P., ed. (N '45)
Great American Negroes. Richardson, B. A. (D '45)

Great Blasket island
Flower, R. Western island. (O '45)

Great Britain

Church history

Moorman, J. R. H. Church life in England in the thirteenth century. (D '45)

Colonies

Huxley, J. S., and Deane, P. Future of the colonies. (D '45)
Mair, L. P. Welfare in the British colonies. (S '45)
Schuyler, R. L. Fall of the old colonial system. (S '45)

Administration

Lonn, E. Colonial agents of the southern colonies. (O '45)

North America

Lonn, E. Colonial agents of the southern colonies. (O '45)

Commercial policy

Schuyler, R. L. Fall of the old colonial system. (S '45)

Constitutional history

Sources

Haller, W., and Davies, G., eds. Leveller tracts. (My '45)

Defenses

Hankey, M. P. A. H. Government control in war. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Description and travel

Wedgwood, C. V. Battlefields in Britain. (My '45)

Economic policy

Beveridge, W. H. Full employment in a free society. (Mr '45)
Glenday, R. G. Future of economic society. (My '45)
Hutt, W. H. Plan for reconstruction. (N '45)
Soule, G. H. America's stake in Britain's future. (N '45)

Foreign relations

Dallin, D. J. The big three. (S '45)

China

Chang Hsi. Chang Hsi and the treaty of Nanking. (D '45)

France

Royal institute of international affairs. France and Britain. (F '46) (1945 annual)

United States

Brebner, J. B. North Atlantic triangle. (N '45)
Brinton, C. C. United States and Britain. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

History

Klingberg, F. J., and Hustvedt, S. B., eds. Warning drum. (Ap '45)
Rowse, A. L. English spirit. (Mr '45)
Rowse, A. L. Spirit of English history. (N '45)

1789-1820

Bryant, A. Years of victory, 1802-1812. (O '45)

Industries and resources

Ord, L. C. Secrets of industry. (S '45)
Williams, E. Capitalism and slavery. (Ap '45)

Politics and government

Henderson, A. J. London and the national government. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Kingsley, J. D. Representative bureaucracy. (Je '45)

Relations (general) with United States

Brinton, C. C. United States and Britain. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Soule, G. H. America's stake in Britain's future. (N '45)

Social conditions

Lynd, H. M. England in the eighteen-eighties. (Ap '45)

Great Britain. Navy

History

James, W. M. Admiral Sir William Fisher. (Mr '45)

Great patriotic war of the Soviet Union. Stalin, I. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Great ship, and Rabelais replies. Linklater, E. (Ap '45)
Great soldiers of World war II. De Weerd, H. A. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Great son. Ferber, E. (Mr '45)
Great tales of the American West. Maule, H. E., ed. (S '45)
Great writers as interpreters of religion. Mims, E. (D '45)
Greater good neighbor policy. Barclay, W. C. (S '45)

Greece, Modern

History

Gibberd, K., comp. Greece. (My '45)

Greek drama

History and criticism

Harsh, P. W. Handbook of classical drama. (Mr '45)

Greek fiction

History and criticism

Haight, E. H. More essays on Greek romances. (S '45)

Green armor. White, O. (Ap '45)
Green cargoes. Dorrance, A. (Ag '45)
Green hazard. Coles, M. (Mr '45)
Green Peace. Hayes, M. (D '45)
Green star. Dubin, J. W. (Ap '45)
Green tea. Le Fanu, J. S. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Greenhorns in blue pastures. Cox, H. R. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Grocery mouse. Clymer, E. L. (Ag '45)

Grotius, Hugo
Gerbrandy, P. S. National and international stability. (My '45)

Group theatre
Clurman, H. Fervent years. (Ag '45)

Groups (sociology)
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to national unity. (D '45)

Growth
Brody, S. Bioenergetics and growth. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Growth of German historicism. Engel-Jánosi, F. (D '45)
Guaranteed annual wages. Chernick, J. J., and Hellickson, G. C. (Ag '45)
Guerrilla wife. Spencer, L. R. (O '45)
Guess what's in the grass. Mitchell, L. S. (D '45)

Guiccioli, Teresa (Gamba) contessa
Gray, A. K. Teresa. (N '45)

Guide on alcoholism for social workers. Seliger, R. V., and Cranford, V. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Guide to higher aquarium animals. Boardman, E. T. (My '45)
Guide to materials bearing on cultural relations in New Mexico. Saunders, L., comp. (My '45)
Guideposts to a free economy. Lutz, H. L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Gulf stream

Juvenile literature

Brindze, R. Gulf stream. (Ag '45)

Gulf stream. Brindze, R. (Ag '45)
Gumbo ya-ya. Writers' program. Louisiana. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Gums and resins
Chatfield, H. W. Varnish constituents. (Ap '45)

Gunner and the Dumbo. Follett, D. W. (N '45)
Guns for Tito. Huot, L. (Ap '45)

Gustaf I Vasa, king of Sweden

Juvenile literature

Van Loon, H. W. Adventures and escapes of Gustavus Vasa. (N '45)

HSC high-speed brake equipment. Drennan, C. M. (Ag '45)
Ha! ha! among the trumpets. Lewis, A. (N '45)
Ha-ha farm. Leech, T. and C. (Ap '45)

Hahnemann, Samuel
Gumpert, M. Hahnemann, the adventurous career of a medical rebel. (D '45)

Hair dressing
Wilcox, R. T. Mode in hats and headdress. (S '45)

Half-a-hundred. Grayson, C., ed. (Ag '45)
Half-haunted saloon. Shattuck, R. (My '45)
Half past when. Davis, H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Half-past yesterday. Sturgis, R. (S '45)

Hamilton, Alexander
Caldwell, L. K. Administrative theories of Hamilton and Jefferson. (Ap '45)

Hammett, Samuel Adams
Hoole, W. S. Sam Slick in Texas. (N '45)

Hancock, John
Baxter, W. T. House of Hancock. (S '45)

Hancock, Thomas
Baxter, W. T. House of Hancock. (S '45)

Handbook for shipwrights. Garyantes, H. F. (Mr '45)
Handbook of classical drama. Harsh, P. W. (Mr '45)
Handbook of drapery patterns. Germaine, I. M. (Je '45)
Handbook of industrial psychology. Smith, M. (Ag '45)
Handbook of international organizations in the Americas. Carnegie endowment for international peace. Division of international law. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Handicraft
Boy's fun book. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Cox, D. E., and Weismann, B. W. Creative hands. (Je '45)
Haas, L. J. Practical occupational therapy for the mentally and nervously ill. (Ap '45)
Horowitz, C. Child's treasury of things-to-do. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Ickis, M. Pastimes for the patient. (Ag '45)
Jordan, N. R. Mother Goose handicraft. (N '45)
Maney, S., ed. It's fun to make it yourself. (Ap '45)
Robinson, J. Things to make from odds and ends. (O '45)

Handweaver's pattern book. Davison, M. P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Happiness
Wilson, M. How to live beyond your means. (S '45)

Happy Jack. Mason, M. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Happy time. Fontaine, R. L. (S '45)

Harbors
China
Abend, H. Treaty ports. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Harps in the wind. Eng title of: Woman in the house. Hichens, R. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Harvard dictionary of music. Apel, W. (N '45) (1944 Annual)
Harvest of the Hudson. Best, A. C. (N '45)
Hasta la vista. Reynolds, M. (S '45)
Hasty heart. Goggan, J. P. (Je '45)
Hats
Wilcox, R. T. Mode in hats and headdress. (S '45)
Haven house for the once born. Kennedy, J. W. (Ap '45)
Hawaiian Islands
Description and travel
Porteus, S. D. Calabashes and kings. (D '45)
History
Porteus, S. D. Calabashes and kings. (D '45)
Hawaiian types. Inn, H. (S '45)
Hayek, Friedrich August von
Finer, H. Road to reaction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Hayfever plants
Wodehouse, R. P. Hayfever plants. (D '45)
Hayne, Paul Hamilton
Taylor, B., and Hayne, P. H. Correspondence. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hays, Will H.
Moley, R. Hays office. (Ag '45)
Hays office. Moley, R. (Ag '45)
He brings great news. Dane, C. (O '45)
He came by night. Eng title of: Death at the door. Malleson, L. B. (Ap '45)
Headgear
Wilcox, R. T. Mode in hats and headdress. (S '45)
Headmistress. Thirkell, A. M. (Mr '45)
Headwear workers. Green, C. H. (Je '45)
Heart has April too. Taber, G. B. (Mr '45)
Heart of man. Vann, G. (D '45)
Heartwood. Downes, A. M. (O '45)
Heaven to Betsy. Lovelace, M. H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Hebrew literature
Collections
Browne, L., ed. Wisdom of Israel. (S '45)
Hedwig, Saint
Markowa, E. Glowing lily. (O '45)
Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich
Myers, H. A. Spinoza-Hegel paradox. (Ap '45)
Heinzen, Karl Peter
Wittke, C. F. Against the current. (Mr '45)
Helicopters
Morris, C. L. Pioneering the helicopter. (Mr '45)
Hellenism
Knox, W. L. Some Hellenistic elements in primitive Christianity. (O '45)
Hello, man. Patton, K. L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Helping teachers understand children. American council on education. Commission on teacher education. (D '45)
Henley, William Ernest
Buckley, J. H. William Ernest Henley. (D '45)
Henry, Patrick
Juvenile literature
Carson, J. M. H. Son of thunder. (D '45)
Hawthorne, H. Give me liberty. (Ag '45)
Henry's Lincoln. Neyhart, L. A. (S '45)
Her own people. Tomkinson, G. (D '45)
Herbert, Victor
Juvenile literature
Purdy, C. L. S. Victor Herbert, American music-master. (Ap '45)
Herbert of Cherbury, Edward Herbert, 1st baron
Herbert of Cherbury, E. H. De religione laici. (My '45)
Hercules, my shipmate. Graves, R. (N '45)
Here comes tomorrow. Zelomek, A. W. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Here is India. Kennedy, J. W. (D '45)
Heredity
Huntington, E. Mainsprings of civilization. (Ag '45)
Heritage of fire. Wagner, F., and Cooper, P. (D '45)
Heritage of the navy. Martin, H. P. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Heritage of the river. Elwood, M. (S '45)
Heroes in plenty. Du Bois, T. M. (D '45)
Hero's oak. Castle, W., and Joseph, R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hidden hunger. Macy, I. G., and Williams, H. H. (S '45)
Hideout. Hostovský, E. (Mr '45)
High Barbaree. Nordhoff, C. B., and Hall, J. N. (N '45)
High bonnet. Jones, I. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
High-frequency induction heating. Curtis, F. W. (Ap '45)
High journey. Putnam, C. (Je '45)
High road. Grinstead, F. (Mr '45)
Highball. Beebe, L. M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Higher education in the postwar period. Institute for administrative officers of higher institutions. (O '45)
Higher hill. Campbell, G. M. G. (Je '45)
Hill country tunes. Bayard, S. P., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hirohito, emperor of Japan
Price, W. De M. Japan and the Son of Heaven. (N '45)
Historical atlas of the United States. Lord, C. L. and E. S. H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Historical commentary on Thucydides, v 1. Gomme, A. W. (S '45)
History
Fuller, J. F. C. Armament and history. (N '45)
Historiography
Engel-Jánosi, F. Growth of German historicism. (D '45)
Frank, J. Fate and freedom. (Ag '45)
Methodology
Bodin, J. Method for the easy comprehension of history. (S '45)
Philosophy
Fleming, D. J. Bringing our world together. (O '45)
Frank, J. Fate and freedom. (Ag '45)
Paul, L. A. Annihilation of man. (Je '45)
Study and teaching
Bodin, J. Method for the easy comprehension of history. (S '45)
History, Modern
Welles, S., ed. Intelligent American's guide to the peace. (Mr '45)
History, Universal
Voices of history, 1944-45. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
History in the writing. Carroll, G., ed. (S '45)
History of American Trotskyism. Cannon, J. P. (S '45)
History of color photography. Friedman, J. S. (Ap '45)
History of economic doctrines. Heimann, E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
History of economics in its relation to social development. Stark, W. (Ag '45)
History of photography. Eder, J. M. (S '45)
History of rubber regulation, 1934-1943. International rubber regulation committee. (S '45)
History of surgical anesthesia. Keys, T. E. (D '45)
History of the Dominican liturgy. Bonniwell, W. R. (Ap '45)
History of the expansion of Christianity: v7. Advance through storm. Latourette, K. S. (Ag '45)
History of the new deal, 1933-1938. Rauch, B. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
History of the Roman world. Salmon, E. T. (S '45)
History of the Y.M.C.A.-church relations in the United States. Wiley, S. W. (Ag '45)
History of Unitarianism. Wilbur, E. M. (O '45)
History of western philosophy. Russell, B. R. (N '45)
History of World war II. Miller, F. T. (D '45)
Hitler, Adolf
Koch-Weser, E. F. L. Hitler and beyond. (Ag '45)

Hitler and beyond. Koch-Weser, E. F. L. (Ag '45)
Ho, the fair wind. Wylie, I. A. R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Hogarth, William
  Klingender, F. D., ed. Hogarth and English caricature. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hogarth and English caricature. Klingender, F. D., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Holbein, Hans, the younger
  Parker, K. T. Drawings of Hans Holbein in the collection . . . at Windsor castle. (S '45)
Hold your man! Dengel, V. (O '45)
Holidays
  Hazeltine, M. E. Anniversaries and holidays. (Mr '45)
Home book of quotations, classical and modern. Stevenson, B. E., ed. (Ag '45)
Home economics
  Cushman, E. M. Management in homes. (D '45)
    Study and teaching
  Henne, F., and Pritchard, M. Librarian and the teacher of home economics. (S '45)
Home economics extension work
  McKimmon, J. S. When we're green we grow. (Ap '45)
Home fires burning. Henriques, R. D. Q. (S '45)
Home in the West. Fergusson, H. (Mr '45)
Home is a one-way street. Heyliger, W. (D '45)
Home mechanic's handbook. (D '45)
Home ownership: is it sound? Dean, J. P. (My '45)
Home to India. Rama Rau, S. (Je '45)
Homecoming. Colver, A. M. R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hood, Thomas
  Hood, T. Letters. (O '45)
Hop-a-long. Tireman, L. S. (Ap '45)
Hope for immortality. Perry, R. B. (S '45)
Hopi Indians
  Thompson, L. M., and Joseph, A. Hopi way. (Ap '45)
Hopi way. Thompson, L. M., and Joseph, A. (Ap '45)
Horace (Quintus Horatius Flaccus)
  Wilkinson, L. P. Horace and his lyric poetry. (D '45)
Horace and his lyric poetry. Wilkinson, L. P. (D '45)
Horn of plenty. Clark, V. (O '45)
Horned snake medicine. Bunce, W. H. (N '45)
Horse racing
  Anderson, C. W. Touch of greatness. (D '45)
  Winn, M. J. Down the stretch. (Ag '45)
Horsemanship
  Self, M. C. Fun on horseback. (My '45)
Horses
  Anderson, C. W. Touch of greatness. (D '45)
  Wyman, W. D. Wild horse of the West. (My '45)
    Legends and stories
  Garrard, P. Running away with Nebby. (Ap '45)
  Glick, C. Mickey, the horse that volunteered. (My '45)
  Henry, M. Justin Morgan had a horse. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Henry, M. Little fellow. (Je '45)
  Johnson, M. S. and H. L. Dixie Dobie. (My '45)
  Self, M. C., ed. Treasury of horse stories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Hospital libraries
  Jones, P., comp. One thousand books for hospital libraries. (My '45)
  Mason, M. F. Patients' library. (S '45)
House decoration
  Germaine, I. M. Handbook of drapery patterns. (Je '45)
  Vanderwalker, F. N. Drake's cyclopedia of painting and decorating. (Je '45)
House dividing. Baringer, W. E. (O '45)
House in Clewe street. Lavin, M. (Je '45)
House of a hundred windows. Brown, M. W. (Ag '45)
House of Europe. Mowrer, P. S. (N '45)
House of Hancock. Baxter, W. T. (S '45)
Household in Athens. Eng title of: Apartment in Athens. Wescott, G. (Mr '45)
Household mechanics. Bedell, E. L., and Gardner, E. G. (Ag '45)
Houses for homemakers. Wills, R. B. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Housing
  Dean, J. P. Home ownership: is it sound? (My '45)
  Rosenman, D. R. Million homes a year. (Je '45)
    Great Britain
  Madge, J. Rehousing of Britain. (D '45)
How a baby grows. Gesell, A. L. (D '45)
How about tomorrow morning? Haberman, H. L. (Je '45)
How advertising is written—and why. Miller, G. L. (Ag '45)
How planes are made. Chapelle, G. L. M. (D '45)
How the automobile learned to run. Marshak, I. I. (D '45)
How to be poor. Fay, F. (D '45)
How to build and operate a locker plant. Todoroff, A. (Ap '45)
How to cook. Griffin, M. (Ag '45)
How to cook and eat in Chinese. Chao, B. Y. (Ag '45)
How to develop profitable ideas. Reiss, O. F. (S '45)
How to know the mosses. Conard, H. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
How to live beyond your means. Wilson, M. (S '45)
How to make money in real estate. McMichael, S. L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
How to read better and faster. Lewis, N. (Mr '45)
How to solve it. Pólya, G. (S '45)
How to start your own business. Kay, E. W., and Shaw, W. F. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
How to think of Christ. Brown, W. A. (My '45)
Howe, Mrs Julia (Ward)
    Battle hymn of the republic
  Bakeless, K. L. Glory, hallelujah! (Mr '45)
    Juvenile literature
  Wagoner, J. B. Julia Ward Howe. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Hugo, Victor Marie, comte
  Grant, E. M. Career of Victor Hugo. (S '45)
Hull-down for action. Sperry, A. (D '45)
Human image. Smith, R. M. (Je '45)
Human leadership in industry. Lewisohn, S. A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Human life of Jesus. Erskine, J. (N '45)
Human nature. Venable, V. (Je '45)
Human nature and enduring peace. Society for the psychological study of social issues. (N '45)
Humanism
    20th century
  Stalnaker, L. W. Humanism and human dignity. (O '45)
Humanism and human dignity. Stalnaker, L. W. (O '45)
Humboldt, Alexander, freiherr von
  Von Hagen, V. W. South America called them. (Mr '45)
Humor
  Allen, E. F., ed. Modern humor for effective speaking. (O '45)
  Andrieux, R. Tux 'n tails. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Cerf, B. A., ed. Laughing stock. (N '45)
  Fay, F. How to be poor. (D '45)
  Ford, E. H. My home town. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Gaver, J., and Stanley, D., eds. There's laughter in the air! (Ag '45)
  Gross, M. Dear dollink. (N '45)
  Leacock, S. B. Last leaves. (N '45)
  Thompson, M. Joe, the wounded tennis player. (Ap '45)
  Thurber, J. Thurber carnival. (Mr '45)
  Wilson, E. I am gazing into my 8-ball. (Ap '45)
Humor, Pictorial
  Collier's, the national weekly. Stop or I'll scream! (N '45)
  Day, R. All out for the sack race! (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Freeman, D. It shouldn't happen—. (S '45)

Humor, Pictorial—Continued
  Partch, V. F. Water on the brain. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Petty, M. This Petty pace. (D '45)
  Rea, G. Gardner Rea's sideshow. (D '45)
  Richter, M. This one's on me. (N '45)
  Saturday evening post (periodical). Funny business. (N '45)
  Steig, W. Persistent faces. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Webster, H. T. Webster unabridged. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Williams, J. R. Born thirty years too soon. (D '45)
  Williams, J. R. Why mothers get gray. (Ag '45)
Humors and Shakespeare's characters. Draper, J. W. (N '45)
Hundred towers. Weiskopf, F. C., ed. (Ap '45)
Hunky Johnny. Nichols, E. J. (S '45)
Hunter, Ruth
  Hunter, R. Come back on Tuesday. (Ap '45)
Hunting
  Anderson, L. A. Hunting, fishing, and camping. (O '45)
  Buckingham, N. Tattered coat. (Je '45)
Hunting, fishing and camping. Anderson, L. A. (O '45)
Hurricane treasure. Sackett, B. (O '45)
Hurry home to my heart. Byrd, S. (D '45)
Hutheesing, Krishna (Nehru)
  Hutheesing, K. N. With no regrets. (O '45)
Hydraulic engineering
  Addison, H. Treatise on applied hydraulics. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Hydraulic machinery
  Addison, H. Treatise on applied hydraulics. (Ja '46) (1945 annual)
Hydraulics
  Creager, W. P., and others. Engineering for dams. (S '45)
Hygiene
  Diehl, H. S. Textbook of healthful living. (N '45)
  Steincrohn, P. J. Forget your age! (Je '45)

I am gazing into my 8-ball. Wilson, E. (Ap '45)
I ask you, ladies and gentlemen. Surmelian, L. Z. (Ag '45)
I become a ranger. Dean, L. W. (My '45)
I can't die here. Nolan, J. C. (O '45)
I dream of the day. Milne, C. (O '45)
I have seen God work in China. Eddy, G. S. (My '45)
I, Jones, soldier. Schull, J. I. (Ag '45)
I married them. Van Duyn, J. H. D. (Je '45)
I remember mama. Van Druten, J. (Je '45)
I, said the fly. Ferrars, E. (S '45)
I saw the Russian people. Winter, E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
I speak for Joe Doakes. Bergengren, R. F. (Ap '45)
I took the sky road. Miller, N. M. (O '45)
I won't, said the king. Jordan, M. A. (D '45)
Icelandic and Old Norse poetry
  Hollander, L. M., ed. and tr. Skalds. (D '45)
Idea of progress in America, 1815-1860. Ekirch, A. A. (Je '45)
Idealism
  Harris, F. P. Neo-idealist political theory. (My '45)
Identity unknown. Newman, R. H. (S '45)
If he hollers let him go. Himes, C. B. (D '45)
If I were young. Chappell, C. G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
If passion flies. Ingram, B. (N '45)
If the prospect pleases. Haystead, L. (Ag '45)
Ilenka. Kingman, L. (N '45)
I'll hate myself in the morning. Paul, E. H. (Mr '45)
I'll never forget you. Shann, R. (D '45)
I'll never let you go. Eng title of: I'll never forget you. Shann, R. (D '45)
Image of Josephine. Tarkington, B. (Ap '45)
Imaginary conversations
  Linklater, E. Great ship, and Rabelais replies. (Ap '45)
Immortal village. Peattie, D. C. (S '45)
Immortality
  Perry, R. B. Hope for immortality. (S '45)
Impregnation, Artificial
  Perry, E. J., ed. Artificial insemination of farm animals. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Impressions of English literature. Eng title of: Romance of English literature. Turner, W. J., ed. (Ap '45)
In re: Sherlock Holmes. Derleth, A. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
In spite of all. Wallace, A. (S '45)
In the doctor's office. Parsons, E. J. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
In the margins of chaos. Wilson, F. M. (Ap '45)
In the same boat. Barne, K. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
In the wake of the goose-step. Bojano, F. (S '45)
Incarnation
  Solov'ev, V. S. Lectures on godmanhood. (D '45)
Incidence of excess profits taxation. Gillim, M. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Income
  Howenstine, E. J., ed. Post-war markets. (N '45)
  Wallace, H. A. Sixty million jobs. (O '45)
Indemnity
  Goldschmidt, S. Legal claims against Germany. (S '45)
India
    Economic conditions
  Moon, P. Future of India. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
    History
  Wilbur, M. K. E. East India company and the British empire in the Far East. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
    History, Naval
  Panikkar, K. M. India and the Indian ocean. (N '45)
    Juvenile literature
  Kennedy, J. W. Here is India. (D '45)
  Modak, M. R. Land and the people of India. (N '45)
    Politics and government
  Hutheesing, K. N. With no regrets. (O '45)
  Moon, P. Future of India. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Moon, P. Strangers in India. (My '45)
    Social life and customs
  Rama Rau, S. Home to India. (Je '45)
India and the Indian ocean. Panikkar, K. M. (N '45)
Indian harvest. Lucas, J. M. (D '45)
Indian Paul. Moore, J. E. (O '45)
Indians of New Mexico
    Bibliography
  Saunders, L., comp. Guide to materials bearing on cultural relations in New Mexico. (My '45)
Indians of North America
    Missions
  Bischoff, W. N. Jesuits in old Oregon. (D '45)
    Florida
  Dickinson, J. Journal. (D '45)
    New Mexico
  Hall, E. T. Early stockaded settlements in the Governador, New Mexico. (Ap '45)
    West
  Burbank, E. A. Burbank among the Indians. (Mr '45)
Indigo necklace. Crane, F. K. (Ap '45)
Indo-China, French
  Robequain, C. Economic development of French Indo-China. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Induction heating
  Curtis, F. W. High-frequency induction heating. (Ap '45)
Industrial arts
  Bedell, E. L., and Gardner, E. G. Household mechanics. (Ag '45)
Industrial electric furnaces and appliances. Paschkis, V. A. (O '45)

Industrial electric lamps and lighting. Lincoln, E. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Industrial life insurance in the United States. Davis, M. E. (Mr '45)
Industrial management
Bethel, L. L., and others. Industrial organization and management. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Urwick, L. Elements of administration. (Ap '45)
Industrial mobilization (for war)
Bisson, T. A. Japan's war economy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Industrial oil and fat products. Bailey, A. E. (D '45)
Industrial organization and management. Bethel, L. L., and others. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Industrial plastics. Simonds, H. R. (O '45)
Industrial purchasing. Cady, E. L. (S '45)
Industrial relations
Cantor, N. F. Employee counseling. (Ag '45)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. (My '45)
Levenstein, A. Labor today and tomorrow. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lewisohn, S. A. Human leadership in industry. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Industrial research
Lent, C. P. Rocket research. (Ap '45)
Industrial research service's conversion factors and tables. Zimmerman, O. T., and Lavine, I. (O '45)
Industrial supervisor. Amiss, J. M., and Sutton, T. C. (Mr '45)
Industrial training and testing. Morgan, H. K. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Industry
Organization, control, etc.
Gordon, R. A. Business leadership in the large corporation. (S '45)
Hempel, E. H. Top-management planning. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Ord, L. C. Secrets of industry. (S '45)
Postwar organization
Kaplan, A. D. H. Liquidation of war production. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Industry and state
Monsees, C. H. Industry-government cooperation. (Je '45)
United States
Clark, J. M. Demobilization of wartime economic controls. (Ap '45)
Industry-government cooperation. Monsees, C. H. (Je '45)
Infantry attacks. Rommel, E. (Mr '45)
Infantry drill and tactics
Rommel, E. Infantry attacks. (Mr '45)
Infants
Fishback, M. Look who's a mother! (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Gesell, A. L. How a baby grows. (D '45)
Gesell, A. L., and Amatruda, C. S. Embryology of behavior. (Ap '45)
Inflation (finance)
Tax institute. Curbing inflation through taxation. (My '45)
Infrared and raman spectra of polyatomic molecules. Herzberg, G. (O '45)
Inland navigation
Mance, H. O. International river and canal transport. (D '45)
Inner laws of society. Sturzo, L. (S '45)
Innocent flower. Armstrong, C. (Ap '45)
Innovator. Robey, J. B. (Mr '45)
Inocência. Escragnolle Taunay, A. de. (Ap '45)
Inquest. Neumann, R. (Ag '45)
Insane
Care and treatment
Haas, L. J. Practical occupational therapy for the mentally and nervously ill. (Ap '45)
Inside Rome with the Germans. Scrivener, J. (O '45)
Inspection
Juran, J. M. Management of inspection and quality control. (Ag '45)
Instalment plan
Rondileau, A. Education for installment buying. (My '45)
Insurance, Health
Levy, H. National health insurance. (S '45)
Insurance, Industrial
Davis, M. E. Industrial life insurance in the United States. (Mr '45)
Insurance, Life
Davis, M. E. Industrial life insurance in the United States. (Mr '45)
Intelligent American's guide to the peace. Welles, S., ed. (Mr '45)
Intercultural education
Duncan, E. M. Democracy's children. (D '45)
Interest (psychology)
Baker, E. V. Children's questions and their implications for planning the curriculum. (O '45)
Interim. Hutchinson, R. C. (My '45)
Intermediate aerodynamics. Truitt, R. W. (Mr '45)
International air transport. Mance, H. O. (Ap '45)
International airways. Worthington, A., comp. (D '45)
International bill of the rights of man. Lauterpacht, H. (S '45)
International cooperation
Alsberg, H. G. Let's talk about the peace. (N '45)
Ball, M. M. Problem of inter-American organization. (Je '45)
Bergengren, R. F. I speak for Joe Doakes. (Ap '45)
Beveridge, W. H. Price of peace. (S '45)
Carnegie endowment for international peace. Division of international law. Handbook of international organizations in the Americas. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Carr, E. H. Nationalism and after. (N '45)
Cousins, N. Modern man is obsolete. (D '45)
Davis, H. E., ed. Pioneers in world order. (Ap '45)
Eagleton, C. Forces that shape our future. (D '45)
Fox, W. T. R. Super-powers. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Harris, H. W. Problems of the peace. (Je '45)
Lanux, P. C. de. European manifesto. (S '45)
Marlio, L. Can democracy recover? (Je '45)
Perry, R. B. One world in the making. (D '45)
International courts
Hudson, M. O. International tribunals. (Ap '45)
International federation
Gross, F. Crossroads of two continents. (My '45)
Hoover, H. C., and Gibson, H. Basis of lasting peace. (Je '45)
Summers, R. E., comp. Dumbarton Oaks. (S '45)
International investment and domestic welfare. Buchanan, N. S. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
International ladies' garment workers' union
Pesotta, R. Bread upon the waters. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
International law and relations
Bernays, E. L. Take your place at the peace table. (My '45)
Brierly, J. L. Outlook for international law. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Curtis, L. World war: its cause and cure. (N '45)
Lauterpacht, H. International bill of the rights of man. (S '45)
Van Zandt, J. P. Civil aviation and peace. (Ap '45)
Wormser, R. A. Collection of international war damage claims. (O '45)
Bibliography
Woolbert, R. G., comp. Foreign affairs bibliography. (S '45)
International monetary cooperation. Halm, G. (Je '45)
International regulation of fisheries. Leonard, L. L. (N '45)
International river and canal transport. Mance, H. O. (D '45)
International trade and domestic employment. Hoover, C. B. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
International tribunals. Hudson, M. O. (Ap '45)
Interval in Carolina. Abrahams, W. (O '45)
Intimate memories of Lincoln. Wilson, R. R., ed. (O '45)
Into the ark. Hartwell, M. (N '45)

Intolerance. See Toleration
Introduction to electronics. Hudson, R. G. (Je '45)
Introduction to magnesium and its alloys. Alico, J. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Introduction to microwaves. Ramo, S. (O '45)
Introduction to philosophy. Sinclair, W. A. (Ap '45)
Introduction to practical radio. Tucker, D. J. (O '45)
Introduction to quantitative analysis. Arenson, S. B., and Rieveschl, G. (Mr '45)
Introductory general chemistry. Brinkley, S. R. (Ag '45)

Inventions
- Hadamard, J. S. Essay on the psychology of invention in the mathematical field. (Ag '45)
- Kaempffert, W. B. Science today and tomorrow. (Je '45)
- Manchester, H. New world of machines. (My '45)
- Reiss, O. F. How to develop profitable ideas. (S '45)

Investments
- Jordan, D. F., and Willett, E. F. Spend wisely and grow rich. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Sloan, L. H. Post-war savings and investments. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Terborgh, G. W. Bogey of economic maturity. (N '45)

Investments, Foreign
- Buchanan, N. S. International investment and domestic welfare. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Feis, H. Sinews of peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Invitation to chess. Chernev, I., and Harkness, K. (Je '45)

Ireland

Description and travel
- Gibbings, R. Lovely is the Lee. (O '45)

Iron bronc. Drago, H. S. (My '45)
Iron gates. Millar, M. (My '45)

Iron industry and trade
- May, E. C. Principio to Wheeling. (My '45)

Island 49. Miller, M. (Ag '45)
Island of adventure. Eng title of: Mystery island. Blyton, E. (Ap '45)
Island of the innocent. Kent, M. (O '45)

Islands of the Pacific
- Hobbs, W. H. Fortress islands of the Pacific. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Keesing, F. M. Native peoples of the Pacific world. (S '45)
- Quinn, V. Picture map geography of the Pacific islands. (D '45)

Isotopes
- Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Advances in nuclear chemistry and theoretical organic chemistry. (D '45)

It can't happen here again. Bailey, F. (Mr '45)
It shouldn't happen—. Freeman, D. (S '45)
Italian democracy in the making. Salomone, A. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Italian tragedy. Curinga, N. V. (My '45)

Italy

Politics and government
- Salomone, A. W. Italian democracy in the making. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Sturzo, L. Italy and the coming world. (N '45)

Social conditions
- Martin, A. W. O. von. Sociology of the renaissance. (Ap '45)

Italy and the coming world. Sturzo, L. (N '45)
Italy and the new world order. Eng title of: Italy and the coming world. Sturzo, L. (N '45)
It's a free country. Williams, B. A. (S '45)
It's fun to make a hat. Garnell, H. (Ap '45)
It's fun to make it yourself. Maney, S., ed. (Ap '45)
It's good to be alive. Sharon, H. B. (My '45)
It's tomorrow out here. Miller, M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
I've had it. Lay, B. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Ivy years. Miers, E. S. (S '45)

Iwo Jima, Battle of, 1945
- Henri, R. Iwo Jima. (S '45)
- Henri, R., and others. U.S. marines on Iwo Jima. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Jackson, Andrew
- Schlesinger, A. M. Age of Jackson. (O '45)

Juvenile literature
- Nolan, J. C. Patriot in the saddle. (O '45)

Jade Venus. Coxe, G. H. (Mr '45)
Jam yesterday. Cannell, K. B. E. (N '45)

James, Henry
- Dupee, F. W., ed. Question of Henry James. (D '45)
- Matthiessen, F. O. Henry James: the major phase. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

James, Marquis
- James, M. Cherokee strip. (O '45)

James river, Virginia
- Niles, B. R. The James. (Je '45)

Janey's shoes. Credle, E. (S '45)
January thaw. Partridge, B. (O '45)

Japan

Civilization
- Embree, J. F. Japanese nation. (S '45)
- Price, W. DeM. Japan and the Son of Heaven. (N '45)

Description and travel
- Trewartha, G. T. Japan. (My '45)

Economic policy
- Bisson, T. A. Japan's war economy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
- Johnstone, W. C. Future of Japan. (Ag '45)

Foreign policy
- Tolischus, O. D., comp. Through Japanese eyes. (My '45)

Foreign relations
- Pan, S. C. Y. China fights on. (Ag '45)

Politics and government
- Ballou, R. O. Shinto. (D '45)
- Johnstone, W. C. Future of Japan. (Ag '45)
- Maki, J. M. Japanese militarism. (Je '45)
- Roth, A. Dilemma in Japan. (O '45)
- Tolischus, O. D., comp. Through Japanese eyes. (My '45)

Religion
- Ballou, R. O. Shinto. (D '45)

Japan and the Son of Heaven. Price, W. DeM. (N '45)

Japanese in the United States
- Adams, A. E. Born free and equal. (Ap '45)
- Leighton, A. H. Governing of men. (S '45)
- McWilliams, C. Prejudice. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Japanese militarism. Maki, J. M. (Je '45)
Japanese nation. Embree, J. F. (S '45)
Japan's war economy. Bisson, T. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Jassy. Lofts, N. R. (Ag '45)

Jefferson, Joseph

Juvenile literature
- Malvern, G. Good troupers all. (N '45)

Jefferson, Thomas
- Bowers, C. G. Young Jefferson. (Ap '45)
- Browne, C. A. Thomas Jefferson and the scientific trends of his time. (N '45)
- Bullock, H. D. My head and my heart. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
- Caldwell, L. K. Administrative theories of Hamilton and Jefferson. (Ap '45)

Jehovah's witnesses
- Stroup, H. H. Jehovah's witnesses. (O '45)

Jennifer's house. Govan, C. N. (Ap '45)
Jerry the giraffe. Packard, V. (S '45)
Jerry the jeep. Hurd, E. T. (Ag '45)
Jersey genesis. Beck, H. C. (S '45)

Jesuits

Education
- Dunne, P. M. Pioneer Jesuits in northern Mexico (My '45)

Jesuits in North America
- Dunne, P. M. Pioneer Jesuits in northern Mexico. (My '45)

Jesuits in old Oregon. Bischoff, W. N. (D '45)

Jesuits in the Northwest
- Bischoff, W. N. Jesuits in old Oregon. (D '45)

Jesus Christ
- Underhill, E. Light of Christ. (O '45)

Art
Bible. New Testament. Gospels. Jesus the Christ. (My '45)
Biography
Erskine, J. Human life of Jesus. (N '45)
Example
Kirkland, W. M. Of the imitation of Christ today. (S '45)
Fiction
Bauer, F. A. M. Behold your King. (O '45)
Heard, G. Gospel according to Gamaliel. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Loewenstein, H. Child and the emperor. (My '45)
Robey, J. B. Innovator. (Mr '45)
Juvenile literature
Beebe, C. Story of Jesus for boys and girls. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Bible. New Testament. Story of Jesus. (Ap '45)
Fahs, S. B. L. Jesus, the carpenter's son. (S '45)
Messiahship
Rawlinson, A. E. J. Christ in the Gospels. (Ap '45)
Person and offices
Brown, W. A. How to think of Christ. (My '45)
McDowell, E. A. Son of man and suffering servant. (S '45)
Russell, W. H. Jesus, the divine teacher. (Mr '45)
Poetry
Wagstaff, B. S. Beloved Son. (Ap '45)
Teaching
Russell, W. H. Jesus, the divine teacher. (Mr '45)
Jesus shows the way. Crawford, E. D., ed. (D '45)
Jesus, the carpenter's son. Fahs, S. B. L. (S '45)
Jesus the Christ. Bible. New Testament. Gospels. (My '45)
Jesus, the divine teacher. Russell, W. H. (Mr '45)
Jet propulsion
Zim, H. S. Rockets and jets. (My '45)
Jewelry
Haas, L. J. Art metal work and jewelry. (D '45)
Jewish dilemma. Berger, E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Jewish literature
Marx, A. Studies in Jewish history and booklore. (Ap '45)
Collections
Browne, L., ed. Wisdom of Israel. (S '45)
Jewish literature (German)
Liptzin, S. Germany's stepchildren. (Ap '45)
Jewish refugee. Tartakower, A., and Grossmann, K. R. (Ap '45)
Jews
Dictionaries and encyclopedias
Universal Jewish encyclopedia. (My '45)
History
Marx, A. Studies in Jewish history and booklore. (Ap '45)
History, Military
Nunberg, R. Fighting Jew. (O '45)
Political and social conditions
Asch, S. One destiny. (O '45)
Berger, E. Jewish dilemma. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Cohen, A. E. All God's children. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Cohen, H. Panorama of prejudice. (S '45)
Edelbaum, M. Way to freedom. (My '45)
Frankenstein, E. Justice for my people. (Ap '45)
Gottschalk, M., and Duker, A. G. Jews in the post-war world. (Je '45)
Steinberg, M. Partisan guide to the Jewish problem. (N '45)
Wechsler, I. S. Neurologist's point of view. (Ap '45)
Religion
Cohen, A. E. All God's children. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Isserman, F. M. This is Judaism. (Ap '45)
Zeitlin, J. Disciples of the wise. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Jews as soldiers
Nunberg, R. Fighting Jew. (O '45)
Jews fight too! Davis, M. (N '45)
Jews in Czechoslovakia
Jacoby, G. Racial state. (Je '45)
Jews in Europe
Tartakower, A., and Grossmann, K. R. Jewish refugee. (Ap '45)
Warhaftig, Z. Relief and rehabilitation. (N '45)
Jews in Germany
Goldschmidt, S. Legal claims against Germany. (S '45)
Jews in New York (city)
Grinstein, H. B. Rise of the Jewish community of New York. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Jews in Palestine
Mosenson, M. Letters from the desert. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Jews in Poland
Berg, M. Warsaw ghetto. (Mr '45)
Folkmann, A. Promise Hitler kept. (S '45)
Jews in Russia
Greenberg, L. Jews in Russia; v. 1, The struggle for emancipation. (Mr '45)
Jews in Russia; v. 1, The struggle for emancipation. Greenberg, L. (Mr '45)
Jews in the post-war world. Gottschalk, M., and Duker, A. G. (Je '45)
Jews in Warsaw
Szoszkies, H. J. No traveler returns. (Ap '45)
Jigs and fixtures
Karash, J. I. Analysis of drill-jig design. (Mr '45)
Jill, movie maker. Olds, H. D. (My '45)
Jim Crow joins up. Wilson, R. D. (Ap '45)
Job for Jenny. Baldwin, F. (N '45)
Joe, the wounded tennis player. Thompson, M. (Ap '45)
John Crerar library, Chicago
John Crerar library, Chicago. John Crerar library, 1895-1944. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
John Henry
Shapiro, I. John Henry and the double jointed steam-drill. (O '45)
John Henry and the double jointed steam-drill. Shapiro, I. (O '45)
John Masias
Juvenile literature
Windeatt, M. F. Warrior in white. (Mr '45)
Johnson, Burges
Johnson, B. As much as I dare. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Johnson, Samuel
Krutch, J. W. Samuel Johnson. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Jonica's island. Malvern, G. (S '45)
Jonson, Ben
Bentley, G. E. Shakespeare and Jonson. (My '45)
Johnston, G. B. Ben Jonson, poet. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Josephine, consort of Napoleon I, emperor of the French
Fiction
Coryn, M. Marriage of Josephine. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Journal. Norwood, R. (D '45)
Journal of a southern student. Patterson, G. J. (S '45)
Journal of Mary Hervey Russell. Jameson, S. (Mr '45)
Journalism
New York times. Newspaper, its making and its meaning. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Journalists
Bulman, D., ed. Molders of opinion. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
McNamara, J. Extra! (Je '45)
Oestreicher, J. C. World is their beat. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Bojano, F. In the wake of the goose-step. (S '45)

Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. —Continued
Booker, E. L., and Potter, J. S. Flight from China. (O '45)
Jordan, M. Beyond all fronts. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Look (periodical). My favorite war story. (D '45)
Mowrer, P. S. House of Europe. (N '45)
Powell, J. B. My twenty-five years in China. (D '45)
Journey home. Eng title of: Home fires burning. Henriques, R. D. Q. (S '45)
Journey home. Popkin, Z. (S '45)
Journey through chaos. Alexandrov, V. (S '45)
Journey underground. Prosser, D. G. (D '45)
Judd Rankin's daughter. Glaspell, S. (D '45)

Judges
Haynes, E. Selection and tenure of judges. (N '45)
Judgment of the old régime. Beik, P. H. (Ap '45)
Judy at the zoo. Maloney, T. J. (O '45)
Jungle boy. Carveth, L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Junior model planes. Powell, J. D. (N '45)
Junior sports anthology. Kelley, R. F., ed. (O '45)
Junker in the Prussian administration under William II. Muncy, L. W. (Je '45)
Junker menace. Martin, F. (S '45)

Jurisprudence
Bentham, J. Limits of jurisprudence defined. (D '45)
Just Jenifer. Lambert, J. (O '45)
Just like a woman! Kidd, E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Justice for my people. Frankenstein, E. (Ap '45)
Justice in transportation. Wiprud, A. C. (O '45)
Justin Morgan had a horse. Henry, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Juvenile delinquency
Mallon, P. R. Ease era. (D '45)

Kant, Immanuel
Cassirer, E. Rousseau, Kant, Goethe. (S '45)
Katrina. Gleitsmann, H. (D '45)
Kay Allen on overseas mission. Simmons, M. I. (Je '45)

Kaye-Smith, Sheila (Mrs Penrose Fry)
Kaye-Smith, S. Kitchen fugue. (O '45)

Kechua Indians
Parsons, E. W. C. Peguche. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Keep my flag flying. Carroll, M. T. (D '45)
Keep your head down. Bernstein, W. S. (Je '45)

Kelsen, Hans
Ebenstein, W. Pure theory of law. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Kenneth Roberts reader. Roberts, K. L. (D '45)

Kentucky. University
McVey, F. Le R. University is a place . . . a spirit. (Mr '45
Key to weaving. Black, M. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Kickapoo Indian trails. Hoad, L. G. (My '45)

Kickapoo Indians

Juvenile literature

Hoad, L. G. Kickapoo Indian trails. (My '45)
Killing of the peace. Cranston, A. M. (S '45)

Kindness
Cleghorn, S. N. Seamless robe. (S '45)
King is dead on Queen street. Walz, A. (O '45)

Kiowa Indians
Marriott, A. L. Ten grandmothers. (Mr '45)
Kit Carson, boy trapper. Stevenson, A. (D '45)
Kitchen fugue. Kaye-Smith, S. (O '45)

Knapp, Seaman Asahel
Bailey, J. C. Seaman A. Knapp. (O '45)
Knife in my back. Merwin, S. (My '45)
Knight missing. Barrington, H. (Ap '45)
Knight there was. England, M. (N '45)
Knights of the cape. Palma, R. (S '45)

Knitting
Thomas, M. H. Book of knitting patterns. (My '45)

Knots and splices
Graumont, R., and Hensel, J. Splicing wire and fiber rope. (Je '45)

Know thyself! Carr, W. (My '45)

Kommander islands
Hrdlička, A. Aleutian and Commander islands and their inhabitants. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Kongo, Belgian
Latouche, J. T. Congo. (S '45)
Koos, the Hottentot. Marais, J. (D '45)

Korea
Grajdanzev, A. J. Modern Korea. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Foreign relations

Nelson, M. F. Korea and the old orders in eastern Asia. (S '45)
Korea and the old orders in eastern Asia. Nelson, M. F. (S '45)

Kruger, Stephanus Johannes Paulus
Cloete, S. Against these three. (S '45)

Kurtz, Frank Allen
Kurtz, M. R. My rival, the sky. (Ag '45)

Labor and laboring classes
Oxnam, G. B. Labor and tomorrow's world. (D '45)

Africa

Noon, J. A. Labor problems of Africa. (Je '45)

China

Shih, K. China enters the machine age. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Snow, H. F. Chinese labor movement. (Ap '45)

Germany

Kuczynski, J. Germany: economic and labour conditions under fascism. (Je '45)

Poland

Gross, F. Polish worker. (S '45)

United States

Fitzpatrick, B. H. Understanding labor. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Levenstein, A. Labor today and tomorrow. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Pesotta, R. Bread upon the waters. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Walters, J. E. Personnel relations. (S '45)
Labor and tomorrow's world. Oxnam, G. B. (D '45)
Labor problems of Africa. Noon, J. A. (Je '45)

Labor supply

United States

Lester, R. A. Providing for unemployed workers in the transition. (My '45)
Labor today and tomorrow. Levenstein, A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

La Condamine, Charles Marie de
Von Hagen, V. W. South America called them. (Mr '45)
Ladder of history. Hall, J. W., and Burke, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lady in no. 4. Eng title of: Coroner's verdict: accident. Hosken, C. J. W. (Ag '45)
Lady Leatherneck. White, B. A. (S '45)
Lady like the moon. Wimsatt, G. B. (D '45)
Lake Erie. Hatcher, H. H. (O '45)
Lake Ontario. Pound, A. (Ag '45)

Lamb, Charles
Anthony, K. S. The Lambs. (Ap '45)

Lamb, Mary Ann
Anthony, K. S. The Lambs. (Ap '45)
Lance of Mystery hollow. Langdale, H. L. R. (N '45)
Land and the people of India. Modak, M. R. (N '45)
Land divided. Mack, G. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Land of the Chinese people. Yaukey, G. S. (Ag '45)
Land of the Lost. Hewson, I. M. (Ag '45)

Land utilization
Pelzer, K. J. Pioneer settlement in the Asiatic tropics. (D '45)

Language and languages
Kasanin, J. S., ed. Language and thought in schizophrenia. (My '45)
Stevenson, C. L. Ethics and language. (Ag '45)
Language and thought in schizophrenia. Kasanin, J. S., ed. (My '45)

Language of vision. Kepes, G. (Ag '45)
Language of World war II. Taylor, A. M., comp. (Mr '45)
Larger than the sky. Newcomb, C. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lark Rise to Candleford. Thompson, F. (O '45)
Larry Scott of the Sun. Ford, E. (S '45)
Last flowering of the middle ages. Elst, J. V. (Mr '45)
Last leaves. Leacock, S. B. (N '45)
Last mountains. Case, R. O. and V. (N '45)
Last of the cocked hats. Styron, A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Latin America
United States. Office of the coordinator of inter-American affairs. Our American neighbors. (Je '45)

Biography

Davis, H. E. Makers of democracy in Latin America. (D '45)

Civilization

Henriquez Urena, P. Literary currents in Hispanic America. (S '45)

Study and teaching

American council on education. Committee on the study of teaching materials on inter-American subjects. Latin America in school and college teaching materials. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Description and travel

Reynolds, M. Hasta la vista. (S '45)
Rippy, J. F., and Perrigo, L. Latin America. (Mr '45)

Economic conditions

Harris, S. E., ed. Economic problems of Latin America. (Mr '45)
Soule, G. H., and others. Latin America in the future world. (Mr '45)

History

Rippy, J. F., and Perrigo, L. Latin America. (Mr '45)
Shippen, K. B. New found world. (Ag '45)

Study and teaching

American council on education. Committee on the study of teaching materials on inter-American subjects. Latin America in school and college teaching materials. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Relations (general) with United States

Barclay, W. C. Greater good neighbor policy. (S '45)

Religion

Barclay, W. C. Greater good neighbor policy. (S '45)
Latin America. Rippy, J. F., and Perrigo, L. (Mr '45)
Latin America in school and college teaching materials. American council on education. Committee on the study of teaching materials on inter-American subjects. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Latin America in the future world. Soule, G. H., and others. (Mr '45)
Latin drama

History and criticism

Harsh, P. W. Handbook of classical drama. (Mr '45)
Laughing stock. Cerf, B. A., ed. (N '45)
Laughter on the hill. Parton, M. (Je '45)
Laurel for Judy. Jacobs, H. H. (D '45)
Law

Philosophy

Ebenstein, W. Pure theory of law. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
West, R. Conscience and society. (Je '45)

Great Britain

McNair, A. D. Legal effects of war. (My '45)
Law enforcement in colonial New York. Goebel, J., and Naughton, T. R. (Mr '45)
Lawrence, Gertrude
Lawrence, G. A star danced. (S '45)
Lawyers

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Ernst, M. L. Best is yet . . . (My '45)
Lay my burden down. Botkin, B. A., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lay that pistol down. Powell, R. P. (Ag '45)
Lead poisoning
Cantarow, A., and Trumper, M. Lead poisoning. (My '45)
Leadership
Hannaford, E. S. Conference leadership in business and industry. (Ag '45)
League of frightened philistines. Farrell, J. T. (Ag '45)
League of nations
Azcárate y Flórez, P. de. League of nations and national minorities. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Cranston, A. M. Killing of the peace. (S '45)
Davis, H. E., ed. Pioneers in world order. (Ap '45)
League of nations and national minorities. Azcárate y Flórez, P. de. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Leahy, Frank William
Ward, A. Frank Leahy and the fighting Irish. (Ap '45)
Lean with the wind. Schenck, E. (N '45)
Learning, Psychology of
McIntosh, J. R. Learning by exposure to wrong forms in grammar and spelling. (Ap '45)
Murphy, L. B., and Ladd, H. A. Emotional factors in learning. (Mr '45)
Learning Basic English. Richards, I. A., and Gibson, C. (O '45)
Learning by exposure to wrong forms in grammar and spelling. McIntosh, J. R. (Ap '45)
Leather
Orthmann, A. C. Tanning processes. (D '45)
Leather industry and trade
McLaughlin, G. D., and Theis, E. R. Chemistry of leather manufacture. (D '45)
Leave cancelled. Monsarrat, N. (N '45)
Lectures on godmanhood. Solov'ev, V. S. (D '45)
Lee river
Gibbings, R. Lovely is the Lee. (O '45)
Lee's lieutenants; v. 3, Gettysburg to Appomattox. Freeman, D. S. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Left hand, right hand! Sitwell, O. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Left turn, Canada. Coldwell, M. J. W. (Ag '45)
Legal claims against Germany. Goldschmidt, S. (S '45)
Legal control of the press. Thayer, F. (My '45)
Legal effects of war. McNair, A. D. (My '45)
Legend of a musical city. Graf, M. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Legends

Peru

Palma, R. Knights of the cape. (S '45)
Legends, Polynesian
Stone, W. S. Ship of flame. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Leicester, Robert Dudley, earl of
Waldman, M. Elizabeth and Leicester. (D '45)
Lenin, Nikolai
Liberman, S. I. Building Lenin's Russia. (N '45)

Juvenile literature

Baker, N. B. Lenin. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Leper king. Kossak-Szczucka, Z. (S '45)
Lesson of Germany. Eisler, G., and others. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Let us consider one another. Lawrence, J. (Je '45)
Let's do better. Leaf, M. (N '45)
Let's get to know God. Phelps, F. B. (My '45)
Let's talk about the peace. Alsberg, H. G. (N '45)
Let's talk about you. Bro, M. H. (Je '45)
Letter writing
Butterfield, W. H. Effective personal letters. (D '45)
Letters. Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, F. (Ag '45)
Letters and private papers. Thackeray, W. M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Letters from the desert. Mosenson, M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn. Wise, T. J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Levant
Dennen, L. Trouble zone. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Economic conditions
Bonne, A. Economic development of the Middle East. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Leveller tracts. Haller, W., and Davies, G., eds. (My '45)
Levellers
Haller, W., and Davies, G., eds. Leveller tracts. (My '45)
Leyte calling. St John, J. F. (Mr '45)
Liberal tradition. Orton, W. A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Liberalism
Orton, W. A. Liberal tradition. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Liberation—Russian style. Eng title of: Conducted tour. Halpern, A. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Liberties and communities in medieval England. Cam, H. M. (S '45)
Liberty
Anspacher, L. K. Story of liberty. (My '45)
Brogan, D. W. Free state. (S '45)
Field, M. Freedom is more than a word. (My '45)
Lauterpacht, H. International bill of the rights of man. (S '45)
Redden, J. D., and Ryan, F. A. Freedom through education. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Safeguarding civil liberty today, lectures by Carl L. Becker [and others]. (Ag '45)
Poetry
Benét, W. R., and Cousins, N., eds. Poetry of freedom. (Ag '45)
Liberty of the press
Field, M. Freedom is more than a word. (My '45)
Librarian and the teacher of home economics. Henne, F., and Pritchard, M. (S '45)
Libraries
Wilson, L. R. Library planning. (My '45)
Libraries, University and college
Lyle, G. R., and others. Administration of the college library. (Mr '45)
Wilson, L. R., and Tauber, M. F. University library. (O '45)
Libraries and readers
Toser, M. A. Library manual. (S '45)
Library administration
Lyle, G. R., and others. Administration of the college library. (Mr '45)
Library architecture
Schunk, R. J. Pointers for public library building planners. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Library manual. Toser, M. A. (S '45)
Library planning. Wilson, L. R. (My '45)
Library schools and training
Wight, E. A. Evaluation and revision of the library school curriculum. (N '45)
Library science
Toser, M. A. Library manual. (S '45)
Lied, Jonas
Lied, J. Prospector in Siberia. (D '45)
Life (biology)
Schrödinger, E. What is life? (S '45)
Life and work of John Tyndall. Eve, A. S., and Creasey, C. H. (N '45)
Life of Edmund Spenser. Judson, A. C. (D '45)
Life of the heart. Winwar, F. (D '45)
Light of Christ. Underhill, E. (O '45)
Light on our path. Luckhardt, M. M. C. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lights out. Kendrick, B. H. (D '45)
Like the root. Zabriskie, G. (O '45)
Lili Marlene. Yorck, R. L. (N '45)
Limestone
Batchelor, J. A. Economic history of the Indiana oolitic limestone industry. (D '45)
Limits of jurisprudence defined. Bentham, J. (D '45)
Lincoln, Abraham
Baringer, W. E. House dividing. (O '45)
Hart, H. D. Lincoln, the man of the ages. (O '45)
Monaghan, J. Diplomat in carpet slippers. (Je '45)
Randall, J. G. Lincoln, the president. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wilson, R. R., ed. Intimate memories of Lincoln. (O '45)
Bibliography
Monaghan, J., comp. Lincoln bibliography, 1839-1939. (Ag '45)
Juvenile literature
Neyhart, L. A. Henry's Lincoln. (S '45)
Lincoln bibliography, 1839-1939. Monaghan, J., comp. (Ag '45)
Lincoln, the man of the ages. Hart, H. D. (O '45)
Lion is in the streets. Langley, A. L. (Je '45)
Lions
Legends and stories
Johnson, O. H. L. Tarnish. (Ap '45)
Liquidation of war production. Kaplan, A. D. H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Liquids
Swietoslawski, W. Ebulliometric measurements. (O '45)
Litany for All souls. Price, L. (Ag '45)
Literary currents in Hispanic America. Henriquez Urena, P. (S '45)
Literary forgeries and mystifications
Wise, T. J. Letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Literary study and the scholarly profession. Craig, H. (Ag '45)
Literature
Addresses, essays, lectures
Farrell, J. T. League of frightened philistines. Ag '45)
Collections
Curtis, C. P., and Greenslet, F., eds. Practical cogitator. (N '45)
Kronenberger, L., ed. Reader's companion. (Je '45)
North, S., and Boutell, C. B., eds. Speak of the devil. (S '45)
Self, M. C., ed. Treasury of horse stories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
History and criticism
Dixon, W. M. Apology for the arts. (Ap '45)
Hoffman, F. J. Freudianism and the literary mind. (O '45)
Morgan, C. Reflections in a mirror. (My '45)
Schucking, L. L. Sociology of literary taste. (Mr '45)
Philosophy
Schucking, L. L. Sociology of literary taste. (Mr '45)
Study and teaching
Craig, H. Literary study and the scholarly profession. (Ag '45)
Literature, Comparative
Gaunt, W. Aesthetic adventure. (Je '45)
Literature, Medieval
Chaytor, H. J. From script to print. (Ag '45)
Literature, Modern
Slochower, H. No voice is wholly lost. (Ag '45)
Little Bear island. Clymer, E. L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Little boat boy. Bothwell, J. (N '45)
Little boy laughed. Dow, J. (S '45)
Little company. Dark, E. O. (Je '45)
Little fellow. Henry, M. (Je '45)
Little fisherman. Brown, M. W. (D '45)
Little friend, little friend. Jarrell, R. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Little lost lamb. MacDonald, G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Little people in a big country. Cohn, N. (My '45)
Little red car. Meeks, E. K. (D '45)
Little red engine gets a name. Denney, D. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Little red hen. Fish, H. D. (Ag '45)
Little superman. Mann, H. (N '45)
Little Thunder. Burrowes, E. (S '45)
Live dangerously. Eng title of: Shape of danger. Kielland, A. (Mr '45)
Lives of Winston Churchill. Davenport, J., and Murphy, C. J. V. (S '45)
Living with children. Chittenden, G. E. (Mr '45)
Lo and behold! Lockwood, M. (My '45)
Lobengula, king of the Matabele
Cloete, S. Against these three. (S '45)

Local government
Great Britain
Cam, H. M. Liberties and communities in medieval England. (S '45)
Log cabins
Meinecke, C. E. Your cabin in the woods. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Logic
Cohen, M. R. Preface to logic. (Mr '45)
Logic and reason in Christianity. Lucas, E. D. (O '45)
London
Politics and government
Henderson, A. J. London and the national government. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Social life and customs
Marshall, F. London West. (Ag '45)
London and the national government. Henderson, A. J. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
London missionary society
Northcott, W. C. Glorious company. (O '45)
London West. Marshall, F. (Ag '45)
Lonely steeple. Wolfson, V. (N '45)
Long journey. Jensen, J. V. (My '45)
Long pull from Stavanger. Osland, B. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Long road. Shipman, N. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Look for the letters. Rey, H. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Look who's a mother! Fishback, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lookin' eastward. Clare, T. H. (Je '45)
Looking for a bluebird. Wechsberg, J. (Mr '45)
Lost Caesar. Fenisong, R. (O '45)
Lost continent? Busch, N. F. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lost woods. Teale, E. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Loud speaking apparatus
Benson, B. E. Music and sound systems in industry. (N '45)
Louis, Joe
Miller, M. Joe Louis: American. (D '45)
Louisiana
History
Kane, H. T. Plantation parade. (D '45)
Social life and customs
Kane, H. T. Plantation parade. (D '45)
Writers' program, Louisiana. Gumbo ya-ya. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lourdes
Sharkey, D. C. After Bernadette. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Love
Ludwig, E. Of life and love. (Ag '45)
Reik, T. Psychology of sex relations. (O '45)
Love of a glove. Collins, C. C. (O '45)
Lovely is the Lee. Gibbings, R. (O '45)
Lower deck. Davies, J. (O '45)
Lower than angels. Karig, W. (Mr '45)
Lucky stiff. Rice, C. (My '45)
Lucy Ellen's heyday. Wright, F. F. (D '45)
Lumber and labor. Jensen, V. H. (Ap '45)
Lumber trade
Calvin, D. D. Saga of the St Lawrence. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Lumbering
Jensen, V. H. Lumber and labor. (Ap '45)
Mason, B. S. Book for junior woodsmen. (D '45)
Lurker at the threshold. Lovecraft, H. P., and Derleth, A. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

McGillicuddy, Cornelius
Lieb, F. G. Connie Mack. (Je '45)
Machiavelli, Niccolo
Olschki, L. Machiavelli the scientist. (S '45)
Machiavelli the scientist. Olschki, L. (S '45)
Machine designers' guide. Najder, K. W. (O '45)
Machine drawing. Svensen, C. L. (S '45)
Machine shop practice
Benedict, O. Manual of machine shop practice. (Mr '45)
Colvin, F. H., and Stanley, F. A. Standard and emergency shop methods. (D '45)
Dictionaries
Sandy, A. H. Dictionary of engineering and machine shop terms. (Ap '45)
Machine tool guide. Plumridge, T. C., and others. (D '45)
Machine tools
Plumridge, T. C., and others. Machine tool guide. (D '45)
Machinery
Design
Najder, K. W. Machine designers' guide. (O '45)
Drawing
Svensen, C. L. Machine drawing. (S '45)
Machinists' and draftsmen's handbook. Wagener, A. M., and Arthur, H. R. (D '45)
Mack, Connie. See McGillicuddy, C.
Magendie, François
Olmsted, J. M. D. François Magendie. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Magic lantern. Smith, E. F. (My '45)
Magic powder. Hadley, E. J. (Je '45)
Magnesium
Alico, J. Introduction to magnesium and its alloys. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Magnesium alloys
Alico, J. Introduction to magnesium and its alloys. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Maiden voyage. Welch, D. (Ap '45)
Main street's new neighbors. Whiteleather, M. K. (Je '45)
Maine
Description and travel
Bradshaw, M. J. Nature of Maine. (Mr '45)
Hamlin, H. Nine mile bridge. (Je '45)
Mainsprings of civilization. Huntington, E. (Ag '45)
Major instruments of science and their applications to chemistry. Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Make the most of your life. Lurton, D. E. (D '45)
Makers of democracy in Latin America. Davis, H. E. (D '45)
Making and using industrial service ratings. Halsey, G. D. (My '45)
Making of modern China. Lattimore, O. and E. H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Making patent drawings. Radzinsky, H. (S '45)
Making the movies. Bendick, J. (D '45)
Malaria
Taylor, N. Cinchona in Java. (O '45)
Malay archipelago
Cole, F. C. Peoples of Malaysia. (N '45)
Male hormone. De Kruif, P. H. (Je '45)
Mammals
Carter, T. D., and others. Mammals of the Pacific world. (Ag '45)
Mammals of the Pacific world. Carter, T. D., and others. (Ag '45)
Man
Emrich, R. S. Earth might be fair. (Mr '45)
Linton, R., ed. Science of man in the world crisis. (Mr '45)
Constitution
Heath, C. W., and others. What people are. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hooton, E. A. Young man, you are normal. (S '45)
Influence of environment
Huntington, E. Mainsprings of civilization. (Ag '45)
Origin
Andrews, R. C. Meet your ancestors. (D '45)
Man (theology)
Harkness, G. E. Dark night of the soul. (Ag '45)
Vann, G. Heart of man. (D '45)
Man, Prehistoric
Andrews, R. C. Meet your ancestors. (D '45)
Man against pain. Raper, H. R. (N '45)
Man against time. Leonard, W. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Man and society. Bryson, G. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Man from Kansas. Hinshaw, D. (D '45)
Man from Missouri. Clemens, C. (N '45)
Man, morals and society. Flügel, J. C. (D '45)
Man on the raft. Riesenberg, F. (D '45)

Man who asked why. Ryan, J. (D '45)
Man who was there. Morris, W. (D '45)
Management at the bargaining table. Hill, L. H., and Hook, C. R. (Ag '45)
Management in homes. Cushman, E. M. (D '45)
Management of inspection and quality control. Juran, J. M. (Ag '45)
Manatee. Bruff, N. (N '45)
Manchu empress. Hunter, B. M. (Ag '45)
Mandates
Logan, R. W. Senate and the Versailles mandate system. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Manhattan furlough. Haydn, H. C. (My '45)
Manpower in marketing. Benge, E. J. (Je '45)
Man's most dangerous myth. Ashley-Montagu, M. F. (O '45)
Manual of aircraft layout. Faltus, R., and Steinmetz, C. W. (Je '45)
Manual of blueprint reading. Svensen, C. L., and Street, W. E. (Mr '45)
Manual of copyright practice for writers, publishers, and agents. Nicholson, M. (D '45)
Manual of machine shop practice. Benedict, O. (Mr '45)
Manual of photogrammetry. American society of photogrammetry. (Mr '45)
Manual of the aspergilli. Thom, C., and Raper, K. B. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Many creeds, one cross. Storrs, C. E. (Ap '45)
Many long years ago. Nash, O. (N '45)
Maps, Early
Wroth, L C. Early cartography of the Pacific. (S '45)
Maquisard. Guerard, A. J. (N '45)
Marginalia. Lovecraft, H. P. (Ap '45)
Marine electric power. Newman, Q. B. (O '45)
Marine electricians' library. Dodds, J. M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Marine fauna
Stommel, H. M. Science of the seven seas. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Maritain, Raissa (Mme Jacques Maritain)
Maritain, R. Adventures in grace. (S '45)
Mark Twain. Pellowe, W. C. S. (D '45)
Marked for murder. Dresser, D. (D '45)
Marriage
Foster, R. G. Marriage and family relationships. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Goldstein, S. E. Marriage and family counseling. (Ag '45)
Overton, G. S. Marriage in war and peace. (S '45)
Marriage and family counseling. Goldstein, S. E. (Ag '45)
Marriage and family relationships. Foster, R. G. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Marriage in war and peace. Overton, G. S. (S '45)
Marriage of Josephine. Coryn, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Marta of Muscovy. Stong, P. D. (S '45)
Mary Bray, fashion designer. Gallagher, L. B. (O '45)
Mary Jo and little Liu. Ageton, A. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mary Patten's daughters. Abbott, J. L. D. (Ag '45)
Masefield, John
Masefield, J. New chum. (My '45)
Masias, John. See John Masias
Masked murder. Eng title of: Dark prophecy. Alan, M. (N '45)
Masks
Benda, W. T. Masks. (My '45)
Masque of reason. Frost, R. (Ap '45)
Mass education movement
Buck, P. S. Tell the people. (My '45)
Mass radiography of the chest. Hilleboe, H. E., and Morgan, R. H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Massachusetts
History
Colonial period
Willison, G. F. Saints and strangers. (S '45)
Masterpieces of Persian art. Pope, A.U. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Masters of mass production. Borth, C. (Ag '45)
Materia medica, Vegetable
Allport, N. L. Chemistry and pharmacy of vegetable drugs. (Je '45)
Materialism
Tute, R. C. After materialism—what? (S '45)
Mathematical statistics
Levy, H., and Preidel, E. E. Elementary statistics. (N '45)
Mathematics
Hadamard, J. S. Essay on the psychology of invention in the mathematical field. (Ag '45)
Hooper, A. River mathematics. (D '45)
Pólya, G. How to solve it. (S '45)
Smith, C. E. Applied mathematics for radio and communication engineers. (D '45)
Sohon, H. Engineering mathematics. (Mr '45)
History
Hooper, A. River mathematics. (D '45)
Mathew, Theobald
Rogers, P. Father Theobald Mathew. (Je '45)
Mathews, John Joseph
Mathews, J. J. Talking to the moon. (S '45)
Matthew, the young king. Goldszmit, H. (My '45)
Mayas
Von Hagen, V. W. Aztec and Maya papermakers. (O '45)
Mayerberg, Samuel Spier
Mayerberg, S. S. Chronicle of an American crusader. (My '45)
The maze. Sandoz, M. Y. (D '45)
A meal in itself. Mabon, M. F. (Ap '45)
Meaning (psychology)
Stevenson, C. L. Ethics and language. (Ag '45)
Meaning of relativity. Einstein, A. (S '45)
Measuring instruments
Toliver, R. R. Care and use of hand tools. (Je '45)
Mechanical and electrical equipment for buildings. Gay, C. M., and Fawcett, C. D. (Je '45)
Mechanical drawing
Davis, D. J., and Goen, C. H. Aircraft mechanical drawing. (Je '45)
Radzinsky, H. Making patent drawings. (S '45)
Mechanical engineering
Cornetet, W. H., and Fox, D. W. Applied fundamentals of machines. (O '45)
Hesse, H. C., and Rushton, J. H. Process equipment design. (My '45)
Handbooks, manuals, etc.
Wagener, A. M., and Arthur, H. R. Machinists' and draftsmen's handbook. (D '45)
Mecklin, John Moffatt
Mecklin, J. M. My quest for freedom. (Ag '45)
Medals
Toynbee, J. M. C. Roman medallions. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Medals for marines. Boswell, R. E. (O '45)
Medical care of merchant seamen. Wheeler, W L. (O '45)
Medical economics
Goldmann, F. Public medical care. (S '45)
Medical research
Cannon, W. B. Way of an investigator. (S '45)
Medical service
Goldmann, F. Public medical care. (S '45)
Medical social work
Gunn, S. M., and Platt, P. S. Voluntary health agencies. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Richardson, H. B. Patients have families. (My '45)
Medicine
Montgomery, E. R. Story behind great medical discoveries. (D '45)
History
Clark-Kennedy, A. E. Art of medicine in relation to the progress of thought. (N '45)
Practice
Binger, C. A. L. Doctor's job. (Ap '45)
Stern, B. J. American medical practice in the perspectives of a century (Ap '45)
United States
Pickard, M. E., and Buley, R. C. Midwest pioneer. (S '45)

Medicine, Military
Fishbein, M., ed. Doctors at war. (Je '45)
Griffin, A. R. Out of carnage. (O '45)
Medicine, Naval
Wheeler, W. L. Medical care of merchant seamen. (O '45)
Medicine, Popular
Sokoloff, B. F. Civilized diseases. (Mr '45)
Meet Amos and Hosea. Wolfe, R. E. (Ag '45)
Meet your ancestors. Andrews, R. C. (D '45)
Melindy's medal. Faulkner, G., and Becker, J. (Ag '45)
Méline tariff. Golob, E. O. (My '45)
Memoirs of a shy pornographer. Patchen, K. (N '45)
Memoirs of an ex-diplomat. Wilson, F. M. H. (Je '45)
Memories and opinions. Quiller-Couch, A. T. (Ag '45)
Memories of an old-time tar heel. Battle, K. P. (D '45)
Memory and desire. Main, M. F. (D '45)
Memphis bragabouts. Roark, E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Men and women who make music. Ewen, D. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Men at work. Chase, S., and Tyler, M. (Ag '45)
Men, mind, and power. Abrahamsen, D. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Men that wouldn't stay dead. Eng title of: Men who wouldn't stay dead. Clarke, I. C. G. (N '45)
Men under stress. Grinker, R. R., and Spiegel, J. P. (D '45)
Men who built the West. Gray, A. A. (O '45)
Men who have walked with God. Cheney, S. W. (N '45)
Men who wouldn't stay dead. Clarke, I. C. G. (N '45)
Mennonites
Hershberger, G. F. War, peace, and nonresistance. (Je '45)
Mental abnormality, and crime. Craig, R. N., and others. (Je '45)
Mental diseases
Kaplan, O. J., ed. Mental disorders in later life. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mental disorders in later life. Kaplan, O. J., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mental hygiene
Kupper, H. I. Back to life. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Moore, T. V. Personal mental hygiene. (D '45)
Mental tests
Traxler, A. E. Techniques of guidance. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Menus
Brobeck, F. R. Serve it buffet. (Ap '45)
Sense, E. Nutrition with Sense. (Ap '45)
Mercantile buildings
Nicholson, E. Contemporary shops in the United States. (D '45)
Mercantile system
Schuyler, R. L. Fall of the old colonial system. (S '45)
Merchant marine

Juvenile literature

Lent, H. B. Ahoy, shipmate! (S '45)

United States

Anderson, R. E. Merchant marine and world frontiers. (S '45)
Klitgaard, K. Oil and deep water. (N '45)
Rathbone, A. D. Shall we scrap our merchant marine? (Je '45)
Merchant marine and world frontiers. Anderson, R. E. (S '45)
Merchant of alphabets. Orcutt, R. (Ag '45)
Mergenthaler linotype company
Orcutt, R. Merchant of alphabets. (Ag '45)
Mesa Verde. La Farge, C. (S '45)
Mesomerism
Wheland, G. W. Theory of resonance and its application to organic chemistry. (Mr '45)
Message from a corpse. Merwin, S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Message of the New Testament. Hunter, A. M. (Ag '45)
Metabolism
Brody, S. Bioenergetics and growth. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Metal work
Haas, L. J. Art metal work and jewelry. (D '45)
Metallography
Malleable founders' society. American malleable iron. (N '45)
Metallurgy
Merlub-Sobel, M. Metals and alloys dictionary. (Ap '45)
Metals
Merlub-Sobel, M. Metals and alloys dictionary. (Ap '45)
Metals and alloys dictionary. Merlub-Sobel, M. (Ap '45)
Meteorology
Brands, G. J. Meteorology, a practical course in weather. (Je '45)
Holmboe, J., and others. Dynamic meteorology. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Stewart, J. Q. Coasts, waves and weather. (O '45)
Stommel, H. M. Science of the seven seas. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Meteorology, a practical course in weather. Brands, G. J. (Je '45)
Meteorology in aeronautics
Gillmer, T. C., and Nietsch, H. E. Clouds, weather and flight. (Mr '45)
Methinks the lady. Endore, G. (D '45)
Method for the easy comprehension of history. Bodin, J. (S '45)
Methods in climatology. Conrad, V. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Methods of vocational guidance. Forrester, G. (Ap '45)
Mexican gold trail. Evans, G. W. B. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mexican village. Niggli, J. (N '45)
Mexicans in New Mexico

Bibliography

Saunders, L., comp. Guide to materials bearing on cultural relations in New Mexico. (My '45)
Mexico

Description and travel

Evans, G. W. B. Mexican gold trail. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Henle, F. Mexico. (S '45)
Toor, F. New guide to Mexico. (S '45)

Social life and customs

Chandos, D. Village in the sun. (N '45)
Michael Angelo Mouse. Evans, K. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mickey, the horse that volunteered. Glick, C. (My '45)
Microbial antagonisms and antibiotic substances. Waksman, S. A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Micro-organisms
Waksman, S. A. Microbial antagonisms and antibiotic substances. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Mid country. Wimberly, L. C., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Middle mist. Renault, M. (Mr '45)
Middle span. Santayana, G. (My '45)
Midnight cry. Nichol, F. D. (Je '45)
Midsummer nightmare. Stevens, F. M. R. (S '45)
Midwest pioneer. Pickard, M. E., and Buley, R. C. (S '45)
Migration, Internal
Bontemps, A. W., and Conroy, J. They seek a city. (Ag '45)

Asia

Lasker, B. Asia on the move. (Ap '45)
Militarism
Maki, J. M. Japanese militarism. (Je '45)
Military art and science
Marshall, G. C. Selected speeches and statements. (O '45)
Nickerson, H. Arms and policy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Sun Tzu. Art of war. (My '45)
Military history
Fuller, J. F. C. Armament and history. (N '45)
Military occupation
Fraenkel, E. Military occupation and the rule of law. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Ward, R. S. Asia for the Asiatics? (S '45)

Military occupation and the rule of law. Fraenkel, E. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Military service, Compulsory
Fitzpatrick, E. A. Universal military training. (O '45)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Peacetime conscription. (D '45)

Mill, John Stuart

Bibliography

Mill, J. S. Bibliography of [his] published writings. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Millennium 1. Dwiggins, W. A. (Je '45)

Miller, Alice (Duer)
Miller, H. W. All our lives. (Ag '45)

Miller, William
Nichol, F. D. Midnight cry. (Je '45)

Millinery
Garnell, H. It's fun to make a hat. (Ap '45)

Million homes a year. Rosenman, D. R. (Je '45)
Millstream. Lawrence, R. (N '45)

Milton, John
Buxton, C. R. Prophets of heaven and hell. (D '45)

Paradise lost

Bush, D. Paradise lost in our time. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Mineral industries
Rickard, T. A. Romance of mining. (Je '45)

Minerals of might. Hotchkiss, W. O. (O '45)

Mines and mineral resources
Hotchkiss, W. O. Minerals of might. (O '45)

United States

Roberts, W. A. State taxation of metallic deposits. (O '45)

Miniature history of the war. Ensor, R. C. K. (Ap '45)

Minnesota
Gray, J. Pine, stream and prairie. (My '45)
Le Sueur, M. North star country. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Minor heresies. Espey, J. J. (My '45)

Minorities
Azcárate y Flórez, P. de. League of nations and national minorities. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Brown, F. J., and Roucek, J. S., eds. One America. (Je '45)
Janowsky, O. I. Nationalities and national minorities. (D '45)
Stegner, W. One nation. (N '45)
Warner, W. L., and Srole, L. Social systems of American ethnic groups. (O '45)

Mirabilis diamond. Odlum, J. (N '45)
Miss Dilly says no. Pratt, T. (Ap '45)
Miss Warren's son. Jordan, E. G. (S '45)
Mission beyond darkness. Bryan, J., and Reed, P. (Ag '45)
Mission of the university. Ortega y Gasset, J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Missionaries
Eddy, G. S. Pathfinders of the world missionary crusade. (D '45)

Missions
Aberly, J. Outline of missions. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Eddy, G. S. Pathfinders of the world missionary crusade. (D '45)
Latourette, K. S. History of the expansion of Christianity: v7, Advance through storm. (Ag '45)

Africa

Baker, H. E. More about Africa. (D '45)

Asia, Southeast

Mathews, B. J. Unfolding drama in southeast Asia. (Je '45)

China

Eddy, G. S. I have seen God work in China. (My '45)
Espey, J. J. Minor heresies. (My '45)
Tennien, M. A. Chungking listening post. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Islands of the Pacific

Van Dusen, H. P. They found the church there. (S '45)

Northwest

Bischoff, W. N. Jesuits in old Oregon. (D '45)

Oceania

Mathews, B. J. Unfolding drama in southeast Asia. (Je '45)

Missouri

Social life and customs

Lyon, M. Fresh from the hills. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Missouri river
Campbell, W. S. The Missouri. (Mr '45)

Mr. Allenby loses the way. Baker, F. (Ag '45)
Mr. Bunny paints the eggs. Maril, L. (Je '45)
Mr. Digby. Welch, D. (Je '45)
Mr Finny. Plowitz, K. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mr Nosey. Hooks, A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mr. Petunia. Gogarty, O. S. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mr Tutt finds a way. Train, A. C. (Ap '45)
Mr Wilmer. Lawson, R. (Je '45)
Mrs. Heriot's house. Webster, B. (Je '45)
The Mitchells. Van Stockum, H. (D '45)
Mitri. Sargent, D. (S '45)
Mob 3. Parsons, R. P. (Ap '45)
Mode in hats and headdress. Wilcox, R. T. (S '45)
Model child. Hall, M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Modern American short stories. Cerf, B. A., ed (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Modern biography. Hyde, M. A., ed. (My '45)
Modern bird study. Griscom, L. (S '45)
Modern dance for the youth of America. Radir, R. A. (Mr '45)
Modern farmers' cyclopedia of agriculture. Wilcox, E. V. (Je '45)
Modern gas turbine. Sawyer, R. T. (My '45)
Modern German literature. Lange, V. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Modern humor for effective speaking. Allen, E. F., ed. (O '45)
Modern Korea. Grajdanzev, A. J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Modern man is obsolete. Cousins, N. (D '45)
Modern prison system of India. Barker, F. A. (O '45)
Modern women in love. Stead, C., and Blech, W. J., eds. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Modern wonder book of the air. Carlisle, N. V., and others. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Molders of opinion. Bulman, D., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Molders of the medieval mind. Cassidy, F. P. (Ap '45)

Molds (for plastics)
Thayer, G. B. Plastics molds. (O '45)

Molecules
Herzberg, G. Infrared and raman spectra of polyatomic molecules. (O '45)

Moment of time. McLean, S. R. (My '45)

Money
Halm, G. International monetary cooperation. (Je '45)

United States

Munson, G. B. Aladdin's lamp. (My '45)

Money to burn. Woodward, H. R. (Je '45)

Monopolies
Lasser, D. Private monopoly. (D '45)
Levy, H. Retail trade associations. (S '45)

Monroe, James
Styron, A. Last of the cocked hats. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Montgomery, Sir Bernard Law
Larson, M. G. Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery. (O '45)

Moral conquest of Germany. Ludwig, E. (Je '45)
Moral theory of evolutionary naturalism. Quillian, W. F. (N '45)
More about Africa. Baker, H. E. (D '45)
More essays on Greek romances. Haight, E. H. (S '45)
More lives than one. Skidmore, H. D. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Morgue the merrier. Truesdell, J. (Ag '45)

Mormons and Mormonism
Brodie, F. M. No man knows my history. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Whipple, M. This is the place: Utah. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Morris, the midget moose. Owen, F. (N '45)

Moses

Fiction

Mann, T. Tables of the law. (S '45)

Mosquitoes
  Headlee, T. J. Mosquitoes of New Jersey and their control. (S '45)
Mosquitoes of New Jersey and their control. Headlee, T. J. (S '45)
Mosses
  Conard, H. S. How to know the mosses. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Most secret. Norway, N. S. (N '45)
Mother Goose handicraft. Jordan, N. R. (N '45)
Mother Goose tells time. Mother Goose. (S '45)
Motion picture products and distributors of America, incorporated
  Moley, R. Hays office. (Ag '45)
Mount, William Sidney
  Cowdrey, B., and Williams, H. W. William Sidney Mount. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Mount Delightful. Youmans, E. W. (Mr '45)
Mountain whites (South)
  McNeer, M. Y. Story of the southern highlands. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Moved outers. Means, F. C. (Ap '45)
Movie lot to beachhead. Look (periodical). (My '45)
Moving picture industry
  Moley, R. Hayes office. (Ag '45)
Moving picture plays
  Gassner, J., and Nichols, D., eds. Best film plays of 1943-1944. (Ag '45)
  Vale, E. Technique of screenplay writing. (Ap '45)
Moving pictures
  Look (periodical). Movie lot to beachhead. (My '45)
Juvenile literature
  Bendick, J. Making the movies. (D '45)
Mozart, Johann Chrysostom Wolfgang Amadeus
  Einstein, A. Mozart. (Mr '45)
Juvenile literature
  Mayo, W. Mozart. (Ag '45)
Mpengo of the Congo. McGavran, G. W. (S '45)
Mudhen. Allen, M. P. (N '45)
Muir, John
  Wolfe, L. M. Son of the wilderness. (S '45)
Mule skinners. Richardson, M. R. (D '45)
Mullica river
  Beck, H. C. Jersey genesis. (S '45)
Municipal research
  Gill, N. N. Municipal research bureaus. (Mr '45)
Municipal research bureaus. Gill, N. N. (Mr '45)
Mural painting and decoration
  Charlot, J. Charlot mural in Georgia. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Murder
  Jackson, J. H., ed. Portable murder book. (O '45)
  Wright, S. P., ed. Chicago murders. (Ag '45)
Murder before midnight. Cunningham, A. B. (O '45)
Murder by proxy. Boyers, B. and A. (S '45)
Murder expert. Koehler, R. P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Murder-go-round. Donnel, C. P. (S '45)
Murder has an echo. Notley, J. F. (Ap '45)
Murder in plain sight. Brown, G. (Ag '45)
Murder is my business. Dresser, D. (Ag '45)
Murder on a tangent. Disney, D. M. (My '45)
Murder on Angler's island. Reilly, H. K. (Je '45)
Murder plays an ugly scene. Strong, L. A. G. (O '45)
Murder wears mukluks. Boyd, E. M. (My '45)
Murderer is a fox. Queen, E. (Je '45)
Museums
  Taylor, F. H. Babel's tower. (Ag '45)
Music
  Tovey, D. F. Musical articles from the Encyclopaedia Britannica. (Mr '45)
Analysis, interpretation, appreciation
  Spaeth, S. G. At home with music. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Thomson, V. Musical scene. (My '45)
  Welch, R. D. Appreciation of music. (S '45)
Dictionaries
  Apel, W. Harvard dictionary of music. (N '45) (1944 Annual)
Examinations, questions, etc.
  Cott, T. Victor book of musical fun. (S '45)
Instruction and study
  Barnett, D. They shall have music. (D '45)
Philosophy and esthetics
  Schoen, M. Understanding of music. (D '45)
Psychology
  Schoen, M. Understanding of music. (D '45)
Theory
  Katz, A. T. Challenge to musical tradition. (D '45)
New York (city)
  Thomson, V. Musical scene. (My '45)
United States
Bibliography
  Sonneck, O. G. T. Bibliography of early secular American music. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Vienna
  Graf, M. Legend of a musical city. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Music, Latin American
  Slonimsky, N. Music of Latin America. (N '45)
Music and sound systems in industry. Benson, B. E. (N '45)
Music in industry
  Benson, B. E. Music and sound systems in industry. (N '45)
Music is gone. Doughty, L. S. (My '45)
Music master of the Middle West. Bergmann, L. N. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Music of Latin America. Slonimsky, N. (N '45)
Musical articles from the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Tovey, D. F. (Mr '45)
Musical instruments
  Geiringer, K. Musical instruments. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Musical scene. Thomson, V. (My '45)
Musicians
  Ewen, D. Men and women who make music. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Antheil, G. Bad boy of music. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, F. Letters. (Ag '45)
  Miller, H., and Cooper, P. Footloose fiddler. (Ag '45)
  Tchaikovski, P. I. Diaries. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Wechsberg, J. Looking for a bluebird. (Mr '45)
Muskrats
Legends and stories
  Gall, A. C., and Crew, F. H. Splasher. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
My American adventure. Barschak, E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
My animal babies. Benchley, B. J. (Je '45)
My brother Americans. Romulo, C. P. (Ag '45)
My caravan of years. Stone, G. T. (O '45)
My Chinese wife. Eskelund. K. (S '45)
My country. Davenport, R. W. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
My dog, Lemon. Holland, R. P. (D '45)
My favorite war story. Look (periodical). (D '45)
My Felicia. Driscoll, P. F. (N '45)
My head and my heart. Bullock, H. D. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
My home town. Ford, E. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
My Indian family. Wernher, H. (S '45)
My life to the destroyers. Abercrombie, L. A., and Pratt, F. (Mr '45)
My love is young. Parsons, P. W. (Ag '45)
My mother is the most beautiful woman in the world. Reyher, R. (D '45)
My quest for freedom. Mecklin, J. M. (Ag '45)
My rival, the sky. Kurtz, M. R. (Ag '45)
My twenty-five years in China. Powell, J. B. (D '45)
My wayward parent. Cobb, E. (D '45)
My Yankee Paris. French, H. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
My young life. Temple, S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Mynahs
Wells, Z. R. and C. Raffles. (S '45)
Mystery in blue. Mallette, G. E. (D '45)
Mystery island. Blyton, E. (Ap '45)
Mystery of iniquity. Furfey, P. H. (Je '45)
Mystery of the hectic holidays. Selkirk, J. (Mr '45)
Mystery of the Mayan jewels. Crespi, P., and Lee, J. (My '45)
Mystery of the old barn. Urmston, M. (Ag '45)
Mystery of the secret drawer. Orton, H. F (O '45)
Mysticism
Cheney, S. W. Men who have walked with God. (N '45)
Reinhold, H. A., ed. Soul afire. (Je '45)
Mythology
Juvenile literature
Sellew, C. F. Adventures with the gods. (D '45)

Naked city. Fellig, A. (S '45)
Names, Geographical
Greet, W. C. World words. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Stewart, G. R. Names on the land. (My '45)
Names, Personal
Greet, W. C. World words. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Names on the land. Stewart, G. R. (My '45)
Nancy and Jane. Alexander, F. B. (My '45)
Napoleonic wars
Klingberg, F. J., and Hustvedt, S. B., eds. Warning drum. (Ap '45)
Narcotics
Spillard, W. J. Needle in a haystack. (D '45)
Nathan, boy of Capernaum. Lillie, A. M. (My '45)
Nation of nations. Adamic, L. (D '45)
National and international stability. Gerbrandy, P. S. (My '45)
National characteristics, American
Barschak, E. My American adventure. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Goris, J. A. Strangers should not whisper. (Mr '45)
National characteristics, English
Dobie, J. F. Texan in England. (Je '45)
National characteristics, German
Abrahamsen, D. Men, mind, and power. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Anspacher, L. K. Story of liberty. (My '45)
Hauser, H. German talks back. (O '45)
Martin, F. Junker menace. (S '45)
National cultures, Nazism and the church. Krzesiński, A. J. (S '45)
National health agencies. Cavins, H. M. (D '45)
National health insurance. Levy, H. (S '45)
National power and the structure of foreign trade. Hirschman, A. O. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
National self-determination. Cobban, A. (D '45)
Nationalism and after. Carr, E. H. (N '45)
Nationalism and nationality
Carr, E. H. Nationalism and after. (N '45)
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to national unity. (D '45)
Hertz, F. O. Nationality in history and politics. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Janowsky, O. I. Nationalities and national minorities. (D '45)
Nationalism and religion
Krzesiński, A. J. National cultures, Nazism and the church. (S '45)
Nationalities and national minorities. Janowsky, O. I. (D '45)
Nationality in history and politics. Hertz, F. O. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Native peoples of the Pacific world. Keesing, F. M. (S '45)
Natural history
Alberta, Canada
Wood, K. Three mile bend. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Cuba
Barbour, T. Naturalist in Cuba. (D '45)
Great Britain
Tansley, A. G. Our heritage of wild nature. (S '45)
Sierra Nevada mountains
Carrighar, S. One day on Beetle Rock. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Natural resources
Canada
Newton-White, E. Canadian restoration. (My '45)
China
Rowe, D. N. China among the powers. (Ap '45)
Russia
Cressey, G. B. Basis of Soviet strength. (S '45)
Naturalism
Quillian, W. F. Moral theory of evolutionary naturalism. (N '45)
Naturalist in Cuba. Barbour, T. (D '45)
Nature
Hopkins, G. M. Selections from [his] notebooks. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Teale, E. W. Lost woods. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Nature and origins of scientism. Wellmuth, J. J. (Je '45)
Nature of Maine. Bradshaw, M. J. (Mr '45)
Nature of the beast. Noble, R. C. (My '45)
Nautical mathematics, and Marine navigation. Walling, S. A., and others. (Mr '45)
Navaho Indians
Hannum, A. P. Spin a silver dollar. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Naval art and science
Dictionaries
Colcord, J. C. Sea language comes ashore. (Mr '45)
Naval hygiene
Wheeler, W. L. Medical care of merchant seamen. (O '45)
Naval log. Thompson, W. K., and Stone, G. W. (O '45)
Navies
Kafka, R., and Pepperburg, R. L., eds. Warships of the world. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Navigation
Plummer, C. J. Ship handling in narrow channels. (O '45)
Stewart, J. Q. Coasts, waves and weather. (O '45)
Walling, S. A., and others. Nautical mathematics, and Marine navigation. (Mr '45)
Navigation (aeronautics)
Hadingham, R. Astronomical air navigation. (Ap '45)
Necessary Nellie. Baker, C. (D '45)
Needle in a haystack. Spillard, W. J. (D '45)
Negro in the armed forces. Schoenfeld, S. J. (S '45)
Negro songs
Trent-Johns, A. Play songs of the deep South. (Ap '45)
Wheeler, M. Steamboatin' days. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Negroes
Aptheker, H. Essays in the history of the American Negro. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Bontemps, A. W., and Conroy, J. They seek a city. (Ag '45)
Logan, R. W., ed. What the Negro wants. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Moon, B., ed. Primer for white folks. (S '45)
Powell, A. C. Riots and ruins. (S '45)
White, W. F. Rising wind. (Ap '45)
Bibliography
Du Bois, W. E. B., and Johnson, G. B., eds. Encyclopedia of the Negro. (Je '45)
Biography
Bontemps, A. W. We have tomorrow. (N '45)
Richardson, B. A. Great American Negroes. (D '45)
Encyclopedias and dictionaries
Du Bois, W. E. B., and Johnson, G. B. eds. Encyclopedia of the Negro. (Je '45)
Juvenile literature
Mayer, E. H. Our Negro brother. (Ag '45)

Religion

McKinney, R. I. Religion in higher education among Negroes. (O '45)

Chicago

Drake, St Clair, and Cayton, H. R. Black metropolis. (D '45)

Negroes as soldiers
Schoenfeld, S. J. Negro in the armed forces. (S '45)

Nehru, Krishna. See Hutheesing, K. N.
Neo-idealist political theory. Harris, F. P. (My '45)
Neosho, Missouri, under the impact of army camp construction. Kohler, L. T. (S '45)

Neptune, John
Eckstorm, F. H. Old John Neptune. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Nervous system

Diseases

Mathews, A. G. Take it easy. (D '45)

Hygiene

Mathews, A. G. Take it easy. (D '45)

Net of cobwebs. Holding, E. S. (Mr '45)

Netherlands

History

Vlekke, B. H. M. Evolution of the Dutch nation. (S '45)

German occupation, 1940-1945

Meerloo, A. M. Total war and the human mind. (O '45)

Netherlands Indies
Vlekke, B. H. M. Story of the Dutch East Indies. (O '45)
Network analysis and feedback amplifier design. Bode, H. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Neurologist's point of view. Wechsler, I. S. (Ap '45)

Neuroses
English, O. S., and Pearson, G. H. J. Emotional problems of living. (D '45)
Horney, K. Our inner conflicts. (N '45)
Wechsler, I. S. Neurologist's point of view. (Ap '45)
Never let me go. Wilhelm, G. (Ap '45)
New chum. Masefield, J. (My '45)
New city. Hilberseimer, L. (Je '45)
New crops for the New World. Wilson, C. M., ed. (O '45)
New directions in psychology. Lowy, S. (D '45)
New education and religion. Williams, J. P. (My '45)

New England

Description and travel

Marlowe, G. F. Coaching roads of old New England. (Mr '45)

History

Webster, C. M. Town meeting country. (Ap '45)

Views

Chamberlain, S. Ever New England. (Ag '45)
New found world. Shippen, K. B. (Ag '45)
New frontiers in Asia. Jaffe, P. J. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
New guide to Mexico. Toor, F. (S '45)

New Harmony, Indiana
Young, M. Angel in the forest. (My '45)

New Jersey

Social life and customs

Beck, H. C. Jersey genesis. (S '45)

New Mexico

Antiquities

Hall, E. T. Early stockaded settlements in the Governador, New Mexico. (Ap '45)

Bibliography

Saunders, L., comp. Guide to materials bearing on cultural relations in New Mexico. (My '45)
New plastics. Simonds, H. R., and others. (O '45)
New standard encyclopedia of universal knowledge. (My '45)
New Testament commentary from the Aramaic and the ancient eastern customs. Lamsa, G. M. (Ag '45)
New veteran. Bolte, C. G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
New world of machines. Manchester, H. (My '45)

New York (city)

Charities

Stidley, L. A. Sectarian welfare federation among Protestants. (My '45)

Social life and customs

Fellig, A. Naked city. (S '45)
Odell, G. C. D. Annals of the New York stage; v 14. (Ag '45)

New York times
New York times. Newspaper, its making and its meaning. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Newman, Henry
Clarke, E. K. L. Eighteenth century piety. (Ap '45)

Newman, John Henry, cardinal
Benard, E. D. Preface to Newman's theology. (S '45)
Harrold, C. F. John Henry Newman. (D '45)
Houghton, W. E. Art of Newman's Apologia. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Moody, J. John Henry Newman. (D '45)
News from north of the Nile. Harris, P. (S '45)
Newspaper, its making and its meaning. New York times. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Nicholas, Saint, bp of Myra

Juvenile literature

Pauli, H. E. St. Nicholas' travels. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Nick and Nan in Yucatan. Crane, A. (D '45)
Nicodemus and the goose. Hogan, I. (My '45)
Night has a thousand eyes. Woolrich, C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Night with Jupiter. Ford, C. H., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Nine cry-baby dolls. Bernhard, J. B. (Je '45)
Nine mile bridge. Hamlin, H. (Je '45)
Nine strings to your bow. Walsh, M. (N '45)
Nineteenth century Readers' guide to periodical literature. (Ag '45)
No arch, no triumph. Brinnin, J. M. (Ap '45)
No future for Luana. Derleth, A. W. (My '45)
No greater love. Spellman, F. J. (S '45)
No hiding place. Morris, T. (Ag '45)
No kiddin'! Bairnsfather, B. (My '45)
No light came on. Campbell, A. O. (My '45)
No man knows my history. Brodie, F. M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
No one's kindness. Loveridge, G. (Ag '45)
No passport for Paris. Moats, A. L. (Ag '45)
No school Friday. Martin, F. G. M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
No shortage of men. Hueston, E. P. (O '45)
No time for crime. Russell, C. M. (My '45)
No time for silence. Lombroso, S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
No traveler returns. Szoszkies, H. J. (Ap '45)
No tumult, no shouting. Thorburn, L. L. and D. (Mr '45)
No voice is wholly lost. Slochower, H. (Ag '45)
Nobody loves a dead man. Raison, M. M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Nomography (mathematics)
Kraitchik, M. Alignment charts, construction and use. (Ag '45)
None shall know. Albrand, M. (Ag '45)
None so blind. Wilson, M. A. (D '45)
Noose hangs high. Robertson, F. C. (My '45)
Noose is drawn. Barber, W. A., and Schabelitz, R. F. (N '45)
Normal lives for the disabled. Yost, E. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Norris, George William
Norris, G. W. Fighting liberal. (Je '45)
North American game fishes. LaMonte, F. R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
North Atlantic triangle. Brebner, J. B. (N '45)
North, East, South, West. Lee, C., ed. (D '45)
North Fork. Gates, D. (D '45)

North Salem, New York
North Salem, New York. Central high school. When our town was young. (N '45)
North star country. Le Sueur, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
North wind of love. Mackenzie, C. (O '45)

Norwegians in Chicago
Osland, B. Long pull from Stavanger. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Not a leg to stand on. Burton, M. (S '45)
Not in our stars. Greene, J. E. (O '45)

Notes on art for Catholics. Fortune, C. (My '45)
Notre Dame, University of
  Ward, A. Frank Leahy and the fighting Irish. (Ap '45)
Now and forever. Jordan, M. V. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Now that April's there. Neumann, D. (My '45)
Nuclear physics
  Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Advances in nuclear chemistry and theoretical organic chemistry. (D '45)
Nurses and nursing
  Parsons, E. J. In the doctor's office. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Juvenile literature
  Newcomb, E. Brave nurse. (O '45)
Nutrition
  Macy, I. G., and Williams, H. H. Hidden hunger. (S '45)
  Selling, L. S., and Ferarro, M. A. S. Psychology of diet and nutrition. (Ap '45)
  Sense, E. Nutrition with Sense. (Ap '45)
Nutrition with Sense. Sense, E. (Ap '45)
Nuts
  Wilkinson, A. E. Encyclopedia of fruits, berries and nuts. (Je '45)
  Juvenile literature
  Maril, L. Crack and crunch. (Ag '45)
Nyanga's two villages. Booth, E. R. (S '45)

O'Banion, Ansel
  Glick, C. Double ten. (Ap '45)
O'Bannon (destroyer)
  Horan, J. D. Action tonight. (S '45)
Oboler omnibus. Oboler, A. (O '45)
Obscure enemy. Raynolds, R. (S '45)
Obsequies at Oxford. Montgomery, R. B. (Ap '45)
Obstetrics
  Rosenberg, B. D. Special delivery. (Ap '45)
Occupational accident prevention. Judson, H. H., and Brown, J. M. (Mr '45)
Occupational instruction. Bollinger, E. W., and Weaver, G. G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Occupational planning for tomorrow. Dougherty, N. F. (Ap '45)
Occupational therapy
  Haas, L. J. Practical occupational therapy for the mentally and nervously ill. (Ap '45)
Occupations
  Huff, D. and F. M. N. Twenty careers of tomorrow. (Je '45)
  Leyson, B. W. Careers in the steel industry. (Ag '45)
  Vocational guidance research. 500 postwar jobs for men. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Ocean
  Stewart, J. Q. Coasts, waves and weather. (O '45)
  Stommel, H. M. Science of the seven seas. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Oceania
  Juvenile literature
  Borden, C. A. Oceania. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Yearbooks
  Pacific islands handbook, 1944; ed. by R. W. Robson. (Je '45)
Oceania. Borden, C. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Of life and love. Ludwig, E. (Ag '45)
Of the imitation of Christ today. Kirkland, W. M. (S '45)
Off mike. Lawrence, J., ed. (Mr '45)
Officially dead. Smith, C. D. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Oil and deep water. Klitgaard, K. (N '45)
Oils and fats
  Bailey, A. E. Industrial oil and fat products. (D '45)
  Chatfield, H. W. Varnish constituents. (Ap '45)
Old age
  Kaplan, O. J., ed. Mental disorders in later life. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Steincrohn, P. J. Forget your age! (Je '45)
Old caboose. De Witt, E. F. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Old California trail. Altrocchi, J. C. (My '45)
Old Dutch houses of Brooklyn. Dilliard, M. E. (D '45)
Old John Neptune. Eckstorm, F. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Old Leatherface of the Flying Tigers. Ayling, K. (S '45)
Omnipotent government. Mises, L. von (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
On a note of triumph. Corwin, N. L. (Je '45)
On the tip of my tongue. Brody, I. (Ap '45)
On to westward. Sherrod, R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
On winter's traces. Boynton-Hamilton, M. K. (N '45)
Once in every lifetime. Hanlin, T. (N '45)
Once in Vienna. . . Baum, V. (Mr '45)
One America. Brown, F. J., and Rouček, J. S., eds. (Je '45)
One angel less. Roden, H. W. (My '45)
One day on Beetle Rock. Carrighar, S. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
One destiny. Asch, S. (O '45)
One God. Fitch, F. M. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
100 poems. Thompson, E. J. (My '45)
One kind of religion. Wodehouse, H. (D '45)
One nation. Stegner, W. (N '45)
One small voice. Oswald, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
One that got away. McCloy, H. (D '45)
One thousand books for hospital libraries. Jones, P., comp. (My '45)
One who survived. Barmine, A. (S '45)
One world and one God. Capozzi, F. C. (D '45)
One world in the making. Perry, R. B. (D '45)
Only ghosts can live. Eng title of: P. O. W. Morgan, G. (N '45)
Only the years. Lechlitner, R. N. (Ap '45)
Ontario, Lake
  Pound, A. Lake Ontario. (Ag '45)
Open city. Mydans, S. S. (Mr '45)
Opener of the way. Bloch, R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Operas
  Librettos
  Hammerstein, O. Carmen Jones. (Mr '45)
Opportunity in Alaska. Sundborg, G. (D '45)
Optical instruments
  Brown, E. B. Optical instruments. (D '45)
Optics, Electronic
  Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Major instruments of science and their applications to chemistry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Orange on top. Van der Haas, H. (My '45)
Orchard hill. Seifert, E. (N '45)
Orchids to murder. Footner, H. (Ap '45)
Orcutt, Reginald
  Orcutt, R. Merchant of alphabets. (Ag '45)
Ordnance
  Juvenile literature
  McClintock, M. Story of war weapons. (S '45)
Organized labor. Millis, H. A., and Montgomery, R. E. (D '45)
Origins of inter-American interest. Bernstein, H. (My '45)
Osland, Birger
  Osland, B. Long pull from Stavanger. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Oswald, Marianne
  Oswald, M. One small voice. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Othello's occupation. Eng title of: Murder plays an ugly scene. Strong, L. A. G. (O '45)
Other men's flowers. Wavell, A. P. W., comp. (Je '45)
Our American neighbors. United States. Office of the coordinator of inter-American affairs. (Je '45)
Our Father's house. Gable, M. ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Our good neighbors in Soviet Russia. West, W., and Mitchell, J. P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Our heritage of wild nature. Tansley, A. G. (S '45)
Our inner conflicts. Horney, K. (N '45)
Our Negro brother. Mayer, E. H. (Ag '45)
Ourselves, inc. Ward, L. R. (O '45)
Out of carnage. Griffin, A. R. (O '45)
Out of control. Kendrick, B. H. (O '45)

Outdoor life
  Jaeger, E. Wildwood wisdom. (Mr '45)
  Meinecke, C. E. Your cabin in the woods. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Outline of missions. Aberly, J. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Outline of the amino acids and proteins. Sahyun, M., ed. (Ap '45)
Outlook for international law. Brierly, J. L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Outpost. Gibson, W. W. (O '45)
Outside Eden. Rorick, I. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Outsiders. Martin, A. E. (Ap '45)
Overland journeys to the Pacific
  Altrocchi, J. C. Old California trail. (My '45)
  Evans, G. W. B. Mexican gold trail. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Geiger, V., and Bryarly, W. Trail to California. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Ovid (Publius Ovidius Naso)
  Fränkel, H. F. Ovid. (N '45)
Owl in the cellar. Scherf, M. (O '45)
Ozark mountains
  Lyon, M. Fresh from the hills. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

P. O. W. Morgan, G. (N '45)
P-zoo. Hamilton, E. (N '45)
Pacelli, Eugenio. See Pius XII
Pacific islands handbook, 1944; ed. by R. W. Robson. (Je '45)
Pacific ocean
  Wroth, L. C. Early cartography of the Pacific. (S '45)
Padre views South America. Dunne, P. M. (Ag '45)
Paine, Thomas
  Paine, T. Complete writings; ed. by Philip S. Foner. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Paine, T. Selected work. (Ap '45)
  Woodward, W. E. Tom Paine. (S '45)
Paint
  Toch, M. Paint, paintings and restoration. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Paint, paintings and restoration. Toch, M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Painters
  Venturi, L. Painting and painters. (My '45)
  Ward, A. C. Seven painters. (N '45)
Painters, American
  Encyclopaedia britannica. Contemporary American painting. (Ag '45)
Painting
United States
  Janis, S. Abstract and surrealist art in America. (Mr '45)
Painting, Industrial
  Vanderwalker, F. N. Drake's cyclopedia of painting and decorating. (Je '45)
Painting and painters. Venturi, L. (My '45)
Paintings
  Venturi, L. Painting and painters. (My '45)
Conservation and restoration
  Toch, M. Paint, paintings and restoration. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Juvenile literature
  Brown, M. W. House of a hundred windows. (Ag '45)
Paintings, American
  Cassatt, M. Mary Cassatt, by Margaret Breuning. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Crane, A., ed. Portrait of America. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Encyclopaedia britannica. Contemporary American painting. (Ag '45)
Paintings, English
  John, A. E. Augustus John. (Mr '45)
Paintings, Flemish
  Elst, J. V. Last flowering of the middle ages. (Mr '45)
Paintings, French
  New York. Museum of modern art. Georges Rouault. (N '45)
  Rouault, G. Georges Rouault, by Edward Alden Jewell. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Paleontology
Juvenile literature
  Novikoff, A. B. Climbing our family tree. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Panama canal
  Mack, G. Land divided. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Pan Americanism
  Ball, M. M. Problem of inter-American organization. (Je '45)
Pan Pacific relations
  Institute of Pacific relations. Security in the Pacific. (S '45)
Panorama of prejudice. Cohen, H. (S '45)
Paper making and trade
  Von Hagen, V. W. Aztec and Maya papermakers. (O '45)
Parachute technician. Zweng, C. A. (D '45)
Parachute to Berlin. Bennett, L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Parachutes
  Zweng, C. A. Parachute technician. (D '45)
Paradise lost in our time. Bush, D. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Pardner of the wind. Thorp, N. H., and Clark, N. M. (Ag '45)
Paris
Social life and customs
  French, H. E. My Yankee Paris. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Views
  Kertesz, A. Day of Paris. (Ag '45)
Paris. Notre Dame (cathedral)
  Anderson, R. G. Biography of a cathedral. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Parliamentary procedure
  Moore, Z. S. and J. B. Essentials of parliamentary procedure. (Ap '45)
Parsons, Charles
  Ingham, T. Rendezvous by submarine. (N '45)
Partisan guide to the Jewish problem. Steinberg, M. (N '45)
Party line. Baker, L. (Ap '45)
Pascal, Blaise
  Cailliet, E. Pascal, genius in the light of Scripture. (N '45)
Pascal, genius in the light of Scripture. Cailliet, E. (N '45)
Passionate brood. Barnes, M. C. (Ag '45)
Passport to oblivion. Lee, M. V. (D '45)
Pastimes for the patient. Ickis, M. (Ag '45)
Pastoral work
  Dicks, R. L. Pastoral work and personal counseling. (My '45)
Pastoral work and personal counseling. Dicks, R. L. (My '45)
Pastor's voice. Brooks, W. H. (N '45)
Pathfinders of the world missionary crusade. Eddy, G. S. (D '45)
Pathology, Cellular
  Dubos, R. J. Bacterial cell in its relation to problems of virulence, immunity and chemotherapy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Patients have families. Richardson, H. B. (My '45)
Patients' library. Mason, M. F. (S '45)
Patrick Henry and the frigate's keel. Fast, H. M. (My '45)
Patriot in the saddle. Nolan, J. C. (O '45)
Patsy succeeds in advertising. Grumbine, E. E. (My '45)
Pattern of Soviet power. Snow, E. (S '45)
Patterson, Giles J.
  Patterson, G. J. Journal of a southern student. (S '45)
Pay dirt. Rodale, J. I. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Payoff for the banker. Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. (My '45)
Paul, Saint
  Quimby, C. W. Paul for everyone. (Ap '45)
  Rall, H. F. According to Paul. (Ap '45)
Paul for everyone. Quimby, C. W. (Ap '45)
Peace
  Addams, J. Peace and bread in time of war. (Je '45)
  Bernays, E. L. Take your place at the peace table. (My '45)
  Comenius, J. A. Angel of peace. (D '45)
  Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Peace—Continued
  Cousins, N. Modern man is obsolete. (D '45)
  Gregg, R. B. Power of non-violence. (D '45)
  Hershberger, G. F. War, peace, and nonresistance. (Je '45)
  Hoover, H. C., and Gibson, H. Basis of lasting peace. (Je '45)
  Neill, T. P. Weapons for peace. (D '45)
  Reves, E. Anatomy of peace. (Ag '45)
  Sheen, F. J. Seven pillars of peace. (Mr '45)
  Wriston, H. M. Strategy of peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Peace and bread in time of war. Addams, J. (Je '45)
Peace conference, 1919
  Marston, F. S. Peace conference of 1919. (D '45)
Peace conference of 1919. Marston, F. S. (D '45)
Peace treaties, 1919
  McCallum, R. B. Public opinion and the last peace. (My '45)
Peacetime conscription. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (D '45)
Peacock sheds his tail. Hobart, A. T. N. (O '45)
Pear tree. Landi, E. (My '45)
Pearls before swine. Allingham, M. (Je '45)
Pedro II, emperor of Brazil
Juvenile literature
  Brown, R. J. American emperor. (D '45)
  Criss, M. Dom Pedro of Brazil. (Ap '45)
Peguche, Ecuador
  Parsons, E. W. C. Peguche. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Penicillin
  Herrell, W. E. Penicillin and other antibiotic agents. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Kolmer, J. A. Penicillin therapy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Ratcliff, J. D. Yellow magic. (Ap '45)
  Sokoloff, B. F. Story of penicillin. (My '45)
Penicillin and other antibiotic agents. Herrell, W. E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Penicillin therapy. Kolmer, J. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Penobscot Indians
  Eckstorm, F. H. Old John Neptune. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
People of Alor. Du Bois, C. A. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
People's choice. Lazarsfeld, P. F., and others. (Ap '45)
Peoples of Malaysia. Cole, F. C. (N '45)
Perennial. Gogarty, O. St J. (Ap '45)
Perennial philosophy. Huxley, A. L. (N '45)
Perennials
  Wilson, H. V. Perennials preferred. (S '45)
Perennials preferred. Wilson, H. V. (S '45)
Perfect round. Robinson, H. M. (N '45)
Perfumery
  Sagarin, E. Science and art of perfumery. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Perilous fight. Swanson, N. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Periodicals
Indexes
  Nineteenth century Readers' guide to periodical literature. (Ag '45)
Permanent court of international justice
  Fleming, D. F. United States and the World court. (Mr '45)
Perplexities and paradoxes. Unamuno y Jugo, M. de. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Perry, Matthew Calbraith
Juvenile literature
  Long, L. Square sails and spice islands. (N '45)
Perry, Oliver Hazard
Juvenile literature
  Long, L. Square sails and spice islands. (N '45)
Persia
Description and travel
  Sayre, J. Persian Gulf command. (O '45)
Persian Gulf command. Sayre, J. (O '45)
Persistent faces. Steig, W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Person in the body. Hinsie, L. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Personal crisis. Kopf, C. H. (Ap '45)
Personal mental hygiene. Moore, T. V. (D '45)
Personality
  Carr, W. Know thyself! (My '45)
  Dengel, V. Hold your man! (O '45)
  English, O. S., and Pearson, G. H. J. Emotional problems of living. (D '45)
  Linton, R. Cultural background of personality. (S '45)
  Lurton, D. E. Make the most of your life. (D '45)
  Magner, J. A. Personality and successful living. (S '45)
Personality and successful living. Magner, J. A. (S '45)
Personnel relations. Walters, J. E. (S '45)
Personnel service in education
  Jones, A. J. Principles of guidance. (S '45)
  Traxler, A. E. Techniques of guidance. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Persons and places, v2. See Middle span. Santayana, G. (My '45)
Perspective
  Kepes, G. Language of vision. (Ag '45)
Peru
History
  Palma, R. Knights of the cape. (S '45)
Pest control in the home garden. Pyenson, L. (My '45)
Pet shop. Eckstein, G. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Petar's treasure. Judson, C. I. (D '45)
Petroleum
  Sachanen, A. N. Chemical constituents of petroleum. (D '45)
Pharmacy
  Burlage, H. M., and others. Fundamental principles and processes of pharmacy. (Ap '45)
Phase rule and equilibrium
  Masing, G. Ternary systems. (Ap '45)
Philadelphia
History
  Burt, M. S. Philadelphia. (Ap '45)
Philadelphia. Burt, M. S. (Ap '45)
Philadelphia murder story. Brown, Z. J. (Ap '45)
Philosophers
  Slochower, H. No voice is wholly lost. (Ag '45)
Philosophers, Scottish
  Bryson, G. E. Man and society. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Philosophic foundations of quantum mechanics. Reichenbach, H. (S '45)
Philosophical understanding and religious truth. Frank, E. (Je '45)
Philosophy
  Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Dampier, W. C. D. Shorter history of science. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Giles of Rome. Errores philosophorum. (S '45)
  Sinclair, W. A. Introduction to philosophy (Ap '45)
History
  Russell, B. R. History of western philosophy. (N '45)
Study and teaching
  American philosophical association. Commission on the function of philosophy in liberal education. Philosophy in American education. (D '45)
Philosophy, Chinese
  Lao Tzŭ. Way of life. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Philosophy, English
  Harris, F. P. Neo-idealist political theory. (My '45)
Philosophy, Modern
  Slochower, H. No voice is wholly lost. (Ag '45)
Philosophy and religion
  Frank, E. Philosophical understanding and religious truth. (Je '45)
Philosophy in American education. American philosophical association. Commission on the function of philosophy in liberal education. (D '45)

Philosophy of American history. Zucker, M. (Je '45)
Philosophy of St Thomas Aquinas. Meyer, H. (Ap '45)

Phips, Sir William
Fiction
  Cochran, H. Silver shoals. (D '45)

Photographic books
  Adams, A. E. Born free and equal. (Ap '45)
  Fellig, A. Naked city. (S '45)
  Kertesz, A. Day of Paris. (Ag '45)
  Rimington, C. This is the navy. (O '45)
  Stevenson, R. L. Child's garden of verses. (Ap '45)

Photographic surveying
  American society of photogrammetry. Manual of photogrammetry. (Mr '45)
  Talley, B. B., and Robbins, P. H. Photographic surveying. (Ag '45)

Photography
  Blair, J. M. Practical and theoretical photography. (Ag '45)

Exposure
  Morgan, W. D., and Lester, H. M. Correct exposure in photography. (Mr '45)

History
  Eder, J. M. History of photography. (S '45)

Photography, Artistic
  Inn, H. Hawaiian types. (S '45)

Photosynthesis
  Rabinowitch, E. I. Photosynthesis and related processes, v 1. (D '45)
Photosynthesis and related processes, v 1. Rabinowitch, E. I. (D '45)

Physical geography
  Stewart, J. Q. Coasts, waves and weather. (O '45)

Physicians
  Binger, C. A. L. Doctor's job. (Ap '45)

Physics
  Dees, B. C. Fundamentals of physics and their applications in modern life. (Ag '45)
  Meyer, J. S. ABC of physics. (Ap '45)
  Semat, H. Fundamentals of physics. (O '45)

Philosophy
  Reichenbach, H. Philosophic foundations of quantum mechanics. (S '45)

Tables, etc.
  Zimmerman, O. T., and Lavine, I. Industrial research service's conversion factors and tables. (O '45)

Physics of flight. Landé, A. (Je '45)
Piasts of Poland. Gronowicz, A. (D '45)
Piccola. La Penta, H. (Ag '45)
Picture book of astronomy. Meyer, J. S. (Je '45)
Picture history of Russia. Martin, J. S., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Picture map geography of the Pacific islands. Quinn, V. (D '45)

Piers
  Lederer, E. H. Port terminal operation. (Ap '45)

Pilgrim fathers
  Willison, G. F. Saints and strangers. (S '45)
Pillars of the church. Maynard, T. (D '45)
Pine, stream and prairie. Gray, J. (My '45)
Pine tree and the mole. Taddei, E. (S '45)
Pink lemonade. Coplan, M. F. (Je '45)
Pioneer Jesuits in northern Mexico. Dunne, P. M. (My '45)
Pioneer settlement in the Asiatic tropics. Pelzer, K. J. (D '45)
Pioneering in penology. Sellin, J. T. (Je '45)
Pioneering the helicopter. Morris, C. L. (Mr '45)
Pioneers in world order. Davis, H. E., ed. (Ap '45)
Pioneers of tomorrow. Weil, H. (S '45)

Pipe
  Crocker, S. Piping handbook. (O '45)

Pipe fitting
  Crocker, S. Piping handbook. (O '45)
Pipe night. O'Hara, J. (Ap '45)
Piping handbook. Crocker, S. (O '45)
Pistol and revolver shooting. Roper, W. F. (N '45)

Pistols
  Roper, W. F. Pistol and revolver shooting. (N '45)
Pitchfork Ben Tillman. Simkins, F. B. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Pius XII (Eugenio Pacelli) pope
  Doyle, C. H. Life of Pope Pius XII. (Ag '45)
Plain man looks at the cross. Weatherhead, L. D. (My '45)
Plain princess. McGinley, P. (D '45)
Plainville, U.S.A. Withers, C. (My '45)
Plan for reconstruction. Hutt, W. H. (N '45)
Plan for town and country. Stephenson, F., and Pool, P. (My '45)
Planning to build. Creighton, T. H. (Je '45)
Planning your home for better living. Dunham, C. W., and Thalberg, M. D. (D '45)
Plant life of the Pacific world. Merrill, E. D. (D '45)

Plantation life
  Allston, R. F. W. South Carolina rice plantation. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Kane, H. T. Plantation parade. (D '45)
Plantation parade. Kane, H. T. (D '45)

Plants
Chemical analysis
  Piper, C. S. Soil and plant analysis. (My '45)

Geographical distribution
  Dorrance, A. Green cargoes. (Ag '45)

Migration
  Wilson, C .M., ed. New crops for the New World. (O '45)
Plants and plant science in Latin America. Verdoorn, F., ed. (N '45)

Plastics
  Du Bois, J. H. Plastics. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Fleck, H. R. Plastics, scientific and technological. (Je '45)
  Mason, J. P., and Manning, J. F. Technology of plastics and resins. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Sasso, J., and Brown, M. A. Plastics in practice. (S '45)
  Simonds, H. R. Industrial plastics. (O '45)
  Simonds, H. R., and others. New plastics. (O '45)
  Thayer, G. B. Plastics molds. (O '45)
  Wolfe, B. Plastics. (D '45)

Plastics industry
  Sasso, J., and Brown, M. A. Plastics in practice. (S '45)
  Simonds, H. R. Industrial plastics. (O '45)
Plastics in practice. Sasso, J., and Brown, M. A. (S '45)
Plastics molds. Thayer, G. B. (O '45)
Plastics, scientific and technological. Fleck, H. R. (Je '45)

Plato
  Cherniss, H. F. Aristotle's criticism of Plato and the Academy, v 1. (D '45)
  Koyré, A. Discovering Plato. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Livingstone, R. W. Plato and modern education. (Ap '45)
Plato and modern education. Livingstone, R. W. (Ap '45)
Play songs of the deep South. Trent-Johns, A. (Ap '45)
Plays without footlights. Galbraith, E. E., ed (S '45)
Pleasant Valley. Bromfield, L. (My '45)
Plot against the peace. Sayers, M., and Kahn, A. E. (My '45)
Ploughman of the moon. Service, R. W. (N '45)
Poems for a son with wings. Coffin, R. P. T. (Je '45)
Poems for painters. Ford, C. H. (O '45)
Poet to poet. Peterson, H., and Lynch, W. S., eds. (Ag '45)

Poetics
  Shapiro, K. J. Essay on rime. (D '45)

Poetry
Collections
  Benét, W. R., and Cousins, N., eds. Poetry of freedom. (Ag '45)
  Peterson, H., and Lynch, W. S. eds. Poet to poet. (Ag '45)

History and criticism
  Beach, J. W. Romantic view of poetry. (Ap '45)

Poetry (individual authors)
Alberti, R. Selected poems. (Ap '45)
Aragon, L. Aragon, poet of the French resistance. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Auden, W. H. Collected poetry. (My '45)
Auden, W. H. For the time being. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Bergman, A. F. They look like men. (Ap '45)
Blunden, E. C. Shells by a stream. (N '45)
Bowman, P. Beach red. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Boyd, J. Eighteen poems. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Brinnin, J. M. No arch, no triumph. (Ap '45)
Brooks, G. Street in Bronzeville. (N '45)
Brooks, W. H. Pastor's voice. (N '45)
Campbell, R. B. Task. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Carmer, C. L. Taps is not enough. (S '45)
Coffin, R. P. T. Poems for a son with wings. (Je '45)
Comfort, A. Song of Lazarus. (D '45)
Crowell, G. N. Between eternities. (My '45)
Davenport, R. W. My country. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Day-Lewis, C. Short is the time. (S '45)
De La Mare, W. J. Burning-glass. (D '45)
Derleth, A. W. And you, Thoreau! (S '45)
Derleth, A. W. Selected poems. (My '45)
Dickinson, E. Bolts of melody. (My '45)
Doolittle, H. Tribute to the angels. (D '45)
Eberhart, R. Poems. (Ap '45)
Engle, P. American child. (N '45)
Farren, R. Rime, gentlemen, please. (N '45)
Fenton, E. B. Soldiers and strangers. (Ag '45)
Ford, C. H. Poems for painters. (O '45)
Frost, R. Masque of reason. (Ap '45)
Gibson, W. W. Outpost. (O '45)
Gogarty, O. St J. Perennial. (Ap '45)
Grelle, L. R. Country road. (D '45)
Gustafson, R. Flight into darkness. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Haberly, L. Silent fame. (O '45)
Hartley, M. Selected poems. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Heine, H. Germany, a winter's tale, 1844. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Houselander, F. C. Flowering tree. (D '45)
Ingalls, J. Tahl. (Ag '45)
Jarrell, R. Little friend, little friend. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Kantor, M. Glory for me. (D '45)
Klein, A. M. Poems. (Je '45)
Knowles, S. Birth of Venus. (N '45)
Kreymborg, A. Selected poems. (My '45)
Lawrence, R. Millstream. (N '45)
Lechlitner, R. N. Only the years. (Ap '45)
Leonard, W. E. Man against time. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lewis, A. Ha! ha! among the trumpets. (N '45)
Lynd, S. D. Collected poems. (N '45)
MacNeice, L. Springboard. (S '45)
Melville, H. Selected poems. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Merton, T. Thirty poems. (Mr '45)
Meynell, F. Seventeen poems. (N '45)
Monahan, J. Far from the land. (N '45)
Morton, D. Poems, 1920-1945. (D '45)
Munson, I. N. Surgeon's hands. (Ap '45)
Nash, O. Many long years ago. (N '45)
Nathan, R. Darkening meadows. (S '45)
Nicholson, N. Five rivers. (N '45)
Patton, K. L. Hello, man. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Pratt, E. J. Collected poems. (Je '45)
Ransom, J. C. Selected poems. (S '45)
Read, H. E. World within a war. (Ap '45)
Reece, B. H. Ballad of the bones. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Schull, J. I, Jones, soldier. (Ag '45)
Schwartz, S. S. Preface to maturity. (S '45)
Scott, W. T. To marry strangers. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Serraillier, I. Weaver birds. (O '45)
Shank, J. B. Poems. (Ap '45)
Shapiro, K. J. Essay on rime. (D '45)
Steig, A. Communication. (O '45)
Tate, A. Winter sea. (Ap '45)
Thompson, E. J. 100 poems. (My '45)
Whitman, W. Walt Whitman; sel. and notes by Mark Van Doren. (S '45)
Williams, O. That's all that matters. (S '45)
Williams, W. C. The wedge. (Ap '45)
Wolfe, T. A stone, a leaf, a door. (N '45)
Zabriskie, G. Like the root. (O '45)
Poetry of freedom. Benét, W. R., and Cousins, N., eds. (Ag '45)

Poets
Peterson, H., and Lynch, W. S., eds. Poet to poet. (Ag '45)
Who's who in poetry in America. (N '45)
Pogo's mining trip. Norling, J. S. (D '45)
Pointers for public library building planners. Schunk, R. J. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Pointers on playwriting. Niggli, J. (D '45)

Poland

Civilization

Schmitt, B. E., ed. Poland. (Ap '45)

Foreign relations

Russia

Konovalov, S., ed. Russo-Polish relations. (O '45)
Shotwell, J. T., and Laserson, M. M. Poland and Russia, 1919-1945. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

History

Gronowicz, A. Piasts of Poland. (D '45)
Schmitt, B. E., ed. Poland. (Ap '45)

German occupation, 1939-1945

Berg, M. Warsaw ghetto. (Mr '45)
Szoszkies, H. J. No traveler returns. (Ap '45)
Warfield, H. and G. Call us to witness. (S '45)

Social conditions

Gross, F. Polish worker. (S '45)
Poland. Schmitt, B. E., ed. (Ap '45)
Poland and Russia, 1919-1945. Shotwell, J. T., and Laserson, M. M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Polish worker. Gross, F. (S '45)

Political parties

Germany

Heberle, R. From democracy to Nazism. (S '45)

United States

Lazarsfeld, P. F., and others. People's choice. (Ap '45)

Political science
Beard, C. A. Economic basis of politics. (N '45)
Caldwell, L. K. Administrative theories of Hamilton and Jefferson. (Ap '45)
Croce, B. Politics and morals. (Ap '45)
Gerbrandy, P. S. National and international stability. (My '45)
Harris, F. P. Neo-idealist political theory. (My '45)
Merriam, C. E. Systematic politics. (N '45)
Orton, W. A. Liberal tradition. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Politics and morals. Croce, B. (Ap '45)

Ponies

Legends and stories

Self, M. C. Ponies on parade. (Je '45)
Ponies on parade. Self, M. C. (Je '45)
The pool. Burnet, D. (S '45)
Poor child. Parrish, A. (Mr '45)
Poor man's doctor. Tryon, L. R. (S '45)
Poppadilly. Chalmers, A. (D '45)
Popular tools and materials. Johnson, W. H., and Fenn, I. M. (Ap '45)

Population
Burch, G. I., and Pendell, E. Population roads to peace or war. (D '45)
Milbank memorial fund. Demographic studies of selected areas of rapid growth. (Je '45)
Population roads to peace or war. Burch, G. I., and Pendell, E. (D '45)
Port of seven strangers. Knight, K. M. (N '45)
Port terminal operation. Lederer, E. H. (Ap '45)
Portable F. Scott Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald, F. S. K. (N '45)
Portable murder book. Jackson, J. H., ed. (O '45)
Portable novels of science. Wollheim, D. A., ed. (D '45)

Porter, Martha Byrd (Spruill)
Porter, M. B. Straight down a crooked lane. (O '45)
Portrait of a marriage. Buck, P. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Portrait of America. Crane, A., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Portrait of Shelley. White, N. I. (Ap '45)

Portrait painters, British
Russell, J. British portrait painters. (My '45)

Poston, Arizona. Colorado River relocation center. See Colorado River relocation center, Poston, Arizona
Postwar fiscal requirements. Kimmel, L. H., and others. (D '45)
Post-war jobs. Poynter, N. P. and H., eds. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Post-war markets. Howenstine, E. J., ed. (N '45)
Post-war savings and investments. Sloan, L. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Postwar wage stabilization. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (S '45)
Postwar world, by Hastings Eells [and others]. (Ag '45)
Pot luck. Clark, R. (S '45)
Pottery
  Cox, W. E. Book of pottery and porcelain. (Je '45)
  Sempill, C. A. English pottery and china. (S '45)
Power house. Comfort, A. (Ap '45)
Power in the Pacific. New York. Museum of modern art. (S '45)
Power of non-violence. Gregg, R. B. (D '45)
Power system stability. Crary, S. B. (O '45)
Practical and theoretical photography. Blair, J. M. (Ag '45)
Practical applications of democracy. Huszar, G. B. de. (My '45)
Practical book of oriental rugs. Lewis, G. G. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Practical cogitator. Curtis, C. P., and Greenslet, F., eds. (N '45)
Practical marine electricity. Le Count, S. N., and Dusenbery, H. S. (D '45)
Practical marksmanship. Johnson, M. M. (O '45)
Practical occupational therapy for the mentally and nervously ill. Haas, L. J. (Ap '45)
Practical supervision. Kalsem, P. J. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Practice of printing. Polk, R. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Prairie guns. Halleran, E. E. (Mr '45)
Prater Violet. Isherwood, C. (D '45)
Prayer
  Jenkins, D. T. Prayer and the service of God. (Je '45)
  Perkins, M. Speaking of how to pray. (Ap '45)
Prayer and the service of God. Jenkins, D. T. (Je '45)
Prayer for little things. Farjeon, E. (Je '45)
Prayers
  Farjeon, E. Prayer for little things. (Je '45)
Preacher's voice. Craig, W. C., and Sokolowsky, R. R. (S '45)
Preaching
  Craig, W. C., and Sokolowsky, R. R. Preacher's voice. (S '45)
Preface to logic. Cohen, M. R. (Mr '45)
Preface to maturity. Schwartz, S. S. (S '45)
Preface to Newman's theology. Benard, E. D. (S '45)
Prejudice. McWilliams, C. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Prekaska's wife. Wheaton, H. (Ag '45)
Prelude to night. Stoddart, D. (S '45)
Prentiss, Seargent Smith
  Dickey, D. C. Seargent S. Prentiss. (D '45)
Presents from Pam Pam. Osgood, H. E. K. (D '45)
Presidents (United States)
  Goebel, D. B. and J. Generals in the White House. (Mr '45)
Election
  Lazarsfeld, P. F., and others. People's choice. (Ap '45)
Press law
  Thayer, F. Legal control of the press. (My '45)
Price and related controls in the United States. Harris, S. E. (N '45)
Price for peace. Basch, A. (Je '45)
Price making in a democracy. Nourse, E. G. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Price of liberty. Pezas, M. (Ap '45)
Price of peace. Beveridge, W. H. (S '45)
Prices
  Harris, S. E. Price and related controls in the United States. (N '45)
  Nourse, E. G. Price making in a democracy. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Pride's way. Molloy, R. (Je '45)
Primer for white folks. Moon, B., ed. (S '45)
Principio to Wheeling. May, E. C. (My '45)
Principles and practice of surveying; v 1, Elementary surveying. Breed, C. B., and Hosmer, G. L. (Ag '45)
Principles of firearms. Balleisen, C. E. (S '45)
Principles of guidance. Jones, A. J. (S '45)
Principles of physical geology. Holmes, A. (O '45)
Principles of radio. Henney, K. (D '45)
Printing, Practical
  Polk, R. W. Practice of printing. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Prisoner. Lothar, E. (Je '45)
Prisoners' quest. Read, D. H. C. (Je '45)
Prisons
  Sellin, J. T. Pioneering in penology. (Je '45)
  Teeters, N. K. World penal systems. (My '45)
India
  Barker, F. A. Modern prison system of India. (O '45)
Private adventure of Captain Shaw. Shay, E. F., and Smith, K. (Mr '45)
Private monopoly. Lasser, D. (D '45)
Private Purkey's private peace. Phillips, H. I. (Je '45)
Prize stories of 1945. O. Henry memorial award. (O '45)
Pro and con of the Ph.D. Atkinson, C. (D '45)
Problem of inter-American organization. Ball, M. M. (Je '45)
Problems of New Testament translation. Goodspeed, E. J. (Ag '45)
Problems of the postwar world. McCormick, T. C., ed. (S '45)
Problems of the peace. Harris, H. W. (Je '45)
Proceed without delay. St George, T. R. (S '45)
Process equipment design. Hesse, H. C., and Rushton, J. H. (My '45)
Production engineering in the aircraft industry. Berghell, A. B. (Ap '45)
Production-line technique. Muther, R. (S '45)
Profane virtues. Quennell, P. C. (S '45)
Profession, Choice of
  Pollack, P. Careers in science. (Ag '45)
Progress
  Rochester, A. Capitalism and progress. (N '45)
Promise Hitler kept. Folkmann, A. (S '45)
Promised land. Holbrook, S. H., ed. (N '45)
Proof of the pudding. Taylor, P. A. (Ag '45)
Propaganda, German
  Fraser, L. M. Germany between two wars. (Mr '45)
  Sayers, M., and Kahn, A. E. Plot against the peace. (My '45)
Prophets of heaven and hell. Buxton, C. R. (D '45)
Prospector in Siberia. Lied, J. (D '45)
Prosperity. Shields, M., and Woodward, D. B. (Ag '45)
Proteins
  Anson, M. L., and Edsall, J. T., eds. Advances in protein chemistry. v 1. (My '45)
  Block, R. J., and Bolling, D. Amino acid composition of proteins and foods. (O '45)
  Sahyun, M., ed. Outline of the amino acids and proteins. (Ap '45)
Provence. Parlement
  Beik, P. H. Judgment of the old régime. (Ap '45)
Providing for unemployed workers in the transition. Lester, R. A. (My '45)
Prussia
  Brecht, A. Federalism and regionalism in Germany. (D '45)
Nobility
  Martin, F. Junker menace. (S '45)
Politics and government
  Muncy, L. W. Junker in the Prussian administration under William II. (Je '45)
Psychiatry in modern warfare. Strecker, E. A., and Appel, K. E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Psychoanalysis
  Flügel, J. C. Man, morals and society. (D '45)
  Hinsie, L. E. Person in the body. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Psychoanalysis—Continued
Hoffman, F. J. Freudianism and the literary mind. (O '45)
Lowy, S. New directions in psychology. (D '45)
Psychological frontiers of society. Kardiner, A., and others. (S '45)
Psychological warfare
National research council. Committee on a textbook of military psychology. Psychology for the armed services. (O '45)
Psychology
Blackburn, J. M. Psychology and the social pattern. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Hadamard, J. S. Essay on the psychology of invention in the mathematical field. (Ag '45)
Psychology, Applied
Bradley, D. J. Your problem—can it be solved? (Je '45)
Cantor, N. F. Employee counseling. (Ag '45)
Lurton, D. E. Make the most of your life. (D '45)
National research council. Committee on a textbook of military psychology. Psychology for the armed services. (O '45)
Panzer, M. Get a kick out of living. (Je '45)
Selling, L. S., and Ferraro, M. A. S. Psychology of diet and nutrition. (Ap '45)
Smith, M. Handbook of industrial psychology. (Ag '45)
Steiner, L. R. Where do people take their troubles? (O '45)
Wilson, M. How to live beyond your means. (S '45)
Psychology, Comparative
Noble, R. C. Nature of the beast. (My '45)
Psychology, Pathological
English, O. S., and Pearson, G. H. J. Emotional problems of living. (D '45)
Grinker, R. R., and Spiegel, J. P. Men under stress. (D '45)
Hinsie, L. E. Person in the body. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Rees, J. R. Shaping of psychiatry by war. (My '45)
Strecker, E. A., and Appel, K. E. Psychiatry in modern warfare. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wechsler, I. S. Neurologist's point of view. (Ap '45)
Psychology, Religious
Johnson, P. E. Psychology of religion. (D '45)
Vann, G. Heart of man. (D '45)
Psychology and the social pattern. Blackburn, J. M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Psychology for the armed services. National research council. Committee on a textbook of military psychology. (O '45)
Psychology of diet and nutrition. Selling, L. S., and Ferraro, M. A. S. (Ap '45)
Psychology of religion. Johnson, P. E. (D '45)
Psychology of sex relations. Reik, T. (O '45)
Public debt. Withers, W. (Ap '45)
Public health
Goldmann, F. Public medical care. (S '45)

United States

Cavins, H. M. National health agencies. (D '45)
Public journal. Lerner, M. (My '45)
Public medical care. Goldmann, F. (S '45)
Public opinion
Bernays, E. L. Take your place at the peace table. (My '45)

Great Britain

McCallum, R. B. Public opinion and the last peace. (My '45)
Public opinion and the last peace. McCallum, R. B. (My '45)
Public schools

United States

Fisk, R. S. Public understanding of what good schools can do. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Public spending and postwar economic policy. Fine, S. M. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Public understanding of what good schools can do. Fisk, R. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Public worship
Montgomery, D. K. Why go to church? (Ag '45)
Publicity
Fisk, R. S. Public understanding of what good schools can do. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Publishers and publishing
Hackett, A. P. Fifty years of best sellers, 1895-1945. (S '45)
Puerto Rico
Brown, W. Dynamite on our doorstep. (D '45)
Puffy goes to sea. Woodall, S. L. (O '45)
Pulmonary tuberculosis in the adult. Pinner, M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Pumping machinery
Addison, H. Treatise on applied hydraulics. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Pure theory of law. Ebenstein, W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Puritanism and democracy. Perry, R. B. (Mr '45)
Puritans
Perry, R. B. Puritanism and democracy. (Mr '45)
Pursuit of understanding. Dunn, E. C. (D '45)
Put off thy shoes. Voynich, E. L. B. (Je '45)
Puzzle for wantons. Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. (O '45)
Puzzle in porcelain. Grey, R. (D '45)
Puzzles
Lariar, L. Bed and bored. (S '45)

Quacks and quackery
Steiner, L. R. Where do people take their troubles. (O '45)
Quantum theory
Reichenbach, H. Philosophic foundations of quantum mechanics. (S '45)
The question. Burnet, D. (N '45)
Question of Henry James. Dupee, F. W., ed. (D '45)
Questioned document problems. Osborn, A. S. (S '45)
Quick construction. Siegele, H. H. (D '45)
Quick freezing. Pierce, A. L. (Ag '45)
Quiller-Couch, Sir Arthur Thomas
Quiller-Couch, A. T. Memories and opinions. (Ag '45)
Quit for the next. March, A. (My '45)
Quit you like men. Elmore, C. H. (Ap '45)
Quotations
Henry, L. C., ed. 5000 quotations for all occasions. (Ag '45)
Stevenson, B. E., ed. Home book of quotations, classical and modern. (Ag '45)
Woods, H. F. American sayings. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Rabbis
Zeitlin, J. Disciples of the wise. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Race
Ashley-Montagu, M. F. Man's most dangerous myth. (O '45)
Race and democratic society. Boas, F. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Race problems
Ashley-Montagu, M. F. Man's most dangerous myth. (O '45)
Boas, F. Race and democratic society. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Du Bois, W. E. B. Color and democracy. (Ag '45)
Linton, R., ed. Science of man in the world crisis. (Mr '45)
Racial state. Jacoby, G. (Je '45)
Radio
Henney, K. Principles of radio. (D '45)
King, R. W. P. Electromagnetic engineering, v 1. (D '45)
Tucker, D. J. Introduction to practical radio. (O '45)
Williams, H. L. Fundamentals of radio and how they are applied. (D '45)

Biography

Bulman, D., ed. Molders of opinion. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Gaver, J., and Stanley, D., eds. There's laughter in the air! (Ag '45)

Short wave
Kiver, M. S. U H F radio simplified. (O '45)
Radio advertising
Sandage, C. H. Radio advertising for retailers. (S '45)
Radio advertising for retailers. Sandage, C. H (S '45)
Radio and the school. Woelfel, N., and Tyler, I. K., eds. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Radio audience measurement. Chappell, M. N., and Hooper, C. E. (Ap '45)
Radio authorship
Lawrence, J., ed. Off mike. (Mr '45)
Radio broadcasting
Chappell, M. N., and Hooper, C. E. Radio audience measurement. (Ap '45)
Crews, A. R. Radio production directing. (Ap '45)
Lansing, M. F. Calling South America. (My '45)
Radio drama in action. Barnouw, E., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Radio entertainments
Corwin, N. L. On a note of triumph. (Je '45)
Cuthbert, M. R., ed. Adventure in radio. (D '45)
Gaver, J., and Stanley, D., eds. There's laughter in the air! (Ag '45)
Radio in aeronautics
Roberts, H. W. Aviation radio. (Je '45)
Radio in education
Levenson, W. B. Teaching through radio. (O '45)
Woelfel, N., and Tyler, I. K., eds. Radio and the school. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Radio plays
Barnouw, E., ed. Radio drama in action. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Benét, S. V. We stand united. (Ap '45)
Oboler, A. Oboler omnibus. (O '45)
Radio production directing. Crews, A. R. (Ap '45)
Radioactivity
De Ment, J. A., and Dake, H. C. Uranium and atomic power. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Radiography
Hilleboe, H. E., and Morgan, R. H. Mass radiography of the chest. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Raffles. Wells, Z. R. and C. (S '45)
Rags' day. Hoke, H. L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Railroad ABC. Townend, J. (Mr '45)
Railroad avenue. Hubbard, F. H. (N '45)
Railroads
Curves and turnouts
Kurtz, C. M. Track and turnout engineering. (O '45)
Trains
Beebe, L. M. Highball. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
United States
Beebe, L. M. Highball. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Hubbard, F. H. Railroad avenue. (N '45)
Robertson, A. T. Slow train to yesterday. (O '45)
Rain before seven. Brandel, M. (O '45)
Rainbow's end. Hader, B. H. and E. (D '45)
Ranch life
Thorp, N. H., and Clark, N. M. Pardner of the wind. (Ag '45)
Rauschenbusch, Walter
Bodein, V. P. Social gospel of Walter Rauschenbusch and its relation to religious education. (D '45)
Raw material. La Farge, O. (S '45)
Read 'em and weep. Spaeth, S. G. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Reader's companion. Kronenberger, L., ed. (Je '45)
Reading
Lewis, N. How to read better and faster. (Mr '45)
Real estate business
Harkness, M. G. Brook of our own. (D '45)
McMichael, S. L. How to make money in real estate. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Real property
Dumke, G. S. Boom of the eighties in southern California. (Je '45)
Real Soviet Russia. Dallin, D. J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Rebirth of liberal education. Millett, F. B. (Mr '45)
Rebuilding of Italy. Macartney, M. H. H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Reconstruction (1914-1939)
Davis, H. E., ed. Pioneers in world order. (Ap '45)
Wilson, F. M. In the margins of chaos. (Ap '45)
Reconstruction (1939-)
Alsberg, H. G. Let's talk about the peace. (N '45)
America and the new world, by Norman Angell and others. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Brandt, K. Reconstruction of world agriculture. (My '45)
Buchanan, N. S. International investment and domestic welfare. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Fox, W. T. R. Super-powers. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
McCormick, T. C., ed. Problems of the postwar world. (S '45)
MacLean, D. A. Dynamic world order. (S '45)
Postwar world, by Hastings Eells [and others]. (Ag '45)
Poznański, C. Rights of nations. (S '45)
Society for the psychological study of social issues. Human nature and enduring peace. (N '45)
Welles, S. Time for decision. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Asia
Jaffe, P. J. New frontiers in Asia. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Canada
Newton-White, E. Canadian restoration. (My '45)
China
Pan, S. C. Y. China fights on. (Ag '45)
Sun, K. China looks forward. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Tsang, C. China's postwar markets. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
East (Far East)
Institute of Pacific relations. Security in the Pacific. (S '45)
Europe
Basch, A. Price for peace. (Je '45)
Guérard, A. L. Europe free and united. (My '45)
Lanux, P. C. de. European manifesto. (S '45)
Scott, J. Europe in revolution. (D '45)
Steel, J. Future of Europe. (My '45)
Germany
Hauser, H. German talks back. (O '45)
Koch-Weser, E. F. L. Hitler and beyond. (Ag '45)
Ludwig, E. Moral conquest of Germany. (Je '45)
Martin, F. Junker menace. (S '45)
Morgenthau, H. Germany is our problem. (N '45)
Richter, W. Re-educating Germany. (Mr '45)
Great Britain
Davison, R. C. Remobilisation for peace. (My '45)
Hutt, W. H. Plan for reconstruction. (N '45)
India
Moon, P. Future of India. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Italy
Macartney, M. H. H. Rebuilding of Italy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sturzo, L. Italy and the coming world. (N '45)
Japan
Fleisher, W. What to do with Japan. (Ap '45)
Johnstone, W. C. Future of Japan. (Ag '45)
Roth, A. Dilemma in Japan. (O '45)
Jews
Gottschalk, M., and Duker, A. G. Jews in the post-war world. (Je '45)

Reconstruction (1939-)—Continued

Levant

Bonne, A. Economic development of the Middle East. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Russia

American Russian institute. U.S.S.R. in reconstruction. (Je '45)

United States

Bliven, B., and Mezerik, A. G., eds. What the informed citizen needs to know. (D '45)
Clark, J. M. Demobilization of wartime economic controls. (Ap '45)
Harris, S. E., ed. Economic reconstruction. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Howenstine, E. J. Economics of demobilization. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Kaplan, A. D. H. Liquidation of war production. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Lester, R. A. Providing for unemployed workers in the transition. (My '45)
Poynter, N. P. and H., eds. Post-war jobs. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Twentieth century fund, inc. Financing American prosperity. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Reconstruction of world agriculture. Brandt, K. (My '45)
Red fruit. Bailey, T. (Mr '45)
Red-haired lady. Corbett, E. F. (Ag '45)
Red house. Chamberlain, G. A. (Je '45)
Red pony. Steinbeck, J. (D '45)
Red prelude. Footman, D. (Je '45)
Red right hand. Rogers, J. T. (Je '45)
Re-educating Germany. Richter, W. (Mr '45)

Reference books
Toser, M. A. Library manual. (S '45)

Reflections in a mirror. Morgan, C. (My '45)
Refrigeration and air conditioning engineering. Raber, B. F., and Hutchinson, F. W. (Je '45)

Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery
Pierce, A. L. Quick freezing. (Ag '45)
Raber, B. F., and Hutchinson, F. W. Refrigeration and air conditioning engineering. (Je '45)

Refugees, Jewish
Tartakower, A., and Grossman, K. R. Jewish refugee. (Ap '45)

Refugees, Political
Palencia, I. de. Smouldering freedom. (O '45)

Regional planning
Chase, S., and Tyler, M. Men at work. (Ag '45)
Finer, H. T.V.A: lessons for international application. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Gutkind, E. A. Creative demobilisation, 2v. (S '45)
Oxford. University. Agricultural economics research institute. Country planning. (O '45)
Stephenson, F., and Pool, P. Plan for town and country. (My '45)

Rehousing of Britain. Madge, J. (D '45)

Relativity (physics)
Einstein, A. Meaning of relativity. (S '45)
Lieber, L. R. Einstein theory of relativity. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Relief and rehabilitation. Warhaftig, Z. (N '45)

Religion
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Houf, H. T. What religion is and does. (S '45)

Philosophy

Huxley, A. L. Perennial philosophy. (N '45)
Wodehouse, H. One kind of religion. (D '45)

Religion and education. See Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world, v4. (N '45)

Religion and literature
Mims, E. Great writers as interpreters of religion. (D '45)

Religion and our divided denominations. See Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world, v 1. (N '45)
Religion and our racial tensions. See Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world, v3. (N '45)

Religion and science
Tute, R. C. After materialism—what? (S '45)

Religion and sociology
Wach, J. Sociology of religion. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Religion in higher education among Negroes. McKinney, R. I. (O '45)
Religion in the post-war world, 4v. Sperry, W. L., ed. (N '45)
Religion of soldier and sailor. See Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world, v2. (N '45)

Religions
Champion, S. G., comp. Eleven religions and their proverbial lore. (O '45)
Hawkridge, E. Wisdom tree. (D '45)
Storrs, C. E. Many creeds, one cross. (Ap '45)

Religious education
Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world. (N '45)
Williams, J. P. New education and religion. (My '45)

Textbooks

Phelps, F. B. Let's get to know God. (My '45)

Religious liberty
Bates, M. S. Religious liberty. (O '45)
Howard, G. P. Religious liberty in Latin America? (Ap '45)

Religious liberty. Bates, M. S. (O '45)
Religious liberty in Latin America? Howard, G. P. (Ap '45)

Religious literature

Collections

Huxley, A. L. Perennial philosophy. (N '45)

Religious poetry
Brooks, W. H. Pastor's voice. (N '45)

Religious thought
Hromádka, J. L. Doom and resurrection. (Ap '45)

Remembered death. Christie, A. M. (Mr '45)
Remobilisation for peace. Davison, R. C. (My '45)

Renaissance
Martin, A. W. O. von. Sociology of the renaissance. (Ap '45)

Rendezvous by submarine. Ingham, T. (N '45)
Repent in haste. Marquand, J. P. (D '45)
Report from red China. Forman, H. (Ap '45)
Report on the Russians. White, W. L. (Ap '45)

Reporters and reporting
McNamara, J. Extra! (Je '45)

Representative American speeches. Baird, A. C., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Representative bureaucracy. Kingsley, J. D. (Je '45)
Reprieve. Deeping, W. (S '45)

Reptiles
Boardman, E. T. Guide to higher aquarium animals. (My '45)
Loveridge, A. Reptiles of the Pacific world. (D '45)

Reptiles of the Pacific world. Loveridge, A. (D '45)

Research
Baker, J. R. Science and the planned state. (D '45)
Pollack, P. Careers in science. (Ag '45)

Research, Industrial. See Industrial research

Resinous products
Mason, J. P., and Manning, J. F. Technology of plastics and resins. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Resuscitation
Flagg, P. J. Art of resuscitation. (Ap '45)

Retail trade
Greenberg, D. B., and Schindall, H. Small store and independence. (O '45)
Kay, E. W., and Shaw, W. F. How to start your own business. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Levy, H. Retail trade associations. (S '45)
Sandage, C. H. Radio advertising for retailers. (S '45)

Retail trade associations. Levy, H. (S '45)

Retreats (religious)
Underhill, E. Light of Christ. (O '45)

Retriever gun dogs. Brown, W. F. (D '45)

Retrievers
Brown, W. F. Retriever gun dogs. (D '45)

Return to happiness. Eng title of: Prospector in Siberia. Lied, J. (D '45)

Return to the vineyard. Loos, M., and Duranty, W. (Mr '45)
Reunion in Poland. Karsavina, J. (D '45)
Review index. (My '45)
Revolvers
  Roper, W. F. Pistol and revolver shooting. (N '45)
Rhodes, Cecil John
  Cloete, S. Against these three. (S '45)
A ribbon and a star. Monks, J. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Rice and rice culture
  Allston, R. F. W. South Carolina rice plantation. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Richardson, Iliff David
  Wolfert, I. American guerrilla in the Philippines. (My '45)
Rickshaw boy. Shu, C. (S '45)
Riddle-de-quiz. Fisher, H. S., comp. (Ap '45)
Riddles
  Fisher, H. S., comp. Riddle-de-quiz. (Ap '45)
Riddles around the world. Kredel, F., il. (D '45)
Rig for depth charges! Hazlett, E. E. (D '45)
Rights of nations. Poznański, C. (S '45)
Rilke, Rainer Maria
  Rilke, R. M. Letters, 1892-1910. (O '45)
Rim. Sedgwick, F. M. (Je '45)
Rime, gentlemen, please. Farren, R. (N '45)
Rings
  McCarthy, J. R. Rings through the ages. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Rings through the ages. McCarthy, J. R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Riots
  Powell, A. C. Riots and ruins. (S '45)
Riots and ruins. Powell A. C. (S '45)
Rise of the Jewish community of New York. Grinstein, H. B. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Rising wind. White, W. F. (Ap '45)
River mathematics. Hooper, A. (D '45)
River of gold. Drago, H. S. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
River road. Keyes, F. P. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
River song. Hamilton, H. (Ap '45)
Road back. Smith, J. H., and Rambova, N. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Road to reaction. Finer, H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Road to serfdom. Hayek, F. A. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Roads
New England
  Marlowe, G. F. Coaching roads of old New England. (Mr '45)
Robbed heart. Cuthbert, C. (D '45)
Robinson Crusoe, USN. Tweed, G. R. (My '45)
Rock crystal. Stifter, A. (D '45)
Rocket research. Lent, C. P. (Ap '45)
Rockets (aeronautics)
  Lent, C. P. Rocket research. (Ap '45)
  Murphy, A. L. Rockets, dynamators, jet motors. (D '45)
  Pendray, E. Coming age of rocket power. (Ag '45)
  Zim, H. S. Rockets and jets. (My '45)
Rockets and jets. Zim, H. S. (My '45)
Rockets, dynamators, jet motors. Murphy, A. L. (D '45)
Rocks and rivers. Shuler, E. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Rocky mountains
  Atwood, W. W. Rocky mountains. (D '45)
Rodin, Auguste
  Rilke, R. M. Rodin. (D '45)
Roebling, John Augustus
  Steinman, D. B. Builders of the bridge. (My '45)
Roebling, Washington Augustus
  Steinman, D. B. Builders of the bridge. (My '45)
Roger Sudden. Raddall, T. H. (My '45)
Rogues' gallery. Queen, E., ed. (N '45)
Roll of drums. Wallower, L. (O '45)
Rolling Stone. Stone, F. A. (Ap '45)
Roman Catholic church
Biography
  Maynard, T. Pillars of the church. (D '45)
Converts
  Maritain, R. Adventures in grace. (S '45)
Liturgy and ritual
Dominican
  Bonniwell, W. R. History of the Dominican liturgy. (Ap '45)
Missions
  Tennien, M. A. Chungking listening post. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Roman Catholic church in Great Britain
Education
  Evennett, H. O. Catholic schools of England and Wales. (S '45)
Roman Catholic literature
History and criticism
  Brown, S. J. M., and McDermott, T. Survey of Catholic literature. (O '45)
Roman medallions. Toynbee, J. M. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Romance of English literature. Turner, W. J., ed. (Ap '45)
Romance of mining. Rickard, T. A. (Je '45)
Romantic view of poetry. Beach, J. W. (Ap '45)
Romanticism
  Beach, J. W. Romantic view of poetry. (Ap '45)
Rome
History
  Salmon, E. T. History of the Roman world. (S '45)
Rony, George
  Rony, G. This, too, shall pass away. (Je '45)
Room behind the mantle. Gowey, H. E. (S '45)
Rooster crows. Petersham, M. F. and M. (D '45)
Rooster crows for day. Burman, B. L. (O '45)
Roosters crow in town. Hough, H. B. (My '45)
Rouault, Georges
  New York. Museum of modern art. Georges Rouault. (N '45)
  Rouault, G. Georges Rouault, by Edward Alden Jewell. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Round-up in the river. Robertson, F. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Rousseau, Jean Jacques
  Cassirer, E. Rousseau, Kant, Goethe. (S '45)
Rubber, Artificial
  Talalay, A., and Magat, M. Synthetic rubber from alcohol. (S '45)
Rubber industry and trade
  International rubber regulation committee. History of rubber regulation, 1934-1943. (S '45)
Rugs, Oriental
  Lewis, G. G. Practical book of oriental rugs. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Rumania
History
  Kormos, C. Rumania. (My '45)
Rumor hath it. Stevens, F. M. R. (D '45)
Running away with Nebby. Garrard, P. (Ap '45)
Runway to the sun. Scott, R. L. (O '45)
Russia
  Ward, H. F. Soviet spirit. (Ap '45)
  West, W., and Mitchell, J. P. Our good neighbors in Soviet Russia. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Civilization
  Mikhaĭlov, N. N. Russian story. (D '45)
Commerce
United States
  Heymann, H. We can do business with Russia. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Description and travel
  Halpern, A. Conducted tour. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Lauterbach, R. E. These are the Russians. (Je '45)
  Stevens, E. Russia is no riddle. (Ap '45)
  White, W. L. Report on the Russians. (Ap '45)
Economic conditions
  Cressey, G. B. Basis of Soviet strength. (S '45)

Russia—Continued
Economic policy
American Russian institute. U.S.S.R. in reconstruction. (Je '45)
Liberman, S. I. Building Lenin's Russia. (N '45)
Normano, J. F. Spirit of Russian economics. (Mr '45)
Foreign relations
Dallin, D. J. The big three. (S '45)
Laserson, M. M. Russia and the western world. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Snow, E. Pattern of Soviet power. (S '45)
Stalin, I. Great patriotic war of the Soviet Union. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Stevens, E. Russia is no riddle. (Ap '45)
Yakhontoff, V. A. USSR foreign policy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
East (Far East)
Moore, H. L. Soviet Far Eastern policy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Poland
Konovalov, S., ed. Russo-Polish relations. (O '45)
Shotwell, J. T., and Laserson, M. M. Poland and Russia, 1919-1945. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
History
Harper, S. N. Russia I believe in. (S '45)
Laserson, M. M. Russia and the western world. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Mikhaĭlov, N. N. Russian story. (D '45)
Pictorial works
Martin, J. S., ed. Picture history of Russia. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Revolution, 1917-
Dallin, D. J. Real Soviet Russia. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Allied intervention, 1918-1920
Kindall, S. G. American soldiers in Siberia. (D '45)
Politics and government
Barmine, A. One who survived. (S '45)
Koestler, A. Yogi and the commissar. (Je '45)
Social conditions
Winter, E. I saw the Russian people. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Social life and customs
Buck, P. S. Talk about Russia with Masha Scott. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Winter, E. I saw the Russian people. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Russia and the western world. Laserson, M. M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Russia I believe in. Harper, S. N. (S '45)
Russia is no riddle. Stevens, E. (Ap '45)
Russian fairy tales. Afanas'ev, A. N. (D '45)
Russian glory. Eng title of: Russian story. Mikhaĭlov, N. N. (D '45)
Russian story. Mikhaĭlov, N. N. (D '45)
Russians in the United States
Papashvily, G. and H. W. Anything can happen. (Mr '45)
Russo-Polish relations. Konovalov, S., ed. (O '45)
Ruy Barbosa. Turner, C. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Sabbath
Millgram, A. E. Sabbath, the day of delight. (My '45)
Sabbath, the day of delight. Millgram, A. E. (My '45)
Sacagawea
Juvenile literature
Seymour, F. W. S. Bird girl, Sacagawea. (D '45)
Safeguarding civil liberty today, lectures by Carl L. Becker [and others]. (Ag '45)
Saga of the St Lawrence. Calvin, D. D. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sage quarter. Harris, B. K. (My '45)
St Augustine's episcopate. Simpson, W. J. S. (Ag '45)
St Clair, Arthur
Wilson, F. E. Arthur St Clair. (Ap '45)
St Louis. Baseball club (National league)
Stockton, J. R. Gashouse gang and a couple of otner guys. (Je '45)
St. Nicholas' travels. Pauli, H. E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
St Paul, Minnesota
Sickels, A. L. Around the world in St. Paul. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Saints
Fülöp-Miller, R. Saints that moved the world. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Saints and strangers. Willison, G. F. (S '45)
Saints that moved the world. Fülöp-Miller, R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Sales management
Benge, E. J. Manpower in marketing. (Je '45)
La Clave, F. Basic problems of sales management. (S '45)
Salesmen
Osborne, D. R. Salesmen for tomorrow. (D '45)
Rosenstein, J. L. Scientific selection of salesmen. (Ap '45)
Salesmen for tomorrow. Osborne, D. R. (D '45)
The Salinas. Fisher, A. B. (Mr '45)
Salinas river
Fisher, A. B. The Salinas. (Mr '45)
Sam Slick in Texas. Hoole, W. S. (N '45)
Sampling
Chappell, M. N., and Hooper, C. E. Radio audience measurement. (Ap '45)
Dodge, H. F., and Romig, H. G. Sampling inspection tables. (Ag '45)
Sampling inspection tables. Dodge, H. F., and Romig, H. G. (Ag '45)
Sand, George
Winwar, F. Life of the heart. (D '45)
Sandy. Gray, E. J. (My '45)
Sandy and the Indians. Friskey, M. R. (My '45)
San Francisco
History
Atherton, G. F. H. Golden Gate country. (Ap '45)
Kahn, E. M. Cable car days in San Francisco. (Mr '45)
Social life and customs
Parton, M. Laughter on the hill. (Je '45)
Sanitation, Household
Gay, C. M., and Fawcett, C. D. Mechanical and electrical equipment for buildings. (Je '45)
San Martin, Jose de
Rojas, R. San Martin. (My '45)
Santa Fe. Rister, C. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Santa Fe railroad. See Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad
Santayana, George
Santayana, G. Middle span. (My '45)
Satire
Johnson, E., ed. Treasury of satire. (O '45)
Saving and thrift
Hayes, H. G. Spending, saving and employment. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Jordan, D. F., and Willett, E. F. Spend wisely and grow rich. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Terborgh, G. W. Bogey of economic maturity. (N '45)
Scandal. Alarcon, P. A. de. (Ag '45)
Scandalous adventures of Reynard, the fox. Owens, H. J. (Ag '45)
Scandinavia
Hovde, B. J. Scandinavian countries. (Mr '45)
Scandinavian countries. Hovde, B. J. (Mr '45)
Scarecrow. Goldthwaite, E. K. (Ag '45)
Scarlet button. Malleson. L. B. (N '45)
Schenker, Heinrich
Katz, A. T. Challenge to musical tradition. (D '45)
Scholasticism
Cassidy, F. P. Molders of the medieval mind. (Ap '45)
School and community. Olsen, E. G., and others. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

School in the sky. Carroll, R. R. and L. (Je '45)
School libraries
  Fargo, L. F. Activity book no. 2; library projects for children and young people. (O '45)
School libraries (high school)
  Henne, F., and Pritchard, M. Librarian and the teacher of home economics. (S '45)
School management
  American council on education. Commission on teacher education. Helping teachers understand children. (D '45)
School verse and prose
  Gould, K. M., and Coyne, J., eds. Young voices. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Schools
  Olsen, E. G., and others. School and community. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Schubert, Franz Peter
  Hutchings, A. J. B. Schubert. (N '45)
Schumann, Robert Alexander
  Schauffler, R. H. Florestan. (O '45)
Science
  Baitsell, G. A., ed. Science in progress; fourth series. (Ag '45)
  Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Kaempffert, W. B. Science today and tomorrow. (Je '45)
  Moulton, F. R., and Schifferes, J. J., eds. Autobiography of science. (S '45)
History
  Dampier, W. C. D. Shorter history of science. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Philosophy
  Gill, H. V. Fact and fiction in modern science. (N '45)
  Wellmuth, J. J. Nature and origins of scientism. (Je '45)
Study and teaching
  Baker, E. V. Children's questions and their implications for planning the curriculum. (O '45)
Science and art of perfumery. Sagarin, E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Science and state
  Baker, J. R. Science and the planned state. (D '45)
Science and the planned state. Baker, J. R. (D '45)
Science in progress; fourth series. Baitsell, G. A., ed. (Ag '45)
Science of man in the world crisis. Linton, R., ed. (Mr '45)
Science of the seven seas. Stommel, H. M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Science today and tomorrow. Kaempffert, W. B. (Je '45)
Scientific selection of salesmen. Rosenstein, J. L. (Ap '45)
Scientific societies in the United States. Bates, R. S. (D '45)
Scientists
  Montgomery, E. R. Story behind great medical discoveries. (D '45)
  Pollack, P. Careers in science. (Ag '45)
Scotland
  Finlay, I. Scotland. (S '45)
Scott, Robert Lee
  Scott, R. L. Runway to the sun. (O '45)
Sculptors
  Gardner, A. T. Yankee stonecutters. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sculpture, American
  Gardner, A. T. Yankee stonecutters. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sea between. Davis, L. R. (My '45)
Sea language comes ashore. Colcord, J. C. (Mr '45)
Sea, surf and hell. Mercey, A. A. and Grove, L. eds. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Seafaring life
Dictionaries
  Colcord, J. C. Sea language comes ashore. (Mr '45)
Seamless robe. Cleghorn, S. N. (S '45)
Seawolf (submarine)
  Frank, G., and Horan, J. D. U.S.S. Seawolf. (O '45)
Secession
  Diary of a public man . . . pref. notes by F. L. Bullard. (O '45)
Second chance. Whitton, J. B., ed. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Secret history of the war, 2v. Root, W. L. (Mr '45)
Secret mission submarine. Jewell, N. L. A. (My '45)
Secretaries, Medical
  Parsons, E. J. In the doctor's office. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Secrets. Jones, J. M. O. (N '45)
Secrets of industry. Ord, L. C. (S '45)
Sectarian welfare federation among Protestants. Stidley, L. A. (My '45)
Sects
  Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world. (N '45)
Security in the Pacific. Institute of Pacific relations. (S '45)
Seeing the invisible. Hawley, G. G. (Mr '45)
Selected poems. Alberti, R. (Ap '45)
Selected speeches and statements. Marshall, G. C. (O '45)
Selection and tenure of judges. Haynes, E. (N '45)
Selections for today. Wilson, W. (Ag '45)
Self determination, National
  Cobban, A. National self-determination. (D '45)
Selling with color. Birren, F. (O '45)
Senate and the Versailles mandate system. Logan, R. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Sentinel of the snow peaks. McCracken, H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
September remember. Taintor, E. (Je '45)
Seraph (submarine)
  Jewell, N. L. A. Secret mission submarine. (My '45)
Sergeant Nelson of the Guards. Kersh, G. (My '45)
Sermons
  Butler, G. P., ed. Best sermons, 1944 selection. (Ap '45)
  Chappell, C. G. If I were young. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Elbin, P. N. Enrichment of life. (N '45)
  Gifford, F. D. Traveling the King's highway. (Ap '45)
  Gossip, A. J. Experience worketh hope. (O '45)
  Poling, D. A., ed. Treasury of great sermons. (My '45)
  Read, D. H. C. Prisoners' quest. (Je '45)
Serve it buffet. Brobeck, F. R. (Ap '45)
Service, Robert William
  Service, R. W. Ploughman of the moon. (N '45)
Seven painters. Ward, A. C. (N '45)
Seven pillars of peace. Sheen, F. J. (Mr '45)
Seven plays. Gorky, M. (Ag '45)
Seven times the leading man. Hostovsky, E. (O '45)
Seventeen poems. Meynell, F. (N '45)
The 17th letter. Disney, D. C. (Mr '45)
Seventh-day Adventists
  Nichol, F. D. Midnight cry. (Je '45)
77 Willow road. Douglas-Irvine, H. (Je '45)
Sex
  Reik, T. Psychology of sex relations. (O '45)
Shadow castle. Cockrell, M. B. (O '45)
Shadow falls. Simenon, G. (O '45)
Shadow of a crime. Street, C. J. C. (S '45)
Shadow on the plains. Greve, A. W. (Mr '45)
Shadows under the stars. Black, D. (Ag '45)
Shakespeare, William
Characters
  Draper, J. W. Humors and Shakespeare's characters. (N '45)
Criticism and interpretation
  Bentley, G. E. Shakespeare and Jonson. (My '45)
  Bethell, S. L. Shakespeare and the popular dramatic tradition. (Ap '45)
Shakespeare and Jonson. Bentley, G. E. (My '45)
Shakespeare and the popular dramatic tradition. Bethell, S. L. (Ap '45)

Shall we scrap our merchant marine? Rathbone, A. D. (Je '45)
Shamanism
Eckstorm, F. H. Old John Neptune. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Shape of danger. Kielland, A. (Mr '45)
Shaping of psychiatry by war. Rees, J. R. (My '45)
She came back. Wentworth, P. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
She never reached the top. Lobaugh, E. K. (O '45)
Sheep
Kupper, W. Golden hoof. (Je '45)
Towne, C. W., and Wentworth, E. N. Shepherd's empire. (S '45)
Legends and stories
McCracken, H. Sentinel of the snow peaks. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sheet metal, theory and practice. Butler, J. C. (My '45)
Sheet metal work
Butler, J. C. Sheet metal, theory and practice. (My '45)
Shelley, Percy Bysshe
Smith, R. M., and others. Shelley legend. (D '45)
White, N. I. Portrait of Shelley. (Ap '45)
Shelley legend. Smith, R. M., and others. (D '45)
Shells by a stream. Blunden, E. C. (N '45)
The Shenandoah. Davis, J. (D '45)
Shenandoah valley
Davis, J. The Shenandoah. (D '45)
Shepherd's empire. Towne, C. W., and Wentworth, E. N. (S '45)
Shield of the valiant. Derleth, A. W. (D '45)
Shinto
Ballou, R. O. Shinto. (D '45)
Ship handling in narrow channels. Plummer, C. J. (O '45)
Ship of flame. Stone, W. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Ship propulsion
Newman, Q. B. Marine electric power. (O '45)
Shipbuilding
Garyantes, H. F. Handbook for shipwrights. (Mr '45)
Ships
Talbot-Booth, E. C., ed. What ship is that? (Ap '45)
Cargo
Lederer, E. H. Port terminal operation. (Ap '45)
Shipwrecks
Dickinson, J. Journal. (D '45)
Shoelace robin. Hall, W. N. (D '45)
Shooting
Holland, R. P. Shotgunning in the lowlands. (My '45)
Johnson, M. M. Practical marksmanship. (O '45)
Roper, W. F. Pistol and revolver shooting. (N '45)
Shopwork on the farm. Jones, M. M. (N '45)
Short dictionary of architecture. Ware, D. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Short history of Germany. Steinberg, S. H. (Je '45)
Short is the time. Day-Lewis, C. (S '45)
Short leash. Shurtleff, B. L. (S '45)
Short novels. Dostoevskiĭ, F. M. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Short shrift. Long, M. (Ag '45)
Short stories
Collections
Bedside tales. (Ap '45)
Burnett, W., ed. Time to be young. (My '45)
Cerf, B. A., ed. Modern American short stories. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Foley, M., ed. Best American short stories, 1945. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Ford, C. H., ed. Night with Jupiter. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Gable, M., ed. Our Father's house. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Grayson, C., ed. Half-a-hundred. (Ag '45)
Harré, T. E., comp. Bedside treasury of love. (O '45)
Maule, H. E., ed. Great tales of the American West. (S '45)
O. Henry memorial award. Prize stories of 1945. (O '45)
Oberfirst, R. Technique sells the short-short. (Ag '45)
Queen, E., ed. Rogues' gallery. (N '45)
Seaver, E., ed. Cross section 1945. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Smith, H. A., ed. Desert island decameron. (S '45)
White, W. A. P., ed. Great American detective stories. (N '45)
Short story
Oberfirst, R. Technique sells the short-short. (Ag '45)
Short wait between trains. McLaughlin, R. (N '45)
Shorter history of science. Dampier, W. C. D. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Shotgunning in the lowlands. Holland, R. P (My '45)
Shrimp and the anemone. Eng title of: West window. Hartley, L. P. (O '45)
Shrubs
Graves, G. Trees, shrubs and vines for the northeastern United States. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sibby Botherbox. Hunt, M. L. (D '45)
Sickles, Daniel Edgar
Pinchon, E. Dan Sickles. (Ag '45)
Sight and insight. Guggenheimer, R. H. (N '45)
Sign of the ram. Ferguson, M. (Ap '45)
Silence in court. Wentworth, P. (Ag '45)
Silent fame. Haberly, L. (O '45)
Silly Billy. Scott, S. (N '45)
Silver
Juvenile literature
Burt, O. W. Peter's silver dollar. (O '45)
Silver answer. Hoff, R. (Ag '45)
Silver buckles on his knee. Wadelton, T. D. (S '45)
Silver darlings. Gunn, N. M. (S '45)
Silver inkwell. Whitney, P. A. (N '45)
Silver Moon cottage. Bassett, S. W. (O '45)
Silver shoals. Cochran, H. (D '45)
Silver Tombstone. Gruber, F. (D '45)
Silversides (submarine)
Trumbull, R. O. Silversides. (S '45)
Simon, Charlie May (Hogue)
Simon, C. M. H. Straw in the sun. (My '45)
Simplified carpentry estimating. Wilson, J. D., and Rogers, C. M. (O '45)
Simplified design of structural steel. Parker, H. E. (S '45)
Simplified time study. Myers, H. J. (Ap '45)
Sin
Harkness, G. E. Dark night of the soul. (Ag '45)
Sing Mother Goose. Wheeler, O. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sinews of peace. Feis, H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Singing and voice culture
Bachner, L. Dynamic singing. (My '45)
Stanley, D. Your voice. (S '45)
Singing cave. Leighton, M. C. (Je '45)
Singing games
Trent-Johns, A. Play songs of the deep South. (Ap '45)
Sinister errand. Cheyney, P. (O '45)
Sir Lancelot and Scamp. Johnson, M. S. and H. L. (O '45)
Sir Toby and the Murrays. Pollock, K. G. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Sitwell family
Sitwell, O. Left hand, right hand! (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Six of them. Neumann, A. (S '45)
Sixty million jobs. Wallace, H. A. (O '45)
Size 1. Corcos, L. (D '45)
Skalds. Hollander, L. M., ed. and tr. (D '45)
Skating today. Renick, M. R. (Ag '45)
Sketch book of dogs. Worden, F. (D '45)
Skiing for the millions. Harper, F. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Skip to my Lou. Camp, W. M. (O '45)
Skippy's family. Meader, S. W. (N '45)
Skis and ski running
Harper, F. Skiing for the millions. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Skittle-skattle monkey. Lathrop, D. P. (D '45)
Sky highways. Lloyd, T. (Je '45)
Slave who dreamed. Shore, M., and Obinger, M. M. (Ap '45)

Slavery
Williams, E. Capitalism and slavery. (Ap '45)
Slavery in the United States
Botkin, B. A., ed. Lay my burden down. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sleep in the sun. Moody, A. B. (My '45)
Sleepy quilt. Steiner, C. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Slovak literature. See Czechoslovak literature
Slow train to yesterday. Robertson, A. T. (O '45)
Small back room. Balchin, N. (Mr '45)
Small business and venture capital. Weissman, R. L. (My '45)
Small general. Standish, R. (N '45)
Small home of tomorrow. Williams, P. R. (O '45)
Small rain. L'Engle, M. (Ap '45)
Small store and independence. Greenberg, D B., and Schindall, H. (O '45)
Smith, Alfred Emanuel
Graham, F. Al Smith, American. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Smith, Joseph
Brodie, F. M. No man knows my history. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Smith, Samuel
Swanson, N. H. Perilous fight. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Smoke jumper. Allee, M. H. (N '45)
Smollet, Tobias George
Kahrl, G. M. Tobias Smollett, traveler-novelist. (Je '45)
Smouldering freedom. Palencia, I. de. (O '45)
Snow over Bethlehem. Milhous, K. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
So far so good. Towne, C. H. (S '45)
So many loves. Eng title of: Turn of the tide. Walmsley, L. (Ag '45)
So well remembered. Hilton, J. (S '45)
Social conditions
Gutkind, E. A. Creative demobilisation, 2v. (S '45)
Social-economic movements. Laidler, H. W. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Social ethics
West, R. Conscience and society. (Je '45)
Social gospel of Walter Rauschenbusch and its relation to religious education. Bodein, V. P. (D '45)
Social history of the Philadelphia Baptist association. Torbet, R. G. (S '45)
Social problems
Boas, F. Race and democratic society. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Social psychology
Blackburn, J. M. Psychology and the social pattern. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Huszar, G. B. de. Practical applications of democracy. (My '45)
Kardiner, A., and others. Psychological frontiers of society. (S '45)
Leighton, A. H. Governing of men. (S '45)
Linton, R., ed. Science of man in the world crisis. (Mr '45)
Lowy, S. New directions in psychology. (D '45)
Society for the psychological study of social issues. Human nature and enduring peace. (N '45)
Social sciences
Walker, E. E. Democracy and social policy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Study and teaching
Baker, E. V. Children's questions and their implications for planning the curriculum. (O '45)
Brameld, T. B. H. Design for America. (O '45)
Social service in wartime. Wright, H. R., ed. (Mr '45)
Social surveys
Kohler, L. T. Neosho, Missouri, under the impact of army camp construction. (S '45)
Withers, C. Plainville, U.S.A. (My '45)
Yang, M. Chinese village. (N '45)
Social systems of American ethnic groups. Warner, W. L., and Srole, L. (O '45)
Social work
Taft, J., ed. Functional approach to family case work. (S '45)
Wright, H. R., ed. Social service in wartime. (Mr '45)
Socialism
Laidler, H. W. Social-economic movements. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Strachey, E. J. S. Socialism looks forward. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Venable, V. Human nature. (Je '45)
Socialism looks forward. Strachey, E. J. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Socialist workers party
Cannon, J. P. History of American Trotskyism. (S '45)
Society, Primitive
Du Bois, C. A. People of Alor. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Society for promoting Christian knowledge
Clarke, E. K. L. Eighteenth century piety. (Ap '45)
Socinianism
Wilbur, E. M. History of Unitarianism. (O '45)
Sociology
Bryson, G. E. Man and society. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Kroeber, A. L. Configurations of culture growth. (D '45)
Sturzo, L. Inner laws of society. (S '45)
Wach, J. Sociology of religion. Wach, J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Dictionaries
Fairchild, H. P., ed. Dictionary of sociology. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Leaf, M. Let's do better. (N '45)
Methodology
Greenwood, E. Experimental sociology. (S '45)
Sociology, Christian
De la Bedoyere, M. Christianity in the market-place. (My '45)
Emrich, R. S. Earth might be fair. (Mr '45)
Furfey, P. H. Mystery of iniquity. (Je '45)
Kean, C. D. Christianity and the cultural crisis. (O '45)
Knight, F. H., and Merriam, T. W. Economic order and religion. (Mr '45)
Sociology, Rural
Oxford. University. Agricultural economics research institute. Country planning. (O '45)
Smith, R. C. Church in our town. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Withers, C. Plainville, U.S.A. (My '45)
Sociology of literary taste. Schucking, L. L. (Mr '45)
Sociology of religion. Wach, J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Sociology of the family. Elmer, M. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sociology of the renaissance. Martin, A. W. O. von. (Ap '45)
Soil and plant analysis. Piper, C. S. (My '45)
Soil conservation
Shepard, W. Food or famine. (N '45)
Soils
Analysis
Piper, C. S. Soil and plant analysis. (My '45)
Soldier of democracy. Davis, K. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Soldier, you're it! Nelson, R. W. (O '45)
Soldiers
Entertainment
Gillmore, M., and Collinge, P. The B.O.W.S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Religious life
Tower, H. H. Fighting the devil with the marines. (N '45)
Soldiers and strangers. Fenton, E. B. (Ag '45)
Soldiers' Bibles through three centuries. Willoughby, H. R. (My '45)
Soldiers of God. Cross, C., and Arnold, W. R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Solution in Asia. Lattimore, O. (Mr '45)
Solutions, Solid
Masing, G. Ternary systems. (Ap '45)
Somber memory. Siller, V. (N '45)
Some Hellenistic elements in primitive Christianity. Knox, W. L. (O '45)
Some of these days. Tucker, S. (Ap '45)

Some went this way. Seymour, R. F. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Somewhat angels. DeJong, D. C. (D '45)
Son and stranger. Charles, J. (Ap '45)
Son-of-a-gun stew. Stover, E. M., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Son of Heaven. Eng title of: Japan and the Son of Heaven. Price, W. DeM. (N '45)
Son of Man and Suffering Servant. McDowell, E. A. (S '45)
Son of Normandy. Sawdon, B. M. (S '45)
Son of the wilderness. Wolfe, L. M. (S '45)
Son of thunder. Carson, J. M. H. (D '45)
Song of Lazarus. Comfort, A. (D '45)
Song of the Dnieper. Shneur, Z. (O '45)
Songs, American
  Spaeth, S. G. Read 'em and weep. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Songs for boys and girls. Foster, S. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sons of the morning. Schrag, O. (D '45)
Soul afire. Reinhold, H. A., ed. (Je '45)
Soups
  Mabon, M. F. A meal in itself. (Ap '45)
Source-book of biological names and terms. Jaeger, E. C. (My '45)
South
  Economic conditions
  Ivey, J. E. Channeling research into education. (My '45)
South Africa
  History
  Cloete, S. Against these three. (S '45)
South America
  Description and travel
  Dunne, P. M. Padre views South America. (Ag '45)
  Sharp, R. H. South America uncensored. (S '45)
  Von Hagen, V. W. South America called them. (Mr '45)
  Economic conditions
  Sharp, R. H. South America uncensored. (S '45)
  Foreign relations
  United States
  What the South Americans think of us, by Carleton Beals [and others]. (S '45)
  Juvenile literature
  Lansing, M. F. Calling South America. (My '45)
  Relations (general) with United States
  Bernstein, H. Origins of inter-American interest. (My '45)
South America called them. Von Hagen, V. W. (Mr '45)
South America uncensored. Sharp, R. H. (S '45)
South Carolina
  Social life and customs
  Allston, R. F. W. South Carolina rice plantation. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
South Carolina rice plantation. Allston, R. F. W. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
South of the Sahara. Gatti, A. (D '45)
Sovereignty
  Reves, E. Anatomy of peace. (Ag '45)
Soviet Far Eastern policy. Moore, H. L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Soviet spirit. Ward, H. F. (Ap '45)
Sowing the wind. Dodd, M. E. (O '45)
Space perception
  Kepes, G. Language of vision. (Ag '45)
Spain
  Foreign relations
  Hayes, C. J. H. Wartime mission in Spain. (D '45)
  History
  Civil war, 1936-1939
  Palencia, I. de. Smouldering freedom. (O '45)
  Politics and government
  Palencia, I. de. Smouldering freedom. (O '45)
Spaniels
  Taber, G. B. Especially spaniels. (D '45)
Spanish American literature
  Henriquez Urena, P. Literary currents in Hispanic America. (S '45)
Spanish language
  Dictionaries
  Klein Seralles, J. English-Spanish and Spanish-English dictionary of aviation terms (N '45)
Spanish poetry
  Collections
  Turnbull, E. L., ed. & tr. Contemporary Spanish poetry. (O '45)
  Translations into English
  Turnbull, E. L., ed. & tr. Contemporary Spanish poetry. (O '45)
Speak of the devil. North, S., and Boutell, C. B., eds. (S '45)
Speaking of how to pray. Perkins, M. (Ap '45)
Special delivery. Rosenberg, B. D. (Ap '45)
Spectrum analysis
  Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Major instruments of science and their applications to chemistry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
  Herzberg, G. Infrared and raman spectra of polyatomic molecules. (O '45)
Speech
  Craig, W. C., and Sokolowsky, R. R. Preacher's voice. (S '45)
Speeches, addresses, etc.
  Baird, A. C., ed. Representative American Speeches. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Spend wisely and grow rich. Jordan, D. F., and Willett, E. F. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Spending, saving and employment. Hayes, H. G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Spenser, Edmund
  Judson, A. C. Life of Edmund Spenser. (D '45)
Spies
  Singer, K. D. Spies and traitors of World war II. (O '45)
Spies and traitors of World war II. Singer, K. D. (O '45)
Spin a silver dollar. Hannum, A. P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Spinoza, Benedictus de
  Myers, H. A. Spinoza-Hegel paradox. (Ap '45)
Spinoza-Hegel paradox. Myers, H. A. (Ap '45)
Spirit of English history. Rowse, A. L. (N '45)
Spirit of Russian economics. Normano, J. F. (Mr '45)
Spiritual life
  Sturzo, L. Spiritual problems of our times. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Spiritual problems of our times. Sturzo, L. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Splasher. Gall, A. C., and Crew, F. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Splicing wire and fiber rope. Graumont, R., and Hensel, J. (Je '45)
Sports
  Esquire (periodical). First sports reader. (Je '45)
  Hughes, W. L., and Williams, J. F. Sports. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Marsh, I. T., and Ehre, E., eds. Best sports stories of 1944. (S '45)
  Pashko, S. American boy's omnibus. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Spotty. Rey, M. E. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Spring is here. Lenski, L. (My '45)
Springboard. MacNeice, L. (S '45)
Springfield plan. Wise, J. W. (S '45)
Spruce, Richard
  Von Hagen, V. W. South America called them. (Mr '45)
Spy in the hills. Saville, M. (D '45)
Square sails and spice islands. Long, L. (N '45)
Squirrel book. Kelway, P. (My '45)
Squirrels
  Legends and stories
  Campbell, S. A. Eeny, Meeny, Miney, Mo—and Still-Mo. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Kelway, P. Squirrel book. (My '45)
Stage version of Shelley's Cenci. Shelley, P. B. (O '45)
Stallion road. Longstreet, S. (Je '45)

Standard and emergency shop methods. Colvin, F. H., and Stanley, F. A. (D '45)
A star danced. Lawrence, G. (S '45)

Stars
  Sutherland, L. Book of the stars. (O '45)
Stars came down. Woody, R. J. (D '45)
Starting from scratch. Bacon, P. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

State, The
  Ebenstein, W. Pure theory of law. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
State department cat. Plum, M. (Mr '45)
State taxation of metallic deposits. Roberts, W. A. (O '45)

States, Small
  Poznański, C. Rights of nations. (S '45)

Statesmen, Latin American
  Davis, H. E. Makers of democracy in Latin America. (D '45)

Statistics
  Kendall, M. G. Advanced theory of statistics. (S '45)
  Smith, J. G., and Duncan, A. J. Elementary statistics and applications. (Ap '45)

Steam engineering
  Graham, F. D. Audels power plant engineers guide. (D '45)

Steam navigation
  Calvin, D. D. Saga of the St Lawrence. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Steamboatin' days. Wheeler, M. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Steel, Structural
  Parker, H. E. Simplified design of structural steel. (S '45)

Steel construction
  Parker, H. E. Simplified design of structural steel. (S '45)

Steel industry and trade
  Leyson, B. W. Careers in the steel industry. (Ag '45)
  May, E. C. Principio to Wheeling. (My '45)
Stepchildren of France. Odic, C. J. (N '45)
Stephen Hero. Joyce, J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Steps in the dark. Cumberland, M. (My '45)

Sterne, Laurence
  Quennell, P. C. Profane virtues. (S '45)
  Yoseloff, T. Fellow of infinite jest. (N '45)
Stiggles. Cummins, K. (D '45)
Stocky, boy of west Texas. Baker, E. W. (Je '45)

Stone, Fred Andrew
  Stone, F. A. Rolling Stone. (Ap '45)

Stone, Mrs Goldie (Tuvin)
  Stone, G. T. My caravan of years. (O '45)

Stone, Harlan Fiske
  Konefsky, S. J. Chief Justice Stone and the Supreme Court. (D '45)
A stone, a leaf, a door. Wolfe, T. (N '45)
Stop or I'll scream! Collier's, the national weekly. (N '45)
Stories from far and near. Feuchtwanger, L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Storm tide. Ogilvie, E. (O '45)
Story behind great medical discoveries. Montgomery, E. R. (D '45)
Story of Jesus. Bible. New Testament. (Ap '45)
Story of Jesus for boys and girls. Beebe, C. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Story of liberty. Anspacher, L. K. (My '45)
Story of penicillin. Sokoloff, B. F. (My '45)
Story of the Christian year. Gibson, G. M. (O '45)
Story of the Dutch East Indies. Vlekke, B. H. M. (O '45)
Story of the great geologists. Fenton, C. L. and M. A. (S '45)
Story of the second World war. Commager, H. S., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Story of the southern highlands. McNeer, M. Y. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Story of the Springfield plan. Chatto, C. I., and Halligan, A. L. (O '45)
Story of the U.S. army air forces. Ray, J. R. (Ag '45)
Story of war weapons. McClintock, M. (S '45)
Story of Woodrow Wilson. Cranston, R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Stowage
  Lederer, E. H. Port terminal operation. (Ap '45)

Straight down a crooked lane. Porter, M. B. (O '45)
Strange seas of thought. Stallknecht, N. P. (N '45)
The stranger. Kuncewiczowa, M. S. (S '45)
Strangers in India. Moon, P. (My '45)
Strangers should not whisper. Goris, J. A. (Mr '45)
Strategy of peace. Wriston, H. M. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Straw in the sun. Simon, C. M. H. (My '45)
Strawberry girl. Lenski, L. (O '45)
Stream sinister. Knight, K. M. (Ap '45)
Street in Bronzeville. Brooks, G. (N '45)

Street railroads
    San Francisco
  Kahn, E. M. Cable car days in San Francisco. (Mr '45)

Strength of materials
  Parker, H. E. Simplified design of structural steel. (S '45)

Strikes and lockouts
  Millis, H. A., and Montgomery, R. E. Organized labor. (D '45)
Stronger than fear. Tregaskis, R. W. (Ag '45)
Struggling upward. Alger, H. (O '45)
Stuart Little. White, E. B. (D '45)
Stuart's hill. Saltzman, E. (Je '45)

Students
  Hawkes, H. E. and A. L. R. Through a dean's open door. (O '45)
  Hooton, E. A. Young man, you are normal. (S '45)
    Religious life
  McKinney, R. I. Religion in higher education among Negroes. (O '45)
Studies in Jewish history and booklore. Marx, A. (Ap '45)
Studio: Europe. Groth, J. (D '45)
Stuffy. Laird, R. (N '45)
Sturdy rogue. King-Hall, M. (Je '45)

Subject headings
    Physics
  Voigt, M. J. Subject headings in physics. (Ap '45)
Subject headings in physics. Voigt, M. J. (Ap '45)

Success
  Lurton, D. E. Make the most of your life. (D '45)

Sugar
    Manufacture and refining
  Spencer, G. L. and Meade, G. P. Cane sugar handbook. (S '45)

Sulaimán I, the Magnificent, sultan of the Turks
  Merriman, R. B. Suleiman the Magnificent. (Mr '45)

Sullivan, William Laurence
  Sullivan, W. L. Under orders. (S '45)

Summer resorts
  Faught, M. C. Falmouth, Massachusetts. (O '45)
Superfortress is born. Collison, T. (S '45)
Super-powers. Fox, W. T. R. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Surgeon's hands. Munson, I. N. (Ap '45)

Surgery, Military
  Fishbein, M., ed. Doctors at war. (Je '45)

Surmelian, Leon Z.
  Surmelian, L. Z. I ask you, ladies and gentlemen. (Ag '45)
Surprise for Mrs Bunny. Steiner, C. (O '45)
Surprise place. Bonner, M. G. (N '45)

Surrealism
  Janis, S. Abstract and surrealist art in America. (Mr '45)
Surrender on demand. Fry, V. (My '45)
Survey of Catholic literature. Brown, S. J. M., and McDermott, T. (O '45)

Surveying
  Breed, C. B., and Hosmer, G. L. Principles and practice of surveying; v 1, Elementary surveying. (Ag '45)
Swamp Fox brigade. Lucas, E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sweep of dusk. Kehoe, W. J. (Ag '45)

Swift, Jonathan
    Fiction
  Clewes, W. Violent friends. (Mr '45)

Swindlers and swindling
Hynd, A. Giant killers. (S '45)
Lever, H., and Young, J. Wartime racketeers. (My '45)
Swing low. Peeples, E. A. (Ap '45)
Sydney Duck. Eng title of: Yankee woman. Baume, F. E. (Ap '45)
Sykes, Godfrey Glenton
Sykes, G. G. Westerly trend. (Je '45)
Sylvia sings of apples. Kiser, M. G. (D '45)
Synthetic rubber from alcohol. Talalay, A., and Magat, M. (S '45)
Systematic politics. Merriam, C. E. (N '45)
Sze, Mai-mai
Sze, M. Echo of a cry. (N '45)

T.V.A: lessons for international application. Finer, H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Tables of the law. Mann, T. (S '45)
Taft, William Howard
Hicks, F. C. William Howard Taft. (N '45)
Tahl. Ingalls, J. (Ag '45)
Taitou, Shantung province
Yang, M. Chinese village. (N '45)
Take it easy. Mathews, A. G. (D '45)
Take it easy before dinner. Holberg, R. L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Take the children. King, D. N. (D '45)
Take three tenses. Godden, R. (Ap '45)
Take your place at the peace table. Bernays, E. L. (My '45)
Tales, Balkan
Haslip, J. Fairy tales from the Balkans. (Mr '45)
Tales, Scottish
Galloway, P. F. W. S. Folk tales from Scotland. (Mr '45)
Talk about Russia with Masha Scott. Buck, P. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Talking skyscraper. Brown, S. (S '45)
Talking to the moon. Mathews, J. J. (S '45)
Tanks (military science)
Icks, R. J. Tanks and armored vehicles. (Ag '45)
Tanks and armored vehicles. Icks, R. J. (Ag '45)
Tanning
Orthmann, A. C. Tanning processes. (D '45)
Tanning processes. Orthmann, A. C. (D '45)
Tansy Taniard. Strode-Jackson, M. B. S. (N '45)
Tapestry
Friedländer, P. Documents of dying paganism. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Taps is not enough. Carmer, C. L. (S '45)
Tarawa, Battle of, 1943
Wilson, E. J., and others. Betio beachhead. (Je '45)
Tariff
France
Golob, E. O. Méline tariff. (My '45)
Great Britain
Snyder, R. K. Tariff problem in Great Britain, 1918-1923. (Mr '45)
Tariff problem in Great Britain, 1918-1923. Snyder, R. K. (Mr '45)
Tarnish. Johnson, O. H. L. (Ap '45)
Task. Campbell, R. B. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Taste
Crocker, E. C. Flavor. (S '45)
Tattered coat. Buckingham, N. (Je '45)
Taxation
United States
Marsh, D. B. Taxes without tears? (Ag '45)
Tax institute. Curbing inflation through taxation. (My '45)
Taxation, State
Roberts, W. A. State taxation of metallic deposits. (O '45)
Taxes without tears? Marsh, D. B. (Ag '45)
Taylor, Bayard
Taylor, B., and Hayne, P. H. Correspondence. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Tchaikovski, Peter Ilyitch
Tchaikovski, P. I. Diaries. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Mayo, W. Tchaikovsky. (Ag '45)
Teacher education in service. Prall, C. E., and Cushman, C. L. (My '45)
Teacher in America. Barzun, J. (Mr '45)
Teachers, Rating of Reavis, W. C., and Cooper, D. H. Evaluation of teacher merit in city school systems. (Ag '45)
Teachers, Training of
Armstrong, W. E., and others. College and teacher education. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Cooper, R. M. Better colleges—better teachers. (Ap '45)
Prall, C. E., and Cushman, C. L. Teacher education in service. (My '45)
Troyer, M. E., and Pace, C. R. Evaluation in teacher education. (My '45)
Teaching
Barzun, J. Teacher in America. (Mr '45)
Melvin, A. G. Teaching. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Teaching through radio. Levenson, W. B. (O '45)
Technical education
Bollinger, E. W., and Weaver, G. G. Occupational instruction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Technique of screenplay writing. Vale, E. (Ap '45)
Technique sells the short-short. Oberfirst, R. (Ag '45)
Techniques of guidance. Traxler, A. E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Technology
Huff, D. and F. M. N. Twenty careers of tomorrow. (Je '45)
Kaempffert, W. B. Science today and tomorrow. (Je '45)
Manchester, H. New world of machines. (My '45)
Dictionaries
Chambers's technical dictionary. (My '45)
Technology of plastics and resins. Mason, J. P., and Manning, J. F. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Teenie weenie neighbors. Donahey, W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Telescope
Dimitroff, G. Z., and Baker, J. G. Telescopes and accessories. (Ap '45)
Telescopes and accessories. Dimitroff, G. Z., and Baker, J. G. (Ap '45)
Television
Hubbell, R. W. Television programming and production. (S '45)
Television programming and production. Hubbell, R. W. (S '45)
Tell me about the Bible. Jones, M. A. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Tell Sparta. Sedgwick, A. C. (Ap '45)
Tell the people. Buck, P. S. (My '45)
Temple, Shirley
Temple, S. My young life. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Tempo and mode in evolution. Simpson, G. G. (Ag '45)
Ten grandmothers. Marriott, A. L. (Mr '45)
Tennessee valley authority
Collins, F. L. Uncle Sam's billion-dollar baby. (N '45)
Duffus, R. L. Valley and its people. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Finer, H. T.V.A: lessons for international application. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Tennis
Budge, L. Tennis made easy. (O '45)
Tennis made easy. Budge, L. (O '45)
Teresa. Gray, A. K. (N '45)
Ternary systems. Masing, G. (Ap '45)
Territory, National
Hill, N. L. Claims to territory in international law and relations. (Ag '45)
Terry and Bunky play football. Fishel, R. M., and Smith, W. W. (D '45)
Testing
Malleable founders' society. American malleable iron. (N '45)
Testosterone
De Kruif, P. H. Male hormone. (Je '45)
Texan in England. Dobie, J. F. (Je '45)

Texas
History
White, O. P. Texas. (N '45)
Textbook of healthful living. Diehl, H. S. (N '45)
Textbook of organic chemistry. Wertheim, E. (D '45)
Textile design
Davison, M. P. Handweaver's pattern book. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Textile fabrics
Potter, M. D. Fiber to fabric. (O '45)
Thackeray, William Makepeace
Thackeray, W. M. Letters and private papers. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Thar she blows. Montgomery, R. G. (S '45)
That boy Nikolka. Kennell, R. E. (Ag '45)
That country called Virginia. Barksdale, L. (O '45)
That girl from Memphis. Steele, W. D. (Ag '45)
That's all that matters. Williams, O. (S '45)
Theater
New York (city)
History
Odell, G. C. D. Annals of the New York stage; v 14. (Ag '45)

United States
Clurman, H. Fervent years. (Ag '45)
Nathan, G. J. Theatre book of the year, 1944-1945. (D '45)
Theatre book of the year, 1944-1945. Nathan, G. J. (D '45)
Theater shoes. Streatfeild, N. (D '45)
Their rainbow had black edges. Eng title of: Dark rainbow. Butler, G. (D '45)
Theology
Rall, H. F. According to Paul. (Ap '45)
Theory and applications of electron tubes. Reich, H. J. (Ap '45)
Theory and practice of earning a living. Wharton, J. F. (S '45)
Theory and practice of reinforced concrete. Dunham, C. W. (Ap '45)
Theory of flight. Mises, R. von, and others. (Je '45)
Theory of games and economic behavior. Von Neumann, J., and Morgenstern, O. (Je '45)
Theory of resonance and its application to organic chemistry. Wheland, G. W. (Mr '45)
Theory of X-ray diffraction in crystals. Zachariasen, W. H. (Je '45)
There goes an actor. Granach, A. (Ag '45)
There goes Shorty Higgins. Karney, J. (Ap '45)
There was a crooked man. Roos, K. (My '45)
There was a lady. Litsey, S. (O '45)
There's laughter in the air! Gaver, J., and Stanley, D., eds. (Ag '45)
Thermodynamic properties of air. Keenan, J. H., and Kaye, J. (D '45)
Thermodynamics
Adams, A. S., and Hilding, G. D. Fundamentals of thermodynamics. (O '45)
Keenan, J. H., and Kaye, J. Thermodynamic properties of air. (D '45)
These are my jewels. Cook, E. B. (D '45)
These are the Russians. Lauterbach, R. E. (Je '45)
They came from Dalmatia. See Petar's treasure. Judson, C. I. (D '45)
They change their skies. Osborne, L. P. (Je '45)
They found the church there. Van Dusen, H. P. (S '45)
They look like men. Bergman, A. F. (Ap '45)
They never say when. Cheyney, P. (Mr '45)
They see for themselves. Brown, S. (Je '45)
They seek a city. Bontemps, A. W., and Conroy, J. (Ag '45)
They shall have music. Barnett, D. (D '45)
They walk in darkness. Philtine, E. C. (Je '45)
They were seven. Phillpotts, E. (S '45)
Things to make from odds and ends. Robinson, J. (O '45)
Third mystery companion. Furman, A. L., ed. (N '45)
Thirteen toy pistols. Halleran, E. E. (N '45)
34 Charlton. Kuhn, R. (Je '45)
Thirty poems. Merton, T. (Mr '45)
This bread. Buchanan, R. (O '45)
This hunger. Nin, A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
This is Canada. Buchanan, D. W., ed. (O '45)
This is Judaism. Isserman, F. M. (Ap '45)
This is the bread that Betsy ate. Black, I. S. (D '45)
This is the Christmas. Sawyer, R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
This is the navy. Rimington, C. (O '45)
This is the place: Utah. Whipple, M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
This is where I came in. Casey, R. J. (S '45)
This man from Lebanon. Young, B. (Mr '45)
This man Truman. McNaughton, F., and Hehmeyer, W. (O '45)
This ministry. Niebuhr, R., ed. (O '45)
This must not happen again! Kinnaird, C. (N '45)
This one's on me. Richter, M. (N '45)
This Petty pace. Petty, M. (D '45)
This time forever. Kauffmann, S. (My '45)
This, too, shall pass away. Rony, G. (Je '45)
Thomas Aquinas, Saint
Meyer, H. Philosophy of St Thomas Aquinas. (Ap '45)
Thomas Jefferson and the scientific trends of his time. Browne, C. A. (N '45)
Thoreau, Henry David
Whicher, G. F. Walden revisited. (S '45)
Though they go wandering. Coxhead, N. (My '45)
Thought and thinking
Kasanin, J. S., ed. Language and thought in schizophrenia. (My '45)
Three day pass. Waller, L. (N '45)
Three exotic tales. Freund, P. (S '45)
Three men in new suits. Priestley, J. B. (S '45)
Three mile bend. Wood, K. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Three o'clock dinner. Pinckney, J. (N '45)
Three Russian poets. (My '45)
Three short biers. Starr, J. (My '45)
Three who loved. Morris, E. (Mr '45)
Through a dean's open door. Hawkes, H. E. and A. L. R. (O '45)
Through Japanese eyes. Tolischus, O. D., comp. (My '45)
Thucydides
Gomme, A. W. Historical commentary on Thucydides, v 1. (S '45)
Thunderboats, ho! Montgomery, R. G. (Je '45)
Thurber carnival. Thurber, J. (Mr '45)
Tight rope. Burks, A. L. (S '45)
Tillman, Benjamin Ryan
Simkins, F. B. Pitchfork Ben Tillman. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Time bomb. Piller, E. A. (O '45)
Time for decision. Welles, S. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Time for planning. Lorwin, L. L. (My '45)
Time must have a stop. Huxley, A. L. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Time remembered. Hillyer, L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Time study
Myers, H. J. Simplified time study. (Ap '45)
Presgrave, R. Dynamics of time study. (N '45)
Time to be young. Burnett, W., ed. (My '45)
Time to die. Lawrence, H. (Mr '45)
Tin
Knorr, K. E. Tin under control. (S '45)
Tin horns and calico. Christman, H. (Ap '45)
Tin under control. Knorr, K. E. (S '45)
To marry strangers. Scott, W. T. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Told under the stars and stripes. Association for childhood education. Literature committee. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Toleration
Chatto, C. I., and Halligan, A. L. Story of the Springfield plan. (O '45)
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to national unity. (D '45)
Piller, E. A. Time bomb. (O '45)
Wise, J. W. Springfield plan. (S '45)
Tolstoi, Lev Nikolaevich, graf
Polner, T. I. Tolstoy and his wife. (S '45)
Tolstoy and his wife. Polner, T. I. (S '45)
Tomorrow sometimes comes. Carfrae, E. (Mr '45)
Tomorrow will sing. Arnold, E. (Mr '45)
Tomorrow's another day. Burnett, W. R. (D '45)
Tomorrow's business. Ruml, B. (Mr '45)

Tomorrow's house. Nelson, G., and Wright, H. N. (D '45)
Tomorrow's trade. Chase, S. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Tonality
  Katz, A. T. Challenge to musical tradition. (D '45)
Too big. Aulaire, I. M., d' and E. P. (N '45)
Too lively to live. Damer, A., and Scott, J. D. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Too many suspects. Street, C. J. C. (Ap '45)
Too small a world. Maynard, T. (My '45)
Tools
  Grodzinski, P. Diamond tools. (Je '45)
  Johnson, W. H., and Fenn, I. M. Popular tools and materials. (Ap '45)
  Toliver, R. R. Care and use of hand tools. (Je '45)
Tootka. McKee, R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Top-management planning. Hempel, E. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Total war and the human mind. Meerloo, A. M. (O '45)
Totalitarianism
  Finer, H. Road to reaction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Hayek, F. A. Road to serfdom. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Marlio, L. Can democracy recover? (Je '45)
  Mises, L. von. Omnipotent government. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Paul, L. A. Annihilation of man. (Je '45)
Touch of glory. Slaughter, F. G. (My '45)
Touch of greatness. Anderson, C. W. (D '45)
Tourist under fire. Healy, T. E. A. (Ap '45)
Toward a democratic new order. Bryn-Jones, D. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Toward the understanding of Europe. Colton, E. T. (Ap '45)
Town meeting country. Webster, C. M. (Ap '45)
Towne, Charles Hanson
  Towne, C. H. So far so good. (S '45)
Townsman. Sedges, J. (Je '45)
Track and turnout engineering. Kurtz, C. M. (O '45)
Trade and professional associations
  Fiske, E. R. Fiske plan for free enterprise and post-war employment. (Ap '45)
  Levy, H. Retail trade associations. (S '45)
Trade unions
  Green, C. H. Headwear workers. (Je '45)
  Kennedy, V. Union policy and incentive wage methods. (S '45)
  Millis, H. A., and Montgomery, R. E. Organized labor. (D '45)
    China
  Snow, H. F. Chinese labor movement. (Ap '45)
    United States
  Jensen, V. H. Lumber and labor. (Ap '45)
  Pesotta, R. Bread upon the waters. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Peterson, F. American labor unions. (N '45)
Tragedy in blue. Bramhall, M. (Ag '45)
Tragic muse of John Ford. Sensabaugh, G. F. (Ag '45)
Traherne, Thomas
  Wade, G. I. Thomas Traherne. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Trail to California. Geiger, V., and Bryarly, W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Train book. Rogow, W. (D '45)
Trampling out the vintage. Cocannouer, J. A. (Ap '45)
Transportation
  Mance, H. O. International river and canal transport. (D '45)
    United States
  Wiprud, A. C. Justice in transportation. (O '45)
Travel
  Robertson, A. T. Slow train to yesterday. (O '45)
Traveling the King's highway. Gifford, F. D. (Ap '45)
Treasury of great sermons. Poling, D. A., ed. (My '45)
Treasury of horse stories. Self, M. C., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Treasury of satire. Johnson, E., ed. (O '45)
Treatise on applied hydraulics. Addison, H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Treaty ports. Abend, H. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Trees
    United States
  Graves, G. Trees, shrubs and vines for the northeastern United States. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Trees, shrubs and vines for the northeastern United States. Graves, G. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Trial balance. Campbell, W. E. M. (N '45)
Trials (forgery)
  Osborn, A. S. Questioned document problems. (S '45)
Tribute to the angels. Doolittle, H. (D '45)
Trichina and trichinosis
  Gould, S. E. Trichinosis. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Trichinosis. Gould, S. E. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Tristan and Iseult, Romance of. See Tristan. Romance of Tristan and Iseult. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Trojan brothers. Johnson, P. H. (Ag '45)
Trollope, Anthony
  Stebbins, L. P. and R. P. Trollopes. (D '45)
Trollope, Mrs Frances (Milton)
  Stebbins, L. P. and R. P. Trollopes. (D '45)
Trollope, Thomas Adolphus
  Stebbins, L. P. and R. P. Trollopes. (D '45)
Troopers west. Parkhill, F. (Mr '45)
Trouble zone. Dennen, L. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Troubled midnight. Gunther, J. (Mr '45)
Trout in the milk. Holman, H. (Ag '45)
True and untrue. Undset, S., ed. (D '45)
True confessions of a Ph.D. and recommendations for reform. Atkinson, C. (D '45)
Truman, Harry S.
  Clemens, C. Man from Missouri. (N '45)
  McNaughton, F., and Hehmeyer, W. This man Truman. (O '45)
Trusts, Industrial
  Berge, W. Cartels. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Lasser, D. Private monopoly. (D '45)
Tryon, Lewis Royer
  Tryon, L. R. Poor man's doctor. (S '45)
Tuberculosis
  Pinner, M. Pulmonary tuberculosis in the adult. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Tucker, Sophie
  Tucker, S. Some of these days. (Ap '45)
Tune in for Elizabeth. McBride, M. M. (F '46) (1945 Annual) Turkey
    Juvenile literature
  Ives, V. Turkey. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Turn home. Mayo, E. R. (Ap '45)
Turn of the tide. Walmsley, L. (Ag '45)
Turtles
    Juvenile literature
  Bronson, W. S. Turtles. (S '45)
Turtles. Bronson, W. S. (S '45)
Tux 'n tails. Andrieux, R. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Twenty careers of tomorrow. Huff, D. and F. M. N. (Je '45)
Twenty-fifth mission. MacKaye, D. L. and J. J. G. (D '45)
20 non-royalty mystery plays. Jagendorf, M. A., comp. (Ag '45)
Twilight bar. Koestler, A. (O '45)
Twinkle. Barrett, L. L. (Ag '45)
Two billion acre farm. Howard, R. W. (Mr '45)
200 dishes for men to cook. Deute, A. H. (My '45)
Two hundred thousand flyers. Wiener, W. (My '45)
Two is a team. Beim, L. L. and J. (N '45)
Two lands for Ming. Chin, S. H., and Fowler, V. (My '45)
Two names for death. Fenwick, E. P. (My '45)
Two solitudes. MacLennan, H. (Mr '45)
Tyndall, John
  Eve, A. S., and Creasey, C. H. Life and work of John Tyndall. (N '45)
Tzu-hsi, empress dowager of China
    Fiction
  Hunter, B. M. Manchu empress. (Ag '45)

U H F radio simplified. Kiver, M. S. (O '45)
U.S. marines on Iwo Jima. Henri, R., and others. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
U.S.A. Faulkner, H. U., and others. (My '45)
USDA, manager of American agriculture. Deering, F. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
U.S.S. Seawolf. Frank, G., and Horan, J. D. (O '45)
USSR foreign policy. Yakhontoff, V. A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
U.S.S.R. in reconstruction. American Russian institute. (Je '45)
Ukraine
Chamberlin, W. H. Ukraine. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Umbrella man. Brock, E. L. (Ag '45)
Unbidden guests. Stevens, W. O. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Uncertain journey. Lewis, O. (O '45)
Uncle 'Lish. Frye, R. (D '45)
Uncle Sam's billion-dollar baby. Collins, F. L. (N '45)
An uncommon man. Kingdon, F. (Je '45)
Unconditional surrender. Holles, E. (Ag '45)
Under orders. Sullivan, W. L. (S '45)
Understanding labor. Fitzpatrick, B. H. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Understanding of music. Schoen, M. (D '45)
Undertow. Maier, H. (D '45)
Unemployment
Hayes, H. G. Spending, saving and employment. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
O'Shaughnessy, M. J. Economic democracy and private enterprise. (O '45)
Twentieth century fund, inc. Financing American prosperity. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Wallace, H. A. Sixty million jobs. (O '45)
Wernette, J. P. Financing full employment. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Great Britain
Beveridge, W. H. Full employment in a free society. (Mr '45)
Unfolding drama in southeast Asia. Mathews, B. J. (Je '45)
Union policy and incentive wage methods. Kennedy, V. (S '45)
Unitarianism
Wilbur, E. M. History of Unitarianism. (O '45)
United hatters, cap and millinery workers international union
Green, C. H. Headwear workers. (Je '45)
United nations, 1942-
Arne, S. United nations primer. (D '45)
Peaslee, A. J. United nations government. (D '45)
United nations government. Peaslee, A. J. (D '45)
United nations primer. Arne, S. (D '45)
United nations relief and rehabilitation administration
Warhaftig, Z. Relief and rehabilitation. (N '45)
United States. Agriculture, Department of Deering, F. USDA, manager of American agriculture. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
United States. Congress
Betts, A. P. Women in Congress. (S '45)
United States. Congress. Senate
Colegrove, K. W. American Senate and world peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Logan, R. W. Senate and the Versailles mandate system. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
United States. Constitutional convention, 1787
Graham, L. The desperate people. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
United States. Supreme court
Konefsky, S. J. Chief Justice Stone and the Supreme Court. (D '45)
United States. Treasury department. Intelligence unit
Hynd, A. Giant killers. (S '45)
United States
Biography
Business executives and corporation encyclopedia. (My '45)
Moore, J. A. Famous leaders of industry. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Bibliography
Matthews, W., and Pearce, R. H., comps. American diaries. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Church history
Underwood, K. W. Christianity where you live. (O '45)
Civilization
Becker, C. L. Freedom and responsibility. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bowers, D. F., ed. Foreign influences in American life. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Counts, G. S. Education and the promise of America. (S '45)
Ekirch, A. A. Idea of progress in America, 1815-1860. (Je '45)
Frank, J. Fate and freedom. (Ag '45)
Krout, J. A., and Fox, D. R. Completion of independence. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Lerner, M. Public journal. (My '45)
Perry, R. B. Puritanism and democracy. (Mr '45)
Commerce
Howenstine, E. J., ed. Post-war markets. (N '45)
Russia
Heymann, H. We can do business with Russia. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Commercial policy
Anderson, R. E. Merchant marine and world frontiers. (S '45)
Chase, S. Tomorrow's trade. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Feis, H. Sinews of peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Hansen, A. H. America's role in the world economy. (My '45)
Hoover, C. B. International trade and domestic employment. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
United States in a multi-national economy, by Jacob Viner and others. (D '45)
Constitutional law
Finletter, T. K. Can representative government do the job? (My '45)
Defenses
Marshall, G. C. Selected speeches and statements. (O '45)
Description and travel
Miller, H. Air-conditioned nightmare. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Romulo, C. P. My brother Americans. (Ag '45)
Economic conditions
Adams, J. T. Big business in a democracy. (O '45)
Rochester, A. Capitalism and progress. (N '45)
Terborgh, G. W. Bogey of economic maturity. (N '45)
Wharton, J. F. Theory and practice of earning a living. (S '45)
Economic policy
Bliven, B., and Mezerik, A. G., eds. What the informed citizen needs to know. (D '45)
Chase, S. Democracy under pressure. (Mr '45)
Chase, S., and Tyler, M. Men at work. (Ag '45)
Clark, J. M. Demobilization of wartime economic controls. (Ap '45)
Eagleton, C. Forces that shape our future. (D '45)
Fine, S. M. Public spending and postwar economic policy. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Fiske, E. R. Fiske plan for free enterprise and post-war employment. (Ap '45)
Harris, S. E., ed. Economic reconstruction. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Harris, S. E. Price and related controls in the United States. (N '45)
Howenstine, E. J. Economics of demobilization. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Kaplan, A. D. H. Liquidation of war production. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Lorwin, L. L. Time for planning. (My '45)
Lutz, H. L. Guideposts to a free economy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Marsh, D. B. Taxes without tears? (Ag '45)
O'Shaughnessy, M. J. Economic democracy and private enterprise. (O '45)
Shields, M., and Woodward, D. B. Prosperity. (Ag '45)
Soule, G. H. America's stake in Britain's future. (N '45)

United States—Economic policy—Continued
Twentieth century fund, inc. Financing American prosperity. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
United States in a multi-national economy, by Jacob Viner and others. (D '45)
Wallace, H. A. Sixty million jobs. (O '45)
Weissman, R. L. Small business and venture capital. (My '45)
Wernette, J. P. Financing full employment. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Zelomek, A. W. Here comes tomorrow. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Executive departments

Appleby, P. H. Big democracy. (Je '45)

Foreign policy

Bailey, T. A. Woodrow Wilson and the great betrayal. (S '45)
Bliven, B., and Mezerik, A. G., eds. What the informed citizen needs to know. (D '45)
Chamberlin, W. H. America: partner in world rule. (S '45)
Strausz-Hupé, R. Balance of tomorrow. (O '45)
Whiteleather, M. K. Main street's new neighbors. (Je '45)
Wilson, W. Selections for today. (Ag '45)

Foreign population

Adamic, L. Nation of nations. (D '45)
Bowers, D. F., ed. Foreign influences in American life. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Brown, F. J., and Rouček, J. S., eds. One America. (Je '45)
DuBois, R. D. Build together Americans. (S '45)
Stegner, W. One nation. (N '45)
Warner, W. L., and Srole, L. Social systems of American ethnic groups. (O '45)

Foreign relations

America and the new world, by Norman Angell and others. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Colegrove, K. W. American Senate and world peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Cranston, A. M. Killing of the peace. (S '45)
Dallin, D. J. The big three. (S '45)
Fleming, D. F. United States and the World court. (Mr '45)
Friedrich, C. J. American policy toward Palestine. (Ap '45)
Monaghan, J. Diplomat in carpet slippers. (Je '45)
Peffer, N. America's place in the world. (O '45)
Warburg, J. P. Foreign policy begins at home. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Welles, S. Time for decision. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Whitton, J. B., ed. Second chance. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wriston, H. M. Strategy of peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Canada

Brebner, J. B. North Atlantic triangle. (N '45)

East (Far East)

Bisson, T. A. America's Far Eastern policy. (Mr '45)

Great Britain

Brebner, J. B. North Atlantic triangle. (N '45)
Brinton, C. C. United States and Britain. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

South America

Sharp, R. H. South America uncensored. (S '45)
What the South Americans think of us, by Carleton Beals [and others]. (S '45)

Spain

Hayes, C. J. H. Wartime mission in Spain. (D '45)

Historical geography

Lord, C. L. and E. S. H. Historical atlas of the United States. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

History

Benet, S. V. America. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Faulkner, H. U., and others. U.S.A. (My '45)
Woods, H. F. American sayings. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Fiction—Bibliography

Coan, O. W., and Lillard, R. G. America in fiction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Philosophy

Zucker, M. Philosophy of American history. (Je '45)

Sources

Matthews, W., and Pearce, R. H., comps. American diaries. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Revolution

Graham, L. The desperate people. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Revolution—French participation

Bonsal, S. When the French were here. (Mr '45)
Lewis, C. L. Admiral de Grasse and American independence. (O '45)

Revolution—Juvenile literature

Rogers, F., and Beard, A. Birthday of a nation—July 4, 1776. (My '45)

Revolution—Naval operations

Lewis, C. L. Admiral de Grasse and American independence. (O '45)

1783-1865

Adams, J. T., ed. Album of American history: 1783-1853. (O '45)
Krout, J. A., and Fox, D. R. Completion of independence. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Styron, A. Last of the cocked hats. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Tripolitan war, 1801-1805

Wright, L. B., and MacLeod, J. H. First Americans in North Africa. (N '45)

War of 1812

Swanson, N. H. Perilous fight. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

1815-1861

Ekirch, A. A. Idea of progress in America, 1815-1860. (Je '45)

Civil war

Freeman, D. S. Lee's lieutenants; v. 3, Gettysburg to Appomattox. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Civil war—Personal narratives

Blackford, W. W. War years with Jeb Stuart. (N '45)

Civil war—Personal narratives, Confederate

Dooley, J. E. John Dooley, Confederate soldier. (S '45)

20th century

Wish, H. Contemporary America. (O '45)

History, Military

Goebel, D. B. and J. Generals in the White House. (Mr '45)

History, Naval

Juvenile literature

Martin, H. P. Heritage of the navy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Immigration

Brown, F. J., and Rouček, J. S., eds. One America. (Je '45)

Industries and resources

Adams, J. T. Big business in a democracy. (O '45)
Borth, C. Masters of mass production. (Ag '45)

Intellectual life

Barzun, J. Teacher in America. (Mr '45)

Learned institutions and societies

Bates, R. S. Scientific societies in the United States. (D '45)

Manufactures

Borth, C. Masters of mass production. (Ag '45)

Maps

Lord, C. L. and E. S. H. Historical atlas of the United States. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Nationality
Brown, F. J., and Rouček, J. S., eds. One America. (Je '45)

Pictorial works
Crane, A., ed. Portrait of America. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Politics and government
Appleby, P. H. Big democracy. (Je '45)
Eagleton, C. Forces that shape our future. (D '45)
Finletter, T. K. Can representative government do the job? (My '45)
Myers, H. A. Are men equal? (My '45)
Norris, G. W. Fighting liberal. (Je '45)
Piller, E. A. Time bomb. (O '45)
Pusey, M. J. Big government. (Je '45)
Smith, E. C., and Zurcher, A. J., eds. Dictionary of American politics. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Tocqueville, A. C. H. M. C. de. Democracy in America. (My '45)
United States. Office of war information. American handbook. (My '45)
Warburg, J. P. Foreign policy begins at home. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wilson, W. Selections for today. (Ag '45)

Juvenile literature
Elting, M., and Gossett, M. We are the government. (D '45)

1783-1865
Baringer, W. E. House dividing. (O '45)
Diary of a public man . . . pref. notes by F. L. Bullard. (O '45)
Graham, L. The desperate people. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Schlesinger, A. M. Age of Jackson. (O '45)

1865-
Baker, R. S. American chronicle. (Ap '45)

20th century
Bell, H. C. F. Woodrow Wilson and the people. (Ag '45)
Chase, S. Democracy under pressure. (Mr '45)
Daniels, J. Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Lerner, M. Public journal. (My '45)
Rauch, B. History of the new deal, 1933-1938. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Race question
Adamic, L. Nation of nations. (D '45)
Brown, F. J., and Rouček, J. S., eds. One America. (Je '45)
DuBois, R. D. Build together Americans. (S '45)
McWilliams, C. Prejudice. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world. (N '45)

Relations (general) with Brazil
Cooke, M. L. Brazil on the march. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Relations (general) with China
Goetz, D. Dragon and the eagle. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Relations (general) with East (Far East)
Christy, A. ed. Asian legacy and American life. (Ag '45)

Relations (general) with Great Britain
Brinton, C. C. United States and Britain. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Soule, G. H. America's stake in Britain's future. (N '45)

Relations (general) with Latin America
Barclay, W. C. Greater good neighbor policy. (S '45)

Relations (general) with South America
Bernstein, H. Origins of inter-American interest. (My '45)

Religion
Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world. (N '45)

Sanitary affairs
Gunn, S. M., and Platt, P. S. Voluntary health agencies. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Social conditions
Bliven, B., and Mezerik, A. G., eds. What the informed citizen needs to know. (D '45)
Tocqueville, A. C. H. M. C. de. Democracy in America. (My '45)
Underwood, K. W. Christianity where you live. (O '45)
United States. Office of war information. American handbook. (My '45)

Social life and customs
Adams, J. T., ed. Album of American history: 1783-1853. (O '45)
Barschak, E. My American adventure. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

United States and Britain. Brinton, C. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
United States and the World court. Fleming, D. F. (Mr '45)
United States. Army

Biography
Bullard, R. L. Fighting generals. (S '45)

History
Wecter, D. When Johnny comes marching home. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

United States. Army. Chaplain corps
Cross, C., and Arnold, W. R. Soldiers of God. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
United States. Army. Persian Gulf command
Sayre, J. Persian Gulf command. (O '45)
United States. Army air forces
Ray, J. R. Story of the U.S. army air forces. (Ag '45)
United States. Army air forces. Air transport command
Cave, H. B. Wings across the world. (N '45)
United States. Army air forces. Flying training command
Wiener, W. Two hundred thousand flyers. (My '45)
United States. Army nurse corps
Archard, T. G.I. Nightingale. (Je '45)
United States. Army service forces
Leigh, R. 48 million tons to Eisenhower. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
United States. Coast guard
Mercey, A. A., and Grove, L., eds. Sea, surf and hell. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
United States in a multi-national economy, by Jacob Viner and others. (D '45)
United States. Marine corps
Tower, H. H. Fighting the devil with the marines. (N '45)

Biography
Boswell, R. E. Medals for marines. (O '45)

United States. Marine corps. 3d regiment
Monks, J. A ribbon and a star. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
United States naval academy, Annapolis
Crane, J., and Kieley, J. F. United States naval academy. (O '45)
United States. Navy
Daniels, J. Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Shafter, R. A. Destroyers in action. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Juvenile literature
Martin, H. P. Heritage of the Navy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Rimington, C. This is the navy. (O '45)

Officers' handbooks
Thompson, W. K., and Stone, G. W. Naval log. (O '45)

United States. Navy. Construction battalions
Huie, W. B. From Omaha to Okinawa. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
United States. Navy. Mobile base hospital no.3
Parsons, R. P. Mob 3. (Ap '45)
Unity of the New Testament. Eng title of: Message of the New Testament. Hunter, A. M. (Ag '45)
Universal atlas cement company
Hadley, E. J. Magic powder. (Je '45)

Universal Jewish encyclopedia. (My '45)
Universal military training. Fitzpatrick, E. A. (O '45)
University is a place . . . a spirit. McVey, F. Le R. (Mr '45)
University library. Wilson, L. R., and Tauber, M. F. (O '45)
University records and life in the middle ages. Thorndike, L. (My '45)
Unknown murderer. Reik, T. (Je '45)
Unleash the dogs of war. Stieff, F. P. (My '45)
Unquiet grave. Connolly, C. (N '45)
Unspeakables. Gay, L. (N '45)
Up at City high. Gollomb, J. (My '45)
Up front. Mauldin, W. H. (Ag '45)
Up to the hilt. Rowe, A. V. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Upstart. Marshall, E. (My '45)
Uranium
  De Ment, J. A., and Dake, H. C. Uranium and atomic power. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Uranium and atomic power. De Ment, J. A., and Dake, H. C. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Use of the drama. Granville-Barker, H. G. (O '45)
Utah
  Whipple, M. This is the place: Utah. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Utopias
  Laidler, H. W. Social-economic movements. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Young, M. Angel in the forest. (My '45)
Uzbekistan
Juvenile literature
  Cohn, N. Little people in a big country. (My '45)

V as in victim. Goldstone, L. A. (D '45)
Vacuum tubes
  Reich, H. J. Theory and applications of electron tubes. (Ap '45)
Valence (theoretical chemistry)
  Palmer, W. G. Valency, classical and modern. (Ap '45)
Valency, classical and modern. Palmer, W. G. (Ap '45)
Valery. Conger, E. M. (Ap '45)
Valley and its people. Duffus, R. L. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Valley of dry bones. Gooden, A. H. (My '45)
Valley of power. Buckles, E. (N '45)
Varnish and varnishing
  Chatfield, H. W. Varnish constituents. (Ap '45)
Varnish constituents. Chatfield, H. W. (Ap '45)
Vegetable duck. Eng title of: Too many suspects. Street, C. J. C. (Ap '45)
Vence, France
  Peattie, D. C. Immortal village. (S '45)
Venezuela
Social life and customs
  Briceño, O. Cocks and bulls in Caracas. (My '45)
Vengeance of the vixen. Johnson, E. M. (N '45)
Venice
Commerce
  Lane, F. C. Andrea Barbarigo, merchant of Venice. (Ap '45)
Versailles, Treaty of, 1919
  Bailey, T. A. Woodrow Wilson and the great betrayal. (S '45)
  Cranston, A. M. Killing of the peace. (S '45)
Very good neighbors. Eberle, I. (S '45)
Very present help. Dobbie, W. G. S .(My '45)
Very special pet. Davis, L. R. (O '45)
Very young verses. Geismer, B. P., and Suter, A. B., comps. (Ap '45)
Vespucci, Amerigo
  Pohl, F. J. Amerigo Vespucci, pilot major. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Veteran comes back. Waller, W. W. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Veterans
  Bolte, C. G. New veteran. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Burkhart, R. A. Church and the returning soldier. (S '45)
  Cartwright, M. A., and Burch, G. Adult adjustment. (O '45)
  Droke, M. Good-by to G.I. (N '45)
  Howenstine, E. J. Economics of demobilization. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Kupper, H. I. Back to life. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Overton, G. S. Marriage in war and peace. (S '45)
  Smith, J. H., and Rambova, N. Road back. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Strecker, E. A., and Appel, K. E. Psychiatry in modern warfare. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Waller, W. W. Veteran comes back. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
  Wecter, D. When Johnny comes marching home. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Vibration
  Myklestad, N. O. Vibration analysis. (Mr '45)
Vibration (aeronautics)
  Freberg, C. R., and Kemler, E. N. Aircraft vibration and flutter. (My '45)
Vibration analysis. Myklestad, N. O. (Mr '45)
Vicious pattern. Heberden, M. V. (D '45)
Victor book of musical fun. Cott, T. (S '45)
Victoria through the looking-glass. Lennon, F. B. (Ap '45)
Vienna
  Graf, M. Legend of a musical city. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Social life and customs
  Lothar, E. Door opens. (D '45)
Vigil of a nation. Lin, Y. (Mr '45)
Village in the sun. Chandos, D. (N '45)
Violent friends. Clewes, W. (Mr '45)
Violent land. Amado, J. (Ag '45)
Virgil (Publius Vergilius Maro)
  Buxton, C. R. Prophets of heaven and hell. (D '45)
Fiction
  Broch, H. Death of Virgil. (S '45)
Virgin Islands from naval base to new deal. Evans, L. H. (S '45)
Virgin Islands of the United States
Politics and government
  Evans, L. H. Virgin Islands from naval base to new deal. (S '45)
Virgin with butterflies. Powers, T. (Ag '45)
Virginia
History
  Niles, B. R. The James. (Je '45)
Juvenile literature
  Barksdale, L. That country called Virginia. (O '45)
Virus diseases
  Seiffert, G. Virus diseases in man, animal, and plant. (My '45)
Virus diseases in man, animal, and plant. Seiffert, G. (My '45)
Virus diseases in plants
  Seiffert, G. Virus diseases in man, animal, and plant. (My '45)
Visions and memories. Nevinson, H. W. (D '45)
Vitamins
  Williams, R. J. What to do about vitamins. (O '45)
Vocational education
  Bollinger, E. W., and Weaver, G. G. Occupational instruction. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Fern, G. H. What is vocational education. (Ap '45)
  Struck, F. T. Vocational education for a changing world. (Je '45)
Vocational education for a changing world. Struck, F. T. (Je '45)
Vocational guidance
  Forrester, G. Methods of vocational guidance. (Ap '45)
  Smedley, D. O., and Robinson, L. Careers in business for women. (Ag '45)
  Wharton, J. F. Theory and practice of earning a living. (S '45)
Voice
  Craig, W. C., and Sokolowsky, R. R. Preacher's voice. (S '45)
  Stanley, D. Your voice. (S '45)
Voices of history, 1944-45. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Vollenhoven, Cornelis van
Gerbrandy, P. S. National and international stability. (My '45)
Voltaire, François Marie Arouet de
Meyer, A. E. Voltaire: man of justice. (My '45)
Volume library. (N '45)
Voluntary health agencies. Gunn, S. M., and Platt, P. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual) Voyage of discovery. Corrigan, B. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Voyage of the Golden Hind. Gilligan, E. (Ap '45)
Voyages and travels
Orcutt, R. Merchant of alphabets. (Ag '45)

Wacs at work. Hess, F. (Ap '45)
Wage payment plans
Kennedy, V. Union policy and incentive wage methods. (S '45)
Wages
Chernick, J. J., and Hellickson, G. C. Guaranteed annual wages. (Ag '45)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Postwar wage stabilization. (S '45)
Wagner, Friedelind
Wagner, F., and Cooper, P. Heritage of fire. (D '45)
Wake of glory. Redding, J. M., and Smith, T. (N '45)
Walden revisited. Whicher, G. F. (S '45)
Wallace, Henry Agard
Kingdon, F. An uncommon man. (Je '45)
Walmsley, Leo
Walmsley, L. Turn of the tide. (Ag '45)
Walpole, Horace, 4th earl of Orford
Walpole, H. Correspondence with M. and A. Berry and B. C. Seton. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Walpole, Robert, 1st earl of Orford
Henderson, A. J. London and the national government. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
War
Bernard, L. L. War and its causes. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Curtis, L. World war: its cause and cure. (N '45)
Reves, E. Anatomy of peace. (Ag '45)
Economic aspects
Hotchkiss, W. O. Minerals of might. (O '45)
Psychological aspects
National research council. Committee on a textbook of military psychology. Psychology for the armed services. (O '45)
War (international law)
McNair, A. D. Legal effects of war. (My '45)
The war. McInnis, E. W. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
War and emergency powers
Hankey, M. P. A. H. Government control in war. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
War and its causes. Bernard, L. L. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
War and religion
Bowman, R. D. Church of the brethren and war. (Ap '45)
Hershberger, G. F. War, peace and nonresistance. (Je '45)
Sperry, W. L., ed. Religion in the post-war world. (N '45)
War and the poet. Eberhart, R., and Rodman, S., eds. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
War crimes
Glueck, S. War criminals, their prosecution and punishment. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
War criminals, their prosecution and punishment. Glueck, S. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
War, peace, and nonresistance. Hershberger, G. F. (Je '45)
War poetry
Eberhart, R., and Rodman, S., eds. War and the poet. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Williams, O., ed. War poets. (S '45)
War poets. Williams, O., ed. (S '45)
War years with Jeb Stuart. Blackford, W. W. (N '45)
Warhawk patrol. Montgomery, R. G. (Mr '45)
Warning drum. Klingberg, F. J., and Hustvedt, S. B., eds. (Ap '45)
Warrior in white. Windeatt, M. F. (Mr '45)
Wars I have seen. Stein, G. (Ap '45)
Warsaw ghetto. Berg, M. (Mr '45)
Warships
Kafka, R., and Pepperburg, R. L., eds. Warships of the world. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Talbot-Booth, E. C., ed. What ship is that? (Ap '45)
Warships of the world. Kafka, R., and Pepperburg, R. L., eds. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wartime mission in Spain. Hayes, C. J. H. (D '45)
Wartime racketeers. Lever, H., and Young, J. (My '45)
Washington, D.C. Conversations on international organization, 1944
Summers, R. E., comp. Dumbarton Oaks. (S '45)
Watch me, said the jeep. Ferris, H. J. (Ap '45)
Watch the puppy grow. Hall, W. N. (D '45)
Watchful at night. Fast, J. (N '45)
Water on the brain. Partch, V. F. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Waxes
Bennett, H., ed. Commercial waxes, natural and synthetic. (Ap '45)
Way of an investigator. Cannon, W. B. (S '45)
Way of life. Lao Tzŭ. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Way to freedom. Edelbaum, M. (My '45)
Wayfarers. Wickenden, D. (S '45)
We always come back. Allen, J. (D '45)
We are the government. Elting, M., and Gossett, M. (D '45)
We are the wounded. Wheeler, K. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
We can do business with Russia. Heymann, H. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
We flew without guns. Genovese, J. G. (S '45)
We have tomorrow. Bontemps, A. W. (N '45)
We stand united. Benét, S. V. (Ap '45)
Weapons for peace. Neill, T. P. (D '45)
Weather
Gillmer, T. C., and Nietsch, H. E. Clouds, weather and flight. (Mr '45)
Weaver birds. Serraillier, I. (O '45)
Weaving
Black, M. E. Key to weaving. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Davison, M. P. Handweaver's pattern book. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Webster, Daniel
Juvenile literature
Carroll, M. T. Keep my flag flying. (D '45)
Webster unabridged. Webster, H. T. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Wechsberg, Joseph
Wechsberg, J. Looking for a bluebird. (Mr '45)
The wedge. Williams, W. C. (Ap '45)
Wee Robin's Christmas song. Stern, E. J. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Weeds
Fogg, J. M. Weeds of lawn and garden. (S '45)
Weeds of lawn and garden. Fogg, J. M. (S '45)
Weiser, Conrad
Wallace, P. A. W. Conrad Weiser. (N '45)
Welch, Denton
Welch, D. Maiden voyage. (Ap '45)
Welfare in the British colonies. Mair, L. P. (S '45)
Welfare work in industry
Cantor, N. F. Employee counseling. (Ag '45)
Well done! Markey, M. (D '45)
West
Description and travel
Altrocchi, J. C. Old California trail. (My '45)
Economic conditions
Haystead, L. If the prospect pleases. (Ag '45)
History
Campbell, W. S. The Missouri. (Mr '45)
Gray, A. A. Men who built the West. (O '45)
Industries and resources
Haystead, L. If the prospect pleases. (Ag '45)
West window. Hartley, L. P. (O '45)
Westerly trend. Sykes, G. G. (Je '45)

Western island. Flower, R. (O '45)
Westminster historical atlas to the Bible. Wright, G. E., and Filson, F. V., eds. (My '45)
Westward the river. Van Every, D. (S '45)
What are cosmic rays? Auger, P. (Mr '45)
What bird is it? Pistorius, A. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
What cheer. McCord, D. T. W., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
What is life? Schrödinger, E. (S '45)
What is vocational education. Fern, G. H. (Ap '45)
What people are. Heath, C. W., and others. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
What religion is and does. Houf, H. T. (S '45)
What ship is that? Talbot-Booth, E. C., ed. (Ap '45)
What the informed citizen needs to know. Bliven, B., and Mezerik, A. G., eds. (D '45)
What the Negro wants. Logan, R. W., ed. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
What the South Americans think of us, by Carleton Beals [and others]. (S '45)
What to do about vitamins. Williams, R. J. (O '45)
What to do with Japan. Fleisher, W. (Ap '45)
Whatever goes up. Millhauser, B. (Ag '45)

Wheat
  Malin, J. C. Winter wheat in the golden belt of Kansas. (Mr '45)
Wheels in his head. Musselman, M. M. (D '45)
When democracy builds. Wright, F. L. (My '45)
When Johnny comes marching home. Wecter, D. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
When our town was young. North Salem, New York. Central high school. (N '45)
When the French were here. Bonsal, S. (Mr '45)
When we're green we grow. McKimmon, J. S. (Ap '45)
Where are we in religion? Newton, J. F. (My '45)
Where do people take their troubles? Steiner, L. R. (O '45)
Where my love sleeps. Dowdey, C. (D '45)
Whistle while you wait. Howard, F. and J. (My '45)
Whistling legs. McDougald, R. (N '45)

White, William Allen
  Hinshaw, D. Man from Kansas. (D '45)
White bunny and his magic nose. Duplaix, L. (Je '45)
White deer. Thurber, J. (N '45)
White tower. Ullman, J. R. (O '45)

Whitney, Willis Rodney
  Broderick, J. T. Willis Rodney Whitney. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Who walk in pride. Magaret, H. (My '45)
Who walk with the earth. Hayes, D. (My '45)
Who wants to live forever? Raine, W. M. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Who's who in poetry in America. (N '45)
Why abstract? Hiler, H., and others. (D '45)
Why go to church? Montgomery, D. K. (Ag '45)
Why mothers get gray. Williams, J. R. (Ag '45)
Wide house. Caldwell, J. T. (My '45)
Widow's walk. Yates, M. T., and Bramlette, P. (S '45)
Wild faun. Willis, G. W. (Ag '45)
Wild horse of the West. Wyman, W. D. (My '45)
Wild Horse Shorty. Nye, N. C. (My '45)
Wild orchard. Dick, I. (Mr '45)
Wildcat furs to China. Carmer, C. L. (N '45)
Wildwood wisdom. Jaeger, E. (Mr '45)

Wilkes, John
  Quennell, P. C. Profane virtues. (S '45)

Willard, Frances Elizabeth
  Earhart, M. Frances Willard. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Wilson, Francis Mairs Huntington
  Wilson, F. M. H. Memoirs of an ex-diplomat. (Je '45)

Wilson, Woodrow
  Bailey, T. A. Woodrow Wilson and the great betrayal. (S '45)
  Baker, R. S. American chronicle. (Ap '45)
  Bell, H. C. F. Woodrow Wilson and the people. (Ag '45)
  Cranston, R. Story of Woodrow Wilson. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
  Daniels, J. Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. Daniels, J. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wind boy. Eliot, E. A. C. (D '45)
Wind is rising. Romains, J. (N '45)
Wind island. Collin, H. (D '45)
Wind of spring. Yates, E. (Ap '45)
Wind off the water. Colwell, M. (Ag '45)
Windigo. Pinkerton, K. S. G. (O '45)
Winds, blow gently. Kirkbride, R. de L. (Ap '45)

Wine and wine making
  Hedrick, U. P. Grapes and wines from home vineyards. (N '45)
  Wagner, P. M. Wine-grower's guide. (N '45)
Wine-grower's guide. Wagner, P. M. (N '45)
Wine of San Lorenzo. Gorman, H. S. (Je '45)
Wings across the world. Cave, H. B. (N '45)
Wings for the dragon. Hager, A. R. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Wings of fear. Eberhart, M. G. (Mr '45)
Wings over the desert. Dean, G. M. (D '45)
Winning of the war. See United States. Army. Chief of staff. General Marshall's report. (N '45)
Winter in Geneva. Winslow, A. G. (Ap '45)
Winter on the prairie. Curtis, A. B. (Je '45)
Winter sea. Tate, A. (Ap '45)
Winter wheat in the golden belt of Kansas. Malin, J. C. (Mr '45)

Wisconsin
  Gray, J. Pine, stream and prairie. (My '45)
  Le Sueur, M. North star country. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wisdom of Israel. Browne, L., ed. (S '45)
Wisdom tree. Hawkridge, E. (D '45)
With a high heart. De Leeuw, A. L. (D '45)
With love, Jane. Lutz, A., ed. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
With no regrets. Hutheesing, K. N. (O '45)
With sirens screaming. Booth, E. (O '45)
Within the circle. Stefansson, E. (Mr '45)
Wizard and his magic powder. Campbell, A. S. (Je '45)

Wolves
  Young, S. P., and Goldman, E. A. Wolves of North America. (Ap '45)
Wolves of North America. Young, S. P., and Goldman, E. A. (Ap '45)

Woman
  Kidd, E. Just like a woman! (F '45) (1945 Annual)

Bibliography

  North Carolina. University. Woman's college, Greensboro. Library. Woman's collection. (My '45)

Diseases

  Davis, M. Woman's medical problems. (My '45)

Employment

  Danenberg, E. N. Blood, sweat, and lipstick. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Health and hygiene

  Davis, M. Woman's medical problems. (My '45)

Occupations

  Smedley, D. O., and Robinson, L. Careers in business for women. (Ag '45)
Woman at bay, Coxe, G. H. (D '45)
Woman in sunshine. Swinnerton, F. A. (Ap '45)
Woman in the house. Hichens, R. S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Woman without love. Maurois, A. (N '45)
Woman's collection. North Carolina. University. Woman's college, Greenboro. Library. (My '45)
Woman's medical problems. Davis, M. (My '45)

Woman's peace party
  Addams, J. Peace and bread in time of war. (Je '45)

Women in aeronautics
  Peckham, B. C. Women in aviation. (N '45)
Women in aviation. Peckham, B. C. (N '45)
Women in Congress. Betts, A. P. (S '45)

Women in Great Britain
  Danenberg, E. N. Blood, sweat, and lipstick. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Women in politics
  Betts, A. P. Women in Congress. (S '45)

Women in the Hawaiian islands

Portraits

Inn, H. Hawaiian types. (S '45)

Wonder tales of giants and dwarfs. Murtaugh, J., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Wonderful adventures of Paul Bunyan. Untermeyer, L. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Wonderful neighbor. Croy, H. (D '45)

Wonderful voyage. Holberg, R. L. (D '45)

Wood

Tiemann, H. D. Wood technology. (Ag '45)

Wood engravings

Buck, P. S., comp. China in black and white. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Wood technology. Tiemann, H. D. (Ag '45)

Woodrow Wilson and the great betrayal. Bailey, T. A. (S '45)

Woods story. Nast, E. R. (D '45)

Woodwork

Baysinger, G., and Schaal, H. H. Woodworking projects for industrial arts students. (Ag '45)

Maney, S., ed. It's fun to make it yourself. (Ap '45)

Woodworking projects for industrial arts students. Baysinger, G., and Schaal, H. H. (Ag '45)

Woolf, Virginia (Stephen) (Mrs Leonard Sidney Woolf)

Bennett, J. F. Virginia Woolf. (O '45)

Woollcott, Alexander

Adams, S. H. A. Woollcott. (Je '45)

Word in your ear, and Just another word. Brown, I. J. C. (O '45)

Wordsworth, William

Stallknecht, N. P. Strange seas of thought. (N '45)

World economic development. Staley, E. (Ap '45)

World grain review and outlook, 1945. Farnsworth, H. C., and Timoshenko, V. P. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

World is their beat. Oestreicher, J. C. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

World penal systems. Teeters, N. K. (My '45)

World politics

America and the new world, by Norman Angell and others. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Chamberlin, W. H. America: partner in world rule. (S '45)

Dallin, D. J. The big three. (S '45)

Fox, W. T. R. Super-powers. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Hirschman, A. O. National power and the structure of foreign trade. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Jordan, M. Beyond all fronts. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

London, K. Backgrounds of conflict. (S '45)

Neill, T. P. Weapons for peace. (D '45)

Strausz-Hupé, R. Balance of tomorrow. (O '45)

Voices of history, 1944-45. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Welles, S., ed. Intelligent American's guide to the peace. (Mr '45)

Whiteleather, M. K. Main street's new neighbors. (Je '45)

Ziff, W. B. Gentlemen talk of peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

World, the flesh and Father Smith. Marshall, B. (S '45)

World war, 1939-1945

Carroll, G., ed. History in the writing. (S '45)

Commager, H. S., ed. Story of the second World war. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Ensor, R. C. K. Miniature history of the war. (Ap '45)

Greet, W. C. World words. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Holles, E. Unconditional surrender. (Ag '45)

Hopkins, J. A. H., comp. Diary of world events. (My '45)

Jordan, M. Beyond all fronts. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Koestler, A. Yogi and the commissar. (Je '45)

Lerner, M. Public journal. (My '45)

McInnis, E. W. The war. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Miller, F. T. History of World war II. (D '45)

Whiteleather, M. K. Main street's new neighbors. (Je '45)

Addresses, sermons, etc.

Churchill, W. L. S. Dawn of liberation. (S '45)

Marshall, G. C. Selected speeches and statements. (O '45)

Stalin, I. Great patriotic war of the Soviet Union. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Aerial operations

Ayling, K. Old Leatherface of the Flying Tigers. (S '45)

Bryan, J., and Reed, P. Mission beyond darkness. (Ag '45)

Friedheim, E., and Taylor, S. W. Fighters up. (Ap '45)

Genovese, J. G. We flew without guns. (S '45)

Hagen, L. E. Arnhem lift. (N '45)

Hager, A. R. Wings for the dragon. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Hough, D., and Arnold, E. Big distance. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Jensen, O. O. Carrier war. (Ap '45)

Markey, M. Well done! (D '45)

Miller, N. M. I took the sky road. (O '45)

Thorburn, L. L. and D. No tumult, no shouting. (Mr '45)

Walters, M. O., ed. Combat in the air. (Ap '45)

Atrocities

Berg, M. Warsaw ghetto. (Mr '45)

Kinnaird, C. This must not happen again! (N '45)

Odic, C. J. Stepchildren of France. (N '45)

Szoszkies, H. J. No traveler returns. (Ap '45)

Biography

De Weerd, H. A. Great soldiers of World war II. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Generals and the admirals. (Je '45)

Campaigns and battles

Nickerson, H. Arms and policy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

United States. Army. Chief of staff. General Marshall's report. (N '45)

Causes

London, K. Backgrounds of conflict. (S '45)

Children

Becker, M. L., ed. Youth replies, I can. (D '45)

Odic, C. J. Stepchildren of France. (N '45)

Civilian relief

Wilson, F. M. In the margins of chaos. (Ap '45)

Congresses, conferences, etc.

Arne, S. United nations primer. (D '45)

Diplomatic history

Gosset, R. Pierre-. Conspiracy in Algiers. (N '45)

Root, W. L. Secret history of the war, 2v. (Mr '45)

Documents, etc, sources

Voices of history, 1944-45. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Drama

Osborn, P. Bell for Adano; a dramatization of the novel. (Je '45)

Economic aspects

Monsees, C. H. Industry-government cooperation. (Je '45)

Poland

Gross, F. Polish worker. (S '45)

Evacuation of civilians

Leighton, A. H. Governing of men. (S '45)

Humor, caricatures, etc.

Bairnsfather, B. No kiddin'! (My '45)

Breger, D. G I Joe. (My '45)

Brown, H. P. M. Artie Greengroin, pfc. (S '45)

Freeman, D. It shouldn't happen—. (S '45)

Mauldin, W. H. Up front. (Ag '45)

World war, 1939-1945—Humor, caricatures, etc. —Continued
Phillips, H. I. Private Purkey's private peace. (Je '45)
Steinberg, S. All in line. (Ag '45)
Yank (periodical). Best from Yank. (My '45)

Influence and results

Chamberlin, W. H. America: partner in world rule. (S '45)

Jews

Davis, M. Jews fight too! (N '45)

Language

Taylor, A. M., comp. Language of World war II. (Mr '45)

Law and legislation

McNair, A. D. Legal effects of war. (My '45)

Medical and sanitary affairs

Archard, T. G.I. Nightingale. (Je '45)
Fishbein, M., ed. Doctors at war. (Je '45)
Griffin, A. R. Out of carnage. (O '45)
Newcomb, E. Brave nurse. (O '45)
Sharon, H. B. It's good to be alive. (My '45)
Wheeler, K. We are the wounded. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Naval operations

Abercrombie, L. A., and Pratt, F. My life to the destroyers. (Mr '45)
Davies, J. Lower deck. (O '45)
Jensen, O. O. Carrier war. (Ap '45)
Kafka, R., and Pepperburg, R. L., eds. Warships of the world. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Mercey, A. A., and Grove, L., eds. Sea, surf and hell. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Miller, M. Far shore. (My '45)

Submarine

Casey, R. J. Battle below. (S '45)
Frank, G., and Horan, J. D. U.S.S. Seawolf. (O '45)
Jewell, N. L. A. Secret mission submarine. (My '45)
Trumbull, R. O. Silversides. (S '45)

Negroes

White, W. F. Rising wind. (Ap '45)
Wilson, R. D. Jim Crow joins up. (Ap '45)

Occupied territories

Lemkin, R. Axis rule in occupied Europe. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Ward, R. S. Asia for the Asiatics? (S '45)

Peace

Alsberg, H. G. Let's talk about the peace. (N '45)
Ebenstein, W. German record. (Ag '45)
Harris, H. W. Problems of the peace. (Je '45)
Morgenthau, H. Germany is our problem. (N '45)
Reves, E. Anatomy of peace. (Ag '45)
Sayers, M., and Kahn, A. E. Plot against the peace. (My '45)
Society for the psychological study of social issues. Human nature and enduring peace. (N '45)
Vansittart, R. G. V. Bones of contention. (S '45)
Welles, S., ed. Intelligent American's guide to the peace. (Mr '45)
Whitton, J. B., ed. Second chance. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wriston, H. M. Strategy of peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Ziff, W. B. Gentlemen talk of peace. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Personal narratives

Walters, M. O., ed. Combat in the air. (Ap '45)

Personal narratives, American

Abercrombie, L. A., and Pratt, F. My life to the destroyers. (Mr '45)
Archard, T. G.I. Nightingale. (Je '45)
Beecher, J. All brave sailors. (O '45)
Bennett, L. Parachute to Berlin. (Ja '46) (1945 Anual)
Bernstein, W. S. Keep your head down. (Je '45)
Casey, R. J. This is where I came in. (S '45)
Clare, T. H. Lookin' eastward. (Je '45)
Davis, H. Half past when. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Frank, G., and Horan, J. D. U.S.S. Seawolf. (O '45)
French, H. E. My Yankee Paris. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Genovese, J. G. We flew without guns. (S '45)
Gillmore, M., and Collinge, P. The B.O.W.S. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Groth, J. Studio: Europe. (D '45)
Horan, J. D. Action tonight. (S '45)
Hough, D., and Arnold, E. Big distance. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Howard, F. and J. Whistle while you wait. (My '45)
Huot, L. Guns for Tito. (Ap '45)
Ingham, T. Rendezvous by submarine. (N '45)
Kaltenborn, H. V. Europe now. (My '45)
Klitgaard, K. Oil and deep water. (N '45)
Lay, B. I've had it. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Look (periodical). My favorite war story. (D '45)
Lutz, A., ed. With love, Jane. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Mercey, A. A., and Grove, L., eds. Sea, surf and hell. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Miller, M. Far shore. (My '45)
Miller, N. M. I took the sky road. (O '45)
Milne, C. I dream of the day. (O '45)
Moats, A. L. No passport for Paris. (Ag '45)
Monks, J. A ribbon and a star. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Parsons, R. P. Mob 3. (Ap '45)
Pendar, K. W. Adventure in diplomacy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Prosser, D. G. Journey underground. (D '45)
St George, T. R. Proceed without delay. (S '45)
St John, J. F. Leyte calling. (Mr '45)
Schacht, A. GI had fun. (O '45)
Scrivener, J. Inside Rome with the Germans. (O '45)
Sharon, H. B. It's good to be alive. (My '45)
Skidmore, H. D. More lives than one. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Smith, C. D. Quentin Reynolds' Officially dead. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Spellman, F. J. No greater love. (S '45)
Spencer, L. R. Guerrilla wife. (O '45)
Tennien, M. A. Chungking listening post. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Tower, H. H. Fighting the devil with the marines. (N '45)
Tweed, G. R. Robinson Crusoe, USN. (My '45)
Warfield, H. and G. Call us to witness. (S '45)
Wheeler, K. We are the wounded. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Wolfert, I. American guerrilla in the Philippines. (My '45)
Yank (periodical). Best from Yank. (My '45)

Personal narratives, Dutch

Meerloo, A. M. Total war and the human mind. (O '45)

Personal narratives, English

Davies, J. Lower deck. (O '45)
De Chair, S. S. Golden carpet. (N '45)
Hagen, L. E. Arnhem lift. (N '45)
Healy, T. E. A. Tourist under fire. (Ap '45)
Jewell, N. L. A. Secret mission submarine. (My '45)
Morgan, G. P. O. W. (N '45)
Payne, P. S. R. Forever China. (N '45)

Personal narratives, Greek

Pezas, M. Price of liberty. (Ap '45)

Personal narratives, Italian

Bojano, F. In the wake of the goose-step. (S '45)
Lombroso, S. No time for silence. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Personal narratives, Jewish

Folkmann, A. Promise Hitler kept. (S '45)
Mosenson, M. Letters from the desert. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Personal narratives, New Zealand

White, O. Green armor. (Ap '45)

Personal narratives, Polish

Halpern, A. Conducted tour. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Janta, A. Bound with two chains. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Warfield, H. and G. Call us to witness. (S '45)

Pictorial works

Look (periodical). Movie lot to beachhead. (My '45)
New York. Museum of modern art. Power in the Pacific. (S '45)
Yank (periodical). Best from Yank. (My '45)

Poetry

Aragon, L. Aragon, poet of the French resistance. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Bowman, P. Beach red. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Butler, C. E. Cut is the branch. (Je '45)
Carmer, C. L. Taps is not enough. (S '45)
Jarrell, R. Little friend, little friend. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lewis, A. Ha! ha! among the trumpets. (N '45)
Read, H. E. World within a war. (Ap '45)
Schull, J. I, Jones, soldier. (Ag '45)
Yank (periodical). Best from Yank. (My '45)

Portraits

Generals and the admirals. (Je '45)

Prisoners and prisons, German

Bennett, L. Parachute to Berlin. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Janta, A. Bound with two chains. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Morgan, G. P. O. W. (N '45)

Prisoners and prisons, Japanese

Smith, C. D. Quentin Reynolds' Officially dead. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Propaganda

Fraser, L. M. Germany between two wars. (Mr '45)

Psychological aspects

Rees, J. R. Shaping of psychiatry by war. (My '45)
Strecker, E. A., and Appel, K. E. Psychiatry in modern warfare. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Refugees

Fry, V. Surrender on demand. (My '45)

Religious aspects

Cammaerts, E. Flower of grass. (O '45)
Clare, T. H. Lookin' eastward. (Je '45)
Dobbie, W. G. S. Very present help. (My '45)
Hromádka, J. L. Doom and resurrection. (Ap '45)
Nelson, R. W. Soldier, you're it! (O '45)
Spellman, F. J. No greater love. (S '45)

Secret service

Singer, K. D. Spies and traitors of World war II. (O '45)

Supplies

Leigh, R. 48 million tons to Eisenhower. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Territorial questions

Colton, E. T. Toward the understanding of Europe. (Ap '45)

Transportation

Cave, H. B. Wings across the world. (N '45)
Leigh, R. 48 million tons to Eisenhower. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Sayre, J. Persian Gulf command. (O '45)

War work

Wright, H. R., ed. Social service in wartime. (Mr '45)

Red cross

Korson, G. G. At his side. (My '45)

Women's work

Danenberg, E. N. Blood, sweat, and lipstick. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lutz, A., ed. With love, Jane. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Africa, North

Gosset, R. Pierre-. Conspiracy in Algiers. (N '45)
Pendar, K. W. Adventure in diplomacy. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)

Aleutian islands

Thorburn, L. L. and D. No tumult, no shouting. (Mr '45)

Asia

Hager, A. R. Wings for the dragon. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lasker, B. Asia on the move. (Ap '45)

Belgium

Goris, J. A. Strangers should not whisper. (Mr '45)

Canada

King, W. L. M. Canada and the fight for freedom. (My '45)

China

Lin, Y. Vigil of a nation. (Mr '45)
Pan, S. C. Y. China fights on. (Ag '45)
Payne, P. S. R. Forever China. (N '45)
Rosinger, L. K. China's crisis. (S '45)
Rosinger, L. K. China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Tennien, M. A. Chungking listening post. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Tong, H. K., ed. China after seven years of war. (Ap '45)

Czechoslovakia

Jacoby, G. Racial state. (Je '45)

East (Far East)

Lattimore, O. Solution in Asia. (Mr '45)
Ward, R. S. Asia for the Asiatics? (S '45)

East (Near East)

De Chair, S. S. Golden carpet. (N '45)

France

Aragon, L. Aragon, poet of the French resistance. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Davis, H. Half past when. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Fry, V. Surrender on demand. (My '45)
Lay, B. I've had it. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Prosser, D. G. Journey underground. (D '45)
Stein, G. Wars I have seen. (Ap '45)

Paris

French, H. E. My Yankee Paris. (F '46) (1945 Annual)

Germany

Bernadotte, F. Curtain falls. (N '45)
Seydewitz, M. Civil life in wartime Germany. (Ap '45)
Vansittart, R. G. V. Bones of contention. (S '45)

Great Britain

Churchill, W. L. S. Dawn of liberation. (S '45)

Greece

Pezas, M. Price of liberty. (Ap '45)

Guam

Tweed, G. R. Robinson Crusoe, USN. (My '45)

India

Clare, T. H. Lookin' eastward. (Je '45)

Italy

Rome

Scrivener, J. Inside Rome with the Germans. (O '45)

Japan

Bisson, T. A. Japan's war economy. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Fleisher, W. What to do with Japan. (Ap '45)
Maki, J. M. Japanese militarism. (Je '45)
Tolischus, O. D., comp. Through Japanese eyes. (My '45)

Latin America

Soule, G. H., and others. Latin America in the future world. (Mr '45)

Malta

Dobbie, W. G. S. Very present help. (My '45)

Pacific ocean

Hough, D., and Arnold, E. Big distance. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Jensen, O. O. Carrier war. (Ap '45)

World war, 1939-1945—Pacific ocean—Cont.
Markey, M. Well done! (D '45)
Miller, M. It's tomorrow out here. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
New York. Museum of modern art. Power in the Pacific. (S '45)
Sherrod, R. On to westward. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Skidmore, H. D. More lives than one. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
White, O. Green armor. (Ap '45)

Philippine islands
Ingham, T. Rendezvous by submarine. (N '45)
St John, J. F. Leyte calling. (Mr '45)
Spencer, L. R. Guerrilla wife. (O '45)
Wolfert, I. American guerrilla in the Philippines. (My '45)

Poland
Berg, M. Warsaw ghetto. (Mr '45)
Folkmann, A. Promise Hitler kept. (S '45)

Rumania
Kormos, C. Rumania. (My '45)

Russia
Halpern, A. Conducted tour. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Lauterbach, R. E. These are the Russians. (Je '45)
Mikhailov, N. N. Russian story. (D '45)
Snow, E. Pattern of Soviet power. (S '45)
Stalin, I. Great patriotic war of the Soviet Union. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Stevens, E. Russia is no riddle. (Ap '45)
Ward, H. F. Soviet spirit. (Ap '45)
White, W. L. Report on the Russians. (Ap '45)

Spain
Hayes, C. J. H. Wartime mission in Spain. (D '45)

United States
Marshall, G. C. Selected speeches and statements. (O '45)
Romulo, C. P. My brother Americans. (Ag '45)
United States. Army. Chief of staff. General Marshall's report. (N '45)
Welles, S. Time for decision. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Yugoslavia
Huot, L. Guns for Tito. (Ap '45)
World war: its cause and cure. Curtis, L. (O '45)
World within a war. Read, H. E. (Ap '45)
World words. Greet, W. C. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual) Worship
Juvenile literature
Fitch, F. M. One God. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Wright, Richard
Wright, R. Black boy. (Mr '45)
Writing detective and mystery fiction. Burack, A. S., ed. (Je '45)
Writings and speeches. Cromwell, O. (S '45)
Written in sand. Case, J. Y. (Mr '45)
Wrong man. Bailey, H. C. (O '45)

Yachts and yachting
Cooper, M. Cruising yacht. (Je '45)
Devine, E., ed. Down the hatch. (O '45)
Yale carol book. Bozyan, H. F., and Lovett, S., eds. (Ap '45)
Yank in Sicily. Bartman, M. (Mr '45)
Yankee stonecutters. Gardner, A. T. (Ja '46) (1945 Annual)
Yankee woman. Baume, F. E. (Ap '45)
Year without a summer. Parton, E. (D '45)
Years before the flood. Roane, M. (Je '45)
Years of victory, 1802-1812. Bryant, A. (O '45)
Yellow magic. Ratcliff, J. D. (Ap '45)
Yellow room. Rinehart, M. R. (D '45)
Yellowstone scout. Rush, W. M. (D '45)
Yen, Yang-ch'u
Buck, P. S. Tell the people. (My '45)
Yeoman's hospital. Ashton, H. (Mr '45)
Yogi and the commissar. Koestler, A. (Je '45)
Yorktown
Siege, 1781
Bonsal, S. When the French were here. (Mr '45)
You and I. Brinig, M. (D '45)
You can write Chinese. Wiese, K. (D '45)
You can't stop living. Rives, F. (My '45)
You'll be sorry! Rogers, S. (O '45)
Young, Ella
Young, E. Flowering dusk. (S '45)
Young Art and Old Hector. Gunn, N. M. (Mr '45)
Young Bess. Irwin, M. E. F. (Ap '45)
Young Jefferson. Bowers, C. G. (Ap '45)
Young man, you are normal. Hooton, E. A. (S '45)
Young men's Christian associations
Limbert, P. M. Christian emphasis in Y.M.C.A. program. (S '45)
Wiley, S. W. History of the Y.M.C.A.-church relations in the United States. (Ag '45)
Young voices. Gould, K. M., and Coyne, J., eds. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Your cabin in the woods. Meinecke, C. E. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Your eyes have told me. Schwartz, L. H. (S '45)
Your forests. Bruère, M. S. B. (Ag '45)
Your future in aviation. Henry, J. F., ed. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Your personal plane. Andrews, J. P. (S '45)
Your problem—can it be solved? Bradley, D. J. (Je '45)
Your servant the molecule. Landis, W. S. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)
Your voice. Stanley, D. (S '45)
Youth
Weil, H. Pioneers of tomorrow. (S '45)
Youth is the time. Gessner, R. (Je '45)
Youth replies, I can. Becker, M. L., ed. (D '45)
Yu Lan, flying boy of China. Buck, P. S. (D '45)
Yunnan, China
Fei, H., and Chang, T. Earthbound China. (D '45)

Zhelabov, Andrei Ivanovich
Footman, D. Red prelude. (Je '45)
Zionism
Berger, E. Jewish dilemma. (F '46) (1945 Annual)
Edelbaum, M. Way to freedom. (My '45)
Frankenstein, E. Justice for my people. (Ap '45)
Friedrich, C. J. American policy toward Palestine. (Ap '45)
Zoology
Terminology
Jaeger, E. C. Source-book of biological names and terms. (My '45)
Australia
Carter, T. D., and others. Mammals of the Pacific world. (Ag '45)
Islands of the Pacific
Carter, T. D., and others. Mammals of the Pacific world. (Ag '45)
Sierra Nevada mountains
Carrighar, S. One day on Beetle Rock. (Ag '45) (1944 Annual)

Directory of Publishers

A.L.A. American Library Association, 520 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11

Abingdon-Cokesbury. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, Hdqrs, 810 Broadway, Nashville 2, Tenn; 150 5th Av, N.Y. 11

Division of Meth. Pub. House; imprint of Clermont Press used when publishing for author or doing outside printing

Consolidation of Abingdon; Cokesbury Press; and Stockton Press

Abraham Lincoln Assn, 803 1st Nat. Bank Bldg, Springfield, Ill.

Academic Press, Inc, 125 E 23d St, N.Y. 10

Ackerman. Bernard Ackerman, Inc, 116 E 19th St, N.Y. 3; West Coast Depository: Rodd; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Alexander Pub. Alexander Publishingg Company, Inc, Alexander Bldg, 111 Wall St, N.Y. 5

Am. Bk. American Book Company, 88 Lexington Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Ambooko New York]; 360 N Michigan Av, Chicago; 300 Pike St, Cincinnati; 126 Newbury St, Boston; 91 Cone St, NW, Atlanta; 1319 Young St, Dallas; 121 2d St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Gage

Am. Council on Educ, 744 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C.

Am. Council on Public Affairs, 2153 Florida Av, Washington 8, D.C.

Also use imprint Public Affairs Press

Am. Geographical Soc. American Geographical Society of New York, Broadway & 156th St, N.Y. 32

Am. Industrial Pubs, Fairmount-Cedar Bldg, Cleveland 6

Am. Numismatic Soc, Broadway & 156th St, N.Y. 32

Am. Philosophical Soc, Independence Sq, Philadelphia 6

Publications no longer distributed by Univ. of Pa. Press

Am. Photographic Pub. American Photographic Publishing Company, 353 Newbury St, Boston 15 [Cable Address: Amphoco]

Am. Russian Inst. The American Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union, Inc, 58 Park Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Amruscul]; Canadian Agent, Progress Bks.

Am. Tech. Soc, 850 E 58th St, Chicago 37; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2; English Agent, Tech. Press

Am. Wildlife Inst, 822 Investment Bldg, Washington 5, D.C.

Antioch Press, Yellow Springs, Ohio

Appleton-Century. D. Appleton-Century Company, Inc, 35 W 32d St, N.Y. 1 [Cable Address: Hilandero]; 34 Bedford St, Strand, London, WC 2; Canadian Agents, Ryerson Press; (music) Thompson, G.V.

Consolidated D. Appleton Company and Century Company

Arcadia. Arcadia House, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Formerly connected with Godwin, but now publish independently

Also use imprint of Mystery House

Architectural Bk. Architectural Book Publishing Company, Inc, 112 W 46th St, N.Y. 19 [Cable Address: Mumpi]

Arco. Arco Publishing Company, 480 Lexington Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Arkham House, Sauk City, Wis.

Assn. Press. Association Press (Nat. Council of the Y.M.C.A.) 347 Madison Av, N.Y. 17

Trade bks. pub. jointly with Revell under imprint Assn. Press-Revell

Associated Pubs, Inc, 1538 9th St, NW, Washington, D.C.

Audel. Theo. Audel & Company, 49 W 23d St, N.Y. 10

Augustin. J. J. Augustin, Inc, 125 E 23d St, N.Y. 10; Agent for Am. Ethnological Soc.

Memoirs of the Am. Folk-lore Soc. now handled by the Society

Barnes, A.S. A. S. Barnes & Co, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Copp

Acquired the publications of Am. Sports Pub; also the controlling interest in Smith & Durrell

See also Countryman

Barnes & Noble, Inc, 105 5th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Barnobinc New York]

Barrows. M. Barrows & Company (H. Tanner Olsen) 114 E 32d St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Beacon Press. The Beacon Press, Inc, 25 Beacon St, Boston 8; 330 S Dearborn St, Chicago; 2400 Allston Way, Berkeley, Calif. [Cable Address: Beapress]; English Agent, Lindsey

Formerly pub. as Am. Unitar.

Bibliographical soc. of Am, box 397, Grand Central Annex, N.Y. 17

Binfords. Binfords & Mort, Publishers, Graphic Arts Bldg, 102 NW 9th Av, Portland 9, Ore; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Originally pub. as Metropolitan Press

Bittner. H. Bittner & Co, 67 W 55th St, N.Y. 19

Blakiston. The Blakiston Company, 1012 Walnut St, Philadelphia 5 [Cable Address: Blakiston]; Pacific Coast Depository, Wagner, Harr; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2

Affiliated with Garden City Pub. Co.

Now publish Blakiston New Home Lib. and Blakiston Triangle Bks formerly pub. by Garden City Pub. Co. and Blue Ribbon Bks.

Bloch. Bloch Publishing Company, Inc, 31 W 31st St, N.Y. 1 [Cable Address: Blochbooks]

Blue Ribbon Bks, Inc, Garden City, N.Y. 20; Blue Ribbon Bks. (Canada) Ltd, 215-217 Victoria St, Toronto 2; English Agent, Doubleday

Acquired the publications of Burt. For Burt Home Library see Random House

Ownership acquired by Doubleday (Garden City Pub. Co)

Triangle Bks now published by Blakiston

Bobbs. Bobbs-Merrill Company, 724 N Meridian St, Indianapolis 7; 468 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Bobbs Indianapolis]; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Acquired the publications of Orchard Hill Press

Bowker. R. R. Bowker Company, 62 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; English Agent, Whitaker

Brethren Pub. Brethren Publishing House, 16-24 State St, Elgin, Ill. [Cable Address: Brethren]

Publishers for General Mission Bd. of the Church of the Brethren

See also Elgin

Broadman. The Broadman Press, Sunday School Bd, Southern Baptist Convention, 127 9th Av, N, Nashville 3, Tenn.

Acquired the publications of Foreign Mission Bd (Southern Baptist Convention)

Brookings. Brookings Institution, 722 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C; English Agent, Faber

Brown Univ, Prospect St, Providence 12, R.I.

Bruce Pub. Bruce Publishing Company, 524-544 N Milwaukee St, Milwaukee 1; 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; 66 E South Water St, Chicago [Cable Address: Brucemilwa]; Canadian Agent (educ bks) Ryerson Press; English Agents, Batsford; Coldwell

Capitol Pub. Capitol Publishing Company, 139 5th Av. N.Y. 10

Carnegie Endowment. Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, 700 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C; 405 W 117th St, N.Y. 27; English Agent, Oxford

Catholic Univ. of Am, Michigan Av, NE, Washington 17, D.C.
Address The Catholic Univ. of Am. Press

Cattell. Jacques Cattell Press, N Queen St & McGovern Av, Lancaster, Pa.

Caxton Printers, Ltd, Caldwell, Idaho; refer trade orders to Reilly & Lee; Wilde (New England States); Canadian Agent, Copp

Chapman & Grimes, Inc. (Mt Vernon Press) 30 Winchester St, Boston [Cable Address: Seegee]; 16 E 43d St, N.Y 17; Agents: Daniel; George J. Hicks & Co, Wellington; Taraporevala; Fritze; Canadian agent, Ryerson Press

Chemical Pub. Co, Inc, 26 Court St, Brooklyn 2, N.Y. [Cable Address: Benbal]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Acquired the publications of Chemical Pub. Publish books in Spanish and Portuguese under imprint Editorial Tecnica Unida

Christopher. Christopher Publishing House, 1140 Columbus Av, Boston 20

Chronica Botanica. Chronica Botanica Co, Box 151, Waltham 54, Mass. [Cable Address: Flora Waltham Mass]; Agents, Stechert; Stacey; Central News; N. H. Seward Pty, Ltd, 457 Bourke St, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia; Liberia Zamorano Y Caperan, Compania 1015 y 1019, Casilla 362, Santiago, Chile; Livraria Kosmos, Rua do Rosario, 135-137, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Acme Agency, Bartolome Mitre 552, Buenos Aires, Argentina; for Continental Europe (exclusive of Great Britain) N.V. Erven P. Noordhoff, Ltd, Groningen, Netherlands; English & Canadian Agent, Dawson

Citadel. Citadel Press, 120 E 25th St, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Purchased the Furman and Macaulay bks. and Sheridan House publications issued through 1939

Collier. P. F. Collier & Son Corporation, 250 Park Av, N.Y. 17
Pamphlets carry imprint Crowell-Collier Pub. Co.

Collins. William Collins Sons & Co, Ltd (Collins Clear-Type Press) 425 4th Av, N.Y. 16; 14 St James's Pl, London, SW 1; 144 Cathedral St, Glasgow, C 4; Wm. Collins Sons & Co. Canada, Ltd, 70 Bond St, Toronto 2; Collins Bros. & Co, Ltd, Box 476AA, Sydney, N.S.W. [Cable Address: Folio Sydney]; 527 Little Collins St, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia; Wyndham St, Auckland, N.Z.
Also publish as Lit. Press, Ltd.

Columbia Univ. Press, 2960 Broadway, N.Y. 27; Agents, Oxford (London and Bombay); King (for studies in Hist. Economics & Public Law); Am. Agent for the publications of the League of Nations
Acquired the publications of Facsimile Text Soc.
See also King's Crown Press

Commonwealth Fund. Commonwealth Fund, Division of Publications, 41 E 57th St, N.Y. 22; English agent, Oxford

Cornell Maritime. Cornell Maritime Press, 241 W 23d St, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2

Cornell Univ. Press, 121 Roberts Pl, Cornell Heights, Ithaca, N.Y.

Council on foreign relations, inc, 58 E 68th St, N.Y. 21

Coward-McCann, Inc, 2 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Creative Age. Creative Age Press, Inc, 11 E 44th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Crofts. F. S. Crofts & Co, 101 5th Av, N.Y. 3; refer trade orders to Dodd; Canadian Agents (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin

Crowell. The Thomas Y. Crowell Company, 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Tycrowell New York]; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)

Crown. Crown Pubs, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Letout New York]; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Arden Bk. publications again handled by Arden Bk.
Subsidiary of Outlet
Purchased the assets and publications of Covici

Cummington Press, Cummington, Mass.

Curl. Samuel Curl, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Current Bks. Current Bks, Inc, A. A. Wyn, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18

Day. John Day Co, Inc, 2 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Daye. Stephen Daye Press, Inc, Brattleboro, Vt. See Ungar

Devin-Adair. Devin-Adair Company, 23-25 E 26th St, N.Y. 10

Dial Press, Inc, 461 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Dialpubco]; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Didier Pubs, 660 Madison Av, N.Y. 21; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.

Dietz. Dietz Press, 112 E Cary St, Richmond 19, Va.

Dodd. Dodd, Mead & Company, Inc, 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Dodd New York]; Dodd, Mead & Company (Canada) Ltd, 215-219 Victoria St, Toronto
Acquired the Book dept. of Yachting

Dorrance. Dorrance & Company, Inc, 364 Drexel Bldg, 5th & Chestnut Sts, Philadelphia 6

Doubleday. Doubleday & Company, Inc, 14 W 49th St, Rockefeller Center, N.Y. 20 [Cable Address: Doubledor New York]; refer trade orders to Garden City, N.Y; 91 Great Russell St, London, WC 1; Canadian Agent, McClelland Consolidation of Doubleday, Page & Co, George H. Doran Co.
See also Blackiston and Garden City Pub. Co.

Drake, F. J. Frederick J. Drake & Co, Inc, 600 W Van Buren St, Chicago 7 [Cable Address: Draco]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2

Dryden. The Dryden Press, Inc, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16
Acquired the publications of Cordon

Duell. Duell, Sloan & Pearce, Inc, 270 Madison Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Swordswords]; Canadian Agent, Collins (Toronto)
Also use imprint Gerent Press
See also Essential Bks.

Duke Univ. Press, College Station, Durham, N.C; English Agent, Cambridge
Formerly Duke Univ.

Dutton. E. P. Dutton & Co, Inc, 286-302 4th Av, N.Y. 10 [Cable Address: Yardfar New York]; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Edwards Bros, Inc, 300 John St, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Eerdmans. W. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company (Reformed Press) 234 Pearl St, NW, Grand Rapids 2, Mich; Canadian Agent, Evangelical Pubs.

Emerson. Emerson Books, Inc, 251 W 19th St, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Emerpress New York]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2

Essential Books, 270 Madison Av, N.Y. 16
Publications distributed by Duell

Fairchild. Fairchild Publications Co, 8 E 13th St, N.Y. 3; Piccadilly House, 16-17 Jermyn St, London, SW 1 [Cable Address: Newsideas]

Farrar. Farrar & Rinehart, Inc. See Rinehart

Fell. Frederick Fell, Inc, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Western Agent, Rodd; Canadian agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Fellowship of Reconciliation (N Y). Fellowship of Reconciliation, 2929 Broadway, N.Y. 25
Publications bear trademark Fellowship Publications

Fine Editions. Fine Editions Press, 227 E 45th St, N.Y. 17

Fischer, L. B. L. B. Fischer Publishing Corporation, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Follett. Follett Publishing Co, 1255 S Wabash Av, Chicago 5

Publishers of textbooks; for trade books see Wilcox & Follett

Food Research Inst, Inner Quad, Stanford University, Calif.

Fordham Univ. Press, 441 E Fordham Rd, N.Y. 58

Foster & Stewart. Foster & Stewart Publishing Corporation, 210 Ellicott St, Buffalo 3, N.Y.

Foundation Press, Inc, 222 W Adams St, Chicago 6

Acquired the University Casebook Series from Commerce Clearing House

Friendship Press, 156 5th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

See also Missionary Educ. Movement

Garden City Pub. Co, Inc, Garden City, N.Y. 20; Canadian Agent, Blue Ribbon Bks (Toronto)

Acquired ownership of Blue Ribbon Bks. and the publications of Windward

New Home Lib. now published by Blakiston

See also Doubleday

Garrett. Garrett & Massie, Inc, 1406 E Franklin St, Richmond 15, Va.

Gillick Press, 2057 Center St, Berkeley 4, Calif.

Ginn. Ginn & Company (Athenæum Press) Statler Bldg, Park Sq, Boston 17 [Cable Address: Eginn Boston]; 2301-2311 Prairie Av, Chicago; 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Eginn New York]; 165 Luckie St, NW, Atlanta; 1510 Young St, Dallas; 199 E Gay St, Columbus, Ohio; 45 2d St, San Francisco [Cable Address: Eginn San Francisco]; 863 Bay St, Toronto; 7 Queen Sq, Southampton Row, London, WC 1

Gold Label. Gold Label Books, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Greenberg, Publisher, Inc, 400 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.

Also publish as Pickwick Press

Gregg. The Gregg Publishing Company, 270 Madison Av, N.Y. 16; 6 N Michigan Av, Chicago 2; Statler Bldg, Boston 16; Phelan Bldg, San Francisco 2; 30 Bloor St, W, Toronto; Gregg House, 51 Russell Sq, London, WC 1; Remington House, Liverpool St, Sydney, N.S.W; Indian Agent, Progressive Corp, Ltd, 80 Esplanade Rd, Bombay

Grosset. Grosset & Dunlap, Inc, 1107 Broadway, N.Y. 10 [Cable Address: Groslap, New York]; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Purchased the business of Barse & co.

Grune. Grune & Stratton, Inc, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Grustrat]

Harcourt. Harcourt, Brace & Company, Inc, 383 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; for high school texts only: 1525 E 53d St, Chicago [Cable Address: Harbrace, New York]; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Harper. Harper & Brothers (Pleiad Press Imprint) 49 E 33d St, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Harpsam]; 90 Great Russell St, London, WC 1; Canadian Agent, Musson

Acquired the publications of Hoeber which will remain under the imprint: Paul B. Hoeber, Inc, Medical Bk. Dept. of Harper & Bros

Hart. Hart Publishing Company, 43 W 57th St, N.Y. 19

Formerly Home Recreation

Harvard Univ. Press, Pub. Dept, 38 Quincy St, Cambridge 38, Mass; English Agent, Oxford

Acquired the Loeb Classical Library from Putnam

Handle Harvard-Yenching Inst. publications

Hastings House, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Heath. D. C. Heath & Company, 285 Columbus Av, Boston 16; 180 Varick St, N.Y. 14; 1815 Prairie Av, Chicago; 29 Pryor St, NE, Atlanta; 182 2d St, San Francisco; 713 Browder St, Dallas 1; Canadian Agent, Copp; English Agent, Harrap

Acquired all textbooks formerly pub. by Atlantic Monthly and Little Hebberd. Wallace Hebberd, Publishers, 3 W Carrillo St, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Hebrew Pub. Hebrew Pub. Co, 77-79 Delancey St, N.Y. 2

Also publish as Jordan Pub. Co.

Herder. B. Herder Book Company, 15-17 S Broadway, St Louis 2; 33 Queen Sq, London, WC 1

Heritage. Heritage Press, 595 Madison Av, N.Y. 22

Also use imprint of Heritage Club for books sold on subscription basis

Heritage Club. See Heritage

Hinds. Hinds, Hayden & Eldredge, Inc, 105 5th Av, N.Y. 3

Hobson Bk. Press, Inc, 6 Main St, Cynthiana, Ky; 52 Vanderbilt Av, N.Y. 17

Formerly known as Hobson Press, Inc. which is now dissolved

Holiday. Holiday House, Inc, 72 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Holman. A. J. Holman Company, 1222-26 Arch St, Philadelphia 7; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Holt. Henry Holt & Company, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; for educ. bks. only: 2626 Prairie Av, Chicago; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco [Cable Address: Aycholt New York]; Canadian Agents, (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin

Horn Bk, Inc, 248 Boylston st, Boston 16

Houghton. Houghton Mifflin Company (Riverside Press, Cambridge) 2 Park St, Boston 7; 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16; 2500 Prairie Av, Chicago; 500 Howard St, San Francisco; 715 Browder St, Dallas; 39 Harris St, Atlanta [Cable Address: Mulier, Boston]; Canadian Agents, Allen, T; Renouf; English Agent, Constable

For the duration of the war Textbook Dept. of Reynal will be handled by Houghton

Howell, Soskin. Howell, Soskin, Publishers, Inc, 11-17 E 45th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.

Humphries. Bruce Humphries, Inc, 30 Winchester St, Boston 16; 16 E 43d St, N.Y. 17; Agents: Daniel; Fritze; Taraporevala; Hicks, Smith & Wright, Ltd, 3 Harris St, Wellington, N.Z; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Also publish as Int. Pocket Lib. Corp.

Huntington Lib. Henry E. Huntington Lib & Art Gallery, San Marino, Calif.

Ill. State Hist. Lib. Illinois State Historical Library & Society, Springfield, Ill.

Ind. Univ. School of Business. Ind. Univ. Bur. of Business Research. School of Business, Bloomington, Ind.

Industrial Research Service, Masonic Bldg, Dover, N.H.

Infantry Journal, 1115 17th St, NW, Washington 6, D.C; refer trade orders to Penguin (except R.O.T.C. manuals); Canadian Agent, Collins (Toronto)

See also Military Service

Inst. for Research in Biography, Inc, 320 Broadway, N.Y. 7

Inst. of Jewish Affairs of the Am. Jewish Congress & World Jewish Congress, 1834 Broadway, N.Y. 23

Inst. of Pacific Relations. International Secretariat, 1 E 54th St, N.Y. 22

Int. Labor Office, 3480 University St, Montreal 2; E. Rowe, 734 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C. [Cable Address: Interlab Washington]

Int. Mark Twain Soc, Webster Groves, Mo.

Int. Pubs. International Publishers Co, Inc, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Interbook]; Canadian Agent, Progress Bks.

Int. Textbook. International Textbook Company, 1001 Wyoming Av, Scranton 9, Pa.

Int. Univs. Press. Int. Universities Press, Inc, 227 W 13th St, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Progress Bks.

Formerly Int. Univ. Press

Interscience. Interscience Publishers, Inc, 215 4th Av, N.Y. 3; English Agent, Imperia
Publish in cooperation with Nordeman
Island Workshop. Island Workshop Press Co-op, Inc, 470 W 24th St, N.Y. 11
Use imprint Island Press

Jacobsen Pub. Jacobsen Publishing Company, 300 W Adams St, Chicago [Cable Address: Hildeleath]
Also publish as Hide & Leather Pub. Co.
Jewish Pub. The Jewish Publication Society of America, 225 S 15th St, Philadelphia 2
Jewish Theological Seminary of Am, 3080 Broadway, N.Y. 27
John Crerar Lib, 86 E Randolph St, Chicago
Johns Hopkins Press, Homewood, Baltimore 18; English Agent, Oxford
Journal of Chemical Educ, 20th & Northampton Sts, Easton, Pa.
Judd. Orange Judd Publishing Company, Inc, 15 E 26th St, N.Y. 10; English Agent, Routledge; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2

Kenedy. P. J. Kenedy & Sons, 12 Barclay St, N.Y. 8 [Cable Address: Nedyken New York]; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
King's Crown Press, 1145 Amsterdam Av, N.Y. 27
Division of Columbia Univ. Press
Knopf. Alfred A. Knopf, 501 Madison Av, N.Y. 22 [Cable Address: Knopf] Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Acquired publications of The Wm. Penn Pub. Corp. published prior to 1943

La. State Univ. Press, University Station, Baton Rouge 3, La.
Lippincott. J. B. Lippincott Company, 227-231 S 6th St, Philadelphia 5 [Cable Address: Lippcot Philadelphia]; 521 5th Av, N.Y. 17; 333 W Lake St, Chicago 6; Aldine House, 10-13 Bedford St, London, WC 2; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto); (medical dept only) 2083 Guy St, Montreal
Acquired the publications of Carrick; also those of Stokes
Little. Little, Brown & Company, 34 Beacon St, Boston 6 [Cable Address: Brownlit]; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Functions as publisher and distributor of trade books for Atlantic Monthly Press publications
Textbooks of Little and Atlantic Monthly have been transferred to Heath
Liveright. Liveright Publishing Corporation, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Liveright, New York]; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Formerly Boni & Liveright
Longmans. Longmans, Green & Company, Inc, 55 5th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Freegrove New York]; 215-219 Victoria St, Toronto 1; Longmans, Green & Co, Ltd, Ambleside, 43 Albert Drive, London, SW 19; 531 Little Collins St, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia; 53 Nicol Rd, Bombay; Chittaranjan Av, Calcutta; for school books only: 221 E 20th St, Chicago
Lothrop. Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16; 126 Newbury St, Boston; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Owned & operated by Crown
Luce, J. W. John W. Luce Company, 30 Winchester St, Boston
Merged with Manthorne
Lutheran Bk. Lutheran Book Concern, Columbus 15, Ohio. See Wartburg Press

McBride. Robert M. McBride & Company, 116 E 16th St, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Brideco]; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Own and control Dodge
McGraw. McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; 68 Post St, San Francisco 4; 520 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11; Aldwych House, Aldwych, London, WC 2 [Cable Address: McGraw Hill New York]; Canadian Agent, Embassy
Trade Bks. pub. under name Whittlesey House
Machinery & Allied Products. Machinery & Allied Products Inst, 221 N La Salle St, Chicago 1
McKay. David McKay Company, 604-608 S Washington Sq, Philadelphia 6; 9 Rockefeller Plaza, N.Y. 20; Canadian Agent, Musson
McKnight. McKnight & McKnight, 109-111 W Market St, Bloomington, Ill; Canadian Agent, Moyer School Supplies, 106 York St, Toronto
Macmillan. The Macmillan Company, 60 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Pachamac New York]; 2459 Prairie Av, Chicago 16; 1701 Ross Av, Dallas 1; 240 Newbury St, Boston 16; 289 Peachtree St, NE, Atlanta 3; 350 Mission St, San Francisco 5; The Macmillan Co. of Canada, Ltd, St Martin's House, 70 Bond St, Toronto 2; Macmillan & Co, Ltd, 10 St Martin's St, Leicester Sq, London, WC 2
Macrae Smith Co, Lewis Tower Bldg, 225 S 15th St, Philadelphia 2 [Cable Address: Macsco, Philadelphia]; Agent, Mill; Canadian Agent, Am. News Co. (Toronto)
Manual Arts. Manual Arts Press, 237 N Monroe St, Peoria 3, Ill; Canadian Agent, Copp; English Agent, Batsford
Marquette Univ. Press, 1131 W Wisconsin Av, Milwaukee 3
Meador. Meador Publishing Company, 324 Newbury St, Boston 15
Mennonite. Mennonite Pub. House, 610-614 Walnut Av, Scottdale, Pa.
Also use imprint Herald Press
Messner. Julian Messner, Inc, Publishers, 8 W 40th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Acquired the publications of King, A.H.; also the controlling interest of Veritas
Milbank. Milbank Memorial Fund, 40 Wall St, N.Y. 5
Military Service. Military Service Publishing Company, 100 Telegraph Bldg, Harrisburg, Pa.
Sell bks. pub. by all military journals
Formerly Nat. Service Pub. Co.
Mill. M. S. Mill Co, Inc, 425 4th Av, N.Y. 16; refer trade orders to Morrow; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Modern Lib. Modern Library, Inc, 20 E 57th St, N.Y. 22; Canadian Agent, Random House (Toronto); English Agent, Hamilton, H; (Modern lib. Giants) Lane
Owned and controlled by Random House
Morehouse. Morehouse-Gorham Company, Inc, 14 E 41st St, N.Y. 17 [Cable Address: Housemore, New York]
Consolidated Morehouse Publishing Company and Edwin S. Gorham, Inc.
Morgan & Lester, 101 Park Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Musson
Morrow. William Morrow & Co, Inc, 425 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Wilmorrow]; Trade Bks. pub. under name Jefferson House
Bought Bookmark Press, Haddonfield, N.J.
Muhlenberg Press, Publishers, 1228 Spruce St, Philadelphia 7 Trade dept. of United Lutheran Pub.
Murry & Gee, Inc, 1622 N. Highland Av, Hollywood 28, Calif; Eastern Agent, Mill; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Museum of Modern Art, 11 W 53d St, N.Y. 19 [Cable Address: Modernart]; refer trade orders to Simon & Schuster

N.Y. Univ. Press, 18 Washington Sq, N.Y. 3
Nat. Bur. of Economic Research, Inc, 1819 Broadway, N.Y. 23
Nat. Educ. (N.E.A.) National Education Association of the United States, 1201 16th St, NW, Washington 6, D.C.
Naylor. The Naylor Company, 918 N St Mary's St, San Antonio 6, Tex.

Nelson. Thomas Nelson & Sons, 385 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; 91 Wellington St, W, Toronto 1; Parkside Works, Dalkeith Rd, Edinburgh 9; (incorporating T. C. & E. Jack, Ltd) 3 Henrietta St, London, WC 2
Transferred Elementary & High School Textbooks to Newson; also College Text Dept. to Ronald
New Directions, Norfolk, Conn; 500 5th Av, N.Y. 18 (corr address)
Newman Bkshop. The Newman Book Shop, Box 150, Westminster, Md.
Noble. Noble & Noble, Publishers, Inc, 72 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Clarke, Irwin
Acquired the publications of Simmons-Peckham
Nonesuch. The Nonesuch Press, Ltd, Standard Rd, Park Royal Rd, London, NW 10; 595 Madison Av, N.Y. 22; refer trade orders to Faber
Northwestern Univ. Evanston, Ill.
Norton. W. W. Norton & Company, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Seagull]; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Norwegian-Am. Hist. Assn, Northfield, Minn.

Oxford. Oxford University Press, 114 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Frowde]; 480-486 University Av, Toronto 2; (including Imprints of Clarendon Press and Humphrey Milford) Amen House, Warwick Sq, London, EC 4 [Cable Address: Oxonian London] Agent for Phaidon Press Bks; Canadian Agent (educ) Clarke, Irwin
For music publications address Fischer, Carl; Oxford Univ. Press, 36 Soho Sq, London, W 1
Publish Home Univ. Lib. publications, formerly pub. by Butterworth, T.

Packard & Co, Publishers, 537 S Dearborn St, Chicago 5
Paebar. The Paebar Company, Box 552, Newburgh, N.Y; 1819 Broadway, N.Y. 23
Also publish as Poetry Digest Assn.
Page. L. C. Page & Company (St Botolph Soc) 53 Beacon St, Boston [Cable Address: Pagecones]; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Pan Am. Navigation. Pan American Navigation Service, 12021 Ventura Blvd, N Hollywood, Calif.
Pantheon Bks, Inc, 41 Washington Sq, N.Y. 12
Penn. The Wm. Penn Publishing Corp, 221 4th Av, N.Y. 3
Successors to The Penn Pub. Co. of Philadelphia. Plays pub. by them are now pub. by Penn Play
Philosophical Lib, Inc, 15 E 40th St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Now handling its own publications
Phoenix. Phoenix Press, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Also use imprint of Gramercy Pub. Co.
Subsidiary of Outlet
Piest. Oskar Piest, 121 W 72d St, N.Y. 23
Pilgrim House, 389 5th Av, N.Y. 16
Pilgrim Press (of the Congregational Pub. Soc) 14 Beacon St, Boston 8; 19 S La Salle St, Chicago
Pioneer Pubs. Pioneer Publishers, 116 University Pl, N.Y. 3
Pitman. Pitman Pub. Corp, 2-6 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons (Canada) Ltd, Pitman House, 381-383 Church St, Toronto; Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons, Ltd, Pitman House, 39-41 Parker St, Kingsway, London, WC 2; refer trade orders to The Book Centre, Ltd, N Circular Rd, Neasden, London, NW 10
Acquired the publications of Wilson, E; the aeronautical publications of Gale
Pond-Ekberg. The Pond-Ekberg Company, 9-11 Andrew St, Springfield 9, Mass.
Pop. Science. Popular Science Publishing Company, Inc, 353 4th Av, N.Y. 10
Also use imprint Foremost Bks.
Prentice-Hall, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Hobart Bldg, 582 Market St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent (trade bks) McLeod
Presbyterian Bd. Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, Publication Department (The Westminster Press) Witherspoon Bldg, Philadelphia 7; depositories at 156 5th Av, N.Y. 10; 8 S Dearborn St, Chicago; 234 McAllister St, San Francisco; Granite Bldg, Pittsburgh; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Presbyterian Com. Presbyterian Committee of Publication of the Presbyterian Church, U.S. Presbyterian Bldg, 8 N 6th St, Richmond 9, Va; Presbyterian Bldg, Texarkana, Tex.
Also publish as Onward Press and John Knox Press
Press of James A. Decker, Prairie City, Ill.
Also use imprint of Village Press
Press of William J. Clark, 655 6th Av, N.Y. 10
Princeton Univ. Press, Princeton, N.J; English Agent, Oxford; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.
Putnam. G. P. Putnam's Sons (Knickerbocker Press) Putnam Bldg, 2-6 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Putnam & Co, Ltd, 42 Great Russell St, London, WC 1 [Cable Address: Putnam, New York]; Canadian Agent, Allen, T; for Putnam (London) McClelland
Acquired the publications of Kinsey; also handle and sell all Minton publications
Loeb Classical Library acquired by Harvard Univ. Press

Rand McNally. Rand McNally & Company, 536 S Clark St, Chicago 5 [Cable Address: Ranally Chicago]; 111 8th Av, N.Y. 11; 559 Mission St, San Francisco 5; (educ bks) 2009 Terrace Pl, Nashville 4, Tenn; 1104 Nat. Press Bldg, Washington 4, D.C; Canadian Agents, Allen, T.; (educ bks) Gage
Random House, Inc, 20 E 57th St, N.Y. 22; Random House of Canada, Ltd, 12 Richmond St, E, Toronto 1
Purchased Burt Home Library from Blue Ribbon Bks.
Handle The Nonesuch Library Series of Nonesuch; also handle Carlton House publications again
Reader's Press, Inc, 220 5th Av, N.Y. 1
Reinhold. Reinhold Publishing Corporation, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; British Agent, Chapman; Australian & N.Z. Agent, Angus; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Successors to Chemical Catalog Co, and Pencil Points Press
Revell. Fleming H. Revell Company, 158 5th Av, N.Y. 10; English Agent, Oliphants
Also pub. trade bks. jointly with Assn. Press under imprint Assn. Press-Revell
Review & H. Review & Herald Publishing Association, Takoma Park Station, Washington 12, D.C.
Publication of this Seventh-Day Adventist Press handled also by Southern Pub. Assn; Pacific; and Canadian Watchman Press, Box 398, Oshawa, Ontario
Reynal. Reynal & Hitchcock, 8 W 40th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Rinehart. Rinehart & Co, Inc, 232 Madison Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Farrine New York]; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto) (corr name)
Purchased the business of Radio. & Tech. Pub. Co, whose publications will be distributed by the subsidiary: Tech. Division. Murray Hill Bks, 232 Madison Av, N.Y. 16
Formerly known as Farrar & Rinehart, Inc.
Ronald. The Ronald Press Company, 15 E 26th St, N.Y. 10
Acquired the college text bks. of Nelson
Roy Pubs. Roy Publishers, A.N. 25 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Royal Inst. of Int. Affairs, Chatham House, 10 St James's Sq, London, SW 1; 542 5th Av, N.Y. 19
See also Inst. of Pacific Relations
Russian War Relief, 5 Cedar St, N.Y. 5
Rutgers Univ. Press, New Brunswick, N.J.

Saunders. W. B. Saunders Company, 218 W Washington Sq, Philadelphia 5; 7 Grape St, Shaftesbury Av, London, WC 2

Scholars. Scholars' Facsimiles & Reprints, 103 Park Av, N.Y. 17
Schuman's, 20 E 70th St, N.Y. 21
Scott, W.R. William R. Scott, Inc, Box 331, N Bennington, Vt; 72 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.
Scribner. Charles Scribner's Sons, 597-599 5th Av, N.Y. 17; 23 Bedford Sq, London, WC 1 [Cable Address: Halcanero]; for school bks. only: 320 E 21st St, Chicago; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.
Seymour. Ralph Fletcher Seymour, 410 S Michigan Av, Chicago 5
Also publish as Alderbrink Press
Sheed. Sheed & Ward, Inc, Ludgate House, 110-111 Fleet St, London, EC 4; 63 5th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Stanza, New York]; Canadian Agents (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin
Now handles the publications of St Michael's college
Sheridan. Sheridan House, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod
All former Furman and Macaulay bks. and Sheridan House publications issued through 1939 now sold to Citadel
Simmons-Boardman. Simmons-Boardman Publishing Corporation, 30 Church St, N.Y. 7; 105 W Adams St, Chicago; Terminal Tower, 50 Public Sq, Cleveland; Nat. Press Bldg, Washington, D.C; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Simon & Schuster, Inc, 1230 6th Av, Rockefeller Center, N.Y. 20; refer trade orders to 100 6th Av, N.Y. 13 [Cable Address: Essandes]; Canadian agent Musson
Also use imprint Venture Press—Simon & Schuster
Smith, Richard R. Richard R. Smith, 120 E 39th St, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)
Also use imprint of Margent Press
Smith College, Northampton, Mass.
Address The Library
Southworth-Anthoensen. Southworth-Anthoensen Press, 105 Middle St, Portland, Me.
St Anthony Guild. St Anthony Guild Press, 508 Marshall St, Paterson 3, N.J.
Stanford Univ. Press, Stanford University, Calif. [Cable Address: Sunipress]; English Agent, Oxford
Stechert. G. E. Stechert & Company [Alfred Hafner] 31-37 E 10th St, N.Y. 3; 2 Star Yard, Carey St, London, WC 2 [Cable Address: Stechertco]
Stewart. George W. Stewart, Publisher, Inc, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, McLeod
For the duration refer trade orders to Reynal
Studio. Studio Publications, 66 Chandos Pl, London, WC 2; Am. Studio Bks, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Studiopubs]; Canadian Agent, Musson

Tax Inst, 150 Nassau St, N.Y. 7
Teachers College, Columbia University, 525 W 120th St, N.Y. 27
Theobald. P. Theobald, 5 N Wabash Av, Chicago 2
Thomas, C.C. Charles C. Thomas, Publisher, 301-327 E Lawrence Av, Springfield, Ill. [Cable Address: Thomas Springfield]; Agents: Chicago Med; Stacey; Bailliere; Angus; Fritze; Lawyers Co-op; M. V. Fresneda, Apartado 1947, Havana, Cuba; Scheltema's & Holkema, Rokin 74-76, Amsterdam, Netherlands; Popular Bk. Depot, Grand Rd, Bombay, 7; Mezhdunarodnaja Kniga; Kuibyshev, U.S.S.R; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Transatlantic. Transatlantic Arts, 69-81 108th St, Forest Hills, N.Y; Transatlantic Arts, Ltd, 45 Great Russell St, London, WC 1
Owned and operated by George Vajna, formerly of Budapest, Hungary
Twentieth Century Fund, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18

U.S. Camera. U.S. Camera Publishing Corporation, 420 Lexington Av, N.Y. 17; refer trade orders to World Pub.
U.S. Naval Inst. United States Naval Institute, Secretary & Treasurer of the United States Naval Institute, Annapolis, Md.
Ungar. Frederick Ungar Publishing Co, 105 E 24th St, N.Y. 10; Western Distributor, Perkins
Purchased Stephen Daye, Inc, and will continue to use Daye imprint
Univ. of Calif, Berkeley 4, Calif; English Agent, Cambridge
Address The University of Calif. Press, California Hall, Berkeley 4, Calif.
Univ. of Chicago. Dept. of Educ, 5835 Kimbark Av, Chicago 37
Univ. of Chicago Press, 5750 Ellis Av, Chicago 37; US Agent, Stacey; English Agent, Cambridge; Australian Agent, Lothian; Canadian Agent, Gage
Univ. of Ga, Athens, Ga.
Address The University of Ga. Press
Univ. of Kan, Lawrence, Kan.
Univ. of Minn, Minneapolis 14; British Agent, Oxford
Address The University of Minn. Press, 100 Wesbrook Hall, Minneapolis 14
Univ. of Mo, Columbus, Mo.
Univ. of N.C. Press, Box 510, Chapel Hill, N.C; English Agent, Oxford
Univ. of N. Mex. Press, Albuquerque, N. Mex.
Univ. of N.Mex. School of Inter-Am. Affairs, Box 4036, Albuquerque, N.Mex.
Univ. of Okla. Press, Faculty Exchange, Norman, Okla.
Univ. of Pa. Press, 3622 Locust St, Philadelphia; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press; English Agent, Oxford
Acquired the series Studies and Documents from Lake, K.
Am. Philosophical Soc. again distributes own publications
Univ. of Pittsburgh, Bigelow & Parkman Sts, Pittsburgh
Address The University of Pittsburgh Press
Univ. of Wash, Seattle 5, Wash.
Address Publications Editor, Univ. of Wash. Press
Univ. of Wis. Press, 811 State St, Madison 6, Wis.
Requests for Pharmaceutical publications should be addressed to the Director of the Pharmaceutical Experiment Station, Madison, Wis.
Univ. Press in Dallas, Southern Methodist Univ, Dallas 5
Universal Jewish Encyclopedia, Inc, 50 Court St, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Vanguard. Vanguard Press, Inc, 424 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Copp
Van Nostrand. D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc, 250 4th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Bowline]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2; (high school bks) Gage
Veritas. Veritas Press, Inc, 285 Madison Av, N.Y. 17
Again publishing. Controlling interest acquired by Messner
Viking. The Viking Press, Inc, 18 E 48th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Macmillan (Toronto)

Wagner, J. F. Joseph F. Wagner, Inc, 53 Park Pl, N.Y. 8; English Agent, Herder
Wartburg Press. The Wartburg Press (Lutheran Book Concern) 55-59 East Main St, Columbus 15, Ohio (corr address)
Formerly pub. as Lutheran Bk.
Washburn. Ives Washburn, Inc, 27-29 W 57th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Watson-Guptill. Watson-Guptill Publications, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18
Watts, F. Franklin Watts, Inc, 285 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Webb. Webb Publishing Company, Book Division, 55-79 E 10th St, St Paul 2, Minn; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)
Trade titles issued under imprint Itasca Press

Wetzel. Wetzel Publishing Company, Inc, 524 S Spring St, Los Angeles 13
Also publish as Gem Pub. Co.

Whitman, A. Albert Whitman & Company, 560 W Lake St, Chicago 6; Eastern Agent, Barrows; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Acquired all the publications except educational of Laidlaw Bros.

Wilcox & Follett. Wilcox & Follett Co, 1255 S Wabash Av, Chicago 5
Publishers of trade books; for textbooks see Follett

Wiley. John Wiley & Sons, Inc, 440 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Jonwile New York]; depository at Tech Bk. Co, 432 Market St, San Francisco; Agents, Renouf; Chapman

Willett. Willett, Clark & Company, 37 W Van Buren St, Chicago 5 [Cable Address: Wilbook]; 35 E 20th St, N.Y. 3; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Williams & Wilkins. The Williams & Wilkins Company (Waverly Press) Mt Royal & Guilford Avs, Baltimore 2 [Cable Address: Wilco Baltimore]; depositories at Chicago Med; Stacey; T. H. McKenna, 882 Lexington Av, N.Y. 21; E. F. Mahady, 851 Boylston St, Boston; L. S. Matthews & Co, Inc, 3560 Olive St, St Louis; Agents: Angus; Bailliere; Canadian Agent, Univ. of Toronto Press
Purchased the business of Wood

Wilson, H.W. The H.W. Wilson Company, 950-972 University Av, N.Y. 52 [Cable Address: Wilsondex]; Agent, W. & R. Holmes, 3-11 Dunlop St, Glasgow, C 1

Winston. John C. Winston Company, 1006-1020 Arch St, Philadelphia 7 [Cable Address: Winston Philadelphia]; 623-629 S Wabash Av, Chicago; 60 Front St, W, Toronto
Also publish as Universal Bk. & Bible House

Wistar Inst. The Wistar Institute of Anatomy & Biology, 36th St & Woodland Av, Philadelphia 4

World Bk. World Book Company, 313 Park Hill Av, Yonkers 5, N.Y. [Cable Address: Foresta Yonkers]; 2126 Prairie Av, Chicago; 441 W Peachtree St, NE, Atlanta; 14 Beacon St, Boston; 707 Browder St, Dallas 1; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; 408 SW 5th Av, Portland, Ore; Canadian Agents, Gage; Renouf

World Peace. World Peace Foundation, 40 Mt Vernon St, Boston 8

World Pub. The World Publishing Co, 2231 W 110th St, Cleveland 2; 14 W 49th St, Rockefeller Center, N.Y. 20; 209 S State St, Chicago 4; 303 William Fox Bldg, Los Angeles 14; 60 Front St, W, Toronto [Cable Address: Worlds] (Corr address)

Writer. The Writer, Inc, 8 Arlington St, Boston 16

Yale Univ. Press, 143 Elm St, New Haven 7, Conn; 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16; US Agent, Norton; English Agent, Oxford; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Am. Oriental Ser. and Offprint Ser. of Am. Oriental Soc. now obtainable from Am. Oriental Soc.

Year Bk. Pubs, Inc, 304 S Dearborn St, Chicago 4 [Cable Address: Semulov Chicago]

Ziff-Davis. The Ziff-Davis Publishing Company, Michigan Sq Bldg, 540 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11; Empire State Bldg, 350 5th Av, N.Y. 1; Earle Bldg, Washington, D.C; 815 S Hill St, Los Angeles; 21 King St, E, Toronto; 231 Strand, London, WC 2; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Acquired the publications of Alliance Bk now dissolved

Zondervan. Zondervan Publishing House, 845-849 Ottawa Av, NW, Grand Rapids 2, Mich; Canadian Agent, Evangelical Pubs.

R
Z
1219
C95
1945

4-8-65

55905

GTU LIBRARY
3 2400 00643 0460

Reference